WINNIPEG GRAIN

A closing buying flurry lifted wheat futures from to-day's low levels on Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Earlier profit-takers further reduced 1938 wheat price gains and had hammered prices lower after each rally. Final values were 1¼ cent lower to unchanged, May $1.26⅝, July $1.18⅜ and October $1.00⅝.

Futures dropped more than a cent in early dealings, reaching bottom levels near the close. Most of the liquidation appeared to be realizing on advances last week, sending the market into a stop-loss order range on several occasions.

Intermarket spreading was at a minimum though considerable local manipulations were reported.

RIOTS IN AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Austria, Jan. 12—(AP)—Special police patrolled Vienna streets to-day after night-long skirmishes between Austrian Nazi demonstrators and Monarchists, who would make the Hapsburg Archduke Otto, Emperor. More than 250 were arrested.

Monarchist rallies in communities throughout the country, at which speakers spoke with hostility of Germany and Nazis, set off the disorders. Nazis endeavored to break up the Monarchist meetings.

SUNDAY SCHOOL IS RE-ORGANIZED AT ROSENEATH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Jan. 12.—Sunday School hour and divine service were devoted to the Sunday School on Sunday morning.

Following a short lesson period, the school was re-organized by Rev. L. W. Scott, assisted by superintendent Andrew Brown. Miss Irene Brown acted as secretary, pro tem, and read the minutes of the previous annual meeting. Miss Marie Mouncey, treasurer, presented the financial report showing receipts of $162.49, expenses, $160.89—balance, $1.60.

The auditors' report was presented by Miss Hildred Taylor. With the exception of three offices vacant, either by removal or resignation, the previous slate were re-elected, as follows:

Superintendent, Andrew Brown; assistant, Norman Sherwin; secretary, Miss Lavigne McMillan; treasurer, Miss Marie Mouncey; organist, Mrs. Ella Brown; temperance superintendent, S. Bradshaw; missionary superintendent, Mrs. L. Turner; auditor, Miss Hildred Taylor; teachers and assistants—Bible Class, Mrs. D. Brisbin and S. Bradshaw; Young Men's Class, Orra Robins and Andrew Brown; Senior Girls', Mrs. R. Crego and Mrs. L. W. Scott; Intermediate girls', Mrs. Leslie Tucker and Mrs. K. Harvie; Intermediate boys', George Turner and Ray Bradshaw; Junior girls, Mrs. M. Davey and Mrs. A. Nill; Junior boys', Norman Sherwin and Andrew Brown; Primary, Mrs. Geo. Turner and Mrs. B. Thackeray; Beginners, Mrs. Norman Sherwin and Mrs. Andrew Brown; Cradle Roll Department, Mrs. M. D. Brown.

Pupils Promoted

Promotion exercises were conducted during Divine service. Across the Chancel, a fence with an evergreen trellised gateway was placed. The pupils being promoted passed up to the chancel, through the gateway and were received into their new class. During this exercise a solo with appropriate stanzas to each promotion, was sung by Mrs. A. Nill, with a full choir "Welcome" chorus. Installation of officers and teachers was conducted by the pastor.

In an address Mr. Scott stressed the necessity and importance of a sure foundation and a strong structure. His theme was "The Highest Building in the World," the Empire State building in New York. As the speaker proceeded to relate the number of stories and windows in the building, the number of bricks used, the height of the building and many other interesting details, the "oh's" and "ah's" of the younger scholars could be distinctly heard. This picture was used to illustrate how important it is to use only the best materials in building a life.

Dictator

Reports reaching Mexico City indicate a revolt has broken out in Guatemala against the dictatorship of President Jorge Ubico (ABOVE), chief of the Central American "dictators' league". Army garrisons in northern Guatemala, the reports say, are taking part in the movement to oust the iron-fisted president. Ubico was one of the first government heads to recognize the regime of Rebel General Franco in Spain.

WOULD-BE ACTORS NOW GET CHANCE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.— (AP).— The theatre signs on Broadway, where the office boys shrug at newcomers who wait in the casting bureaux, looked warmer to-day to aspiring young actors.

Twenty-two who feel that theirs may be the "new face" the theatrical world always claims to be seeking had a change yesterday, the like of which never had been given before on Broadway.

They got to act—with several hundred leading producers, directors and agents on the other side of the footlights.

It was the first in a series of "final auditions" which the American Theatre Council's committee of the Apprentice Theatre has arranged to give young actors a hearing instead of the traditional:

"Sorry, we haven't seen your work. Get a job and come back to use later."

In the Guild Theatre, where the 22 acted scenes from five plays, were Producers Brock Pemberton, Delos Chappell, Arthur Hopkins, Charley Crawford, Robinson Smith, representatives of Max Gordon, Leland Hayward, Guthrie McClintic and scores of agents and playwrights.

Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt came. He said, "It's a splendid idea; there's been nothing like this before," and she said, "Any idea that helps discover talent is good."

The committee has interviewed nearly 1,100 aspirtants and has auditioned 600 on a stage.

PERFECT TELEVISION FACE

Leslie Mitchell, proclaimed as having the perfect face for television, will give up broadcasting in London to enter the movie field.

LESS FIRST GRADE CANADIAN CHEESE DARK SPOT OF '37

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12.—(CP).— A decrease in the percentage of Canadian cheese making first grade was a disappointing feature of the past year in the cheese industry, Joseph Burgess, chief division of dairy produce, Dominion Deyartment of Agriculture, told the convention of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association here to-day.

Only 93.05 per cent of cheese graded in 1937 was first grade as against 95.48 per cent in 1936, he said. Quebec showed the largest decease among provinces and British Columbia, Alberta and Manitoba, small producing provinces, were the only ones to register increases.

"It has been said that unfavorable weather conditions during the hot summer months have always been the bugbear of Canadian cheese makers," he said, "and while the remark may not apply to all of the cheese-making sections in the Dominion, there is sufficient evidence from the grading records of 1937 to indicate that something serious was wrong and if the responsibility for the decrease of about 2½ per cent in first grade cheese can be traced to the proper source and eliminated before another season begins, it will be of great benefit to the cheese industry.

Weather Worst Yet.

"In the eatsern part of Ontario, it was said the weather conditions were the worst ever experienced and the ability and skill of the cheesemakers were taxed to the limit to turn out a class of cheese which was equal in quality to previous years.

"Perhaps other sections and provinces had the same experience, but whether this is true or not, it does not seem to solve the problem, because there were factories in all districts where the records were as good as in previous years and it seems evident that unfavorable weather conditions are a much greater problem at some factories than at others.

"This leads one to the conclusion that the milk producer has not in all cases realized his responsibility in furnishing the class of milk which would enable the cheesemaker to produce high class cheese.

Accepting Poor Milk.

"Perhaps the cheesemaker has fallen down by accepting milk which should have been returned to the patron, or, on the other hand, his methods of manufacture may not have been as scientific as they should have been, but whatever the cause, it is to be hoped that through co-operation of the milk producer and the cheesemaker, future records will show that the quality of Canadian cheese has been restored to previous high records."

The largest quantity of cheese graded since 1928 was graded last year, 1,310,111 boxes against 1,212,456 in 1936. Manitoba, Quebec and Ontario showed large increases, Quebec's amounting to almost 22 per cent.

The year, however, showed the largest slump in 10 in the percentage of cheese making first grade. In most years there were small increases and in three only slight decreases.

"It is quite impossible for me to offer any satisfactory explanation for this decrease excepting that unfavorable weather conditions may have been a factor," he said, "but that does not seem to be a satisfactory explanation. I find in going over the county records for Ontario that seven counties out of nine in Western Ontario were away above the average for the province, while three counties in Central Ontario and three counties in Eastern Ontario were also above the provincial average of 95.44 per cent. first grade cheese.

Quebec Slips Badly.

"The decrease in the percentage of first grade was nothing like as heavy in Ontario as it was in Quebec, but I am unable to give any explanation as to why Quebec fell down so badly unless it was due to a number of combined factories switching from the manufacture of butter to the manufacture of cheese."

Western Ontario made a better showing than any other district in Ontario or Quebec. The percentage of cheese making first grade in districts was: Western Ontario 97.75, Eastern Ontario 94.98, Central Ontario 94.82, Northern Ontario 79.75, Roberval, Lake St. John and Chicoutimi 90 03, North Shore St. Lawrence 88.22, South Shore 84.48.

Huron was at the top of the list among Western Ontario counties, with Oxford, Middlesex, and Bruce close up. These four counties averaged better than 98 per cent. first grade cheese, and the only two counties below the average for the province were Waterloo and Norfolk.

Defects in under grade cheese were listed by Mr. Burgess as resulting from both flavor deficiencies and poor workmanship, with the latter predominating.

BRIDGENORTH

The play 'Mother's Moment," of Murray St. Baptist church, will be put on under the auspices of Bridgenorth Cemetery Co., on Thursday evening of this week, at the church.

The W. M. S. of Bridgenorth Church will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. P. T. Udy.

The W.A. of Bridgenorth church held their first meeting of the new year at the home of Mrs. Fred Jopling last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. M. Fowler, the president, occupied the chair. A splendid program was given followed by a social hour and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville McWilliams entertained about seventy - five guests at their home last Friday night. The evening's entertainment consisted of numerous games and dancing.

Miss Ina Robison who underwent an operation last Friday at Nicholls Hospital for appendicitis is recovering nicely.

Mrs. W. R. Wedlock of Peterborough spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. McLachlan.

Miss Opal Robison spent the week-end with friends at Peterborough.

Objects To Advertisement

Martin McBohin,of White Plains, N.Y., didn't like the legend, "New York World's Fair 1939" which appears on the New York State license plates for 1938, so he taped out the offending ad for the fair. He was arrested and charged with obscuring license plates. McBohin claims he has sole right to decide what his car will advertise, and will defend his right, even carrying the fight to the U.S. supreme court if necessary.

Leadership training, Miss E. L. Hetherington. During the year two students of this course, Miss J. L. Burnham and Mrs. G. O. Fallis, completed their examinations and received certificates. Others who completed part of the course were, Mrs. Lunn, Mrs. Norman Braithwaite, Phyllis Kidd and Bernice Smith.

The secretaries reported the average attendance for 1937 as 125; collections, average, $4.58; this was below the usual figures but in the final quarter of the year a considerable imporvement on both counts was noted.

The treasurer's report showed a small deficit that, however, will be fully met when contributions promised from the Senior Bible Classes, is paid in. Each class was asked to take a special offering to increase the school funds, and a gratifying response was made. The pastor dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Millbrook Circle Guests Of President

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Jan. 12—The newly elected president of the Golden Links Mission Circle, Miss Phyllis Kidd, entertained the gathering for its initial meeting of the new year at her home on Monday at 8 p.m., the atetndance being gratifying and including a number of younger girls shortly to be enrolled on the membership list.

The treasurer reported the allocation of fifty dollars for 1937 reached and remitted to the Presbyterial treasurer and the president added that the Mission Band had also sent away a similar allocation of fifty dollars. A fifty per cent increase is the aim for the next three years. A budget committee was appointed, consisting of the president, Mary Dawson, Jean Burnham, Della Mae Sisco and Mrs. D. Lunn, to plan finances for the current year and report its findings at the February meeting.

A former member, Miss Margaret Luxon, of Newtonville who is in ill health but still interested in the local circle, will be remembered with letters written by two members each month, Jean Fisher and Jean Burnham taking this pleasant task for the current month. The study of the month, "The Ministry of Heal," was taken up by Phyllis Kidd, in an interesting manner, and at the close of the meeting a Bible contest was enjoyed, with the service of homemade candy by Mrs. Kidd and her daughter.

Another Friend

SHE INHERITED her husband's estate but her attempts to manage, as she felt he would have done, had been more than worrisome . . . unfortunately, her trustfulness in un-asked-for advice of a relative had been more human than wise. To her, the remainder of the estate seemed pitifully small when she called and asked us to take it in care and do whatever we could for her. She had heard about the protective attitude of a Trust Company in money matters and turned to us for shelter. We are thankful, we were able to salvage a fair measure of income for her and now we take a friendly pride in her gratitude. She is a frequent caller for she has found that we are no more than a group of men and women with the same human qualities she meets with in her own circle of friends.

Trust Company Service is not mercenary and friendless. Its increasing growth implies many worthy features. Ask for our booklet.

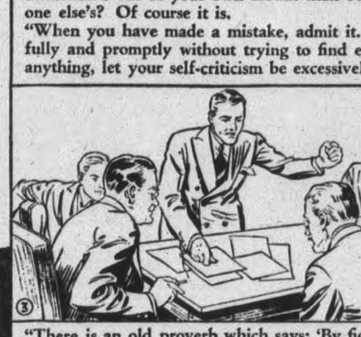
HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE

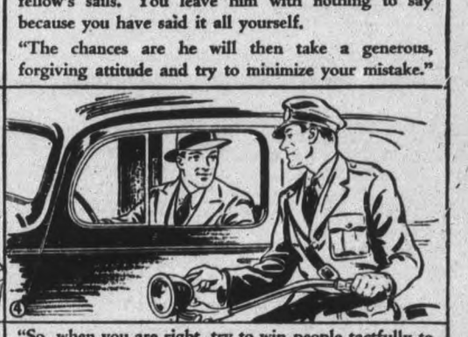
By DALE CARNEGIE
Author of the famous book of this name

IF YOU ARE WRONG, ADMIT IT



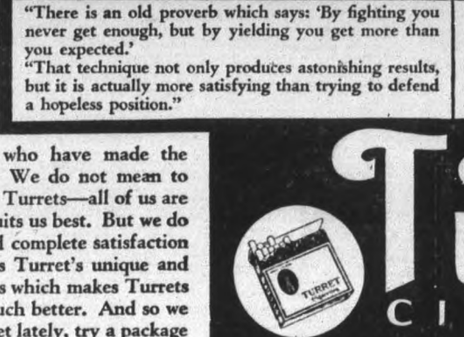
"Isn't it easier—and less humiliating—to hear yourself condemned out of your own mouth than out of some one else's? Of course it is.

"When you have made a mistake, admit it. Admit it fully and promptly without trying to find excuses. If anything, let your self-criticism be excessively severe."



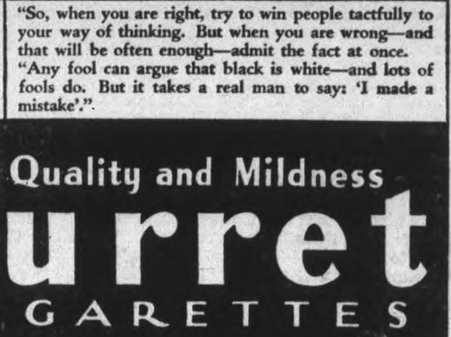
"Such an attitude takes the wind out of the other fellow's sails. You leave him with nothing to say because you have said it all yourself.

"The chances are he will then take a generous, forgiving attitude and try to minimize your mistake."



"There is an old proverb which says: 'By fighting you never get enough, but by yielding you get more than you expected.'

"That technique not only produces astonishing results, but it is actually more satisfying than trying to defend a hopeless position."



"So, when you are right, try to win people tactfully to your way of thinking. But when you are wrong—and that will be often enough—admit the fact at once.

"Any fool can argue that black is white—and lots of fools do. But it takes a real man to say: 'I made a mistake'."

HAVE YOU SMOKED A TURRET LATELY?

ARE you one of those smokers who have made the mistake of not trying Turrets? We do not mean to suggest that everyone ought to smoke Turrets—all of us are entitled to choose the cigarette that suits us best. But we do know that Turret smokers seldom find complete satisfaction in any other cigarette. The reason is Turret's unique and original blend of fine Virginia tobaccos which makes Turrets just that much different—just that much better. And so we suggest: if you haven't smoked a Turret lately, try a package today.

A Good Financial Record

Mayor Hamilton did well, in his inaugural address, to stress the fact that the city council has direct control of only about one-third of all the money it raises each year through taxation; that so far as the other two-thirds is concerned it is merely a collection agency.

That is something that every taxpayer should know but that a good many of them forget. Even some of the aspirants for municipal office fail to appreciate the fact that if there are to be any tax reductions effected they will have to be done in the comparatively small portion of the total revenue that is spent directly by the council, or else through the co-operation of the other spending bodies, for whom the council has to find revenue by taxation.

Last year, as Mayor Hamilton pointed out, a total of $900,000 was raised but of that amount the council only had control of $285,926.16.

Once that fact is realized, then the performance of the councils of recent years in keeping down the tax rate reasonably well and averting capital expenditures should take on a new lustre as a very capable piece of municipal financing. When such a large proportion of the money raised is uncontrolled by the council then it must be admitted that the city fathers have done rather a fine job all through the depression period, particularly as they have been following a pay-as-you-go policy and have met the cost of relief each year instead of mortgaging the future as so many other municipalities have been doing. The reward of that business-like policy will be enjoyed more fully in the years just ahead because Peterborough, having avoided the issuing of any debentures since 1933, and with a block of debenture debt to be shorn off in the near future, will find herself in a very enviable financial position.

It is easy to find fault—probably we have erred in that respect ourselves upon occasion—but the record shows that in the main there has been wise counsel followed in the administration of the city's affairs during a difficult period, and for that members of the various councils of recent years deserve general thanks.

Improving The Market

Ald. Gordon has made a constructive suggestion in his motion that a committee should be appointed to consider the question of providing an enclosed market.

There is a feeling that the time is long overdue for better accommodation for the farmers and market-gardeners who visit Peterborough and for the hundreds of citizens who patronize the market.

The outside market is of course absolutely devoid of shelter and the result is that the farmers and their customers often have to transact business under the most inclement weather conditions.

Despite these handicaps, however, the market has steadily expanded until the statement that it has become the best market between Toronto and Ottawa is a simple expression of fact. Producers drive many miles every Saturday to sell their wares here and Peterborough benefits not only because of the quality and quantity of the produce offered for sale but also because of the fact that these visitors become patrons of Peterborough stores and put a sizable amount of money in circulation for goods and services.

It is good business to investigate the matter of providing better facilities and at the same time to study the question of whether the market should be operated on a free basis or not. The committee named by council has a chance to contribute a very useful public service if it succeeds in deciding upon a market program that will increase the prestige and bring about an expansion of the already very busy local market.

May Clear The Air

There has been so much heard of the possibility of taking some of the burden off the shoulders of local taxpayers with the assistance of the surplus that has been set up by the City Trust Commission that it is well that the matter should be brought to a head—as it should be by the resolution introduced by Ald. Glover the other night.

The Examiner's attitude on this question was stated frankly and unreservedly in a recent issue when the desirability of not throwing a monkey wrench into a machine that had served the community so well was pointed out. The knowledge that the City Trust Commission, by shrewd financing, has set up a surplus naturally represents a strong temptation to the city council to ease the financial load by securing a portion of this revenue. Under the present setup the council is apparently not legally entitled to claim any of it and there the matter rests for the moment.

It is proposed now to hold a conference with the members of the City Trust with a view to securing their co-operation in the diverting of a portion of the Commission's revenue into the city treasury, through the medium of a private bill changing the regulations governing the commission and legalizing the proposed action.

What will happen next is a matter of conjecture. The Commission may refuse to accede to the request of council in which case we imagine it might be a difficult matter to get the private bills committee of the Legislature to make the desired changes in the face of Commission opposition. And if the two bodies do agree and make a joint representation to Queen's Park it might still be a hard task to steer a private bill through for the legislators are quite likely to take the view that the safeguards with which the activities of the Commission are now protected were put there in the interest of the public and should be maintained. In other words that once the way is open for city councils to dip into the funds of the Commission then the whole purpose for which the latter body was created will be frustrated.

It is, however, well to dispose of this matter without delay and for that reason the present action of council should be welcomed.

Too Big A Load

That friend of the property-owner in Canada, the Citizens' Research Institute, which like a voice in the wilderness, has for many years been stressing the burden carried by property, recently issued a bulletin dealing with the results of a survey which shows that taxes levied on real property in organized municipalities in Canada for municipal and school purposes increased from 198 millions to 247 millions between 1922 and 1935 or about 25 per cent.

The greatest single factor in bringing about this increase, according to the Institute's report, was the growing scope of social services—services that were not even thought of a decade or two ago and that today are saddled upon the municipalities whose only source of revenue under the present setup to meet these new expenditures is the taxing of property.

Unemployment relief has perhaps been the last straw because it has thrown another heavy load upon the property-owner and in a good many cases has made it virtually impossible to meet their tax levies.

In this connection we believe that the Research Institute has hit the target squarely in the centre when it says:

"It is difficult to see how expenditures on unemployment relief are of direct or indirect benefit to real estate, and the cost of such a service should be met by a general levy on the national income, rather than charged in whole or in part against a particular form of wealth such as real estate."

The whole situation is rapidly getting itself around to the point where governments will have to assume the whole cost of the new social services that have sprung into being, or failing that, will have to assign to the municipalities some fresh sources of revenue. The law of diminishing returns makes it impossible for property to keep on carrying the whole load.

Another John A. Needed

The frank statement by Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec that any Federal unemployment insurance scheme must be brought into being without amending the British North America Act is proof positive that there is not the slightest chance of Canada's nine provinces agreeing upon changes in the Canadian constitution to make it possible for the introduction of social reform legislation on a Dominion basis.

Blocking the way is Quebec's unshakable determination that hands must be kept off the British North America Act.

Quebec's government, Premier Duplessis says, considers that the best elements of stability and certainty are within that Act and that it is "much safer" to preserve the stability of the Constitution.

Thus a formidable obstacle has been thrust in the path of the Rowell Dominion-provincial relations commission, seemingly rendering it impossible for a solution of the problem through the medium of changes in the British North America Act.

The only way out is to persuade the people of Quebec that it is possible to amend the constitution without taking away from the French-Canadian citizens of Canada any of the religious and political rights and privileges they now enjoy. To sell that idea in Quebec will not be a sinecure; the task would require the diplomacy and persuasiveness that were shown by the fathers of confederation prior to 1867. We need another Sir John A. Macdonald for the job and if we are to get very far in the direction of streamlining the British North America Act and bringing it in line with the problems of 1938 we will have to find one.

She'll Do Her Best

We believe there is a moral for municipal candidates in the fact that Canada's only woman mayor, Mrs. Barbara Hanley of Webbwood, forty miles from Sudbury has been re-elected. It is not to be found in the fact that the successful candidate is a woman but rather that she was elected on a one-plank platform. She made only one promise; it consisted merely of the pledge that if she were elected she would do her best. That seems to us an ideal platform; brief and yet all-embracing.

Let other candidates promise to accomplish wonders if they should be entrusted with the responsibilities of office; let them pledge themselves to slash the tax-rate, to make more factory chimneys throw out clouds of smoke, to solve unemployment. Let them talk loud and long about making their home community a better place in which to live; let them, if they like, offer themselves as a political Moses who will lead the harassed tax-payer into the promised land.

They may promise these and other things but when they are through and their pledges are all boiled down the residue is not likely to be nearly so attractive or convincing as Mrs. Hanley's simple pledge to do her best. After all that is all the most promising candidate can do and he might just as well say so and leave it at that.

We are not surprised that she was elected; we are inclined to believe that if we were on the voters' list in Webbwood our ballot, too, would have been marked for Mrs. Barbara Hanley.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A horse called "My Lawyer" won a race the other day. We do not imagine however that he paid a very good price.

At least Mussolini should be convinced by this time there is no welcome on the mat for him in Austria or Hungary.

According to a story from Toronto Canada's drought areas are being furnished with books. That we presume is what might be described as dry reading.

Toronto police recovered a stolen horse just as he was being sold to a glue factory. In other words they were just in time to prevent the owner being stuck.

Mussolini announces two more capital ships and twelve destroyers for Italy to protect Italian North African possessions although it is not clear just who is threatening them.

Dominion by-elections are announced in two ridings for February 28. And so far the stock market has absorbed the news without the slightest sign of a flurry.

That is significant news from Germany that pastors who had been imprisoned and had been allowed out on parole for Christmas need not return to jail.

President Roosevelt announces a huge aircraft construction program and we are under the impression there will not be much cheering in Tokyo over the news.

Talking pictures were substituted for the regular evening service at Chichester Cathedral in England the other night and it is probable that the S.R.O. sign was hung out early.

Before getting too excited over the high salaries received by big business executives it is well to notice that Gary Cooper, screen star, is not doing too badly with his $372,000 a year.

The University of Toronto is planning a course in refrigeration and we suppose the reaction of freshmen to the announcement is "Wouldn't that frost you?"

Ald. Herb McCannan was elected for only a one-year term and in appointing him chairman of the Property Committee his colleagues have made sure that it will be a busy year.

A Petrolea woman says that when she went to vote at a recent election she was handed a ballot already marked. That seems to be carrying service to the public beyond a reasonable limit.

AMBITION

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Both A and B ran little stores, and fair good business crossed their doors, they lived quite happy there; and they were honest in their ways, together they spent happy days, their prices too were fair.

¶ But A went to the city store to see if he could learn some more, he would expand his trade; ambition swelled within his chest, he bought himself a bigger vest, he found how sales were made.

¶ When A came home he thought some more on how to draw them to his store, he thought of all he'd seen; so he decided on a start, of B's trade he would take a part, he had a fancy scheme.

¶ A suit of clothes when bought from A, he'd give a shirt and tie away, likewise a pound of tea; with every dollar's worth of fish he'd give a fancy pickle dish, 'twas simple as could be.

¶ Then B saw how he set the pace and that he'd have to join the race, and so he went to bat; a tie and shirt went with a suit, to show he didn't give a hoot, he likewise gave a hat.

¶ A bag of sugar bought from B had cakes of soap, a pound of tea, it was the same with prunes; and those who got six pounds of lard of print and calico a yard, they earned a dozen spoons.

¶ But A and B they met one day, and both looked sad and far from gay, and neither cracked a joke; they were two sober looking men, the banker had cracked down on them—and both of them were broke.

FROM ENGLAND comes the cheery news that rayon staple fibre youngest member of the textile family, is giving Lancashire work at a time when she needs it most. Because staple fibre can be spun and woven on existing cotton machinery it is giving employment when men and machines, because of the slump in the cotton export trade, would have been idle.

Staple fibre in at present the bright spot in the textile picture. Demand for cloths containing this mad-made raw material is going ahead by leaps and bounds.

✧ ✧ ✧

Less than three years ago commercial production of this artificial textile raw material started in earnest in Britain. Its development has been spectacular. Today the serviceable silk-like yarn, combining the strength of cotton and the warmth of wool is offering a real challenge to the older natural fibres.

✧ ✧ ✧

However although British production of staple fibre has multiplied nine times in three years it is still far below that of foreign competitors.

✧ ✧ ✧

In Italy, Germany and Japan where economic circumstances have led to the substitution of home-produced raw material for imported natural fibres remarkable progress has been made.

✧ ✧ ✧

These three countries produce four-fifths of the world's supply which has jumped from six million pounds in 1930 to 250 millions in the first six months of 1937. So great was the speed-up last year that the 1936 total output of 260 million pounds had been exceeded at the beginning of August.

A Great Naval Experiment.

✧ ✧ ✧

Aboard H. M. S. Caledonia, Britain's largest and most up-to-date training ship more than 1,000 boys straight from school are being trained for service in all branches of the Navy.

✧ ✧ ✧

Permanently anchored at a quay on the north bank of the Forth about a mile from the Forth Bridge, the 55,561-ton Caledonia presents a commanding appearance. The tops of her three yellow funnels have been cut so that she now conforms to the general trend of much newer shipping.

✧ ✧ ✧

The Caledonia made many Atlantic trips under her previous name of Majestic when she was the pride of the White Star and the Cunard-White Star lines. She made her final voyage in 1936 when she was superseded by the Queen Mary. She presents a tremendous contrast to any other stationary naval training ships used in the past. The oak-timbered full-rigged trainers have given way to this modern ocean greyhound.

✧ ✧ ✧

The number of recruits on board will be increased so that when at full capacity in some months' time the Caledonia will have aboard almost 2,500 officers, men and boys.

✧ ✧ ✧

Enough trade has flown through the port of Shanghai each year to produce customs revenues of $100,000,000. China is now deprived of any revenue at this port, Japan taking her share.

✧ ✧ ✧

The absence of earthquakes in London, Eng. is attributed to the fact that the city rests on a bed of relatively soft clay.

Down in the Earth.

ONE THOUSAND feet down in the bowels of the earth beneath Mount Mazama, Oregon lies Crater Lake. Though it is a mile above sea level it never freezes. Each year hundreds of tourists come away wondering how long it will have to rain before the crater overflows.

✧ ✧ ✧

Professor Howel Williams, University of California volcanist, told a gathering of geologists recently an interesting theory about the formation of this unusual lake.

✧ ✧ ✧

During the Ice Age, he explained, tremendous glaciers straddled Mount Mazama, yet all the time the mountain was seething inside. Now and again lava boiled up from its depths and slowly the overflow piled up. Heavier and heavier became the mass of hardened lava—and millions of tons of sagging rock and ice compressed glowing internal gases. The gases tried to escape but couldn't.

✧ ✧ ✧

Suddenly an explosion blew the inside of the mountain into space. Fifteen cubic miles of multicolored ashy lava shot out in vast clouds. Avalanches of molten rock rolled down the slopes of Mount Mazama and over the countryside for 35 miles around.

✧ ✧ ✧

For one prehistoric moment Mazama's outer shell tottered. Then 7,000 feet of mountain collapsed into the void leaving a crater more than five miles wide and 4,000 feet deep. Water that didn't go off in fountains of steam gathered in the pit and Crater Lake was born. Perhaps subterranean fires prevent its waters from ever freezing over.

✧ ✧ ✧

In the 39-years since five boroughs were consolidated to form greater New York public and semi-public agencies of the area have spent $6,500,000,000 for civic functions.

✧ ✧ ✧

Recent surveys indicate that 57 per cent of the 349,350 persons receiving direct relief in New York city could not meet minimum standards for employment in private industry.

Pro Footballers Not Highly Paid

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal.)

TO CANADIANS and Americans it is always a source of surprise that even the crack English and Scottish players receive such trivial pay, trivial by comparison with the salaries paid to baseball and hockey professionals. The average playing life of a soccer professional is about ten years, provided it is not cut by serious injuries as is often the case, yet in that period his earnings will be less than the sum paid a first-class baseball player in a single and shorter season.

The maximum an English soccer player can be paid is $40 a week for 35 playing weeks of the year and $30 during the remaining 17. That is $1,910 per annum. After five years service he is entitled to a benefit which may be anything from $500 to $2,500, according to the calibre of the player. During those years he may be sold to another club for as high as $50,000 but all that he is entitled to is $50 for signing the contract, plus the percentage of his accrued benefit. So that for his ten years skill, after he has played every Saturday before anything from 25,000 to 150,000 spectators, he will have been paid a total, if he is a star, of less than $25,000. Most of the players get less. Conditions are about the same in Scotland because although there is no wage limit there the wages are similar.

One reason why the pay of these men, who draw the largest crowds of any sport in the world, is so small, is because except for a few mid-week games at the beginning and end of the season, the teams only play one game per week. Prices of admission are much lower than for baseball and hockey, probably 10,000 people in the stands paying up to $2.50, but 50,000 who really do stand on the terracing only paying 25 cents each.

Most of the less successful clubs have a struggle to make ends meet and are happy to sell their best players who may have joined them as unknowns. The top-notch clubs are eager to pay heavily for newly discovered stars. Their expenses are enormous. Having to build and maintain grounds capable of housing 50,000 to 100,000 spectators, some more than that, they must also run a second string team as reserves, plus a few "spares." For example, the famous Arsenal club does not cover its expenses unless there are 40,000 spectators at each home game. However, Arsenal invariably have 50,000 to 70,000. The best clubs have aggregate incomes of $300,000 to $350,000 a year, mostly paid in shillings.

The game exercises tremendous fascination and is easily the most popular in the world. There are over 50 countries attached to the International Federation, and while continental countries only took it up seriously after the war, they now produce teams, coached by British professionals, which give the best Scottish and English combinations very close tussles. Last year when a picked French team met a picked German team in Berlin 400,000 people applied for tickets, but the ground only held 75,000. Only 93,000 are admitted to the English Cup final at Wembley but plans are being made to double that accommodation two years hence. A few short of 150,000 people attended the Scottish final at Hampden Park last April between Aberdeen and Glasgow Rangers, while 20,000 more were unable to gain admittance. By next year or later the ground, which is owned by an amateur club, will be enlarged to hold 200,000.

Christmas Party Staged For Animals

Horses, Ponies and Dogs Are All Guests At Unusual English Yuletide Festival

(From the Chicago Daily News.)

THIS MIGHT be an editorial for good children, who, of course are considerate of all four-footed creatures. It may even interest adults who are fond of domestic quadrupeds.

It is based on a news item in the London Times, which reads like a fairy tale, but is in truth a narrative of fact.

Forty horses and ponies and nearly a score of dogs held a Christmas festival at Ilford, England. They had a splendid Christmas tree, hung with sugar plums, carrots, beet roots and juicy bones. A monster Christmas cake, with three huge layers and icing, was drawn to the feast on a sledge by two Shetland ponies, led by Santa claus.

One long table was spread for the horses and ponies. Each was given a slice of the delicious cake, prepared according to a secret recipe. The horses and ponies ate first. Then the dogs had their turn at the table. Although fewer in number than their bigger friends, they more than made up for that fact by their boisterous enjoyment. They were given loud, if somewhat envious, applause by a "box" of spectator canines, who watched from their seats of privilege.

These onlookers were aristocrats and patrons of the feast. The participants were inmates of the quaintly named "Sanatorium of the People's Dispensary for Sick Animals of the Poor." Among the distinguished equine guests who gathered at the table was Pompey, a war veteran, who, when a four-year-old, is said to have drawn a gun for the Canadians in the great war. He is 27 years old now, and is treated with becoming honor and respect at the sanatorium, where he has been granted permanent residence.

A society of adult human beings maintains the sanatorium and many animal dispensaries throughout England. It is dedicating a new hospital in Paris. While the horses and dogs were enjoying their Christmas tree at Ilford, a merry party of camels and donkeys were snorting and braying over a similar festival at the society's hospital in Cairo, Egypt.

"Be kind to dumb animals" is the obvious moral of this editorial. To which may be added the equally obvious consequence of the comical English obedience to this injunction —"a good time was had by all."

Fire Hazards in Many Rural Halls

This is Season of Year For Large Crowds And For Every Precaution To Be Taken

(From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

THIS IS THE season of the year at which rural halls are called upon to accommodate gatherings of various kinds, often larger than normal capacity, under conditions which involve a definite fire hazard. This applies particularly to banquet gatherings and other social events, attended by numerous visitors, and to annual meetings and dinners of dairy and agricultural organizations of large membership, nowadays often attended by the ladies as guests. Wedged in at a banquet table or struggling up a narrow wooden stair, one sometimes wonders what would result in event of fire, or even an alarm. Some of these village halls, lodge-rooms, dance floors and the like obviously fail to conform to the statutes and regulations intended to govern all premises used for public gatherings, and this is particularly the case in regard to means of egress.

The Ontario statutes provide that the Fire Marshal, district deputy fire marshal or assistant or inspector may upon complaint of any person interested, or when he deems it necessary so to do, without such complaint, inspect all buildings and premises within the jurisdiction. If upon such inspection it is found that a building or other structure is for want of proper repair or by reason of age and dilapidated condition or any other cause especially liable to fire, or so occupied that fire would endanger persons or property, then the officer making such inspection may order the removal of such buildings or the making of such structural repairs or alternations therein or the removal of anything which might constitute a fire menace.

This works out very well in urban municipalities, where the fire chief is an assistant to the Fire Marshal and entitled to enforce the provisions of the Act. In rural areas where there is no fire department, the Sentinel-Review is advised, the Fire Marshal's department attempts no regular inspection and acts only upon complaint. With a staff of only 10 to cover all the numerous arson investigations in the province and handle inspection work for all types of buildings, including residential properties, it is considered impossible to attempt periodic inspections. Any complaints made are handled with reasonable promptness, but it is probably the case that a rural hall, however great a fire hazard, would rarely be subject of complaint by a resident of the community.

In regard to certain types of public halls, the municipal councils have a responsibility, because these halls cannot be operated without license from the Provincial Secretary's Department, and that department ordinarily requires the approval of the municipal authorities before the license is issued. How slender is this safeguard may be judged from the fact that when the Fire Marshal's office in a recent case objected to operation of a dance hall above a public garage, on account of the explosion hazard, the municipality concerned nevertheless approved the issue of a license.

RESPONSIBILITY OF RICHES

A wealthy bride wears a gown which cost enough to feed many destitute for a year. It is a sad truth that very few of the rich have any conception of the responsibility of riches.

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

BE YE NOT unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? . . . Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.—II Cor. vi, 14, 17, 18.

My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.—James 1, 2-4.

✧ ✧ ✧

But be ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost, keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.—Jude 1, 20, 21.

✧ ✧ ✧

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.— Ps. xxiii, 6.

To the Editor

MORE EFFICIENT LESS HUMAN

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The subject of the Relief situation was mentioned by the Pastor in one of our local churches. He said years ago, the relief was handled by the churches alone. Now he said, it is better organized and more efficient but less Human. It brought to my mind a case that happened last Christmas, a church member asked for a basket for an old couple on relief, two ladies were sent to interview the old couple, one of those ladies asked the old couple if they really were in want, the dear old soul said we get enough but not just what we would like. To make a long story short after quite a lot of palaver they got the basket. The point I want to bring out is, the Relief situation is certainly more efficient but as the preacher said less human. The milk of Human kindness is what this old world needs.

Thanking you sincerely,

J. B.

WRONG EITHER WAY.

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

THE conscientious householder is in a plight these days. If he gets out and shovels the walk in front of his home bare of snow he makes a hole that fills up with ankle deep water at the first rainfall or becomes like a sheet of ice when the freeze-up comes. If he doesn't use the shovel he is cussed liberally by his neighbors as they plow through the snow or wade in the slush that is left after the snowplows pass along.

HIS RESPONSIBILITY.

(Guelph Mercury)

WHEN a person puts himself at the wheel of an automobile, he at once becomes responsible for the safe and sane driving of a vehicle which is potentially a killer. The license to drive is a privilege. When it is abused and damage is done, the motorist should be held to account. Anyone who takes liquor though for medical purposes, knowing that the effect on him is similar to that of intoxication, has no right to drive a car.

Lumberjack Confesses Murder But Is Fined As Drunk

California Officials Wire Timmins Witnesses Cannot Be Found To 12-Year-Old Case

TIMMINS, Jan. 12 (CP)—Andrew Moroz, who said he was "haunted" by the memory of a murder he committed twelve years ago, was fined $10 and costs for being drunk in a public place by Magistrate S. Atkinson in Police Court here yesterday. He was given an alternative of thirty days in jail.

The wizened, middle-aged lumberjack walked into the office of the Timmins Daily Press, Friday, and dramatically announced he murdered a Fred Miller in Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 10, 1925. He had roamed 30,000 miles since then trying to escape a memory. He was taken in custody while Sacramento authorities were contacted.

Crown Attorney S. A. Caldbick announced Tuesday he had received instructions from the California capital not to hold Moroz any longer for the confessed killing. The District Attorney's office there was unable to find witnesses of the fatal shooting.

In his confession Moroz said his revolver dischrarged when Miller grabbed it and Sacramento authorities believed they would be unable to obtain a conviction. They said they were willing to drop the case.

Moroz confessed the crime to Police Chief Leo Gagnon and a reporter. He and Miller, a 30-year-old laborer, were drinking in a Sacramento speakeasy, the lumberjack said. They went outside and Moroz drew a gun. Miller tried to grab the gun and it discharged.

Coroner's Department records at Sacramento confirmed Miller's death from a bullet-wound two days after being shot.

Win Trophy

Eastern Ontario Branch of which C. Alex Sollitt of Peterborough is district manager, led the entire Canadian and United States organization of the Canada Life in a recent two months' competition. The branch scored a double victory by winning both on a volume and quota basis, and are holders for the coming year of the company's "Grand Challenge" trophy.

"STREP" VICTIM LEAVES HOSPITAL

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 12 (CP).—Robert Shafer, 17-year-old Windsor Collegiate student and survivor of the usually deadly streptoccus viridens infection, left hospital Tuesday but will have to remain in bed "for a long time yet," his physician, Dr. U. J. Durocher, said.

Chances of a complete cure are "most favorable," Dr. Durocher said, and although tests brought a negative reaction this could not be accepted as positive evidence of a cure. Shafer was "very much improved," the doctor added.

Shafer was one of two victims of the infection in hospital here whose fight for life aroused interest in two nations. Despite blood transfusions after Canada and the United States had been searched for persons with the correct types of blood, the second patient, Weston W. Fletcher, 28, Grand Blanc, Mich., died December 27, a month from the time the first donor with the proper type of blood was found.

As in the Fletcher case, Shafer was given transfusions by persons who had recovered from an attack of "strep." Shafer's father gave several transfusions before a suitable donor was found although he had not suffered the disease.

When the search—which even spread to England—for a donor was started the first to offer his blood was Albertus Rickerd, Detroit. When it was found his blood would not mix with that of Fletcher, for whom the appeal was made, the blood was found perfect for Shafer and he has since taken several infusions.

JAPAN TEACHING POWERS LESSON

LONDON, Jan. 12 (C.P.-Havas)—The Times (Independent) drew a moral to-day in commenting on developments in the Far East.

"The Japanese militarists seem determined to teach the Powers a lesson which from the first was implicit in their presence in China—that their lawful interests in that remote area can be maintained only by concerted action when a common danger faces them," The Times said.

"America is rearming. Japanese bombs have helped mobilize American public opinion into revaluing the possibilities of parallel action with other Powers. The British response has been identical. Russia remains inscrutably and inconveniently close.

"International relations cannot be safe in the hands of fire-eaters in uniform, without a grain of political intelligence and suffering from dangerous exaltation. It is not to be wondered that leaders of Japan betray behind their fierce words a desire to liquidate a situation the logical development of which could be disastrous for Japan.

"And even if those consequences are avoided, what are to be the rewards of complete—according to plan—success? Can Japan establish military occupation over the whole immensity of China which will not only be effective but economically profitable? She is destroying her treasury. She is bequeathing to posterity a legacy of nationalist hatred which will darken Asia until China is both revenged and liberated."

The Yorkshire Post (Conservative) suggested a stand by Great Britain, France, Germany, and the United States.

"Recent weeks have shown that the longer the Japanese war of aggression continues, the greater is the likelihood of its extension," the newspaper said. "There cannot be any doubt of the ability of the great military Powers jointly to bring the Far Eastern outrage to an end. Faced with the joint determination of Britain, France, Germany, and the United States, Japan would reconsider her present unlimited ambitions."

LIBRARY SERVICE IS PLANNED IN APSLEY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, Jan. 12.—The monthly meeting for W.I. of Apsley was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Brown on Thursday evening, with fourteen members and one visitor present.

The roll call was answered with a laundry hint or a stain remover.

The Sunshine committee reported a goodly number of boxes sent out to the aged and shutins and Christmas cards sent to old members who have moved away. Mrs. McMullen reported that she had sent money to the Toronto Public Library to pay the cost of packing books donated to us by the Library in Toronto. Mrs. R. Tucker, president, reported she had written to Kingston Library for discarded books. Letters of thanks for boxes and cards sent at Christmas time were read.

The president said that the Orange Hall had been offered as library for books and dishes. Mrs. McMullen, Miss M. Hastings and Mrs. Robertshaw were named on a committee to look after the library. Suggestions were asked by the president for making money during the winter months.

The current events for this month were given by Mrs. Charles Smith. Miss Finnimore read a paper entitled "Domestic Fates and their uses in the home." It was suggested that several demonstrations be put on at the coming meetings. Various things such as "Rug hooking," "a new stitch in knitting" on "cake making," being some interesting subjects.

A solo was ably rendered by Mrs. Fred Bullied accompanied by Mrs. J. Downing. Miss Finnimore, R.N., asked if the Institute would consider buying cod liver oil for some of the local school children. Moved by Mrs. McMullen, seconded by Mrs. N. Wilson, five dollars be spent for this purpose.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem. The hostess served a delightful lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

Week of Prayer

The United Week of Prayer was held jointly by the United Church and the Anglican. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. The Monday and Tuesday meetings were held in the United Church with the Rev. McMullen in charge, assisted by Rev. F. McMulkin. Prayers and readings taken by members of the congregation. On Wednesday the service was in St. George's Anglican church with the Rev. McMulkin in charge assisted by Rev. McMullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McColl motored to Peterborough on Saturday and Mrs. McColl is now a patient in Nicholls Hospital where she will undergo an operation. We all wish her a speedy recovery.

REMEMBERED VETS

SYDNEY—(CP)—Well-known for her charitable works, Dame Edith Walker, who died in October, left $94,500 to charities, residuary estate being divided among Australian soldiers and sailors.

Convent Destroyed

The lives of 45 nuns and 65 girl students were threatened when fire destroyed the 75-year-old Loretto convent and academy at Niagara Falls, Ont., with a loss estimated at more than $250,000. Although no one was injured many of the students and nuns were forced to flee from the burning building in their night attire. At the UPPER LEFT firemen are shown fighting the blaze. Vera Kuzyk, 12 (RIGHT), of Toronto, was among the girl students who escaped. Damage to one of the convent's rooms by the inferno is shown in the lower picture.

Skiing Hints

By Fritz Loosli

INSTRUCTOR, TORONTO SKI CLUB

TEMPO TURN (Continued)

The tempo turn, though the easiest to make, sometimes seems the most difficult to learn. Being accomplished at high speed, it is hard to explain by sectional movements. Personally an addict of the low-crouch Arlberg technique for years, I experienced difficulty in getting the proper swing, and I tried for three or four years to find a way of teaching this master turn to beginners.

I began to execute the turn at the slowest speed possible, and the more I tried it the more I was convinced that the tempo turn is closer related to the stem than to the Christiania. The question was could it possibly be taught at low speed to get the smooth roll in the weight shifting that is so essential. Then, to my astonishment, a beginner just starting to ski showed me that he was able with a few days' practice to shift his weight in the lifted stem in the same rhythmic manner required in the tempo turn, and I realized that the standard teaching technique needed alteration for satisfactory results in teaching of high speed turns. The common fault among experienced skiers wishing to take up high speed technique, is too much edging, with weight carried too much on the back of the skis. Side slipping is about the best exercise I know to overcome this fault.

Stand on a packed hill with skis parallel across the slope. Flatten your skis until side slipping, edging them just enough so you will not trip by catching the lower edge of the skis. Stand erect with weight on the centre of the ski, and in that position the sliding will be straight down; if you let your body swing back and forward in a slow pendulum motion, your skis will drop back or forward during the sliding motion. This exercise will greatly reduce the edging habit, and give weight shifting control.

Repeat the side slipping, but, instead of swinging back and forward, push your knees slowly forward. The weighted front of the skis will now drop more and more downhill. In making the tempo turn, relax the edging as your skis start to swing into the turn, and roll the shoulders by exaggerating the forward lean. When the swing is started, don't drop the weight to the heels, for this would have a braking action, dangerous at high speed and would spoil the smoothness of the tempo turn.

ROSENEATH

The Young Men's class of the United Sunday School are sponsoring a crokinole party in the town hall on Monday night, January 17, proceeds in aid of Sunday School supplies.

The Hockey Club have the outdoor skating rink completed and for the past week, skating fans have been enjoying this sport to the fullest. The village boasts two pick-up hockey teams, and onlookers report some fast work for amateurs.

Mr. and Mrs. George Turner (nee Helen Barrie) have returned from their honeymoon and were greeted by a charivari party of over sixty friends. They were entertained by the groom's mother, Mrs. Lily Turner. The community is tendering the young couple a shower and dance on Friday night, January 14.

Those from a distance attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Stephen Herrington included, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dummit, and Messrs. William and Neil Herrington of Toronto, Mrs. Pearl Thomas, Peterborough, and George Thomas, Cobourg.

P. E. McNeely and sons, Trevor and Kenneth, of Dauphin, Man., visited his cousin, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe and Mr. Varcoe, during the week.

Mrs. W. Rogers of Centerton is staying with Mrs. M. Davey.

TEXTILE HEAD DIES

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (CP).—George James Cuthbertson, 70, president of the Renfrew Textile, Limited, of Renfrew, Ont., died here yesterday. He was widely known in Canadian industrial and banking circles.

Born in St. Thomas, Ont., he joined the Bank of Toronto after completing his studies and was transferred to Montreal in 1911. Eight years later, he left the bank to go into the textile business.

SHERIFF ARRIVES, LATE

IOWA CITY, Ia., Jan. 12 (AP).—Sheriff Don McComas sprang into action when he heard this announcement over his police radio: "Quite a disturbance in the dining-room of the Hotel Jefferson."

He burst into the dining-room and found Mayor M. J. Walker explaining the police radio system to the Kiwanis Club.

The disturbance call was made merely for demonstration purposes, but they forgot to let the sheriff in on the stunt.

A BORDER CHASE

NEWTON BUTLER, Northern Ireland—(CP).—A pony drawing a trap with Northern Ireland mails bolted and didn't stop till it crossed the border into the Irish Free State. Free State officials returned the mails.

Mrs. E. Moore Heads Young's Point W.A.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

YOUNG'S POINT, Jan. 12.—On Thursday afternoon, aJnuary 6, the Women's Auxiliary of St. Aidan's church met at the home of Mrs. Andrew Wilson for the election of officers for the years. There was a splendid turnout and the result of the election was:

That every officer was returned to the same office that she had held in the past year, namely: President, Mrs. E. C. Moore; vice-president, Mrs. Andrew Wilson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. David Darling; Dorcas committee, Mrs. Scollard, Mrs. Wilbert McNaughton, Mrs. Robert Johnston and Mrs. William Bland.

Arrangements were made to hold a card party on Friday evening, January 14. Five Splendid prizes will be given.

Personals

Born—In St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, on January 1st, to Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald, (nee Daisy Wilson) a daughter, Ester Pauline.

Mrs. Henry Freeburn, who is an inmate of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, is much better after a very serious illness, we hope for a safe recovery.

Rev. R. T. F. Brain, of St. John's church, Peterborough, was the visiting clergyman at St. Aidan's church, Young's Point, Sunday evening, when he preached a very forcible sermon from the text, "Emmanuel—God with us." Rev. Brain also dedicated a set of Altar linen which had been given to St. Aidan's church by the ladies of St. John's church. A great many of the ladies and gentlemen of St. John's church, motored out for the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wilson attended the funeral of their uncle, the late Thomas Watson, which was held in St. John's church, Lakefield, on Saturday, January 8.

Mr. and Mrs. David Darling motored to Toronto on Saturday, as the guests of Mr. Frank Hughes and Miss Verna Elliott, where they visited with their friends and also attended the hockey match.

DEATH COMES FIRST

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP).—For the first time in weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Danielson and their two children had enough to eat—but they had no appetite.

Monday Mrs. Danielson applied to a relief bureau for aid. When she returned home their three-months-old daughter Barbara was dead—from malnutrition, the assistant medical examiner said.

Tuesday the food arrived—by the basketful.

To-day police were raising funds to bury Barbara.

YOUNGER MEN GET BIG ARMY POSTS

LONDON, Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Further high Army appointments were announced last night as additional proof the policy initiated by Leslie Hore-Belisha, Secretary for War, of bringing youth and ability to the fore, is being aggressively pursued.

The new appointments are a direct consequence of the sweeping shakeup of the Army Council on December 2 when the Minister passed over 50 senior Generals to make Major-General Viscount Gort Chief of the Imperial General Staff, and, by wholesale retirements, reduce the average age of the Council from 63 to 52.

The ages of the officers promoted to-day range from 46 to 53; two of them hold the Victoria Cross.

Major-General H. R. L. G. Alexander to command the First Division, effective February 16, in succession to Lieut.-General C. C. Armitage, who has been appointed Master-General of Ordnance in India.

Colonel D. G. Johnson, V.C., to command the Fourth Division, effective January 7, with the temporary rank of Major-General, in succession to Major-General Clive Liddell, appointed Adjutant-General in the December reorganization.

Brigadier B. C. T. Paget as Commandant of the Staff College at Camberley with the temporary rank of Major-General, succeeding Col. Sir Ronald Adam, who became Deputy-Chief of the Imperial General Staff in December. He is 49.

Brigadier H. R. Pownall as Director of Military Operations and Intelligence at the War Office with the temporary rank of Major-General, effective in March, succeeding Major-General R. H. Haining, appointed General Officer Commanding the British Force in Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

Colonel T. R. Eastwood as Commandant of the Royal Military College at Sandhurst, effective January 12, succeeding Major-General W. D. S. Brownrigg, appointed Military Secretary to the War Office in succession to Lord Gort. He is 48.

Brigadier P. Neame, V.C., as Commandant of the Royal Military Academy at Woodwich, with the temporary rank of Major-General, effective on February 26, succeeding Major-General A. A. Goshen. He is 49.

The local rank of Lieutenant-General has been conferred on Generals Brownrigg, Adam and Haining.

The appointments are considered in line with Mr. Hore-Belisha's expressed determination to find "the right man" for every job, irrespective of seniority and length of service. It is explained that fitness for a particular post was the sole basis of selection instead of the individual's position in the Army list.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for bad winter coughs. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you four times as much cough remedy for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is a very effective, dependable, quick-acting cough remedy for the whole family. Quickly, you feel its penetrating effect in the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You'll be more than delighted with its quick effect in clearing up bad coughs.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

BORROWING AT THE BANK

to make a small, sound business larger, more sound

SMALL BUSINESS CONCERNS—independent, well-managed, established on personal ability, honesty and industry—fortunately abound in Canada. Many of them have all the elements of increasing success. They may need only sound financial assistance to make them eventually large and important contributors to Canadian prosperity. Conservative borrowing may be a constructive step.

The Bank of Montreal welcomes enquiries from such business concerns regarding loans, and the manager of our nearest branch will be glad to discuss with you, in strict confidence, any plans you may have for taking a constructive step forward.

NORWOOD DEFEATS WARSAW 10-5; LAKEFIELD TIES WESTCLOX

DIGWEED IN GOAL IS STAR OF GAME AT NORWOOD RINK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 12.—Norwood took a 10 to 5 decision from Warsaw last night in an O.H.A. Junior "C" fixture played in Norwood Arena.

Digweed, Warsaw's 13-year-old goal tender, was the star of the game. Even though he let ten past him, he stopped many more times that number.

Norwood players worked their way into the goal before shooting and Warsaw shots practically all came from beyond the blue line. The game was quite clean except for two penalties.

The game opened up with rushes at both goals. Myles of Warsaw got right in close and missed an open net. Digweed stopped shot after shot as Norwood players peppered them at him. Puffer for Norwood broke away from center, went through the defence and scored the first goal at ten minutes.

Continue Rampage

A moment later J. Baskin scored Norwood's second goal on an assist from Bedore. B. Bell for Warsaw, on a pass from Moore, from a scramble, scored their first counter to make it 2-1. One minute later B. Cooper for Warsaw broke away from a scramble and scored their second goal. The period ended a tie, 2-2.

The second period proved the downfall of Warsaw, when Norwood players nabbed seven goals. Two minutes after the face-off Puffer scored unassisted. Bedore scored half a minute later on a pass from Puffer. J. Baskin assisted by Lumsen and Puffer, scored at three minutes to make the score 5-2 for Norwood. At the 15-minute mark Puffer, assisted by Baskin and Bedore, scored from a scramble in front of the nets. Webb missed the open goal during the scoring bee. Goden, assisted by Puffer, scored at 17 minutes, to make it 7-2. Puffer scored his third goal of the period at 18 minutes and a moment later Lumsen, assisted by G ilJslipped in their final goal of the period. Warsaw looked as though they had become badly disorganized, but A. Watts scored unassisted at 19 minutes to make the score 9-3.

From the face-off in the third period Webb missed the open goal. Myles for Warsaw, assisted by I. Watts, scored at two minutes, to make the game 9-4. Warsaw team then began to apply the pressure. At this point it began to get a bit rough, and Referee "Pete" Bowen handed out a two-minute penalty to R. Bowen for tripping. Lumsen for Norwood was given a penalty for high sticking. Warsaw really applied the pressure then, and A. Watts was successful in getting their final counter from a scramble at center at 16 minutes to make it 9-5. One minute later, Lumsen for Norwood, assisted by Baskin, sank their tenth and final goal. The line-ups:

Norwood.—McMaster, goal; Puffer and T. Baskin, defence; D. Bedore, centre; B. Webb and Goden, wings; J. Baskin, Lumsen, B. Bedore and Gill, alternates.

Warsaw.—Digweed, goal; P. Cooper and Myles, defence; I. Watts, centre; J. Watts and A. Watts, wings; W. Cooper, Bowen, Bell, Dunford and Moore, alternates.

Referee, "Pete" Bowen, Warsaw.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THERE'LL BE a hot time in the old rink tonight, mes hearties. On account of the O.H.A. senior "B" squads swing into action again here this gloaming. With Queen's University puckists from Kingston clashing with the Petes of Peter's borough at 8.30 of the clock. The only scheduled appearance of Queen's in this man's town this winter. And it's a four-point fixture, a sort of two-for-one sale. Winner gets four points, tied teams get two each, with loser drawing a nice large goose egg. With the Petes and Belleville tied on top of the heap now, this double joust is most important for the group standing. Very much so.

* * * * * *

THE THOMAS team of Belleville beat Queen's 6-5 the other night on Quinte ice, but they were decidedly lucky. The canny Quinte skipper signed up three more players for this tilt and they tore in and took a 4-1 lead in the initial inning. They were hard put to it the rest of the way to hold off the scrappy students, who outplayed and outscored 'em the second and third heats, but they nosed home in front by one counter. As this is a better Belleville team than the oge the Petes beat by a goal in overtime, it adds up that Queen's and the locals should be well matched. Flat Walsh is liable to strengthen his squad, too, from the Queen's intercollegiate team which is just back from a U.S. tour.

* * * * * *

PICK HINES' Petes are in the pink now. Bun Kingdon lost a couple of molars at a practise a few nights back but will be on deck this eve. Ellis may remain with the intermediate Bees, though he'd look nice with the Petes, but otherwise we imagine the outfit will line up pretty much as they did against the Fliers here. Unless there is a last-minute switch. The boys looked pretty impressive in that overtime tilt they dropped to the smart Airmen and we think they'll look a bit better still this p.m. It should be a real battle all the way and ought to pack in the fans. No smoking at the rink is requested by players and officials.

* * * * * *

QUEEN'S HAVE a cosmopolitan crew, picked from hither and thither. On defence are Neilson, former Stratford flash; Hood, who shone when Norvees won junior honors last season; and Dixon, experienced Queen's defender of '37. Up front are Donohue, of Cornwall and Clarkson Tech., N'Yawk; Carver of Winnipeg; Noble of Toronto; Bassarab of Regina; Johnson of Belleville, etc. A fast, fighting band, 'tis reported.

* * * * * *

QUINTE COLUMNIST cracks: "Coach Flat Walsh iced the usual and traditional fast-skating, sturdy Queen's hockey team here Monday. As in other years, the students showed plenty of speed but had trouble inside the locals' defence. In Donnihee, Carver and Holland, Coach Walsh has a trio of fast players, Carver being ineligible for senior intercollegiate as he lost in studies at Christmas, but he is captain of the O.H.A. squad. Neilson (8), the husky young defenceman with Queen's was with Stratford Midgets last year and seemed to delight in his bumping feud with our own 'Dolly' Stark." Belleville tried another goalie out in this game, Benny Bowen, who used to block rubber there before, and he went good after a wobbly start. The Redmen seem to be building up fast and effectively.

* * * * * *

AND HERE is a clipping from Oshawa: "The intermediate game here was a good one. Oshawa deserved the nod but Peterborough is well-balanced and will give them all plenty of trouble in the Liftlock City rink with the tricky corners and backboards. Clarke, Magee, Cadd, Ellis, Creighton, Gardiner and Coughlin, all names well-known locally as members of Peterborough ball and lacrosse teams, comprise the nucleus of this intermediate entry. This boy Heal, centre speedster, is of the rubber variety, bouncing right back for more action every time he is checked. We pick Peterborough and Oshawa to finish in the group finals, with Whitby Red Wings—former group champs for three years—left at home." Well, we hope so by gosh, for goodness' sake, by golly!

* * * * * *

FOUR TEAMS make up the West End Hockey League, Keene, Warsaw, All Saints and Canadiens. Cres Sproat is prexy and the executive consists of the managers and president. O.H.A. rules used but no bodying in the centre zone and nix on the penalty shots. Each team provides two pucks if needed at each tilt. Single schedule of home and home games, top two then playing off in two out of three for the title and the cup now held by the Keenesters. Harry McFadden and Gord Webb are referees. Entry fee was just 70 cents a team. The league maintains it is not responsible for doctor bills. First game is Monday next with Keene at Warsaw at 8.30 o'clock. Keene and All Saints tangle on Jan. 19th at eight at All Saints' rink, with Warsaw playing Canadiens there that night at nine. Should be some good intermediate hockey dished up.

AND LET us take a squint through the periscope and get a bird's-eye view of the cage situation locally. In the L.O.B.A. district group, the C.G.E. lasses journey to Cobourg tomorrow. At the Collegiate here Friday p.m. two Lindsay teams tackle P.C.I. squads in C.O.S.S.A. scraps, the senior gals and senior boys of Scugogville opening the local season. And at the Y.W.C.A. on Friday eve, the Ladies' City Cage Loop opens with these three contests: St. John's Stars vs. Quaker Maids at 7.45, Westclox vs. "Y" Gym at 8.30, and Quaker Debs vs. St. John's Teenites at 9.15. There will be some Church League and men's City Basketball League fixtures staged at the Y.M.C.A. this Saturday twilight, too.

* * * * * *

DESE, DEM and dose: Westclox held Lakefield to a 2-2 tie on the latter's ice last p.m. in a Senior City Hockey League fray . . . . Two Blood and Thunder Loop games tomorrow (Thursday) night at the Brock, Southenders vs. Hiawatha, and Bewdley vs. Millbrook; we dunno what times, though . . . . Harry Lott of Oshawa is the referee here this twilight . . . . Monarchs of the Junior City Puck Loop practise at seven Friday p.m. at All Saints' rink . . . . There will be the usual volleyball Sat'day aft in the "Y" . . . . Dundas grid champs lose at least two stars for next year, Tedford going to Toronto for Argos and Cahill going to Bonaventure Collitch in the States . . . . Fliers and Kingston have a three-game VanHorne final series tonight, Monday and mayhap Thursday . . . . Big doings in Omemee tonight as the new rink is opened; our Colts will perform in an exhibition squabble . . . . The 11-7 win for Maroons last eve made a scoring record for the N.H.L. with 18 goals tallied . . . . 'Tis rumored that Barney Barnes, while out west, had offers to try out with the Leafs and Wings . . . . Wally Elmer, Kingston puck pilot, sent the Belleville scribe a mourning card when the Redmen were rubbed out in the VanHorne playdowns . . . . Orono minor puck team of 10-year-olds have promised to refrain from smoking and profane language; a Toronto writer hopes they will also stay away from wild women for a while at least!

Red Aces Defeated In Southend Game

King Edward Bantams nudged out a 2-0 verdict over Red Aces in a fast Southend Hockey League scrap at the Sacred Heart rink last evening Chambers and Lawson tallied the only markers of the fixture, with the Aces fighting back hard but unable to break into the scoring column. The kids dished up tidy hockey most of the route and looked well-matched. The teams:

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 12.—When the Westclox senior hockey team and Lakefield's senior stick-handlers met for the first time in the regular schedule in the Peterborough Senior City League's schedule here last night (Jan. 11), the Lakefield lads held the canny Clock Makers to a two-all tie, despite the fact that the Westclox team rang up a 4 to 2 victory over the local lads in an exhibition game here last week.

Monday night's game started off quietly with the Westclox team showing superiority over their opposition. J. Blewett made the first goal of the evening during the first half of this canto, when he scored for Westclox unassisted, and the period closed with the count standing at 1-0. Penalties were meted out to Sabatino and Fields.

At the beginning of the second period Lakefield showed up poorly and it looked for a while as if the visitors would walk away with the team. Whitton, on the homester's forward line, however, got a break, and his goal, which brought the score to one all, seemed to be all the Lakefielders needed to put them on their toes. Form then on, play was fast and the period ended without further counting. Parsons of Peterborough received a penalty for tripping in this frame.

Early in the third canto, the homesters counted again, when the goal was credited to Stabler. The lead, however, was short lived, for O'Leary of the Westclox, assisted by Whatley, pushed in a counter shortly after to end the scoring.

Although Deeth received two penalties in the third, Lakefield failed to take advantage of his absence to break the tie. The line-up:

George St. Juves Defeat St. John's

George St. Juveniles took a 4-3 Church Hockey League win from St. John's Tuesday night at the Quaker rink. Some of the St. John's players turned up at All Saints' rink and the team was short-handed, without the regular goalie. Routley scored twice for the winners and Hamilton and Saunders once each. Crowter counted a pair for the other side with Lewis tallying one. It was 1-1 in the first and 3-2 for George St. in the second, each scoring one in the third heat. Forsythe, Thompson, Routley and Hamilton were outstanding in the fracas. The teams:—

St. John's—Goal, Forsythe; defence, Castle; centre, Lewis; wings, Crowter and Thompson.

Wrestling Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

Providence, R.I.—Ed Don George, 218, North Java, N.Y., defeated George Clark, 209, Scotland, (two of three falls).

Reading, Pa.—Bronko Nagurski, 235, International Falls, Minn., pinned Sammy Cohen, 235, Chicago, (12:30).

San Francisco — Sandor Szabo, 218, Hungary, defeated Ivan Rasputin, 215, Russia, two of three falls.

Doraty Joins Wings

Little Ken Doraty has been brought up from the Pittsburg Hornets of the International league as a sparkplug for the Detroit Red Wings. Doraty, famous for his goal which made the Toronto Maple Leafs the N.H.L. titleholders in 1933, made his debut with the Red Wings as right-winger in their game against the Boston Bruins last night.

CURLING

Echoes From No. '8'
By HERB MARTIN

Alex Kay still keeps bringing in recruits for the junior boys' club, no less than nine joined up Tuesday and these youngsters had never been inside a curling rink before, let alone handle a stone. And furthermore, we understand that there will be as many more this evening.

Although this is only Wednesday we don't think it's to oearly to announce our Saturday afternoon bonspiel. . . . In the ladies' section, playing for the Gibson Trophy, Mrs. F. Gladman's rink is well out in front with three straight wins. Scores: Mrs. F. Gladman, 16; Mrs. O. De Graw, 14. Miss H. Fanning, 14; Mrs. D. Clarke, 10. Mrs. Munroe, 13; Mrs. R. Turner, 6.

Tuesday's Scores

R. Downey, 14; C. Giroux, 5.
T. McArthur, 13; E. Metcalfe, 6.
W. Oke, 11; G. Matthews, 7.
R. Best, 14; B. Scott, 4.
T. Donaldson, 11; W. E. Taylor, 9.
A. Gates, 12; E. R. Shirley, 10.

Members of the Lindsay Curling Club will have quite a busy time during the next week. On Friday the preliminary rounds in the District Cup competition will be played here and on Monday play will commence in the Ontario Tankard competition. Commencing Monday night, the annual Patron-President bonspiel will be the centre of attraction. On Wednesday evening the local members will welcome the touring Scottish curlers, who will play here, and will be banquetted following the games. Rinks will oppose the visitors from Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Woodville, Bobcaygeon, Dunsford and Peterborough.

King Edward Midgets Take 3-2 Victory

King Edward Midgets of the Southend Hockey League copped a 3-2 nod over the Bombers in a tidy tilt last night at the Sacred Heart rink. Campbell counted two goals for the students while Downer notched one. Joiner and Evans scored for the losers. It was anybody's game from start to finish.

The teams:—

King Edward: Goal, Shea; defence, Roberts, Patterson; centre, Dundas; wings, Jamieson, Campbell; alternates, Gladwin, Hodson, Downer, Foster.

MAROONS SET GOAL RECORD IN DEFEATING CANADIENS 11-7

CANUCKS DROP 2ND PLACE TIE IN STANDINGS

MONTREAL, Jan. 12—(CP). — There is something definitely daffy about a hockey team that can produce two such games as Montreal Maroons have played in three nights.

Shut out 1-0 by Chicago Black Hawks Sunday—held scoreless by a team trying out new defences—Tommy Gorman's men suddenly broke out in a scoring rash last night that earned them an 11-7 victory over the powerful Montreal Canadiens.

Besides providing the season's biggest surprise, a headache for the scorers and a boost for Gorman's training methods, the game probably set a record for modern hockey in total goals scored.

Stunned by the avalanche of goals, National League officials in Montreal could remember only one game that approached last night's. That was a tight little thing Maroons and New York Americans played in New York on February 18, 1936, when they tied 8-8.

Record searching probably won't unearth anything larger than last night's total. And the point really isn't as interesting as the method Maroons used in transforming themselves into point-scoring maniacs who bagged 11 goals in one game after taking 22 contests to score 35.

Anyone who can explain that fully in a few, concise words will earn the thanks of hockey fans who are going to worry about it for many a day.

Lead From First.

Perhaps the most reasonable explanation is that, after Maroons scored three goals in six minutes of the first period, Canadiens loosened their defence to lend power to their attack. Certainly, the Habitant rearguard wasn't working with its usual efficiency.

And the burst of Maroon goals in the first session that eventually led them to victory cost Canadiens their tie with Americans for second place in the Canadian division.

The New Yorkers, tying Black Hawks 1-1 at New York, moved in front of Canadiens and to within a game of the leading Toronto Maple Leafs. At the same time Boston Bruins were improving their lead in the American division by downing Detroit Red Wings 3-2 at Boston.

Maroons seemingly forgot the shutout at Chicago from the start of last night's game and played back to their form at Montreal last Thursday when they defeated Leafs 6-3. They rapped in three goals in a little more than six minutes and scored another trio in less than five toward the end of the period. They had a 7-2 lead at the first stop, made it 9-4 at the end of the second session and were outscored only in the third when Canadiens got three to their two. Almost everyone on the ice but the netminders got into the summary as 42 scoring points were handed out.

Maroons' Top Scorer.

Baldy Northcott was top man with three goals, while Dave Trottier and Gus Marker of Maroons and Johnny Gagnon and Toe Blake of Canadiens each got a pair. Herb Cain, Alain Shields, Russ Blinco and Jimmy Ward of Maroons and Dizzy Desilets, Babe Siebert and Paul Haynes of Canadiens also scored.

The heavy firing met with success to some extent at least because of the heavy penalty list. There were seven minors in the first period, five in the second and two minors and a major in the third, the scoring following the incidence of penalties.

Half of the Bruins, six goals at Boston were scored while Detroit players were on the penalty bench. Bruins scored twice in each period while Wings got the first goal and another in the second.

Charlie Sands, Art Jackson, Gordon Pettinger, Billy Cowley, Eddie Shore and Ray Getliffe shared the Boston scoring while Carl Liscombe scored the first one for Detroit and aided Larry Aurie in the second.

Only 9,000 New Yorkers turned out for the Ching Johnson night they staged in Madison Square Garden. The veteran defenceman was presented with a gold watch by his admirers after which Ed Wiseman scored for Amerks in the first and Johnny Gottselig got Chicago's counter in the second. The game had few bright moments.

Hockey's Big 7

(By the Canadian Press).

Despite the flood of goals Maroons shared with Canadiens in Maroons' 11-7 victory, only two changes were made among the National Hockey League's scoring leaders last night. Toe Blake of Canadiens stepped up to fourth place by scoring twice and Johnny Gagnon of the same team, with two goals, entered a five-way tie for sixth place in the Big Seven with George Mantha, Canadiens; Harvey Jackson, Toronto; Nels Stewart, Americans, and Marty Barry, Detroit. Baldy Northcott, bagging three goals, continued to lead Maroons with 13 points, but that wasn't half as many as the total of the top man, Gordon Drillon of Toronto, who has 27.

The leaders:

Queen's Game Is 4-Point Tussle

Tonight's O. H. A. senior "B" contest here between Queen's and the Petes at 8.30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink is for four points, counting as two games in the standing. It is the only scheduled appearance of the Kingston students in Peterborough this season and should attract a huge crowd of fans. Top place in the senior standing is at stake as the Belleville Redmen and the Petes are now tied on the top rung. The Quinte gang got a two-in-one win over Queen's Monday night in Belleville, scoring four goals to one in the first period and playing defensive hockey then to hold the battling University outfit for a 6-5 win. Queen's will be bolstered and in better shape when they play here this evening. Belleville had added three players and presented a stronger squad than when they forced the locals to overtime two weeks ago to get the nod.

Coach Pick Hines' local players are in good shape now and will be hustling every minute to retain the loop lead with this double victory. A loss will be a serious blow to them, but the four-point win would give them a commanding lead. Pretty much the same lineup as gave the Fliers a hard overtime fight here last Friday will play for the Petes. It promises to be another dandy puck scrap between good hockey teams and deserves a big crowd of fans. The ice is good and spectators are asked not to smoke.

Remember When—

(By The Canadian Press).

Baseball Commissioner Landis in a blanket decision 11 years ago today exonerated 21 players of "throwing" four games in the tight Chicago White Sox-Boston American League pennant race in 1917. Two baseball outcasts, Charles Risberg and Arnold Gandil, charged the White Sox of "buying" four games from Detroit Tigers. Chicago finished first and went on to defeat New York Giants for the world's title.

Keen Rivalry Springs Up On Major Baseball Front

Charges And Counter-Charges Sound Good To The Club Magnates

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—To the delight of the club owners, an undeclared war is raging between the two major baseball leagues and the magnates are rubbing their hands in expectation of a bounteous customer harvest.

It hasn't come to the point—yet—where the Presidents of the two big leagues refuse to speak, but the relations are strained. Bragging by the American League started the feud. The junior leaguers licked the Nationals in the world series and then began to belittle their foes by word and story.

League Against League.

The limit was reached last year when the Nationals again got trimmed on all fronts. Colonel William Terry of the New York Giants refused to congratulate Joe McCarthy of the victorious Yankees and right there the American Leaguers called the National Leaguers "poor sports."

Since last fall, one argument after another has left the two leagues in a stew, widening the breach. The National League, so claimed the American, tried to "hog" the baseball centennial celebration scheduled for 1939 by naming only Nationals on the committee. The Nationals, charge the Americans, are trying to force night baseball. The American League annually puts out a list of its "washed up" ball players who are starring in the National.

The dead ball was all but agreed to by both leagues but the Americans suspected the Nationals were trying to force it on them, so they decided to stick to the lively sphere.

New York Yankees and St Louis Cardinals are fighting about their farm systems. It is reported the scouts of the two teams won't even speak to each other.

In the recent additions to the Hall of Fame, the American League believes the National acted in a high-handed manner by giving out the names of selections independently.

The ball players themselves, are pouring a lot of oil on the fire. As they go back home, they discuss the merits of the two leagues in no uncertain terms and their conversations get into print.

And yet, all the fighting and shooting is a great thing for baseball. Crowds should be larger, play should be better and competition keener and harder in all interleague games, from spring training tests to all-star games to world series.

BRANTFORD TIES TORONTOS 3 TO 3 IN SENIOR HOCKEY

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP). — The good people of Brantford sung the praises today of their Rangers, the only team so far to have knocked Toronto Goodyears off stride in the chase for honors in the Senior Ontario Hockey Association grouping.

Rangers couldn't beat Goodyears last night in their clash at Brantford, but they tied, 3-3, in overtime and it was only by the proverbial whisker that Goodyears managed to get the draw and preserve their unbeaten streak that stands now at seven straight games.

Goodyears won their first six games in fairly easy fashion but against Brants they had to have a goal by Red Heron in the last 20 seconds of regulation play to be saved from defeat. Heron picked up another Toronto goal in the first period while Jim Primeau got their other score.

Get Goals In Second.

The Underdog Brants did all their scoring in the second period, when their ace line of Krieger-Webster-Greig went to town. Webster scored two goals, his linemates getting in on both, and Krieger got his third assist on a goal by Kelly.

Don Metz was in on Heron's two tallies and the points he picked up there sent him into sole possession of first place among league marksmen. Previous to the game he had been tied, at 20 points, made up of 10 goals and 10 assists, with Red Reynolds, Port Colborne ace.

Metz and Reynolds swing into action again tonight at Toronto, when Goodyears meet Port Colborne Sailors. The Tars are only three points away from first place now with their 10 points. Brantford, in picking up a point last night, went into a third-place tie with Oshawa G-men. Rangers, however, have played two more games than the Oshawa outfit.

Kitchener Greenshirts meet the G-men at Oshawa in another scheduled game tonight. Greenshirts are still seeking their first victory of the season. The best they have been able to do in six games is a draw with Brantford.

RAMBLERS GAIN ON THE REDMEN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12 (CP).—Philadelphia Ramblers were only two points away today from the first place Providence Reds in the eastern section of the International-American Hockey League after using the lowly Springfield Indians as a vaulting board.

Ramblers played Indians last night in the only game and won 4-2 at Springfield before 3,200 fans. They now have 25 points compared to 27 for Reds, while the loss left Indians in a third place tie in the section with New Haven Eagles. Eagles and Indians have 14 points each.

The loss was the third in a row for Indians, who led the section at the start of the season but slumped badly. At one time they went 12 games in a row without victory, finally taking their 13th and 14th encounters. But that winning streak stopped where their latest slump has started.

Ramblers scored in every period with Charlie Mason, once with New York Rangers in the National Hockey League, getting two goals. Eddie Wares, Bill Carse and McDonald scored one apiece for Philadelphia, while Springfield marksmen were Jack Toupin and Tommy Filmore.

Syracuse Stars, at present occupying third place in the Western section but only four points behind the division leading Pittsburg Hornets, who have 27, play New Haven Eagles tonight in the single up for decision.

Campbellford Mayor Advises Parking Lot West Of River

Proposes Site On Armouries Lot—Inaugural Council Meeting

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 12.—By getting the estimates in early and striking a tentative tax rate at the begining of the year Mayor F. F. Long expressed the belief that the tax rate could be reduced from fifty-two mills this year. Although he did not state by how much the rate could be reduced the Mayor told council members at their inaugural meeting held at 11 o'clock Monday morning that he considered it would be a wiser policy to follow than the former one of striking a rate latter in the year.

"We should advise the other boards of our plans and I am sure we can bring them into line and expect their fullest co-operation in an endeavour to reduce the mill rate," stated the Mayor.

"One thing we must do this year is to repair the cracks in our pavements. We have too much money invested in these to let them go to pieces."

Advises Parking Lot

A parking lot on the west side of the river was the second item which the mayor placed on his agenda for the year. If not completed this year at least some work will be done to enable the proposed site on the armouries lot to be used by June.

Also slated for attention this year was the fence to be placed along the south side of Hastings Road where Highway 30 enters the town. The sharp drop off the road at this point affords a serious menace particularly when roads are icy in the spring and his worship exclaimed that he would exert all his influence to see that the matter was attended.

In concluding his remarks the mayor extended a hearty greeting to the new members of the council Messers J. R. Battisby, Harvey Donald, and A. E. Burgiss and congratulated the former members.

Captain D. Sharp led the members in a brief devotional period after which he congratulated the members and wished them success for the coming year.

"Any effort to reduce the tax rate would be admirable in view of your fixed expenditures amounting to $70,000 and your income from taxes approximately $63,000." A. G. Thompson, local manager of the Bank of Commerce who addressed council briefly. In view of the past record of this council it doubtless would not be the policy to increase capital expenditures at this time. Campbellford bonds should receive a good reception on the market, having paid off some $100,000 in debentures during the past ten years. Mr. Thompson reminded the council that it was possible at the present time to issue debentures at a much lower rate of interest than formerly.

Appoint Chairmen

On motion of Councillors Dorie and Battisby the Mayor was asked to appoint chairmen of the various committees and the chairmen in turn selected the balance of the committee as follows:

Legal Committee—Reeve C. H. Calver (chairman), N. A. McColl, P. H. Macmillan. Town Property—Jas. L. Dorie (chairman), C. H. Calver, Harvey Donald. Road and Bridge—P. H. Macmillan (chairman), Harvey Donald, A. E. Burgiss, C. H. Calver. Industrial — A. E. Burgiss (chairman), Harvey Donald, P. M. Locke. Finance Committe—N. A. McColl (chairman), Jas. L. Dorie, J. R. Battisby. Police Committee—J. R. Battisby (chairman), N. A. McColl, H. Donald. Relief — P. M. Locke (chairman), P. H. Macmillan, A. E. Burgiss. Fire Water and Light —H. Donald (chairman), J. R. Battisby, P. M. Locke. Council adjourned at noon to re-convene at seven in the evening.

DOMINION CHEESE LAGS IN BRITAIN

"That is, the total supply of cheese in the United Kingdom, domestic and imported, during 1937, will probably be about 5,000,000 pounds less than during 1936.

"In view of altered conditions in the supply of cheese to the United Kingdom, it is now more than ever before, necessary for those producing milk for the manufacture of cheese and also for manufacturers and exporters of Canadian cheese to do everything possible to produce cheese of the highest quality and deliver the same to the United Kingdom in the best possible condition."

In the first 11 months of 1937, 125,480,884 pounds of cheese was produced in Canada against 115,326,295 in the same period of 1936, Mr. Singleton said. In the same period exports of Canadian cheese to the United Kingdom were 78,683,000 pounds for 1937 against 62,147,400 pounds for 1936, an increase of 26.6 per cent.

These figures, he said, indicated the importance of the United Kingdom market for cheese to Canadian dairymen. The increase in Canadian exports was considerably short of the estimated reduction in British domestic production. Exports to the United States during 1937 showed a decrease.

Best Import Obtainable.

Generally Canadian cheese was regarded as superior to any other available in the United Kingdom, except domestic farm cheese. It was preferred to British factory cheese and to New Zealand cheese, although the quality of the latter had been improving.

Practically all the cheese made in Australia and New Zealand was made from pasteurized milk and pasteurization was being adopted in the United Kingdom and in South Africa. It appeared probable Canadian factory cheese would soon be the only factory cheese from unpasteurized milk available in quantity.

"The relatively high quality of Canadian cheese coupled with the fact that it is made from unpasteurized milk, has given Canada an important advantage in two directions," Mr. Singleton said.

"Canadian cheese is, for reasons already mentioned, considered to be most suitable for maturing purposes and, one chain store organization buys each year for maturing purposes approximately 50,000 boxes of Canadian cheese, equivalent to about 6% per cent. of Canada's total exports of cheese to the United Kingdom during 1936.

"The trade in fully matured, high quality imported cheese is confined almost exclusively to Canadian cheese, and while opinions differ the trade in matured cheese is generally believed to be increasing.

More Pasteurized Product.

"The manufacturers of pasteurized process cheese is increasing in the United Kingdom, and it is reported that some 40 firms are manufacturing this product.

"The quantity of pasteurized process cheese produced during 1936 is believed to have been about 40,000,000 pounds, of which the greater part was made by a very few firms.

"The processed cheese produced in the United Kingdom has a much more highly developed cheese flavor than has the process cheese produced in Canada, and this higher flavor is secured by using a high percentage of mature cheese in the mix.

"Manufacturers of process cheese are, therefore, buyers of large quantities of Canadian cheese. One manufacturer of process cheese, probably the one with greatest output, states that during 1937 he bought 156,165 boxes of Canadian cheese, or 17.3 per cent. of our total exports to the United Kingdom last year, which amounted to 904,260 boxes.

"Another manufacturer of process cheese stated he bought about 75,000 boxes of Canadian cheese, and another important manufacturer buys Canadian cheese to the extent of about 90 per cent. of his requirements.

OBITUARY

MRS. KATE CONNEL

(Examiner Correspondence.)

KEENE, Jan. 12.—The funeral of Mrs. Kate Connel (nee Kate McFarlane) widow of William Connel, was held Monday afternoon from her home here.

Pall bearers were the Messrs. John Moore, James McFarlane, Duncan Neish, Harry Stewart, Norman Gainer and Charles Hunter.

Those who attended the funeral from a distance were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mather, Toronto, Mrs. McFarlane, Miss Collins and Mr. Kent of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown and family of North Toronto and Mrs. and Mrs. John Kempt and family of Cavan.

MRS. R. E. BIRDSALL

(Examiner Correspondence)

WESTWOOD, Jan. 12.—Residents of this community and surrounding district, grieve at the passing of one of the most highly respected citizens of Asphodel, in the person of Mary Katharine Birdsall, wife of Col. R. E. Birdsall of Birdsall Beach.

The funeral service which was held on Thursday afternoon in St. Michael's Anglican church, Westwood, following a short service at the home, was very largely attended. The rector, Rev. R. E. Lemon, was in charge and spoke feelingly of the great loss sustained by all who knew her, and although his own acquaintance had been comparatievly short, he felt it a privilege to have been her minister.

Rev. Canon Paterson of All Saints' church, Peterborough, preached the sermon, taking his text from Acts 13:36, "For David, after he had served his own generation by all the will of God, fell on sleep, and was laid unto his fathers." The word "served" was stressed as a fitting application to the life of the departed. Recounting many incidents of active service to her Lord and King, the late Mrs. Birdsall was a mother to the clergy, a spiritual advisor and helper to the young people of her church, and a friend to all in need. Although the time may come when a tablet will be erected to her memory, it is not necessary, as the church which she loved and knew so well, will ever be her memorial.

Three hymns were sung, led by the choir, "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide with Me," and the "Nunc Dimittis."

Interment was made in the Anglican cemetery in the family plot beside the church, the grave being banked with flowers which were numerous and beautiful.

PATRICK GARVEY

There passed away in this city, after a long illness, on Tuesday evening Patrick Garvey, a life-long resident of the Township of Ennismore. Born in Downeyville 68 years ago, Mr. Garvey farmed the greater part of his life.

He leaves three sisters, Mrs. James Gifford, Mrs. John Shannahan and Mrs. Thomas Perdue of Ennismore.

The funeral will be held to St. Martin's Church and Cemetery on Thursday morning.

MRS. STEPHEN HERRINGTON

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Jan. 12.—Funeral services for the late Mrs. Stephen Herrington, were held on Sunday afternoon, January 9, at the family residence near the village of Roseneath. Death occurred January 7, after an illness of many months. Mrs. Herrington, who was seventy nine years of age was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Linton of Haldimand township.

Following her marriage over sixty years ago to Stephen Herrington, they spent the greater part of their married life in Alnwick township.

Mrs. Herrington was of a quiet retiring disposition, whose joy was in service to her family. Those who knew her intimately learned to love her much and sincerely mourn her passing. The service was conducted by Rev. L. W. Scott, whose text was taken from Hosea 9:5, "What will ye do in the solemn day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord."

The pall bearers were Messrs. James Curtis, Frank George, Hugh Sherwin, Charlton Grigg, Kyle Brown and Alfred Braithwaite. Interment was made at Centenary cemetery.

Close surviving relatives are her husband and three daughters, Mrs. George Thomas, Cobourg, and Mrs. W. Milne and Mrs. M. McMillan, of Roseneath, and two sons, Isaac at home and William of Toronto.

ALUMINUM DUST BOON FOR MINES

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Aluminum dust treatment of air in mines "may prove to be epoch-making," Dr. W. E. Gallie, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Toronto said in his annual report on the Faculty yesterday.

Addition of fine aluminum dust thrown into the air of mines counteracts the dissolving of silica dust in the body was announced recently as a preventive for silicosis, the report said. Dr. C. H. Robson, Faculty of Medicine, J. J. Denny, mill superintendent of the McIntyre Porcupine Mine, Schumacher, Ont., and Dr. D. A. Irwin, Department of Medical Research on Silicosis, made the discovery, the report said.

Research work undertaken on many phases of medical work was outlined in the report.

"A most important contribution to our defence against a hitherto incurable disease," is Dean Gallie's description of development of the effect of adrenal cortical on Addison's disease cases. This highly potent, non-toxic extract was prepared in Toronto by Dr. E. W. McHenry of the School of Hygiene. Dean Gallie said a number of cases of Addison's disease were treated successfully.

SOLVING DROUGHT SEEN 20-YEAR JOB

SASKATOON, Jan. 12 — (CP). — Problems arising from Saskatchewan's soil and climate and the province's farm settlement will not be solved for 20 or 25 years, Prof. John Mitchell of the Saskatchewan University Soil Department told the Adult Education Association.

Problems included soil fertility, climate, land utilization, northern settlements and social questions raised by combination of these factors.

Saskatchewan lands had lost much fertility through drought, Prof. Mitchell said, but practicaly all this loss had occurred on soils principally by drifting. Little of the loss came from excessive cropping.

Even within the drought area much land suitable to wheat production would go on producing good wheat crops in years of normal rainfall for the next 100 years.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

MISS RACHAEL YOUNG NAMED SUPERINTENDENT OF CHILDREN'S AID

Opening Of Muskelunge Season On June 16 One Of Proposals Of United Counties Sportsmen

Recommendations To Be Presented To Committee Of Legislature Are Drafted

Opening of the muskelunge fishing season on June 16 instead of on July 1 is one of the proposals the Durham and Northumberland Fish and Game Protective Association will submit to the fish and game committee of the Ontario Legislature during the coming sessions beginning late in February.

Member of the association drafted the recommendations which they will make to the Government last night in Holdaway's Hotel at Bewdley. Their preference for Rice Lake fishing is to transfer the last two weeks of the season to June, opening as suggested on the sixteenth of the month and closing on the last day of September instead of on October 15 as in recent years.

Joseph S. Thorn of Cavan township, president of the Association, was chairman of the meeting which was held around the big stone hearth at Holdaway's. Ten of the members of the Port Hope branch were present including Harry H. Holdaway of Port Hope, vice-president of the united counties' association.

Later Rat Season

A resolution by Howard Brackenridge will urge the Department to set the muskrat trapping season in the Rice Lake area from March 25 to April 21 instead of from March 25 to April 15 as tentatively determined by the Department. The trapping season last year was from March 25 to April 15, and most of the run of rats occurred after the close of the season. It was also decided to ask the Department to distribute five hundred pheasants in the two counties this year.

Members of the Association who were designated to attend the meeting of the committee of the Legislature were Mr. Thorn, Elmer Sidey, and William Dixon of Bewdley, and John Stevens of Port Hope, and among others who are also expected to accompany them are H. H. Holdaway and J. R. Fraser of Port Hope, Howard Brackenridge and several others who are expected to go.

Other requests to the Department will be to restock the Squirrel and Millbrook creeks with trout, to ban high powered .22 and .253 rifles in hunting deer, and to reappoint six special wardens for Rice Lake and the Otonabee River during the spawning season, these men to be recommended by the local association.

Members Satisfied

Expressions of satisfaction with the Department's service in the Rice Lake area were voiced by some of the members in the general discussion. Robert Hancock said that the lake is well stocked with muskelonge and pickerel, and most of the proposals presented to the Department by the Durham-Northumberland Association have been carried out. The suggestion that season for game fish be opened two weeks earlier at first mentioned both bass and lunge.

"It wouldn't be advisable to include bass," Robert Hancock said. "We are not particularly interested in bass at this end of the lake, and any way this is gradually becoming a muskelunge lake. If you ask for an earlier season for bass fishing you are bound to meet with opposition that would likely defeat our request."

Mr. Hancock related several experiences of last summer that demonstrated to him the natural restocking of the lake, assisted by the government's deposits of fingerlings and fry had provided an abundance of fish for the present and future.

"We want an earlier season because the fishing during the last two weeks in June is especially good, and after the first week in July the lunge are well protected by the weeds and also by the fact that this is a comparatively shallow lake," he added.

Appeal to Bewdley

Mr. Stephens of Port Hope said he wondered why all of the Bewdley men were not members of the association. The work it had done in recent years had been of direct benefit to the people in business at Bewdley, especially all those who were interested in the tourist trade.

"This association should have the support of this whole community," Mr. Stephens said, "and I have been at a loss to know why any of the men along here should not get behind the association and make it even stronger."

He intimated that he might undertake to visit Bewdley and make a personal appeal to those who are not members to join the association, and help to make Bewdley even better known than it is to sportsmen of the province and to incoming tourists.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting by Mrs. Holdaway and the thanks of the association was expressed by Harry Holdaway of Port Hope and Mr. Stephens, who acknowledged the unfailing hospitality of their host and hostess on the occasion of meetings of the Durham-Northumberland Fish and Game Protective Association.

ZIMBALIST COMING FOR FIRST CONCERT

The Peterborough branch of the Canadian Concert Association is gratified with the results of the drive for membership for the three concerts which will be held in Peterborough this winter. The first concert in the Collegiate Auditorium January 24th, is already completely arranged for. At this concert the world famous violinist, Zimbalist, will appear. It is expected that the violin numbers will be interspersed with instrumental selections by the very capable accompanist who travels with this artist.

Some discussion has been heard regarding the matter of dress for these concerts, and it is the information of the executive that the matter of dress should be optional. Those wishing to wear formal clothes can do so, and the more staid and sombre dress for those who prefer it, will also be in order.

While in the main the tickets for the complete series have been disposed of, there are still a few tickets in the hands of the committee for the three concerts that are available to those who wish to subscribe.

This was the information sent out by the concert headquarters to-day.

LINE-UP FOR LICENSES.

There was a line-up at the motor license issuer's office this morning, as tardy motorists sought to obtain their 1938 markers and driving permits. Notwithstanding the fact that license plates and permits for the current year went on sale at the end of September last, only about one-third of the motoring public here made their purchases at the issuer's office by the first of the year. Now with the deadline definitely set by the Ontario Department of Highways for Saturday of this week, there is the usual last minute scramble, and the staff is being worked overtime.

RURAL SECTION OF N. MONAGHAN IS ORGANIZING

Organization of the Rural Ratepayers' Association is the response of North Monaghan farmers to the activities of the Suburban Ratepayers' Association.

At a meeting in the city Tuesday afternoon a group of farmers appointed a committee to recommend a new eastern boundary of the township that will separate them from the Claraday-Byersville fringe of the city, and a determined endeavour will be made to reshape the municipality as an agricultural unit without the suburban annex that has developed through the years on the eastern frontier.

Virtually Part Of City

"Why should we be tacked on to what is virtually part of the city of Peterborough?" one farmer told the Examiner in referring to the meeting of which Bernard Preston was chairman. "We want to get away from them, and be what we ought to be, a township."

Another of the rural ratepayers said: "You saw what they did at the elections. The Claraday-Byersville crowd follow Harold Rye like a flock of sheep. They formed an organization, and put their candidates into the township council. They are running the whole show, and the farmers are just tolerated now. We don't think we have to put up with that sort of treatment, and we are starting out to see how we can rid ourselves of them."

The Examiner was told that discussions have already reached the stage at which a new boundary line has been contemplated. The Monaghan Road was first mentioned, and another line is Erskine Avenue, but nothing definite has been done beyond naming a committee to go into that phase of the rural problem and report back at another meeting of the new association.

Farmers Unanimous

"If we are to be shut out of the township council the way the Suburban Ratepayers have gone about it, then it is about time we packed up and separated, and got down to a new township basis," one of the farmers stated.

"That is what we are going to try to do, and from all reports the farmers are unanimous. They blame Harold Rye for this movement in the suburbs, and the feeling that has been created by what has amounted to almost exclusion from the council means that we have come to the parting of the ways. It is not the fault of the farmers, but right now they are looking into the situation to see how they can get away from partners who want to run the whole show."

OBITUARY

MARSENA DAVEY.

CENTRETON, Jan. 12.— Word was received in the village of the death of Mr. Marsena Davey, one of the boys of Centreton. Dr. Davey came from Cornwall with his parents and made their home in the village. Mr. Davey attended school as a boy here and also was a school teacher. The deceased was in his 66th year. His wife, formerly Miss Pearl Hoyt, was also one of the Centreton girls.

The funeral service was held at Roseneath on Wednesday afternoon. The remains were interred in Centreton cemetery.

Left to mourn his loss besides his sorrowing widow are two sons, Clarke of Rochester, by a first marriage, and W. G. Davey of Toronto, three brothers, W. H. Davey, Centreton, Albert of Alberta and Thomas of Alberta, and two sisters, Mrs. W. Rogers, Centreton and Mrs. Rusk, Castleton, one aunt, Mrs. William Score of the village and four grandchildren.

Among those from a distance attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rusk, Castleton, Rev. A. C. Hie and Mrs. Fred Spencer, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Davey, Toronto, Mr. Clarke Davey, Rochester, N.Y.

DELBERT WILTON.

CENTRETON, Jan. 12.— Word was received in the village of the death of Mr. Delbert Wilton, of Port Hope. He was born in Haldimand township, in Centreton, and was the eldest son of Mr. Thomas Wilton Eddystone and the late Mimi Correy.

Mr. Wilton had been in ill health for some years. His wife predeceased him about two months ago. Since her death he had been residing with his father, Mr. Thomas Wilton, of Eddystone, until he went to Port Hope hospital, where he passed away.

He was one of the Centreton boys and attended the local school here. Some years ago he married Miss Dolly Leach, of Alnwick township and resided in Centreton for some years, before going to Port Hope, where they lived for some years. A daughter, Hazel (Mrs. Jackson) predeceased him.

Left to mourn his loss are his aged father, Mr. Thomas Wilton, Eddystone, one son, Clifford at home, and two brothers, Clarence of Peterborough, Alburn of Tillsonburg, and two grandchildren.

FIRST COMMITTEE MEETING

One of the early crop of special committees appointed by the council Monday night is going into action tonight to consider its commission of obtaining prices on various municipal equipment which may be discussed for purchase later on.

120 ARE REGISTERED.

One hundred and twenty young men are now registered and available for participation in the Youth Training program in Peterborough, Dan Douglas of the Employment Service Bureau states. Placements are being made not in large numbers, but steadily.

LOW FIRE LOSS NOTED.

Alderman Wilson, has written the Fire Underwriters' Association calling attention to Peterborough's new low record fire loss in 1937. He received an acknowledgment of the information and with the assurance that it would be considered at an early meeting of the association at which Peterborough's application for a reduction in the fire insurance key rate will be considered.

REGISTRATIONS LAPSED.

Superintendent Dan Douglas of the Employment Services Bureau states many registrations for employment have lapsed through failure of the applicants to renew their registrations since January 1. A job has been available for one young man for several weeks, but he has not shown up to re-register since his services were demanded, and no record of his whereabouts is at hand, Mr. Douglas said.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

A local youth who appeared on adjournment for sentence after having previously pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining five dollars by false pretences from a Toronto company, was this morning allowed to go on suspended sentence by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. The lad's mother went as surety on his suspended sentence bond. Terms of the bond included the requirement that the youth make restitution to the firm within a period of two months, and that he report at stated intervals to the Police Chief.

Sleighing Parties Found Every Night On Highways Throughout The Country

Two teams of horses were seen trotting out Lansdowne street Tuesday night toward the snow-bank country of south-western North Monaghan loaded with red, green and blue ski suits, half of them brightly decorated by the reminintity they warmed against the cold. It was just another sleigh party whose slogan was "the more we get together, etc." Three or four of the many young couples preferred to hop and skip along the pavement, and when you feel like hopping and skipping in such weather you would probably suspect yourself of some strange inoculation whose effect on the system leaves it impervious to January chills. Some of the recent sleigh rides have been featured by the young men heaving each other into snow banks, and after demonstrating the fun of the flights to the other spectators they finally turned on the girls and tossed them for a hoodful of snow. Last night's expedition seemed to be a very decorous affair, although perhaps it had not really got started while the lights of the city were still overhead, but they do say that some of the boys on a recent outing brought something on the hip to help the hilarity of the occasion, and one of the girls got exceedingly tight.

1937 FIRE LOSS IN LAKEFIELD TOTALLED $875

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 12.—Loss and damage estimated at $875 from 38 local fires last year was reported by Chief Allan H. Clark of the volunteer fire brigade in his annual review to the village council. Two hundred feet of fire hose was bought in 1937, and some minor repairs made to the equipment.

Two members of the brigade spent a week training with the Peterborough department, the expenses of which were paid by the brigade. "These men are now acting as instructors for our training periods. Inspections have been conducted at the High and Public Schools, House of Refuge, Grove School, water tanks and other premises in the village. In July the Canadian Fire Underwriters conducted an inspection of the village fire defences. Their report was very favorable, and one of their observations was 'the brigade is unusually well trained.'

"The water supplies have been maintained, but there are still some areas where water is scarce, notably that bounded by Reid, Regent, Concession and Albert Streets. I would ask you to take note of this condition and have same remedied as soon as possible.

"The alarm system has functioned in first-class order and has been ably handled.

"In several instances the brigade has been called upon to handle some very hazardous conditions, and the use of the gas mask has been necessary, as we have only one in service and as it is very dangerous for one man to work alone, masked, I am including another one in my estimates.

No Injuries.

"I am glad to report that we have had no injuries during the year, while discipline has been maintained without any breaches whatever, also that one of our members has been awarded a parchment certificate by the Royal Humane Society for his brave and courageous conduct at a recent drowning accident at the Lakefield wharf; where he was called in the line of duty, responding with the brigade.

"On Sunday, October 17th, the brigade was called to an accident at the dock, where a car with occupants went into the river. One of the victims was still in the car when we arrived, and George Graham went down and brought the body to the surface, where members of the brigade worked unsuccessfully for over an hour, assisted by an inhalator which I called for from the Peterborough Fire Department.

"Now while I quite realize that it should not be left to the Fire Department to attend to all emergency calls in the village, still such seems to be the case, and although I had hopes that some other organization would act on the coroner's jury's recommendation re furnishing an inhalator for such cases, I am asking you to place one at the service of the department.

"We have been very fortunate in this locality in having so few accidents from water, electric shock, gas and smoke, but the danger is ever present, and if the Fire Department is to be the agents of succor in these cases it is quite apparent that we must possess the proper equipment to perform the duties expected of us, and while I am quite aware of the responsibility of this work I have every confidence in the men I command to perform whatever duties are assigned to them.

"I would respectfully ask you to authorize your chairman of the Property Committee to purchase at the present time the following: 200 feet of fire hose, 1 H. and H. inhalator, 1 Burrell all-service gas mask.

"I would again welcome inspection by your honorable body or any interested citizen the fire hall, equipment and books of the department.

"In conclusion, I wish to express my thanks to the council, press, clergy, school staffs, Chief of Police Hendren, merchants and the citizens in general for their co-operation, and to the members of the brigade for their loyalty and obedience to my orders."

Bought Beer Prior To Being Blacklisted

"I bought that beer before I was placed on the black list", stated Maxwell Vincent by way of explanation, after he pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to a breach of the Liquor Control Act.

Vincent was charged that on November 12 last, being an interdicted person he had unlawful possession of liquor. Throughout the period of several adjournments he pleaded not guilty but changed that plea to one of guilty on his appearance today.

He was ordered by the Bench to pay a fine of $15 and $3 costs, with the option of 10-days imprisonment by default.

Referring to Vincent's explanation, the Magistrate asked the Chief Constable, "Is that the case?" "Well", the Chief replied, "On every occasion he has been up he has always told the truth".

Expected To Assume Duties First Of Next Month Fully Qualified For Position

Is Unanimous Choice Of The Children's Aid Society Board

Miss Rachael D. Young assistant superintendent of York County Children's Shelter has been selected from among sixteen applicants to succeed John Edgar as superintendent of Peterborough Children's Aid Society.

It is expected she will assume her duties here probably at the outset of next month, at a salary of $1,700 plus $300 per annum travelling expenses. In the event that the Society is raised by the government from a "D" to a "C" rating, it was decided Miss Young is to receive $2,000 per annum besides travelling allowance. The maximum was set at $2,250.

Her appointment was confirmed at a meeting of the Children's Aid Society on adoption by the Board of the report of a special committee appointed to deal with the application. E. Bruce Fowler moved adoption of the recommendation and Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore seconded.

Has Sister Here

Miss Young who was born in Lanark County of Canadian-Irish descent is a sister of Nurse Edith G. Young, instructress at Nicholls Hospital. She comes to this city with highest recommendations.

Announcing the Board was prepared to deal with appointment of a superintendent, the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr as chairman declared the special committee received four applications from residents of Peterborough city and county and twelve from applicants residing in other sections of the province.

Applications from Peterborough city and county received first consideration, he said. "They were gone over carefully, but in each case we found a general background of experience but no specific experience in social service work."

With regard to the remaining twelve applications Dr. Barr said Miss Young was unanimous choice of the committee. He gave the Board the following details regarding her qualifications:—

Qualifications Outlined

"Miss Young attended public and high school in Carleton Place, Normal School in Ottawa and did extra mural work with the University of Toronto 1925-26. From 1923 to 1925 she was a school teacher in Carleton Place and in 1926-27 in Almonte.

"During her school and teaching days Miss Young was interested in sports and games, active in young peoples groups, a Sunday School teacher, and president of the local teacher's institute. Her interest in underprivileged children brought her into social work.

"In 1928 she began the 2-year diploma course in the Department of Social Science at University of Toronto, and throughout the course maintained a high standard of academic work. Her field work was correspondingly good.

"Miss Young's first field work experience was with the Neighbourhood Workers' Association, where the contact with families, public health nurses, members of the staff and others was exceptionally good. She was later with the University Settlement, an organization providing educational and recreational opportunities for young people in a congested part of Toronto.

"Her third field work assignment was with the Employment Service of Ontario. Since graduation Miss Young has held two positions; first with the Neighbourhood Workers' Association, and for the past two years with the Children's Aid Society of York County."

Miss Mae Fleming an inspector of the Children's Aid Division of the Ontario Department of Public Welfare who motored from Chatham to be present at the meeting, paid high tribute to the efficiency of Miss Young and remarked she would be greatly surprised if Miss Young did not fulfill the highest expectations of the Board.

'Problem Child'

Not the least of Japan's problems in China is that of keeping the above gentleman under control. He is Colonel Kingoro Hashimoto, one of the pillars of the Fascist bloc in the Japanese army. Colonel Hashimoto is charged with responsibility in the bombing and machine gunning of the U.S. gunboat Panay and the British gunboat Ladybird, but so powerful are his political connections, any attempt to punish him might result in mutiny. He has long been the stormy petrel of Japan's politico-military bloc.

3 CONVENTIONS WILL BE HELD HERE

Three important conventions will be held in Peterborough within the next two months. The executive committee of the National Council of Women will hold their Spring meeting here on February 1, with a session of a sub-committee in the evening of January 31.

Th two other assemblies are the convention of the Ontario Cheese Paterson, representative of the On- and 16, and the Quinte Seed Fair of which Gordon Hancock of Smith Township is president.

The executive of the Peterborough County Milk Patrons, with George A. Elliott of Norwood presiding, met to-day in the office of Frank C. Patrson, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, to amplify some of the arrangements already planned for the provincial convention. The association was invited to Peterborough by Mr. Elliott, and it is likely that the city will offer some co-operation if it is desired.

These three events have been attracted to Peterborough without any effort by the City Council.

Between two and three hundred dairy farmers are expected to attend the convention, which may be held in the Canadian Legion Hall, a detail that had not been finally decided at this morning's meeting of the local executive.

Roy Bottum Is New President Of Tourist Association

Lindsay Rotary Club Will Be Asked To Take Charge Of Booklet

Roy Bottum, of Bobcaygeon, succeeded to the presidency of the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association at the annual meeting and election of officers held in Lindsay on Tuesday. Retiring President Gordon K. Fraser was elected as honorary president, along with T. H. Stinson, K.C., of Lindsay, F. D. Kerr, K.C., Peterborough, and Ronald Currie, Haliburton were named vice-presidents, and J. J. Dorris of this city was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The meeting named the following associate secretaries: Minden, Dr. W. L. Crowe; Haliburton, Ronald Currie; Fenelon Falls, D. H. Gordon; Bobcaygeon, C. H. Pardy; Lindsay, W. R. Alley; Apsley and Lakefield, F. L. Erksine; Coboconk, Roy Shields; Dorset, Earl Burke; Hastings, Walter Powlds; Bewdley, Robert Holdaway. It was proposed by the directors that Lindsay Rotary Club have charge of the tourist association booklet for the current year, and the hope was expressed that the club would undertake publication of the booklet.

The Health Force Within You

The energy which animates the body is generated within the brain. The spinal cord and nerves carry this life-giving force to every tissue cell. It is obvious then that the nerve lines must be kept free of constriction to permit of proper transmission of this health energy. Any derangement of the spine may interfere with nerve trunks as they leave the spinal canal. When this occurs, the life force is interrupted and the tissues supplied by the impinged nerves cannot function normally.

CHIROPRACTIC

is a scientific method of locating and correcting spinal derangements, thereby releasing nerve pressure and restoring vital force to weakened tissues. The result is improved health.

CHAPTER 37.

It was when I went to the club that night to call for Mimi that I had an encounter with Andy which threatened to spoil everything. It was raining so hard that I braved a possible recognition, and stood just within the awning that led up the steps to the big front door. My taxi moved on a bit to make way for a big car—and out of the car stepped Andy, tall and dark and with his conqueror's air, which I hated. He saw me and stopped like a shot.

"Chandler, when did you get back?"

"To-day."

"Are you going in?"

"I am not invited."

He still lingered. "Are you waiting for someone?"

"Yes. For Mimi."

I would have said it if I had died for it. I had nothing to hide from him. She was mine. I would claim her before the world if she would let me. I forgot all of our well-laid plans. I forgot everything except the triumph of the moment. I stood shoulder to shoulder with him now in my changed fortunes. I towered high above him in my knowledge of the happiness which was to come to me.

I saw that he was puzzled. "She is not leaving so soon. I have a couple of dances with her."

"She will be back in time for them."

And now at the top of the steps at the end of that long tunnel of canvas we saw Mimi. She was wrapped to the ears in her splendid cloak, and her hair above it burned with a russet flame.

I was aware, as she came towards me, of her trepidation. I spoke at once. "I have told Fuller that you'll be back in time to dance with him."

She recovered herself, met his sullen eyes squarely, and said: "Isn't it a lovely night for a ride?"

"It's a perfect flood—Mimi. My car nearly floated. You are very foolish to go out in it."

"Am I? But I want to ride with Jerry—and he's going away to-morrow.

I saw a look of relief flash across his features. For how could he know, poor fellow, that when I went Mimi would go with me?

Mimi passed him, and I helped her into the taxi. "If you don't smile before I come back, Andy," she said to him, "I shan't dance with you—" she waved her hand as we drove off. Then she turned to me and said sharply, "Jerry he'll tell mother you're here."

"I know. It was foolish of me to show myself. But if she ever asks questions, you can say as you said to Fuller, that I am going away to-morrow."

I was to hear later of that last heartbreaking argument between mother and daughter. Mrs. LeBrun came into Mimi's room when they returned from the dance, and taxed her with having seen me, with having offended Andy, with being heartless, with being selfish, with being ungrateful, with being cruel.

And Mimi had listened white-faced, and had said, "You know how I hate Andy. Do you call it selfish to refuse to marry a man I don't love?"

"Mimi, love, as you call it, doesn't count after a few months. If you'll think of the happily married women we know, you'll find that they are the ones whose husbands make them comfortable And you must stop this foolishness about Jerry."

"Oh, well, he's going away to-morrow, Mother."

"Where is he going?"

"West to his uncle's ranch."

But she did not tell her that Uncle Jerry was dead, and that I was his heir; nor did her mother dream, when Mimi started out for a walk the next morning, that years would pass before they would meet.

We were married, as I have said, in Mrs. Merrick's old house. Most of it was rented to lodgers, but she had retained the long front room in the English basement, and had made a parlor of it, with her meals served at the other end on a shining square of dark mahogany. With the kitchen, and a bedroom on the floor above, she was very comfortable, and an old colored maid, Jinny, cooked for her, and prepared our wedding breakfast. One of Mrs. Merrick's lodgers was a clergyman. It was he who performed the ceremony and made the fourth at the breakfast.

The table was a drift of white flowers, and Mimi was all in white. As I looked at her it seemed as of the sacred rite, which I had shared with her, had changed us both in some mysterious way — "With this ring.....I thee wed .... to have and to hold .... from this day forward....for richer for poorer .... as long as ye both shall live...."

She was now, I felt, eternally mine; the ring I had put on her finger had a deathless significance.

It was at the moment of parting that Mrs. Merrick said to Mimi, "Remember, you are going to be happy, Cherie. And Jerry must remember that you and he are not a god and goddess on the peak of Mount Olympus. You'll find each other's faults. And you must love because of the faults as well as of the virtues."

Mimi clung to her. "You've been such a darling, Aunt Lucille. Some day you shall come and see our happiness...."

Then the taxi — the train. It seemed to me that I must wake from my dream and find myself alone and wanting Mimi. Yet, there she was in the seat beside me, a little low hat with a peacock's feather on her lovely head, the daughter of a proud race, yet with her pride submerged for the moment in her sense of romance, and in her faith in the future that my love had promised her.

And now we were in the midst of our great adventure. If Mimi had been adorable amid all the distractions of her own gay world, what shall I say of her when I had her to myself?

There are things, however, which cannot be spoken. I can tell only of my joy in the assurance she gave me of her devotion. "I love you because of your steadfastness, Jerry. Men never know what it means to a woman to find a lover who doesn't split his affections up into little bits. Strength and constancy—these are the essentials—. It is so heavenly to rest in your care of me, Jerry."

I told her of my father's care of my mother. "I want to be like that," I said, "but you have something which my mother never had—and which my father missed—His soul adventured, but hers did not."

There was a long silence after that, and then she said, "Jerry, I wonder, would you have loved my soul if I hadn't had a pretty face and stunning clothes?"

"I should have loved you in rags, Mimi."

"But how can I be sure, Jerry? How can any woman be sure?"

"Why ask questions, my dearest? When you are old and wrinkled and gray I shall still love you. Isn't that an answer?"

She shook her head. "I am afraid that isn't any answer. And I don't want to be old and wrinkled and gray, Jerry."

We were sitting by the window in our hotel in Denver. The air was as clear as wine, light and stimulating. Far off in the distance, billowing up like huge gray waves against the line of the horizon, was the mountain range which was our goal.

"Our mountains, Mimi," I said, "and in another day we shall be among them."

We were to motor from Denver. With fast driving, and by starting early, we could do it in a day. I had considered buying a car. But an interview with Uncle Jerry's lawyer had revealed that there was practically no ready money at my disposal. The attorney repeated what he had said in his letter, that Uncle Jerry's affairs were involved. He would make me an advance if I wished, taking part of the ranch land as security.

I had had a sudden sense of foreboding. "Do you mean that there won't be any income?"

"I can't tell. But the ranch ought to yield fairly good crops. If you are anything of a practical farmer you should be able to work it."

I was immediately reassured. "My boyhood was spent on a farm."

"In the west?"

"In New York State."

"It isn't quite the same thing. But you may get away with it."

I saw myself riding over those wide acres—rounding up my cattle—. I said something of the kind, and saw his look of surprise. "There are no cattle. The free ranges are too limited in these days. The most profitable crop is alfalfa. And there are some experiments with small fruits —cherry orchards are beginning to pay fairly good returns. Your uncle, I believe, planted a lot of trees."

My imagination seized at once on the pictorial aspect of cherry orchards in bloom—of trees dripping red fruit—. If I could not have cattle I would have cherries...

I wonder now that the attorney was not more definite in his discussion of the situation. But I fancy we were playing at cross-purposes. He did not know what I expected, hence, saw no reason to warn me. The income which might be made, he had judged, would be sufficient for the expenses of a modest young couple who went in for practical farming. How could his mind grasp, for a moment, the vision of the thing as I was seeing it—and as my Uncle Jerry had described it?

I am sure, however, that it would have been hard to shake my belief in the happiness which was ahead —youth, love, aspiration. My mind was hopeless of change, until on my arrival on the scene I was confronted by the truth.

Nerves Were So Bad Could Not Stand The Children Playing

The happiness of every home depends largely on the health of the wife and mother. If she is nervous, peevish and irritable, worried by the cares of the household, and tormented by the pains and irregularities that accompany a run down system, there can be no happiness in the home for the husband and children.

Women who are weak and run down, nervous and irritable should take a course of Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills to help restore them to the blessing of good health.

Mrs. Thomas Kirk, Neston, Alta., writes:—"I was in such a weak, run down condition before I started using Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills I could not do my housework, and would be so nervous I could hardly stand the noise of the children at their play. Now, after taking three boxes of H. & N. Pills I feel like a different person.

I shall always tell anyone not feeling well to use your medicine."

Looking Back On This Date

JANUARY 12

By Fred Williams

The "Patriot army of the Northwest," which had been repulsed in its attack on Fort Malden near Amherstburg, soon ran into fresh difficulties. There was disunion in the ranks; Handy and Sutherland quarrelled as to who was in command; a party of the "army" left at Gibraltar point suffered much from cold while awaiting reinforcements, which never came, for the governor of Michigan intervened, in person went down the river and seized all the "Patriots'" arms and ammunition. Sutherland, who was W. L. Mackenzie's emissary, held a meeting at Detroit to secure more volunteers, but he soon got into trouble. He was arrested (and let out on bail) for having issued this further proclamation:

"Proclamation to the deluded supporters of British tyranny in Upper Canada—You are required to lay down your arms and return quietly to your homes. The Patriot army of Upper Canada desires not bloodshed. We fight only for liberty and personal and public safety.

"Your persons and property will be protected, all your private rights preserved to you, your homes secured, your possessions untouched, on condition that you yield up your weapons and return to your accustomed occupations.

"You are now enjoying a moiety of liberty, vouchsafed to you from motives of caprice of interest on the part of your rulers. We will secure to you all the blessings of freedom by a permanent and honorable tenure. Avoid then the horrors of war. Enrage not soldiers already exasperated by oppression. Save yourselves from confiscation. Cease resistance and all will be well with you."

This flamboyant defiance of the law of neutrality made the governor of Michigan more determined than ever to enforce the law. He called out 600 militia, and 300 of them were quartered in the city hall at Detroit. Then an extraordinary plot was conceived. Some of Handy's men got themselves enlisted into the militia with the intention of seizing the arms and handing them to the "Patriots," but Sutherland spoiled this by himself raiding the city hall and seizing the rifles. They were recovered next day.

And so ended for the time the "Patriots" invasion of southwestern Upper Canada. It was renewed in May at Point Pelee and again in December in the raid on Windsor, which are other stories.

The earth is slowing up, we read and some time in the distant future the years will be many times their present length. Swell, then we won't be tearing up so many letters and cheques because we forgot and made it '37 instead of '38.

DOROTHY DIX

If Girls Want to Be Popular They Must Not Overdress, Use Cosmetics Too Heavily or Always Demand Taxis and Expensive Eating Places.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a teacher of a class of junior girls. Each week these girls write a question and place it in a question box. The two that are asked oftenest are: How can I become more popular with the boys and hold their friendship? And: Is petting harmful? Can you give these girls any advice on these subjects? TEACHER.

Answer:

No one can give girls any hard-and-fast rule for making a hit with boys, because not all boys have the same taste in girls any more than they have in ice cream sodas. The very thing that might strike one lad's fancy would leave another cold.

Some boys, for instance, like tall girls; others like pocket Venuses. Some favor brunettes and others blondes. Some like cuties and others sensible girls. Some like babblers and others wants girls who will lend them their ears. So it is impossible to hold up any type on which a girl could form herself that would make her sure of always having dates.

Then, too, a girl's popularity depends upon her personality more than on any other one thing. That is something intangible that no one can describe or acquire by taking thought about it. It is just something that a girl has or she hasn't, and that's all there is about it. It is the come-hither look in her eyes that makes every man get up and follow one girl, while another just as pretty, just as intelligent, just as good a dancer has never a beau to bless herself with.

Generally speaking, however, the girl who wants to be popular with boys should make herself as good-looking as she can by keeping herself clean and well groomed, and dressing in clothes that flatter her instead of those that bring out her worst points. But boys do not like to go out with a girl who is overdressed and conspicuous or who indulges in freakish hairdos, or who is so plastered with cosmetics that she looks like a painted barndoor. It takes a youth with a strong stomach to want to kiss lips that look like a bloody cut of butcher's meat.

Boys like to go about with girls who are easy to entertain. They like girls who are good dancers—no girl who is a peachy dancer is ever a wallflower—and who can play all sorts of games, who can sing a little, play the piano a little, cook a steak on a picnic and add to the pleasure of any occasion.

Boys like girls who go easy on their pocketbooks; who are not always hinting for presents; who can go by a restaurant without looking hungrily in the door; who can walk or ride in a street car instead of having to have a taxi, and who don't act as if they thought that a youth on a salary was the favorite son of John D. Rockefeller.

Boys like girls who are real and sincere, simple and unaffected and who don't pose as being something they are not. They like girls who are interested in their jobs instead of pretending to be society girls who work because they are bored with parties. They like girls who make their own clothes and who know how to cook and who like babies, instead of the lah-de-da poor girls who turn up their noses at anything that isn't a French importation and who call babies brats.

Boys like girls to show them that they are pleased with their attentions and that they have a good time when they go out with them, but they don't want a girl to throw fits of gratitude over being taken to the movies. And they avoid girls as if they had the plague who are always trying to wheedle dates out of them, and who call them up in working hours to ask them where they have been and why they haven't been to see them. The best play that any girl can make for poularity is just to be herself.

As for petting, it makes a girl so common for her to let every Tom, Dick and Harry kiss her and paw her. It rubs the bloom off the rose, and when a girl loses her modesty she has lost her greatest charm.

DEAR MISS DIX — I am 34, in love with a married woman of 23. She loves me very much and is going to try to get a divorce from her husband, but many times we have arguments that are so hot that we come to the point of breaking up. In fact, I have thought of leaving her because when she gets angry with me she puts me in mind of the way she treats her husband. What do you think. F.F.

Answer:

Of course, she will treat you the way she treats her husband after you stand in that gentleman's shoes. You don't suppose that marriage is going to work any sort of a miracle that will change her nature and habits and cure her temper and her love of arguing, do you?

The safest bet in the world is that a woman is going to be the same kind of a wife to a second, third, fourth or fifth husband that she was to her first, so you can take a look at how she treats her current husband with the certainty that that is the way she will treat you.

It is nothing but vanity that makes a woman think that the husband she took away from another woman will be true to her, or that makes a man believe that the woman who nagged and bossed her first husband, and who was selfish and inconsiderate of him, will be amiable and sweet and tender to him. Divorce may change a woman's name, but not her nature.

* * * * *

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—How can I tell my neighbors in a nice way that their radio is about to drive me crazy? They leave it going all day, with the loud speaker on, and it makes me so nervous that I could scream. Besides that, I have made my husband's life miserable by trying to keep him from making a row about it, as I believe in the Golden Rule of doing as one would be done by, but now we have come to the breaking point. ELLEN.

Answer:

I don't believe that anything short of assassination would stop a radio fiend, and why people who are decent and considerate about everything else do not hesitate to wreck the peace of a whole neighborhood with their radios passes comprehension. I wish some good etiquette authority would write a book on radio manners. DOROTHY DIX.

For Thursday, January 13

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which much of the activity may be due to an overaggressive and strenuous spirit, with the energies and faculties running away with good judgment. There is apt to be much disturbance and excitement caused by tempest and tumult, heightened by fraud, treachery and foolish speculation. Shun violence and be alert to secret enmity.

A child born on this day may be tempestuous, violent and reckless in temper and behavior. It may incite bitter enmities, both open and obscure, unless given early discipline or its fiery forces are directed into some constructive channel.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

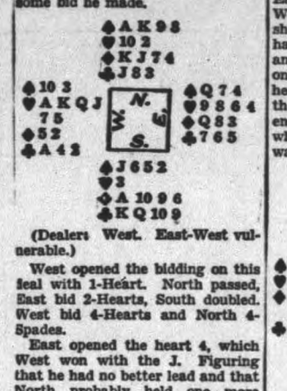
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO WAYS TO FIGURE

"WHICH WAY shall I finesse?" With plenty of players the answer to that question is usually a pure guess. With card readers, there may be indications from two directions. One of them may consist of the count of suit lengths in the two defenders' hands. The other one may be the necessity of one player having to hold a certain card in order to have enough for some bid he made.



(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Heart. North passed, East bid 2-Hearts, South doubled. West bid 4-Hearts and North 4-Spades.

East opened the heart 4, which West won with the J. Figuring that he had no better lead and that North probably held one more heart, he laid down the heart Q, which was ruffed in the South hand. The spades A and K were cashed, leaving the outstanding trump a winner.

The declarer now played a club, which West won with the A and returned another club. After cashing his remaining clubs, the declarer was in a quandary as to just which way to take the diamond finesse, as his failure to guess it correctly would mean defeat. He guessed wrong, feeling that West was more likely to hold the diamond Q than East.

There was a greater chance that East held the diamond Q than West, as the original heart lead showed West with six hearts. He had also shown up with two spades and three clubs, leaving him with only two diamonds and only one if he held the spade. The finesse for the diamond should have been taken into his hand rather than East's who probably needed the Q anyway for the single bid he had made.

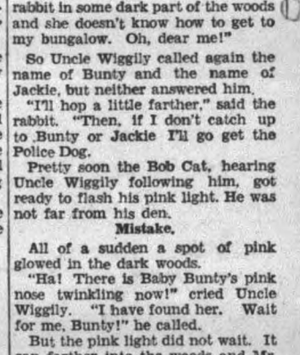
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

After winning the first trick with the diamond A, how should South proceed to make 5-Clubs?

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S GLAD SURPRISE.

"Bunty! Bunty! Baby Bunty! Wait for me!" called Uncle Wiggily as he hopped through the dark woods.

He had called at the house of Susie Littletail to bring the orphan rabbit home from Susie's party, but Bunty had already left.

But now, though he was in the dark woods, he couldn't see Baby Bunty ahead of him.

"It is getting darker," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he hopped along. "But Bunty's little pink nose ought to shine and twinkle in the dark just as mine does. I shall know Bunty by her pink nose shining ahead of me."

Uncle Wiggily hopped on a little farther. But still he did not see

Bunty's pink nose.

Danger for Wiggie.

"He will see something pink and twinkling in a little while," said the Bob Cat, who was slinking ahead of Uncle Wiggily in the woods. "As soon as he is a little closer to my den I will shine my pink, electric flash light. Mr. Longears will think it is Bunty's nose twinkling, he will follow it right to my den and there the Fox and Wolf, who are waiting, will grab him! Ha! Ha!"

So the Bob Cat sneaked on ahead of the rabbit, waiting for the right time to shine the pink flashlight and cause Uncle Wiggily to mistake it for Bunty's nose.

"It is queer," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, "but I don't hear Bunty and Jackie Bow Wow ahead of me."

Jackie Bow Wow, the little puppy boy, had promised to take Bunty part way home from Susie's party.

"Maybe Jackie didn't take Bunty as far as he promised," thought Uncle Wiggily as he hopped along. "Maybe he left my poor little orphan rabbit in some dark part of the woods and she doesn't know how to get to my bungalow. Oh, dear me!"

So Uncle Wiggily called again the name of Bunty and the name of Jackie, but neither answered him.

"I'll hop a little farther," said the rabbit. "Then, if I don't catch up to Bunty or Jackie I'll go get the Police Dog.

Mistake.

"Ha! There is Baby Bunty's pink nose twinkling now!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I have found her. Wait for me, Bunty!" he called.

But the pink light did not wait. It ran farther into the woods and Mr. Longears, not knowing it was the Bob Cat.

"Bunty didn't hear me. She is excited, being all alone, and is running away!" said Mr. Longears. He called: "Bunty, here I come!"

"Ha! Ha! Don't I know it!" mewed the Bob Cat, looking back and flashing his light. And there's where the Bob Cat made a mistake.

For when he looked back he didn't look ahead. And he whammed slam bang into a tree and bumped his nose and he loudly howled:

"Wowzie! Wowzie!"

"Oh, ho!" thought Uncle Wiggily, stopping short. "That isn't Bunty's voice. This is some trick!" Then, to Uncle Wiggily's glad surprise, he heard, behind him, Bunty's voice calling:

"Here I am, Unkie Wig! I've been chasing you. Please take me home!" And there was another twinkling glow. But this time it was really Bunty's pink nose and not the Bob Cat's flashlight.

Before the Bob Cat could get up and chase the rabbits they were safely home in the bungalow. And if the Blue Jay doesn't fall in the red ink and pretend to be a gold fish, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's bank.

Why take needless chances with

Coughing Colds

Relieve their misery this PROVED way

You don't have to experiment. Use the treatment that has been doubly proved for you.

Here's What To Do: It's best to keep the patient in bed and see that she gets lots of rest. Be sure she eats lightly, drinks plenty of water, and keeps elimination regular. And use your dependable Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

No Long Waiting For Relief To Begin

VapoRub is direct, external treatment. No "dosing"—no risk of stomach upsets. You simply massage it on throat, chest, and back. Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, the patient begins to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break up local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps right on working.

NOTE: If the cough is very annoying, or the air-passages feel clogged with heavy mucus or phlegm, even stronger vapor action is helpful. Pour boiling water in a bowl, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in it, and inhale the steaming vapors.

Now White—Stainless

Thanks to a new process, VapoRub is now white — stainless. Only the color is removed; it is the same VapoRub—the same formula and the same effective double action.

Bobby Breen - Deanna Durbin Big Names In Australia

Robert Taylor Fails To Interest Feminine Hearts With "His Affair"

SYDNEY, Jan. 12.—As in the past, stars to shine the brightest in Australia during 1937 were American. However, today the stars have to play in pix carrying a worthwhile story. If the story is regarded by fans as unsuited, then they just stay away from the b. o. Here's a case in point. Robert Taylor, a sure femme socko when spotted right, hit the screen here a few weeks back in 'His Affair.' Title looked swell, but the femmes didn't like the story and the pic went floppo, which goes to prove that the producers must spot their stars right to make them retain solid b. o. pull.

The Antipodes are strong for Jeanette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy. Clark Gable, William Powell-Myrna Loy, Robert Taylor, Shirley Temple, Errol Flynn, Deanne Durbin, Astaire-Rogers, Gracie Fields, Bobby Breen.

Little while back, Shirley Temple was the tops. Today, this star still spells biz, but not so strongly as of yore in the city spots. Bobby Breen hit popular favor right from the jump, and by next year should be away up on the list. Same thing goes for Deanna Durbin.

Not so long ago Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers held a high spot, but recently a decided swing away from them has been noticed. Undoubtedly the most popular comedy team on the screen today is William Powell and Myrna Loy. 'Thin Man' stuff placed them in high favor with the fans and they've maintained that popularity all along.

Best b. o. British star is Gracie Fields. Another Britisher, George Formby, is gradually working into high favor and by next year he should be a solid draw in this territory.

One foreign star who looks like sweeping all before her next year is Annabella who clicked so strongly in her first pic, 'Wings of the Morning' (G-B). This gal's got what it takes to bring the customers along in droves. For the Antips this Frenchy looks a sure b. o. bet in 1938. Another star who should mean plenty in this stanza is Sonja Henie, who is gaining in popularity with every pic released.

Cook Gets Drunk Bangs Actress

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12—(AP). — Actress Fay Wray of the Canadian West, is recovering today from head and back bruises while her former cook, Mrs. Raymonde Duvall, 57, was held in jail on drunk charges.

Miss Wray told police Mrs. Dugall ran amok after suddenly quitting her job and that for 30 exciting minutes she waked a hand to hand battle with the cook. Miss Wray said Mrs. Duvall beat both her and Ethel Jackson, a nurse.

Police were called when Miss Jackson, carrying Miss Wray's daughter, Susan, 1½ years of age, fled to a neighbor's home.

CUT-RATE PLANS MAKE MERRY WAR FOR OLD LONDON

LONDON, Jan. 12 (CP).—In the midst of a season notable for its crop of new plays and high average of acknowledged successes, London's theatrical world has become enmeshed in a spirited war of words over the issue of cut-rate prices. The battle to date has provided the public with an unrehearsed off-stage spectacle, combining melodrama, tragedy and comedy with interest keen and applause divided about equally.

Victor Payne Jennings, sponsor of the so-called "privilege-ticket" movement, is cast in the principal role. The rest of the cast consists of a group of influential West-End theatre managers and a mixed chorus in support.

The curtain went up on the first act, devoted to the romantic delineation of the scheme evolved by Jennings. Imbued with the idea that the better plays were beyond the financial reach of the vast majority of would-be theatre-goers, Jennings formed a club, with a membership charge of two shillings, six pence (63 cents). Membership carries with it a privilege-ticket, which entitles the holder to purchase two tickets for the price of one at selected theatres.

Since inauguration of the scheme, Jennings says 150,000 have become affiliated with the club and between 130 and 140 shows have fallen in line with the plan.

After Big Hits

The play proceeds. Jennings undertook to take over three outstanding current hits—Victoria Regina, French Without Tears, and George and Margaret, at the end of their natural runs in the West-End. His plan was to transfer them to larger theatres, maintain all artists at prevailing salaries and pay over half the profits to the original managements. He threw in a guarantee of £1,000 ($5,000) with each offer.

"Nothing doing!" retorted the opposing group of managers. They charged the under-cutters were cheapening the show business, reducing actors' salaries and dismissing members of the original casts when receipts began falling. Some of the theatres countered the movement with placards saying: "This show can't be seen anywhere else at cut-rates."

W. J. O'Bryen, one of the managers, declared the system proposal falsely encouraged theatre-goers to wait until a play could be seen at cheap rates. "In the second place," he added, "it antagonizes people who pay the full price, only to find they have paid twice as much as those in the adjoining seats."

Gilbert Miller, another noted producer, turned thumbs down on Jennings' plan. "I'm afraid the profit-sharing part of the offer would be an empty one." Cost of play production, he said, had soared through the years, while prices of tickets remained constant. Some managers estimated a 200-per-cent higher outlay to get a production on the boards today than it did 10 years ago.

Mr. Miller pointed out that "Silent Knight," his play in rhymed verse had failed to attract customers to St. James' Theatre although it had cost him nearly £400 ($2,000) a week more to stage than "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," with Gladys Cooper and Gerald du Maurier in the cast. "How can I cut prices?" Miller said.

Flora Robson, appearing in the current success "Autumn," at the St. Martin's, has played under the two-for-one system but declares she'll never do it again. Conditions were far below the standard expected. But Jennings says he isn't worrying about boycotts. "I am primarily interested in helping the theatre business and if necessary will take the risk of original productions, which I'm accused of not daring to face."

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD.—So many Hollywood stories play up the riches and the foibles of the stars that it is refreshing to find out they are human being after all. Mother Gruber will testify they are. Every morning at 6.30, Mother Gruber prepares coffee and snacks of breakfast to serve the feminine stars on the Warner lot as they come in to be made up. For her it means getting up at 4.30 and arriving at the studio often before it is light.

Bette Davis

But the other morning there was a big surprise for Mother Gruber. When she came into the make-up department, prepared for her usual labors, she found the coffee and the breakfast already made. And this time she was invited to sit down and eat, while the famous stars she serves turned the tables and waited on her.

There were Bette Davis, Olivia de Havilland, Margaret Lindsay, Fay Bainter and Spring Byington. On this morning they had got up earlier than Mother Gruber to stage their little surprise.

If you can believe Paulette Goddard's intimates, Chaplin has finally agreed for her to go to work at another studio providing he doesn't finish a script by February.

Bing Crosby has taken on another hobby—dogs. The crooner just put $1,500 on the line to purchase a boxer of championship strain. Her name is Gunda of Barmere, but Crosby has nicknamed her Venus.

The star plans to establish a kennel and raise the breed commercially.

Didn't someone print that Basil Rathbone's, Rodion, would follow in his father's footsteps and become on actor? Instead, he has taken a job in the cutting department at Warners.

Even a movie star can't realize all his dreams. Errol Flynn is pestering the life out of Jack Warner and Hal Willis to let him play the role of Cyrano de Bergerac. The fact that his classic profile would have to be marred with a bulbous nose doesn't mean a hoot to him.

But it will to Warners.

You can write it down in the book that Flynn will not play Cyrano de Bergerac.

Interesting item about the Edgar Kennedys. When the comedian leaves on a personal appearance tour he will be accompanied by his wife, formerly Patricia Allen of vaudeville. During the tour, the two will revive the sketch they did together before their barriage 13 years ago.

Clark Gable's suite in the M. G. M. dressing room building is indicated by a brass name-plate containing a replica of his signature. His fellow-stars must be souvenir hunters or something. For, four of these plates have been thefted from the door. Gable has had the new one welded on.

Tyrone Power's holiday gift to his mother was a full-length oil portrait of himself alone by the artist, Onestus Uzzell. Some bold theif stole Fay Wray's electric icebox off her back porch, including a turkey and everything else that was in the box. An interesting twosome at the Beverly Brown Derby were the recently divorced Geraldine Spreckles and Ivan Lebendeff, Hollywood's prize monocle adept. Miss Spreckles, re-christened Anna Johns by Warners, has reported back to the studio but has no assignment at the moment. The Nelson Eddy fans are rushing to correct me about his character names. I thought he had been called Richard four times. But his fans, who say they know his pictures by heart, insist it happened only in "Rosalie" and in "Naughty Marietta." . . . Helen Meinardi, the scenarist, and Van Smith were a twosome at Frank Kerwin's Merry-Go-Round. And this is not their first appearance at the Hollywood gay spots. . . . Frances Gifford and James Dunn didn't go on their aeroplane honeymoon after all. They are living in a Los Angeles hotel until they can find a house.

Hope Your Children Be Humorists Worst Threat Benchley Can Wish

One of America's outstanding humorists, Robert Benchley admits that because of the very nature of his occupation and fame he is subjected to at least two dozen assaults a day by amateur halfwits determined to show him that they can be funny, too. He is appearing currently in "Live, Love and Learn" at the Capitol Theatre.

"My face is getting to be known as good old Benchley's pickle-puss, for no other reason than having to listen wryly to chance acquaintances' jokes which weren't even funny when I wrote them in the first place.

"You don't have to reach for humor. It's either there or it isn't. If you strain for a funny effect it is the same as a strain anywhere, although I admit that a strained funnybone can be more painful than a broken leg.

"Of all humorists, however, the parlor humorist is probably the most serious affliction that can hit a party, running second only to the cutie who gives impromptu imitations and the contralto who donates comic songs in her best operatic slumming voice.

"In the movies a humorist seldom really needs to call on his stock of comedy," Mr. Benchley adds. "Most movie comedy such as they have me doing in 'Live, Love and Learn,' already is written by a flock of writers whose biggest assets lie in their ability to look like pallbearers and write like ticklish old maids under laughing gas.

"These boys never strain for a laugh. Their humor is pure and undefiled and charged with everything from grand larceny to whowas-that-lady-I-seen-you-with-last night

"Don't," Benchley's homily concluded, "ever laugh even weakly at any amateur or professional's strained attempt at humor. It encourages them and some day they'll grow up and be a halfwit. There's not enough jobs in this industry for all of us, as it is!"

LUCILLE MANNERS

Lucille Manners, beautiful radio soprano, has often been called Miss "Horatio Alger" as the lady complement to the fictional boy hero found in the pages of Alger's books. Lucille's rise in the field of radio has been almost phenomenal. In two years she has climbed from a secretarial job in New Jersey to her present position of prominence as the prima donna of one of the most popular programs on the air.

STAR IS HAPPY THOUGH SINGLE

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12.—(CP).—If you are a bachelor and want to stay that way, take a few tips from one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors. He is James Stewart, the movie actor who admits to a set of 10 requirements for single-blessedness. He occupies a swank apartment with two former schoolmates, John Swope and Joshua Logan.

"All the married men I know have certain rules for happiness in the relationship," Stewart said. "I don't know anything about that, but I can put down some pretty workable regulations for bachelors." Here they are:

"1. Learn to take care of yourself, to cook and even to sew on buttons. Then you won't appear helpless in the eyes of well-meaning females. A helpless man is sunk.

"2. Don't pay careless compliments to girls. Make them sound careless, but think them out ahead of time. Put a brake on flattery and you're not apt to skid into matrimony.

"3. It's better to share quarters with another bachelor or two. Then no girl can feel sorry for you because you're lonely.

"4. Cultivate a hobby. I chose aviation and photography. They always provide good subjects for conversation and they're safe.

"5. Remember that if you're seen twice with one girl (especially in Hollywood) they say it's an engagement.

"6. If you room with other bachelors, don't get sore if you find live frogs in your bed.

"7. When you dine out with a girl, choose only the most difficult dishes. She'll never dare say that her cooking is better.

"8. If you're with a girl who dances the Big Apple, it's better to waltz, reverse the technique if she's the waltzing sort. (One must be assertive.)

"9. It's smart to be gentle, but firm, about your great necessity for freedom. Blame it on yourself and sigh, as though you regret it.

"10. Wait until you meet that certain girl and then drop all pretense. If she doesn't understand, she isn't the one. There'll be another one along soon."

BRITISH FILMS SUE OVER PATENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP).—Spokesmen for the Gaumont British Picture Corporation, whose subsidiary, British Acoustic Films Ltd., has begun patent infringement litigation against two leading makers and distributors of American sound film mechanism, today said the outcome might affect virtually every motion picture theatre in North America.

The American defendants named in the action filed yesterday in federal district court at Wilmington, Del., were the RCA Manufacturing Company, a subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America, and the Electrical Research Products Inc., wholly controlled affiliate of the Western Electric Company.

While no statement of damages accompanied the yesterday's plea for an injunction, local spokesmen for the British interests said between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000 might be involved.

The complaints, they said, were based on two patents. The first, a "device for feeding acoustic film at constant speed," was issued by the United States patent office to Arnold Poulsen and Alex Carl Georg Petersen in 1926.

A second patent was issued in 1935 to Poulsen alone and both, Gaumont spokesmen alleged, subsequently were assigned to the British Acoustic Films. Despite this, they said, the two American firms used the patented features on their mechanism.

Attorneys for both the RCA manufacturing Company and the Electrical Research Products Company expressed surprise at the action and declared it would be necessary for them to study the complaints before discussing them.

Gaumont spokesmen said large scale installation of the contested equipment now was in progress in this country.

FRENCH THEATRES FAVORING COMEDY

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The one and only Charlot—Charlie Chaplin to you—is still No. 1 in all of France, even though his 'Modern Times' is in its nth subsequents. Then follows France's own Charles Boyer as No. 2 fave, and the following in sequence: Fernandel, Tino Rossi, Sacha Guitry and Jean Gabin, all native French players; Dietrich, Raimu, another native, and finally Gary Cooper and Greta Garbo.

Film name draws underwent some curious changes in France this year. War scares, devaluations, social reforms brought about by a leftist government and the Paris International Exposition are just a few of the reasons which might be given as causing a switch in the likes and dislikes of the French public.

That the average Frenchman has been seeking relief from the worries that have beset an uneasy Europe this year, is reflected in no uncertain terms. Comedy, of the kind liked by the French public, and subjects that treat not of wars and diplomacy but with the adverse light and dramatic aspects of life have stepped to the front.

HOW SHE DOES IT

NEW YORK.—(CP).—Mrs. Pat Campbell, veteran actress and still vivacious personality, admires the Duchess of Windsor as "the only woman who ever held her tongue."

Clark Gable received $1.30 per day for his work in 14 theatrical shows before he signed with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Sinking Of The U.S. Panay Outstanding News Story

Wars, Coronation And Labor Troubles Offer Great Soope For Newsreels

The past year probably will be remembered by newsreels as being one of the greatest in reviving competitive spirit among the five U. S. organizations. Wars on foreign soil and domestic labor battles offered the chance for this and the newsreel men seized on it.

Sino-Japanese struggle presented the opportunity, and Universal probably was the first to cash in with uncensored views of the Shanghai bombing. By specialing some 900 feet of material, reel was credited with being the spearhead in arousing fierce competition. Universal newsreel's coverage was chalked up generally as the outstanding news story of 1937, until the Panay sinking near Nanking figured as an international incident. This was easily tabbed as the outstanding news story, with Norman Alley, Universal, and Eric Mayell, Fox-Movietone, being aboard and photographing graphic stories which were released late in December. Paramount's Chicago Memorial Day riot material was runner-up.

In contest for best scenes of Panay incident, newsreel editors eliminated Universal because all footage was released as short feature.

Idea of joint coverage, wrapped up in the 'Associated Press' plan of newsreel, took a terrific beating what with competition for warfare material, flood stories, the Coronation and Hindenburg disaster. Despite this, the newsreel outfits presented a united front on Coronation covering, which saved them thousands of dollars, in bucking the urge of colleges to supervise shooting of sports and the arbitrary attitude of the national air races.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mrs. W. J. Young has returned home after spending the past two weeks visiting friends in Toronto.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Dawson of 742 George street are attending the Bakers' Convention and banquet being held in Toronto to-day.

✧ ✧ ✧

The Elizabeth Parker Evening Auxiliary of the Trinity United Church met on Monday with a large attendance present. The new officers were installed and a splendid address was given by Miss Daisy Walker on her trip last summer to the Orient. Miss Greta Giles rendered a much appreciated solo.

✧ ✧ ✧

Young Liberals Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the Twentieth Century Liberal Association was held in the committee rooms of the Duffus Building and resulted in the following officers being elected: President, Miss Dorothy Whatley; 1st vice president, Mrs. Clarence Laing; 2nd vice president, Pat Anglesey; secretary, Miss Aileen McCoy and treasurer, Earl O'Toole.

✧ ✧ ✧

Shower For Mrs. George Stenner.

Twenty-five guests were present, who enjoyed an evening of games and contests. The bride received many attractive gifts that were presented in a decorated basket. At the close of the evening, refreshments were served in buffet style from a table attractively arranged with a lace cloth and central bouquet of flowers.

Ancient Castle Described by Mrs. Harvey.

Mrs. B. W. Harvey addressed the Art Study Club of the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association on Tuesday evening, when the club met at the home of Mrs. H. E. Connolly, King Street.

"Knole," the famous castle situated in Kent County, England, was described by the speaker. Least touched by time of all the historic castles, "Knole" is the home of Victoria Sackville-West, having remained in the same family since Queen Elizabeth presented it to Sir Thomas Sackville. The castle is full of Elizabethan treasures and has been kept in a state of constant repair by its owners.

Sacred Heart Y.P. Elect Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Young People's Club of the Sacred Heart parish the following officers were elected: President, William Grady, Jr.; vice president, Frances Noble; secretary, Jennie Monahan and treasurer, Clarence Collins.

St. Alban's Guild Elects Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild of St. Alban's Church the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. E. W. Cooper; vice-president, Mrs. W. Thompson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. F. Legon; social convenors, Mrs. C. Nixon and Mrs. W. Bannon; Dorcas convenor, Mrs. E. Ray; club card convenor, Mrs. W. Morley.

Zimbalist Violin Club Is Formed In City.

The pupils of Roy Rome met on Saturday afternoon at his home for the purpose of forming a club and a violin ensemble. It was decided to name it "The Zimbalist Violin Club" in honor of the world famous violinist appearing for the first time in Peterborough, this month.

A meeting will be held the first Friday in each month. The following officers were chosen: President, Colin Jack; vice president, Shirley Ashby; secretary, Keith Kelly; treasurer, Douglas Ferguson; librarian, Robin Waite; program selector, Kenneth Read; club and assistant ensemble directors, Ruth Fisher and Anna McLeod.

After all arrangements were settled, refreshments were served to the students, and the meeting came to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Entertained Choir.

Mrs. L. Groombridge, Murray Street entertained the members of the Philharmonic choir following rehearsal on Monday night, when they were practicing for an engagement with the Philharmonic Orchestral Society. Those present were Mr. H. Prevey, conductor, Mrs. Foster, pianist and Mesdames Barrie, Groombridge, Hepburn, Misses H. Ross, P. Cowie, P. Rome, B. White, Messrs. B. Carter, Don Kennedy, Ed. Murray, Walter Farr, Don Perks, Griffin Young and G. Hall.

Sleigh Drive Party Held By Young People.

Thirty members of the St. Andrew's United Church Young People's Union enjoyed a sleigh drive which lasted two hours and a half on Tuesday night. Leaving the church at 7.45 the sleigh proceeded with its heavy load toward Nassau by the River Road. The "Jeep" and the "Big Apple became quite popular in order to provide proper circulation when the brisk winter air did more than its duty. Returning to the church at 10.15 via the Lakefield highway the party lost no time in finding their way to the dining room, where refreshments were served under the direction of Dorothy Harle and Margaret Patoine. President Gordon Harle thanked Jim Harvey for his work in arranging the sleigh drive and the two young ladies for their planning of the refreshments.

George Street Y. P. Hold Meeting.

The regular meeting of George Street Young People's was held Tuesday evening with Mrs. Cecil Wasson, convenor of the Christian Fellowship Group in charge.

The president, Miss Loretta McDougall was in the chair for the business period. Miss Helen Delahaye presided at the piano. The minutes of the executive meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Isabel Skitch. Short portions of scripture were read by each member of the Fellowship Group.

Miss Gladys Mills was heard in a solo during the evening with Miss Helen Delahaye accompanying at the piano. Recreation was in charge of Cecil Wasson.

✧ ✧ ✧

George Street W.M.S. Holds Meeting.

Mrs. A. I. Brown presided at the opening meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church, held on Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors, with a large attendance of ladies present.

Mrs. Bamforth took charge of the devotional and Mrs. Marten read the devotional leaflet on the Kingdom of Heaven. The third chapter of the study book was taken in a most interesting way by Mrs. J. E. Latimer, Mrs. F. Mather and Mrs. J. H. Rowe. A solo entitled "Gently, Lord, Oh, Gently Lead Us," was sung most beautifully by Miss Lauretta McDougal.

During the business period, Mrs. McMillan read the list of new officers for 1938, and several interesting reports held over from the December meeting were given. The financial secretary reported $057.00 forwarded to the branch treasurer and announced the 1938 allotment as $1,000.00.

Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Roy Parnell were appointed as delegates to the Peterborough Presbyterial meetings in February and, on motion of Mrs. Lane, an invitation will be extended to have the meetings in George Street Church. Mrs. H. Foote and Mrs. W. H. Marten were appointed as representatives to the Local Council of Women.

Tokens of appreciation for services given were extended to Mrs. Marten and Mrs. H. Dulmage.

Mrs. E. W. Coon presided for the installation of the new officers and the meeting was closed with the singing of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," and prayer by Mrs. Marten.

Blue-Caskey.

MADOC, Jan. 12.—At noon on New Year's Day a quiet wedding took place at the Caskey home in Madoc township, when Helen, only daughter of Mrs. Caskey and the late James A. Caskey, was united in marriage to Lloyd C. Blue, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Blue, Madoc, Rev. I. E. Kennedy, pastor of Trinity United church, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Albert H. Caskey. She was attractively gowned in ruby-toned albemouse and carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and lily-of-the-valley. Little Miss Mary Louise Caskey, of Toronto niece of the bride, was flower girl and was daintily dressed in flesh colored crepe, carrying a basket of carnations.

Mrs. Herbert Caskey, of Metcalfe, Ont., played the wedding march. The groom's gift to the bride was a rhinestone evening bracelet and to the flower girl a bracelet, to the pianist a compact.

The bride's mother was gowned in black embroidered crepe and wore a corsage of Supreme roses. Mrs. Blue, mother of the groom, was gowned in black and wore a corsage of Supreme roses.

Following the luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Blue left by motor on a trip to Ottawa and Montreal, the bride travelling in a zenna crepe gown in rust, with beaver coat and brown accessories. On their return they will take up residence on St. Lawrence street east, Madoc

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Lillie Blue, Little Metis, Que.; Mrs. McCracken, of Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Caskey, Metcalfe, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Caskey and Mary Louise, of Toronto.

With the Girl Guides.

First Company had an enrolment on Monday, and the following Guides made their Promise: Doris Fawcett, Helen Astlea, and Shirley Wyatt. Service stars were presented to R. Sage, J. Brown, J. Patterson, B. Miller and C. Blackburn.

Sadie Hand was awarded a 2nd class badge. Unless better attendance is kept by 2nd Company, it will be necessary to disband. When are we going to hear from 3rd Company?

The Salvation Guard Guides held an enjoyable "open night" on Friday last, when mothers were the guests of the girls; contests and games were played and every mother was given a linen handkerchief.

Gifts were exchanged between the Guides. Dainty refreshments were served. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Whalen, District Captain, and Irene Houghton, Tawny Owl, were also guests.

The annual meeting of the local association will be on Wednesday next. Mothers please turn out to this. We need your interest and coperation. Meeting at our headquarters, 173½ Simcoe street (upstairs).

COTTON FROCKS ARE NOW IN HIGH STYLE

Material Is Used For Day, Evening And Play Things

By LISBETH

COTTON was king of a mid-December fashion show held in New York. "America's own cottons" were used by "America's own designers" to make the attractive garments modeled at the showing.

Suits, dresses, both daytime and formal frocks, play clothes and a bridal outfit were displayed, all in cotton materials.

Called "Liebestraum"

The evening frock is by Elizabeth Hawes, and she called it "Liebestraum." It is made of sheer crinkled organdie printed in floral stripes in muted tones of rose and blue. The dress is in princess styling, with a wide, flared skirt and low cut back decolletage. The upstanding collar suggests the petals of a half-blown flower.

Well-known designers of New York and Hollywood have included in their showings of cotton dresses and suits, cotton petticoats and petticoat-slips of organdie, cambric, longcloth and even of percale sheeting.

Cotton fabrics are numerous and more than 170 cuts of representative fabrics are in the market, "showing cotton's versatile adaptability to all fashion tempos," it is said.

Prints "Primitive"

Such fabrics include "primitive" prints, mannish cottons, decorative fabrics, new this season for women's wear; formals, stripes, international prints, surf and sun fabrics, slub weaves, sheer cottons, and ribs and cords.

Britain Widens Hostel Systems

LONDON, Jan. 12—(CP)—An important social reform in Britain dealing with offenders under 21 years has been announced by the Home Office. In future they won't be sent to the grim depths of an institution but instead to good lodgings where they will have "a decent bed, wholesome food and a kindly welcome."

The government is offering a grant of 15 shillings ($3.75) a week in each case towards the cost and the Home Office has asked that the scheme should be comprehensive and elastic. Hitherto the courts have had the power to provide for the maintenance of young offenders in approved hostels but have been restricted owing to the lack of hostels.

The grant will be continued for a year or to a time within that period when the offender receives employment. "If regular work can be found for them and they can be placed for a time in good lodgings, away from poor home influences, and under supervision, a remedy may be found without resorting to institutional treatment and it may even save them from imprisonment," the Home Office says.

Room of Her Own For Daughter

When your small daughter decides in no uncertain terms that she wants a room that is hers, here are some down-to-earth suggestions for co-operation. Have her replan her room on paper first, advises House Beautiful. Let her replace her toy box with new things. But have her make sure that the new furniture will fit the space in her room. Give her a budget—no matter how small—and let her plan her purchases within it. Teach her to bring home samples—hundreds if necessary—to experiment with before she finally buys curtains and slip covers. And make her ask herself the same questions you ask yourself. Is the pattern in her chintz too large for the room? Will she grow tired of the color? Has every piece of furniture a place and use? And above all, don't be alarmed if she demands pink rosebuds and pale blue organdie on the one hand, or imitation leopard skin and black sofa pillows on the other. Teach her good taste with tact and some new ideas.

Pipe smoking is rapidly decreasing in England.

STOP BABY'S COLD BEFORE IT GETS WORSE

A FIREMAN will tell you big fires are little fires when they start. That's why they always hurry to put them out. Don't let your baby's little cold develop into a "big cold" or something worse. Be in a hurry to check it. Let Mrs. Geo. McBride of Scarborough tell you how. "My baby of 26 months caught a nasty cold this spring, so I tried Baby's Own Tablets and she seemed to throw this cold off quicker than ever before. I certainly am for Baby's Own Tablets from now on."

Baby's Own Tablets are safe and sure in their action. They correct the cause of baby's trouble. Effective in clearing up teething troubles, constipation, simple fevers, diarrhoea, upset stomach, colic and summer complaint, irritability, simple croup and other of "baby's" ailments. Yet they are utterly free from opiates or stupefying drugs. An analyst's report is given in each package.

Onion Soup, Royal Winter Fare Said To Chase The Colds

With Bag Of Onions In The Cellar There Will Be Plenty For Winter Use

By MARY MOORE

There is no choice of a subject today—I have to write about onions—for the aroma of them is floating around my nose like a London pea-soup fog. We are going to have onion soup for lunch.

MARY MOORE

And there is a reason for that too. I am just old-fashioned enough to believe in onion soup as a good therapeutic soup, for my mother used to fly to the kitchen to make it for us at the first sign of a sniffle in our noses, so I did likewise when both Peter and Marianne awakened with "codes id deir doses" this morning.

But I have to sheepishly admit that it all stems from a rare moment of handsome spending when I ordered a bag of onions costing $4.75. So we have to eat them in all shapes and sizes and you have to read about them as a consequence.

ONION SOUP.

Peel and slice about 6 medium-sized onions and saute them in 2 level tablespoons butter, stirring constantly, and adding ½ teaspoon each of salt and paprika, ⅛ teaspoon black pepper and a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce if you like it. When onions are medium brown you will add 1½ quarts of rich beef stock (or 1½ quarts boiling water in which you have dissolved 6 Oxo cubes) and let all simmer together for 3 minutes.

Now, to be at its best, onion soup should be served as the French traditionally do—with a small round of toast thickly sprinkled with Parmesan cheese—floating on top of it.

So while your onion soup is doing its last little simmering, slice hard rolls as you would a loaf of bread and toast these little round crisp slices. Then dot them with butter, sprinkle them with grated Parmesan (or grated old Swiss or for the matter Canadian cheese if you do not have the others) and pass them under the broiler again to bubble the cheese.

Serve one of these exquisite morsels on each bowl of steaming onion soup—you not only have a full course soup, but flavor never to be equalled.

Note: To make 1½ quarts rich beef stock buy shin beef and cut it into ½-inch cubes, and put in 2 quarts of cold water, cover tightly and simmer 3 hours—but do not let boil. Strain (of course if you want to add those beef cubes you will still have good soup).

The custom of baking onions in the same pan as your beef is roasted is a good one—I have never yet discovered where it sprung from but it smacks of Yorkshire or Buckinghamshire to me. Anyway I have an aunt that invariably has roast beef with onions, Franconia style, whenever we are invited to her house for dinner—and I look forward to those dinners—even though they occur only about once every year.

There is little need to outline the method—merely wash and peel large onions and put them in the pan in which beef is roasting, and baste them when you baste the beef which should be often—about 10 minutes before serving time, salt and pepper them and sprinkle with paprika—but do not baste after these are sprinkled on. These make a nice garnish for your roast platter.

SCALLOPED ONIONS
(Or Au Gratin).

(One of the reasons for having large bags of potatoes and onions and barrels of apples on hand is that one is never puzzled or stumped for provisions when other provisions are low or extra folks are at hand to feed. We used this recipe last week and served the result at a company dinner where minced meat cakes wrapped in slices of side bacon were the meat item—the result was a "Yumming" success).

Peel and boil whole, 1 lb. of onions, until they are about half tender—then drain them and slice in ¼ inch slices. Have ready 2½ cups thin cream sauce (using 2½ tablespoons flour to 4 tablespoons butter and 21-3 cups milk). Put a layer of onions in buttered casserole, cover with layer of cream sauce, sprinkle with salt and pepper and grated old cheese, add another layer of onions and cream sauce and salt and pepper and ½ cup grated old cheese, then paprika. Bake at low temperature for 1½ hours—between 275 and 300 deg. Fahr. is right—no higher.

Meat cakes as I mentioned above, can be served with this and may be baked or broiled. Potato and celery salad make a nice accompaniment.

Much and often as I suggest vegetable plates under Dinners of the Week, I belong to the tribe that the advertisements declare "build their meals around the meat."

But if there is some such savory as Corn Fritters or Cheese Souffle or Stuffed Onions that have such a tang that the meat is never missed—then I say Vegetable Plates are a pleasure, a change and "Good For You." (I duck for cover every time I say that last one).

Now this started out to be a eulogy on the good old native Canadian onion—but when I think of the joys of boiled Bermuda onions with butter and French fried onions (which can be done with Canadian onions but are better with Bermuda) I weaken for this is in the interests of good food even if I have to stop being patriotic for a moment.

STUFFED ONIONS.

Eight Spanish onions (if you have eight in your family or fewer very hungry ones), 1 cup dry crumbs, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup white sauce, 1 cup finely chopped leftover meat or finely chopped walnuts or almonds, 1-3 cup butter, speck of pepper, 1 egg or 2 beaten yolks. Peel the onions and boil them whole until about three-quarters tender. Cool one plate, and when cool enough to handle scoop out about half of the centre—adding part of the removed portion chopped to the stuffing ingredients—some of it will protrude from the top. It may be sprinkled with cheese or crumbs and paprika—bake in oven of 350 deg. Fahr. (moderate) until heated through and browned.

Of course boiled Bermuda onions need no describing—except that they must be tender and whole and boiled in salted water and served with plenty of butter on them—not plenty that melts off onto one's plate—plenty in the onion.

FRENCH FRIED ONIONS.

Slice sweet large Bermuda onions in ¼-inch slices. Dip in milk, then in flour (½ cup mixed with 2 teaspoons salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper). Fry in deep fat at 390 deg. Fahr. until deep golden. Serve immediately on hot platter with beefsteak.

TRIM FROCK WITH STRAIGHT LINES IS NECESSARY

Materials May Be As Varied As Is Desired By Owner

(By Lisbeth)

It has gotten so that if you do not appear at the tea, bridge or other formal afternoon—early or late—affair, in a trim, slim dress straight in silhouette, you feel definitely out of the fashion picture.

This pencil-slim dress comes in a variety of materials and with various trimming mediums, but it seems to be the same dress—in velvet, crepe, silk or synthetic, wool or whatnot.

A perennial favorite is the shirt-maker cocktail dress, right, of silver lame. It has a breast pocket with a green silk embroidered monogram, and an extremely narrow belt. The peaked hat with its stiff veil is from Lilly Dache, and the wide silver bracelet is something to notice.

Silks for Cruise

New fashion notes that have just come to tell of the silks which are especially designed for the cruise and winter resort season.

Vivid color is once more the outstanding note in printed silks for the resort and cruise season, whether for day or evening wear. Silk prints featured by both American and French houses have a tendency toward smaller designs for daytime or allover patterns imitating lace or embroidery.

Many of the new patterns are given an exotic look by multi-color treatments in a single flower or group of flowers. These are varied by emphasis of monotone color-on-color effects, either in neat tailored patterns or stylized florals and geometrics.

Black is at the moment the volume color for print silk grounds for daytime, while white is important for evening. Amethyst browns, dark chocolate browns, reds in rust, mahogany and burnt wine shades, as well as those previously mentioned, greens, both vivid clear tones like emerald green and medium bluish tones as well as dark greens royal blues and navy, are all being shown.

Navy Stronger Than Ever

Navy is expected to be stronger even than last season. Luggage tan is appearing in some high styles, usually with black and sometimes accented in white.

Accents of cool gray in multi-color patterns serve to highlight the vivid tones, while gray with white alone appears in many patterns for both day and evening. Combinations of pigment and lustrous dyes in white and colors are new.

Will Try Wine For Baby Food

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 12—(CP).—Three pairs of South African identical twins have been offered to Dr. C. Louis Leipoldt for his milk versus wine diet experiment.

"One pair of boys, 10½ years old, appear to be most suitable," Dr. Leipoldt said. "Unfortunately they will not be available until Perbruary. If there are not further offers the experiment will have to be postponed until then.

"The whole investigation will be strictly controlled on scientific principles. If the results are encouraging extensive tests will be made with the co-operation of large classes of children."

A letter to the Argus condemns the experiment:

"What happens to the 10-year-old who at the end of a year will have acquired a taste for wine, which the very experiment may have proved to be detrimental to his health and development. This result would not merely confirm the present scientific view that the alcohol contained in wine belongs to the type of foods that act as fuel for the immediate needs of he body. They cannot be used to form new materials."

LEARNING ATHLETICS.

Scores of women trainers are teaching Italian girls at a tender age the value of physical training and contact with the outdoors. They are being taught field athletics and mass dances, hiking and camping.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Happiness, grief, gaiety, sadness, are by nature contagious. Bring your health and your strength to the weak and sickly, and so you will be of use to them. Give them, not your weakness, but your energy, so will you revive them and lift them up."

—Anon.

Dear Friends:

Did you ever feel as if you drew something from those you contact, and they in turn, drew something from you? It's true. We give out and we take in, just as we breathe out the air from our lungs that we have used, and take in fresh air to replenish us.

And if all you give to your relations and friends is your weaknesses, your hurts and disappointments, what good is that to them? They have enough of those in their own lives without getting all of yours.

Some people are a joy to be with, an inspiration and a delight. They bring out the best that usually lies dormant within us. They make us feel that life is not as drab as we thought it was, and we go swinging along with a free step, instead of draggingly.

And there are others who seem to take the "guts" right out of us. Nothing seems right or good after we have been with them awhile. Our spirits are dampened, our outlook is bitter, our thoughts of friends are not kindly.

And all because they have a jaundiced viewpoint and passed it on to us. You have to be ready for that kind of person. You must not let them push this at you, but do a little pushing of your own optimism at them.

If their weaknesses are getting you down, shove some of your strength at them. They have dwelt too long on certain things and need to get jolted out of it.

Sometimes we don't even have to speak to give to people. Our vibrations do it for us, and don't laugh at vibrations or think they are something new, for everything on the face of the earth or in the earth and sea, vibrates, believe it or not, and we are influenced by all of them.

Haven't you felt gloom come into a room with certain people? And haven't you also felt as if the sun had come out from under a cloud when another one entered it?

All psychologists know these things. It isn't what a doctor or lawyer says that gives people confidence in them, it is the vibrations of power and ability they give off, without which they could do their client or patient no good whatever.

So, let us give of vibrations of good cheer, of faith and hope and charity, of health and strength, of courage and belief, and see the difference it will make. Those who come in contact with us will get the contagion and spread it to others, so that soon there will be an epidemic of it.

We are inclined to think an epidemic of anything as generally bad, but it depends on what is being spread. Let us do our part, by smiles, by telling of all the good things that have happened to us, by a cheerful outlook and hopeful speech.

Then, like a prairie fire, these things will enable others to do likewise. Let us be like the boy of whom O. W. Holmes writes:

"You hear that boy laughing? You think he's all fun;
But the angels laugh, too, at the good he has done;
And the poor man that knows him laughs loudest of all."

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

HIGHER SALARIES IN APPLICATIONS VILLAGE POSITIONS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 12. — "It looks like everybody is looking for a raise in salary except the man on the street, and I don't think they are getting enough," declared Reeve Kelley at Monday night's meeting of the council, following their inaugration in the morning. The council were faced with several applications for municipal offices, calling for an increase in salaries.

Members of the council present were Reeve Kelly, Stanley Stevenson, Iden Bond, William McEachnie and Charles Lynch. There were a goodly number of spectators present.

Correspondence was read from the files as follows: United Advertising Service, regarding list of Separate school supporters; Salvation Army, appealed for financial assistance by way of a grant; Provincial Treasurer, regarding railway tax distribution.

Five applications were received for auditors to audit village, hydro and relief books at the usual salary of $15 each. Moved by Stevensons, seconded by Lynch, that Fred Crate and Felix Turcotte be auditors. I. Bond moved an amendment that Howard Wilson and Owen Phillips be auditors. He received no seconder and the first motion carried.

Re-appointed Assessor.

Grover Kerr was re-appointed assessor for 1938 at a salary of $50, on a motion of Lynch and Bond.

Three applications were read for village constable, received from W. Wellman and Howard Killingbeck at a salary of $18 per month, and from Thomas Kirk at a salary of $15 per month. Iden Bond moved that Thomas Kirk be constable for 1938, but did not receive a seconder. Reeve Kelly voiced his opinion that Mr. Wellman had filled his position capably and that he should hold it until complaints were received. Stanley Stevenson said that he would favour Mr. Kirk's application because it was lower in salary. Mr. Wellman was called to the chambers from downtown and on his arrival refused $15 per month. W. McEachnie said he was not in favour of a change. Reeve Kelly vacated the chair and made a motion that W. Wellman be retained as constable at his usual salary of $18. He was seconded by Lynch with S. Stevenson in the chair.

F. Dodd as Fire Chief

Fred Dodd was re-appointed Fire Chief at his regular salary of $35 per year, with an extra dollar for each chimney fire he attends. J. C. Wilson was re-appointed secretary to the board of health on a motion of Lynch and Bond.

M. A. O'Shea was re-appointed solicitor at a retaining fee of $10. W. Boyle was re-appointed caretaker of the town hall at $100 per year. George Lynch will again be fire engineer for 1938 at $7 per month. On a motion of Lynch and Bond, Reeve Kelly and S. Stevenson will act on 1938 park board.

Wages for men hired by the village was left at their same rate, 25c per hour for a man and 40c per hour for man and team. The clerk was instructed to order six copies of the Municipal World. The treasurer's bond for $2,000 wil be renewed on a motion of Lynch and Bond.

Henry Scriver, rink manager, will receive a grant of $10 from the council for allowing the children free skating on a motion of Lynch and Bond.

Moved by McEachnie, seconded by Lynch, that any ratepayer be allowed the privilege of paying their taxes in advance and receive the interest.

J. C. Wilson applied for the municipality printing at a salary of $140, an increase of $40 over 1937. The contract showed a few increases in quantity and he claimed his costs had risen so that he thought his contract warranted an increase. It was moved by Lynch, seconded by Bond, that he get the printing at a salary of $125 per year. The motion carried.

Moved by Lynch, seconded by Stevenson, that Dr. MacDonald be appointed M.O.H. at a salary of $50 per year and that W. Wellman be sanitary inspector. The tax collector's time was extended to the next regular meeting.

Campbell Attends Motor Boat Show

Hugh Campbell, general manager of the Johnson Outboard Motor Company, is in New York attending the National Motor Boat Show, and will return on Friday. This is the show at which Peterboro and the district used to be represented by the Trent Waterways Association. Among those who assisted in the promotion of the tourist attractions of the Kawartha district were Fred L. Roy, who was in charge of color motion pictures displayed in transparent cases. These were recently salvaged and have come back to the Chamber of Commerce. The Association's work is believed to have been a great aid in giving publicity to the advantages of the summer playground of this district. It became incorporate in the Ontario government's exhibit in later years, and since then has been discontinued with the decline of the old Trent Waterways Association.

BRITAIN DOUBLES FIGHTING PLANES

LONDON, Jan. 12—(CP-Havas).—The air ministry announced today first-line strength of the Royal Air Force has been more than doubled under the rearmament program and now includes some of the speediest and most modern types of aircraft in the world.

The ministry gave no exact figures of the number of first-line craft now in service but merely stated that the nation already had "more than twice" the 580 aircraft available when the rearmament program was launched in 1935.

"In addition," the ministry said, "intermediate types with which some of the new squadrons were equipped in the first instance (1935), are now being replaced by new bombers and fighters as they are delivered from factories.

"A Hawker-Hurricane single-seater fighter is now in the course of delivery to the R.A.F. This aircraft is one of the fastest fighters in the world and it is being produced in large numbers to fill air ministry orders."

Toronto Air Force Numbers 162

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—(CP).— A volunteer air force with 22 officers and 140 airmen has blossomed in Toronto, and its leaders claim the city's air defences are as sound as any in Canada.

The group is known as the City of Toronto R.C.A.F. Squadron 110, and its members have been in training for the last five years.

The squadron has four planes in service and an air field of Trethewey Drive in York township, north-west of the city. Barracks and machine shops form part of the equipment.

W. A. Curtis, squadron leader, said his men are hand-picked, and all must have some technical training.

At Peak Of Career

OBITUARY

WILLIAM J. NORTHEY.
(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 12. — The funeral of the late William John Northey of Lakefield, whose death occurred here on Saturday, January 8, was held at 2 p.m., from his late residence on Bridge Street. The large number of persons who turned out to pay their last respects to Mr. Northey indicated the esteem in which he was held by residents of Lakefield and the district in which he had spent his life.

Born in Smith Township, on May 16, 1868, he was the eldest son of the late James R. Northey and Mary Ann Reid of Smith. The late Mr. Northey began farming for himself on the farm in Smith now occupied by W. J. Tedford. After a time he moved to Douro where he built the house and barn on the farm which is at present owned by Roger Maloney. In 1916 Mr. Northey moved with his wife to Sid Fairbairn's farm on the Ninth Line of Smith, where he lived until five years ago, when he retired and moved to the home in Lakefield from which he was buried.

On September 2, 1891, the late Mr. Northey married Emma Jane Sage, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sage of Smith, who survives.

Besides his widow, Mr. Northey is survived by eight sisters: Mrs. Silas Pearson (Mary) of Lakefield, Mrs. Daniel Hayward (Victoria) of Lakefield, Mrs. Wilbert Rosborough (Lily) of Smith, Mrs. Arthur Moore (Margaret) of Kenora, Mrs. Alfred Wakely (Estelle) of Toronto, Mrs. Orville Brown (Myrtle) of St. Catharines, Mrs. Henry Little (Pearl) of Hall's Glen, and Mrs. Vernal Harvey (Bella) of Smith; and one brother Robert of Smith; also three daughters, Mrs. Clarence Elliott (Lila), Mrs. Lorne McKee (Mabel), and Mrs. Archie Bulmer (Ella), all of Smith; and five sons Elmer, Stanley, Graydon, Sherman, and Kenneth, also of Smith, as well as 25 grandchildren.

Mr. Northey was predeceased by three sisters, the late Mrs. William Bulmer (Tillie), who was formerly of Lansing, Mich., the late Mrs. William Nugent (Ellen), formerly of Douro, and the former Hattie Northey of Lakefield. One brother, James R. Northey of Lakefield, and one daughter Verda, also predeceased Mr. Northey.

Deceased was a member of the Lakefield United Church during his life and was always a good church worker. At the time of his death he was an elder of the Lakefield United Church and a member of the Trustee Board of that organization.

Rev. G. F. Kelly, pastor of Lakefield United Church, conducted the funeral service. Interment was in Lakefield Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. George Davis, Ernie Harvey, Lorne McKee, and Wilbert Rosborough of Smith, Daniel Hayward of Lakefield, and Orville Brown of St. Catharines, Ont.

RICHARD BAMBER.
(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 12.—Richard Bamber passed away at his late residence in the 5th concession of the Township of Sidney, on Saturday, January 8. He had been ill for two weeks.

The late Mr. Bamber had reached the great age of 91 years. He was born in the Township of Murray, County of Northumberland, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bamber. For many years he was engaged in farming and retired thirty years ago. For some time he resided in Belleville and for the past sixteen years he made his home in the Township of Sidney. He was a member of the Foxboro United church.

He is survived by five sons, William H. Bamber of Stirling; Fred A. Bamber of Toronto; George V. Bamber of Sidney Township; Edward Ross Bamber of Seattle, Wash., and John C. Bamber of Seattle, Wash.; four brothers, George Bamber of Dartford, Ont.; Robert Bamber, David Bamber and Alfred Bamber, all of Trenton; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Sharpe, Stockdale, and Mrs. Emma Vandervoort, Trenton.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, January 10th. Interment was made in Elmwood Cemetery.

EMALINE (DES ISLET) BROWN.
(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 12.—After an illness of three months' duration, Mrs. Emaline (Des Islet) Brown, widow of Harrison Brown, passed away at the residence of her sister, Mrs. George A. Easton in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Sidney, on Sunday, January 9th.

The late Mrs. Brown, who was in her 75th year, was born in the Township of Thurlow, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mays. For the last forty years she made her home in the Township of Sidney and was well esteemed by all who knew her. In religion she was a member of Holloway United Church.

Surviving her are three sisters, Mrs. George A. Easton, Sidney Township; Mrs. W. A. Kemp, Sidney Township; Mrs. F. Mills, Belleville; two brothers, Mr. Frank Mays, Thurlow Township and Mr. William D. Mays, Washington, D.C.

MRS. MARGARET J. RYAN.

TWEED, Jan. 12.—The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Julia Ryan, widow of James Ryan, took place on Saturday morning, January 8th, from the residence of her son, Mr. Leo P. Ryan, Holloway, to St. James' Church, where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Father H. J. Farrel, who also said the committal service at the graveside in St. James' Cemetery.

FIXED CHARGES ON BUILDING PERMITS IS BEING PLANNED

North Monaghan council held its inaugural meeting at the Court House Monday morning when all the members took the declaration of office. In the afternoon the members made an inspecton of the township wood camp at Birdsall. On their return at 5.25 p.m. o'clock they passed a bylaw confirming the agreement with South Monaghan relating to the maintenance of the inter-township boundary road for a period of five years.

A special committee composed of Councillors Barnes and Archibald and the building inspector H. H. May was appointed to work out a plan in regard to fixing charges for building permits.

The assessment of Thomas G. Nice, Chamberlen Street west was reduced $50 and the taxes will be readjusted accordingly.

To Enlarge Store

Application of Sidney Barrock for a permit to enlarge his store at the corner of Lock St. and Braidwood Avenue, where he will carry on a fish and chip business, was ganted.

A bylaw was passed authorizing the council to borrow up to $30,000 until the 1938 taxes are paid.

The following accounts were passed: Relief $257.03 for December; relief for October, supplementary, $42.97; relief for November, supplementary, $38.20; election expenses $57; street lighting $90; printing $8.18; city of Peterborough, fire service, $50; special grants $17.50; wood sales $2; hospitalization, county of Peterborough, $994.30; schools $1,017.25; Dr. Caldwell's will fund Christmas cheer $13.54; miscellaneous sundries $5.75; salaries $15.

The clerk was authorized to buy a minute book, the revised statutes of Ontario and a supply of dog tags for 1938; also to advertise for an assessor, the salary to be $250 a year. The council will not invite applications from men who are not fully competent.

A special meeting will be held Monday January 24 at 7 p.m. to complete unfinished business.

2 Gunmen Take Lovers For Ride

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 12.—(CP)—A. R. Whitwell, 21, of Stoney Creek and a girl were held up by a pair of gunmen while parked in an automobile at Van Wagner's Beach early today. At the point of a revolver, they were held in submission while one of the robbers took over the wheel, and drove them on a tour of Hamilton.

The robbers finally stopped at a quiet spot outside the southern city limits. They took Whitwell's overcoat, hat, watch, and $1.70 cash, then ordered the couple out of the car. Once they had the car to themselves, however, they couldn't start it, so they ran away on foot.

REPORTING ON OATH

TORONTO, January 12—(CP).—A. E. Horton, Ontario Deputy Minister of Public Welfare, said to-day he would write Port Arthur, Ont., officials regarding his department's decision whether Al Cheeseman, north country pilot, was eligible to retain his seat as alderman in Port Arthur Council. Mr. Horton expected to send the latter to-day.

"It's a rather unusual case and we are looking up the law on it," Mr. Horton said. He added his decision would not be made public here.

Accident Victim

Caught in a roaring avalanche of snow as he was skiing down a mountainside, near Banff, Alta., John H. Bulyea (ABOVE), University of Alberta student, was swept to his death, while two companions narrowly escaped a similar death. The three youths were skiing on "Nursery Slope"—so named because it was considered one of the safest in the district—when they heard the snow rumbling down the mountain. Two of the skiers escaped, while Bulyea was trapped beneath the snow.

DOCTOR GOES FREE

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12—(CP)—No charge will be laid against Dr. James Grieve of the Ontario Hospital, Whitby, driver of a car which fatally injured Andrew Morrow, 26-year-old employee of the Medway Farm, on Christmas night.

A coroner's jury last night decided that Dr. Grieve "did all possible to avoid the accident, under the circumstances."

'ROCK-A-BYE BABY' WANING ROYALTIES KEEPING COMPOSER

BOSTON, an. 12 (AP).—Waning royalties from the famous old lullaby, "Rock-a-Bye Baby, on the Tree Top," still eke out a bare living here for Mrs. Effie I. Canning Carlton, its author and composer.

Aged Mrs. Carlton—she wouldn't say how old she is—was found yesterday living in quiet obscurity in the Back Bay, alone in the world since her husband died in 1922.

With a warm smile making a dimple of her face, Mrs. Carlton told how she came to write the lullaby 62 years ago.

"I was sitting on the porch of our summer home in Winthrop," she related, "when a guest asked me to keep an eye on her baby boy beside me in a hammock.

"When he began to squirm around, I rocked the hammock gently and the words of the Mother Goose rhyme, from which the first part of my song was taken, came into my mind.

"As I pushed, I recited the words and suddenly they seemed to sing themselves. You know, I just couldn't get that tune out of my head, and one day on a train I took out a piece of paper and a pencil and wrote the three verses."

STIRLING HOME BURNS

BELLEVILLE, Ont, Jan. 12 (C. P.). — Fire of unknown origin today destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dainard, Stirling. Firemen suffered intensely from freezing temperatures. The occupants of the home were absent at the outbreak and "Trixie," the family dog, and a cat perished in the flames. Loss was estimated at $2,000, fully covered by insurance.

97 YEARS OLD— AND FIT AS A FIDDLE

Takes Kruschen Every Morning

"I feel in duty bound," writes Mrs. A.J.W., "to express my gratitude for the marvellous results my father has obtained from Kruschen Salts. He is ninety-two years old, and is as fit as a fiddle. He can get around easily, and even run up and down stairs. His friends marvel why it is he is always alert, and never feels listless. He always tells them the reason: 'my regular daily dose of Kruschen Salts in my first cup of tea every morning'."—(Mrs.) A.J.W.

Most people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital need of health—the need for internal cleanliness.

Eventually they start the healthy Kruschen habit. Then, probably for the first time in their lives, they start getting rid every day of all waste matter from the system. Instead of being clogged the intestines are clean and clear. Instead of liver and kidneys being sluggish they are active and efficient. New, healthy blood goes coursing through the veins—carrying health and strength and energy to every part of the body.—advt.

HASTINGS

Mr. Eden Bond, Sr., held the contract for caretaker of Hastings Trinity United Church at the time of the fire and not George Bond as previously stated.

Winter's 3rd Storm Leaves Drifts Piled Everywhere

Plows Kept Going With West Ontario Hardest Hit; Orillia Blizzard Brings Level to Three-Foot Mark

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—(CP)—The weather prophets who predicted last autumn the 1937-38 winter would be mild and with little snow, judging by the state of the fur on a beaver's back, the condition of the bark on trees and other stoutly-upheld methods of determining forthcoming atmospheric conditions, appeared to be in hiding today.

They apparently were keeping well out of the way of grumbling thousands of snow-shovelling Ontario residents, digging out from under the third severe blizzard of the winter. Yesterday's storm swept over almost every section of the province and in its wake left snowdrifts several feet high in places.

Northwestern Ontario first felt the force of the driving, wet snow that quickly moved over Northern Ontario and down into the Niagara peninsula and the western section of the province then drove, with diminishing velocity, as far east as Kingston and Belleville. In most sections, the snowfall ceased late last night.

Several inches of snow fell upon Toronto, impeding traffic, before the storm let up late in the day. London, Stratford, Preston, almost every part of Western Ontario and the peninsula were hard hit, but indications were the blizzard was not as severe as those which struck New Year's eve and in mid-December.

Most reporting points said highway traffic was not seriously delayed by snow-covered roads and no word of marooned motorists was received. Highway snowploughs worked throughout the day and night in all affected districts to keep roads open. Only a few accidents were directly attributable to the weather.

Colder in East.

DEBRIS INDICATES ALL 7 CREW DIED IN CLIPPER BLAST

PAGO PAGO, Samoa, Jan. 13 (AP)—Clear indication the giant Samoan clipper and her crew of seven were destroyed in a fire and explosion was brought to Pago Pago today by the minesweeper Avocet.

The United States naval craft returned to port with charred fragments of the flying boat after an all-day search of the Oil Slick 12 miles off Pago Pago, where the all-metal Transpacific plane crashed in flames Tuesday.

Every item recovered showed signs of an internal explosion. All were charred, burned and covered with aluminum powder.

Because of the condition of the fragments, no hope was held of recovering the bodies of Captain Edwin C. Musick, 43-year-old Pan-American Airways ace, and his crew of six from the shark-infested waters. The clipper carried no passengers.

Think Gas Took Fire.

As the tragedy was reconstructed, gasoline being dumped was vaporized and ignited, presumably by a hot exhaust pipe. Whether an explosion occurred in midair or after the 21-ton all-metal flying boat hit the water was not hazarded by authorities here.

If the story told by natives is true, the plane, or gasoline and oil from its tanks, must have burned on the surface of the water. They told of seeing a large volume of black smoke rise from the water at the time the plane disappeared.

It was the only accident in the nearly three years Pan-American craft have been flying the Pacific, but it was the third major tragedy in American aviation within a week.

Ten were killed when a northwest airlines plane, piloted by the veteran Nick Namer, crashed at Bozeman, Mont., Monday. Last week six naval fliers perished when their bombing plane plunged into the sea off Southern California.

HOUSEWIVES AIM TO UPSET TORONTO

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP).—Meeting of the Toronto Housewives' Association in Ward 7 last night ended in heated words and the resignation of one member, while a similar meeting in Ward 4 brought the prediction, "We're going to turn this city and this country upside down."

Two women, faces inches apart, bellowed defiance as the Ward 7 meeting broke up. "I'll never come back here again," said one of the women. "We don't want you," was the reply, with intermingled cries of "Shut up" and "Sit down."

Mrs. Bertha Lamb, association organizer, outlined a plan to sell milk for 10 cents a quart to members instead of the usual 13 cents. The plan was submitted by J. R. Cadwell, association legal adviser.

"We're forming an association to watch all commodities," Mrs. S. Durno, Ward 4 association president, said. "Butter's up today. "We'll have to get right after that. We've been watching the other commodities and they haven't gone up since we formed this association."

"I think, ladies, that before we're through we're going to turn this city and this country upside down," Mrs. H. Luckok, Ward 5 association president, predicted in a short address.

DANGEROUS CHAIN ACT

BRANTFORD, Ont., Jan. 13.—(CP)—Police are hunting for the person whose bizarre sense of humor led him to stretch a chain across the roadway under the Niagara street subway. Arthur Mudford of Port Rowan drove his motor car against the chain, breaking the headlights and windshield.

Flying Boat Lost

First Pacific clipper aeroplane to encounter difficulties in more than two years of ocean flying, the giant Pan-American flying boat, Samoan was destroyed while on a flight from Honolulu to New Zealand. Captain Edwin C. Musick (lower RIGHT), commander of the clipper, radioed they were dumping gasoline and preparing to land. The flying boat was carrying a crew of seven men but no passengers. In the upper photograph is the giant flying boat. The map shows the area southwest of Pago Pago and a little west of Samoa from where the clipper last reported.

Mayor Says Former Lost City's Confidence—4 Of 30 Unwanted By Latter Town

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Jan. 13 (C.P.). — Formal notice to members of Sault Police Force asking them to tender resignations, effective at the end of February, was contained in a bulletin placed on the notice board in the police locker room. There is some hesitation among police as to complying with the request since some members argue it would be recognition they have been guilty of failure in duty, and some may refuse to resign.

Demand for resignations was made on Tuesday after Mayor W. J. McMeekin declared: "The Police Department of the Sault has lost the confidence of the people."

30 ASKED TO RESIGN.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Jan. 13 (C.P.). — Collingwood's municipal employees went quietly about their work to-day, apparently prepared to submit their resignations to the Town Clerk without protest before January 21.

Most of the more than 30 involved—and probably all of them—will apply for reappointment before January 20.

Sends Bill For $15 Gets $9,000,015

Bridgeville, Del., Jan. 13 (AP)

W. B. Truitt expected a cheque from a New York State firm for some Christmas holly. It came, drawn on a New York City bank for $9,000,015.

Truitt's bill was for $15.

Truitt wrote the sender of the cheque, advising him of the "slight error," but asked if he could keep the cheque as a souvenir.

"I like to hear my friends gasp" he explained.

COWBOYS 'CHASED' BACK TO ALBERTA

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 13 (C.P.).—Two roaming cow-hands with a talent for the guitar and a weakness for feminine company are on their way back home to Jasper, Alberta, after a week in jail here on vagrancy charges.

The pair, Lionel Ranger, 21, and Sam Montgomery, 22, were arrested together with Beatrice Larsh, Chatham, and a 15-year-old girl near the Canadian National Railway tracks in West Chatham on January 5, and held in jail since that time.

Asked what they did, the pair, who were colorfully dressed in cowboy shirts, with brilliant bandana handkerchief around their necks, and sombreros for their heads, told the court, "We play guitar and sing." They have obtained radio engagements.

"There is no objection to your wandering about as minstrels as long as you don't attempt to get young girls into difficulties as you were doing in this case," said Magistrate Arnold.

The juvenile girl was allowed to go home in custody of her father, Beatrice Larsh, who pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge and an additional charge laid to-day by her mother of being incorrigible, was remanded in custody a week for sentence.

CARS HIT HEAD-ON WOMAN IS KILLED DRIVER ARRESTED

HAMILTON, Jan. 13. — (CP) — Mrs. Janet Patterson, 58, wife of Alex Patterson, proprietor of the St. Julian Hotel, Brantford, died in hospital here last night of injuries suffered when the auto in which she was riding collided almost head-on with another near Aldershot about 7 p.m. yesterday.

The driver of her car, Stephen Urchak, (36 Bruce street, Brantford), was charged with reckless driving after investigation by Reginald Bass and A. R. Smith, highway traffic officers. Urchak was placed in central police station.

Mrs. Patterson and her husband, in addition to operating the hotel, were well known as dog breeders, and their Russian wolfhounds had won ribbons at many shows.

The woman was riding in the front seat with the driver, and seated in the back was Thomas Ivory, 18, also of Brantford. The two men were not seriously hurt. Mrs. Patterson received severe internal injuries, a fractured left leg and fratured ribs. She was rushed to hospital in a passing automobile, and died an hour after admittance.

On Four-Lane Road.

The accident occurred on the four-lane highway about one mile west of Aldershot. Mr. Urchak and his two passengers were proceeding west, toward Hamilton. A car driven by Lewis Ashby, 143 Arkeell avenue, Hamilton, was travelling east towards Toronto, and the two machines collided on a curve. Police claim that the Brantford auto had swung wide.

Although the car struck with considerable force, none was hurled out on to the road. Mr. Ashby, who was travelling alone, was only slightly hurt, and the men say that Mrs. Patterson was the most seriously injured

Mr. Urchak is an employee of the Brantford hotel, managed by Mrs. Patterson's husband, and was acting as the party's chauffeur.

Crown Witnesses Recall Held Without Precedent

TORONTO, Jan. 13—(CP)—Justices of the Ontario Court of Appeals and the crown counsel, C. P. Hope, K.C., indicated today that they favor a new trial for John A. Comba, 26, of Renfrew, Ont., under sentence to be hanged Feb. 10 for the murder of 13-year-old Ethel Hedderwick last August.

The indications — and in some instances definite statements—came during a hearing of argument for a new trial presented by Comba's counsel, R. H. Greer, K.C. of Toronto, and James A. Maloney of Renfrew.

Main point on which the appeal for a new trial was based concerned the action of the trial judge, Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, in permitting two crown witnesses to be recalled and questioned by the jury after the case was closed, and at the same time refusing the defence the right to cross-examine them.

Mr. Hope, the crown counsel, said for that reason alone he was prepared to agree that Comba should have a new trial.

Mr. Justice W. T. Henderson said that, speaking for himself, he favored another trial.

Mr. Justice R. G. Fisher, in reply to a question about a new trial from Mr. Greer, said "We're pretty strong that way now."

Chief Justice Latchford remarked "I am strongly impressed with the point you make with regard to the duty of the trial judge at this point."

Unprecedented Action.

Mr. Greer said he was unable to find a precedent in legal annals for the action of Mr. Justice Chevrier in permitting Crown witnesses to be recalled and questioned by the jury after the case had been closed. He said that as a result of the questioning by the foreman of the jury new evidence was given and the defence counsel, Mr. Maloney, was deprived of the right to cross-examine.

The two witnesses called were Dr. E. R. Frankish, Ontario Govern-

Find Tan And Oils Spoil Sun Baths

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 13.—(AP).—A conclusion that both oils to prevent sunburn and deep coats of tan, destroyed the chief known advantages of sun-bathing was reached to-day by a research investigator at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Special protective oils, said Professor Robert S. Harris, keep the body from absorbing the rays which have the most value. A good coat of tan, he added, does the same thing.

Woman Dies In Car During Drive To "Sober Her Up"

Two Men Bring Body to Toronto Police Station As Climax to Visits in Beer Parlor and Tavern

TORONTO, Jan. 13—(CP)—Two young men brought the body of a 50-year-old woman to a Toronto east-end police station early today and told police she died while they were driving her about the city to "sober her up."

The woman's body was identified several hours later as that of Susan Orr. The men gave their names as Alec Crawford, 30, and Thomas Hines, 30, both of East York township.

Crawford and Hines said they met the woman in a hotel beer parlor and later drove to another tavern where they drank more beer. They said she appeared drunk and they put her in the back seat of the car and drove more than an hour.

ISLANDERS FIGHT FLOES FOUR MILES

MIDLAND, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP).—A hazardous four-mile row through drifting ice floes lay behind George Lumsden today as he waited for Georgian Bay to freeze over so he could return to Christian Island.

Lumsden, the Christian Island Indian agent, made the trip from Christian Island to Cedar Point through a drifting ice-field that threatened to crush his frail craft last Saturday. He was accompanied by two Indians and his two sons, Arthur, 14, and George, 16.

The trip was made necessary because Lumsden was in need of supplies and because his sons had to return to school in Midland after Christmas holidays. Normally a half-hour row, the trip took three hours to complete.

During the row, the five Christian Islanders encountered an ice-floe 1½ miles wide. They broke their way through that with poles. As they neared their destination, they came upon a slushy ice formation which forced them to fight for 30 minutes to complete the last 40 feet of the trip.

LONDON DOCTORS' CASES ADJOURNED

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13 (C.P.).—Illegal operation charges against two London doctors and a widow were adjourned in court to-day because it was feared evidence if heard now might prejudice the trials of three other Londoners charged with murder.

The three charged with performing illegal operations are Dr. J. E. McGillicuddy, Dr. C. A. Cline, Jr., and Mrs. Rachel Stock. Their hearings were adjourned until February 15.

The three charged with murder are Dr. C. A. Cline, Sr., 70-year-old London physician, and Mr. and Mrs. Lauchlin J. Robertson.

They are in jail awaiting trial at the end of the month on charges of murdering Miss Mary Wilkinson, London school teacher, whose body was found in the Thames River last fall. The Crown claims she was murdered after being injured during an illegal operation.

The Robertsons were to have been called as witnesses at the illegal operation charges scheduled for preliminary hearing before Magistrate Donald Menzies. They were brought from jail to the City Police Building under guard, but were returned to the cells when the case was adjourned.

Dr. McGillicuddy was to have been given preliminary hearing on four charges of illegal operation, Dr Cline, Jr., on three charges, and Mrs. Rachel Stock on two charges. They will be arraigned after the Assizes which open on January 24, when the murder charges will be heard.

8 Dead, 2 Missing In Mine Blast

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13 (AP). — Thrilling stories of heroism and tragedy were related today by the 25 survivors of a mine blast 17 miles east of here, in which eight were known dead and two others missing and believed to be dead.

Weary rescue crews with masks still were working their way slowly along the 3,600-foot passageway which was partly wrecked shortly before noon yesterday, seeking the missing two. Three bodies were brought out early today.

C. W. Gibbs, general manager of the mine, said there was no hope the missing ones had escaped both the explosion and the deadly gas which formed quickly. The mine was the scene of a disastrous explosion 34 years ago, when 185 lives were lo-

STIFF PENALTIES

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 13.—(CP).—If you should happen to complain of the strict enforcement of traffic regulation in Hamilton, as like as not, Chief Constable Ernest K. Goodman will show you a newspaper clipping a friend sent him from London, Eng.

The clipping is a letter from the Times in which a motorist complained that he left his car standing at the curb in London for 45 minutes and was fined $50. Minimum fine is $25, and for a second offence the penalty is $75, according to the clipping.

Sarnia Keno Game Held Illegal, Fine Costs Priest $30

Refuses Jail Food Suspects Poison

Shelburne, N.S., Jan. 13 (CP)

REFUSING to eat or talk, Ennis Ross, 24-year-old fisherman charged with murdering Warren Brown last week, was placed in solitary confinement today.

Ross, brooding since Brown died two days after he received some 10 shotgun pellets in the abdomen, refused to touch food yesterday and today. He refused to answer questions and spoke only long enough to declare: "They are trying to poison me."

Jail officials said he would be kept in solitary confinement until his preliminary hearing January 18.

Magistrate Says Advertising Event As Bazaar Is "Shift To Evade Law"

SARNIA, Ont., Jan. 13.—(CP).—Handing down a written judgment in court to-day, Magistrate C. S. Woodrow ruled that games of keno, such as played at bazaars for charitable purposes, were illegal. He convicted the Rev. Thomas J. McCarthy, rector of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church of a charge of conducting a lottery in the Parish Hall on Jan. 3. A fine of $10 and costs amounting to $30.35 was imposed.

The magistrate found that the bazaar advertised and held in the auditorium of the Parish Hall was not genuine and was held mainly for the purpose of operating keno games during the evening.

The keno game he ruled was illegal and the advertising of the event as a bazaar was "a shift to evade the law."

The charge was laid by Chief of Police W. J. Lannin and was looked upon as a test case.

Poolroom Loafers Picket In Vain

The strikers demand "respect from the management, air-conditioning, floor swept twice a day, floor mopped twice a week, new chairs, levelling of pool tables, and a new radio for the patrons' benefit."

The strikers picketed the pool room for more than an hour yesterday, but Owner Gazeets is not anxious to cooperate. "If youse guys wanta play pool, that's O.K. If not, stay out," is all he will say.

Father, Daughter Meet And Fall In Love, Murder – Suicide Ends It

Scottdale, Pa., Jan. 13 (AP)

DEATH — recorded today as murder and suicide — ended the strange love of a father and daughter who met here only recently then learned their relationship.

The girl's mother, Pearl Hollis, found the bodies yesterday, side by side and both shot in the head, in the living room of her home. They were 47-year-old Nelson Meese and his 17-year-old daughter, Nellie

The coroner said Meese had not seen his daughter since her birth. He said two letters found in the girl's purse led him to this conclusion. One, dated December 31, said in part:

"You are the only person I ever saw that I really liked and you turn out to be my daughter."

The coroner said Nellie was born to Meese and Pearl Hollis. The girl lived with her mother. She was then unwed, he said, but later married a man named Hollis.

England Wins Muskrat War Pests Finally Wiped Out

Blamed For Undermining Riverbanks, Causing Floods, 2,000,000 Destroyed Since 1932

LONDON, Jan. 13 (CP) — The ministry of agriculture has emerged victorious from its war on the muskrat and report that, apart from one stray specimen found in Cheshire in 1936, no more of the pests have been discovered. The remaining two trappers employed by the department have been discharged.

Thus "finis" is written to a campaign that cost this country thousands of pounds and involved special legislation in parliament.

It was a Bohemian nobleman's whim that introduced the muskrat (or musquash) to Europe and so began a trail of destruction that cost millions to remedy. In 1905 this nobleman imported a dozen of the creatures into Prague from Alaska so they might breed in the waterways of his estate.

They spread everywhere, swam the Danube and invaded Germany and Switzerland. A short time ago it was estimated that 100,000,000 were in central Europe.

The habit of the rodent is to undermine riverbanks, causing floods, and railways. It also destroys corn and fish.

In 1927 muskrats first reached England, being imported to set up musquash fur farms, which were soon to number 200. Despite every precaution—they were usually kept in wire pens sunk in marshes—a few escaped. The damage was done.

THOSE trousers, Benny Skrovanek said today, were worth it. When fire broke out in his home, Benny left in such a hurry he forgot his pants. Today he hacked away the ice-covered debris and recovered the trousers — along with the $160 in the pockets.

SOW SAVES HER LIFE

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13—(CP)—Four huge pigs went to market—on the back of Stan Merrill's truck. One should have stayed home. For on the way from Delaware township to London something happened. Arriving at the market Merrill looked in the back of the truck and discovered that his quartet had increased to 24. One sow had given birth to a litter of 20 pigs.

Cowboy Lets Hair Down To Warm Neck But Braids It For Town Wear

Idaho Falls, Idaho, Jan. 13 (AP)

COWBOY Frank Keefer let his hair down—literally — today and confided a long, shaggy mane is just the thing for keeping the neck warm.

Keefer, 40-year-old Willow Creek rancher explained:

"The ranch is just too durned far from town, so four years ago I took to letting my hair grow. It's a foot and a half long now.

"In the winter I comb it down over my ears and neck, for warmth. For 'town wear' I braid the long ends."

King And Mackenzie Deny Charges As Houde Enlarges On Secret Arms Pact

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (C.P.). — With references to debate at the last House of Commons session, Camillien Houde got down to cases to-day in declarations that have marked his first Federal election campaign.

And last night, while the stormy petrel of Quebec politics was reiterating and enlarging on charges that "secret memoranda" from the British War Office and the British Admiralty have suggested that Canada be ready to send men in case of war, Hon. Fernand Rinfret was telling another audience that the St. Henry by-election was a fight between the Liberal Party candidate and Mr. Houde, running on an anti-armaments platform.

Mr. Rinfret, Dominion Secretary of State, told a meeting in the Montreal riding that the only Liberal candidate was Ald. J. A. Bonnier, though three others have styled themselves as Liberals of one kind or another for next Monday's voting.

Speaking at two gatherings that cheered his candidature, Mr. Houde said there were two "secret memor-

WESTERN CHEESE OUTPUT UP 9 P.C.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP). — Western Ontario's 84 factories produced 17,383,139 pounds of cheese in 1937, an increase of 1,212,107 pounds or nine per cent. over the previous year, Frank Herns, chief dairy instructor for Western Ontario, revealed in tabling his 31st annual report at the annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario today.

The average price per pound was 13.6 cents last year, compared with 12.55 in 1936, Mr. Herns reported. Average price in 1932 was 9.25 cents.

The sec-treas., of the association said 26 factories now have mechanical refrigeration and five ice-cool curing rooms. About 65 per cent. of the second-grade cheese in July and August last year came from factories having non temperature control in their curing rooms, he said.

Value of improvements by factories in the western part of the province totalled $52,423.

Last year, 191,255 boxes of cheese were graded of which 97.75 per cent. was first grade. The Millbank Factory, Perth County, with 99.4 per cent. No. 1 grade had the highest average score. German Union, Oxford County, with 99.7 per cent., was second.

In 1937 the standing of counties for highest percentages of first grade cheese was Huron, Oxford, Middlesex, Bruce, Brant, Elgin, Perth, Waterloo and Norfolk in that order named.

Stock Being Held As Prices Break

CHICAGO, Jan. 13—(AP). — The lowest livestock prices in two years and an unusually favorable corn feeding ratio were expected to operate against material expansion in meat animal market receipts in the near future, stock yard traders said today.

Abundance of feed, as a result of the big crops of 1937, at comparatively cheap prices in relation to livestock probably would encourage farmers to hold meat animals, particularly hogs, for fattening, they said.

Traders said one of the sharpest price breaks on record in the livestock market apparently had come to a halt.

FEWER CONSULS

LONDON, Jan. 13 (CP Cable). — The Soviet Union to-day notified the British Government that in future it intends to apply the principle of parity to consular offices.

The meaning of this is that Russia will only permit any country to retain so many consuls within the Soviet Union as that country is willing to grant Russia.

Britain now has consular offices in Moscow and Leningrad. Russia has only one consular office in Great Britain; that is in London. Arrangements are under way to close down the British consul's office in Leningrad.

1,143 LOYAL REDS OPEN PARLIAMENT

MOSCOW, Jan. 13—(AP)—Deputies wearing Red Army uniforms or the bright holiday garb of Soviet Russia's many nationalities met in the Kremlin to-day for the opening of the new Red Parliament.

The 1,142 men and women of undisputed loyalty to Joseph Stalin, Russia's strong man, brought instructions from home to tell Stalin that "all his counsel and all his advice we deem to be law."

They included Red Army commanders, provincial chiefs of the Secret Police, milkmaids, tractor operators and factory hands, all chosen at elections to the Soviet of the Union and the Soviet of Nationalities on December 12.

Some of the Georgians, Armenians and representatives of a score of other nationalities making up the two-chambered Parliament left home by dog sleds or camels and saw railroads and cities for the first time on their trips to Moscow.

The main question as Parliament opened was whether Stalin, himself one of the deputies, would assume power openly as chairman of the new Soviet Presidium — the group which will exercise parliamentary powers when the chambers are not in session—or continue wielding power as Secretary-General of the Communist Party.

SECRECY CLOAKS HEPBURN PARLEY WITH DUPLESSIS

MONTREAL, Jan. 13—(CP).—The upshot of two days of newsprint talk between the premiers of Ontario and Quebec was cloaked in silence today.

Only Hon. Mitchell Hepburn and Hon. Maurice Duplessis, and their lieutenants who sat in on the conference, knew what had gone on behind locked doors up to Tuesday.

About all the government chiefs let be known of their second parley in the last few weeks was that it was about the newsprint industry's problems in the neighbor provinces. Neither would say a word save for the Quebec premier's reiteration of a previous declaration that "it is only a matter of an alliance to prevent a raid on Confederation."

But while the conference was still on yesterday, Duplessis stepped momentarily out of the role of conferee to announce Quebec's willingness to co-operate in another direction besides Ontario. He made public a fortnight-old letter in which he told Premier A. A. Dysart of New Brunswick:

"I have often declared that the province of Quebec would be happy to co-operate with New Brunswick in any matter of mutual interest to both our provinces."

The letter was written about a week after the head of Quebec's union nationale government had made the assertion that he "hoped" the "economic agreement" between Quebec and Ontario might be extended to include the Maritime provinces. Such an alliance, to "guard provincial autonomy," would be "desirable," he said at the time.

Written December 28.

The Duplessis letter to Premier Dysart was written on December 28, 15 days after the Liberal New Brunswick Premier had written for his opinion on possible tariff changes among Canada, Great Britain, and the United States.

Dysart wondered if Duplessis would consider a freer entry of Canadian fish, apples and potatoes to the United States market a "satisfactory quid pro quo" for lowering the British preference on lumber in favor of the U.S. He would "appreciate" any comment on "the items enumerated and others which may be of mutual interest."

The Quebec Premier said he could not voice an opinion because of lack of essential information, but he added his Government would be glad to confer with New Brunswick representatives on problems of interest to both at any convenient time and place.

SUDBURY TO BAN SLOT MACHINES

SUDBURY, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP).—Sudbury City Council has decided that no longer will slot machines be permitted to operate here with its tacit approval.

The council last night voted to repeal a section of the city's licensing by-law by which operation of the machines was permissible.

Revenue of $2,280 was derived in 1937 from slot-machine licenses under which a fee of $1,500 is charged for the first machine and $20 on each succeeding machine. Each owner or operator may operate a maximum of 40 machines.

The action was taken after Mayor John Rudd termed the machines "one-armed bandits." And said he might order their immediate removal.

Truck And Car In Collision

While driving north on George Street on Wednesday, Raymond Bacon, 69 Hunter Street, alleges in a police report that his car was damaged when a truck emerging from the laneway immediately south of the C.D.S. store collided with his automobile. Damage was done to the left rear door and fender of the Bacon car. It was claimed that after being involved in collision with the Bacon automobile the truck skidded into another car owned by Frank Hughes, 535 Downie Street, which was parked outside the Barrie Building. William McNutt, Park Street and Howden Avenue, was described in the report as owner of the truck, while the driver was stated to be George Miles of the same address. While he was trying out a used car belonging to Hood & Cumming with a view of purchasing it, Edward Hele, 236 King Street, skidded into the rear of a Peterborough Bus Lines vehicle on Monaghan Road, near Homewood Avenue. He attributed the accident to the slippery surface of the roadway and reported damage estimated at forty-four dollars to the radiator grill and front fender of the car he was driving.

KILLED IN SKID

ALEXANDRIA, Ont., Jan. 13. — (CP).— Hyman Poslums, of Montreal, commercial traveller, was killed to-day when an automobile he was driving skidded on the Montreal-Toronto highway near here and crashed into the rear end of a highway patrol truck. Sam Blant, passenger in Poslum's car, was uninjured.

FOUR MISSING IN BLAST

PITTSBURG, Jan. 13—(AP). — Four men were reported missing to-day in an explosion in the Harwick mine of the Harwick Coal and Coke Company near Pittsburgh.

The mine was not operating, but the chief clerk of the United States Bureau of Mines said the company reported about 35 men were repairing and cleaning the mine.

Star Of All Rubies

Miss Georgine Mastin, of the American Museum of Natural History, is holding for your inspection the Edith Haggin de Long star ruby, the finest and largest gem of its kind known to exist in the world, now on exhibition at the Morgan Hall of gems in the museum. The ruby was presented to the museum by Mrs. George Bowen de Long of New York, in whose honor the gem has been named. Weighing more than 100 carats, the stone is about one and one-half inches long and one inch wide.

CANADIAN TROOPS FAMED IN SPAIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(CP).—In the space of 3 months the Mackenzie-Papineau Canadian battalion has made a reputation as an outstanding unit of the Spanish Government's forces, Bob Thompson, its young former commander, said here today.

Thompson, an American, who is a veteran of the Spanish Civil War at 22½ was at the head of the "Mac-Pape" when they received their baptismal fire at Fuentes De Ebro, on the Aragon front, October 13. He left them in rest billets December 12, just before they received orders to move up to the Teruel sector, now the key salient.

The Canadians battled their way forward more than half a mile, the greatest advance of any participating tecops at Fuentes, he said, to storm heights commanding insurgent entrenchments along the Ebro River.

"The action was necessary to smash Fascist positions on the high ground along the Ebro, which threatened Quinto," he explained. "The attack was over rolling country, gashed with deep ravines, upon trenches protected by wire entanglements. Artillery barrages and airplane bombardments prepared the way, and the troops went over behind tanks which effectually demolished the wire."

Charge Wins The Day

Their advance, covered first by the battalion's machine-gun company, led by Nillo Makela of Vancouver, a young Finn, and later by their own rifle fire, captured heights commanding the enemy positions. Many insurgent counter-attacks were hurled back, Thompson said.

Edward Cecil-Smith, Toronto newspaperman, who took over the command of the Canadians from Thompson in December, is a veteran of the Brunete action on the Madrid front, where he was severely wounded.

Thompson said the Spanish Government of Premier Juan Negrin, which took office in May, had energized the conduct of the war and was rapidly transforming the army into an offensive weapon. The government now definitely has the upper hand in the air, he said.

Campbellford Y.P. Plan Sleigh Ride

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13. — Plans were made for a sleighing party to be held on Monday next in place of the regular meeting according to a report of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Monday last. It was requested that each of the girls should bring a can of vegetable soup and each of the boys a package of salted biscuits. Mrs. M. McFarlane presided over the meeting which was opened with the customary devotional exercises.

The program was arranged by Miss Helen McGee; reading by Miss Merle Black; duet by Misses Helen Barnumn and Ruth McGee. The meeting was closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

No Highway Accidents Since Christmas Eve

PROVINCIAL Traffic Officer Lloyd A. McClure informed The Examiner today that he has not been called to an accident since Christmas Eve when a motor transport slid into the ditch near Bewdley. He remarked that it was a long time to have the extensive beat for which he is responsible free from accidents. The officer's patrol extends from Fowler's Corners on Highway 7 to Welcome at the junction of Highway No. 28 and 2. Asked if he could attribute the favourable condition to the fact that motorists are taking to heart the warnings issued by the Ontario Department of Highways, Constable McClure commented, "I don't know. I hope that is the reason though".

Mr. Greer further alleged that members of the jury read newspaper accounts of the case while the trial was in progress, and that they communicated with persons outside Pembroke by telephone.

The body of Ethel Hedderwick, pretty daughter of a Renfrew mill worker, was found in a clearing about a mile and a half from her home early last August. Examination disclosed that she had been criminally assaulted.

Counsel for the condemned man obtained the permission of the court to amend the appeal notice to include in the application a contention that on the facts of the whole Comba should have been acquitted.

Asks Counsel To Continue

After it had been indicated by the court that a new trial at least was likely, Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton said that Mr. Greer should go on with his review of the case because it was the duty of the court of appeals to prevent the necessity of a new trial if possible, Mr. Greer said the case against Comba was entirely circumstantial. He said the chain of circumstantial evidence was broken by testimony given at the trial in Pembroke. For instance, one witness said he saw Comba on the day of the trial and he was wearing grey trousers. Another witness testified that she had seen a pair of blue trousers freshly washed hanging from the line in the yard of Comba's home the day after the crime. A textile expert testified that the strands of fabric clutched in the hand of the dead girl was not the same as that in either case mentioned. Tests showed that there were no bloodstains on either pair of trousers.

PICK FRANCOEUR TO MOVE REPLY

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 (CP).—J. N. Francoeur, who won the Lotbiniere by-election for the Liberal Party on December 27, will move the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne at the opening of Parliament, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night. R. M. Warren, Liberal member for Renfrew North, will be seconder.

Mr. Francoeur has a long political experience, and while he is new to the House of Commons, he was a member of the Quebec Legislature almost continuously from 1908 until defeated in the general elections of 1936. He was for a long time Speaker of the House, and for a considerable period Minister of Public Works.

Mr. Warren was the successful candidate in a by-election held April 5 last to fill the vacancy created by the death of Dr. Matthew McKay. Mr. Francoeur won the seat vacated by the death of J. A. Verville.

Cause Of Convent Fire, Secret

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 13 —(CP).—Cause of fire at Loretto Convent has been established by Inspector D. H. Craig of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department. He would not reveal his findings until an official report is made to the fire marshal, but he declared the fire was not caused by an over-heated furnace and was not of incendiary origin.

Fire underwriters' adjustors are examining the debris in an effort to determine the damage approximately $350,000.

Majority of the day pupils at the Academy have been transferred to Niagara Falls and Stamford Collegiates and St. Patrick's Separate School, while boarders have been taken to Loretto Abbeys at Toronto and Hamilton.

FALL SAVES THREE LIVES

KITCHENER, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP). —Shirley Barth, aged nine, probably saved three lives when she fell out of bed at her home early to-day.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Alarming moisture conditions and dust storms in United States Winter wheat belt sparked a buying rally on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Wheat futures recovered early one-cent losses and moved more than two cents above the previous close. Final quotations were 1 to 1¾, May $1.27¾, July $1.19¾ to ¾ and October $1.02¾.

Earlier light selling caused futures to touch the low points shortly after the opening. However, the market picked up when Chicago moved ahead on reliable reports that stated moisture conditions in Kansas were alarming. Moisture also was said to be needed in a large section of Oklahoma. Early reports did not mention extent of dust storms.

STOCK WINTERING WELL IN EASTERN ONTARIO SECTIONS

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP).—Eastern Ontario farmers have reported above-average housing of stock according to a crop report issued today by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Rough feed was available in good quantities and the farmers believed the stock would winter well. Hog prices in Lennox and Addington County held steady around 8½ cents a pound, considered low when compared to the cost of feed.

In Central Ontario winter crops were reported in favorable condition as the ground was well-covered with snow and there was little frost in the ground. Buyers for new milkers and springers in Prince Edward County have been active and two carloads were shipped to the United States in the last two weeks. Hog prices were consitiered low and the apple market dull.

Hay Low in North.

Hay shipments were reported from almost all parts of Ontario, and only in Northern Ontario was the supply of feed noticeably low.

From Sudbury came a report that live stock was in poor condition due to shordtage of feed and large quantities of straw was being used in place of hay. Farmers in the western section of the Sudbury district continued to import hay. Potatoes there were moving slowly and farmers reported losses in storage.

Southern and Western Ontario farmers shipped hay in considerable quantities last week, the report said. In Bruce County interest in shipping hay to Saskatchewan was shown while alfalfa hay was shipped from Halton. Cream receipts in Bruce dropped lower than usual, due to increased interest in feeder cattle this year, farmers said.

Haldimand and Wentworth Counties shipped hay but prices were not exceptionally high. Much of the hay went to the United States. Bront County poultrymen reported good production, but feed costs were out of line with prices received for the eggs. Some farmers complained of feeding trouble with home-grown grains and believed it was due to much of the grain being badly weathered at harvesting.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE

GUELPH, Ont., Jan. 13—(CP)—Mischievous shooting at railway signals might cause a terrible disaster costing many lives. That's what Magistrate Watt told two boys who admitted taking pot shots at signals on the Canadian Pacific Railway line here. He fined them $5 each without costs.

Modern Soldiers Must Study Engineering

In Britain's highly mechanized army, recruits must study not only the science of war, but the art of making machinery behave. Here are some youthful non-commissioned officers getting that training. A sergeant is instructing men from several artillery units in engine maintenance at a class in the Woolwich Arsenal, London. Incidentally this is one of the first pictures permitted in the famous arsenal since the great war.

TRENT RIVER

Rev. S. A. Kemp conducted children's quarterly service Sunday afternoon, the Sunday school children occupied the front pews. Mr. Kemp continued his talk on the concluding story of the Pilgrims Progress using colored charts for illustrate which proved most helpful and interesting.

The Presbytery meets Wednesday of this week. The Young People's League meet Friday night at the church for re-organization. The Quarterly Official church Board meet Wednesday January 19th. at Havelock.

Miss Lottie Brooks retired missionary from China, of Brantford and Miss Eleanor Longmuir, Reg.N., of Campbellford were Saturday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. James Longmuir and family.

Miss Frances Sedgwick returned Saturday from Toronto after spending a week with friends.

Mrs. Ward Glenn is confined to bed through illness, his many friends wish him an early recovery.

Mr. Gerald Buchanan returned last week to his teaching duties at Port Hope after holidaying at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Buchanan.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wrightly of McGill Settlement were holiday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Buchanan.

The many friends of Mr. Melville Wright regret to hear of the loss of "Tony," his little pony which died early Saturday morning from results of an over feed of wheat which the pony took, having become loose in his stall. "Tony" will be greatly missed, especially among the little folk as he proved a great pal with them all.

Mr. Herbert Rose returned Saturday night from Toronto after holidaying in Toronto with his daughter Mrs. Ed. Bird, Mr. Bird and family.

Mr. Lance Primrose of Toronto spent the week end with his mother Mrs. Nancy Primrose of Havelock Road.

Another head-on collision occurred Saturday afternoon at the northern approach to the small bridge. Messrs C. W. Pallisier of Campbellford travelling south in his car met Mr. George Stanburg. The fenders of both machines were badly damaged, Mr. Pallisiers car being unable to proceed on its own power. Fortunately no one was injured.

Trustees and a number of ratepayers met for their annual business meeting at Old Havelock school. The auditors report was heard and adopted. Mr. M. McArthur was re-appointed trustee. Following this the inaugural meeting was held Saturday January 1st. when the following appointments were made: Mr. A. D. Buchanan, Chairman of the School Board; Mr. Austin Wilde Trustee Auditor; Jas. Johnston Secretary-treasurer and caretaker; The contract for wood supply was let to Mr. Roy McArthur.

BOY 5 IS DROWNED WHEN SNOWPLANE TOSSES 3 IN RIVER

PARRY SOUND, Jan. 13.—In a lonely country, with the temperature 20 below zero, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Teddy King lost his life yesterday when the snowplane in which he was riding with his mother and the driver overturned in open water on the Pickerel River. The mother was thrown clear, but Herbert Chevriette, operator of the machine, clung to the craft and almost froze to death before rescue came.

From the meagre reports which drifted here some hours later, it was not learned whether the child's body had been recovered from the river. King and his wife were travelling to the C.P.R. station at Pickerel River to catch the train for Britt. They made good time from their home, Bad River Lodge, on the frozen river. Nearing open water, where the current is strong, the snowplane was brought to a stop, and King got out to lighten the load. The machine is equipped to travel on both ice and water.

Thought Boy With Her.

Chevriette started the snowplane once more, and it entered open water. In Canoe Channel, between two rocks named The Twins, the plane apparently made a sharp turn and upset. King was travelling behind and saw the accident. By the time he reached the spot his wife was safe on the ice, and she was under the impression, she later said, that her boy was clinging to her. But there was no sign of the lad. He had been clinging to his mother when the craft capsized, but somehow lost his grip and went to his death beneath the icy water.

The father was unaware of the tragedy. Seeing Chevriette clinging to the side of the snowplane, growing weaker with every passing second, King rushed to shore, cut down several branches from trees, and managed to extend them over the ice to the exhausted driver. Slowly Chevriette was hauled to safety. Then the father turned to his frantic wife and learned that his son was dead.

Thawed Out By Fire.

While chill winds ripped through their ice - stiffened clothing the three hunted for a trace of the boy, but the open water gave no clue. If they were to save themselves from death a fire would have to be made, and King quickly piled up heaps of sticks and set a match to them. Slowly they thawed out, and several hours later help came. The mother and father and Chevriette were taken to Pickerel Station.

William Moore, who entered St. Joseph's Hospital late yesterday with an injured hand, was passed on the river by the snowplane. He waved to the machine as it skimmed over the ice. Arriving at Pickerel Station he learned of the tragedy, and at once set out to the rescue.

King operates a summer camp for tourists. He and his wife were on their way to Britt on business, and they left their other child, a 3-year-old girl, at home.

Dutch Freighter Is Torpedoed

MADRID, Jan. 13—(AP).—Witnesses reported to-day seeing the Netherlands freighter Hannan, mysteriously torpedoed, sink off the eastern coast of Spain.

The sinking but not the actual attack by an unidentified submarine was observed from the lighthouse on Cape San Antonio, off which the ship was attacked yesterday.

The 3,730-ton vessel, bound for Valencia with a cargo of food went down about 47 miles south of that city.

(Earlier reports were in conflict on whether the Hannan was sunk or merely damaged.)

The lighthouse witnesses said the crew took to lifeboats and reached shore safely with the aid of boats from Alicante and Javea.

Prizes Delivered Without Cost by Fast Telegraphic Money Orders

ALL YOU DO TO ENTER IS:—

(Complete this sentence in 25 additional words or less)

Purpose Of Contest:—To Induce More Women To Try This Amazing New, "No-Scrub, No-Boil" Laundry Soap—That's Really SAFE.

Now—an utterly new and different kind of contest! One that offers you ten chances to win, each day for 6 weeks! A new contest every day, (except Saturdays and Sundays)—three hundred chances to enter and win! Think of it! Ten $100 bills to be given free each day for 6 weeks. That's $1,000 every 24 hours—$30,000 in all!

What you do is simple as ABC. And will take only 5 minutes of your time. Just finish the sentence, "I consider OXYDOL the perfect laundry soap because . . ."—in 25 words or less.

No fancy writing or flowery language is wanted. Just a sincere, original expression of your opinion of OXYDOL. Remember, a simple statement that pops into your mind as you read this announcement may be exactly the thing to win! (See examples at right.)

In completing your statement, remember that OXYDOL is the amazing new, "no-scrub, no-boil" soap—that cost the makers of gentle Ivory soap $1,000,000 to produce. It does these 4 amazing things in a way no single soap has ever done before:—

(1) Soaks out dirt in 15 minutes, without hard scrubbing or boiling. Even "grimy" spots come clean with a few quick rubs. (2) Gets white clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter as proved by scientific Tintometer tests. (3) Cuts washing time 25% to 40% in tub or machine. (4) Yet so safe that every washable color comes out sparkling, brilliant, fresh! Hands stay soft and white!

OXYDOL is economical, too. A package often goes ⅓ to ¼ again as far as even the latest soap flakes. And furthermore—tests against popular package soaps show that, cup for cup, OXYDOL gives 28% to 60% MORE SUDS!

HURRY! Enter Now . . .

Don't forget! A new contest each day for six weeks—commencing January 17th! Ten new chances each day to win a brand-new $100 bill! Start now—and enter as many times as you wish!

Remember, only five minutes of your time may win you $100—so get busy right away. Ask for OXYDOL at your dealer's. Mail your entry today! Procter & Gamble.

Read These Hints on HOW TO WIN:

First, decide what things you like best about OXYDOL. Then complete the statement to include your points. For example, if you like the way OXYDOL soaks whiter and saves work, you might say:—"I consider OXYDOL the perfect laundry soap because . . . it gets my clothes so white without scrubbing and I never have those nagging Monday night backaches anymore."

Or, if you like OXYDOL's speed and safety, you might say:—"I consider OXYDOL the perfect laundry soap because . . . it works so much faster, yet never hurts my hands—and colored things come fresh and bright as a new dollar!"

Remember, simple, original statements are what we want. No fancy writing—no high-flown language of any kind. Just your own honest opinion of OXYDOL, expressed in everyday language as though you were talking to a friend.

The above statements are merely examples. You can probably think up dozens of better ones without half trying. For additional hints and ideas, read descriptive matter on package of OXYDOL.

But the big thing is to get busy right away. And—don't make the mistake of thinking your statement is not good enough. Send it in! Let the judges decide.

The New Superintendent

So good was the record and so excellent the qualifications shown by Miss Rachel Young, assistant superintendent of the York County Children's Shelter that the local branch of the Children's Aid Society has decided unanimously to appoint her as superintendent here, passing over a number of local and outside applications.

Miss Young assumes an important and onerous responsibility in accepting the appointment for obviously the local Society will look to her to see that the Government rating of the branch is so raised that the Peterborough Society will be entitled to a larger grant from the provincial treasury.

So far as that aspect is concerned we feel that it is not the most important feature of Miss Young's appointment for after all, government departments put a great deal of stress upon records and reports, upon window-dressing as it were, and while that sort of thing has its place the real test of an organization's efficiency and value is to be found elsewhere.

We will be surprised if a social worker with the training and experience of the new superintendent does not find her greatest opportunity for useful and constructive service in the preventive side of her work, in other words in getting hold of cases before it is necessary to take the final step of breaking up the home and removing the children. It is so much better to bring parents to a sense of their responsibility and to improve the conditions in the home than to make wards of the youngsters that we will be disappointed if Miss Young's experience and training does not enable her to accomplish a great deal along that line.

Upon what she does in the way of keeping homes together, rather than in the exten or comprehensiveness of her records and reports, we will be inclined to judge the new superintendent.

United Action Wanted

The Toronto Board of Control has decided unanimously to ask for an amendment to the Election Act that will relieve municipalities of the cost of preparing voters' lists for provincial elections, and in that decision the Toronto authorities should have the backing of municipal councils from one end of the province to the other.

The Queen City has had to dig down into the civic treasury and produce $15,000 to pay the cost of preparing lists, not for its own use, but for the accommodation of the provincial government, and other centres have had to pay proportionately.

There is no logical reason why they should be called upon to do anything of the kind; as a matter of fact the province might just as well be asked to foot the bill for preparing lists for the various municipal elections for the one would be just as reasonable as the other.

From time to time there have been protests at the unfairness of billing municipalities for the cost of preparing provincial voters' lists but the complaints have never been organized properly and they have been disregarded at Queen's Park.

With Toronto setting the pace now with its decision to ask for an amendment, this would seem a very opportune time for the municipalities to unjte solidly behind the Toronto action and make the protest so vigorous that the provincial politicians will be forced to take notice of it.

The province should pay for its own voters' lists but there is little liklihood of it doing so unless Queen's Park is convinced that public opinion in the municipalities of the province is really demanding a change in the system.

Mr. Conant's Campaign

Public opinion will support the steps that have been taken by Attorney-General Gordon Conant in his campaign to improve traffic conditions in Ontario and reduce the number of motor accidents.

The appointment of more motor cycle officers, effecting a substantial increase in the strength of the highway patrol is justified by the accident record of the last year or two.

The highway squad cut down somewhat by the Hepburn economy wave, has been none too large for the many miles of highway that have to be covered and in view of the increase in traffic; reinforcements will mean more effective patrolling and probably more careful driving for there is nothing like a glimpse of an official on a motor cycle to slow down careless motorists.

The Attorney-General, in the instructions he has issued to members of the police and to Crown Attorneys, has made a further contribution toward safer conditions, particularly in regard to drunken driving. It is common knowledge that in a large number of traffic cases in which liquor has been involved, it has been the practice in many sections to lay a reckless driving charge instead of charging the offender with driving while drunk. Mr. Conant has issued orders that henceforth both charges shall be preferred where there is evidence of both drunken and reckless driving and that "in no case and under no circumstance" should a charge of driving while intoxicated be disposed of otherwise than by the magistrate on the evidence in the case.

That seems to be the sensible way to deal with such cases and it will remove the charge that has been heard more than once that for every drunken driver who goes to jail for his folly, half a dozen others equally guilty escape because the authorities choose to charge them with reckless rather than with drunken driving.

The Parking Problem

A special committee of the city council has been appointed to study that problem that is worrying municipal authorities in every centre, big or small —the parking question. It is a problem that has developed because the town-planners of earlier days never dreamed that the time would come when everybody would want to travel around on rubber tires and leave ponderous machines around the streets so that they would be readily available. They could not be expected to foresee such a development and as a result streets were made comparatively narrow, with ample room for horse and buggy traffic but obviously never intended for the vast fleets of motor vehicles that have to be taken care of today.

The parking question is a difficult one and few communities have made anything like a complete success of solving it; complicated as it is by the difficulty of trying to keep main streets clear enough of cars to make driving reasonably safe and at the same time not to be so drastic in anti-parking regulations that business is interfered with.

The local committee will be concerned for the most part with the task of finding more available parking space off the streets and within close range of the business centre. If it succeeds in doing that and facilities are provided for taking care of the many vehicles that cannot hope to find parking accommodation on the market, then it should be possible to get rid of a proportion of the street-parking nuisance and earn the blessing both of the business men and their customers.

It Was A Real Blizzard

We have had some snow this week and possibly the downfall may have caused some of the older citizens to hark back twenty years from today when Peterborough was in the grasp of what the newspaper of that date described as the worst snowstorm in thirty years.

That was a blizzard. By the time the snow got through falling and blowing about in the wind Peterborough was cut off from the outside world. For three days the Canadian Pacific Railway did not run a train into the city and the Grand Trunk was about as helpless. Ministers who were to have been here to conduct important anniversary services on Sunday could not reach Peterborough, a convention scheduled for the city was called off because no delegates came, fuel supplies dwindled because expected cars of coal were held up some place along the line. The cuts along the C.P.R. between Peterborough and Toronto were packed deep in snow and snow plows found it almost impossible to buck the drifts, while business was badly crippled because necessary supplies failed to arrive.

There may be something in the theory that winters are changing. There has not been a tieup like that for many years and last winter neither of the railways had occasion to operate a snowplow in this section. And if the winters are not changing our attitude to them seems to be. We are no longer content to sit back and wait until the railways dig their lines out after a snow blizzard but instead we complain if all the roads in the neighborhood are not opened up for motor traffic within an hour or two after the snow has ceased to fall.

The Wrong Way

What the police commissioners in Sault Ste Marie may do is undoubtedly their own business, or more accurately, is the business of the citizens whose representatives they are.

Nevertheless we feel that the action of the Sault commission in asking for the resignation of every member of the police department to be handed in before February 28, because the commissioners feel that some of the officers have lost the confidence of the public, is the wrong—and the unfair—way of dealing with a difficult question.

The officers will all have an opportunity to apply for their positions again, it is explained and those whom the commissioners believe the citizens have faith in will be re-appointed.

That sounds reasonable enough, at first blush, but a moment's thought will reveal the unfairness of the arrangement. What is being done simply means that because there are black sheep on the Sault Ste Marie force the whole department is to have to bear the stigma for the next six or seven weeks before the commission finally clears the air by refusing to re-engage the guilty officers.

A fairer and more reasonable plan would be, it seems to us, to suspend the policemen whose conduct has been questioned and if the charges against them should be substantiated then to dismiss them.

Why should innocent members of the force have to wait for a month and a half to have their names cleared when there is nothing against their records and the commissioners are well aware of that fact?

¶ Aunt Ella came to town today and she drove in a goodly way, a quilt about her head; a bride's reception caught her eye, she'd get there if she had to die, least that's just what she said.

¶ She knew the bride when she was young, and she'd rubbed goose grease on her lung, she'd helped to save her life; Aunt Ella said she growed up right, she didn't gad about at night, she'd be a dandy wife.

¶ And so Aunt Ella went along although her legs are none too strong, she'd rest when she was there; she'd visit with the bride a bit, perhaps she'd stop a while and knit, she'd find an easy chair.

¶ Aunt Ella really was a sight when she come staggerin' in that night, she'd flutterin' of the heart; she met a mob when she got there, and no one brought an easy chair, she thought she'd come apart.

¶ The bride just stood there all the time, and people passed by in a line, she just shook hands and bowed; my aunt grew weary of the stir, and no one came to talk to her, she bumped among the crowd.

¶ She never had a chance to say how she goose-greased the bride one day, and how she saved her life; she never had a chance to talk, or learn the gossip in her block, how lived the new-made wife.

¶ Aunt Ella ached when she got back, she felt as though her frame would crack, she soaked up lots of heat; she said she stood so long in there and never found an easy chair—she'd blisters on her feet.

Ranges Merge Into 250,000 Acre Estate

Old Western Ranching Days Are Changing; Two Outfits Have Joined to Produce Huge Ranch

(From the Lethbridge Herald.)

THE OLD WESTERN ranching days are changing, and the sale of the Knight Sugar Company holdings along the Alberta-Montana border to the McIntyre Ranching Company of Magrath is evidence of it.

The Knights and McIntyres came to Southern Alberta late in the last century. They established ranches close by along the border south of Lethbridge and there held domain through the early years of the present century. There they built up great herds of white-faces, but gradually settlers encroached as they have ever encroached on the ranch lands of the Great Plains country.

And now the two "outfits" have been merged to become one of the greatest ranches in Canada, amounting to close to quarter of a million acres. That is an empire in itself. In the hands of W. H. McIntyre we may be sure that it will be developed to its full capacity. Mr. McIntyre has not been content to merely run a ranch. He has developed one of the finest cattle ranches in the British Empire, a ranch which has for years stood in the forefront at livestock competitions in Toronto and Chicago.

To make more sure the ranch will operate on a permanent basis, the McIntyre last year added an irrigation system which will, it is believed, guarantee feed supplies even in periods of drought, a movement which is gaining headway rapidly in the ranching areas of the West.

It is to be hoped that sale of its holdings does not mean that the Knight family are severing their connections with Southern Alberta. The late Jesse Knight introduced the sugar industry in this Province at the turn of the century coincident with the establishment of the A. R. & I. company's irrigation project. It was the forerunner of the three million dollar sugar industry which has since been built upon our irrigated lands. Jesse Knight and his son Ray Knight have been great figures in Western Canada's pioneer industry of ranching, and their names will go down in history.

The West is hanging, but nothing can ever take away the glamor of those days in the latter part of the 19th century when ranching was in its heyday in Southern Alberta, the cradle of the industry in Western Canada.

Sanctuaries Help To Save Birds

Organize Public Conscience to the Need People Find More Pleasure in Wild Things

(From the Ottawa Journal.)

THE DOMINION Government, it was announced last week, has created a bird sanctuary to cover 324 acres of land in the seigniory of Milles Isles, near Montreal—property owned by Mr. Victor M. Drury and Mr. John H. Molson— this under authority of the Migratory Birds Convention Act. In the area henceforth the "killing, capturing, taking, injuring or molesting of migratory game, migratory insectivorous or migratory non-game birds" is prohibited, as is the molestation of their nests or eggs.

There are such sanctuaries under Dominion law—they come under the National Parks Bureau of the Lands, Parks and Forests Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources—in most of the provinces, but only one in Ontario: the Central Experimental Farm, which of course, is Crown property. The reason is that by close cooperation of the Dominion and the province Ontario sanctuaries are established under provincial law and are called Crown Game Preserves, come under administration of the Department of Game and Fisheries. This procedure has certain advantages. Dominion sanctuaries literally can cover only migratory birds specified in the federal law which is based on international treaty. Ontario game preserves give protection not only to birds but to animals, on the broader authority of the provincial laws.

Rockcliffe game preserve is an interesting example of this cooperation. This area includes private property, land owned by the City of Ottawa, by the Village of Rockcliffe Park, by the Federal District Commission, by the Department of National Defence, by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. With the approval of all parties concerned it was made a protected area seven years ago under provincial laws which prohibit "hunting and the use of firearms for the purpose of hunting therein." There are more than 100 other game preserves, small and large, throughout Ontario. Furthermore every municipality with a bylaw against the discharge of firearms within the corporate boundaries is in effect a bird and game preserve.

The protection of birds now accorded so generously by the Dominion and Ontario Governments is a development to be encouraged and commended. It safeguards from depletion, and possible extermination, these lovely forms of wild life. And that the protection gives to birds a sense of security and well-being can be tested by anyone who puts up a nesting box in his back garden, notes the confidence in which his feathered visitors go about their affairs.

Such sanctuaries also have a useful effect in calling public attention to the need for protecting birds, in organizing the public conscience in the matter. It is easy to recall a time when most schoolboys gathered birds' eggs, raided and destroyed nests with no thought of the deplorable consequences. Now most boys know better. They have been shown the fascination of a pair of robins raising a family under the garage roof, and they are more likely to protect birds than to molest them. That spirit moving through all circles has made a great difference in our attitude towards wild life. We are more humane than we used to be, and find more enjoyment in wild things.

To the Editor

ROSICRUSCIANISM

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Many thanks to the chief commissioner of the "Brethren of the Rosy Cross" (the Rosicrucians) Mr. Farthing for his courteous reply to my brief reference in your paper to Rosicrucianism. He unfortunately does not say what it is and since it is a "mystery" and its charm and purpose lie in that fact it is not to be supposed that any explanation if it can be forthcoming. People of intelligence cannot be conscious of their surroundings and not see something more then themselves therefore when a large and influencial body of people flatly renounced Christianity although engaged in its propogation and threw up all promise of a future life and the conscious union with God as in prayer there was nothing for it but a revival of Rosicrucianism and of all other "mysticisms" which begin in mystery and end in it. The Bible is the rock upon which Christians found their faith and where it is to be treated as the higher critics maintained "as any other book" and God "as any other author" I find them on the very borderland of insanity. Their position is impossible. For them to sit in and prevail upon God and His works or alleged works is utterly absurd. And yet that is the alternative they would leave to those who propose to follow them and not the Son of God whom they deny. Life without love is ashes.

THERE has been some talk of restricting drivers, over a certain age, from operating motors and now comes along John Barlow, Traffic Inspector for Ottawa, with the assertion that in the city named fifty per cent. of the fatalities have been caused by offenders "between the ages of eighteen and twenty five years." It is not so much the vintage as the exercise of reasonable care that counts.

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

YE MEN of Israel, hear these words; Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you by miracles and wonders and signs, which God did by him in the midst of you, as ye yourselves also know .... This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses. Therefore being by the right hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this, which we now see and hear. . . . Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ. . . . Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls .... And they, continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart, praising God, and having favour with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved.—Acts 11, 22, 32, 33, 36, 46, 47.

A Bit of Nonsense

EXPLAINED

It looked like the easiest sale the estate agent had made for years. The mild-mannered little man who had come in search of a bungalow had accepted the agent's word about everything.

"Er—there's just one thing that'll have to be attended to before I buy," said the client, hesitatingly.

"And what is that?"

"All the doors and the front gate will have to be made to open outwards!"

"Good heavens!" exclaimed the agent. "What's the idea? Is your wife superstitious or something?"

"No, she's temperamental, and I like a clear break for the open when she starts!"

Monarchist Drive In Aus-tria Starts Sixty Riots

Opening of a nation-wide campaign by monarchists to promote the return of the Hapsburg dynasty to Austria and the crowning of exiled Archduke Otto, was marked by 60 riots when Fascist and Nazi sympathizers broke up the mass demonstrations with clubs and stink and tear gas bombs. Many fell injured during the fighting and police arrested 250 of the demonstrators. The monarchist party seeks return of Otto as a bar to pro-German control of the nation. The map shows Austria and its neighbor Hungary, both of which belonged to the old Austro-Hungarian empire as they were in 1919, when post-war treaties broke up the empire and exiled Otto's family. Canada Not After War Machine Just Modernizing Defences

Cardin Fires First Gun In Montreal St. Henri Division By-Election

MONTREAL, Jan. 13—(CP)—The armament program launched by the Liberal government means Canada is modernizing her defences, not building a war machine, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, minister of public works told a party rally last night in Montreal St. Henri division. The Dominion cabinet minister fired the government's first gun in the by-election battle to retain the seat left vacant upon appointment of Paul Mercier to the circuit court bench. Voting takes place January 17.

Canada has had a militia and a small array of war equipment since Confederation, Mr. Cardin recalled. "We are just renovating our very modest system of defence," he said, referring to the 35,000,000 defence appropriation passed at the last session of parliament.

"Our adversaries demand we tell them specifically against whom we are arming Canada. They ridicule the idea than any nation would attack us. Whom are we pointing our guns at, they want to know. You might as well ask whom the police are armed against. The answer is—against dangerous criminals. In the same way, Canada must be on her guard against international criminals eager for conquest.

"Our outlay for armaments is only seven per cent of our national budget, a modest expenditure. Some of our cannon are very venerable; much of our artillery is still drawn by horses. We must modernize, and that is just what we are doing.

"I defy anyone to say that Canada should have no defences at all. The government has no warlike intentions towards any nation, but we must be ready to make some defence of our territory if the need should arise."

Appoint Officers At Campbellford

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13.—Officers for the year 1938 were elected at the annual meeting of the Junior Auxiliary held in the Parish Hall on Monday afternoon. Opening with a prayer, the president, Miss Lorna Gillespie presided, and the secretary, Helen Wood, gave an interesting account of the year's work. That the pledge money had been forwarded to Toronto and that $15 had been given to the church wardens formed the main part of the report given by the superintendent, Mrs. T. H. Floyd, who told the members a small balance was still on hand in the bank. Mrs. Floyd thanked the members and officers for their work during the year. The officers were elected as follows:

Superintendent, Mrs. T. H. Floyd; Assistant Superintendents, Mrs. W. D. Wood and Mrs. Lawrence Charlton; Secretary, Helen Wood; President, Betty Shaw; Vice-President, Lorna Gillespie; Treasurer, Maisie Lloyd; Roll Call Secretary, Ethel Gillespie; Program Committee: Dorothy Glenn, Ethel Gillespie and Jean Shaw.

RECORDS REVEAL TRUCKER ON JOB 23 OF 24 HOURS

TORONTO, Jan. 13. (C.P.). — George Carr of the Carr Transport, Owen Sound, was called as witness yesterday when the Chevrier Royal Commission investigating transportation problems in Ontario resumed here.

When he was called a few weeks ago the Owen Sound operator refused to reveal business records, but later announced he had "relented." Yesterday he had the records with him.

The records showed Carr Transport equipment consisted of twenty units. The company employed 19 persons, including 15 drivers who worked an average day of 10 to 11 hours, including time for meals. A driver leaving Toronto at midnight should complete Owen Sound deliveries at 10 or 11 a.m., it was stated.

Pay for the Toronto-Owen Sound run ranged from $5 to $6, depending on the type of truck driven and in busy times drivers made four and five trips weekly. At the present time they were making two or three Commission Counsel Joseph Singer filed a Carr time book as an exhibit and questioned Mr. Carr concerning trips made by K. Wilkins, driver. The time book showed Wilkins worked four hours September 20, 1937, and 20½ hours on September 21.

"There's something wrong with that," said Mr. Carr.

"It is possible the driver may have made a mistake in putting down dates," said Lewis Duncan, counsel for the Automotive Transport Association.

"Those books weren't checked by the office," Mr. Carr said. "They were carried for the highways inspector."

Works 23 Hours in 24.

The transport owner was asked to produce his pay sheet for the dates in question to show how much Wilkins was paid.

The time book indicated Wilkins worked 23 hours of the 24, starting at 9 a.m. on September 27.

"If the sheet says so, I suppose that's his story," said Mr. Carr. "They are paid by the trip."

"I don't care what they are paid," said Mr. Singer. "I want to know why you permitted a driver to work those hours."

Mr. Duncan objected to positive statements being made by Mr. Singer for an unsworn document.

"If Mr. Carr has books and uses them in his trade, he produces them," said Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, chairman. "There they are in evidence."

"I want to take formal exception to what counsel for the Commission is producing in evidence," Mr. Duncan said.

The Commission counsel asked what Wilkins was paid for the two trips, observing that the time worked was exceptional. He thought there might be an explanation.

Mr. Carr agreed it was not in the interests of public safety for drivers to be on the road for a period as long as Wilkins' time sheet indicated.

Knows Profit End of Year.

Carr of the Carr Transport, told the Commission he didn't know if his rates bore any relation to the cost of operation.

"Can you tell if your rates are greater or equal to the cost of transport?" asked Mr. Singer.

"No," said Carr. He agreed with Mr. Singer that the only way he knew if he was making a profit was by the annual balancing of income and expenditure.

Carr doubted entries in the time book of Wilkins, showing that Wilkins on one occasion worked 22 out of 25 hours. If he had known what the book showed, he mightn't have brought it with him, he said.

Witness said he carried groceries from Toronto to Hamilton for 10 cents a hundred pounds. The rail rate is 36 cents and the rate set by the Automotive Transport Association schedule is 30 cents.

Customers' Rates Vary.

Carr said he believed 10 cents was the average truck rate for loads of five tons or more. "It's not supposed to be less." Witness said he had four or five customers to whom he gave lower rates than others. His competitors knew who they were.

"You have different rates for different customers for the same class of goods," said Mr. Singer.

"Put it that way if you like," was the answer. "There are no other firms handling the same class of goods."

Carr suggested that there should be annual physical examinations and efficiency tests for transport drivers. He also favored inspection of vehicles.

"Are you prepared for an apprenticeship system," asked Commissioner Roy Sayles.

"It is that more or less now. You might set up written examinaions."

Carr said rates were too low, and the only way to increase wages and decrease hours would be to increase tariffs. He suggested a board within the industry, preferably working on a zoning system, to fix rates. He would have consumer and industry representation on it.

The Forgotten Man.

"I migh observe Mr. Carr is the first witness to put in a word for the forgotten man, the man who's going to pay for all this," said Commissioner Sayles.

Carr said he had to cut rates on furniture from Owen Sound to Toronto to meet railway competition, but when the railways went to a rate of 35 cents a hundred for 1,000 pounds or more and 46 cents for lesser shipments, he lost the business. Railway cuts also lost him his Toronto-Owen Sound sugar hauling business.

Cross-examined by Lewis Duncan, counsel for the Automotive Transport Association, Carr said he doubted the accuracy of the time entries made by Wilkins. He might have entered four or five weeks at a time. Mr. Duncan said a literal reading of the sheets would show Wilkins worked 30 hours in 24.

"Drivers put down extra hours to show how long they worked," he said, explaining they were paid by the trip and not by the hour.

"That is casting a reflection on our members," said L. G. Fabian, general representative of the Automotive Transport section of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees. "We'll bring the men to prove these time sheets."

Basketball Kelley

Know Larry L. Kelley? Yes, he's a football star. Nope, you're wrong, he's a basketball player. Well, you're both right for Larry Kelley, the famous Yale gridder who was named to most All-American teams in 1936, is also a cage worker of note and proves it by this bit of action. Moreover Kelley has a team all his own, titled the Kelley All-Stars.

McNevin Trophy Placed For Competition In Victoria And Haliburton Counties

(By A Staff Reporter)

OMEMEE, Jan. 13. — Before a crowd of over a thousand spectators from Omemee and district, the new ice arena, built as a municipal enterprise at a cost of $10,500, was officially opened last night by ex-Warden W .L. Moncrief of Victoria county.

In his capacity as chairman, Mr. Moncrief accepted on behalf of the rink committee, a handsome silver cup given by Bruce McNevin, M.P. It was presented for annual competition among hockey teams from Victoria and Haliburton counties. To be known as "The Bruce McNevin Trophy," the cup will be retained by any team winning it three times.

Leslie M. Frost, K.C., M.L.A., of Lindsay also among those who spoke at the opening ceremonies conducted at centre ice, promised the gift of another trophy for competition in an annual tournament, or otherwise as the committee may decide.

Reeve Harry Endicott was included among other local speakers, while Joe Primeau and Harold Cotton, former stars of the Maple Leaf hockey team were also summoned to the microphone by the chairman to receive the ovation of an enthusiastic crowd.

Each of the speakers referred in congratulatory terms to the enterprise shown by the people of Omemee in erecting such a splendid rink, and the hope was expressed more than once that it might result in Omemee producing future players in the National Hockey League.

Joe Primeau who described himself and his former teammate as "an ambassador of goodwill from the Maple Leafs" described the new arena as being comparable to the best we see in such communities in our travels throughout the province.

Hockey Program

The program which followed the official opening ceremony, was featured by a double-header hockey tilt. Joe Primeau refereed the first of the two games which resulted in a 6-4 win for Peterborough Colts against Fenelon Falls, while Harold Cotton handled the bell in the second game which gave Omemee a 9-2 victory over Little Britain.

Hockey periods were interspersed with prolonged sessions of public skating and with a hilarious game of "broomball," staged on the ice by a group of Omemee skaters using a football in place of a puck and brooms instead of hockey sticks. It was long after midnight before the final period of the Omemee-Little Britain game was played.

Success of the program was largely due to the efforts of the Rink Committee which comprises: S. D. Vaughan, H. J. A. Jones, and J. A. Bent. Others taking part in the opening ceremonies, not previously mentioned were: Harry Lamb, clerk of the municipality and J. Preston, manager of the rink.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

For the last couple of days we have been taking quite a "ribbing" from a lot of the boys, and no doubt in many cases it is deserved, at least to save a lot of argument we will plead "guilty" . . . It seems that we have missed reporting some of the good shots that have been made lately and were enlarging on other details of the game instead. . . Now there was the fellow who made a grand shot the other night, picked two of his opponent's stones and counted five for himself, and then the skip, who with his last stone drew right in on the button to win the game.

Well, it looks to us as if we're slipping, but first of all let's try and dope the thing out. Each night we have 56 players down at the rink and each player plays 24 shots in an ordinary game and that makes a grand total of 1,244 shots per night. It's a lot of territory to cover, but we can see that we'll have to do better.

The Cook-Boucher-Cook combination, one of hockey's greatest forward lines, was broken up two years ago today when Bill Cook moved back on New York Rangers' defence. The trio—Bill and Fred Cook and Frankie Boucher—had teamed up for 10 years and created an all-time scoring mark of more than 1,100 points. Boucher now is coach of Rangers; Bill Cook Manager of the minor-league Cleveland Falcons and Fred coaches Providence Reds.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

LOTS OF basketball here this weekend on three fronts—or floors. At the Y.W.C.A., the Collegiate and the Y.M.C.A. gyms. While the C.G.E. lasses play an L.O.B.A. loop fixture tonight in Cobourg. Lovers of the lasses' cage sport may see three tilts tomorrow eve at the Y.W. as the Ladies' Basketball League opens its schedule. St. John's Stars try to outshine Quaker Maids at 7.45 if the latter aren't too demure. At 8.30, Westclox and the "Y" Gym gals go on. The Quaker Debs make their debut 'gainst St. John's Teenites at 9.15 to wind it up. At the Collegiate gym tomorrow in the gloaming, Lindsay senior gals' and senior boys' squads open the students' home season with P.C.I. teams. And the men's City Loop commences Saturday p.m. in the Y.M.C.A. A hefty hoop card, eh?

'TIS BLOOD and Thunder Loop night tonight at the Brock St bump gardens, with two Senior City Hockey League squabbles lined up. First one is betwixt Hiawatha and the scrappy Southenders, and the nightcap sees Bewdley and Millbrook resume where they left off a year ago. The boys still lay on the gad in this circuit, believing firmly that if you spare the rod you don't spoil the other gee's features! Chief Pat Calladine and his Rice Lake braves hope to bust into the win list and the Bewdley-Millbrook jamboree should also see action galore. Thrills, spills and deep-down chuckles are promised fans.

FRIDAY NIGHT (tomorrow) at the Brock, the junior O.H.A.-ers come to town again, Havelock playing the Colts at 8.30 o'clock. The one and only appearance of the villagers here this semester, since it is a single schedule and the Colts met 'em in Norwood on Monday. And won rather handily. Should be plenty of action but we expect the locals to romp through for another victory, their third straight. This will be the Colts' final scheduled game here, though they have one more yet in Belleville. And then the group playoffs about the end of the month. 'Twas a runty group and an abbreviated schedule. Local and district followers of the junior puckists ought to turn out in force for this fixture.

THE LOCAL juniors will have to hump to be in the best of shape for the playoffs, due to so few games this season, as practises can't take the place of games. Belleville may be plenty tough in group playoffs and, if Colts should win out, they'll find the playdown path decidedly rough. As the 1936 and the '37 editions of the Little Horses found out, what.

THAT FOUR-POINT win for the Petes over Queen's, by a 3-2 score, here last night gave Pick Hines' lads a commanding lead in their O.H.A. senior 'B' group standing. And it definitely delegated the students to the cellar. It looks like a dog fight from here on home between the Petes, Fliers and Redmen. And the Queensters can't be completely forgotten, either, as they are big, fast and full of fight. With a lot of underhand checking tactics. They'll give the Petes a terrific scrap on Kingston ice Jan. 24th in another four-point game This squad looked to have more moxie than the R.C.A.F.-ers and they didn't back up at any time nor did they ease up toward the end. They were whamming away in there at the final gong. The peppery Petes had their hands full subduing the students and both sides suffered casualties.

* * * * * * *

BILL CALLADINE had his beak busted and may be on the shelf for a spell. He collided with a sturdy defenceman in the third heat and had the nose broken. We feared at first it was his shoulder gone again, which would have been worse—since banged-up schnozzles are painful but not fatal to sports' careers. Barney Barnes had his lip badly cut in the first frame but returned later to play a big part in the Petes' win. Others were bumped and bruised plenty. Capt. Carver of the Queen's U. outfit got a bad gash near the eye in a brush with McDougall and had to be towed to drydock for repairs. And the rest of the Kingstonites knew they had been through a tough tilt before the end. Play was rough and dirty in spots—with much underhand stuff pulled—and nearly got away from ye ref. often.

* * * * * * *

OVER A thousand customers yodelled plenty at this fracas, it being speedy and full of smart plays. The Petes had an edge but the big students showed a lot of speed and fight to make it quite close and certainly interesting. Our crew muffed a bunch of nice chances but they played a dandy brand of combination, hung onto their positions well and checked hard. Calladine and Vitarelli up front went best, with Barnes and Williamson most effective on the rear-guard—but there were really no outstanding stars for the Hines' gang in this fray. McDougall was in scrappy mood, twice mixing it. Referee Lott doesn't believe in getting into tangles and calmly skated away when a near free-for-all broke out for a minute. Vitarelli got two goals and Kingdon one, with several in on assists. Holland got both markers for the visitors—whose goalie outguessed our fellows too frequently.

* * * * * * *

A GOODLY crowd witnessed the official opening of Omemee's new ice arena last evening, over a thousand people from all over the district atending. Two puck contests were staged, Omemee taking a 9-2 nod over Little Britain, and our junior Colts copping a 6-4 decision from Fenelon Falls' intermediates. Some big shots did their stuff, and a couple of ex-Leafs (Cotton and Primeau) refereed. In between times, local lads did a burlesque broomball exhibition, using brooms and a soccer ball. Music and skating completed the doings. This arena, big, well-appointed and nudging 13 G's in cost, is certainly a credit to a village of about 700. It should put Omemee more on the sports' map than ever before.

GRAB-BAG: Scouts' Puck Loop revised schedule is in tonight . . . . Belleville Dukes have dropped out of the Trent Valley hockey circuit, leaving Tweed, Madoc, Stirling, Marmora and Campbellford . . . . Kingston beat the Fliers, 6-5, last e'en in the first VanHorne series final . . . . Lions won't drop out of junior O.H.A. so the Petes' planned tilt in Oshawa on Friday is off . . . . Whitby intermediates are here Monday and Belleville Redmen here on Wednesday . . . . Three School Hockey League jousts Sat'day a.m. at All Saints' rink . . . . Church Cage League games Saturday eve at the "Y": St. John's vs. George St. Bantams at 6.30 and St. John's Juniors vs. St. Andrew's at 7.15 . . . . City Loop basketball games there that night: C.G.E. vs. St. Paul's at eight and Clothiers vs. Ken Kingston's crew at nine . . . . Church Puck Loop frays for tonight at All Saints: Knox Bantams vs. George St. at six, All Saints vs. St. John's Bantams at seven, George St. vs. St. Paul's Juveniles at eight, Murray St. Seniors vs. George St. at nine . . . . Three C.G.E. Shop Hockey League contests Sat'day aft at the Brock . . . . Mickey Cochrane topped all ball men but Judge Landis in salary for 1936, knocking down $45,000 . . . Anyone who thinks those collitch puckists from Queen's are pansies is a bit wacky—and is no horticulturist; they're stronger than Spanish onions!

TRIED PLAYERS COMPOSE TEAMS IN RUGBY TILT

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 12 (CP) — After several trials in which young rugger players were given every opportunity to show their prowess, England and Wales have fallen back on seasoned players for the opening tilt in the international tournament here, Jan. 15.

Tillist last year with three straight victories, England has H. D. Freakes, Oxford University, at fullback succeeding H. G. Owen-Smith, noted St. Mary's Hospital star retired from the game. The only other new cap is B. E. Nicholson, Harlequins three-quarter who replaces P. L. Candler, St. Bart's Hospital.

Little change has been made in the Welsh back division, but selectors, dissatisfied with forward play last season, are experimenting with four new players—E. Morgan, Swansea; A. McCarley, Neath; W. Vickery, Aberavon and P. L. Morgan, Llanelly.

Champions in 1936, the Welshmen went through 1937 without a victory and in their efforts to find a winning team the selectors made many experiments in December and early January trials. Vivian Jenkins, dependable London Welsh fullback, was included on the three-quarter line in the Swansea trial, Jan. 1, a position he is not altogether accustomed to.

The switch gave W. G. Legge, Newport and A. Davies, Cross Keys, a chance to show what they could do as safey men. Legge, clever defence player, represented Wales against Ireland last season. The experiment failed and Jenkins will again perform as fullback.

England likes South African fullbacks. Owen-Smith came from the southern dominion and Freakes, a fine orthodox defender, arrived last year to study at Oxford. He attained a high place in South African rugger and is a tower of strength to the University. Freakes was preferred to R. A. Gerrard, dashing Bath star who represented his country many times as a three-quarter.

Inclusion of B. C. Gadney, veteran Leicester halfback, was a surprise. A clever player behind the scrum, he has been a standby for England since 1932, but injuries kept him out of two of last year's international tilts. It was expected earlier in the season W. S. Kemble, Harlequins' attacking stand-off, would be chosen.

All England's forwards have shown their mettle in international battles and form a pack that will provide formidable opposition for the best eight the other countries can field.

England In Lead

Since international series started in 1860 England has triumphed 25 times over Wales, victory on 18 occasions. Six matches ended in deadlocks. Last year at Twickenham, England edged out a 4-3 verdict, winning by a droped goal to a try.

The teams:

England—Fullback, H. D. Freakes (Oxford University); three-quarters, E. J. Unwin (Rosslyn Park), P. Cranmer (Moseley), B. E. Nicholson (Harlequins), H. S. Sever (Sale); halfbacks, F. J. Reynolds (Old Cranleighans), B. C. Gadney (Leicester); forwards, R. J. Longland (Northampton), H. B. Toft (Waterloo), H. F. Wheatley, A. Wheatley (Coventry), T. F. Huskisson (Old Merchant Taylors), W. H. Weston (Northampton), D. L. K. Milman (Bedford), R. Bolton (Harlequins).

Wales—Fullback, V. G. I. Jenkins (London Welsh); three-quarters, W. H. Clement (Llanelly), Idwal Rees (Swansea and Edinburgh), W. Wooller, A. Bassett (Cardiff); halfbacks, H. Tanner (Swansea), Cliff Jones (Cardiff); forwards, W. J. Travers (Newport), H. Rees (Cardiff), E. Morgan (Swansea), A. McCarley (Neath), E. Watkins (Cardiff), A. M. Rees (London Welsh), W. Vickery (Aberavon), F. L. Morgan (Llanelly).

Lakefield Loses To St. Luke's 10-1

St. Luke's took a 10-1 win over Lakefield on the latter's ice last night in a Scouts' Hockey League tussle. The winners had an edge all the way on nice play, score being 2-0 in the first frame and 8-0 going into the third. Lakefield fought back hard in a more even third stanza, with Bullock scoring for them. Al Mason and V. Mason got three each for the winners with Gamble getting two and A. Northcott and G. Northcott one apiece.

The teams:

Lakefield: Goal, Allen; defence, Birch, Kendal; centre, Crowe; wings, Schilecker, Bullock; alternates, Woods, Earnshaw, Millage, Smith.

St. Luke's: Goal, R. Mason; defence, G. Northcott, Beggs; centre, A. Northcott; wings, Al Mason, Gamble; alternate, V. Mason.

Referee, Stan Leggitt.

CONSOLIDATED SIX BEATEN AT TWEED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 13.—The Separate School boys won their first encounter on the local rink with the Consolidated School boys last evening, outscoring their opponents 5-4. Vince Prout got the first goal for T.C.S. in the opening period. Failure to check Pete LaChapelle, permitted him to run wild and before the period ended he had run in four goals. Prout scored his second goal in the second period. B. Lajoie counted what proved to be the winning goal as the period ended. Bud Sills scored the last two goals for T.C.S. in the final frame. The game ended with the losers trying hard for the equalizer.

Tweed Separate School: Goal, Clifford Fobert; defence, B. Lajoie; centre, Peter LaChapelle; wings, Willie Laveck and Donald Meraw; subs.: Henry Lajoie, Bruce Gehan and Lawrence LaChapelle.

The scheduled game between Havelock Wreckers and Hastings Juniors to be played on the latter's ice was postponed last night, due to the heavy snowfall. No arrangements have been made as to when it will be played.

JOCKEY SUSPENDED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13 (A.P.).—Basil James, America's leading jockey in 1936, and leader in races won at Santa Anita last season, was suspended from the Santa Anita track on Wednesday for the balance of the season.

The Board of Stewards said the suspension was "for holding and impeding Jockey Herbert Litzenberger, rider of Day Dawn, while rounding the upper turn in the running of the seventh race, on January 11."

TWEED DEFEATS STIRLING 7-5

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 13 — In a rugged game on Wednesday evening Tweed High School opened the Interscholastic series by defeating Stirling High School 7-5.

Tweed opened the first period with a lone tally when Courneyea scored an easy counter. Huycke received the only penalty of the period. The game in this canto was an exhibition of first class shinny.

In the second period the players settled down to first class hockey and both teams tallied three counters. With Arber counting twice for the home forces, and Huycke notching the third Tweed counter, and Reid tallying twice and Morton once for Stirling. The period ended with the home forces leading four to three. No penalties were handed out, although both teams laid on the heavy work. McIlroy in the Tweed nets displayed good form and prevented the visitors from increasing the total. D. Stapley replaced E. West in the Stirling nets in the second period.

At the opening of the second period Tweed increased their lead when Huycke taking a pass from Arber tallied another counter, but Long and Armstrong for Stirling tied the score only to have Courneyea and Wager retaliate with a counter apiece to end the game with a 7-5 score for the Tweed High School. Doyle went to the bench in this period for Tweed, and Morton of Stirling was chased to the cooler twice.

Doyle, McIlroy and Meraw of the Tweed team were the standouts while Reid and Morton with their clever plays and stick handling stood out on the Stirling team. Although the visitors had a smooth working combination they were unable to break through the close checking of the Tweedites. Near the end of the third period McIlroy in the nets was knocked out when struck by the puck in the forehead but returned to finish the game.

SENIOR PETES TAKE CLOSE 3-2 HOCKEY DECISION FROM QUEEN'S

Petes Get 4-Point Win Over Queen's Outfit In Senior Puck Tilt

Locals Climb Back On Top Rung With Double Decision Over Students Here

The Petes climbed back into first place in their O.H.A. senior "B" group standing here last night with a 3-2 victory over Queen's, the game counting as a four-point fixture. Over a thousand noisy fans saw a sweet scrap with the battling students fighting the classy locals hard from start to finish.

The husky Kingston crew played a rough brand of hockey and the game at times threatened to get away from the referee. Both sides bumped each other hard and the visitors favored a slashing, hooking brand of play back of their own blue line. Calladine had his nose broken, Barnes his lip cut and Carver got a slash in the face during hostilities. One fight marked the jamboree with half a dozen players of each team milling around. Of the 10 penalties drawn, the locals got four.

Lot of Speed

Queen's flashed a lot of speed and weight with some good hockey in spots but they lacked the combination and finish of the Petes. The home crew had an edge and missed a number of fine scoring chances at close range. They had a 2-0 edge in the first heat but were held to a 1-1 score in the middle stanza, and the visitors got the one goal of the third.

All the Petes played a good game, there being no outstanding star over the whole route. Calladine and Vitarelli locked the best of the forwards with Barnes strong on defence. Williamson also did some fine poke-checking on the rearguard. McDougall was dangerous in spots and Kingdon came close on several neat tries, Harding stopped a bunch in goal, only missing one that was fairly easy. The others played fine hockey at times but only so-so other times. The team looked good on the whole and the players held their positions well. Burrows shone in goal for the losers, and he had a strong defence in Neilson, Dixon and Hood. Carver and Holland went best up front with the others spotty.

Petes Get Two

Early in the fast first frame, a McDougall - Weir combine came close to counting with Calladine later making Burrows jump. Kingdon went off for slashing—in self-defence—and Queen's tried hard but didn't get a shot on the net. Hood was gated for tripping and five Petes roared in again and again but without bulging the twine. Later Dixon got it for hooking and the Petes scored on neat combination, Kingdon tallying in close on passes from Barnes and McDougall. There was an argument as Queen's claimed he was in the crease. It roughed up from then on with the Petes outplaying their rivals but being outlucked in close or outguessed by the goalie. They got another when Vitarelli rapped the disc home, aided by Calladine and Williamson. McClean went off for tripping and the Petes pressed again.

Play started slower in the second but soon heated up. When Vitarelli got the finger for charging, Holland scored at Harding's doorstep as the students swarmed in. Later, McDougall came close to tallying and then the local first line outplayed their opponents but ran into a flock of hard checks with elbows and knees thrown in. When Bassarab charged Grattan hard, McDougall and his buddies tore into the Queen's squad and a general fight followed, with little real damage done. Bassarab was chased by the referee and the Hines' contingent hemmed the other outfit in with a fine ganging attack, Vitarelli scoring on Starr's pass. Harding robbed Neilson on a breakaway. It was hot and even near the finish with Carver and Calladine climbing the boards for roughing it gently.

Queen's Press

Queen's pressed early in the third and they played on even terms most of this frame. Hood and Gratton roughed it and got aired and both sides continued to step into each other hard. Burrows robbed Williamson and a Calladine-Weir passing play had Burrows on his face and the fans in an uproar. Holland finally got one back for the Kingston gang, his hot angle drive at defence fooling Harding. Carver left with a gash near the eye. McDougall and Kingdon teamed on a neat rush and later Vitarelli and Starr tried hard. The first Queen's line made two nifty sorties that were close and play was hot up and down. Calladine had his nose broken and left the game. Queen's ganged up near the finish and were throwing plenty of rubber at Harding, Mable coming especially close, but they failed to get the equalizer.

The teams:

Queen's: Goal, Burrows; defence, Dixon and Neilson; centre, Holland; wings, Carver and Mable; alternates, Donihee, Campbell, McLean, Bassarab and Hood.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Barnes and Williamson; centre, McDougall; wings, Kingdon and Gratton; alternates, Calladine, Starr, Vitarelli, Weir and Heal.

Referee, Harry Lott of Oshawa.

Summary:

First Period

Petes—Kingdon (McDougall, Barnes) 11.00
Petes—Vitarelli (Calladine, Williamson) 16.00
Penalties—Kingdon, Hood, Dixon, Mclean.

Second Period

Queen's—Holland 2.00
Petes—Vitarelli (Starr) 18.00
Penalties — Vitarelli, Bassarab, Carver, Calladine.

Third Period

Queen's—Holland 9.00
Penalties—Hood, Gratton.

St. James' Wins 2-1 Over Sacred Heart

St. James nosed out a 2-1 triumph over Sacred Heart in Lakefield last night in a nifty Scouts' Hockey League setto. The Saints scored the winning marker in the third after each team had tallied in an even first frame and were scoreless through a close second heat. Roberts and Gillespie countered for the winners, with Jones getting the other team's marker. The teams:

St. James: Goal, Leether; defence, Leggitt, Roberts; centre, Gillespie; wings, Anderson, Lawson; alternates, Young, Carpenter, Close.

Sacred Heart: Goal, Redmond; defence, Flint. Baldwin; centre, Jones; wings, Hallihan, Willis; alternates, Pacquette, Beardi, LaPlante, Ritchie.

Referee, Joe Blewett.

VARIED SPORTS SAIL SOUTH TO UPHOLD CANADA

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13—(CP).—In the ranks of Canada's 1938 British Empire Games team are athletes from parctically all parts of the country and all walks of life.

Iron workers, policemen, firemen and school teachers, students, clerks, salesmen, stenographers, and a farmer were among the athletic army of 78 which sailed from here Dec. 22 aboard the R. M. S. Aorangi for the games at Sydney, Australia, next month.

George Graves, Montreal cyclist, and Walter Young, Verdun, Que., marathoner, are also policemen in their home towns while Aileen Meagher, Halifax, and Isobel Bleasdell, Montreal, are school teachers as well as sprinters. Violet Montgomery, Winnipeg sprinter, Phyllis Dewar, Vancouver swimmer and Robina Higgins, Winnipeg, who throws the javelin, are stenographers during working hours. A pair of wrestlers, Vernon Blake, bantamweight, and Larry Clarke, featherweight, are fellow iron-workers in a Montreal foundry.

Of the Dominion's nine provinces, only Prince Edward Island is without representation on the team. British Columbia sent 30 athletes and Ontario 27. Nine came from Quebec, six from Manitoba, three from Alberta and one each from Saskatchewan, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Of Wide Range

The team, which will arrive in Sydney about Jan. 14 and see action Feb. 5 to 12 inclusive, includes 37 track and field athletes, 18 swimmers and divers, 10 boxers and wrestlers, six oarsmen including a coxswain, four lawn bowlers and three cyclists.

British Columbia contributed six men and three women to the track and field division and two men and five women to the swimming and diving squad. Two boxers and a wrestler were also from the Pacific Coast province as was one cyclist and the entire rowing and lawn bowling teams.

Fifteen men and two women on the track and field team came from Ontario as did five men and two women swimmers, a boxer, a wrestler and a cyclist.

Quebec had two boxers and two wrestlers, along with a man and a woman on the track and field squad, a man and a woman on the swimming team and a lone cyclist.

Three women and a man in the track and field divisions were from Manitoba. The prairie province also had one boxer and a woman diver on the team.

Of the other provinces, Alberta sent a man and a woman with the track and field squad and a woman diver; Saskatchewan and New Brunswick each were represented by one man on the track and field team while Nova Scotia had a lone woman in the same division.

WANT FRENCH TEAM

SYDNEY—(CP).—On the chairman's casting vote the Australian Lawn Tennis Board of Control decided to extend an invitation to France to send a team to tour the Commonwealth this year.

Defencemen Turned Forwards Help Blackhawks Win

EARL SEIBERT ART WIEBE

Seeking a winning combination from among his luckless Chicago Blackhawks, Coach Bill Stewart took big Earl Seibert and Art Wiebe, both notable defencemen, and moved them up to the forward line as wings. The result was a 1-0 win over Montreal Maroons with the two erstwhile rearguards performing their front line chores creditably. Stewart's reorganization plans include sale of one or two of his Hawks and the bringing in of some new blood. The defencemen-turned-forwards are shown here.

TORONTO TIREMEN LEAD O.H.A. RACE FOR SENIOR TITLE

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — Joe Primeau, the quiet-spoken "gentleman Joe" of a few years ago in the National Hockey League, is a man not given to idle boasting. That is one good reason why his word should be taken when he says he has a "swell" team in Toronto Goodyears.

Primeau, who earned the gentleman title while playing with Toronto Maple Leafs, quit hockey for business at the start of last season. But he kept his finger on the game by coaching amateur teams, and in his confident but quiet manner he said at the start of this season that his Goodyears were going places and they have.

At Top of Race.

Undefeated in eight games and winner of seven of those, Goodyears rested comfortably today at the top of the Senior "A" Ontario Hockey Association standing after trimming their closest rivals, Port Colborne Sailors, 5-3, in Toronto last night. In another league game Oshawa Gmen whipped Kitchener Greenshirts, 5-2.

Victory for Goodyears dispelled any theory that they were slipping after being held to a 3-3 tie the night previously by Brantford Rangers. Don Metz, their ace wingman, also used the game to gain another point on his Port Colborne rival, Red Reynolds, in their race for the individual scoring crown.

Metz, who entered the game with 22 points to 20 for Reynolds, gathered two assists while Reynolds was held to one scoring point on a goal. Red Heron scored two goals for Goodyears, while Bowman, Lathan Boyle and Art Whittaker tallied one each. Doug Runions led the Tars with two goals, and Reynolds had the other.

G-men took over undisputed possession of third place in the standing in whipping Greenshirts, who still have to mark up their first victory. Winkie Smith scored three goals for G-men, getting them all in the last period. Cooper and Jamieson scored the other two goals, while Bauer got both Kitchener tallies.

Skating An Aid To Keep Weight Down

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (CP). — Dimpled Sonja Henie wasn't fooling when she advised recently that skating would keep the weight down. She has lost seven pounds during her week's engagement here but would like to regain some of them.

"They are going to take in all my costumes, I'm afraid," the world champion Norwegian figure skater said, her bright eyes sparkling. "I thought my costume was going to walk away from me when I did a spin in the Liebestraume number."

The 103-pound skater will fly to Washington Friday, where she will receive a knighthood in the order of St. Olaf, recently bestowed on her by Haakon VII., King of Norway.

Junior Puck Tilt At Brock Friday

O.H.A. junior "B" group standing:

Team	P.	W.	L.
Havelock	2	0	2

Havelock and the local Colts tangle here tomorrow (Friday) night at 8.30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink in an O.H.A. junior "B" fixture. It will be the only appearance of the Havelock squad in Peterborough this winter, the return game of a single schedule. A good-sized crowd of followers of junior hockey from the city and district is expected to be on hand.

The Railroaders have dropped two straight and will be battling hard for a win this time. The Colts should cop the decision for their third straight victory to cinch top place in the three-team group standing. It will be the last junior fixture in this city until the play-offs the end of January. Manager Pat Hayden will ice his regular squad, the same lineup that took decisions over Havelock and Belleville so far.

TO CAPTAIN SURREY

LONDON—(CP).—E. R. T. Holmes hard-hitting batsman, will captain Surrey County Cricket Club next season. H. M. Garland-Wells will continue as vice-captain.

SYRACUSE STARS ALMOST CERTAIN PLAY-OFF PLACE

SYRACUSE, Jan. 13.—(CP). — It matters little the order in which Pittsburgh Hornets, Cleveland Barons and Syracuse Stars end up their sectional race in the International-American Hockey League, for they seem more than passing certain of play-off spots now.

When League heads drew up arrangments shortly after the start of the season, they stipulated that the third team in the western section, which boasts only three teams, must have as many points as the third team in the eastern division, where four teams are grouped, to gain a play-off spot.

The schedule is half completed now and Syracuse Stars, in third place in the western group, have 25 points, while in the other section New Haven Eagles and Springfield Indians are tied for third spot with 14 points. Stars gained two of those points last night with a 4-2 victory over Eagles in the only scheduled game.

Bennett Gets Two.

Little Maxie Bennett, once in the National Hockey League with Montreal Canadiens scored two Syracuse goals while Jack Markle and Norm Locking tallied one each. Miller and Obs Heximer got the New Haven scores.

In the second period George Parsons of Stars and Gus Mancuso, Eagle wing, came to blows and each was handed a major penalty. The affair also brought a misconduct charge against Ossie Asmundsen, New Haven forward, for which Coach Billy Coutu said he was going to protest the game.

Barons, presently in second place in the western section, one point ahead of Stars and one point behind Hornets, take on Philadelphia to-night in the single game up for decision. Ramblers also are in second place in their section, two points behind the leading Providence team.

N.H.L. Managers Protesting Over The Defensive Hockey

Stewart And Dutton Blaming Each Other For Poor Attendances At Games

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP).—Booming accusations of promoting defensive hockey were heard along the National League front today, despite that record 11-7 defeat Maroons hung on Canadiens in wide-open combat at Montreal the other night.

Preparing to move into Montreal to play Canadiens tonight, Bill Stewart and his Chicago Black Hawks loudly accused Red Dutton and his New York Americans of resorting to tight-playing tactics and spoiling the game for the spectators. Dutton yelled right back that Stewart didn't "give a whoop about scoring if he can blank the other team."

Reminder of Other Days.

The howls were reminiscent of the days when just about every manager in the league was accusing just about every other one of instructing his men against going out for goals in preference to gaining a narrow, but effective, victory. This time they popped up as a result of the Chicago-Amerk 1-1 tie in New York Tuesday and caused a little speculation about what kind of hockey the Hawks will turn on against Canadiens.

Tonight's other games pit Montreal's Maroons against the Maple Leafs at Toronto, and Detroit Red Wings against the Rangers at New York. The Montreal game involves the league's two third-place teams, while the Leafs will try to extend their lead in the Canadian division as they battle the last-place Maroons and Rangers are out to get nearer the leading Boston Bruns in the American division, where Detroit trails the field.

It seems only a few months ago that Conny Smythe of Toronto was accusing Tommy Gorman's Maroons of refusing to play open hockey. But the Leaf leader won't have any comment along that line unless Maroons play hockey directly opposite to what they showed in scoring six times against Toronto last week, and 11 against Canadiens.

Stewart-Dutton Affair.

So far the latest defensive hockey accusations have been strictly a Stewart-Dutton affair. But there's no telling when others might break out. It's a pretty good way of explaining an unsatisfactory showing to the customers, and why managers have let the old standby lapse is a little mysterious.

OUTSIDE QUARTETS IN GUELPH 'SPIEL

GUELPH, Ont., Jan. 13.—(CP).—Preliminary play in the Guelph Curling Club's centennial bonspiel will be completed to-day and quarter finalists for the Sleeman trophy will be known to-night.

For the first time since the 'spiel opened Monday, a rink other than from Hamilton and Kitchener qualified for to-morrow's quarter finals when S. Burns of Palmerston chalked up a perfect score of three victories in yesterday's curling.

The second rink to qualify was none other than that skipped by Gordon Campbell of the famous Hamilton curling Campbells who won the Dominion title in 1936.

Burns defeated Dr. Morrow of Hamilton Thistles, W. H. Watson, Grand Valley and W. A. Mahoney, Guelph in the first, second and third rounds, respectively. Campbell disposed of A. E. Dunker, Kitchener, Dr. Irwin, Wingham and Dr. F. R. Harvey, Kitchener.

Dr. Harvey extended Campbell for eight ends—at which time the Kitchener medico was one up—but collapsed after that and the Hamilton four finished on the long end of a 14-8 score. Campbell was compelled to register a four on the seventh end to get within hailing distance of his rival.

Fight In Florida

MAY GO TO LEEDS

SWANSEA, Wales—(CP).— It is probable Swansea Rugby Club will be without W. T. H. Davies, its great halfback, after this season. He hopes to go to Leeds University to train for a sports master.

REDS NABBED IN RAID

LISBON, Jan. 13—(AP).—Police to-day arrested a number of persons described as Communists trying to incite a revolt in the Portuguese army and navy.

Many of the arrests were made after a pistol battle in a burning house, said to have been Communist headquarters.

Among several suspects seized elsewhere was a woman who police said made "sensational revelations" about a terrorist organization in Portugal with connections abroad.

SUCCESSFUL MEET OF CAVAN SOCIETY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAVAN, Jan. 13.—On Saturday, January 8, the fourth meeting of the Home Economics Project, "Le Sentier du Lait" was held at the home of Mrs. Donald Tinney, with 10 members present. They included Jean Trumpour, Mildred Braithwaite, Gwenyth Staples, Beatrice Fallis, Dorothy Armstrong, Nan Fallis, Bernie Richards, Jean Gillis, Elaine Argue, Norma Gillis.

It was moved by Mildred Braithwaite and seconded by Jean Trumpour, that Bernice Richards, Jean Trumpour and Gwenyth Staples be demonstrators at the next meeting.

It was moved by Nan Fallis and seconded by Gwenyth Staples that Bea Fallis and Elaine Argue be dishwashers at the next meeting.

It was decided that the next meeting would be held on January 22, and Mrs. Carley's offer of her home was accepted.

The president announced the roll call for the next meeting: a favorite milk dessert with recipe.

Mrs. Tinney gave the girls the score for judging custards.

The girls then adjourned to the kitchen where Mrs. Tinney and Mrs. Carley demonstrated the making of Corn Starch Dessert, and of Spanish Cream. The custards brought by the members were also judged.

Mrs. Carley distributed two pamphlets, "The Consumer's Guide on how to Buy Graded Foods," and "Milk Drinks," to the club members.

A social half-hour, in which the girls tried the Corn Starch Dessert, followed, and the meeting broke up.

The Crippling Effect Of Rheumatism

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease caused by an accumulation of uric acid in the blood and is greatly aggravated by cold and dampness. It generally leaves in its train distorted joints, crooked limbs, crippled hands, and the intense pain and agony is almost unbearable.

Burdock Blood Bitters by invigorating the digestive organs, and eliminating the uric acid from the system will help in giving you relief from this torturing trouble.

MR. HENRY THORNTON, Beeton, Ont., writes:—"I have been a well digger for the past fifteen years, and five years ago I got rheumatism in my left hip and knee from the dampness in the wells.

I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do me any good until our druggist advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, which I did, and it was only a short time until the rheumatism was completely out of my system."

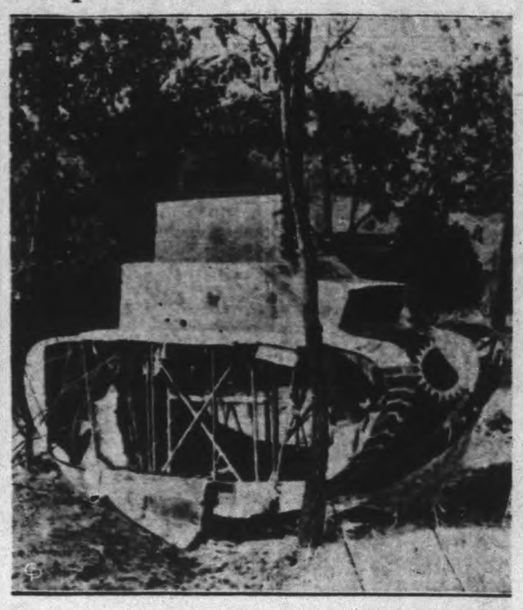
Japs Claim Chinese Are Insincere



Japanese forces wasted shells, bombs and machine-gun bullets on this paper tank, built by the Chinese to draw the fire of the invaders at Nanking. When the "tank" finally fell into Japanese hands they immediately lodged a protest that "the Chinese are insincere in this war and do not show proper respect for the Japanese."

W.I. TO CONTINUE MILK DONATIONS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13.—The Havelock Branch Women's Institute met on Monday afternoon in the council chamber, with President Mrs. John Armstrong in the chair. The roll-call was well responded to by the members, with many and various New Year resolutions.

The Institute decided to continue supplying milk for pupils in the lower classes in the Public School. A donation of $5 was received from the Junior Institute to be used for the milk fund.

After the business was concluded, Mrs. George Chiles, as program convenor, took charge of the meeting. The program consisted of a reading, entitled "All In a Day," by Mrs. Chiles; a vocal solo, "In the Garden of My Heart," by Miss E. Roberts; a paper on health and child welfare by Mrs. John Moore; a short talk on 'Peace' by Miss Seeney.

AWARDS ARE MADE AT DELORO SUPPER OF SAFETY LEAGUE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Jan. 13.—Preceding the annual meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee which was held in the Company House on Tuesday evening, the annual banquet made possible through the generosity of the management of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, was held in the staff dining room to which approximately forty sat down. A check up by R. A. Elliott who presided, revealed that the average length of employment in Deloro of those present was a little over eighteen years. Prior to adjournment to the Company House, R. A. Elliott, following the custom of the years, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the management which was received with applause. Also coupled with the vote was appreciation of the splendid service of the meal by Mrs. P. Smith and her helpers.

Business of the regular monthly meeting was then transacted. The various sub-committees reported. G. Brooks for the suggestion committee mentioned that thirteen suggestions were received during December. For the competitive committee C. T. Nicholson showed that four prizes were awarded for suggestions of the month and three further awards were made to previous winners. The star goes to the engineering department. W. L. Rigg for the inspection committee told of twelve suggestions made and of eleven being completed. J. A. Rice described the holding of the regular monthly prone method practice. C. H. Briskard presented the monthly statement of the trustee relief board. W. R. Reynolds for the publicity committee mentioned the holding of a contest, circulation of the New Year's letter and the issue of safety calendars to the members.

13th Annual Meeting

The thirteenth annual meeting opened with reading of the minutes of the 1937 session. R. A. Elliott then gave the presidential report. He referred at the outset to the thirteen years of safety work which had been accomplished at the plant. "Let us come forward with new ideas," he said, "to insure with closer supervision better results in 1938 than in 1937."

Convention Representative

Mr. Elliott announced that Floyd Gray, foreman of the Silver plant had the best "No accident" record for 1937 and with W. L. Rigg appointed to represent the staff will attend the annual convention of the Industrial Accidents Prevention Association to be held in Windsor in April. Mr. Elliott then touched upon the Benevolent Relief fund.

The election of officers ensued. re-election being accorded the executive which comprises the following: Chairman, R. A. Elliott; vice-chairman, W. L. Rigg; secretary-treasurer, T. Paquet.

The appointment of sub-committees was deferred for a few days. The personnel of these will be posted on the bulletin board. C. H. Buskard, retiring member of the Benevolent Relief Board was re-elected and Messrs. H. A. McNally and H. Rennie were re-elected auditors.

Col. A. V. Yates gave a short talk on his recent visit to England and described interesting features of the Company's plant at Birmingham. Dr. H. Crawford referred to twenty-five years pleasant association with the company and lauded the attitude of the employees towards safety first principles. W. R. Reynolds also gave a very appropriate speech.

American Cow Sets New Butter-Fat Production Record

Class with respect upon this aristocratic bovine, for on her head, although invisible, are the laurels of greatness. She is Femco Alma, purebred Holstein in the registered herd of Femco farms, demonstration farm of the Minneapolis Tribune at Breckenridge, Minn., who is the new butter champion of the world. On January 9, Femco Alma completed the highest record, under official test, for production of butter in 365 days, ever made by a junior two-year-old cow of any breed. She is the first Minnesota cow, offspring of a sire and dam both bred and developed by the same owner, to win world honors as a producer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—(AP).—Negotiations for a trade treaty between Italy and the United States have been suspended, it was learned today, because of Italian insistence Secretary of State Hull admit King Vittorio Emmanuele's right to the title of Emperor of Ethiopia.

Mr. Hull refused to use the latter designation in the trade document. Informed persons said Premier Mussolini turned down a suggestion that a paragraph be inserted to make it plain the pact was not to be construed as any form of United States recognition of Italy's Ethiopian conquest.

State department trade officials said they were seeking some means of ending the stalemate. Actual negotiations, however, were expected to lapse at least for several months, during which the situation might be adjusted. As long as the deadlock continues, trade relations will be governed by an extension of a previous Italo-American treaty.

TALK IN ARCTIC WITH NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(CP). — How Sir Hubert Wilkins' party, scouring the Arctic in their flying boat for the lost Russian fliers, chatted daily with Times Square, New York, almost as easily as telephoning across the city," we revealed here by Raymond Booth, radio operator of the plane.

During the 37-day search in which five northward flights were made from Coppermine and Aklavik, N. W.T., more than 9,000 words of news and messages were wirelessed here. Booth said constant communication was possible even when the plane was within 100 miles of the pole.

Short-wave programs from London, Berlin, Pittsburg and cities in Australia were picked up on the flying boat's aerial, as well as amateur stations in every continent. Booth picked the crew's favorite long-wave programs out of the ether and "piped" them into the plane's inter-communication service so the fliers could lie in their bunks and "listen in."

Booth noted that aurora borealis apparently had a peculiar effect on long-wave broadcast programs but did not seem to influence the short waves.

Once-Booming Lake Smuggling Now Only Penny Ante Racket

No Commercial Seizures In Past Two Years—Butter Main Item Left

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 13—(AP).—Once classified as "big business," smuggling of contraband along the Great Lakes from Canada into the United States has dwindled to a penny ante racket, a United States custom official said to-day.

John J. Mullen, District Superintendent of the Northeast U. S. Custom Patrol, said commercial smuggling in the "Great Lakes has fallen away to almost nothing since repeal of prohibition."

"Of course I can't say smuggling has ceased entirely," he explained, "but our men haven't made a commercial seizure on the Great Lakes in two years."

Most of the known smugglers of prohibition days are in legitimate businesses and their fleets of fast speed boats are disbanded, check-ups by customs men have shown.

A few holdovers who have continued in the trade have shifted their operations to Northern New York and Maine, where they attempt to smuggle alcohol into Canada and butter into the U.S. over unguarded roads, he said.

"Smugglers who used to reap hundreds of dollars in 'boom' times now get lean profits of about 12 cents a pound on butter smuggled across the border," Mullen said. The 12 cents represents the difference between Canadian and U.S. prices for butter."

FAIRMOUNT

The January W.M.S. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge with a large attendance, on January 5th. Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge, president for another year, took the chair and discussed some points of business. The financial report was read by Mrs. R. F. McIndoo showing an increase of $6.00 over last year. Rev. C. H. Brown then took charge of the installation of officers. Mrs. H. M. McBain and Mrs. R. H. McArthur were appointed to attend the presbyterial on January 25th and bring back a report. Mrs. H. M. S. McBain read an article on "Don'ts for Auxiliaries." The second chapter of the Study Book was taken by Mrs. R. F. McIndoo, Mrs. J. Kemp, Mrs. H. McBain. The meeting was then brought to a close by singing "What a friend we have in Jesus." Lunch was served by Mrs. J. Kemp and Mrs. F. Ballantyne. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. M. S. McBain.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hanbidge, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. McIndoo, Miss E. McIndoo and Mr. Lapp spent Monday evening with Mrs. R. M. Hooton.

Mr. Lapp spent the week-end with friends in Peterborough.

ALL SNOWPLOWS OUT

STRATFORD, Ont., Jan. 13. — (CP).—Available snow plows in the district were working at full speed to-day as more than five inches of fresh wet snow covered main roads and side roads.

Motorists who stopped at towns in the district and who came into Stratford said they feared all roads would be blocked by nightfall unless the snow stopped. Word was received from Mitchell that the road north to Listowel was blocked and several travellers who stopped at Mitchell deserted their cars.

COMBINED MEETING IN CAVAN CHURCH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAVAN, Jan. 13.—On Thursday afternoon the W.A. and W.M.S. of Cavan United Church held their monthly meeting in the Sunday School rooms of the church.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. Matchett, the vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Perrin presided. Mrs. Trumpour conducted the devotional period. Mrs. D. J. Hunter read the church news and gave a short reading on "The New Year."

During the business session it was decided to lower the fee for membership in the W.A. from fifty cents to twenty-five cents. Mrs. Hunter gave an interesting report of the W.A. convention recently held in Peterborough.

Pot luck dinners were planned. Mrs. J. W. Perrin, Mrs. D. Tinney and Mrs. A. B. Kennedy offered to be hostesses and drew names for guests; the dates to be set by the hostesses.

A motion carried to send flowers to members who were ill.

Mrs. J. C. Swain, president of the W.M.S. took the chair for the missionary program. Mrs. Snider took up the chapter of the Study Book in an interesting manner. Mrs. Will Seymour read an informative article on Temperance. After discussion concerning the work and financing of the W.M.S. prayer closed the meeting.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Swain spent the week-end in Dundas with their son, Fred, and Mrs. Swain.

The annual meeting of Cavan United Church will be held in the church on Monday evening, January 17th.

NO ADDITION LIBRARY GRANT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13.—A delegation from the Library Board waited on the town council when they resumed their sittings this week and requested that their annual grant be increased by $50.00 to $1,550 however as this did not seem to be in line with the mayor's avowed principal of economy for every department this year the grant will remain at the former figure.

Referring to the motion on hydrant rental left over from the statutory meeting last month and made by "then" Councillor O'Sullivan that the matter should be thoroughly gone into before a new agreement with the commission was signed, the Mayor expressed himself in favor of holding a meeting which should be attended by both the Water and Light Commission, School Board and Library Board in order that each group might more thoroughly understand and appreciate the difficulties of the other

Referring to the Mayor's suggestion that a tentative tax rate should be set Councillor McColl intimated that a better plan would be for council to hold a special meeting and fix its disbursements.

A motion made by Councillor Macmillan that the salaries of the Mayor, Reeve, Deputy Reeve and councillors be rescinded for the year in the interest of economy received no seconder. Councillor Dorie's remark "I can't see how the people of the town could expect us to work here without remuneration," reflected the general feeling of the council and the issue was closed.

On motion the clerk was authorized to write to Alfred McKeel expressing appreciation of council for the work he had done on the Cenotaph.

The request of Grant Anderson, Manager of the Trent Valley Cheese and Butter Company for an additional ten feet of land at the north end of his plant in order to build an office was placed in the hands of the town property committee. Council decided that until further notice the regular meetings would begin at seven instead of eight o'clock.

Bylaws were then passed appointing the following officers: Public Library Board, Dr. O. C. Watson; Board of Education, Walter Henson; Auditors, J. M. Bygott and Alex. Little, (salary $75.00); Board of Health, Earl Bell; Assessor, Harry Townsend, (salary $250.00). The pay sheet was passed and the council adjourned.

SIX ARTILLERY DIVISIONS ASKED

anda" instead of one he had spoken of previously, and that they suggested preparations to send "six divisions of artillery" instead of the five he had referred to.

"There are two memoranda—one of 1932 and one of 1935," the former Montreal Mayor and Quebec Conservative Leader charged. He had said they were in possession of the Dominion Government.

"I want to see both of them and to know what is in them and who are our enemies," he went on. "If they don't tell us what is in them, I affirm we are preparing to send six divisions."

Mr. Houde said authority for his statements were the Hansard report of debate on the defence estimates on March 25, 1937. On page 2390 of the volume concerned, he declared, were the quotations of which he spoke.

Mr. Houde made his original charges Tuesday night.

Denied By Premier

(In reply at Ottawa last night Prime Minister Mackenzie King said: "I regard it as an entire fabrication.

("Neither the minister of national defence nor myself knows anything about any such agreement, secret or otherwise," Mr. Mackenzie King said at Ottawa. ".... Canada has made absolutely no commitments."

("I can not voice in strong enough terms that no such thing as a secret report, such as mentioned by Mr. Houde, exists in Ottawa," added the defence minister. "Moreover Canada has received from the United Kingdom no request whatever relating to the sending of troops anywhere.")

Mr. Houde declared last night there are 10 experts from the war office and admiralty in Canada studying defences. "I ask Mr. Mackenzie if that is not true."

The alleged memoranda, charged Mr. Houude, were the "raison de'etre of the present armament program."

"Read the newspapers for the next few months," he told his audience. "You will see what a discussion will be raised by the two secret memoranda—especially if I go to Ottawa as your representative."

The United States would jump to the defence of the Dominion in case of foreign invasion, Mr. Houde said. "Let us tell the United States that she does not have to fortify herself against us and that if we have a treaty she can save money. But that is not what the government wants—they want to send six divisions of Canadians."

Nothing For Foreign War

Mr. Rinfret, following Public Works Minister P. J. A. Cardin into the campaign on behalf of Ald. Bonnier, declared not a cent of the $35,000,000 voted for national defence was destined for a foreign war.

Entry of cabinet members into the by-election began Tuesday, the night after official nominations produced five candidates. Others beside Ald. Bonnier and Mr. Houde are C. O. Bousquet, Liberal; O. L. Gingras, Independent Liberal, and Hector Lacombe, Labor Liberal. The polling was necessitated by appointment of Paul Mercier, sitting member, to the Montreal district court.

Mr. Mercier polled 21,561 in the traditionally Liberal riding in 1936 to 4,871 for the Conservative candidate.

OBITUARY

HENRY ZUFELT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, Jan. 13.—Funeral service for the late Henry Zufelt was held at the residence of Mrs. J. E. Thompson Friday afternoon, Jan. 14th. Deceased died at the home of his younger daughter, Mrs. Richard Jeffkins, Chesley, Wednesday, Jan. 12th.

He was in his eighty-sixth year, was a life long resident and a well respected citizen of this community. He is survived by two daughters Mrs. William Vogt of Rochester and Mrs. Richard Jeffkins, Chesley.

WILLIAM CHAPMAN

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13.—The funeral was held on Monday of the late William Chapman of Odolphustown who died on Saturday last at the age of 65. The deceased who was a brother of Mrs. J. A. Irwin of Campbellford is also survived by his widow and one son Earl of Adolphustown and one brother Ernest of Brockville and another sister Mrs. J. E. Lowery of Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Irwin were among those from out of town who attended the funeral.

MRS. SARAH ROOK.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 13.—After an operation three weeks ago, death came on Wednesday, January 6, to Sarah Minnie Jarvis, widow of George Rook, in her 69th year.

Mrs. Rook was recovering favorably from the operation when she was suddenly stricken by a blood clot on the heart and died within an hour.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jarvis, she was born on September 10, 1869, in the Jarvis Settlement, where she had resided on the old homestead all her life. On August 25, 1890, she was married to George W. Rook, and of this union were born eight children, two of whom died in early childhood. Surviving are Harry at home, Clayton of Toronto, Mrs. Joe Ferguson of Toronto, Mrs. George Burt of Oshawa, George of Madoc and Thelma of Oshawa, and also five grandchildren. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary Bird of Madoc, and three brothers: James of Calgary, Walker of Saskatchewan, and Will of Sudbury.

The funeral was conducted on Sunday afternoon, January 9th, by the Rev. R. Schamerhorn of Seeley's Bay, and the Rev. J. Smith, minister of the Standard Church, Madoc.

Squirrel Disrupts Church Service

The Rev. Clyde Herbert Snell, of the Washington Heights Episcopal church, New York, is shown in a vain attempt to lure "Sylvia", a gray squirrel, with a peanut in order that he might continue the church service. Sylvia came to church and made the congregation gasp by staging a non-stop race about the church. A police emergency squad and the A.S.P.C.A. finally rounded up the nut-collector. Sylvia was taken to the association's headquarters to be examined for rabies, but the excitement of the morning had been too much and she died during the afternoon.

THIRD BLIZZARD PILES UP DRIFTS

last night while Kingston reported the light blizzard there made highways precarious only between Napanee and Kingston. Roads in that section were heavily coated with ice. The storm did not extend as far as Ottawa, where temperatures hovered around the 12-above-zero mark.

In Central Ontario, Toronto and Hamilton appeared to have been the hardest-hit centres. The blizzard raged in the capital throughout the day but did not break in Hamilton until late in the afternoon. Bad roads were reported in that area. At Ancaster, rain that fell with snow made footing slippery.

Traffic moved with little hindrance through two inches of snow in St. Catharines. Three inches fell during the afternoon upon Fort Erie, hard hit in the December blizzard. A heavy fall at Niagara Falls kept snow ploughs busy throughout the day in that district but the storm blew itself out before nightfall.

Officials of the Department of Highways at London reported all provincial highways in the district were open despite a five-inch fall that left roads heavy. The heaviest fall of the season, five inches, was reported from Preston, where a year ago, the Grand and Speed rivers, swollen by torrential rains, were in full flood.

Thaw Follows Snow

Swift weather changes were the lot of Chatham residents. A heavy snowfall in the morning was followed by rain. In the afternoon similar conditions prevailed. The light snowfall stopped about 3 p. m. and what almost amounted to a thaw set in. Highways in the district, said road officials, were "sloppy."

A foot of snow at Orillia brought the total fall so far this winter to three feet. Orillia citizens recalled that just a year ago, spring-like weather enabled golfers there to set a record early start. Archie Bloor, Orillia club professional, played a foursome at the country club.

But venerable Daniel McArthur of Caledon, Ont., considers the winters nowadays aren't what they used to be. In fact, he said yesterday, they're "practically sissy." Take the winter of 1875, for instance, says McArthur, who has lived in his Peel county home 25 miles north-west of Toronto for more than 75 years. "It was much colder and there was much more snow than we have these days. There is no comparison."

He reminsced: "I particularly remember one winter, when the snowfall was so heavy that it blocked a railway switch near our farm. It took three men to dig it out and re-open it to traffic. First, they dug one narrow pit right down to the switch. One man stood at the bottom and tossed the snow half-way up the snow wall, where a second man took it and threw it over the top. A third man at the top disposed of the snow."

Quake Hits Japan, Fire Follows

TOKYO, Jan. 13 (CP-Havas). — Fires were reported adding to the damage inflicted by the severe earthquake which shook large areas of western Japan today. According to reports reaching here the tremblor was the worst in Japan in 10 years.

The Wakayama Prefecture, about 250 miles west of Tokyo, on the principal Japanese island of Honshu, was reported to have been the hardest hit. Telephone and telegraph services in this sector were disrupted.

There were no reports on possible casualties.

ENGLAND WINS MUSKRAT WAR

By 1932 it was estimated 2,000,000 of them were at large in England. Complaints came from all parts.

Banned By Act

On May 1, 1932, parliament passed the destructive imported animals act, which prohibited importation or keeping muskrats, except under special license, and made all who failed to report the presence of the creatures on his land, or who set one loose, liable to penalties. The fight was on.

Scores of trappers were employed, advice was sought from German experts, and guns, traps, poison gas and searchlights were utilized in the campaign of extermination. Gradually, man began to gain the upper hand, and in 1934 it was possible to report that 90 per cent had been wiped out and the survivors were on the run.

The campaign was described as the biggest against any wild creature in this country since Henry VII exterminated wolves.

SEWAGE GIVING LINDSAY TROUBLE

LINDSAY, Jan. 13—The second winter school for Oshawa, Lindsay and Peterborough Presbyteries of the Bay of Quinte Conference, it is announced, will be held in Lindsay from January 17 to 21. Bible and method courses in both young people's work and Sunday school work will be features of the school.

While Lindsay ratepayers turned thumbs down on the by-law for the construction of a sewage disposal plant, the municipality is not altogether free of the problem. The town has been dumping sewage into a navigable stream ever since the sewage system was installed, and it has been called upon by the Provincial Health Board from time to time to take steps to dispose of the sewage by some other method. It is believed in some circles, notwithstanding the adverse vote, that the municipality may be compelled to instal a disposal system at an early date.

Rev. William Charlton, of Hespeler, the newly appointed pastor of William Street Baptist church, here, will take over his duties on February 6th. The young pastor has had marked success in the formation and operation of young people's clubs.

The sudden death took place at Fenelon Falls on Tuesday of T. Smitheram, a well known resident of that village. The deceased had been in excellent health, and his sudden passing came as a shock. The late Mr. Smitheram followed farming in Fenelon township before moving into the village. He is survived by his wife, three brothers and one sister.

Successful Social Held At Lakefield

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 13.—The members of the Women's Missionary Society of Lakefield United church held a successful afternoon tea and sale of home cooking at the home of Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Kelly, Colborne street, Lakefield, on Friday afternoon, January 7, from 3 to 6 p.m.

The tea table looked lovely with its lace cloth attractively centred with a unique table decoration of crimson and silver. Fresh flowers decorated the living-room and the home-cooking table.

Mesdames F. J. Burgess, C. S. Tanner and W. W. Yale presided at the tea urn and Mesdames E. J. Millage, R. Bullock, G. E. Renwick, S. Richardson and Wilbert Frankish served. Mrs. George Spence was in charge of the home-cooking and candy table.

A delightfully sociable afternoon was enjoyed by all who attended.

VICTORIA POLICE CONFISCATE SLOT MACHINES IN THREE VILLAGES

Bobcaygeon, Oakwood And Omemee Are Raided By Two Provincial Officers

Lindsay Operators In Some Cases Dismantle Their Machines

LINDSAY, Jan. 13. — Provincial Officer Adair, accompanied by Traffic Officer Kennedy arrived in town on Wednesday with three truck loads of slot machines and pin machines, some of the machines said to be heavily loaded with slugs and coins. The officers made a raid on the Village of Bobcaygeon where they picked up 5 machines; 3 more in Oakwood and 3 in Omemee. Slot machines are strictly illegal even to have idle on the premises, while in the above places the operators are alleged to have had no license from the municipality to operate pin tables.

Hearing of the raid in outside points, the operators of some 15 machines in Lindsay immediately started shoving pin tables into the corners and in some cases dismantled the machines. However, no raid was made in Lindsay where the Council licensed a number of "amusement places" to operate pin machines. The license of 1938 has as yet not been renewed. Lindsay storekeepers and service station owners claim that they do not hand out merchandise or cash to winners on the machine, but that the users of the machines play for "sport."

Some months ago, it is stated, a Judge ruled that municipalities had a right to issue licenses for the operation of pin machines. Recently (in December) it is stated three other Judges ruled that municipalities have no right to issue such licenses.

In Lindsay, it is understood that there is not a single slug, or slot machine in town. The dozen or more pin tables are owned mostly by Mr. Walter Brethour, of Lindsay, with a few being owned by Mr. Carnegie of Oshawa, who makes the rounds regularly keeps the machines in good working order and settles with operations according to the profits made. In Lindsay the machines are licensed, the Town receiving a small revenue.

It is also stated that Chief Lawler, who has made a close inspection of the machines at all times, has received only one or two minor complaints. These when investigated, had to do where it was alleged "minors" were playing the machines, which is against the law.

Operators of the machines confiscated, it is stated, are liable to lose the machines, as well as the cash in the pin tables.

Some Interesting New Coins

George P. Benton showed The Examiner some very interesting coins yesterday—most of them old but several of them of note because of their newness. In the latter category was a New Guinea penny, a coin that is rather scarce as it is one of the few that were struck bearing the likeness of King Edward VIII, now Duke of Windsor. This coin is holed so that it can be strung around the neck of the owner, for the natives of New Guinea have no pockets.

Another unusual coin owned by Mr. Benton is one issued by Martin Coles Harman, a British financier who owns Lundy Island and who conceived the idea of getting out his own coinage bearing his head on one side and a picture of a puffin, a bird found on the island, on the other side. The British Government put a stop to the scheme and Harmon was fined.

In the collection, too, is a rose farthing issued during the reign of Charles 1, (1625 to 1649), a Charles II farthing of the vintage of 1672, a George I half penny, 1718, a Coventry half penny issued in 1792 and showing Lady Godiva taking her famous ride, a penny issued in the Isle of Man in 1758 when the Duke of Athol was liege lord of the island.

WANT BIGGER LIBRARY

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP). — The Public Library system here urgently requires more books, and a larger, fully-trained staff, Angus Mowat, Toronto, inspector of public libraries for Ontario, said last night at the formal opening of a branch library.

Mr. Mowat said that Windsor has far more readers than Ottawa, but fewer books, and that considerably less money is spent on them here each year than in the capital.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY JANE YELLAND

Member of one of the oldest pioneer families of this district, Mrs. Mary Jane Yelland passed away at her home, 207 Murray street, following an illness of several years today (Thursday). Her husband, the late William Yelland who died in 1920, was twice mayor of Peterborough.

In her 92nd year, Mrs. Yelland was daughter of the late Henry Down and Mary Frise. She was born in Mariposa township but spent the greater part of her life in the immediate Peterborough region. She came to this city from Douro 45 years ago. Over many years she was a member of George Street United Church.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the residence to the Lakefield Cemetery, Rev. M. C. Parr officiating.

MRS. SARAH GANNON.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 13.—The death of Mrs. Sarah Gannon, a life-long resident of the village of Maynooth, which occurred on Sunday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Deady, Maynooth, caused widespread regret to her many friends. Mrs. Gannon, who was in her 85th year, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter McNally of Erinsville.

She was predeceased by her husband, Michael Gannon, who passed away eight years ago, and is survived by four daughters: Mrs. John Deady of Maynooth, Mrs. William Ryan and Mrs. Peter Whalen of Deseronto, also two sisters, Mrs. Owen O'Rielly of Copper Cliff and Miss E. McNally of Maynooth.

The funeral was held on Wednesday morning at St. Ignatius Church, where Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Fr. A. Flynn, assisted by Rev. Fr. Brady. Interment was made in St. Ignatius Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. John Deady, Peter Whelan, James McAlpine, Joseph Leveck, William Cassidy and Francis Coe.

MRS. CATHERINE FITZGERALD

The death of Mrs. Catherine Fitzgerald followed a lengthy illness at her residence, Lot 23, Concession 9, Otonabee township, late Wednesday evening. She was wife of the late Patrick Fitzgerald.

Well-known through a lifetime's residence in the township community, Mrs. Fitzgerald was daughter of the late Thomas Powers and Hannorah Hallihan. She was born on the family homestead near the site of her late residence. A member of the Sacred Heart Church, she was active in the League of the Sacred Heart and the Altar Society.

Surviving are three sons, Joseph Raymond and Vincent Fitzgerald; three daughters, Mrs. Dennis Corkery of La Fleche, Saskatchewan, Rev. Sister St. Raymond of Lindsay and Sister Madesta of St. Joseph's, Peterborough; two brothers, Pierce Powers of Otonabee and Thomas Powers of this city; five sisters, Mrs. Robert Hefferman of Douro, Mrs. Elena Fitzgerald of Otonabee, Mrs. Mary Billhardt of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Elizabeth Fitzgerald and Miss Annie Powers of this city.

The funeral will be held Saturday from the residence at 9.15 a.m. to the Sacred Heart Church for requiem mass at 10 a.m. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

TAKE NO ACTION ON LIGHT SYSTEM AT TRENT RIVER

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13.—Robert Innes newly acclaimed reeve of Seymour township welcomed the new members and congratulated former members of the council in his inaugural address delivered in the township council chambers on Monday. All of the members including Reeve Innes, Deputy Reeve W. J. Ross and Councillors R. Bateson, J. Kelly and M. Wight took the oath of office and were wished a happy and successful year by Rev. B. Simpson Black who presided over the brief devotional period which preceded the opening session.

The members of last year's council expressed their appreciation for the work done by Secretary G. G. Stephens and the Clerk Wesley Stephens. A letter from the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission revealed that the cost of the proposed lights at Trent River would cost the township $16.00 per light per year. No action was taken on the matter.

A delegation consisting of Messrs John Locke and Elsie Stillman reported that the condition of the road and part of Concession 9 in West Seymour which it was claimed warranted some immediate attention.

Complimenting the Township on its splendid financial stability J. D. Mills, manager of the Bank of Montreal thanked the members for their business during the past and expressed the hope that his office would be able to continue to be of service. The December report of School Attendance Officer George W. Anderson was received and filed and indicated one of the most satisfactory reports in recent years.

The report of taxes outstanding for the year 1937 was presented by Robert Waddell and indicated $1,638.40 uncollected for the year.

With the passing of a by-law the change of the boundaries of School sections numbers 3 and 4 were were changed whereby the south half of lot 5 concession 10 would be incorporated in school section No. 4 rather than Section No. 3 as at present.

Pursuant to a letter from the Department of Highways of Toronto requesting that estimates of expenditures on road during the coming year should be incorporated in a by-law Council made the following estimates which were duly placed in by-law form. Road construction, $1,500.00; maintenance, $10,400.00; bridge construction, $2,000.00; machinery $500.00; superintendance, $600.00; total $15,000. To meet current expenditures a by-law authorizing the borrowing of $25,000 at 5½ per cent till the taxes were collected, was passed.

By-law authorizing and appointing officials for the year 1938 were: Weed inspector, John Ingram; Member of Board of Health, John S. Wallace; Live Stock Valuer, William Lynn; Solicitor, N. A. McColl; High School Trustee, Wilfred Todd; School Attendance Officer, George Anderson; Assessor, James Ketcheson.

Missions In China Subject Of Talk

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13. — Margaret Bateson, newly-elected missionary convenor was in charge of the program presented before the Young People's Society of St. John's United church when they met for their regular meeting on Monday.

The meeting was opened with a reading by the president, Miss R. Palliser, entitled, "Into the Sunset,' and followed by the Scripture reading given by Miss Evelyn Stotts. After the reading of a second poem Miss Marion Stephens led in prayer and an address on "Mission Work in China" was given by Rev. Harold B. Neal.

The meeting concluded with the following programme: Vocal solo, Raymond Wragg; topic, "A True Missionary Story of India" by Miss Velma Runnells; vocal duet, Miss Connie and Mr. Frank McKelvie; reading, Miss May Stotts; a hymn and the Mizpah Benediction.

Class For Machinists

This group of ambitious lads is lined up to register in the resident class for machinists opened at Galt, under the Ontario section of the Dominion-Provincial Youth training program. The course, to run 13 weeks, was sought by 20 pupils at opening date and the class quota of 50 was expected to be filled quickly. At the LEFT is one of the pupils studying the machinist's art who, along with his fellow students, has been found a position to go to when his training is completed.

Inspector Mowat Pays Tribute Campbellford Public Library

Commends Work Of Librarian Miss Lillian Benor In His Report

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13.—High tribute was paid the Campbellford Public Library in a letter from Angus Mowat, Inspector of Public Libraries, and addressed to Harry Townsend, chairman of the Board. Following his recent inspection of the Campbellford Library, Mr. Mowat wrote to express his warm appreciation for the pleasant afternoon he spent in the Library and meeting the members of the Board. The Inspector commended particularly the work of the librarian, Miss Lillian Benor, "who has not only the necessary technical training for her work, but also a technical knowledge of books and the kind of personality which makes for bringing books and people together to the great advantage of her readers." Mr. Mowat also regarded the selection of fiction as "interesting and well balanced," while the non-fiction "is particularly rich for a library of this size and I did not detect any 'dead wood' in it."

In his opening paragraph he writes: "I am not flattering you, but stating the plain fact of the matter, when I say that I have today been seeing a library that any community of equal size, and many that are a good deal larger, would be proud of. Let me give you my impressions, and I may add that they are the impressions of an experienced librarian. Coming in, you are immediately struck by the cleanliness, the brightness of the place, its good order, and its general air of being on its toes. One good look around and you know at once, that this library is doing a job of work and doing it well. And when you come to examine the books open a few to see how much use they have had and watch the people coming and going with their exchanges, then you know that your first impression has been corroborated. "I do not think I have yet encountered a small library doing as large a circulation as yours in which the books are in such an excellent state of repair. An immense amount of work is obviously done in this and other directions by the librarian out of library hours."

In conclusion, Mr. Mowat points out that all libraries have been under an "unprecedented strain for the past few years, and the wear and tear upon their resources has been such that even with the full legal minimum appropriation they will have wounds to lick for some years to come."

COMING TO PETERBOROUGH

G. D. Philp, teller-accountant of the Port Hope banch of the Bank of Montreal, is being transferred to Peterborough.

TRANSFERRED TO PETERBORO

Miss Berna Foley of Belleville has been transferred to the local office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company and will begin her duties as accountant here on Thursday.

PIOUS TRACT FOR POLICE

Detective Piercy's first impression was that some one on the police force was spoofing him by putting a blue ticket under the wind shield wiper of the official car he had left parked on the street yesterday, but on the reverse side he read "Ye Must Be Born Again."

SOMETHING DIFFERENT.

According to the Kiwanis Club weekly bulletin, President Jack Pettit has arranged a program for Friday which is somewhat different as far as the club is concerned. It should be of real interest to the members. Committee chairmen are being allowed two minutes each to explain the work and duty of their respective committees.

ENGAGE LEGION HALL.

G. A. Elliott of Norwood, Gilbert McIlmoyle and Gordon Fitzgerald of the executive of the County Cheese Patrons' Association definitely arranged Wednesday for holding the sessions of the Ontario Cheese Patrons' Association convention at the Canadian Legion Hall on February 15 and 16. A banquet Tuesday evening, February 15, will be a social feature of the convention.

SHORT COURSE IN FEBRUARY.

Frank Paterson, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, is completing plans for the short course that will be held here beginning February 1, and ending February 26. Further details of interest to young men and girls of the district will be announced later. The sessions may be held at the Normal School, but approval has not yet been received from the Department of Education.

STILL HOPING FOR MINE

The Havelock Standard mentions a report that Consolidated Smelting Company is going to build a mill on their Rich Rock property in Addington, and adds the following wish that is endorsed by Peterborough county: "Now if Smelters would only decide to erect a mill at Cordova Mines everyone in this section of Ontario would give three cheers and a tiger."

TO GIVE LECTURE

Canada's position in international affairs will be the subject of Professor N. A. MacKenzie's lecture at the Y.M.C.A. tonight, one of the university extension series. Professor MacKenzie has been brought back to the city each year for the lecture series by popular request and returns this year to deal with a subject of timely interest.

INDIANS ARE SNOWBOUND.

Speaking on behalf of three Indians from Roseneath who were to have answered to charges of unlawfully fishing through ice before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., an officer explained their absence was due to the fact that roads out of the reservation were snowbound following the snowstorm late on Wednesday. The hearing was adjourned.

ON WINTER MOTOR TRIP

A motor trip as far as the Mexican boundary beckons two Peterborough families who leave next Monday on an extended ramble of two months and a half. Mrs. L. D. Letellier and daughters Cecile, Eva and Louise, and Mr. Aleric Letellier will travel in one car, and Mr. B. O'Dette and daughter, Marie, are accompanying them in another. They are heading of fto the Southwestern States by easy stages and will return north with the Spring.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

Asked to plead to a charge of assaulting and beating his wife and occasioning her actual bodily harm, Robert Gibson told Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., "I'd like to know the meaning of the word 'assault' in relation to the charge." Telling the defendant he was not on the Bench to give legal advice to accused persons, the Cadi advised him to consult a lawyer. On application of the Crown, His Worship ordered a remand until Monday whereupon the accused decided he wished to alter his plea and enter one of guilty. "I'll remand you until Monday anyway, the only difference now being that you cannot get bail," the magistrate said in remanding the acoused for sentence.

VISITED IN LONDON

News notes from London, England, mention as Christmas visitors in the city Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Statten of Toronto, visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Ebbs. Dr. Ebbs is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ebbs, 223 Mark street. Dr. Kager Wightman, son of School Inspector K. S. Wightman of this city, was in London on a visit from Cambridge University, where he is taking post-graduate studies in medicine. He later left for a holiday in Switzerland.

TEXT OF OATH OF OFFICE

The oath of office administered by City Clerk Armstrong to Mayor Hamilton and the newly elected members of the city council was as follows:— "I ..... do solemnly promise and declare that I will truly, faithfuly and impartially, to the best of my knowledge and ability, execute the office of ..... to which I have been elected in this municipality, and that I have not received and will not receive any payment or reward or promise thereof for the execution of any partiality or malversation or other undue execution of the said office, and that I have not by myself or partner, either directly or indirectly, any interest in any contract with or on behalf of the said corporation."

ENGINEER ASKED TO GET PRICES

The special committee appointed by the council to obtain prices on machinery which may be considered for purchase this year met Wednesday night with Alderman Dutton in the chair, and the other members, Aldermen Wilson and Cotton and Mayor Hamilton present. City Engineer Parsons was instructed to get prices on a two wheel trailer oiler and other street oiling equipment, and also on a tractor snow plow for clearing sidewalks. This is the first step by the committee. The need of a street flusher which has been talked about for several years was also recognized, and the committee may return to that detail of street

Domestic Ban Taken Out Of Circulation No. 1 Calendar Of The Season

Some main streeters are still chuckling about the summary suppression of an art calendar whose main panel in the motif of September Morn and entitled "Queen of the Waves somehow jarred the refined sensibilities of the wife of a jovial automobile dealer whose reputation has otherwise been beyond reproach. It seems he ordered two calendars, long ones with prominent figures that could be easily seen across the average office. In common they possessed a preference for blondes. One of them would have been a striking and eye-filling advertisement for silk hose or transparent stuff for evening gowns designed along lines of economy of material. The other was an aquatic scene, and for those who know their mythology it might have been more or less appropriately titled "The Floating Siren" or even the birth of Aphrodite. Of course it didn't invoke artistic license to that extent. It wouldn't have required any censoring as a modern bathing episode, just a girl afloat apparently, at least, without benefit of the one piece suit. But, when the wife of the B.M. happened into the office and saw calendar No. 2 she is reported to have coralled all but one or two stray samples of the shipment saying "You wouldn't let a calendar like that go out over your name, would you," as if it offended straight laced proprieties. Another business man who was around for the first scant distribution hasn't hung his copy because he is in doubt about the reaction of his wife. So a domestic ban has taken out of circulation presumably the No. 1 calendar of the new year, and the attitude of the several men referred to is something like "what's all the fuss about?".

United Church Presbytery Urges Sterner Measures Be Taken For Drunken Driving

Action Of Attorney-General In Augmenting Police Force Commended

Approval of the recent Ontario Motor League recommendation that new and sterner measures be taken against reckless and drunk automobile drivers was voiced by the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church during a session in Knox Church Wednesday. The action of the Attorney-General in his endeavour to combat the rising accident rate by augmenting the force of highway police was strongly commended.

The report of the Evangelism and Social Service committee brought the subject to the attention of the Presbytery. The Ontario Motor League recommendation which won the applause of the body was a manifesto demanding that all reckless drivers be jailed, first offense or not, and their cars impounded. Jail sentences without exception for intoxicated drivers were also urged by the O.M.L.

Commendation was directed to Premier Hepburn for his steps in the direction of minimum wages. Much suffering can be eliminated by minimum wage laws, a resolution found.

Destroy Evils

In the face of threatened warfare, a church united by the love of God is needed, Rev. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's Church declared as he dealt with "The Messages and Decisions of the Oxford Conference" in reporting for the Evangelism and Social Service committee.

"We should destroy the evils that lead to war and in some way organize an international order," he said. "The League of Nations is concened with material policies."

Christians should strive to discover the will of God, Mr. Young continued. This would remove racial barriers, build up co-operation, educate the people toward peace with a sense of justice and mercy for security of the many peoples, he said.

Rev. E. M. Cook of Fraserville was in the chair and reported a meeting of the conference executive which had been held. Rev. A. McLachlan had been named conference press reporter, he announced. He reported the Bay of Quinte conference is being held in Napanee May 31 to June 5.

The Presbytery was told the Missionary and Maintenance funds had shown a decrease. Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Knox Chuch presented gleanings fom the Edinburgh Conference of Faith and Order, expressing a desire for a unity that is all-inclusive.

Announcing the Young People's winter school being held in Cambridge Street United Church in Lindsay from January 17 to 22, the committee on Religious Education recommended that every charge appoint a leadership training superintendent and forward the name to Rev. C. H. Ferguson, Bethany, Ontario. Grants of $600 to Apsley, $400 to Hiawatha and $200 to Wesley were recommended by the Home Mission committee.

Rev. Cook of Fraserville asked for a change of pastoral relations. A special committee was apointed to sit with the publications committee with a view to consolidating all church publications. Those named to the committee are Rev. Young, Rev. Ferguson, J. G. Keefer and A. G. Kitney.

The Records committee requested ministers of the charges to take the responsibility for presenting the records of official boards to the next meeting.

The Rambling REPORTERS

WARNING TO BOYS.

Two boys who are daily in the habit of crossing the ice above the Quaker Oats dam as a short cut between East City and the school they are attending, are not only setting a bad example to younger children, but are placing themselves in grave danger, a resident of Waterford Street complained this morning. Requesting The Examiner to voice a warning of the danger, the householder, who did not wish to reveal her name, said: "I felt I must call the matter to the public attention because of the grave danger in which these boys are placing themselves." She said the treacherous current at that point caused the ice to shift from time to time, and while the crossing might be perfectly safe at one moment, the ice was liable to open up without warning.—R.

LINDSAY DOCTOR GUEST OF HONOR AT CIVIC BANQUET

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 13.— Dr. Fred A. Logan, recently appointed Medical Superintendent of the Toronto General Hospital, was honored Wednesday night at a testimonial banquet in the Hotel Benson, when citizens from all walks of life gathered to pay tribute to the work which the youthful physician has accomplished during his twelve years' practice here and to congratulate him upon the splendid appointment in his profession.

Dr. Logan commenced practice here with his brother, Dr. Hugh D. Logan twelve years ago and despite the large practice which he has built up, has given a considerable amount of his time to the furtherance of civic affairs.

Dr. Logan has ever taken a keen interest in child welfare work and is a former president of the Victoria and Haliburton Children's Aid Society. At present he holds the office of president of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. He was also greatly interested in the child welfare work of the Lindsay Rotary Club, of which he is a member.

Dr. Logan has served the town as a member of the Board of Education, as a member of the Board of Trustees of Cambridge Street United Church and as a member of the Progress Club.

Wednesday night's testimonial dinner was in charge of a committee of citizens comprising Jack Hamilton, R. W. Groves, and J. W. Deyell. During the evening, Dr. Logan was presented with a grandfather's clock.

Millbrook Council Appoints Municipal Officials For Year

Complaints About Removal Of Snow Made To The Village Council

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Jan. 13.—The inaugural meeting of the Millbrook Municipal Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday, when the following elected members took the oath of office before the clerk, and assumed their seats: W. E. Ball, Reeve; Councillors: D. Sheppard, A. H. Jeffrey, R. A. Ford and H. D. Bigelow.

The Reeve welcomed the newly-elected members and hoped that their dutes would be pleasant and instructive, and asked for their kind co-operation in all matters that would come before the Council.

Communications: From J. D. Hayden from Cobourg Hospital, with bill for removal of Miss Gillott to Ottawa. An appeal from the Salvation Army for a donation. Jeffrey-Ford: That the account from Mr. Hayden be paid: Carried. Ford-Bigelow: That the appeal from the Salvation Army be received and laid on table: Carried.

Councillor Jeffrey introduced By-Laws to appoint certain Municipal Officers, and after passing through the usual stages, were finally passed and the following appointed: E. H. Barnes, member Public Library Board; R. E. Stanton member Board of Health; J. L. Byan and T. H. Collins, auditors; J. J. Clarke, assessor; I. M. Nattress and Alex Hunter, fence viewers; H. G. Skitch, pound keeper. Also a By-Law empowering the Reeve and Treasurer to borrow up to $9,000 to meet current expenses.

The Clerk read a report of relief dispensed during December, 1937, amounting to $50.02. Ford-Sheppard: That the report be received and the accounts paid, Carried.

Complaints have been made to Council of snow not being removed from the sidewalk in front of certain properties. Notice is hereby given that all snow not removed from sidewalks adjoining certain properties within twenty-four hours after storm, will be removed by Council, and the cost of such removal charged to the owner of the property.

Ford-Jeffery: That Harry Whyte be appointed caretaker of the Town Hall, instead of E. C. Richards, resigned, from February 1, at a salary of $13 per month: Carried.

The Village received Honorable Mention in the press, for centres of 10,000 population and less, in the Dominion-Wide Fire Prevention Week competition, and it was moved by Bigelow-Sheppard, that the Fire Chief be congratulated on the splendid report of the Fire Underwriters' Association: Carried.

The Reeve appointed Councillors Jeffrey and Ford a committee on the Town Hall and the east end of village, and Councillors Sheppard and Bigelow on the Fire Hall and west end.

The following accounts were presented and on motion were ordered paid:

HAVELOCK

H. AND S. SHIELD HAS REAL HISTORY

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13.—The regular January meeting of the Havelock Home and School was held on Tuesday evening, with the largest attendance yet. There were 48 adults and 37 children present.

The meeting opened in the usual manner, with the H. and S. code, and singing. Reports on the year's activities were read by the secretary and treasurer.

In regards to the forming of a study class for child health and welfare, as explained by Mrs. R. E. Lemon, the members decided to lay the matter over for the present.

An interesting program was presented as follows: Chorus by pupils of Mr. Yuill's room, "Home, Home on the Range," and "Billie Boy"; talk on "vocational guidance" by Principal Goheen; piano duet, Mrs. D. Holdcroft and Miss Betty Holdcroft; spelling match, members defeated pupils of Mr. Yuill's class.

The attendance shield was awarded this month to Mr. Yuill's class.

An interesting fact concerning the shield was related by Mrs. Holdcroft. "The wood from which the shield was made came from a pine tree near Coe Hill which a government forester estimated as between 900 and 1,000 years old. It is believed that at some time during a fire the tree had become scorched in such a way that the saw bugs did not destroy it. In other words it became fire-cured, that is the pine gum melted, sealing the pores against the entrance of bacteria which cause decay. This accounts for the peculiar cherry colour of the wood.

Lumber for the shield was donated by Holdcroft & Barrie. It was made by Gordon Young and painted by Grey Kemp.

Hull, of Buffalo, re-damage to car on highway No. 7 was taken up and on motion Rork and Scott it was referred to the insurance company. A bylaw re-appointing W. H. Giffen member of Board of Education for two years received its several readings and passed a bylaw appointing A. Hamblin and W. B. Tucker as auditors, received its several readings. A bylaw appointing the following village officers, R. A. Dean assessor; J. Stewart, Fire Chief; Robt. Tedford, member of Board of Health. Mrs. H. Carleton, member of Library Board and W. J. Campbell, pound keeper; received its several readings. A bylaw to provide for nomination and election of two members to the Board of Education was passed and signed, nominations to be held on Monday evening January 24 and election if necessary on January 31. A bylaw authorizing the reeve and treasurer to borrow money to the extend of $12,000 from the Royal Bank to meet current expenses for the year 1938, received its several readings. On motion of Rork and Cuthbertson all village checques must me signed by treasurer and counter signed by Reeve. On motion of Cuthbertson and Scott, the clerk was authorized to order six copies of Municipal World and sixty dog tags.

The Council adjourned.

DUMMER COUNCIL TO SPEND $6,000

(Examiner Correspondence.)

COTTESLOE, Jan. 13.—The municipal council of the township of Dummer held their meeting on Monday. All members were present and took their declaration of office, namely: Reeve, E. N. McDonald; councillors, Percy Bell, George Parsons, Earl Ivey and Stuart Clysdale.

Rev. Wilkinson very kindly attended and opened the council with prayer.

The council, as a relief committee, will look after the giving of relief, each councillor having a division.

A request was made to the Department of Highways for the subsidy on roads for 1937 ammounting to three thousand dollars.

A bylaw was passed for consideration by the Department of Highways for an expenditure of $6,000.

The council adjourned to meet on February 3rd.

HAVELOCK COUNCIL GIVES W. J. AKINS CONSTABLE'S JOB

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13.—The inaugual meeting of the Havelock Municipal Council was held last Monday evening in the council chamber, with Reeve E. W. Seeney presiding.

Included in the correspondence was a request from Dr. Jos. Holdcroft, M.O., asking that his salary be restored to its former level of $150 per year, with a $25 allowance for attending the Provincial Health Convention in Toronto. The request was left to be dealt with at a later meeting.

Applications for the position of auditor were received from Misses Eliza Wright and Katie Anderson, and Messrs. Douglas Hutchinson and E. J. Leeson.

Applications for the position of constable and caretaking duties were received from Messrs. George Watson, W. J. Akins, and Ernest Kinllingbeck. Killingbeck at $45 and Watson and Akins at $50.

A letter was read from the Toronto firm in whose hands the selling of the hotel was placed, stating no success as yet, but hope for a sale this year.

E. J. Leeson and W. D. Hutchinson were appointed auditors on motion of Councillors Squire and Forde.

Councillor Squire moved that Geo. Watson, due to previous experience, be appointed constable, and was seconded by Councillor Forde. Councillors Chiles and Wilde moved in amendment, stating that Mr. Akins was a splendid caretaker, and although he was a little weak on police duties, he considered the recent election a mandate from the people in favor of Mr. Akins.

Wesley Stillman and Thomas Forsythe were re-appointed to the duties of snow-plowing, as formerly at $2 per trip.

Harrison Wing was re-appointed to the Board of Health, and Messrs. Lou Hagerman and William Hill to the Park Board for a three year term each.

Mr. Gordon Denike was the unanimous choice of the council as member of the High School Board for the ensuing three years, having served as such for the past two years.

A bylaw to fill vacancy on the Public School Board was passed naming Monday, January 24th as nomination day.

The clerk was instructed to inform the Federal government radio inspector of a radio interference in the village, and ask that it be located and fixed as soon as possible.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to purchase a new flag for the town hall.

Chiles and Forde were appointed as street committee for the year.

Wm. Akins and Mrs. John Armstrong were re-appointed relief investigators on motion of Councillors Squire and Wilde.

Rewarded For Finding Baby's Body

FACTORY SYSTEM OF MAKING CHEESE BOON TO FARMERS

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13 (C.P.).—The 71st annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario continued here to-day after delegates heard a series of lectures and inspected various exhibits of their craft at yesterday's opening session.

One of the most important developments in Ontario agriculture during the last half of the 19th century was the introduction in 1864 of the factory system on making cheese, Prof. Fred Landon of the University of Western Ontario said in an address last night.

Introduction of the factory system in Oxford County by Harvey Farrington who came to Canada from Hercimer County, N.H., had revolutionized the industry and given farmers an important source of revenue, he said. The development was all the more important at the time because farmers had been suffering hardships through failure of their wheat crops.

"Merchandizing of food, considered as a whole, is on a high plane," Dr. R. E. Wodehouse, Deputy Minister of Pensions and National Health, said in his address.

He blamed uncontrolled desire for profit, over-keenness for volume of trade, ignorance and disrespect for law enforcement for attemps of some persons to take advantage of the public in merchandizing of foods. He explained how the Department of National Health examined samples of foods that were believed not to be up to standard and enforced the Food and Drugs Act.

An exhibition of dairy products was held in connection with the convention.

Young People's Union Meets In Millbrook

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Jan. 13. — Over twenty members of the Young People's Union gathered on Tuesday at 8 p.m. for their weekly meeting, a recreational period, and sing-song, under the leadership of Ken Kidd, being the opening activity.

The Christian Fellowship Convenor, Miss Della Mae Sisco, took charge for the devotional period and program taking up the topic. "False Shepherds." A duet, by Bea McDowell and Henry Gray, and a Bible game in which all participated, with a final joining hands in one big circle while the leader told the story, "It really Happened," concluded the study period and program.

The president, B. B. Dawson, took charge for the business session, giving some account of the executive meeting held at his home on Friday evening of the previous week, outlining activities planned for the current year.

The offering and the Mizpath benediction closed the meeting.

VEGETABLE MEN ASK STATISTICS

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (C.P.).—Compilation by the Ontario and Dominion Governments of accurate statistics on vegetable crops is requested by the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association which suggests township assessors could be used to compile up-to-date facts both for canning and market purposes.

At its annual convention which closed yesterday the association also asked governmental authorities to enforce proper control of the sale of vegetables by public auction at auction markets and to appoint more inspectors to enforce the Grades and Sales Act.

Hon. P. M. Dewan, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, was asked by the growers to provide for the licensing and bonding of all wholesale dealers and commission merchants in Ontario.

Mrs. William Rousehorn suffered a bad fall on Saturday last fracturing her wrist. She is reported as resting comfortably and doing as well as can be expected.

Miss Grace Aylesworth of Niagara Falls, Ontario, is spending a few days with her father Mr. C. F. Aylesworth in Madoc.

Miss Phyllis Stokloser spent the Christmas holiday at her home in Madoc.

Mrs. James Whytock left last Monday to visit her son Dr. Arthur Whytock in Niagara Falls, Ontario.

Miss Marion Henderson of Iroquois Falls, spent the Christmas vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. Lester O.Hara, in Madoc.

LARGE TRANSPORT FIRMS TO TESTIFY

TORONTO, January 13—(CP). — The Chevrier Royal Commission investigating all phases of the transport truck and passenger bus industry on Ontario highways, was ready to begin to look into the affairs of some of the larger companies.

To date, the inquiry has been practically wholly concerned with the smaller transport companies, most of them owned by one or two individuals.

Lewis Duncan, counsel for the Automotive Transport Association, said yesterday he would subpoena railway officials for examination as to how their rates are fixed if J. G. Gillanders, K.C., of London, Ont., counsel for the Railway Association of Canada, did not call them.

Mr. Duncan suggested several times that competitive rates had been fixed by the railways below the actual cost of carrying goods. He cited two railway presidents as saying Canadian railways made no money on less-than carload shipments and on short hauls.

Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, commission chairman, said the way was open to any trucker or any citizen to apply to the Board of Railway Commissioners for redress if the railways were carrying goods below costs.

PASSING THE TRAMPS

Bangor, Wales, will no longer give lodging to tramps but will provide a free bus ride to Carnarvon, the nearest city.

MILLBROOK

Miss Anne Kells has closed her nome here for the remainder of the winter, and gone to Barrie to stay with her sister, Mrs. H. A. Sims, and Mr. Sims, until spring. Miss Margaret Christie has also gone to Barrie, leaving on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Finn have moved to the house on Main street formerly the property of Mrs. W. Leith, and now owned by the municipality.

Misses B. M. Turner, B. A., Flora Morgan, B. A., and Mrs. (Dr.) Hobbs motored to Peterborough on Monday evening and attended the University Women's Club dinner at the Hotel Champlain, at which Dr. Margaret Addison, of Toronto, was the chief speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Colwell, of Perrytown, visited their daughter, Mrs. Fred Lowery, and Mr. Lowery, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ashby, and family, of Peterborough, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Russell, on Sunday.

CHAPTER 38

MIMI and I were to leave Denver the next morning for the ranch. I made arrangements for a hired car and went up to our rooms to find Mimi dressing for dinner. I told her about the cherry orchards—of the bloom of them, of the trees dripping red.

"Could anything be more beautiful?" I demanded.

"I like it much better than cows," she said. "I hate to think that things have to be killed.

We lingered ,talking about it. Then she said, "You aren't dressed, Jerry, and I'm simply ravenous. Is it romantic to be hungry, dearest?"

She was to me, indeed, a fairy princess surrounded as she was at at the moment by belongings which seemed to my crude, country-boy experience almost too exquisite for use. There were brushes of silver and bottles of crystal, a traveling case of fine leather, delicate laces, clinging silks and satins, little shoes which matched her gowns.

On everything, where it could be engraved or stamped or embroidered, was a peacock's feather.

I had asked her how it happened that she had chosen it. "One of my great-grandmothers had peacock feathers on her linen and on her silver. She owned an estate in France, and there were peacocks on the terrace, and she was so proud that she refused to marry a member of the royal family because he had plebeian blood in his veins.

"I am glad," I said to her, "that you are not like that."

"Why?"

"You wouldn't have married me."

"Perhaps she wasn't in love with him—" her blush was charming.

"You have an air, Jerry, as if you owned the world," she told me later, "and you are so awfully good-looking. Everybody stares at you in the dining room."

But it was Mimi who drew their glances. There was one man who recognized her and came to our table. "I left St. Louis yesterday," he said. "Your elopement is creating a great sensation."

We had seen the papers. And I told him so. Mimi's manner of carrying it off was charming. "It was my fault. I have always wanted to do something different. Jerry doesn't like clandestine things. But it was easier than the other—bridesmaids and a trousseau—and all the rest of it."

He laughed "Andy is in mourning. I saw him just before I left. He was like a thundercloud."

When the man went on a few minutes later, neither he nor Mimi had mentioned Mrs. Le Brun. But the paper had said that Mimi's mother ha dtreated the matter as the whim of a spoiled child. It was, we thought, rather sporting of her to put it as she did.

The effect was of there being no reason why Mimi should have run away. She might have been married at home. There would have been no opposition. I was my uncle's heir, and in every way eligible.

We had told her of my inheritance in a letter which we had mailed to her on the moment of departure. It had been a hard letter to write. We had left her, as it were, stranded on the shores of her ambitions. Yet the small income which she had from her husband's estate would be sufficient for her own needs when she had no daughter to launch on the social seas. While I could not feel sorry for her, I promised myself that as soon as I knew something of my own finances I would make her an allowance.

Mimi's mind was not at rest. "I feel positively brutal, Jerry. Mother loves luxury, and I was her last hope."

I had no sympathy to spare. "Perhaps, she'll have time to think of some of the finer things," I said with a touch of smugness.

"What are the finer things?"

"Well, the love of money deadens people's souls."

"But one can't be civilized without it."

"It depends on what you mean by civilization, Mimi."

"Oh, having servants to keep things in order, and dressing for dinner, and plenty of bathtubs."

We laughed at that. "Some day," I promised her, "I'll take you into the mountains, miles away from bathtubs and dinner gowns, and I'll teach you the charms of the wild."

She shook her head. "I should love it," she said, "for a little while. But we couldn't live like that always, could we, Jerry?"

It was towards noon of the next day that we came to the great hills which rose higher and higher as we proceeded on our way.

Neither Mimi nor I had ever been among those western mountains, so that our first view of the towering battlements of pink sandstone which guard the valleys gave us the feeling of entering enchanted ground. The man who drove our car told us the names of the various formations, but we know them only as magic gateways to those higher peaks, silver, topped and touching the sky.

The roads as we left the highway were rough and narrow—little travelled. We passed through small settlements which were huddles of unlovely houses. Here and there we came upon crude hotels, where we stopped for meals, finding the food, as a rule, well-cooked and hearty, but served with a lack of formality which shocked Mimi's fastidiousness.

Yet she took it all rather easily. "It is like something in a book, Jerry. But I am glad our house will be different."

Looking back upon it, I wonder why doubts did not the nassail me. But they did not. The splendor of the hills and of those shining peaks had woven a spell about me; I felt that I could ride on forever, with Mimi by my side.

Flowers were everywhere; pale columbines; faint mauve and white harebells, trembling in the breeze; the exquisite and mystical Mariposa lily on its single stalk. Mimi exclaimed and I stopped the car and loaded her arms with them, and felt that not even the lilies were lovelier than my young wife in her bridal happiness.

And now the shadows began to fall on the mountains, the valleys were dim—but the light stuck in a golden shaft across the great peak which towered ahead of us.

"About half way up that mountain is your house," the driver told us, "there ain't a better view anywhere."

My hand went over Mimi's. Her fingers curled themselves about mine in a quick understanding clasp. We leaned a little forward, trying to pierce the gloom.

The golden light faded, the mountain peak grew dark against a sea of silver sky on which floated a galleon of rosy cloud. Then the cloud sailed on, and the sky was faint amethyst with one breathless star.

JANUARY 13
(By Fred Williams)

A century ago to-day, on January 13, 1938, the "patriots," or the "rebels" (take your choice) on Navy Island held a council of war and decided that they had had enough of life on the island. The fire from the artillery at Chippawa had not done much actual damage, save for the cutting of some trees and the destruction of some shanties in which the "army" slept, but the effect of steady firing day and night by the militia gunners from Toronto had produced a decision that "enough was enough." In addition, there were two other factors. One the constant quarrels between Mackenzie and Van Rensellaer; the other, an order from General Scott, U.S.A., that the cannon and guns stolen from American armouries must be returned at once. And so it was that on the afternoon of the 13th the "Republic of Upper Canada" began to disintegrate, and soon there was only a little band who stayed by Mackenzie, and went with him when he crossed the river on the morning of the 14th.

But despite this setback and those suffered on the "western front" at Fort Malden and Amhersburg, Mackenzie decided that his campaign to "free Canada from British tyranny" must be continued. He slipped through Buffalo, where he was under indictment (on bail) for violation of the neutrality law, and slipped down to Plattsburg, where he consuled some of the Lower Canada "patriots," after which he delivered a number of speeches in New York, Philadelphia, and other places seeking to incite an American national attack upon Canada, for which later in the year he paid the penalty in Rochester jail.

The joy of the loyal militia at Chippawa when they saw the Union Jack flying again on Navy Island on January 14 was great. The histories do not state who was the plucky man who crossed the river to the island, found that the enemy had gone, and pulled out of his pocket the flag he had taken over. His identity should have been known; indeed, he should have been mentioned in despatches by Colonel MacNab. Within a few weeks the army at Chippawa was reduced to a mere border garrison. The militiamen went home proud of their service to their young Queen and ready to "do it again," as some of them had to do later on at other border points. Sir Francis Bond Head, wrong in so many things, was right in one—his confidence in the loyalty of the militia of Upper Canada.

DIES SMILING AT 100.

LEXDEN, England.—(CP).—Paying a tribute to Mrs. Elizabeth Eltringham, 100, who died from injuries from a fall in her room, as "a dear old lady who died with a smile on her face," Coroner F. J. Smith in announcing a verdict of accidental death, said he doubted whether an inquest had even been held before on a person of that age.

HORSE FAST IN HIS DAY

DOROTHY DIX

Which Set of Children Will Succeed in Life: Those Taught All the Rules of the Game, Beginning in the Cradle, or Those Allowed to "Run Wild"?

AMONG my friends are two young mothers whose different methods of rearing their children I am watching with great interest. Both women are as fine as they come, sterling in character, well bred, intelligent and cultured, well-to-do, and each of them has four children who range from babyhood to eight years of age. Both are devoted mothers and their children are growing up in an atmosphere of tenderness and affection.

But Mrs. A. and Mrs. B. do not belong to the same school of thought in child-rearing. Mrs. A.'s children are brought up by hand, so to speak, and when they are so little that they cannot be reasoned with she turns them across her lap and administers a spank that teaches a little experimenter that it is painful to pour ink on the best rug or that converts a raging rebel into a beaming pacifico in the twinkling of an eye. Mrs. A. also believes in law and order, and she teaches her children to obey and respect her authority as their commanding officer.

Likewise, Mrs. A. is of the opinion that Solomon knew what he was talking about when he said that as the twig is bent the tree is inclined, so she begins in their cradles inculcating the amenities of life in them. They are drilled in table etiquette. They are taught to speak courteously to every one; to be appreciative of what people do for them; to consider the property and rights of others and generally to conduct themselves like gentle people instead of boors.

Believing that every one should be useful and pull their way in the boat, Mrs. A. teaches her children when they are mere babes to put away their toys when they have finished with them, and when they are a little older to hang up their coats and caps on their own particular hooks and pick up their towels off of the bathroom floor. Later each one is given some special task that he or she is responsible for, all of which is not only a great help to Mother, but also establishes habits of neatness and thrift and industry and dependability that will be their best assets as long as the children live.

Mrs. B., on the contrary, puts her faith in the noninterference system of bringing up children. She boasts that she never says "don't" to them. She never suppresses their natural inclinations, even when they run to breaking windows and making themselves terrors of the neighborhood.

She never makes her children obey her. She lets them "sass" her and tell her she is a fool and that they won't do what she tells them to do. They go to school or not as they please. They eat like pigs. They have the manners of hoodlums. And already at 8 are beyond all control.

Which, of these women is the good mother? Which mother is doing her duty by her children and fitting them for life? Which mother's children are going to be successful? Which mother's children are going to grow up into being fine men and women who will love and honor her and be a credit to her? And which mother's children are going to be rotters and failures who will neglect her and treat her with scorn and contumely and shut their doors in her face if she is in want?

You don't need to be a seer to read the futures of these two families of children. The A. children are going to be able to meet whatever hardships in life come to them and triumph over them because they are disciplined and self-controlled. They have learned in their infancy to master their appetites and their impulses and they will not make drunkards or wastrels. They have been taught obedience and they will not make criminals or lawbreakers. They have been taught to work and to keep at a task until they finished it, and any man or woman who does that goes on to success. And their good manners are the sesame that will open every door to them.

Nor do you have to be a crystal-gazer to see what will happen to the children who have never had "don't" said to them; who have been spoiled rotten and made soft and unfitted for a world in which only the strong survive. They will be the youngsters who wreck their lives before they fairly begin them.

The boys and girls who have never been taught to control themselves and who are sots and wild women in their teens; who have never been taught respect for law and who are speed maniacs who figure in terrible automobile accidents. The miserable men and women who are failures because their mother brought them up to be failures. What kind of a mother are you? DOROTHY DIX.

For Friday, January 14.

ACCORDING TO the lunar tarnsits for this day, there may be various kinds of portentious situations to confront. Writings, documents and legal matters may need devastating. Old matters appear complicated and may be better for further postponements.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared for a year in which sound judgment, patience and perseverance may be required to sidestep some ominous situations. Legal matters, documents, letters or other writings are involved, calling for precaution against loss, trickery, fraud and malicious enmity. Old matters, elders and the health may give concern also; protect each of them.

A child born on this day may be clever and talented but disposed to put over its schemes and shrewd ideas through smooth practices, trickery or easy methods. This may bring it into legal jeopardy or some form of public penalty, unless it be given rigorous training in honor and integrity in its earliest youth.

Write Letters Easily Without Pen Chewing

"I've been meaning for ages to answer you. But you know how I hate to write letters," you scribble. Then you chew your pen!

Won't Jack feel "let down"! Just as if you'd said, "I really don't want to see you!" And you'll finish as usual, "Yours in haste." As rude as saying, "You'll have to go now. I'm busy!"

Charming letters show you've enjoyed writing them! You might begin, "I've chased out the kid brother, taken the telephone receiver from the hook and muffled the doorbell. Nothing is going to spoil my fun in writing to you!"

Letter-writing can be fun if you know the simple rules. Our 32-page booklet lists them. Helpful vocabulary and spelling lists. Correct sample letters for all occasions—business and social. Write letter that show you at your best.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of GOOD LETTER-WRITING MADE EASY to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

GETTING RID OF JUNK

WHEN YOU are building up a lead-throwing end play at a suit contract, it is necessary to eliminate from both your own hand and the dummy all suits which the opponent can lead except trumps in each hand and the suit in which you hold one or more cards in a tenace position. Your discards on the earlier tricks must be chosen in such a way that you get rid of the last remaining card in a third suit, or otherwise an opponent can break up your effort by returning that one for a simple ruff.

West's opening lead was the diamond K, which was won in the dummy with the A. The clubs A and K were cashed and then the spade A. A club was led to the Q and on the spade K, declarer discarded a heart from the dummy. The spade J was then ruffed and the heart finesse tried. When this failed, declarer was set.

South's discard of a heart was pointless. He should have discarded a diamond on the spade K, and then thrown West in with the diamond 10. After cashing his diamond, West would then have had to lead a heart or give the declarer a ruff and discard, which would have been just as helpful.

The declarer in discarding a heart instead of a diamond, leaving one diamond in dummy for West to lead to, spoiled his chance of forcing West to lead a suit which would be beneficial to the declarer. All West had to do in that case was to lead another diamond and allow South to ruff.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

How should South play to make his contract of 3-No Trump after the lead of the club K?

Zadok Dumbkopf has a new idea on how to curb reckless auto drivers. "Instead of fining these heavy-footed fanatics or tossing them into the castiron chicken coop," says Zadok, "the judge should make speeders take a ride on a bob sled at full speed.

✧ ✧ ✧

"A bob sled ride," continued Dummy, "down Gooseberry hill in my home would make going around a corner on two wheels on a slippery street seem as tame as a rocking chair marathon.

✧ ✧ ✧

"Imagine the worst roller coaster ride you ever had and then multiply it by 12 and you still won't have what a bob sled voyage does to your nerves. I know, I tried it once.

✧ ✧ ✧

"I'm sure that after a taste of a bob sled voyage the most incurable auto speed demon would forever after have the nervous jitters when the speedometer got as high as 15 miles per."

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S BANK.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Daddy, will you please give me a penny."

Uncle Wiggily looked up from the paper he was reading to see one of his newest little rabbit children standing beside his chair holding out a tiny paw.

"Well, Tootsie, if I give you a penny, what will you do with it?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Buy candy," said Tootsie.

"Oh! Um! Er—well, don't you ever save your pennies, Tootsie?" asked Mr. Longears, sort of serious like.

Yet he wasn't too serious for his pink nose was twinkling in a very jolly way.

"Is saving pennies the same as spending pennies?" asked the little rabbit girl. I forgot to say Tootsie was a girl rabbit.

No Bank?

"Oh, no," said Uncle Wiggily. "Saving your pennies means to put them in a bank. Have you a bank in which to save your pennies, Tootsie, my dear?"

"No, Daddy," Tootsie answered. "So please give me a penny to spend for candy."

"And please give me a penny, too, Daddy," said another voice. Tootsie's little twin brother rabbit, who was named Wootsie, hopped up to Uncle Wiggily's chair and held out his paw.

"Oh, so you want a penny, do you, Wootsie?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Yes, please, Daddy. Just like Tootsie. Twins have everything alike, you know."

"Yes, I suppose so," said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "But do you ever save your pennies, Wootsie, and put them in a bank?"

"No Daddy," said the little twin boy rabbit. "I spend my pennies for candy just like Tootsie."

"We twins do everything just the same," said Tootsie, still holding out her paw for the penny.

"Well, I must get a bank so you little twins can save your pennies instead of spending them for candy," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll give you each a penny now. But afterward, I want you to begin saving some of your money in a bank. Don't spend it all."

"No, Daddy!" said Tootsie and Wootsie together as twins should.

After giving the twins their pennies Uncle Wiggily went out to shovel the snow, for it was deep again. He piled it up off the walks and when he came in to rest, Buster, another boy rabbit, said to Custer, his brother:

"Oh, look at the big snow bank daddy made! Let's go out and play in it. Isn't that a swell bank!"

"Swell!" agreed Custer.

A Bank, All Right.

"Did you hear that?" whispered Tootsie to Wootsie. "That's the bank out there, that big white heap, that daddy said he would get for us to save our pennies in."

"Is it?" asked Wootsie.

"Sure it is!" said Tootsie. "Didn't you hear Buster say what a swell bank daddy made for us. Let's don't spend our pennies for candy. Let's save 'em in the bank, Wootsie."

"All right, Tootsie," said Wootsie. So the little twin rabbits went out to put their pennies in their daddy's snow bank, knowing no better.

And if the dill pickle doesn't paint red stripes with ketchup on the icicle to make it look like candy, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily digging in.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—It is embarrassing to Humphrey Bogart but will tickle Mr. Disney to know that his Donald Duck has received a flock of votes for the award that Bogart proposes to give to the best animal actor of last year.

Since we itemed the other day about the star's plan, letters have been pouring in so fast that he has had to put on two extra girls to handle the mail.

Bogart wants me to tell you people that he's sorry, but Donald Duck is not eligible. The winner will have to be a real animal—or fowl, if any comes to mind.

Early returns are tabulated: Donald Duck, 1,700 votes; Asta, the wire-haired in "The Thin Man" series, 1,200; assorted horses of cowboy stars, 6,000. One person voted for the water buffalo in "The Good Earth."

You still have plenty of time to get in your preference. The award won't be made until March.

✧ ✧ ✧

A group of us were discussing the other day the temperamental actresses and those who are regular. All hands agreed that Myrna Loy is regular. And this story was told.

When Myrna moved into Greta Garbo's dressing room, while her own was being redecorated, she found the clothes closet filled with the Swedish star's personal belongings.

Another actress might have asked for the clothes to be moved, or to be given another room.

Helen Broderick dashed to the train in makeup, so anxious was she to get to New York and to see her son, Broderick Crawford, in his Broadway hit, "Of Mice and Men."

Known for her assurance and her biting wit, the comedienne has been very much the proud mother about her son's success. When "Yes My Darling Daughter" opened here recently, Helen went backstage to see Florence Reed. She knocked on the dressing room door and some one asked: "Who is it?"

Helen answered: "It's Broderick Crawford's mother."

✧ ✧ ✧

Too bad about James Dunn's worries on his honeymoon. The actor's dog was bitten by a rabid animal and both Dunn and his mother had played with it before the discovery was made. Neither was bitten, but physicians may advise the Pasteur treatment, just to be on the safe side.

✧ ✧ ✧

With the blueprints all ready, Anne Shirley and John Payne have decided not to build a new home after all. Anne gave her other place to her mother and the honeymooners have been living in an apartment. They like it so well they have decided it is no use taking on any further responsibilities right now.

Meanest person in town was the woman who telephoned Mary Maguire, claiming to have found the star's $1,500 bracelet. She gave an apartment number but, when Mary rushed to the address, there was no such apartment. Several other people have called about the bracelet, and when the star answered, hung up Dorothy Lamour's first stop on her vacation was to see Husband Herbie Kay in Chicago. From there, to New York. Hollywood won't see her until February Loretta Young sighted at the Victor Hugo on the arm of Stanley Kahn. He's the New York publisher. Dixie Dunbar and Ivan Stauffer were a twosome at Eaton's.

The "Dead End" kids are forming a football team with Mervyn Le Roy as sponsor. They'll play Mickey Rooney's team. And Al Vanderbilt has asked Phyllis Brooks to name 15 of his thoroughbreds.

Among the newcomers brought in by the last fling of Hollywood's net is Arthur Rieck, whose big claim to fame is that he acted as skiing instructor to the Duke of Windsor at Semmering, Austria, last year. M. G.M. things Rieck is an acting prospect and is trying him out in a short called "How Do I Know?" He also has been signed to one of those ambiguous "long term contracts."

Movie executives, meeting Rieck, usually ask him about his Royal pupil. What kind of a skiier he is.

To which Rieck replies: "Well, he is very enthusiastic."

✧ ✧ ✧

It's no secret that Preston Foster is discontented with his recent vehicles at R.K.O., so maybe that is why he is thinking of vacations at this time of the year. The star is laying plans to sail a 60-foot sloop to the south seas in late summer. He'll carry along a crew of three, besides two guests and a cameraman, whose job it will be to photograph backgrounds for a south sea picture that Foster dreams of producing.

MOVIE SHORTS ON DOWNBEAT

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13. — While there was no heavy decline in the actual number of short features produced in 1937, lack of running time on theatre programs further trimmed the quantity of short reels turned out. This has meant pruning of the two-reel field. Subsequent hike in one-reelers, including animated cartoons, travelogs, novelties and scenics was done to fill exhibitor needs.

Destiny of shorts, other than outstanding one-reel subjects, obviously was tied up in the trend of double feature programs, as the year ended. The added feature pictures have meant lower rentals for the few two-reel subjects remaining, as well as a proportional reduction on the one-reel films. These trimmed rentals apparently have hit the quality of two-reel shorts and may, if they have not already, affect the amount of coin put into the briefer short features.

CAR KILLS PEDLAR

TORONTO, Jan. 13—(CP).—Toronto's first traffic fatality in 1938 occurred today when Dinno Gessoff, pushing a cart along a main business artery, was struck by a motor car driven by Delbert Way. Way was charged with reckless driving.

Carole Lombard's Income Placed At $460,000

CAROLE LOMBARD — THREE OF HER PUBLICITY PICTURES

Carole Lombard blonde-screen actress, is said to have had an income of $460,000 in 1937. Carole made four pictures, three of them of the sophisticated comedy type, in 1937. While nearly a half million sounds high and mighty, Carole probably could bank merely $60,000 of that. Federal and California taxes would take a large cut, while living expenses, agent's commission and salaries for her personal staff would eat up an additional large share.

Court Grants Frank Fay Right To Visit His Adopted Son

Divorced Wife Barbara Stanwyck Says She Left Fay Because Of Liquor

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13 (AP) — Frank Fay, actor and master of ceremonies, has a date today to visit the home of his divorced wife, Barbara, Stanwyck, and chat with their adopted son, Dion.

Over-ruling the movie actress' contention Fay was not fit to have custody of the five-year-old boy, Judge Goodwin Knight issued an order permitting Fay to take the child to his home every other Saturday, and to visit him every Tuesday and Thursday at Miss Stanwyck's residence.

"I won everything I asked for," Fay commented after the court fight. "I merely wanted to see Dion, and I haven't been able to do so."

There were certain stipulations in the court order:

Fay may not see the child if he has liquor on him, "externally or internally."

Fay's lawyers tried to show Miss Stanwyck didn't want Fay around because she frequently entertained Robert Taylor, screen adonis. The actress admitted Taylor visited her home often and played with Dion.

Broadway Star

ORSON WELLES

Orson Welles, important young actor, who has stirred Broadway with a modern dress production of "Julius Caesar," appearing as Brutus. Welles was born in 1913 at Kenosha, Wis. An orphan at the age of 15, he determined to go to Scotland, intending to study stage design there. On a two-week stopover in Ireland, he became intrigued with the idea of touring Ireland in a donkey cart. His lone vagabond tour ended near Dublin, where he sold the donkey and the cart for his fare to Dublin, a meal and a ticket to the Gates theatre, one of Ireland's famous theatres. After attending the performance, he applied for a role in the next play and obtained the part. For several years he played on stages of Dublin and London, but eventually returned to the United States. His climb to success in the U. S. received impetus when he was engaged to make a country-wide tour with Miss Katherine Cornell. Since that time he has appeared in many Broadway productions, including "Panic." And his founding of the Mercury theatre this year seems to have revitalized Broadway.

Jane Withers Plans Return To Atlanta

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13 — After having been away from home six years almost to the day, Jane Withers and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Withers, having conquered Hollywood in the meantime, will arrive back in Atlanta, Ga., on March 10.

During the first three years in Hollywood there was no reason to go home, Mrs. Withers felt. Jane hadn't done what the folks back in Georgia felt she would—become a star. Then Jane won a Twentieth Century-Fox contract through her work in "Bright Eyes' and in the three years that have followed Jane has been so busy there hasn't been time for anything else.

This week 11-year-old Jane starts work in "Gypsy,' her thirteenth starring picture.

Hollywood Film Stars On New Fad, Male Secretaries Used As Buffers

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Male secretaries are all the rage among the glamorous stars of Hollywood right now! Tall, young, handsome he-man secretaries who can wear clothes like a fashion plate and dance divinely.

If that's hard to believe, just listen to Eleanor Powell, she of the magic dancing feet, who arrived here Wednesday form the west coast. Eleanor had living proof of the secretarial assertion in one Sidney Luft, 22 and collegiate from head to toe. Mr. Luft, she admitted as she introduced him to ship news reporters, is none other than her secretary.

And what a rhumba he dances. At Havana, she said, young Mr. Luft made the cheeks of the caballeros blanch with envy as he rhumbaed with Eleanor.

"It is not at all unusual for girls in Hollywood to have young men for secretaries," she insisted. "They are so efficient and they are swell buffers. By that I mean," she hastened to add, "they protect me from such boor's as autograph hunters and overanxious admirers."

Miss Powell denied vehemently there is "romance in her life." She did admit that while in New York she will be squired about town by an old friend from South America. He is Manuel Irigoyen, whom she described as the son of a former president of Peru.

In Old Chicago

20th Century-Fox release of Darryl Zanuck production. Features Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Alice Brady, Andy Divine, Brian Donlevy, Phyllis Brooks, Tom Brown, Sidney Blackmer, Berton Churchill, June Storey, Paul Hurst. Directed by Henry King.

(Variety)

'In Old Chicago' should register heavily at the box office, although its spectacularity is for the eye primarily. An elaborate and liberally budgeted entertainment, the pictorial climax is the Chicago fire of 1871. This portion envisaging mob panic, deperate efforts to stop the fire by dynamiting, etc., is highly effective.

Roster of players includes Tyrone Power, and Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Alice Brady, Andy Divine and Brian Donlevy. Picture is big and it is showy, but it is historically cockeyed in the placement of its main characters, and its story is mere rehash of corrupt political mismanagement of a growing American city. But as a film entertainment it is socko.

Mrs. O'Leary's cow that kicked over the kerosene lamp which started the blaze is a conspicuous figure in the film. Lamar Trotti and Sonya Levien, who fashioned the screen play from a story by Nevin Busch, have developed the O'Leary tradition beyond the limits of the barn. The entire family plays the most important part in the story, even to the point where one of the sons is projected as mayor of the city at the time of the fire, and another is pictured as the dishonest political boss, saloonkeeper and villain. This lively bit of imagery may be shocking to the members of the sedate and dignified Chicago historical society, acknowledgement of whose splendid co-operation in factual research is made the text of a special introductory title.

There is no reason why liberal dramatic license should not be taken by writers, if so disposed, and audiences are not likely to be captious about the veracity of characters or events. The result of such plot invention, however, is that no one will judge the film in any sense as an historical document, or as a serious attempt to catch the deeper spiritual aspects of the destruction, within two days, of a thriving and seething city which in 34 years had grown from a frontier fortress to the commercial capital of the middle west.

It was not alone in property loss, great as the figures show, which made the destruction of Chicago a dramatic episode. In the resolute and resourceful dedication of its bewildered, homeless and bankrupt people to the job of rebuilding their city lies the deeper emotional theme. Of this there is but slight intimation in the screenscript.

2-REEL NEWSREEL IN STRONG FAVOR

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13.—Proposal for a two-reel newsreel, advanced recently by Paramount News spokesman, is being looked on favorably by other reel executives, but only if it is made a once-per-week affair. This is the policy pursued by newsreels in France with some degree of success. Newsmen figure this would save on makeup cost, shipping and all down the line, without trimming the actual footage as now used. It would mean the same covering of stories but permit one release and makeup day weekly.

Talk of two-reel newsreels again brought up discussions over economic results that might be obtained through combining resources, manpower and accounts of two currently losing reels. No particular two were named although it is generally known in the trade that only two newsreels currently operate regularly in the black. One estimate was that combination of almost any two, now in the red, would enable the two to show a profit of $4,000 to $5,000 weekly.

Constance Collier, tracing the development of the movie colony, declares she found that "twenty years ago Hollywood was a country lane; today it is the most sophisticated community in the world." The famous actress was brought to Hollywood 20 years ago from England to play Lady Macbeth opposite Sir Herbert Tree, noted English actor, in the first Shakespearean play ever filmed. It was Miss Collier who introduced Douglas Fairbanks to Charles Chaplin, and the two became fast friends.

Sonja's Successor Ready

The January meeting of the X.L.C.R. class of St. James' Sunday school was held Monday evening at the home of the Misses Frost, aPrk street north. The meeting was opened by the president, with the reading of the 123rd Psalm, after which prayer was led by Miss Dorothy Drysdale. Following this a poem entitled "Old Calendars" was read by Miss Marian Wood Little Miss Jean Millard danced the Highland Fling and was accompanied by Marian Wood at the piano. It was decided that the class would present a play in the spring.

A delightful reading was given by Miss Alberta Frost, entitled "Church Music," after which two games of bingo were played, the prizes going to Miss Dorothy Drysdale and Miss Alma Welsh. A contest was run off and the prize was won by Miss Jessie Martin, teacher. The meeting came to a close with the serving of a lovely lunch by the committee in charge, Misses Marian Ward, Zoe McDonald, Dorothy and Alberta Frost.

Senior Branch of St. John's W.A.

The first monthly meeting of St. John's Senior Branch of the W.A. for 1938, was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, with a good attendance of members. The president, Mrs. G. S. Cameron, was in the chair. The rector, Canon Robertson, opened the meeting with the W.A. special intercession and prayers, followed by a splendid address; one of a series on the Corinthian Church. The treasurer's report, and those of the secreteries of the different departments were also presented. A special plea for more assistance at the weekly Dorcas meetings was made, as the bale of outfits, etc., must be completed and shipped by February 18. The sale of Church calendars and Christmas cards brought in a nice sum of money. Mrs. J. Cridland is to be thanked for this well-organized yearly sale. The Pledge Fund, which is a voluntary offering, was paid in full this past year, a cause for thankfulness and encouragement. Mrs. DelaFosse read an instructive and interesting papet on "How We got the New Testament. The meeting was closed with the members' prayer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dorrington and her committee.

King George H. & S.

Miss Edith Young, instructress of nurses at Nicholls Hospital gave a very interesting talk on nursing—its kind and branches, at a regular meeting of the King George Home and School Association held in the Kindergarten room on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Max Swanston presiding.

The Crimean War made Florence Nightingale realize the great necessity for nurses and in training in this specific field led to the modern school of nursing today. Miss Young summarized the requirements for entry into the training schools and pointed out the various kinds of nursing activity which may be entered into following the completion of the training course.

"Nursing is essentially a woman's job—one where she doesn't have to compete with men and only strong and physically fit should apply for entry into the training school." Nurses should assist in the preservation of health, the prevention of disease, and the treatment and care of disease. She should be of the highest integrity as she is part of a trust.

The banner for the roll call was won by Miss Moore's room.

Chesler-Ross.

The marriage took place at the Belvin in Toronto recently of Molly Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross of Toronto, to Lewis Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Chesler of Peterborough. Rabbi Samuel Sacks officiated.

The bride wore a gown of white lace with orange blossoms at the neck and a tulle veil was held at the head by a cluster of lily of the valley. Mrs. Cecille Cohen, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and she was bowned in flesh-colored lace and chiffon. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses, and wore a wreath of silver leaves over a flesh-colored veil.

After the reception a dinner was held for about 60 guests. Mrs. Ross, mother of the bride, received in a gown of beige lace with matching hat and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Chesler, mother of the groom, received in a gown of black lace, with hat to match and wore a corsage of American Beauty roses.

The young couple spent their honeymoon in New York, stopping en route to visit sisters of the bride in Oswego and Rochester. They will reside at 1237 Avenue Road, Toronto.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: M. S. Zacks, Mr. and Mrs. H. Zacks, Mr. and Mrs. L. Loftus, Mrs. M. Swartz, Mr. and Mrs. B. Rogow, Louis Zacks and Benjamin Swartz of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Sinclair of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Adelman of Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Amdursky of Oswego, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. William Ader and daughter Carol May of Rochester, N.Y.

Black With Stripes

SHIRLEY ROSS

Dinner dates demand a special type of dress and hat. Shirley Ross, screen actress, wears a smart gown of black crepe with a bodice of roman striped taffeta and a brief jacket of the crepe accented by two cut steel buttons. The hat is a sophisticated combination of black velvet and scarlet suede with high crown and a single plume of black ostrich.

My mind still plays on the subject of simple foods and the Hash Casserole can either be made from leftovers or freshly ordered ingredients.

Hash Casserole With Macaroni.

Boil ¼ lb. macaroni in plenty of water until tender. Drain and place in large casserole and sprinkle with 2/3 cup dry grated cheese. Push the macaroni to the sides to form a fence and fill centre with ground leftover beef which has been sauteed slightly with 1 grated onion, one tablespoon finely chopped green pepper, and a sprinkling of sage in 2 tablespoons butter. Salt and pepper and a little water may have to be added to this to give the whole dish enough moisture when it is baked. Cover and heat through, removing cover to brown top. Good cooks will see that this could be covered with crumbs or that tomato juice could be used in place of the hot water—do not sint on this liquid ingredient, especially if this dish is apt to have to wait in the oven until the master arrives, for dinner. A grand inexpensive dinner dish. Serve with a generous green salad with a sharp French dressing.

Sequin Jacket

Home and School Dinner.

Confederation Home and School Association held a banquet Tuesday evening for the teachers, trustees and their wives in the basement of St. George's Church. W. R. Potter sang grace at the beginning of the dinner, and the toast to the King was given by Rev. T. S. Gault. The toast to the school was offered by Mrs. Monk, and H. Welch and Mr. Pitchford spoke on the work of the teachers and the school. Other speakers were Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. E. Ainslie. A vote of thanks to Mrs. L. Johnson and her assistants was moved by Mr. Potter and seconded by Mr. Potter who also led the assembly in community singing. The rest of the evening was spent in carpet bowling. The next meeting of the Association on February 1 will be in memory of the founder, the late Mrs. A. C. Courtice.

Guests at the dinner were:—Mrs. E. Ainslie, Mrs. A. Thomas, Mrs. Naish, Mrs. R. Pilling, Mrs. Sutton, Mrs. D. Grant, Mrs. T. Starr, Mrs. T. Monk, Mrs. L. Johnson, Mrs. C. Wilson, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. E. McIlwain, Mrs. B. Millard, Mrs. Bailey, Miss O. Johnson, Miss D. Allen, Mrs. Jackson, Mr. J. Thexton, Mrs. Embury, Miss Garbutt, Mr. and Mrs. B. Pitchford, Mrs. L. Place For Dogs In Modern Life

BOSTON, Jan. 13 (CP). — More than 100 residents of the Federal low-priced housing centre at Greenbelt, Md., have signed petitions asking that dogs be no longer exiled from that collection of supposedly happy homes. They who laid down the rules to govern life in a model community decided it was not for dogs.

"In advocacy of the government projects much stress is laid upon them as blessings to children," the Boston Transcript says.

"But to the boy living in the model apartment with all the modern improvements there is likely to be yearning for the dog that is denied him. And so with the older boys and the women folks.

"More is involved than the love for the dog. To possess a dog has been regarded as one of the inalienable rights of human kind. It is a right not to be denied because of residence. It places on a par the penthouse on the avenue and the dead-end tenement.

"Is the appearance of the government as a philanthropic home-builder to cause an exception to the rule? The Greenbelt dwellers may be raising a question that will yet trouble the theorists."

Keene United W.M.S. Busy Year

KEENE, Jan. 13.—The W.M.S. of the United Church, Keene, held their first meeting of the year in the club-room on Wednesday. There was a good attendance.

The various secretaries gave their reports on the year's work, showing a very successful busy year in the work of the W.M.S.

Mrs. G. T. Gall, president of the "Busy Bees" group, took charge of the program, which consisted of a hymn, followed by the Scripture reading; prayer, led by Mrs. Gall; Devotional leaflet, Mrs. Minnifie; reading by Mrs. James Nelson, called "Facing the New Year"; duet by Mrs. Minnifie and Mrs. A. Fletcher. Mrs. J. S. Ferguson gave a paper on 'Christian Stewardship'; Mrs. Rennie gave a reading on 'Temperance,' followed by a prayer. A hymn and the benediction closed the meeting.

Casserole Dish Is Helpful In Simplifying a Meat

By MRS. MARY MORTON

Menu Hint

Corn and Tomato Casserole
Cabbage and Apple Salad
Pecan Pie Coffee

You may use canned tomatoes in the casserole recipe at this time of year, and fresh tomatoes in the summer time.

Today's Recipes

CORN AND TOMATO CASSEROLE— Tow cups of corn, one onion, minced; two eggs, two tablespoons butter, four sliced tomatoes, one pound ground beef,(one-half cup crumbs, one green pepper, minced; one-half teaspoon salt, one-eigth teaspoon pepper, mashed potato or macaroni. Add eggs, crumbs, onion, green pepper, butter, salt and pepper to meat and mix well. Pack meat on bottom of well-greased casserole. Put one-half of the corn over the meat. Place sliced tomatoes over the corn and then more corn on top of the tomatoes. Top with mashed potatoes or cooked macaroni. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees F., from forty-five minutes to one hour. Strips of bacon may be placed over the top if desired. This dish may be prepared in advance and stored in refrigerator food compartment until ready to bake.

PECAN PIE.—The filling: Three eggs, slightly beaten; one cup sugar, one cup dark corn syrup, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half to one cup pecan meats, coarsely chopped; one teaspoon vanilla. Mix the above ingredients, adding the nutmeats last. Pour into a standard size pie pan or into an eight-inch square shallow pan, which has been lined with pastry. Place in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) for about ten minutes, then reduce the oven to a low heat (325 degrees F.) and bake until the filling is firm, about fifty minutes. After about forty minutes insert a silver knife blade into the filling; the pie is done when knife comes out clean; continue baking until this test proves successful. The filling will appear quite thin when first poured into the pan, but puffs up during the baking; when done the top will be firm and crusty, with pecans showing. Cool slowly.

Pie Crust: One and three-fourths cups flour, one-fourth cup cornstarch, eight tablespoons vegetable shortening, cold water to moisten —about four tablespoons; one-half teaspoon salt. Sift the flour, cornstarch and salt into a bowl. Stir in the shortening, and moisten with water to consistency desired. Turn onto a floured board and roll out at once.

Soap Wanted!

Make sure the soap is handy before you step into the shower bath or tub. Once you are wet all over and there is only an empty space where the soap should be, you must either remain unwashed or go through the tiresome business of stepping out, getting dry, and finding another cake. In either case, you are off on the wrong foot.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta.

"Better to weave in the web of life
A bright and golden filling,
And to do God's will with a ready heart,
And hands that are swift and willing,
Than to snap the slender, delicate threads
Of our courious life asunder,
And then blame heaven for the tangled ends
And sit and grieve and wonder."
—Anon.

Dear Friends:

Once before I told you haw hard it was for me to say "Thy Will be done." It seemed to me that God's will for me was always very painful. Not the thing I wanted or craved, not the way I wanted to go, but doing something I had little joy in doing.

But, I have found out that many times it was not His will I was doing, but some other human beings' will. Something they should have done themselves, but pushed onto me, and I in my ignorance thought it was God whose will I was doing.

No wonder I felt rebellious, and maybe you have felt the same way at times. Look at it this way. Supposing someone near and dear to you is killed by a careless driver of a car or truck. Then, when the funeral sevice is on, someone says "God's will be done." Don't you think it is a rotten thing to put the blame for the death onto God?

Did He drive the machine which snuffed out the life of your dear one? Was the one who caused this terrible thing doing the will of God in being careless, or in drinking before he started out? I think not.

No, sir. Ever since I remember I have thought there were too many things blamed on Him, and that when human beings made mistakes which caused heart-break, they did not want to take the blame, and so said very piously, "It is the will of God."

I had a little cousin who died when I was about six. My sister, who was four went to see her. My aunt in her ignorance said she must put her hand on the dead girl's brow else she might dream of her. She also told my sister that they would bury our cousin in that box deep in the earth. Her mind could not compass it. Her playmate to be buried like that, never to see her again, it was too much fo her to grasp.

And so, six months later my small sister died. They said it was the will of God. I said "Oh no, it was Auntie's fault" and got a licking for saying it. Many's the verbal licking I have got when I tried to put the blame where it belonged since then.

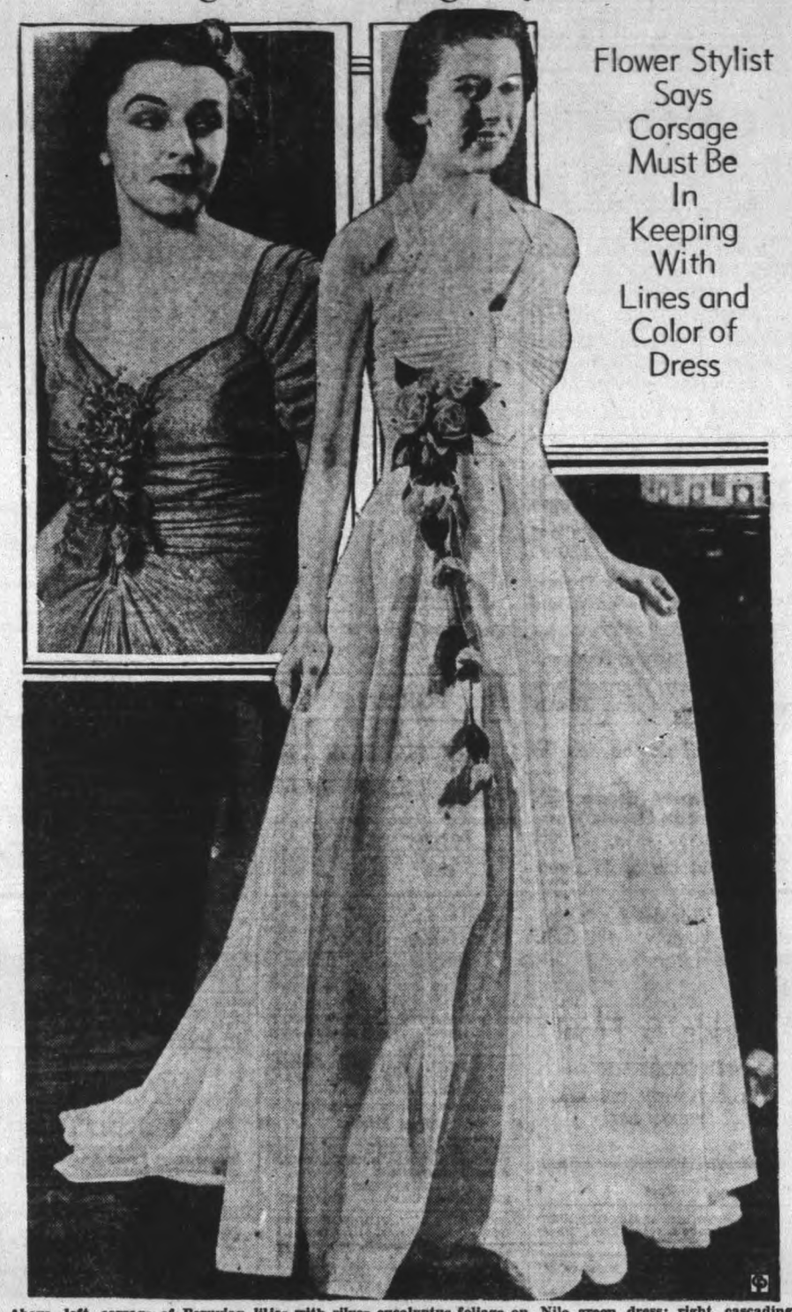
But, we have a tendency, when we hear or read a thing often enough, to believe it. (Advertisers please note) And so, like the rest of you, I have many times thought I was doing the will of God, when I was simply doing the will of another.

What did He give us our brains for, if not to use them? Where does our decent desires spring from? If we would listen to Him more often instead of listening to others, our lives would be more joyous, more happy, more full of interest.

We hate to annoy some other by not doing what they want of us, but we do not hesitate to annoy God by refusing to do His will, then, when we hate what we ae doing, we say "God's will be done." We cannot interpret the Bible fully, but I am convinced that He never meant us to be as unhappy as most of us are. This is too big a subject for one article, so More Later. But think It over.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

There's a Right And Wrong Way to Wear Posies



Flower Stylist Says Corsage Must Be In Keeping With Lines and Color of Dress

By MRS. BERT S. McDONALD
Central Press Flower Stylist

There's as much art in wearing flowers as there is in wearing clothes. Both must be donned with good taste, a sense of chic and a sense of line.

Now that the mid-winter social season is here, you'll be receiving lots of flowers to wear to dances, dinners, concerts and theatres. You'll want to wear your posies in the most effective and fashionable way, and you'll want to wear the right flowers with the right costume.

For it IS important that flowers be in keeping with the color and the lines of your gown. So, the next time your escort asks you what kind of flowers you want for the dance, don't say, "Oh, anything to go with a white dress." Instead, study your frock and yourself, and work out something really new and smart in flower fashions. Something that will become part of your dress, that will make you stand out.

Study these pictures to see sow beautifully an arrangement of flowers can be made to fit in with the lines of a gown. A corsage of tiny Peruvian lilies—rich orange in color—follow the center bosom line of a gown of Nile green lame. And a cascading arrangement of red roses is just the proper note for the full-skirted frock with its charming bodice designed with soft fan pleating.

CAPE TOWN—(CP).—Leaving her farm for the first time in 32 years, Mrs. L. A. Pitout, 87, paid a visit to her mother, Mrs. Amelia Payne, 102, in the next province.

British Nurses To Fare Better

LONDON, Jan. 13—(CP).—In one London hospital only nine objects have been allowed on a nurse's dressing-table. If more were found the nurse got into serious trouble.

It is likely that hereafter she will have more and that such petty restrictions will be changed, if the Charter for Nurses goes into effect.

The National Association of Local Government Officers has designed a "Charter for Nurses," to obtain better pay, improved conditions and greater opportunities for all women engaged in the nursing and public-health services of local authorities.

The "charter" is published in the hope that it will interest and inspire women already in the services.

In regard to training and qualifications the N.A.L.G.O. proposes that preliminary training for nursing should begin at 15 to 16 years of age by means of courses in anatomy, physiology, hygiene, food values, cooking and household management, in secondary, technical and evening schools and under student-nursing schemes.

Training hospitals should admit probationer nurses from the age of 17 years; probationer nurses should not be employed at hospitals without training facilities; and full opportunities, including leave of absence with pay and maintenance grants, should be given to nurses seeking post-graduate training.

Grandma Sails Spanish Main

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico., Jan. 13 (CP).—Treasure routes of the old Spanish Main are being rediscovered by a white-haired grandmother of 60, Mrs. Mimi Horn, sailing in the owner's cabin of her own ship.

No swaggering adventurer is the capable German woman, but any one of the crew of 53 on the S.S. Frida Horn will tell you she knows ships and shipping and can wangle a cargo with the best of steamship men. From Hamburg to Port of Spain, from Curacao to Haiti, the blue and red flags of Mrs. Horn's ships herald the approach of as capable a trader as the West Indies know.

Moored in the shadows of the ancient fortresses that hedge San Juan, the Frida Horn, a 6,000-ton freighter of Hamburg, with Mrs. Horn aboard paused en route to Haiti. The mistress of the freighter received her agent and visitors on the forward deck. Her white hair, bobbed and windblown, is the only sign of Mrs. Horn's age. Her voice is soft and low. She wears mannish white silk blouses and linen skirts in the tropics. With her, sailing is an old story and she seemed surprized that her presence aboard ship, as owner, should arouse interest or inquiry.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties. BUT, if you are cross, lifeless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure.

Make a note NOW to get a bottle of world-famous Pinkham's Compound today WITHOUT FAIL from your druggist—more than a million women have written in letters reporting benefit.

ARE YOU WASTING MONEY ON INSIPID TEA ?

LABOR UNREST TOPPLES GOVERNMENT OF FRANCE

Retiring Allowance For All At 60 Tops Labor Plea

Prefer Democracy Over Dictatorships Abroad; Ask Vote Before War, Senate Curb, Milk Probe

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—(CP)—An adequate retiring allowance for all who retire from industry or commerce after the age of 60 was urged upon the Dominion government in the annual legislative program of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and affiliate bodies submitted today to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues.

By this means, it was stated greater opportunity for employment would be created and cost of maintaing those young enough to work would be lessened. The delegation was headed by P. M. Draper of Ottawa.

Constitutional amendments were recommended to enable the federal governmeht to exercise jurisdiction over social and labor organization of Canada as a whole and over industrial and commercial activities to ensure observance of proper standards and fair competition.

Further amendments should be made ,the submission urged, to empower the federal authorities to regulate highway transport, to restrict power of the senate to veto any bill passed at three separate sessions of the House of Commons, and to abolish appeals to the Privy Council.

Declaring that "ground for fears of the outbreak of a terrific war have increased," the Congress repeated previous assurances of cooperation with the government in peace efforts.

The Congress is opposed to war in principle and feels that Canada should not enter any conflict unless our entry is first approved by the people in a referendum vote," the submission stated.

RISING MERCURY MAKES ROADS ICY

TORONTO, Jan. 14—(CP)—Rising temperatures melted the blanket of snow covering Ontario today and made highways slippery while streets of several cities were covered with slush.

London appeared one of the warm spots of the province where a high of 28 degrees above zero was reported last night. Early today the London temperature was 18 above.

Traffic was slowed in Windsor as more snow fell over the district. Streets were treacherous in spots made slippery by slush. At Galt the mercury rose from a low of 14 degrees above zero to 22 above at 8 o'clock this morning. The weather was clear and snow was unexpected.

St. Catharines reported the same temperature as Galt with a further rise expected. Roads were slippery but no accidents were reported. There was no snow in that district today.

From North Bay came reports of fog and a heavy frost felt in the district. The fog started to clear early today but skies remained cloudy. Peterborough reported mild temperatures and snow.

Paris now has only 250,000 telephone subscribers.

ANGLICANS' BIBLE DECISION CREATES NEW CONTROVERSY

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP—An Anglican church commission's 292-page report on Christian doctrine, which sets forth that one may reconcile the Biblical account of the world's creation with evolutionary theories, and that the Bible need not be taken as prejudging historical or scientific investigation in any field, raised at least one critic today.

Twenty leaders of the Church of England took 15 years to complete the report dealing with such fundamental questions as the virgin birth, angels, demons, evolution and the resurrection.

Reaction came first from the church association, through its secretary, Rev. E. C. Bowring, who said: "The commission has incubated a report which is merely an addled ostrich egg, for they disclaim the idea of defining what doctrine is permissible in the Church of England. According to the archbishop's commission, you can think what you like and still be Christian."

The church association was founded by evangelical churchmen who favor simplified forms of worship and oppose the ritual of the high church section.

Some Comments

Papal claims—the Church of England still is bound to resist the claims of the Papacy but "some of us" envisage a reunion of Christendom under leadership such as "a papacy which has renounced some of its present claims." Other members of the commission hoped for a reunion "by a more federal type of constitution which would have no need" for such leadership.

Miracles—The Commission was divided on whether they occur. But agreed that God "could do" them if he "would." Some held he would not wish to perform them.

Angels and demons—"It is legiti-

BORN TO BE HUNG

BILLINGS, Mont., Jan. 14 (AP)—"If you're born to be hung," said Frank Robideau, scheduled for execution on the gallows tomorrow, "you'll never die in a feather bed, and if you're born to die in a feather bed you'll never be hung."

Robideau, one-time prison cook, who confessed killing Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kuntz, then ordered fried chicken, cold mince pie and a watermelon—if it can be found—for his last meal tonight.

Park Given To Board

The R. A. Morrow Memorial Trust has been recently instituted and given a deed of the twenty-eight acres of the Peterborough Exhibition Park on specific condition that the property is to be used for agricultural and industrial exhibition purposes or as a public park assumed by the city. If at any time the twenty-eight acres opposite the Ovaltine plant are no longer desired by the community for any of these public uses they will then revert to Mr. Morrow or his estate. The park is named in memory of R. A. Morrow, father of H. A. Morrow, who is still kindly remembered by the many Peterborough people who knew him.

BITTER DODD RAP AT HITLER ANGERS NAZIS OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (A.P.)—German Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff protested to State Secretary Hull to-day against William E. Dodd's address in New York last night in which the former United States envoy to Berlin attacked the Hitler regime.

Dodd, who recently resigned as American Ambassador, was quoted as assailing Chancellor Hitler as a ruler responsible for the killing of more personal enemies in five years than Charles II. of England slew in 20.

Dodd described Hitler as having power "more absolute than any medieval Emperor of Germany," and warned that civilization would be in grave danger unless Germany, Italy and Japan were checked by the democracies of the world.

A historian and university professor, Dodd resigned last month from the post he had held in Berlin since 1933 because of his disagreement with Hitler's policies.

President Roosevelt has appointed Hugh Wilson, now Assistant Secretary of State, to succeed him.

England is becoming enthused over cheetah racing.

Exhibition Park Is Given To Directors

Five Trustees Will Control The R. A. Morrow Memorial Trust

Announcement that the directors of Peterborough Industrial Exhibition have received virtual possession of Exhibition Park as a gift from Harold A. Morrow was made by Thomas Brown, president, at the annual meeting of the members and directors of the Exhibition in the council chamber this afternoon.

The property consisting of twenty-eight acres has been placed under control of five trustees, and is to be used for agricultural and industrial purposes under the continuing supervision of the directors of the Exhibition, or under any other board which may carry on an exhibition for the benefit of the farming and industrial community of this district.

Use As a Public Park

In event of the Park ceasing to be used for exhibition purposes, the city of Peterborough will be granted the opportunity of taking over the property for use only as a public park. Should the city in those circumstances decide not to accept the property it will revert to the former owner, Mr. Morrow, or his estate.

The members of the newly appointed R. A. Morrow Memorial Trust are Harold Morrow, R. M. Glover, Roland Denne, William G. Thompson and Colonel Frank L. Bradburn.

The announcement by Mr. Brown today embodies one of the most generous public contributions made in Peterborough for a long time. The property was valued at $65,000 a decade or more ago when the Exhibition Board was considering the possibilities of buying it, and if it were subdivided into building lots it would probably be worth $100,000.

Brief Statement

In deference to Mr. Morrow's desire to avoid publicity, Mr. Brown made a brief statement explaining that park lots eighteen, nineteen and twenty in North Monaghan and lot number fourteen in the eleventh concession had been transferred by the owner under a trust deed to be known as the R. A. Morrow Memorial Trust under the control of five trustees. The property must be used for agricultural and industrial purposes, and if at any time the Exhibition should cease to exist and no other similar use was made of it,

Budding Journalists Sign Anything

Syracuse, N.Y., Jan. 14 (AP)

SYRACUSE University School of Journalism students passed a petition around among fellow students in a "gullibility test."

They found 115 seniors would sign a paper that at the start read like a proposal to eliminate final exams for seniors but ended up with a promise to serve five years in a chain gang.

Said the Journalism students: "They'll sign anything."

LAY CONVENT FIRE TO GIRL TOSSING FAG DOWN CHUTE

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP).—Fire Marshal W. J. Scott reported today that the $350,000 fire that destroyed Loretto Abbey at Niagara Falls on Monday night was started by a burning cigarette butt, thrown by a girl student into a waste-paper chute.

"Our office is concerned only with cases of incendiarism and we are not interested in finding the individual who dropped the cigarette," Mr. Scott said.

The fire, which spread quickly through the 75-year-old structure, forcing 45 nuns and 60 pupils to flee, started in a receptacle at the bottom of the waste chute. It roared up through the shaft to the roof.

Investigation by the Fire Marshal's department was closed when cause of the blaze was established.

AFTER NANTAO ROBBERS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14 (C.P.-Havas)—Japanese authorities in Shanghai imposed martial law in the Nantao district to-day after two Chinese had been killed and two others wounded while attempting to sneak through barbed wire entanglements separating the Chinese district from the International Settlement.

Japanese military officials said that at least 20 Chinese "robbers" had attemped to get through the barbed wire with a large quantity of stolen goods.

JUDGE IS OPPOSED TO FREEING COMBA NEW TRIAL LIKELY

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP)—Chief Justice F. R. Latchford of the Ontario Court of Appeals today said he would not be disposed to nullify the conviction of John A. Comba, 26-year-old cripple of Renfrew, Ont., for the murder of Ethel Hedderwick last August.

His Lordship was the only one of five justices who expressed an opinion immediately after counsel for Comba had completed argument directed toward a reversal of the jury verdict at Pembroke Nov. 25.

A new trial now is conceded by the Crown and the court for Comba who is under sentence to be hanged Feb. 10 for the murder of the 13-year-old daughter of a Renfrew mill-worker. The girl's body, her skull fractured by a stone, was found in a clearing on the fringe of Renfrew on the evening of Aug. 3. It was Comba, the man later accused and convicted of the crime, who discovered the body. The girl had been criminally assaulted.

Crown Counsel C. P. Hope, K.C., and members of the court are ready to grant a new trial on the ground that Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, at the Pembroke trial, allowed two Crown witnesses to be called after the case was closed. They were questioned by the jury, but the defence was not given the right to cross-examine.

Plunge Of The Franc Is Final Straw For Chautemps

Socialist Supporters Bring Decision by Quitting When Faced With Budget Deficit of Billion Dollars

PARIS, Jan. 14—(AP)—The Bank of France ordered all exchange transactions suspended today "until further notice" as President Albert Lebrun began early morning conferences, seeking a new government to replace the shattered popular front cabinet of Camille Chautemps.

Chautemps resigned early today.

George Bonnet, resigning finance minister, remained to direct finances in the interim of naming a new cabinet, and the Bank of France instructions to exchange dealers prohibited dealing in all foreign currencies for an indefinite period.

Even tourists were prohibited from changing money. Financial sources said that there were to be "no exchange dealings whatsoever."

Daladier Declines.

Daladier's refusal was made known shortly after indications appeared that the Socialists would insist that the Premiership be given to a leader of their party, the largest group in the Chamber of Deputies.

Lebrun sought a Government that could solve France's problems of a fluctuating currency, a prospective budget deficit fixed by some at $1,350,000,000, and spreading strikes by workmen protesting increased living costs.

He summoned to conference Jules Jeanneney, president of the Senate; Edouard Herriot, president of the Chamber, and others of the nation's political leaders.

There were some who felt the new Government would be a middle-of-the-road Cabinet, somewhere in between the broken Leftist Popular Front of Communist, Socialist and Radical Socialist constituency and the Conservative Right.

VANCOUVER PARK TO HIDE BATTERY AS CITY DEFENCE

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—(CP).—The defence department to-day confirmed intentions to establish a gun battery in Stanley Park, Vancouver, for defence of the entrance to Vancouver harbor. A memorandum issued by the department set forth the reasons.

The memorandum said:

A battery for the close defence of Vancouver has been recommended by the staff officers of the Department of National Defence as a necessary part of the Pacific Coast defence program now being carried out. The only suitable site for such a battery is at Ferguson Point in Stanley Park. As the appropriations for the current year include a sum for this undertaking, plans have now been completed and instructions to proceed have been issued.

Always Been Reserved.

In view of its strategic position at the entrance to Vancouver Harbor, Stanley Park was reserved for military purposes from very earliest days and all leases for park purposes have contained a reservation with regard to any military use that might be deemed necessary.

Having regard to the beautiful park development which has taken place there during the past quarter century, the minister has personally instructed that the project is to be finished in harmony with its surroundings to the utmost extent possible.

The work is to be done by day labor and in view of the necessary secrecy surrounding the detail of a defence work of this character, the same precautions will be taken as at Albert Head with regard to the selection of personnel. All persons employed must be either members of the active militia or ex-service men.

CONSTABLE WOUNDED

JERUSALEM, Jan. 14 (C.P.-Havas) — A British constable was seriously wounded when a police patrol, scouring the Hebron Mountains for the murderers of James Leslie Starkey, prominent British archaeologist, engaged in a running gun battle with armed terrorists.

The Arabs barricaded themselves in a house and when police attempted to force down the doors to arrest three of the band, suspected of complicity in the Starkey murder, one of the Arabs opened fire, wounding the constable.

ROOSEVELT JOLTS HOLDING FIRMS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (A.P.)—President Roosevelt said to-day he favored the elimination of all holding companies.

The United States President made the statement at a press conference in expressing unalterable opposition to the modification of the "death sentence" in the Utility Holding Company Act which had been proposed by Wendell L. Willkie, head of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, as one condition to an "understanding" with the administration.

The President did not indicate how he would terminate the Holding Company practice, but said remote control of local community banking should be ended as well as similar practices in the utility and other fields.

Asked if bankruptcy were the way out, the President replied in the negative and said there were various other ways.

He also was asked if the taxing power was to be utilized, answering that he had not reached that yet.

Mr. Roosevelt told a large gathering of reporters that holding companies should be wiped out even down to those of the first degree. Why have any at all, he asked his audience.

He replied with an emphatic afextend his principle to all lines of business.

The President made his observations on holding companies in analyzing in detail, at the request of reporters, a memorandum left with him on November 23 by Willkie. The document gave the utility executive's position on what he believed the industry was willing to do if the Government in turn did certain things.

Farm Sinks Away But Pays Owner

Buhl, Idaho, Jan. 14 (AP)

THE mysterious natural force that sawed a hole in H. A. Robertson's farm and dropped the bottom out is slowing down.

But spring thaws may start his canyon to sinking again, he said, half-hopefully, today.

For although 17 acres of good farm land dropped into a pit 300 to 500 feet deep, fees from 11,289 tourists since last August (at 25 cents a head) have done a lot to ease the loss. And another slip of the farm might bring a fresh flood of tourist dollars. His gate so far is $2,822.

Out in Barefeet In Snowdrifts

WINTER bathers and scantily clad skiers are meeting competition from a nine-year-old Springville boy. The lad was seen on several occasions walking through snowdrifts in his bare feet and apparently enjoying it. A motorist, concerned over the boy's welfare, stopped and asked if he was not afraid of catching cold. "Naw. It's great fun", was the reply. The boy's family is receiving assistance from North Monaghan Township. H. Killingbeck, relief inspector, stated that a week ago he issued a voucher to the family for suitable winter footwear.

Austrian Count's Family Held Peerage Under The Stuarts

LONDON, Jan. 14.—An Austrian count whose family was exiled from Ireland 250 years ago to-day was Franz Joseph Taaffee who recently returned to Ireland to take up permanent residence there after selling being mentioned as the man who is most likely to be named the next president of Ireland under the new De Valera constitution.

Count Taaffee

Tall, thin, and moustached, Taaffee was married in 1931 to Grace McLaughlin, beautiful Dublin girl whose grandfather held high political posts in Ireland. The count's own grandfather was prime minister of Austria from 1879 to 1893 during the reign of Emperor Franz Joseph.

Exile Began Centuries Ago

The exile of the Taaffee family began two-and-a-half centuries ago when they had to flee because they

Clock-Work Jap Bombing Raids Send Yingtak Into Fame

Probably Most Blasted Town In World As Nipponese Strive To Halt Munition Traffic

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—"And there was another routine airplane raid on Yingtak," said the Japanese navy spokesman.

He includes that statement in his daily announcement at least three times a week. Yingtak—a town about 85 miles north of Canton on the Canton-Hankow Railway—must be the most bombarded spot in the world.

Every day Japanese airplanes attack somewhere along the railway's 600-mile length in an effort to stop the flow of munitions from Hong Kong to China's interior. It is impossible to tell how much damage has been done.

During the six months of warfare more than 100 of China's cities and towns have been the targets of Japanese bombs. Hundreds of persons have been killed or injured. Property damage has been heavy.

Japanese say their objectives have been airdromes, communication lines and military concentrations. Chinese say civilians have suffered most of the casualties and damage.

103 Cities Shelled.

From best available information it appears that 103 of China's cities —some of them the largest and the wealthiest in the nation—have suffered repeated raids because of what Japanese have termed the presence o ftroops, supplies or factories turning out munitions.

God Save The Queen Slips Court Crier

Goderich, Jan. 14

"BACKWARD, turn backward, O time in thy flight," must have been the predominating thought in Court Crier George James's mind when he adjourned court today. He was a buck private in Victorian days, a Sergeant-Major in the Great War, and is a soldier of over 40 years' standing.

Countless times has George rolled off the familiar words adjourning court, and yesterday was the first time he has slipped up in his long career. "This court now stands adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock. God save the Queen," he said.

Newly-Wedded Hubby May Loaf Year, Judge Quotes Bible As Proof

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 14 (AP)

FEDERAL Judge Alexander Akerman went to the scriptures yesterday to show that a newly wedded husband may loaf, if he wants to.

During an insurance case a witness testified that he had a bride, but no job. The examining lawyer considered the circumstances unusual.

But not Judge Akerman.

He brought out his bible and quoted from the fifth verse of the 24th chapter of Deuteronomy.

"When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any business; but he shall be free at home one year, and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken."

That, the judge said, goes to show that a man doesn't have to work if he doesn't want to.

Sun Uses Gas Cloud 96,000 Miles Wide For Colossal Fireworks Display

Pasadena, Calif., Jan 14 (AP)

Dr. Edison Pettit, astronomer, is showing movies of a "prominence," a firery gas cloud 96,000 miles wide—12 times the diametre of the earth—which appeared above the sun's chromosphere, or atmosphere.

Suddenly the prominence shoots up at 17 miles a second. Soon it is going 36, then 116, 337 and finally, as it passes out of the picture, 455 miles a second.

"It was 625,000 miles high when it disappeared through the top of the picture," said Dr. Pettit. From its brightness, he added, scientists estimated it may have risen as high as the diametre of the sun—886,300 miles.

HOG PRICES HOLD, CATTLE EASE OFF BUT CALVES GAIN

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (C.P.). — A liberal run of cattle was cleaned up this week on the Toronto Live Stock Market, the Dominion Live Stock Branch reported. Prices were about 25 cents cwt. below last week's highest level. Calves were up 50 cents.

Hogs regained an early loss of 25 cents. Lambs were stronger at the opening, but closed about steady with last week's finish. Sheep held steady.

Weighty steers were the weakest grade on the cattle division, selling mostly from $6 downward to $5. One load of choice heavies reached $6.60 and a few 1,350-pound steers made $7. Butcher steers and heifers sold from $4 for common up to $5.50 and $5.75 for tops.

Butcher cows ranged from $2.75 to $4.25, with canners at $2. Good butcher bulls brought $4 to $4.50 with some going for export to the United States. Fed calves were generally $6 to $8.50 with odd tops at $9. The few stockers offered went between $3.75 and $4.50 cwt. Milkers and springers of good quality were steady at around $70 tops, while inferior kinds were draggy.

Few Go to States.

Exporters shipped 300 weighty steers for Great Britain, with prices ranging from $5.50 to $6.25. Only United States shipments were a few cars of bulls.

Choice veal calves opened higher at $10 to $11, and the gain was held. Export buying was keen. Common grassers sold as low as $5 and some grassers went at $4 to $4.50.

Off-truck bacon hogs closed at $8.50 after dipping to $8.25 in the early week.

Lamb receipts included 1,400 good Westerns. Good Westerns sold on Tuesday at $8.40, but final sales were at $8.25. Ontario-fed lambs of common to medium quality sold at $6 to $7.75, with some fairly od lambs at $8 to $8.25. Sheep ranged from $2 to $5 cwt., with some good light ewes at $5.25.

then the city would have the option of accepting it as a public park; and if it were declined by the city the park returns to the possession of Mr. Morrow or his estate.

The substance of the gift is that the Exhibition Park may be used by the city and district for exhibition and park purposes for all time if the Exhibition Board and after them the city accept it. And under its new control as a public trust it is understood that it is to be known as the R. A. Morrow Memorial Trust.

The late R. A. Morrow was the father of Harold A. Morrow, residing up to the time of his death on the Sherbrooke Street hill overlooking the city.

KNOWS TOO MUCH

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 14 (C.P.).—Reymond Cuningham, 20, of Dixie, near Toronto, was sent to jail today for a week while police investigate the motives and source of his knowledge of police affairs that led him to impersonate himself as special operatotr Q13 of the Narcotics Division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Cunningham pleaded guilty to impersonating a police officer, before County Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw, after police said he had toured the Strathroy-Sarnia district, describing himself both verbally and by signs on his car as a narcotic agent.

SHOOTS WARRANT

SEWARD, Neb., Jan. 14 (AP) — Frank Kadavy, Seward farmer, submitted to police officers who sought to arrest him on an assault and battery charge, but not until after an unusual display of marksmanship.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Zeleny said that as he approachtd Kadavy's home, the farmer raised his .22 calibre rifle and shot from the officer's hand the warrant he held for his arrest.

GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

Former Havelock Engineer Dies

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., Jan. 14. — (CP).—Harry N. Burnett, 54, well-known Canadian Pacific Railway engineer, and native of Cataraqui, Ont., died yesterday. He came here from Havelock, Ont., seven years ago, and had been with the railway since 1902.

He was chairman of the Smith's Falls division of the locomotive engineers, member of the Havelock Masonic Order and the Havelock Independent Order of Oddfellows.

Survivors include two brothers, John Burnett of Havelock, and Fred Burnett of Kingston, Ont., and a sister, Mrs. Walter Clarke of Havelock.

NORTH OF IRELAND WILL VOTE FEB. 9 TO DECIDE UNION

BELFAST, Jan. 14.—(AP).—Dissolution of the Northern Ireland Parliament Jan. 20 and general elections Feb. 9 were announced unexpectedly to-day.

Viscount Craigavon, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, declared the early elections were precipitated by the issue of union with Ireland, formerly the Irish Free State.

Unification was expected to be raised by Eamon De Valera, Prime Minister of Ireland; at the conferences in London with British statesmen next week.

He recalled his frequently repeated declarations of the "loyal solidarity of the Ulster people" against re-union with the southern counties, adding:

"The opportunity now presents itself to allow the people to pronounce upon the issues themselves and I have no doubt as to the answer they will give."

SELLING METHODS ARE SAID LAGGING IN CHEESE TRADE

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 14 (CP) — Canadian cheesemakers should market only a product that is ready for use and should bring their selling methods up to date, in the opinion of Thomas Grieve of Montreal, representative in the United Kingdom of the Ontario Cheese Patrons' Association.

He told the final session of the 71st annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario here yesterday that maintenance of quality and modernization of selling methods are essential if Canada is to retain her place in the United Kingdom market. Canadian selling methods "have not kept pace with changing conditions," he said.

Earlier, George H. Barr of Toronto, director of dairying for Ontario, told the dairymen that cleaner, sweeter milk and better trained men in cheese factories are essential if Ontario cheese is to retain its place in the export market. Prof. W. H. Sproule of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, said the dairy industry occupies a place second only to field crops.

"There has been insufficient attention paid to keeping our product before the consuming public," Mr. Grieve said. "In the meanwhile, our competitors have developed new methods along the lines of creating good will and giving service. One difficulty about our product is that it is not ready for the table at the time it is produced, and requires a certain amount of maturing."

The cheesemaker's greatest handicap is the milk producer who will abuse him if he rejects a can of impure milk, Mr. Barr said. The only men who can keep up the

Higher Fire Loss For Campbellford

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 14—With two major fires, Campbellford's fire loss climbed to $13,600 during the year 1937, according to figures compiled by retiring Fire Chief C. H. Davidson. A total of 30 calls were sent in to the department with the months of February and March having the largest number of calls, five during each month. The largest loss was to the Kerr Block in the month of April with the amount set at $10,000. The Bank of Montreal fire in March had damage estimated at $3,000 while fire caused by lightning when it struck a residence on Second street did $200 damage with the balance made up of smaller amounts mainly chimney fires.

They have given their own treasures to help fight Japan and are canvassing the streets pleading with others to do likewise.

BOON TO CIVILIZATION

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 14—(CP)—The co-operative movement is the least advertised contribution of England to civilization, and at the same time it is one of the greatest bulwarks of democracy, Prof. A. E. Prince said in a lecture to the Workers' Educational Association.

HOUDE QUESTIONS RIGHT OF SPENDING MONEY ON ARMS

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP)—War clouds enshrouded the St. Henry Dominion by-election campaign more grimly than ever today. Camillien Houde, former mayor of Montreal running as an independent against four Liberal candidates of various hues, has made armaments the issue in the campaign closing Jan. 17 when voters will elect a successor to Paul Mercier, Liberal member elevated to the bench.

Liberal cabinet ministers speaking in support of J. A. Bonnier, their official candidate, have maintained the $35,000,000 in military expenditures voted last spring were to modernize Canada's defences. Montreal's dynamic former mayor has insisted the government is dragging Canada into war by re-arming, that there is secret agreement with Britain to send a Canadian expeditionary force to aid in empire defence.

"The government has no mandate from the people to spend money on armaments," he shouted hoarsely last night. "If they had gone to the country with an armaments policy there would have been many independent Liberals from Quebec sitting in the House today. When armaments expenditures were voted, 12 Liberals broke party ranks and voted against them."

He told two audiences in the factory district division last night the "eyes of London, of Washington, of all Canada from Vancouver to Halifax, are on this fight in St. Henry."

His election Monday, he said, would "show the state of mind of Quebec as to this armaments race."

Defence Necessary.

In another part of the division, Works Minister Cardin told a Liberal rally national defence was a necessity. Sacred peace treaties had not saved Belgium from invasion in 1914, and it was because she had defences that she was able to hold up the German advance until the other powers could come to her aid.

Canada's defence expenditures were to modernize the militia and improve defences in Nova Scotia and British Columbia.

"What man with the consciousness of his honor will tell the electors that we have no right to defend ourselves" he asked. "Against whom? I do not know. Who can tell us?"

Houde alone knew of the "secret document" he professed bound Canada to send troops abroad. Houde had said also Canada would lose 250,000 citizens, no more, no less, in an impending war. Houde must have advance information, the Liberal minister thought.

Armaments expenditures, said Houde, recalled similar plans in 1911, shortly before the Great War. He feared present rearming meant Canada was to be dragged into another war despite assertions of government supporters it was only a matter of national defence.

He could see no foe for Canada to arm against. Henri Bourassa, Independent member of parliament for Labelle, had quoted Lord Fisher, first lord of the admiralty, in the House in 1927 to the effect it would be "futile" for the imperial navy to attempt to defend Canada from an attack by the United States. Lord Fisher suggested instead that Canada go to Washington and make a peace treaty.

Certainly no European nation was going to invade Canada, said Houde. If one did the United States would not stand for it. There had been talk of Japan invading the United States by way of British Columbia.

Rely Upon States.

Instead of building west coast defences it would be better to tell the United States to bring her fleet and airplanes to Canadian territorial waters to stop the Japanese before they could get a foothold in British Columbia.

The Mackenzie King Government denied any commitments for Canada in Empire defence, he said, yet on Aug. 22, 1924, Prime Minister King was quoted as saying at a banquet at Ottawa to Sir Frederick Field that Canada and the other Dominions "would be ready to do their part as they did in the past" in the event of war.

Last year at the Paris Exposition, the Prime Minister said, according to Cavalcade, the British News Weekly, that "any threat to England will bring Canada to her side."

Armament credits, Houde said, "are not for defence here." The Prime Minister and Defence Minister (Hon. Ian Mackenzie) had denied there was secret memoranda on Empire defence.

"They demand I produce the documents. Well, they have them, let them produce them or tell us what is in them. I want to know whether they originated in the British Admiralty." Houde said he had proved by Hansard that Mr. Mackenzie had said there were memoranda in 1932 and 1935. He repeated his charge Canada was committed to organize six divisions of artillery, or two more than they did in the Great War.

At another meeting last night, Joseph L. Bousquet, Independent Liberal, declared he was in the fight to the finish. He maintained his allegiance to the Liberal party and its leaders.

SMITH TRANSPORT FIGURES

TORONTO, Jan. 14.—(CP)—Affairs of the Smith Transport Limited, a company employing 158 persons, were gone into Thursday before the Chevrier Royal Transport Commission. A lengthy brief covering the whole history of the company was presented.

The company operates between Toronto and Montreal. The brief said that wages paid in the first 10 months of 1937 amounted to $152,814, an average of $967 while hextended to the last two months of the year would give annual average earnings of $1,160.

Nears Completion

The largest irrigation ditch on the western hemisphere is near completion in southern California where the United States bureau of reclamation has excavated more than 63 million cubic yards of earth in its construction. Seventy-eight miles of the 80-mile canal have already been dug. Water stored and regulated by Boulder Dam on the Colorado River will be taken by this canal to irrigate America's driest desert.

$125,000 DONATED SO 50 SCHOOLBOYS MAY VISIT CANADA

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 14 (CP). — W. H. Rhodes of Bradford and London, chairman of the Allied Industrial Services, Wednesday donated £25,000 ($125,000) for the establishment of a special trust fund under which 50 secondary schoolboys will be enabled to visit Canada annually during the next 10 years.

The new scheme, which will be under the patronage of Earl Baldwin will be known as the W. H. Rhodes Canada Educational Trust.

The boys will be selected from secondary schools within the administration of the London county council, and from the cities of Glasgow, Birmingham and Bradford. Twenty boys will be chosen from London, 10 each from the other three cities.

The educational authorities of these areas will be responsible for selection of the boys who must be between the ages of 17 and 19.

Accompanied by two masters, the boys will enjoy a holiday in Canada lasting from three to four weeks, including the Atlantic voyage. They will visit several of the principal Canadian cities and see for themselves something of the historical and industrial side of the Dominion.

The first party is expected to start for Canada in August.

FORMER EXILE MAY BECOME

fought on the side of the Stuarts in the battle of the Boyne. One ancestor made his way to Austria and became a marshal in the imperial army.

Since that time his family have been politically important in Austria and, until 1931 when the count made a trip there, never set foot on Irish soil.

Until the war the Taaffee heirs retained their Irish peerage, but he and his father were stripped of their Irish titles in 1914 when they fought for the Austrian army. His present title of count was conferred on his grandfather by Franz Joseph, but it will require an act of King George to restore to him his Irish titles.

Has Estates in Ireland

His estates in Ireland, which were granted his family in 1628 for loyalty to the Stuarts, are at Ardee, County Louth, but he plans to change his residence to Dublin.

The recently sold lands in Austria were vast, his castle containing 180 rooms, only half of which were ever used. He derived his main revenues from farms and dairies which produced cheese famed through Europe.

Not far from the estate occurred the mysterious death of Archduke Rudolph and his lover, Baroness Vetsera, in 1889. They were found shot dead in a hunting lodge at Meyerling, near Vienna.

Knew Secret of Tragedy

Count Taaffee's grandfather knew the secret of the tragedy, and was entrusted with a dossier of documents which completely revealed the circumstances of the mysterious deaths. The secret was handed down to Count Taaffee's father, who died in 1928, leaving his son, sworn to secrecy, with the only answer to the riddle.

The Count has had very little political experience, having lived most of his life as a country gentleman in Austria. But the position of president of the Free State would be, under the De Valera constitution, a titular sinecure.

PASTOR GOES INTO HIS SECOND WEEK MINUS FOOD, WATER

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 14 (AP).—Friends of Rev. Israel Harding Noe waited fearfully Thursday as the 46-year-old clergyman neared the end of his second week without food or water.

Although the Dean of St. Mary's fashionable Episcopal Cathedral has been carrying on a full schedule of work, physicians among his friends have expressed belief his collapse may come at any hour. He has told them what he is doing is a spiritual demonstration beyond their comprehension.

Friends said Dean Noe had subsisted all of last year on oranges alone, starting from December 23, 1936. Since January 2, the first Sunday of 1938, he has taken only the tiny wafer and sip of wine of the Communion service he holds three times weekly.

Friends of the Dean are divided over whether to take him to a hospital in the event of collapse and feed him intravenously or to allow him 'to give his life for an experiment in which he believes as deeply as any scientist has ever believed."

Those same friends had hoped that reconciliation two weeks before Christmas with his wife, the former Ellen M. Cambios, member of a prominent Virginia family, and her return to the deanery with their two children might cause a change in the Dean's plans.

The Dean and his wife had been separated since 1931 when Mrs. Noe sued for divorce, charging desertion. The divorce was denied.

FASTING PASTOR STARTS 13TH DAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 14 (AP)—Rev. Israel Harding Noe today entered his 13th day of abstinence from food and water, his vigor apparently unimpaired and his spirit unbroken.

The dean of fashionable St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral showed no sign of weakness as he stood for an hour and five minutes last night addressing his Bible class.

He told the class "a little case of flu" handicapped his voice but there would be power enough "when it is warmed up." The voice was strained and husky, not as strong as it was a year ago when he weighed nearly 200 pounds. He may weigh less than 100 today.

One physician said the 46-year-old cleryman could "last only a few days." The dean's only nourishment since Jan. 2, he said, has been the tiny wafer and a sip of wine of the communion service, three times weekly.

The ultimate goal of his fast is to provide living proof of immortality, demonstrating it "from a purely biological and medical standpoint, from that new approach to it which all the leaders of medical science have not fully comprehended."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Wheat futures closed 2⅜ to 1⅞ cents lower on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Trading was dull, with spreading operations providing bulk of business. May future ending at $1.25¼, July $1.17½ and October $1.00½.

Though futures met moderate resistance after declining a cent, buying power from both outside and overseas interests proved insufficient to cope with offerings. Near the close May wheat was nearly two cents lower.

Traders, apparently waiting developments to warrant action, took cognizance of a United States report that suggested severe dust storms reported in the Southwest winter wheat belt yesterday may not do great damage to crops.

Smith Council Orders Bylaw Be Drawn For School Section

Deputation Asks That Milburn School Section Be Divided

The inaugural meeting of the Municipal Council of the township of Smith was held in the county council chamber on Monday. After the oath of declaration of office had been taken the members took their seats as follows: Reeve, Allan B. Mann; deputy-reeve, Harry Fowler, Sr.; councillors, Gilbert McIlmoyle, William J. Tedford, Milton Clark.

Before opening council for business, Reeve Mann congratulated Deputy Reeve Harry Fowler and the three new members on their election to council; and stated that while during the year he could not expect but that there would be some differences of opinion, yet he asked for the fullest co-operation of council.

He also referred to some dissatisfaction in some areas of the township relative to road conditions which he hoped could be remedied by a better upkeep and by the application of a dust layer.

He suggested also the purchase of snow fence to the amount of from $300 to $500 each year to be placed where most needed.

In closing, he expressed on behalf of himself and of council their sincere sympathy with Deputy Reeve Harry Fowler who has very recently been bereaved. Mr. Fowler thanked council for their kind words.

The three new councillors spoke, each pledging to use his best judgment in all matters before council, and to co-operate in every way possible.

By resolution, the clerk was instructed to order seven copies of "The Municipal World" and also one set of the 1937 Revised Statutes of Ontario.

Tax Collections

J. A. Middleton reported re tax collections for 1937 roll, as follows:

Total roll for 1937, $41,861.34; total collected to December 15, 1937, $34,622.94; total collected after December 15, 1937, $631.35; total collected, $35,254.35; balance to collect, $6,607.05.

Moved by Mr. Fowler and seconded by Mr. McIlmoyle, that the time for the collector to return his roll be extended until Monday, February 7th. Carried.

Mr. Middeton also presented his final statement re tax collections for 1936 roll. He reported having collected $46,170.80, with losses amounting to $43.13 and $1,710.38 returned against land.

Total roll for 1936, $47,331.28; 1 dog added, $2.00; penalty returned and added, $170.21; D. Garvey, overcharge at Lakefield, .06; penalty collected and added, $420.76—total, $47,924.31.

Moved by Mr. Clark and seconded by Mr. Tedford, that the collector's report re tax collections for 1936 and his 1936 roll be received and adopted as reported. Carried.

The Reeve and clerk were given authority to sign Royl Bank printed forms re financial transactions between the township of Smith and the Royal Bank of Canada, Peterborough, to take effect as from January 1st, 1938.

The clerk arranged in December for the renewal of the fidelity bond covering the treasurer of Smith township in the sum of $5,000 for a premium of $20.00; the renewal receipt of which has been delivered to Reeve Mann to hold as per resolution of January 10th, sponsored by Mr. Tedford and Mr. Clark.

Moved by Mr. McIlmoyle and seconded by Mr. Fowler, that the reeve and clerk be authorized to sign and submit to the Minister of Public Highways for Ontario the petition of the corporation of the township of Smith showing that during 1937 there had been expended upon the township roads in Smith the sum of $8,521.78; and requesting the subsidy grant on this amount from the Department of Highways for Ontario as provided by the Ontario Highways Act and amendments thereto. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Fowler and seconded by Mr. McIlmoyle, that Percy T. Udy, treasurer of the township of Smith be authorized to transact township business with the Royal Bank of Canada on behalf of the township. Carried.

A cheque was issued for $30.20, covering pay sheets Nos. 1 to 4 and as follows: Jos. Tullip's division, gravelling, $14.00; Gordon Mann's division, weeds and snow, $3.80; A. Reynolds' division, snow, $5.20; T. H. Graham, salary, $7.20.

Purchase Snow Fence

By resolution of Mr. McIlmoyle and Mr. Tedford, council agreed to purchase from the Lundy Fence Co. forty-five rolls of snow fence and 315 posts to erect same to be used mainly on North and South roads.

By motion of Mr. Clark and Mr. McIlmoyle it was agreed to spend $50.00 on the road allowance opposite Lot 6, on the 5th Concession Line. V. Fife offered to supply stones at 50 cents per cubic yard.

A deputation from S. S. No. 3 was present consisting of P. S. Inspector R. F. Downey, A. I. Edmison, John Servius, A. T. Brown and Wm. J. Tedford, to ask council to pass a bylaw dividing S. S. No. 3 into two parts, thus creating two entirely separate sections. E. A. Peck, K.C., accompanied the delegation.

Moved by Mr. Fowler and seconded by Mr. Clark, that council pass such a bylaw when it is prepared, and submitted to council with all the necessary details incorporated therein. Carried.

Council agreed to meet on Saturday, January 15th, at 1 p.m., to deal with this bylaw and any other business which may come before it.

Bylaw No. 978, appointing the following officers received its several readings and was passed: Auditors, Alex I. Edmison and James A. Young; sheep valuers and fence viewers, C. E. Moore, Albert Armstrong, Peter Nichols; assessor, G. D. Mann; relief officer, truant officer and Sanitary inspector, Gordon Fitzgerald; pound keepers—1 J. A. Pleasing Program Roseneath W.M.S.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Jan. 14.—Mrs. A. J. Campbell was hostess on Wednesday afternoon, when the regular meeting of the W.M.S. was held in her home. The president, Mrs. L. W. Scott, presided.

The devotional leaflet "The Church in My Life, all life and all Lands," was read by Mrs. A. Nill. Following this was an interesting discussion led by tht president regarding what our church has done in the community. Mrs. K. Harvie contributed an informative article regarding the increase in money spent on the liquor traffic.

In the absence of Mrs. M. Davey, recording secretary, this office was filled by Mrs. R. Crego. Mrs. W. Smith, strangers' secretary, unable through illness to be present, forwarded a report of her activities during the year. The report included: eight removal slips sent out; twenty calls on sick in homes; six cards sent to hospital; six condolence cards sent out, and gifts of fruit and flowers. Mrs. Smith donated her expenses to the society as collection.

Delegates appointed to attend Presbyterial with president are: Mrs. M. Davey, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, with Mrs. L. Turner as alternate. A delegate for the newly organized circle will attend also.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, the study book period in charge of Mrs. D. Brisbin, was postponed until the February meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. L. Turner. After the closing prayer the hostess served refreshments.

Canadians Attend Aviation Conference

BRITISH DEMAND JAPANESE RETURN SEIZED SHIPS, CARS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14.—Once again friction has resulted from action of Japanese forces at Shanghai. British naval authorities protested to Japanese because 12 British-owned lighters and five tugs commandeered by Japanese Dec. 15 had not been returned. Japanese promised to give them back.

British consular officers at Nanking reported two British Embassy automobiles missing after Japanese occupation of the former Chinese capital. Japanese had returned three American Embassy cars and 150 gallons of borrowed gasoline.

The Japanese Embassy spokesman disclosed that United States and other foreign powers had been cautioned against commercial navigation of the Yangtse river.

3 MONTHS FOR SALESMAN

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 14—(CP). — M. S. Thompson, 42-year-old security salesman of Toronto, was sentenced by Magistrate Donald Menzies today to three to six months in Ontario reformatory.

Thompson pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to account for $3,500 in securities he received from W. A. Ewing of London.

Flier Lost In Quebec Bushland Freezes Legs And May Die

Pair Wander Day And Night In Sub-Zero Weather Before Finding Camp

RIMOUSKI, Que., Jan. 14 (CP).—An airplane mechanic lay near death today in a remote trading-camp hospital far down the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Hours of wandering through unmarked country in sub-zero weather left Belanger in a weakened condition. Both legs were frost-bitten, one so badly it was amputated to stop spread of gangrene. Pneumonia that followed the operation further sapped the mechanic's strength.

Fecteau and Belanger took off from Seven Island December 31 and, landing on a lake after a 200-mile flight, attempted to make their way to Netashkwan village, a few miles away. But they became lost in the dense brush during a storm and wandered in circles for 36 hours before reaching a telegraph line.

BETHANY

Mrs. F. W. Reynolds and Mrs. Chas. Reynold's Jr. were joint hostesses to a dinner bridge at their home on Front Street on Wednesday evening. Three tables were happily kept busy for several hours, after the serving of dinner.

Those present included, Miss Winnie Nesbit, Miss A. Bray, Mrs. J. McKinnon, Mrs. H. H. Ryley, Mrs. S. Armstrong, Mrs. D. Cairns, Mrs. R. Jarvis, Mrs. J. J. Clarke, Mrs. A. Holden, Mrs. Wm. McCartney, Mrs. R. W. Price, Mrs. H. Arnott and Mrs. Geo. Foster.

When scores were numerated it was happily found, Miss Annie Bray was high score lady. Mrs. J. McKinnon, winning second prize. Mrs. H. Arnott receiving the consolation. A very happy evening was spent by all present.

RECORD AD RESULTS

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Jan. 14 (C.P.). — How well newspaper advertising pays, Bill Kerrighan of Prince Albert learned to-day. His dog was missing for six days. He went to the local daily newspaper (The Herald) to insert an advertisement. He paid his money and walked out. He found his dog outside the door.

MILLBROOK

AUXILIARY MEETS IN HATHERLY HOME

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Irwin Hatherly extended the hospitality of her home, east of the village, for the initial meeting of the new year of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Andrews' church held on Wednesday afternoon, over twenty members attending.

The theme for the worship period, "The Church in Action," was taken by the president, Mrs. (Rev.) A. L. Sisco, Mrs. J. McKnight assisting, and the In Memoriam service for three members removed by death during 1937, Mrs. (Rev.) Joseph Wilks, Mrs. J. J. Russell, and Mrs. H. G. Skitch, was conducted by Miss E. L. Hetherington.

The treasurer, Miss M. E. Hetherington, reported a total raised during 1937 of $205.98; with $300 remitted to the Presbyterian treasurer; an increase of ten per cent. annually for the next five years is requested by the Conference Board, bringing the total up to $300.

The secretary, Mrs. Ross Edmunds reported 12 meetings held during the year, with an average attendance of 25; one new life member, Mrs. George Locke, was enrolled at Christmas time, and a letter of thanks from the recipient was read by the president. The new executive will hold an important business meeting at the parsonage on Wednesday, January 19, and the leader also announced the Presbyterial Rally to be held in Knox Church, Peterborough, on January 25, opening at 9.30 a.m. and continuing all day.

The group leaders reported for their individual membership, and the Good Citizenship secretary, Mrs. John Rowland, read an article on "Driving and Drinking" after which the chapter from the study book, on "The New Church," was taken up by Miss Burnham.

At the close of the meeting, Group H, of which Mrs. Hatherly is convenor, served a hot dinner, the tables being most attractive with runners of fluted red on the white cloths, red candles alight in silver holders, and an abundance of good things making up the menu. The other members who helped with the service were Mrs. L. Larmer, Mrs. W. A. O'Brian, Mrs. J. H. Might, Mrs. L. W. Smith, and Mrs. J. Willis. As a result of the dinner over five dollars was handed the treasurer as the group's contribution to the society's funds.

HAVELOCK LEAGUE ELECTS OFFICERS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 14.—The Young People's League of the Havelock United Church held their annual meeting last Monday evening, at which the election of officers took place. Miss Winnifred Chiles, convenor of the Missionary Group, was in charge of the devotional period and opened the meeting with hymn and prayer.

During the business, which was conducted by Miss Dorothy Davidson, president, Miss Chiles was appointed representative to the Winter Training School, to be held in Lindsay from Monday, January 17 to Friday, January 21. A report from the secretary-treasurer, Miss Dorothy Smith, showed a balance of $26.

The election of officers for 1938, which was conducted by Rev. S. A. Kemp, resulted as follows: President, Miss Edna Haig; Vice-President, Miss Verna Johnson; convenor of Christian Fellowship group, W. M. Platt; convenor of Missionary group, Miss Edith Roberts; convenor of Citizenship group, Miss Winnifred Chiles; convenor of Literature and Recreation group, Miss Dorothy Davidson; pianist, Mr. Wesley Wildman.

Bad Cold Developed Into Bronchitis

Many people have bronchitis and don't know it. Don't even know the danger of neglecting it.

Bronchitis is generally the result of a neglected cold caused by exposure to wet and inclement weather, and is a very dangerous inflammatory affection of the bronchial tubes.

Those troubled with bronchitis will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy that will help stimulate the bronchial tubes, subdue the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts and loosen the phlegm.

MRS. R. P. MACDONALD, Nappan, N.S., writes:—"Last winter I had a very bad cold which turned to bronchitis. I tried different kinds of medicine, but none did me any good.

A friend told me about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, as she had used it for her children with great success. I purchased a bottle and before it was used I got great relief; the phlegm was brought up easily without any hard coughing, and after using three bottles I was completely relieved of the bronchitis."

I am an advertising man

For over thirty years I have been writing advertisements for national advertisers—shoes, soap, cereals, automobiles, radios, tobacco, blankets, tooth-powder.

To me it is the most fascinating work in the world—learning about the merits of merchandise and then telling people about them—bringing greater comfort, and enjoyment, into people's lives — introducing people to new pleasures, helping them to get the most for their money.

Besides being fascinating, it is satisfying. My intimate experience with advertisers has shown me that, except for rare exceptions, the manufacturers and merchants of this nation lean over backwards to be sincere and honest.

The law of advertising is simple once one understands its working — the more people know about the merit of a product, the more people buy it. The greater the volume of sales, the less the cost of manufacture. Savings in making mean either lower prices to the consumer or greater value put back into the merchandise.

As an advertising man I can sincerely affirm that it pays to read the advertisements in the newspapers — for news of new things, for news of bargains and savings.

There are thousands of other men — and women — devoting their lives to advertising writing, who will tell you the same thing. They know!

Really A Necessity

Merchants in particular, and a good many other citizens probably noticed with a faint gleam of hope in their eyes that the special committee appointed by council to consider the question of what machinery should be purchased this year for city work devoted some time to the discussion of the possibility of buying a street-flusher.

The city fathers have such a good record in the matter of keeping down expenditures in the lean years that we hesitate to even suggest the possibility of such a purchase. Perhaps, however, we might put it this way, that if the council finds itself in possession of the necessary funds and the financial outlook is such as to justify the outlay, a street-flushing machine would be a very useful piece of equipment that would greatly improve conditions along the city's paved streets.

So far as the dry cleaning of those thoroughfares is concerned the work has been well done in the past but that is a process that does not get rid of the dust evil and there are times, as a result when swirling clouds of dust make conditions disagreeable, especially in the down town areas.

A street-flusher would eliminate this nuisance to a great extent and make a notable contribution to the health and comfort of the citizens. It really comes under the heading of a necessity rather than a luxury and if there are funds available this year the council, in the opinion of a good many citizens, would not be making a very serious mistake in adding a flusher to the street-cleaning equipment. Such a machine is really needed more than motorized garbage collection.

How About The Bass?

The advantage from a tourist viewpoint of having the maskinonge season open two weeks earlier, as the Durham and Northumberland Fish and Game Association is urging, would be so great that the request in that direction that is to be made would have almost unanimous backing in this district were it not for the possible effect the change might have upon the bass fishing.

The difficulty is that it would be impossible to legalize an earlier lunge season without exposing the bass to a certain amount of danger, particularly as these fish as a rule have not finished spawning by the middle of June and as the male bass viciously attacks any object that comes near him and thus is an easy prey for fishermen at that time.

The Durham and Northumberland Anglers doubtless recognize that obstacle in the path of what they are asking and are willing to admit that there is some danger of damaging the supply of bass but their attitude is that Rice Lake is essentially a lunge-fishing area and as such might be given an earlier season.

As we have said an earlier season would be of great benefit to summer resort proprietors, guides, merchants and everybody else with goods or services to sell to tourists but if that additional business has to be secured at the risk of doing permanent injury to the district's game fish resources, then it might be gained at too high a price. We imagine the effect upon fishing generally will be the yardstick by which the Department of Game and Fisheries will measure the request the Durham and Northumberland body is placing before it.

Should Have Support

With the election of Roy Bottum of Bobcaygeon as president, and an executive that is thoroughly representative of the whole district the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association is straightening away for what it is hoped will be a splendid campaign of tourist promotion.

Considerable spadework was done last year and the experience gained in 1937 should enable the organization to do some really effective work in attracting to this section of the province a larger share of the tourist traffic.

It is to be hoped that the officers of the organization will be given the benefit of sympathetic and substantial co-operation from the municipalities of the district and that grants sufficiently large to give the Association an adequate budget upon which to work will be forthcoming.

Such an organization, working in the interest of the whole section, is obviously capable of doing a better job in advertising the charms of the Kawarthas and the Haliburton country than any single municipality can accomplish on its own account and there should be enough support given the public-spirited citizens who have undertaken this important responsibility to ensure worthwhile results from their efforts.

The Canadian Travel-Bureau contents itself with the general task of making outsiders conscious of Canada as the vacation land par excellence, leaving to each district the job of advertising its own particular advantages. There is need therefore in our own section for the Association that is now in the field, if the Kawarthas and the Haliburton summer playground areas are to receive their due share of the army of tourists who will be crossing the international boundary lines a few months from now. Many of those visitors will be coming for the first time and they will naturally head for the districts about which they have heard. It will be the task of the local Association to see that they hear something about what we have to offer.

A Startling Change

Without any blowing of trumpets the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation recently inaugurated a somewhat sensational change in policy that seems to knock into the proverbial cocked hat the objects for which Canada was persuaded a few years ago to launch out into a scheme of nationalized radio.

Those objects, in addition to the extension of radio facilities throughout the country, were the elimination of a great deal of American advertising and the development of Canadian talent in the field of broadcasted programs.

Recently, however, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation apparently tossed those ideals out of the window and entered upon a series of contracts with leading American broadcasters, contracts which mean that United States commercial programs are being carried on the Canadian national hook-up to dozens of Canadian stations. As The Financial Post puts it, C.B.C. networks will now "pipe in" from the United States a rich flow of American programs, totalling many hours a week.

These programs will occupy some of the choicest hours of the day. They will reach as many as 30 Canadian stations including those which have been built by public funds for the express purpose of "nation-building".

All of which means not only that the original idea of stopping the Americanization of the air in Canada has been tossed for a total loss but that Canada's nationalized radio is now being used, as the Post aptly expresses it "as a direct subsidy to one form of advertising at the expense of other forms."

Canadian owners of radio sets pay a $2 license fee to enable the operations of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to be financed but if the machinery set up by that Corporation is to be handed over to American commercial broadcasters, then why the license fee and incidentally why the Broadcasting Corporation?

The Case Of Quebec

Something was said in these columns the other day about the desirability of convincing the people of Quebec that it would be possible to amend the British North America Act to give the Dominion control of social service measures, without jeopardizing any of the privileges that French-Canadians enjoy under the present Constitution. The Examiner's article pointed out that this seemed to be the only feasible way of dealing with the matter and bringing about the modernization of the British North America Act.

Interestingly enough on the same day as that editorial appeared there was a story from Ottawa to the effect that the consent of the provinces was not needed to bring about amendments to the B.N.A. Act and that changes could be made on the simple request of the Dominion parliament. If that were true of course, much of what we had said about the matter was off the target so that we were intrigued to find the Montreal Star, also on the same day, under the heading "Quebec Cannot be Overridden" pointing out that the contention that the consent of the provinces was unnecessary was "one of those technical or academic arguments dear to learned pundits of the law which misses utterly the real case at issue."

The Star goes on to show that while it is true that every amendment that has been made to the British North America Act has been made on the simple request of the two Houses of Parliament at Ottawa and that in other words the Federal parliament spoke for the provinces, the situation was that "these amendments were passed on the dictum of the Dominion Parliament because no particular province did object. Everybody agreed to them and the Federal government was our natural instrument for making our unanimous will known in London."

That of course is a much different matter than the present situation when not only Quebec but several other provinces are opposed to introducing unemployment insurance through the means of amendments to the Constitution.

And Not Until Then

Chief Justice Rose of Ontario's High Court put his finger on the crux of the automobile accident problem when he said in addressing a Toronto grand jury the other day that "persons on our highways are going to be safe as soon as we all make up our minds that reckless driving is going to stop."

There are plenty of laws and rules to regulate traffic but until there is an aroused public opinion that will treat irresponsible and careless motorists as a menace that must be eliminated there is no use looking for any general improvement.

We have not yet got to the point where we are willing to do everything in our power to see that the law against reckless driving is enforced. We do not hesitate to give evidence against burglars or other criminals nor to convict them if we happen to find ourselves sitting in the jury box but when we are asked to assist in the prosecution of a driver whose carelessness has resulted in the death of a human being, most of us take a different attitude in such cases. We go out of our way to make excuses for the motorist and it is so notoriously difficult to get a conviction in motor cases even when the weight of evidence is strongly against the accused that more than one judge in recent months has found it necessary to castigate a jury for disregarding the testimony and bringing in an acquittal in the face of almost positive evidence of guilt.

As Chief Justice Rose points out so long as that is the public attitude toward automobile fatalities we are going to find little or no decrease in the death roll on the highways. There will be no improvement until it is generally understood that people who flagrantly break the traffic laws are as sure of being punished as the folk who violate other laws in the statute books.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Scientists have estimated that in the year 18,001,938 A.D., North America will be 200 feet lower than it is now. It would be a great thing if economic depressions took that long to develop.

We have an idea that among those folk whose faces are red today is the keeper of the crown jewels. Thieves broke into the tower of London and stole his radio set.

Senator W. A. Buchanan in a special edition of his paper, The Lethbridge Herald, says that southern Alberta has hit the comeback trail. That is good news from a reliable quarter.

A severe earthquake is reported from Japan, with thousands of folk driven from their homes in terror. That will give the Nipponese an idea of how the Chinese felt during recent air raids.

Three Winnipeg prisoners charged with illegal possession of alcohol gave toothache as an excuse. When they were fined $200 each, however, the pain was transferred to their necks.

Three more prominent Soviet leaders have been caught in the Stalin purge. Communism, it is evident, can be just as ungrateful as democracy in its treatment of prominent men.

One of the by-products of the Japanese invasion of China may be the flooding of the world with increased supplies of opium. That happened after Japan went into Manchuria.

Montreal Maroons and Canadiens scored eighteen goals in a professional hockey game the other night and if that kind of thing keeps up the commercial puck-chasers will be applying for a code.

Famous London physician says that immunity from disease cannot be attributed to any kind of fitness produced by exercise. And with that many a lazy man will yawn luxuriously and lean back a little farther in his easy chair.

From Ottawa comes the story that the King government is not in favor of allowing surplus power to be exported. That indignant sniff you may have heard was probably Premier Hepburn getting ready to go into action.

Controller Sam Lawrence of Hamilton says the new power contracts are contrary to the government's declared policy, its recent mandate and the interests of the consumers of the province —and so far as the first two points are concerned it is not easy to contradict them.

ALWAYS THAT WAY

(By A. R. K.)

¶ My grandfather so they say, was quite a leader in his day, he called the yokels out; the cost of living was so high, they'd win a battle or they'd die, and so they staged a bout.

¶ They wrecked a castle so 'tis said, they smote a landlord on the head, and left him there for dead; they took the rich man's land away, then they grew artichokes and hay, plucked geese for feather bed.

¶ Grandfather settled on new land, and for a time he thought 'twas grand, new light was in his eye; he faced the storms and early frosts, but when it came to living costs, he said they were too high.

¶ The taxes grew too heavy then, six shillings for a speckled hen, grandfather grabbed his spear; he'd chase the tax collector off, and at the courts of law he'd scoff, he fought for nigh a year.

¶ My father in his day would fret for fear he'd get too deep in debt, his purse was like a sieve; it seemed at times he'd be in pain for he would swing his basswood cane, it cost too much to live.

¶ And now that I am old and bent, I hump my back to pay the rent, free ducats I can't give; grandchildren ask me what's gone wrong, I chant to them my weary song—it costs too much to live.

WITH JAPAN very much in the centre of the stage at the present time a few facts about the Land of the Rising Sun should be useful and interesting. In the first place Japan proper comprises the mainland, Shikoku, Hokkaido, Chishima, Ryukyu, and over 400 islands. In all the area is about 148,000 square miles and the population aver 69 million. Canada is about 25 times larger and has only one-sixth of Japan's population.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mountain ranges and volcanic chains traverse the Japanese islands, the rivers are generally rapid and are used largely for generating water-power. The plains, few in number, but fertile, contribute much to the development of industry. Numerous bays on the Pacific coast are good harbors. The climate in general is mild but humid.

✧ ✧ ✧

Only one-sixth of the area is fit for ploughing and more than half of it is rice or paddy fields. Intensive cultivation is practiced, the average farm being two to two and a half acres in extent. Manual labor is employed with simple implements, although the ox and horse are used to some extent.

✧ ✧ ✧

The annual agricultural production is valued at three billion yen or about 840 million dollars whereas Canadian agricultural wealth amounts to about six billion dollars a year. The principal products raised in Japan are cereals, including rice, wheat and barley.

✧ ✧ ✧

The forests of Japan cover 58 million acres or nearly 62 per cent. of the total area of the country. Canadian forests occupy about 14 times as much space.

✧ ✧ ✧

The principal mineral products include gold, silver, copper, iron, zinc, tin, and lead as well as coal, petroleum, sulphur, sand and stone and are valued at 271 million dollars. Canada's mineral production was valued at 361 million dollars last year.

✧ ✧ ✧

The fishing industry brought in about 140 million dollars in Japan, while the same industry in Canada in the same year was valued at 34 million dollars.

Mining in Abyssinia.

ACCORDING to Italian correspondents six gold mines are now operating on a modest scale in Abyssinia despite difficulties of transport, geological formation and lack of capital. Both gold and platinum had always been mined there in small quantities but experts believe that the possibilities of both have barely been scratched.

✧ ✧ ✧

The gold-bearing ore is located in the most inaccessible region of Ethiopia, the high mountainous part between Eritrea, the Sudan and Ethiopia and is found principally along the beds of the rivers Ettit and Gasc, tributaries of the Nile.

✧ ✧ ✧

There have been claims of discoveries of iron, coal, tungsten, tin, mineral gas and petroleum in Abyssinia but so far these do not count any more than King Solomon's mines.

✧ ✧ ✧

When King Christian of Denmark visited England a short time ago he paid a visit to the Buffs of which he is honorary colonel. Now it is officially announced as a return courtesy gesture that King George VI has been appointed a General in the Danish Army.

Forty-seven weather reporting radio stations service the air fleet operating between the United States and South America.

Facts About Rhodesia.

ENGROSSING the inhabitants of Northern and Southern Rhodesia in Central Africa is the question of whether the two territories will soon become one. Last month the Undersecretary for the Dominions said in the House of Commons that a Royal Commission would be appointed to look into the matter with the Rhodesias' little neighbor, Nyassaland also coming under scrutiny.

✧ ✧ ✧

Combined the two territories would form a Dominion almost four times as big as the British Isles.

✧ ✧ ✧

The most definite step so far is a building of a bridge between the two Rhodesias across the intervening Zambezi River at a lonely part some 200 miles below Victoria Falls where the river is only 1,000 feet wide.

✧ ✧ ✧

The capital of Northern Rhodesia is Lusaka which became the colony's principal city two years ago when Governor Sir Hubert Young's administration decided that Livingstone, the former capital was too far from the centre of things. Lusaka is at the junction of the territory's two biggest roads and three air routes. It is also in a good wheat district and at 4,000 feet above sea-level has a cheek-reddening climate.

The Tolpuddle Martyrs Are Recalled

John T. Brine Who Died at St. Mary's, Ont., Was a Descendant of One of Famous Six

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal.)

THE DEATH and burial in St. Marys of John T. Brine at the age of 92 recalls an act which stands to the lasting shame of England a hundred years since, whereby six men of Dorsetshire were sentenced to seven years transportation to Van Diemen's Land for having formed a trades union to try to improve the lots of themselves and families as farm laborers. The man who has just died was a descendant of one of those Tolpuddle martyrs. The judge's words in pronouncing sentence were: "Not for anything that you have done, or, as I can prove, that you intended to do, but for example to others, I consider it my duty to pass sentence of seven years penal transportation across his majesty's high seas to each and every one of you." The technical offence was for having combined together and administered an illegal oath in the effort to "preserve ourselves, our wives and children, from utter degradation and starvation."

The men were all of good character, not roysterers or drunkards or given to violence, but all simple, God-fearing men, five of them members of the Tolpuddle Wesleyan chapel, and three of them local preachers. A recent novel of Francis Brett Young entitled "They Seek a Country," devotes its fore part to the cruel fate of the hero's early years in England a century ago about the same period as 1834 when the Tolpuddle martyrs were sentenced, he having undergone also life transportation sentence but escaping from the ship to the South African coast, where the balance of his life was spent among the Boers. The harshness of English law upon farm laborers at the time is hard to comprehend in this day, it being stated authoritatively that no less than 457 of them had been transported from the southern counties of England, of whom 150 were from Wiltshire, for participating in agrarian riots. The London Observer said that the Tolpuddle scandal was minor in comparison with that spectacular orgy of cruelty.

However, the Tolpuddle affair caught the public ear and raised a storm in Newcastle, Manchester, London and many other places. A petition in behalf of the six bearing 250,000 signatures was borne by a procession of 50,000 to be presented to Lord Melbourne, prime minister, but clemency was refused, though the next prime minister, Lord John Russell, granted clemency a couple of years later and the men were after four years brought back to England. There had been delay in the process, as one had been sold for a slave for one pound. Of these brave men, James Hammett, who had been sold as a slave, remained in England, the other five coming out to Canada and making their homes in Western Ontario and leaving names as model citizens. Of the five, George Loveless and Thomas Standfield lie in Siloam cemetery in London township; the grave of John Brine is in St. Marys, where his son John T. Brine was also buried the other day; and James Loveless and John Standfield are buried in the City of London, Ont. With peculiar modesty, the emigrating martyrs agreed among themselves to hide their past, although it involved no discredit to them, and it was only in 1912 that the Canadian end of the story became known, on the occasion of the unveiling by Right Hon. Arthur Henderson of a memorial arch fronting the little Methodist chapel at Tolpuddle where George Loveless used to preach.

Advertising Lowers Cost of Goods

In the Long Run It Means Greater Demand Greater Production and Cheaper Articles

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal)

IN AN ARTICLE in the Toronto publication, Marketing, Miss Margaret Brown mentions some points which are a complete answer to people who regard advertising as an addition to operating expenses without commensurate advantage.

Miss Brown observes that making false claims in an advertisement is an offence under the law, therefore, it means that a manufacturer stands behind the produce he markets. Advertised goods are approximately what they are represented to be. If they are not, the producer can be prosecuted, but even if he fails to measure up exactly to what he has told the public they are, the public quickly find out for themselves and cease to buy those articles. So false advertising does not pay.

But the main advantage of advertising is that in the long run it means greater demand; greater demand means greater production, and greater production means reduced costs to the manufacturer, who thereupon sells cheaper to the retailer who in turn sells cheaper to the ultimate buyer.

Advertising has grown enormously compared with a few decades ago. An analysis of the situation demonstrates that increased and consistent advertising of products have so increased sales that millions of people are now able to afford things that they could not have bought years ago, even with the same or higher wages. But for the vast demand for automobiles created by extensive, picturesque and truthful advertising, automobile manufacturing would still be a minor industry, and cars would be a luxury only people of substantial means could buy. The same applies to radios, cameras, washing-machines, lamps, furniture and the thousand and one smaller things which are every-day necessities. It has reduced the cost of many food products, thereby reducing the cost of living which is an important factor in these times when so many wage earners are on reduced pay, shorter hours, or on relief. Everybody gets more for money nowadays compared with what their fathers and mothers did— and primarily because advertising created demand and demand created greater production.

In this condition the newspapers have played the most important part. When a national producer advertises by radio he does not know whether his sales talk is listened to by a million people or by anybody at all. It is common experience that radio listeners often "tune-out" when the advertising spiel comes on. As a matter of fact, it often irritates them. Newspaper advertisements are so attractive today that housewives, who do most of the retail buying, habitually look over the advertising columns. A survey made a few days ago revealed that the total circulation of newspapers in the United States is 41,400,000 copies per day. Another recent survey showed that there are far more newspapers sold in Canada than there are homes. Therefore, it follows that newspaper advertising reaches far more people than radio does and is of the kind that makes more impression.

And a striking fact is that if the cost of advertising were to be added to the retail selling price, which is what some people think happens, it would be such a microscopic fraction that it could not be collected; it could scarcely even be estimated by an expert mathematician.

Advertising benefits producer, retailer agent and buyer.

A GRAND OLD MAN

(Halifax Herald)

DAVID POTTINGER is dead at the great age of ninety four.

"Who is David Pottinger?" That question actually was asked before a parliamentary committee at Ottawa a few years ago.

The chairman (Rt. Hon. Geoge P. Graham) explained that David Pottinger was general manager of the old Intercolonial Railway for many years.

That Grand Old Man of Maritime Railroading is gone. We shall never see his like again. He began his remarkable career away back in the days of the woodburners with the old Nova Scotia Railway. That was before Confederation, when he was employed as a clerk in the mechanical department at Richmond. And the story of his half-century of railway service is the history of railroading in this part of Canada over that long and eventful period.

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

BEHOLD my servant, whom I uphold; mine elect, in whom my soul delighteth; I have put my spirit upon him; he shall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles. . . . A bruised reed shall he not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench; he shall bring forth judgment unto truth. . . . I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles.—Isa. xlii, 1, 3, 6.

✧ ✧ ✧

In the meantime, when there were gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, insomuch that they trode one upon another, he began to say unto his disciples first of all, Beware ye of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy. For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known.—Luke xii, 1, 2.

✧ ✧ ✧

Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and sowed in his field; which indeed is the least of all seeds; but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and becometh a tree, so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof. Another parable spake he unto them; The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened. All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto them; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying, I will open my mouth in parables; I will utter things which have been kept secret from the foundation of the world.—Matt. xiii, 31-35.

WORKERS IN HIS GARDEN.

Called to be a worker,
In the garden of the Lord,
The smile of our Redeemer,
Will be our rich reward,
His presence, ever near us,
Will cheer us on our way,
As we labor, for The Master,
In His garden, day by day.

There are thirsty souls, to water,
There are hungry, to be fed,
There are weak ones, to be strengthened,
And the blind ones, must be led,
There are lonely hearts, to comfort,
Discouraged ones, to cheer.
And to timid ones, to whisper,
He, is with you do not fear.

There are many stones, to gather,
From the path of little feet,
And many weeds and briers to kill,
That would choke and spoil the wheat,
But the day will soon be over,
And the time for labor, past.
And we then, shall all be gathered,
In the Fathers, home at last.

GEO LEADER,
Peterborough.

ROAD

The end of the road but widens to another beginning,
With the bright sun retreating before my eager approach;
The dust of the worlds my reward—and the dear birds singing.
It is enough; to drift with the wind blown dust, to know not where,
Nor care. Content to skirt ambitions heartaches and its must.
To know the many moods of trees, and laughing skies, and the rain;
And morning flowers sipping of dawn gods crystallized champagne.
To top a sun drenched cliff at eve that is as ageless to me
As it is short in the eyes of Eternity.
Perchance to muse with kindred men who pass, robed in happiness
Down the thought coiled hall of the years, with peace in their eyes.

ALEX SJOBERG.

MRS. T. W. CHAPLIN MEMBER SPEAKER, AT LAKEFIELD W.I.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 14.—"Can the League of Nations Survive?" was the topic of an address delivered by Mrs. T. W. Chaplin at the regular monthly meeting of the Lakefield Branch of the Women's Institute, which was held Wednesday afternoon, January 5, at the home of Mrs. A. Davis.

The meeting opened with the opening ode and the Lord's Prayer. After the reading of the minutes, the secretary read letters of thanks from recipients of boxes of Christmas cheer sent by the Institute. All expressed their thanks for the gifts and their pleasure in feeling that someone was thinking of them at this busy season.

After the treasurer's report was presented, Mrs. J. H. Moore's letter of thanks for flowers sent to her was read by the secretary. Correspondence from the Victorian Order of Nurses asked for a donation from the local branch. A new hand-book which had been received was passed around for inspection by the ladies.

The list of prizes to be awarded by the Local Branch of the Women's Institute at the Lakefield Agricultural Exhibition in 1938 was presented by Mrs. S. Higgins as it had been drawn up by the committee. The list was accepted on motion by Mrs. T. W. Chaplin and Mrs. S. E. White. The Institute will award prizes for the following articles, the entries to be open only to Women's Institute members of the district. Item No. 6 (braided rugs) is open only to members of the 1938 class on braided rugs.

(1) Ladies' plain knitted gloves—not angora.
(2) Knitted shopping bag in wool.
(3) Crocheted shopping bag in wool.
(4) Assortment of six useful articles—home-made.
(5) Hooked rug of old woollen goods.
(6) Braided rug, made by a member of the 1938 class.
(7) Neckpiece—new tyle in wool, knitted.
(8) White fruit cake—3 lbs.
(10) Four different kinds of tea biscuits (3 of each kind).

It was moved by Mrs. S. E. White and Mrs. Davis that $10 be given the Fall fair to be used as prizes for these entries.

The president then announced that at the February meeting, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. George Spence there would be an exchange of useful Valentines.

It was moved by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Foster that Mr. McKerchar he asked to give an address on "Banking" at the February meeting. Mrs. Dunford and Mrs. Montgomery are to look after the program.

The roll was called and members responded by naming a branch of the permanent staff.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Chaplin's address, Mrs. Davis, convenor of the Relief Committee, gave her report and arrangements were made for a quilting to be held at Mrs. Davis' home in the near future.

Two members joined the Institute at this meeting, and twenty persons were present.

TARIFF STAYS TILL '40

OTTAWA, Jan. 14—(CP)—Canada's tariff of 50 cents a ton on American anthracite coal cannot be removed until 1940 without the consent of the United Kingdom government. It was imposed originally in 1932 to give Welsh miners a preference in the Canadian market.

The American Anthracite Institute today informed a state department agency there was "no valid reasons" why Canada should continue the duty, considering no anthracite is mined in Canada.

DR. W. E. WILSON IS NAMED CHAIRMAN OF HASTINGS HYDRO

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 14.—Dr. W. E. Wilson was appointed chairman of Hastings Hydro Commission at their inaugural meeting held in the council chambers Wednesday night, on motion of Reeve Kelly, seconded by Herb Stevenson.

"I congratulate the new members on coming into the commission," stated Dr. Wilson, as he took his chair, "this is the most important branch of municipal affairs. We must keep our eyes on the financial aspect for the coming year."

Reeve Kelly stated that there seemed to be a certain amount of dissatisfaction in the minds of the people regarding the financial statement and that the statement should be ready for the people at the end of the year. Herb Stevenson stated, "I think we can all get along very agreeably if the public are not left in the dark as to what goes on here. I would also suggest that the linesman keep a stock book."

Mr. Kelly asked, "Is this the place for complaints to be hard," and was answered, "Yes, by Dr. Wilson.

Correspondence was read as follows: C. Davidson, Campbellford, and R. J. Ross, Brighton, re-purchase of a truck; Workmen's Compensation Board, regarding wages paid last year; Dominion Bureau of statistics, general information; H.E.P.C. of Ontario, re standard form of agreement for joint use of poles with the Bell Telephone Co.

It was moved by Stephenson and seconded by Kelly, that the copy of form of agreemen for the joint use of poles by H.E.P.C. of Ontario and the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, be signed by the chairman and secretary-treasurer. Reeve Kelly said it might be a good idea to check up on the poles and ascertain how many are in joint use. The secretary said that the Bell Telephone would use more than the Hydro, and that the joint use was a benefit to Hastings Commission.

E. M. Hess gave a report on meters which were sent away to be tested. Three meters were returned as useless and will be junked. Seventy-five meters have been tested and there are 25 still out. The balance of Hastings meters will be tested next fall, the commission decided.

Moved by Kelly, seconded by Stephenson, that the chairman and secretary sign all cheques and that the secretary sign for cancelled cheques.

Moved by Kelly, seconded by Stephenson, that account as read be paid in the usual manner.

On motion of Kelly and Stephenson, the secretary will order a pad of inventory sheets for the linesman to keep a record of materials.

Reeve Kelly stated there seemed to be some dissatisfaction regarding low voltage in sections on the south side of the river and asked if it was not possible to have this straightened out. Mr. Hess said it had been brought up before and that an inspection showed that a new transformer was needed. The matter was left over until spring.

On motion of Kelly and Stephenson, the chairman was given authority to purchase ten, 30 foot poles, four, 35-foot poles and two, 40-foot poles, subject to inspection and standards by the linesman and his decision will be final.

The secretary, T. A. Coughlan, stated he had mailed notices to twenty users who were in arrears, giving them notice that unless they were paid up by Jan. 15, they would be cut off.

The purchase of a truck was discussed but the commission seemed to be of the opinion that their finances would not warrant such a purchase.

Reeve Kelly made a motion that E. M. Hess be retained as linesman for the ensuing year at a salary of $450 per annum and 40 cents per hour for new work. A lengthy discussion followed and Mr. Hess said he would not favor the contract at all. He did not like the idea of using his car for light trucking. He was offered $15 for the year for the use of his car but refused to consider it. This matter will come up at a later date.

ADDRESSED TUXIS GROUP

(Examiner Correspondence.)

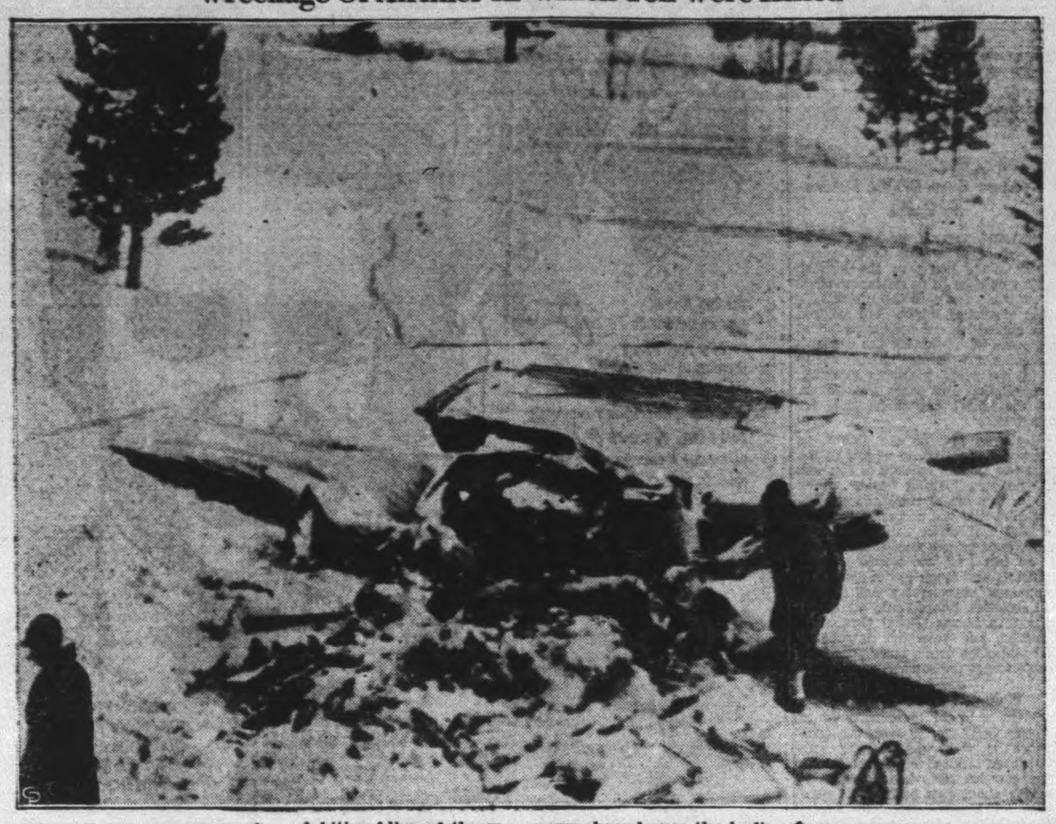
BONARLAW, Jan. 14.—Roy Juby of Stirling, member of the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament for East Hastings, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Argonauts Tuxis Square of St. Mark's Sunday School at the club rooms on Wednesday evening. Mr. Juby gave a very complete and interesting report of the Seventeenth Ontario Older Boys' Parliament held at Hamilton, Ont.

Fred Elgie, superintendent of boys' work for Centre Hastings, was also present and gave a brief address.

The business session included two initiations after which games were played and a bountiful lunch was served.

The meeting was presided over by Carl Heath, pretor.

Wreckage Of Airliner In Which Ten Were Killed



A biting blizzard threw a snowy shroud over the bodies of 10 persons, including Douglas MacKay of Winnipeg, killed when a Northwest Airlines plane crashed and burned in the Bridger mountains near Bozeman, Montana. Piloted by Nick Namer, who had flown more than 1,000,000 miles without injuring a passenger, the plane went into a tailspin and plunged nose-first into a small clearing. The nose was snapped off by the impact with the frozen ground. Wreckage of the plane is shown above.

NORWOOD

MASQUERADE MAID WELL PRESENTED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, Jan. 14—On Wednesday evening the three-act play "The Masquerade Maid was presented in the Town Hall by the Young People of Fleming's School section under the auspices of the Elgin Hockey team.

The whole play centres on "Maggie" as a "Masquerade Maid." A train wreck takes place on the main line railroad passing through Goldensburg. Dale Golden, searching around in the wreckage, finds a girl who is soaking wet and takes her to his home. This girl is Maggie, who becomes Mrs. Golden's personal maid.

Maggie is really a wealthy heiress who is running away from a distasteful marriage. As a maid she has a hard time, but in masquerade she manages everything and everyone.

Those taking part were: Aunt Pat Golden, rather a dictatorial lady, Mrs. Ed. McConnell; Matilda, competent maid, Miss Marion Bibby; Rickie, chore boy in the Golden home, Milton McConnell; Ednah Ripton, a neighbor of the Goldens, Mrs. E. Stevenson; Dale Golden, fine looking young man who runs the Golden factory, Basil Johnson; Maggie, the Masquerade Maid, Ruth Glenn; Will Holt, a grocery clerk, Kenneth Pickens; Gloria, Miss Pat's choice for the nephew, Evelyn Brown; Julia Horton, a lady in love with Dale, Jean Lewis; Velda Graham, the village vamp, Jerrine Brown; Rosco King, the village sheik, Thornton Waters; Edward Hawkins, a business man from Georgetown, Mr. E. Stevenson.

The characters were well chosen for their roles and much credit is due Miss Anderson, who coached the play, for the splendid presentation.

Most Canadian Business Seen Up To Record Of 1929

Drop In Trade With U.S. Not Likely To Hurt Canadian Prosperity Says Banker

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP). — Despite a "moderate recession" at the end of 1937, volume of activity in most lines of Canadian business compared favorably with the record year of 1929, President M. W. Wilson told shareholders at Thursday's annual meeting of the Royal Bank of Canada.

A "tragic" exception was the drought in Saskatchewan, which suffered "the worst crop failure on record," resulting in one-half of the population finding "themselves destitute and dependent on government relief." Alberta suffered partial failure, he said.

President Wilson expressed belief the drought had "brought to a head a situation which has been unsatisfactory for years and which requires treatment on a national basis."

As possible "emergency measures," the speaker mentioned irrigation, diversified agricultural production of certain areas, withdrawal of submarginal land from wheat production and fuller use of soil and meteorological surveys.

Decisions Not Always Best.

Turning to trade, President Wilson expressed fear Canada's policy on foreign trade "had not always been decided by what is best for the welfare of our whole economy." He advocated reduced tariffs on articles which are made in Canada only on a restricted and uneconomic scale.

The record of Canadian exports since 1933, however, was "impressive," and even a substantial decline in business with the United States—consumer of 60 per cent. of Canadian exports — should only "moderately affect" Canadian prosperity, he added.

In Canadian business, the president noted extensive improvement in the manufacturing industry, building activity and mining production.

BUMP RIGHTS WRONG

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Claud Taylor fell and dislocated his shoulder.

A police patrol rushing him to a hospital struck a pole in the pavement and bounced Taylor against the roof.

Hospital physicians said the bump put his shoulder back in place.

Commander Of Lost Clipper

The 21-ton Samoan clipper reported lost on a flight from Honolulu to New Zealand, is believed to have been destroyed by an explosion, according to aviation authorities following the finding of wreckage scattered over a wide area 14 miles from Pago Pago. Commander of the giant flying boat was Captain Edwin C. Musick, who is shown (ABOVE), with Harold Gatty who was Wiley Post's partner on the first round-the-world flight. The photograph was taken at Auckland, New Zealand, after Captain Musick had landed the clipper there following a trail blazing flight from the United States. Musick had completed almost 1,500,000 miles of over water flying when the crash brought his career to a close.

ADMIRAL W. STORY DIES IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Jan. 14.—(CP)—Admiral William Oswald Story, C.B.E., who served 41 years in the Royal Navy before retiring, died today at his residence. He was 78.

A navy man from the days of sailing ships, Admiral Story retired on promotion to Rear-Admiral in 1912. He returned to duty during the war as admiral-superintendent at the Esquimalt, B.C. naval dockyards until 1918 and for another year at the Halifax dockyards.

After the war he became vice-admiral and was named full admiral when he went on the retired list. He was the only full admiral residing in Canada. For 10 years he had been honorary supervisor of the Dominion's sea cadet corps.

Born at Bingfield, the estate of his father in Northern Ireland, in 1859, Admiral Story joined the navy at the age of 13. He was decorated by four nations.

He had commanded in the China station, the Australia station and the East Indies station. During the Egyptian campaign of 1882 he was mentioned in despatches for conspicuous gallantry and shortly after won promotion from sub-lieutenant to lieutenant.

During the war the Emperor of Japan conferred on him the Order of the Rising Sun, second class, for services he rendered Japanese men of war refitting at Esquimalt. Other decorations, besides the C.B. E., were the Legion of Honor, third class, from the French government, and the Naval Order of Merit from Spain.

Admiral Story married Olive Baldwin of Wellington, N. Z., at Adelaide, Australia, in 1891. Besides his widow he is survived by three sons and seven daughters.

Stinson-Allen: That the caretaker's request for tools and repairs be left in the hands of the management committee. Carried.

Harrington-Ellsworth: That in the future all orders for equipment or supplies of any sine be given on a ten per cent., plus cost, basis where possible; and that when accounts for same are rendered to the secretary-treasurer the invoices and freight or express receipts must be attached. Carried.

The financial statement for 1937 was then tabled by the secretary, indicating that a balance of $2,749.06 was carried forward for 1938.

Stinson-Allen: That the financial statement be received and approved, and handed to the village auditors to be audited. Carried.

Allen-Fallis: That in future all meetings of the Board be held in the school library on the second Tuesday of each month, at 8 p.m. Carried.

Stinson-Ellsworth: That the secretary be instructed to write to the Department of Education to obain information on the nature of grants, made on the purchase of gymnasium equipment, such as a rink. Carried.

KNEES WENT STIFF IN HIS SLEEP

Agony to Move Them When He Awoke

"For three years," writes this City man, "I suffered with pains across the lower part of my back. In the morning, I awoke with knees so stiff that it was agony to move them. Special treatment would make the pain a little easier—but that was all. Then a friend recommended Kruschen, which my doctor said I might take. I began with about a coffee-spoonful first thing in the morning. To my surprise I found my rheumatic aches and pains disappearing. I kept on with Kruschen, and although I am more than middle-aged I have been free from pain for two years, and able to go to my office every day."—A.W.

Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.—advt.

GEORGE ST. SENIORS, KNOX BANTAMS WIN CHURCH HOCKEY

SAINTS' BANTAMS BLANK ANGLICANS FOR 3-0 VICTORY

Four Church Hockey League games were run off last evening at All Saints' rink, every one being a hard fought battle on fast ice. George St. Seniors took a 7-4 decision over Murray St.; St. Paul's Juveniles dropped a 5-3 tussle to George St.; Knox Bantams blanked George St. 1-0, and All Saints' Bantams whitewashed St. John's 3 to 0.

In the senior struggle, George St. finished stronger to win out, the score being 3-2 for them in the first frame and 5-4 going into the third. It was their first win this year, Murray St. being minius a few regulars, but battling hard. The winners had neat goal-tending. Akers got three for the victors, B. Parnall two and Wildman and Heard one each. Foster notched three and Johnston one for the other side. Stars were Hough, Rennie, L. Parnall, B. Parnall, Foster, Hawkes and Johnston. The teams:

Murray St.—Goal, H. McNabb; defence, F. Spencely, O. McNabb; centre, Johnson; wings, Hawkes, Foster; alternate, Holmes.

Referee, G. Beauclerc.

Parnall Helps in Win.

The presence of Bob Parnall on the George St. Juveniles made the difference in this contest. The aggresive St. Paul's gang battled hard but suffered their first reverse. Parnall shone with four goals while Hamilton got one for the winners. Easton and Mackness tallied for the Saints, the latter player notching a pair. Parnall, Mackness and McBride were outstanding in this fray. The teams:

St. Paul's—Goal, McBride; defence, Mackness, McMillan; centre, Watson; wings, Easton, Lockington; alternate, Dunford.

Referee, J. Platt.

Lose Third Straight.

George St. Bantams lost their third stranght, but they had the better of the game most of the way. tI was the first win for Knox and as tight as the 1-0 scoring indicates. Hamblin got the one marker of the tilt in the first inning of Gertley's pass. Parnall, Saunders and Routley went best. The teams:

Knox— Goal, Parnall; defence, Saunders, Gourley; centre, Gardiner; wings, Hamblin, Gertley; alternates, Darling, Elliott, Alcock, Bestard, Richmond.

Referee—J. Lacheur.

Head Bantam Section.

All Saints' climbed to the top of the bantam section with their win as St. John's lacked the winners' man-power. It was a tight game and the losers' first line outskated the winners till the third heat. The score was 1-0 in the first, 2-0 to end the second stanza. Maudsley, Barns and Reid scored. Ackford, Batten, Clark, Crowter, Lacheur and Carpenter all looked good. The teams:

All Saints—Goal, Miller; defence, Ackford, Lacheur; centre, Maudsley; wings, Carpenter, Dyer; alternates, Reid, Blackwell, Smith, Burns, Lee.

St. John's—Goal, J. Moore; defence, W. Moore, Batten; centre, Crowter; wings, Clark, Frank; alternates, Dutton, Craig, Howarod.

Referee—D. Charlton.

It's Dirty Business But Blonde Cyclone Sees Bright Future In Sport

AKRON, Jan. 14. — That touching bit of sentiment about a woman's place being in the kitchen might be okay in its place, but there is no place for it in the life of Mildred (Cyclone) Burke. For Mildred has busied herself over a period of six years with winning the women's lightweight wrestling championship of all the world, including Istanbul, Keokuk, Ia., and other way points. So she hasn't had much time for much else.

Right at present she claims, as further distipction, to be one of the first two women rasslers to compete in the ring "Hindu Style," which means in a sea of the stickiest, gooiest mud that the proper ingredients of dirt and water can make. "If those guys on the west coast can do it, so can we," the bristling blond asserted, and much to the dismay of numerous churchgoers and ladies' aid societies, hopped into an Akron ring with Leona (Babe) Gordon of Chicago, and gave the patrons of the grappling arts a show that they won't forget for some time.

Plain and Fancy Insanity.

When a torrid 15 minutes or so of plain and fancy insanity was concluded it was winnah, and still champeen Mildred (Cyclone) Burke. The comely, curly-headed Miss is serious about this business of athletics for women—especially wrestling. A few years back she was quite a High School track star in her native Kansas City.

A rabid wrestling fan, it wasn't long before she got to thinking about trying the sport herself. There were perhaps a dozen or so females in the game around the country, and Mildred Burke figured she was as tough as any of them. Under the guidance of Billy Wolfe, one-time Missouri State champion, she got into the swing of things, turned professional, and finally became the Mid-west Wrestling Association champion, which is tantamount to world championship recognition in women's ranks.

Miss Burke stands 5 feet 2 inches, weighs 128 pounds, and is 22 years old.

"I'm stronger than a lot of men my size," she says. And she isn't boasting. One glance at her good right arm and you get a general idea that speaks naught but the truth. Training routine? Plenty of it. Three or four miles of road work each day. Rope skipping, calisthenics, and a vigorous workout with Wolfe, who also acts as her trainer.

"A lot of wrestlers' wives—maybe through association—I don't know—now have the idea they can wrestle. So I ought to have a lot of competition before very long," asserts Miss Burke.

"Bring 'em on. Any of 'em. All of 'em. I'll rassle 'em any time. Any in mud if they care to."

She pronounces it "rassling" when she gets her dander up. In other words, she means it.

CURLING

Echoes From No. '8'
By HERB MARTIN

The rinks that will represent our club to play against the Scottish curlers over in Lindsay on Wednesday, January 19 are:

R. F. Downey	E. R. Shirley
J. Richmond	T. MacKay
A. Archbiald	G. Matthews
W. Oke Skip	M. Cruthers

We like the way those four curlers who attended the Midland bonspiel stick together, each story is identical and how they do tell it. C. Giroux lost out in the third round for the Imperial trophy...Just as a reminder, don't forget about the 'spiel here on Saturday, 1.45 is the hour...Beginning Monday night and continuing until the schedule is completed, we will play 14 games per night instead of 12 games as heretofore.

Thursday's Scores

A. Kay	14	N. Hamley	8
C. Westbrooke	13	R. Bacon	6
M. Cruthers	11	B. Scott	8
J. Richmond	14	H. Clegg	9
T. McArthur	11	R. Downey	7
C. Giroux	18	G. Matthews	6

The Lakeshore District Cup and Tankard play took place in Oshawa this week with 'Goldie' Wheeler skip, A. S. Cooper, Walter Johnson and G. Coffey; Tom Mitchell skip, George Mitchell, Jr., D. Dudley and Jack Mitchell representing Cobourg in the District play. In the Tankard the club was represented by William Potts skip, A. D. Spragge, M. Booth and J. G. Hayden; Judge O'Connor skip, Geo. Mitchell, J. Skitch and R. E. Barnes. The personnel of the junior tankard included Ross Booth skip, F. Giffis, J. Simpson and C. Burley.

Much interest is being taken at this club in the inter-rink games. In all twenty-three rinks are drawn in the schedule, eleven being in Group 1 and twelve in Group 2. With this number of rinks now playing it would seem that the club's objective of over one hundred members is well in hand.

The results of games to date in Group 1 are as follows: J. Hayden, Jr., defeated Wm. Potts; J. Hayden, Jr., defeated G. Mitchell, Jr.; H. Lucas defeated T. Mitchell; T. Mitchell defeated C. R. Cowie; M. Booth defeated W. L. Allen; M. Booth defeated A. D. Spragge; Judge O'Connor defeated A. D. Spragge and Wm. Potts defeated R. G. Parker.

In Group 2 the results of the games played to date are: J. Cooke defeated D. H. Burn; Dr. Kidd defeated J. McD. Hayden; Dr. Kidd defeated J. O. Burnet; D. H. Burn defeated R. Holland; G. Mitchell Sr., defeated A. S. Cooper; G. Mitchell, Sr., defeated J. J. Roberts; A. E. Hopper defeated A. J. Gould; R. Holland defeated J. J. Roberts; A. S. Cooper defeated J. McD. Hayden; D. Dudley defeated Dr. Kidd, and J. D. Burnet defeated D. Dudley.

VALUABLE PLAYER AWARD

COBOURG, Jan. 14.—It is announced that Chief of Police W. J. Carey has donated a cup to the Cobourg Church Hockey League to be awarded to the most valuable player selected from the three groups from the point of view of clean play, team work and general efficiency.

BENEVOLENT FUND ENGLISH SOCCER

LONDON, Jan. 14 (CP) — The English Football League plans a £100,000 ($500,000) fund to aid footballers when their playing days are over. If the scheme is approved the fund will be known as the Football League Jubilee £100,000 Benevolent Fund.

Officials propose that first division clubs contribute £1,000 ($5,000) each, second division teams, £500 $2,500) and clubs in the northern and southern sections of the third division £250 ($1,250). This would mean a total of £44,000 (220,000) derived from eighty-eight clubs.

It is also suggested that a full league program be played Aug. 20 a week before the 1938-39 season opens, the proceeds to go toward the fund.

While generally lauding the idea critics ask how many clubs can afford £1,000 and question the ability of third division teams to pay £250. Many of the latter are in grave financial difficulties.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

IF HAVELOCK have luck—puns it gives now!—here tonight they will hold the cantering Colts in check, but they will need to tote along a couple or several equine oxfords, we submit. It is an O.H.A. junior "B" joust at 8.30 tonight in the Brock St. rubber orchard, the only appearance of the Railroaders here this season and the last home scheduled scrap for the Colts. Though they'll be seen locally in playoffs for some time yet. We hope. And we wouldn't kid the customers that the Havelock huskies have a good chance of knocking the young Petes into two cocked hats. Not a bit of it. The Colts should win rather handily. They did in Norwood and should do at least as well in their own corral. We'll be too surprised for words—and that's the ultra in surprises for us—if Havelock cops the duke.

* * * * * * *

NONE THE less, we look for a lively battle. You can't toss two junior puck squads over the boards on a good sheet of ice and have a dead number. The young chaps battle till the kine return regardless of the score, bumps, bruises or gate receipts. They dish up oodles of action and never quit trying. So th's fray ought to be interesting, with some good hockey shown, plenty of speed dished up and lots to yodel about. Manager Pat Hayden will ice his regular lineup and it and the Havelock list are run elsewhere in tonight's sheet. The tilt ought to draw a good crowd of city and district lovers of junior hockey.

* * * * * * *

WHOOPS FOR the hoopsters. If this setup doesn't sound too much like the mumbling of a goon—you know, a sort of jumbled-up scrawl—let us again review local cage activities here this week-end: Three games this eve at the Y.W.C.A., St. John's Stars playing Quaker Maids at 7.45, Westclox meeting 'Y' Gym at 8.30, and Quaker Debs tangling with St. John's Teenites at 9.15 o'clock. Lindsay senior gals' and boys' teams play P.C.I. squads at the Collegiate gym here tonight, too. Tomorrow p.m. at the Y.M.C.A., these Church Loop cage contests are on: St. John's vs. George St. Bantams at 6.30 and St. John's Juniors vs. St. Andrew's at 7.15; followed by two City League scraps, C.G.E. tearing into St. Paul's at eight, and Clothiers playing Dominions at nine.

* * * * * * *

HIAWATHA INDIANS broke into the win list—if ya make that wine list, Mr. Printer, we'll be sued for libel!—last night in a Blood and Thunder Loop fracas at the Brock St. arena. They copped a 4-3 nod over the Southenders, the second straight the locals have dropped by one marker. A fairish sort of battle with a lively but brief fist fight late in the third heat betwixt Wright and Cowie—honors being about even, but the referee winning out eventually. Ivan Fletcher was travelling in high most of the eve, "Ching" Waters on defence was bumping 'em like a seniority railraoder in hard times and Bill Howard in goal was wondering if trapping muskrats wasn't a sight softer than trapping those fast-travelling rubber discs ere the end. Yeah, a neat number and no doubt a lot of encouragement for the Indians.

* * * * * * *

BEWDLEY CLIMBED to the top of the thud and blunder circuit with a 4-2 decision over Millbrook at the Brock and we fear the hop into the stratosphere will have the summer resorters going around in a daze for days! But they earned the win with nice work in a tussle that showed good hockey at times and at other intervals had the fans holding their sides. Shinny in spots is what we mean. A fist fight in the third heat to wake up anyone silly enough to slumber through this tussle. Yeah, lots of fun and fury in this loop.

BILL TOBIN, scout for the Chi Hawks is up around the Quinte district these days taking a gander at some lads recommended to him by Coach Bill Hughes of Picton. Wellbanks and Sprung of Picton, Storms of Belleville, and Gerow of Napanee, are the boys in mind. Speaking of scouts, Joe Primeau—who refereed the tilt in Omemee the other night between Fenelon Falls and our Colts—wanted to know afterward who this boy Tompkins was. The latter and Gee Clark scored five of the six goals in the Colts' 6-4 victory as our regular junior squad—using three lines—trimmed the Falls' intermediates, who also had a iLndsay intermediate or two aboard. By the way, Shorty Burgess will manage the Colts here tonight as Pat Hayden is home with a cold. Evers may be used on one wing after a nice showing in Omemee.

FOUR C.G.E. Shop Hockey League squabbles are billed for tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon in the Brock St. ice cushion. Industrial Control meets Switchgear at 1.30, Wire Dept. plays Refrigerator Cabinet at 2.30, Machine Shop mixes with Toolroom at 3.30, and Office plays Induction Motors at 4.30 o'clock. Fractionals get a bye this week. Red Creighton is referee. No admish to these lively shop circuit scraps, which draw good crowds and see a lot of O.H.A.-ers performing.

PICKING 'EM off the grapevine: Knotty Lee, ex-Petes' ball coach, broke his ankle recently and will be laid up for a time . . . . Bill Calladine's nose was badly broken but he shouldn't miss more than one game as the Petes don't play again till Belleville comes here Wednesday . . . . Fliers and Redmen meet tonight . . . . Whitby Red Wings play our Bees here on Monday eve and it should be a lively tilt for the Bees' local debut . . . . School Puck Loop games at All Saints' rink tomorrow a.m.: Prince of Wales vs. King Edward at 9.00, King George vs. Queen Mary at 10.00, and Queen Alex vs. Central at 11.00 . . . . Church Hockey League standings and results are in tonight . . . . No Junior City Puck Circuit contests Monday due to that O.H.A. fixture here . . . . Kingston and Quinte columnists have little to say over the Petes' rout over Queen's . . . . Port Hope lasses in the L.O.B.A. group dropped a 24-10 number to Belleville the other gloaming . . . . And C.G.E. lasses lost a 27-25 game in Cobourg last eve . . . . Charlie Gehringer of the Detroit Tigers rakes in 25 grand a year . . . . Wonder if a potted palm or two at the Brock St. arena this time of year wouldn't lend a charming illusion of something or other—well, maybe you're right at that!

PICTON JUNIORS DEFEAT TRENTON

TRENTON, Jan. 14.—Paced by the stellar efforts of Sprung, first string right winger, Picton's entry in Junior O.H.A. circles took undisputed lead in their grouping when they defeated a crippled Trenton sextette by an 8-4 score in a scheduled league fixture in the Prince Edward County seat.

Icing only three substitutes and minus the services of Greer and Perry, two of their star forwards, the Trenton squad put up a spirited battle against their heavier fast-skating opponents and culminated a stubborn fight by a third period rally that netted three of their four counters.

The game was anything but an outstanding exhibition of the winter pastime with both squads relying on shooting from well outside and ganging attacks when inside the opposing blue line.

Badminton

R. O. BENSON

Trinity Club last night entertained the East City gang, in the first meeting of the year between these two groups, and managed to hold them to a draw. Each won 8 matches. There were 16 players from each club and events played were ladies', men's and mixed doubles. Trinity won 5 of the 8 mixed games, split with East City on the ladies' doubles and dropped 3 of the 4 men's contests.

Individual stars were hard to pick. Mrs. R. Hull, Mrs. C. Muir and C. Muir and D. Emery were possibly the best for East City, with Mrs. A. Jamieson, Miss Sherin, Mrs. Steer and K. Gates and F. Randle outstanding in the Trinity lineup.

All games were exceptionally well played with plenty of fight and enthusiasm evident on both sides. In ladies' doubles, Trinity had two one-sided wins. Mrs. Jamieson and Mrs. Steer took Ethel Brownlee and Nan Boorman in rather easy fashion, proving to be much too good. Anne Franks and Dora Head had little trouble also with Mesdames Malby and Shields. The other two were tight struggles, especially the Deyell-Sherin and Muir-Baughan match. The East City pair seemed to pack just a little extra power in the right spots.

Bob Huffman and H. H. Steer deserved a better fate in their men's game, playing their heads off as they did. But they didn't just seem to click, while Emery and Muir were riding high, Clark coming through with many sizzling smashes and whistling drives and Don Emery backing up well. 15-4 was not a good indication of the play. Charlie and Ed Baughan pulled out a nice win over Lorne Reynolds and Harold Rehill, 15-10. When Huffman wasn't clowning, he had very good shots and Baughan pulled remarkable saves from nowhere and fine pick-ups almost off the floor. After a slow start Art Malby and Rolly Hull picked up steam to nose out Ken Gates and Andy Jamieson in another nifty male tussle.

Mixed doubles occupied the spotlight for the greater part of the night and there were some real battles. Mr. and Mrs. R. Hull teamed up in grand style to overcome Dora Head and Tim Flood in one of the best of these games. The Trinity duo made it a real battle all the way, the deciding factor probably being Mrs. Hull's net play. Jessie Deyell and Ken Gates trimmed Ethel Brownleee and Nels Stanger without extending themselves very much and Mrs. Jamieson and H. H. Steer did the same for Mr. and Mrs. Baughan. Perhaps the most exciting of the mixed affairs, was that in which Mr and Mrs. Rehill disposed of Mrs. Sills and Charlie Huffman only after a very lively joust indeed. The lead switched back and forth till, at the three-quarter mark, the Rehills went out in front and proceeded to romp home from there.

Here are the complete scores: Ladies' doubles—Mrs. C. Muir and Mrs. E. Baughan, East City vs. Misses D. Sherin and J. Deyell, 15-11; Mesdames Steer and Jamieson, Trinity vs. E. Brownlee and N. Boorman, 15-3; Mesdames Hull and Sills, East City vs. Mrs. W. Fanjoy and Mrs. H. Rehill, 15-10; Anne Franks and Dora Head, Trinity vs. Mrs. A. Malby and Mrs. S. Shields, 15-3. Men's doubles—C. Muir and D. Emery, East City vs. B. Huffman and H. Steer, 15-4; T. Flood and F. Randle, Trinity vs. D. Baughan and S. Shields, 15-9; C. Huffman and E. Baughan, East City vs. H. Rehill and L. Reynolds, 15-10; A. Malby and R. Hull, East City vs. A. Jamieson and K. Gates, 15-11.

Mixed doubles—Mr. and Mrs. C. Muir, East City vs. Mrs. Fanjoy and B. Huffman, 15-8; Mrs. A. Jamieson and H. H. Steer, Trinity, vs. Mr and Mrs. E. Baughan, 15-5; Mr. and Mrs. R. Hull, East City vs. Miss D. Head and T. Flood, 15-11; Mrs. Steer and F. Randle, Trinity vs. Mr. and Mrs. S. Shields, 15-9; Miss J. Deyell and K. Gates, Trinity vs. Miss E. Brownlee and N. Stanger, 15-4; Miss N. Boorman and D. Emery, East City vs. Miss A. Franks and L. Reynolds, 15-9; Mr. and Mrs. H. Rehill, Trinity vs. Mrs. Sills and C. Huffman, 15-10; Miss L. Stewart and A. Jamieson, Trinity vs. Mr. and Mrs. A. Malby, 15-7.

Final score—Trinity 8, East City 8.

CELTS SEEKING SIXTH VICTORY

GLASGOW, Jan. 14 (CP Cable)—A goal-average record surpassed only by Raith Rovers in major Old Country football is the distinction of the hard-fighting Celtic players as they prepare for their Saturday invasion by Aberdeen, north of Scotland stalwart. And the Celts are primed for their sixth successive victory to keep the Scottish League leadership intact.

Pacemaker with four points to spare in the Scottish minor circuit —where free-scoring contests seem to be getting more frequent—Raith has banged in 91 goals in 22 matches to date against 40. Opposition in this group is second-class. Celtic's record is 68 for, 27 against.

Sticking close to major league leaders since present campaign started. Celtic's great bid for the top berth reached its climax Christmas Day when the team hammered out an 8 to 0 decision over Kilmarnock and replaced Hearts at the top. The Glasgow men have returned victories in their last five games and today have a one-point advantage over their Edinburgh rivals.

Beaten 4 to 2 in last Saturday's feature attraction by Celtic, Hearts play in Glasgow this week-end against Partick Thistle.

LEAFS STRENGTHEN GROUP LEAD WITH 3-2 WIN OVER MAROONS

Colorless Hockey Evening Produces One Victory And Two Tie Games In N.H.L.

On Scouting Trip

ARMAND MONDOU

Out of action with a fractured bone in his foot, Armand Mondou, Montreal Canadien forward, is utilizing his time by scouting some amateur prospects for the Flying Frenchmen. Mondou who hopes to get back into action early next month, is viewing northern Ontario's hockey crop.

Hawks Draw With Canadiens 2-2—Wings And Rangers In 3-3 Deadlock

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP).—With the horrible example of that record score game in Montreal fresh in their minds, National Hockey League players seem determined to play tight hockey, keep scores lower and help the public forget big league teams sometimes play the sort of shinny that piles up high goal counts.

Last night they went to the other extreme from the Montreal Maroons 11-7 win over Canadiens in Montreal Tuesday. Of three games played, only one was fought to a decision in the most colorless evening the N.H.L. has produced in weeks.

Even the resumption of the Maroon-Toronto Maple Leafs feud turned out to be a pink tea affair with only six minor penalties and a misconduct called. Pep Kelly got the latter, not for belligerency toward the Montrealers, but for talking back to Referee Clarence Campbell.

Kelly also won the game for Toronto with a goal in the third period that gave Conny Smythe's team a 3-2 decision over Tommy Gorman's club.

While Leafs and Maroons were sticking strictly to business, eschewing the fist-fighting of last Thursday's battle in Montreal, Chicago Black Hawks were playing a 2-2 tie with Canadiens in Montreal, and Detroit Red Wings and Rangers were deadlocking 3-3 in New York.

Leafs Have 4-Point Lead.

The Leaf win gave them a four-point lead over New York Americans and Canadiens, whose point from the tie brought them level with the New Yorkers in the Canadian division's second spot. Canadiens were the only team to move in the standings.

The peaceful tone of the proceedings at Toronto was presaged when King Clancy, who started the feud without lifting a finger or speaking a word, faced the puck. Perhaps the players kept peace in the belief that the Ottawa Irishman would be over the boards and in the fight if one started.

At any rate, Leafs seem to have shaken their resentment at the former Leaf defenceman being deposed as Maroon coach. And the tight hold the officials, Ag Smith and Campbell, kept on the game played its part in keeping the penalty bench comparatively clear.

Kelly Gets Winner.

Leafs had a two-goal lead early in the second on Jimmy Fowler's first period marker and Gordon Drillon's early in the second, but Allan Shields' goal in the last minute of that session and Bob Gracie's early in the third tied the score. That set the stage for Kelly's winning counter with less than five minutes to play.

Only 5,000 fans, 800 of them school children, watched the spotty game at Montreal. Paul Haynes scored for Canadiens in the first, and when Carl Voss tied it in the second there was no more scoring until the overtime. Then Cully Dahlstrom put Hawks ahead but they couldn't keep Pete Lepine from scoring and had to share the points.

There was scoring in each of the regular periods in New York, Rangers taking a first period lead on goals by Bryan Hextall and Cecil Dillon, while Carl Liscombe kept Wings in the running.

Herb Lewis, returning to the game after suffering a wrist injury, tied the score in the second, and Bucko McDonald put Wings ahead in the third, Clint Smith tying the score for Rangers half-way through that session.

HAMILTON RINKS IN GUELPH SERIES

GUELPH, Ont., Jan. 14 (CP). — Eight rinks, three from Hamilton, two from Kitchener, and one each from Palmerston, Grand Valley and Toronto, squared off today in quarter-final matches for the Sleeman trophy, premier prize of the Guelph Curling Club's centennial bonspiel.

The draw, announced last night, follows: B. C. Hall, Kitchener, vs. F. N. Allen, Hamilton Thistles; P. G. Hall, Kitchener, vs. Dr. A. E. Walkey, Hamilton Vics; S. Burns, Palmerston, vs. Gordon Campbell, Hamilton Thistles; A. Menary, Grand Valley, vs. H. C. Rose, Toronto Granites.

Winners of the morning matches will meet in the semi-finals this afternoon and the cupholders will be decided tonight, bringing to a close the 'spiel which started Monday.

Menary and Rose were the qualifying skips from yesterday's play. The Grand Valley man defeated J. A. Bain, Ayr, W. M. O. Lochead, Kitchener, and J. H. Albaugh, Fergus. Rose eliminated R. J. Winter, Seaforth, C. R. Crowe, Guelph, and F Lucas, Toronto High Park.

Lucas experienced the greatest difficulty of any of the skips that progressed past the first two rounds. He defeated F. MacDonald 8-7, in one of the lowest scoring games of the 'spiel, and edged out a 16-15 victory over A. C. Gardiner in the second round. He failed to stay with his fellow-Torontonian in a third round match, losing 13-6.

NORTHAMPTON, England—(CP)—R. P. Nelson, a Cambridge Blue, has accepted the captaincy of Northamptonshire County Cricket club for next season. He expects to play in all matches.

Jim Braddock Has No Fears Of Farr, Wants To Keep In The Fight Racket

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP). — Jim Braddock, plotting another comeback, can't understand these humanitarians who think he should hang up the gloves and live on the $150,000 he made from the heavyweight championship.

Just because Joe Louis knocked his noggin loose in Chicago last summer is no reason, so far as the 32-year-old Jim can see, why he should retire. Jim thinks he will lick the tar out of Tommy Farr a week from to-night.

"Why all this worry about my health?" he inquired after a strenuous eight-round training session yesterday. "If I remember correctly, both Louis and Schmeling have been knocked out in recent years, and nobody has said anything about their quitting. If Schmeling thinks he can come back and win the title, there's no reason why I shouldn't have a crack at it."

Braddock has been working hard for a month, doing six or eight fast miles on the road every day in addition to his boxing. He's down to 197 pounds, a half-pound lighter than the night Louis knocked him out.

PASSING "TRIO" PACES RAMBLERS TO 7-1 VICTORY

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(CP). — It's an old New York Rangers custom, fathered by Maestro Lester Patrick, to have intricate passing plays with the puck going from one man to the other in rapid relay, and Philadelphia Ramblers, their farm team, have picked it up.

Around the National Hockey League circuit the fans talk about the great passing game of two Ranger lines—one made up of Mac and Neil Colville and Alex Shibicky, and the other of Clint Smith, Bryan Hextall and Bobby Kirk. But Ramblers have a line of Charlie Mason, Bill Carse and Eddie Wares that can show plenty in a passing way.

This trio paced Ramblers to a 7-1 victory last night in an International-American Hockey League game over Cleveland Barons. Victory sent Ramblers into a first-place tie with Providence Reds in the eastern section of the League, while Barons lost a chance to go into first place in the western division.

Wares, Mason and Carse showed their best form in the second period of the game after a scoreless opening session. Wares tallied twice and Carse once and in each case the line mates were credited with assists. In the last period Mason scored, but only Wares got an assist this time.

Hugh Gustafson, Cliff Barton and Kilby MacDonald each scored a goal for Ramblers, while Lorne Duguid shot the lone Cleveland goal shortly after the start of the last period.

RETURN OF BROOK AIDS MANCHESTER

LONDON, Jan. 14 (C.P. Cable). — In danger of relegation to the Second Division, Manchester City English Football League champion last season, hopes the return of Eric Brook will mark the turn in its fortunes.

The Lancastrians' brilliant international winger, operated on for appendicitis on November 27, proved the inspiration of the team when he reappeared in the English Cup, third-round replay against Millwall yesterday. The City played like a new team to defeat the Londoners 3-1, Brook beng one of the scorers. The Mancurians play at Leicester on Saturday, and may record their eighth league victory.

Leading clubs have attractive fixtures. Brentford, league leader, goes to Huddersfield, where the clubs played a drawn game a year ago. Arsenal, runner-up three points behind Brentford, is away to Wolverhampton Wanderers.

Leeds United and Preston North-End, third and fifth in the league standing, clash at Preston in a northern derby that may end with the spoils divided.

Aston Villa is making a bold bid to regain First-Division status. The colorful Midlanders are tied with Coventry City and Sheffield United with 31 points, and it is on the cards the deadlock will be broken at the week-end. The Villans look like easy winners in a home tussle with Southampton, but the City is away to Burnley. Newcastle United visit Sheffield and may put up a stiff fight.

Bewdley Wins 4-2 Over Millbrook

Bewdley climbed into undisputed possession of first place in the Senior City Hockey League standing last night with a 4-2 triumph over Millbrook before a fair crowd. It was a fast tilt on good ice with little difference shown between the squads. The Bewdley boys played aggressive hockey in the first two frames while Millbrook pressed hard thrcugh the third in an effort to sew it up. Aside from one fight in which Morton, McCarthy and Cathcart were penalized, play was mostly clean. The score was 2-1 for Bewdley in the first frame and 3-1 for them going into the third.

Skitch scored for Millbrook in the initial inning while L. Jewitson got two for the other side, with Walker getting an assist. Mercer scored in the second and Watson was given an assist. Watson tallied for Bewdley in the third on a soft counter due to poor clearing and Clark notched the losers' last counter. The Millbrook boys drew four of the six penalties passed out. The teams:

Bewdley: Goal, Sloan; defence, D. Sidey, Walker; centre, Watson; wings, Mercer, Elliott; alternates, L. Jewitson, A. Jewitson, P. Sidey, Morton, Pemberton.

Remember When—

Bob Fitzsimmons stopped Jack Dempsey, "The Nonpareil," at New Orleans Jan. 14, 1891, winning the world's middleweight title. He stepped into the heavyweight division and climbed to the top in 1897 with a 14-round knockout over James J. Corbett. He was dethroned in 1899 by James J. Jeffries. Four years later Fitzsimmons won his third title — lich'-heavyweight ruler. He died in 1918.

HIAWATHA WINS CITY PUCK TILT

Hiawatha broke into the victory column of the Senior City League last night at the Brock St. rink with a 4-3 win over the luckless Southenders. The latter dropped their second straight by one goal in a neat scrap before about a hundred fans. It was a speedy game with good and bad hockey dished up on fast ice, play being clean except for a few outbreaks in the third heat. One fist fight occurred with Wright and Cowie drawing penalties. It was 1-1 in the first frame and 3-2 for Hiawatha going into the third.

Wright scored on A. Cournyea's pass for Southenders in the first frame and Gall tallied for the Indians on McIntyre's assist. R. Cournyea scored in the second aided by A. Cournyea for the losers while Fletcher and J. Anderson netted the rubber for the Rice Lake lads, Wood and McIntyre drawing assists. R. Cournyea tallied in the third with A. Cournyea assisting for the locals but McIntyre got the winning marker on a long drive. The Cournyea boys, Wright and Vitarelli were best for the losers; with Fletcher, McIntyre, Waters and Howard good for the victors. The teams:

Hiawatha: Goal, Howard; defence, Nelson, Cowie; centre, Gall; wings, Wood, Fletcher; alternates, J. Anderson, A. Anderson, McCarthy, Waters, McIntyre.

ITALIAN BOXER LIKELY BANNED BY N.Y. BOARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Fiery Bill Brown of the New York Boxing Commission proposed Thursday that Enrico Venturi, Italian lightweight, and his handlers be tossed out of the fight game.

Venturi is the lad who claimed foul and was counted out in the sixth round of Wednesday night's bout with Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong at Madison Square Garden.

Venturi already is under a thirty-day suspension for failing to make the agreed 137 pounds at Wednesday's weighing-in. The suspension went into effect immediately after the knockout. Also Chairman John J. Phelan ordered Venturi's purse of $6,150.90 held up until after Tuesday's meeting, at which the foul knockout will be investigated thoroughly.

Commissioner Brown said he would try to have Venturi, Manager Carmine Terantino and the two seconds, Nick and Dan Florio, banned permanently from boxing in New York State. Brown believes that Venturi could have risen and "continued his footrace," and that he was improperly coached from his corner at the time of the foul.

Meanwhile Brown, Jacobs and most fight followers agreed that Referee Arthur Donovan had acted correctly in counting out Venturi when he failed to rise from the canvas. Donovan explained, "You can't give a man a rest period after a foul unless he stays on his feet, according to our rules."

Skiing Hints

By Fritz Loosli
INSTRUCTOR, TORONTO SKI CLUB

CHRISTIANIA TURNS

In the new method of instruction I have adopted, the different Christiania turns are taught after the tempo turn, and I would strongly advise beginners to follow the program of instruction in the order outlined, if you are interested in high speed and tempo turn.

1. Straight running on the level and climbing.
2. Snow plow.
3. Stem turn.
4. Lifted stem with pole and without pole.
5. Skating.
6. Side-slipping.
7. High speed running (vorlage).
8. Tempo turn.
9. Stem Christiania and open Christiania.
10. Pure Christiania.
11. Telemark.
12. One and two-pole jump turn and Gelandesprung.

This order of instruction may be critized by addicts of the old standard technique, but there is so much difficulty for advanced skiers in overcoming edging and unweighing the back of the skis, that they will agree with me that tempo teaching should precede any movement where the weight is carried on the back of the skis.

The stem Christiania is very similar to the lifted stem without pole, but the inner ski is not lifted off the snow but is slid into the parellel position. To get smoothness to the turn, carry the weight as long as possible on the outside ski, (right ski for a left turn and left ski for a right turn).

The open Christiania is executed in two ways, the weight on the inside or the outside ski. At greater speed the weight on the inside ski is safer. But at slow speed if the weight is kept on the outside ski, the pupil will swing much easier and with less chance of getting the habit of hugging the hill. Start on a well-packed slope, with the tip of the ski slightly apart and the tail ends close together; run down hill with your weight on the right ski for a left turn, and left ski for a right turn. Slowly edge your left ski on its left edge and drop the weight on the heel of the right ski, which lies practically flat on the slope; the right ski will swing into the turn and take a parallel position with the other ski. Both skis are then edged similarly to complete the turn and the weight distributed equally on both skis.

HAVELOCK HERE TO PLAY COLTS

Havelock and the Peterborough Colts have an O.H.A. junior "B" contest here tonight (Friday) at 8.30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink. It is the only appearance here this year of the Havelock lads, since the schedule is a single one, and the last scheduled home appearance this winter—though they will be seen in playoffs toward the end of the month. It should be a typical junior scrap, wide-open and fast hockey, with plenty of thrills, and a good-sized crowd of city and district fans is expected to see the boys tangle tonight.

The Havelock lineup will likely be: Goal, Harnden; defence, Hoffman and Whitney; centre, Moore; wings, Kitchen and McMullen; alternates, Pollock, Haggerty, McCutcheon and Aboud. Pat Hayden's local lineup will be probably: Goal, McNabb; defence, Brady and Walker; centre, Gee Clark; wings, Tompkins and Jopling; alternates, Craig, Creighton, White, Al Clark and Berwick. The Havelock lads will be trying hard to get their first win in three starts and the Colts will be after their third straight nod, and the homesters should come out on top.

Hockey's Big 7

(By the Canadian Press.)

Cecil Dillon of Rangers, gaining a goal and an assist in his team's draw with Detroit last night, moved to within three points of Toronto's Gordon Drillon among National League scorers. Drillon picked up a goal himself against Maroons to put his total points at 28. Marty Barry of Detroit and Johnny Gagnon of Canadiens were the only other members of the Big Seven to advance but the assists they drew dropped Mantha of Canadiens, Nels Stewart of Americans and Harvey Jackson of Toronto out of the select group.

ASK ALLOWANCE FOR ALL RETIRING AT AGE OF SIXTY

"We reiterate our previously expressed convictions that democracy is the most suitable system of government yet devised, and for this reason we urge the government to expose any planned efforts to substitute any of the types of dictatorships now flourishing abroad."

Noting that some improvement had been recorded in employment during the past year, the submission declared:

"Unemployment continues to rank as our greatest national problem. We urge that there be no easing of the efforts to overcome the problem through providing work where possible and where not possible to meet the consequences of enforced idleness by satisfactory financial provision."

Further programs of planned public works to provide work not only for those completely idle but for those only partially unemployed, were urged, with the suggestion the Canadian National Railways terminal in Montreal be completed.

The Congress recommended enlargement of the housing legislation to include slum clearance and to reduce the mortgage interest cost to low wage employees to 1½ per cent.

Still Ask 5-Day, 6-Hour Week.

Recording its "deep regret" that the 1935 hours-of-work legislation was found unconstitutional the Congress urged the Dominion to obtain constitutional power to legislate for a six-hour, five-day week without reduction in earning power.

Referring to reports the National Employment Commission might soon be abolished the Congress urged the government to continue some suitable agencies to carry on the work started by the Commission.

Endorsing the proposed national unemployment insurance scheme the submission urged that health insurance and a health policy be included or added to the government's efforts toward esablishment of social insurance.

Other recommendations included:

Exemption under the Old Age Pensions Act of estates up to $5,000.

Fair Wage Act clause in contracts with subsidized shipping, and increased salaries for letter carriers.

Maintenance of the rights of wage earners to organize for their mutual protection particularly in respect to obstacles placed in their way by employers.

Wider Disputes Probe.

Widening of the scope of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act to include distribution of bread, milk and coal and motor transportation.

Nationalization of the production and export of nickel as a peace measure and nationalization of the manufacture of armaments.

Institution of safety measures in bus and motor traffic, at public bathing beaches and in industry.

Compulsory use of wireless on all Great Lakes and coastal vessels and other safety measures for protection of sailors.

Granting of vias to Canadian doctors and nurses desiring to go to Spain on errands of mercy.

That permission be secured from the King for printing in Canada of copies of the Bible required in the Dominion.

Abolition of all grants for cadet training in schools.

EVENING AUXILIARY MEETS IN NORWOOD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, Jan. 14.—Miss R. Squire was hostess on Wednesday evening for the January meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of the United Church. Mrs. W. B. Tucker, the president opened the meeting by the singing of a hymn followed by prayer. Reports were given from the various secretaries.

The program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. Armar Weir with Miss Marse Buck reading the devotional leaflet and Miss Pauline Weir taking the scripture passages. Mrs. C. Renaud favored the girls with a solo, after which the study topics "Ministry of Healing in Canada" and "Medical Work Abroad" were ably taken by Miss L. Stacke and Mrs. A. Weir. Repeating the Mizpah benediction brought the meeting to a close and a social half hour followed.

Mission Circle Meets.

The Baptist Women's Mission Circle met at the home of Mrs. J. U. MacIntosh for their January meeting on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Hubbel the president in charge who opened the meeting with a hymn and prayer. At the close of the business part of the meeting, Mrs. MacIntosh took charge of the program with Mrs. T. Rorabeck taking the scripture lesson, Psalm 34, on which Mrs. MacIntosh spoke a few words, followed by prayer led by Mrs. J. Jones.

The "Restraining Hand" the first chapter of the Study book was interestingly given by Mrs. MacIntosh. Following the closing exercise of the meeting the ladies were servtd a dainty tea by the hostess who was later tendered a vote of thanks for her hospitality.

CUT THIS OUT

EXCELLENT RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS, AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises, or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint tsed in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

OBITUARY

JOHN GOVAN.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 14.—Following a brief illness death came suddenly to John Govan aged 86 years and five months, who died in Cobourg on Tuesday morning. Born in Seymour, township on the family homestead he spent the greater part of his life on the land and in later years moved with his family to Campbellford. One son, Edward, and a daughter, Annie, predeceased him several years ago and he is survived by his widow the former Lavina Cassan, one brother, Andrew of town and one sister, Agnes, also of town. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. B. Simpson Black from Bennett's Funeral Parlours on Wednesday afternoon and interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The pallbearers were Mesrs. Robert McCulloch, John Locke, William Anderson, J. R. Battisby, Allan Watson and M. Mahoney.

B.U.P. ALL BRITISH

MONTREAL, Jan. 14—(CP).—C. F. Crandall, president of the British United Press, today stated there was "no truth whatsoever in the implication regarding alleged American control of the B.U.P. contained in a question" to be asked at the reopening of parliament at Westminster by Thomas Johnston, Labor M.P.

SELLING METHODS ARE SAID LAGGING IN CHEESE TRADE

quality of cheese are the cheesemakers who know their business, he added, and have the ability to tell milk patrons decisively when their milk is not right in quality.

Prof. Sproule said that judged by comparative value, Canadian dairying occupies a place second only to field crops. "Surely," he said, "an industry of such importance is deservant of much consideration from the standpoint of educational services designed in its interests in order that the quality of its products may be maintained."

Prof. Sproule said he believed primary and secondary school courses in dairying, while generally satisfactory, were not productive of maximum results. He said any discrepancy in this regard should be directed to a possible lack of help or recognition on the part of dairy educationists rather than teachers or school administration.

POLICY OF VIGOROUS NATIONALISM IS NEEDED IN CANADA

Compromise With Quebec Is Urged By Prof. N. A. MacKenzie For The Sake Of United Canada

Patience, Intelligence And Willingness To Co-operate Are Needed

Compromise with the peoples of Quebec and their budding Fascist movement for the sake of a united Canada was urged by Professor N. A. MacKenzie, Toronto University authority on international affairs, as he addressed an extension lecture audience at the Y.M.C.A. last night. He suggested Canada can best follow at present a policy of keeping up with the Jones' in a world of vigorous nationalism and make itself an able and co-operative unit of the British Empire.

"It is essential to find out from them what is the common national policy they would be willing to support," he said in speaking of the increasingly unsympathetic French-Canadian bloc in the Dominion's population. "I believe the more broad-minded of them see Canada as a country large enough to hold both English Canadians and French Canadians even though they deny the prospect of a completely Anglicized Canada."

Avoid Extremes

He warned that at all costs the extremes of either Fascism or Communism must be avoided. Patience, intelligence, and a willingness to compromise and give and take will prove the solution, he said.

Canada's position in international affairs was Professor McKenzie's topic. He sought to bring home to the individuals of his audience the bearing of Canada's international affairs on them as individuals by suggesting that each man, woman and child is contributing $16 a year in taxes each year to the Dominion Government as the result principally of the assassination of the Archduke at Sarajevo in 1914 with its aftermath of war.

At no time in the history of Canada has the task of governing the Dominion been a more difficult one than at the present time, he continued. And one of the most disturbing factors in the task is the matter of the Dominion's foreign policy, he said.

To present his picture of the difficult present-day situation, the speaker went back to pre-war days when, he said, war was a recognized legal way of achieving national ends, an era of "power politics." The Great War came and changed all. Recognizing the need for a more rational way of international conduct, the powers instituted the first world-wide experiment in international security following the war, renouncing war and seeking to guarantee peace by rational collective methods, he said.

Power Politics

Professor MacKenzie traced the first definite stage in the return from the era of collective security back to the pre-war power politics to the Japanese invasion of Manchuria in 1931. The Italians followed the Japanese example by invading Ethiopia and the Germans followed with renunciation of the Treaty of Versailles. The little nations began to realize that the system of collective security was only a danger to them rather than a guarantee of safety.

The speaker suggested that the dominant feature of the current world situation is the line-up of two groups, the fortunates or "haves" and the unfortunates or "have-nots." The fortunates are the British Empire, the United States, France and Russia. The unfortunates are Germany, Italy and Japan, he said. Concern of the fortunates is to keep what they have while the unfortunates are concerned with getting what they have not from the fortunates. Sooner or later the breaking point will come and a great war will result, he said.

"The British Empire is a constant temptation to these land hungry powers who are looking for increased room, power and resources," he declared. "The only thing that deters them is the risk they would run into attacking the Empire."

The lecture was sponsored by the Y's Men's Club.

15 NEW CASES OF SCARLET FEVER REPORTED TO M.O.H.

The epidemic of mild scarlet fever which first struck the city in November made a sudden gain in the past fortnight, Medical Officer of Health Dr. G. Murray Fraser said to-day. Between 40 and 50 homes in the city are now under placard.

Fifteen new cases were reported last week and so far this week 17 cases have been reported, Dr. Fraser revealed. The majority of the victims have been children. The new cases are of the same mild type as those of the earlier weeks of the epidemic. In all, 86 cases have been recorded at the Department of Health since November 1.

Dr. Fraser suggested that mothers of the city would be wise to watch their children very closely for sore throats, nausea and vomiting, and the presence of a rash of even the lightest nature. It is possible that the mildness of the disease which is current in Peterborough is largely responsible for its rapid spread, the symptoms not being so readily apparent, he said.

ELEANOR NICOLL

After a lengthy and somewhat painful illness death called away last Friday, January 7, at her home in Carduff Township, Eleanor Nicoll, beloved wife of Mr. Alexander Nicoll, at the age of 74.

Mrs. Nicoll was born in Marmora, and came to Carduff when she was 13 years of age, where she continued to reside till death called her away. In 1687 she married Mr. Nicoll and both have held a high place in the esteem of friends and neighbors during their many years of married life. Mrs. Nicoll was a good wife and mother. Of Presbyterian adherence her faith has always been strong, and her character and life has shone with many fine virtues. She has gone on to her home above.

Though death was not unexpected the end came very quickly. During the last few days of her life and preceding the funeral service, members of the family gathered from various parts of the province to the home. The funeral service was held Monday afternoon in the home, conducted by Rev. W. J. Davis. The winter's day was fortunately mild enough to permit nearly all the family, as well as other relatives and sympathetic neighbors, to accompany the body to Highland Grove cemetery where interment took place.

In all, 19 sleighs formed the funeral cortege. The body was borne to its last resting place by six relatives of the deceased: Vernon Forbes, James and Donald McGregor, Charles Fiske, and Erwin and Arthur Russell.

Besides her husband, the deceased leaves to mourn her passing eight sons and five daughters: Donald, Berryvale, Alta.; James, Unity, Sask.; Charles, at home; Mrs. A. W. Russell (Maydie), Campbellford; Mrs. James McGregor (Dora), Cheddar, Ont.; Frederick, Cranberry, B.C.; Mrs. L. N. Plukneit (Ruby), Peterborough; Mrs. Vernon Forbes (Edna), Peterborough; Edward, at home; Arthur, Baptiste, Ont.; Albert, Cheddar; Mrs. B. Smither (Ivey), Calandar; and Harold, North Bay. Besides the above members of the family there are 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

NEW EXECUTIVE OF KINSMEN CLUB TAKES OFFICE

The 1938 executive of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club was installed in office by past president Donald Loucks at a meeting of the club held in the Empress Hotel on Thursday night.

The new officers are: President, Dr. Mark Crough; vice president, Donald Scott; secretary, Harold Constable; treasurer, Dave Hubbert; registrar, Charlie Graham; directors, Hal Leybourne, Howard Shimer and Ken Smylie.

The following chairmen of committees were announced by the president: Classification and Membership, Don Loucks; Sunshine, Robert Leeming; House, Wilf Cunningham; program, Hal Leybourne; Interclub Relation, Keele Tewsley; Laws and Regulations, Wilson Craw; Publicity and Bulletin, A. Bert Lacey; Audit, Ken Smylie and Advisory, Alex Sollitt.

Past President Don Loucks reviewed the work of 1937 in which the club has had a most successful year. The membership has been increased and several successful events were staged.

Dave Hubbert the treasurer reported a substantial balance on hand in the general account and over $300 in the sunshine account.

Dr. Robert Nott, the chairman of the Sunshine committee reported 60 eye cases handled and 48 new pairs of glasses provided and 12 pairs repaired. During the past year there has been a considerable dropping off in the number of cases handled as the large proportion of those needing glasses have already been aided and with improved conditions there are not as many needy cases coming on. Dr. Nott expressed the opinion that the day was not far distant when additional service work would have to be taken on by the club.

Five members of the Cobourg club were present and invited the Peterborough club to an inter club meeting there on January 28.

Hal Leybourne announced that the annual Kinsmen's Ladies' night would be held at the Kawartha Club on the last Thursday of the month.

Ellsworth Deyell was introduced to the club membership by Hal Leybourne and initiated by G. Wilson Craw.

King Edward Cops Win From Westsides

In a midget Southend Hockey League game last night at the Sacred Heart rink, King Edward took a 7-4 nod over Westenders. Gillespie and Campbell led the way with three goals each for the winners, while Eason got one. R. Garvey topped the losers with two markers, and Huard and O' Conner got one apiece. Campbell, Gillespie and Shea were best for the K.E. boys, while Garvey, Huard and Horton stood out for the losers. The teams:

Referee—J. Fleming.

A CORRECTION.

William McNott, Park street and Howden avenue, owner of a motor truck that was involved in a traffic tangle Wednesday, declared it was a car driven by Raymond Bacon that collided with another parked vehicle outside Barries Ltd. store, and not his truck. Manuel Miles was driving the truck out of a lane south of C.D.S. store when the accident occurred.

Miss Pogue, 27, of Omemee, died in Addis Ababa, following an operation for appendicitis and Dr. Jotcham, 25, of Montreal, died of meningitis in Sokoto, northern Nigeria.

John A. Smith Is Re-elected Head Of Horticulturalists

Program Of Beautification Conducted By City Council Commended

John A. Smith was re-elected president of the Peterborough Horticultural Society at its annual meeting last night in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Among the members present was Mrs. Chris. Plunkett who had driven in from hear Keene.

Other officers elected were. H. H. Graham, first vice-president; D. G. H. Melton, second vice-president; secretary-treasurer, W. C. Wilkes. Directors for two years: George, Benton, A. Price, W. Gracie, E. W. Wilson and James. A. Forbes; and for one year J. Matthews of Lakefield, Nelson King, Fred Dummitt, Fred Dainton and George East.

The Society closed its year with a credit balance of $83.32, and in his review Mr. Smith reported an increase of forty-nine members in 1937. Summaries of the various activities successfully carried on last year were given as follows: finances and show committee S. T. Harris; beautification committee, Dr. A. J. Madill for Jos. S. Bell; homes and gardens by George Benton; membership by H. H. Graham; junior department by Fred Dainton.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Wilkes with Mr. Benton as alternate were appointed to attend the annual convention of the Ontario Horticultural Society in Toronto on February 17 and 18.

Approval of Council

The program of city beautification accomplished by the city council last year was warmly commended. Mr. Benton and Mr. Harris outlined a number of proposals that are to be combined in a memorandum to the council. The plans for extending improvements at the Ashburnham Memorial Hill and on Crescent Street were specially mentioned, and the Society declared its support of the council in both these projects. They also expressed the hope that they might be able to offer some assistance in this work and suggested that a rest room might be considered for the Memorial Hill Park.

The city's new camp for tourists at the south side of the Hunter Street bridge was also favorably regarded, and it was said that if any extension is made that the natural beauty of the riverside property be preserved as much as possible. It was also suggested that the council might again consider the beautification project along the east side of the river from Hunter Street to Nicholls Oval known as the Stuart Drive.

Thanks were expressed to the chairman of the committees, the press, the judges at the flower shows, the auditors, and Frank A. Paterson as representative of the Department of Agriculture for the use of his office for general and committee meetings throughout the year. Potted plants given as door prizes for last night's meeting were won by George Clarke and T. H. Theobald.

Proposal For the "Ex"

William H. Young remarked that the Society might be able to give some help to the Peterborough Exhibition Board in the construction of a lath open-work building for the flower show. He said it could be made an exceptionally decorative and attractive addition to the Exhibition plant, and it would be preferable to a tent for the display of flowers. Free movement of air through such a building would tend to preserve the flowers during the entire period of exhibition. Mr. Young said the idea might be considered further at some other meeting, and might be carried out with the co-operation of the Exhibition Board.

The work of the show and membership committees last year was singled out by Mr. Smith for increased success in both these activities, and hope was expressed that the Society would be able to expand its efforts this year.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

By an Examiner Reporter.

BANK CLEARINGS.

Total bank clearings for the past week ending Thursday amounted to $589,222 as compared with $562,664 for the same week one year ago.

OPENS NEW STORE.

J. Campbell who for the past five years has been associated with Weston's Limited has opened a grocery and meat store at 332 McDonnel street previous known as the Lewis Meat Market.

COBOURG'S FIRE LOSS $27,890.

Nine times the record low Peterborough fire loss for 1937, the total loss for the town of Cobourg was $27,890., Fire Chief T. J. Turpin's annual report revealed. Despite the large total, only 21 alarms were listed for the year.

EARLIER CLOSING URGED

Following Peterborough's lead in the matter, the Port Hope Council is planning to seek joint action with the Cobourg Council toward adoption of earlier closing hours for beverage rooms in the two towns. A petition urging such action was circulated about Port Hope by the W.C.T.U. some weeks ago and presented to the council with many signatures.

SLEIGH DRIVE PARTY.

One of the largest sleigh-drive parties of the season was staged Thursday night by girls of the St. Peter's Sodality. One hundred participated, proceeding on a westward course which took them several miles outside the city. The abundance of snow has brought the old pastime back into full favor this season and big sleigh-riding parties are now held almost nightly.

ROADS ARE ALL OPEN.

A local motorist who makes frequent pleasure-riding jaunts about the district road in winter as well as summer reports to-day that the smaller by-ways are practically all open to traffic and in good condition. Township councils who found last winter that they had large portions of their snow plowing appropriations left over for other applications have given up hope along that line for this year.

SUPPLIES APPRECIATED

Several letters to Harry Boyle of Haboco Stores expressed deep appreciation of a car load of "good things" received by the people of Churchbridge and Wishart sections of Saskatchewan from this district. The contents of food and other supplies were distributed over an area of 324 square miles, including the needy residents of two small villages, and all told among a population of more than 3,000.

TO ADDRESS ENGINEERS

"Manufacture of Carborundum Abrasive and Refractory Material," is the announced subject of a paper to be given before the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada on Thursday evening of next week by F. D. Bowman, of the Canadian Carborundum Company, Niagara Falls. Meetings of the institute are held in Paragon Hall at the corner of Brock and George streets and are open to the general public. The paper on carborundum materials will be of special interest to all employed in industrial fields. Mr. Bowman is bringing moving picture films to illustrate his subject.

HOW IT ALL STARTED.

When someone found a couple of old coins while digging a storm drain at Auburn a few weeks ago, they started something. Since that time readers of The Examiner have come forward with old coins from every section of the city and district. Most recent visitor with old coins was Bert Everett of Simcoe street, who had among his collection a George III English farthing dated 1773; a Nova Scotia half cent, 1864; a Belgian 5 centimes, 1861 and a English farthing dated 1864. The latter coin he values for sentimental reason because it was minted in the same year that Mr. Everitt was born.

SUPPLY EMPIRE NEEDS

All British Empire needs for radium are now supplied from the Eldorado radium refinery at Port Hope. The Empire was previously dependent on Belgium and other foreign sources until Canada came into the market with its comparatively large supply. The loss of a $4,000 radium needle owned by the Saskatchewan Cancer Commission is to be replaced by a needly of radium from the Port Hope refinery, it is reported. The loss was insured.

WHEN STARS WANE

Somebody else may be interested in this note gleaned from a theatrical column over a cup of coffee along the street. "Frank Crumit of the radio has refurnished an old farm house in Ohio for himself and Julia Sanderson." And so the bright stars of Broadway are not Olympians after all, you soliloquize, remembering the lines that Tennyson had for all that nugget from the news called up.

SOME DOCTORS' BILLS

"If I had the money Doc Clark has never tried to collect from hockey teams and other sport outfits, I could buy myself a long winter in Florida and have plenty left when I got back," said a young man who knows local sports matters. "And then with the same kind of money Doc Hewitt has passed up for attending to hockey players and others, I could bank it for another winter in California. And that leaves out the money Doc Neal, Doc McPherson, Doc Cragg and several other good fellows among the meds never even put in their books. If everybody got behind sport the way some of the doctors do she'd be a swell town."

APPLICATIONS IN.

Noon today was the closing hour for applications for the two vacancies on the city police force. Asked when the applications would be dealt with, His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke, chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners declared, the present intention was to deal with them at the next regular meeting of the Board on the last Wednesday of the month. S. R. Armstrong, secretary of the Board was unable to state the exact number of applications received but said there was a large number, some of which were in the hands of the Chief Constable.

COMMITTEE HEADS OUTLINE PLANS FOR KIWANIS CLUB

Two-minute talks were allotted to each of the committee chairmen at the Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting to-day, in which the program of the club for the current year was sketched.

Enthusiasm was the keynote of the meeting and the brief reports left no doubt in the minds of the club members that all committees without exception are planning to do their part in helping the club forward to even higher attainment.

President L. J. Pettit presided and as one of the first items of business performed the duty of welcoming back into membership William Moorehead, who was presented by Carl S. Browne.

Announcement was made by Al. Sharpe, chairman of the classification and membership committee that the objective is fifty new members before the end of the present year. Already since the beginnnig of the New Year, three new members have been received into the club, the other two besides Mr. Moorehead being the Rev. E. W. Young, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church and Gordon Cooper of Toronto - Peterborough Transport Company.

Remarking on the omission of a speaker, President Pettit declared the meeting had a two-fold purpose. It was to give the program committee time to get its "second wind" and to provide every member of the club with some idea of the city and responsibility of each of the various committees. He called on committee chairmen to report in the following order: Agricultural, Dr. J. J. Craig; attendance, Charles Saunders; boys' and girls' work, Adjutant Neil Warrander; business standards, Ivan T. Lillico; classification and membership, Al. Sharpe; vocational guidance, Carl S. Browne; cooperation of churches and spiritual aid, Fred Johnston; finance, Vern Morphet; inter-club relations, W. A. Richardson; Kiwanis education, Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson; program, William Ovens; publicity, Milf Hardill; underprivileged children, Dr. C. M. NO DAMAGE DONE HASTINGS FIRES

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 14—Two chimney fires, one at H. G. Fairman's house and the other at the public school were reported to Fire Chief Fred Dodd, Thursday. No damage was done. In 1937 there were but seven chimney fires, with little damage. This year, there have been three chimney fires reported to date and one major fire at the United Church.

Prince Of Wales' Rangers Are Placed Third In District Competition

Only 11 Points Behind Governor-General's Footguards, Winners Of First Place

Prince of Wales' Rangers under command of Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Dewart, M.C., placed third in the Infantry Association General Efficiency Competition 1937, according to official results for Military District No. 3, just announced.

The Rangers piled up a total of 1058 points, which was just 11 points less than the aggregate scored by the Governor General's Foot Guards in first place, and 7 points less than the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa in second place.

Success of the local unit in the district-wide infantry and machine gun competitions, was stated by one of the senior officers of the unit to be the more highly prized in view of the fact that the two other regiments in first and second place have long been acknowledged as the highest ranking units in the Non-Permanent Active Militia.

It is also worthy of note that the Rangers have attained to their high standing of efficiency among other units of the N.P.A.M., notwithstanding the fact that the unit recently underwent reorganization, and absorbed the former Peterborough Rangers, 3rd Prince of Wales' Dragoons and the local Machine Gun Company.

Points were awarded the local unit, as follows: annual inspection, 153 of a possible 250; canvas model or sand table exercises, 158 of a possible 200; field training, 165 of a possible 250; signalling, 53 of a possible 100; rifle classification practices, 99 of a possible 100; Vickers Machine Gun classification, 200 out of possible 200; stretcher bearers, 28 of possible 50; books and records, 90 of a possible 100; care of stores, 92 of a possible 100. Total 1058 points.

CORP. T. J. WOODS GOING TO OTTAWA

Corporal T. J. Woods, who has been stationed on Lindsay detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for over five years, has been transferred to Ottawa for a ten-week period for the purpose of writing police examinations. During his absence the detachment is being policed by Constable Fred W. Thompson. Following his return to Lindsay, it is anticipated, Corporal Woods may be transferred to another territory depending on the outcome of the examinations he is to write.

A member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for ten years, Corporal Woods went to Lindsay from Brantford in 1932, but prior to that he had served in other parts of Canada, including the Western provinces. He is well known in Peterborough, having been in this city on numerous occasions on official business connected with his duties as a police officer. He is popularly regarded as an efficient law enforcement officer, and is known alike to law-breakers and those who abide by the law as "a good cop."

Orange Officers Are Re-elected

With exception of Ernest F. Reid who replaced William Ashby as treasurer, all the officers of the City of Peterborough Orange Lodge District No. 1 were re-elected at the recent annual meeting and election of officers. They were installed as follows: Wor. District Master, John Edgar; D.D.M., Melville Dunlop; chaplain, J. D. Manley; secretary, S. R. Cummings; financial secretary and treasurer, Ernest F. Reid; marshal, Archie McDonald; lecturer, S. Anderson; deputy lecturer, G. Foster.

A QUEER AVERSION

Everyone, at some time or other, has run across the individual who looked with keen disfavor on the necessity of a visit to their dentist. Small wonder the reader may comment, notwithstanding the advances made by modern science in painless extractions. It is not rare to find patients who dread the dental chair and mechanical drill. But whoever heard of a man, or a woman either for that matter, who preferred visiting their dentist rather than going for a haircut? Yet there is a young man in Peterborough who confesses a preference for the dental chair as against the barber's chair. Catching sight of his unruly mop of hair in a restaurant mirror, he was reminded that a visit to his barber was long overdue. With something akin to dismay, he exclaimed, "I'd rather visit my dentist and undergo a tooth extraction of filling. I hate having to get my hair cut. The fifteen minutes or so I have to spend in the barber's chair are a real agony to me." Often, he said, he had gone for a haircut but had turned back at the barber shop door deferring the moment when he should sit in the chair and submit to having his hair clipped. He could offer no explanation for his aversion to having his hair cut. —R.

CROWN ATTORNEY URGED TO EXERCISE UTMOST VIGILANCE

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., today received from the Honorable G. D. Conant, Attorney General for the Province of Ontario, "a memorandum to all law enforcement officers in Ontadio re: Highway Traffic Act law enforcement." The memorandum states in part, "In view of the increase in traffic accidents during the past year, all law enforcement officers are urged to exercise the utmost vigilance in preventing where possible, and in prosecuting where necessary, violators of the law." With this in view, the memorandum directs attention to certain sections of the Highway Traffic Act, laying particular stress on those pertaining to drunken driving and recklessness. "Where there is evidence that a driver is intoxicated and also evidence of reckless driving, charges should be laid at once both under the Criminal Code and under the Highway Traffic Act. The charge of driving while intoxicated, being the more serious, should be disposed of first. In no case, and under no circumstances," the Attorney-General urges, "should a charge of driving while intoxicated be disposed of otherwise than by the magistrate on the evidence." Judicial officers disposing of a charge of driving while intoxicated, are to be urged to impose more than the minimum penalty where the offence is flagrant, or has damaged or jeopardized persons or property.

CHAPTER 39

SO WE CAME to our home at night. My imagination had seen it as we swept up to the door—the light streaming out; within a leaping fire, a groaning board, eager hands to help us!

My lawyer had told me that there were a half dozen laborers on the place, and the superintendent, Hayes, and his wife.

As we stopped in front of the house, I was clutched by a chill sense of impending disaster. The only illumination was a faint glimmer through a small, square pane. The driver honked, a door opened, and a dark form emerged.

"Is that you, Chandler?" a voice demanded.

Resenting fiercely the familiarity of the address, I answered "Yes."

The man came forward. "I'm Hayes, the superintendent."

I shook hands with him and presented him to Mimi.

"Glad to see you," he said. "My wife wants to know if your driver's going to stay to supper?"

"No, he has to get back."

I helped Mimi out. Her ungloved hand as I touched it was cold. She had not spoken. The men behind us were busy with the bags. Together we crossed the little porch and went through the open door.

The room which we entered was utterly without charm. There was no fireplace. A great high-shouldered black stove gave out waves of heat which were grateful after the chill of the mountain air, but there was no glowing welcome of flames—only a sickly flicker of yellow and blue through the mica squares.

The furniture was expensive but hideous — golden oak and maroon brocade. The lamp on the table had a painted china shade. The pictures on the walls were colored photographs. Their flamboyant pinks and blues brought a rushing memory of the little blonde who had dined with Uncle Jerry at the Washington restaurant.

At the far end of the room a long dining room was set for two. Above it hung a lamp with a chain mechanism by which it could be raised or lowered. A plump woman in a checked gingham dress was setting a huge platter on the table. She wiped her hands on her apron and came forward.

"I am Mrs. Hayes," she said. "I told Hayes I'd better get your supper. I thought Mrs. Chandler would be too tired to do anything herself."

My voice semed to come from far off. "Where is the cook?"

"There ain't been any hired girl since your Uncle Jerry left. They're hard to get. He had some Indian help. The men about the place cook for themselves, and I look after Hayes."

Again that far-off voice which was mine. "This is Mrs. Chandler, Mrs. Hayes. If you will show her to her room she can get ready for supper."

Without a glance at me, Mimi followed her. And I stood in that dreadful place, stunned by the impact of realities.

The men brought in the bags. Mrs. Hayes came back. The food was steaming on the table. "You'd better hurry or things will get cold," the good woman warned me.

"I'll call Mrs. Chandler." I found it hard to speak. I went towards the room into which Mimi had disappeared. The door was open. As I entered, I saw that there was a room beyond. The effect of both of the bedrooms was quiet and comfortable. The furniture was walnut and the covers on the dressers and tables were snowy white. In the second room Mimi was unpacking feverishly. the bag which Mr. Hayes had brought.

I stood on the threshold. "Mimi," I said, and my tongue seemed thick, "supper is ready, my dearest."

She turned and faced me, and I saw then that the radiance, which had been hers, was gone. "I am not dressed, Jerry," she said.

"You needn't dress, my darling."

"Why not? I've always dressed for dinner, Jerry. Do you think I'm going to give it up—" her voice was tense; "do you think I am going to give it up . . . just because I am married? Just because you have dared to begin our married life with a...lie...?"

"Mimi," I implored. "it isn't my fault. Uncle Jerry told me it was wonderful."

"I know what he told. But you had no right to bring me here until you knew the truth. If I had dreamed I would find this—" the wave of her hands seemed to include the room in which we stood and the dreadfulness beyond, "do you think I would have come?"

She turned from me and began to lay out her things on the dresser—the crystal bottles and the silver brushes—"You'd better get ready, too, Jerry," she said in a cool little voice. "Your bags are in the other room."

I don't know what my superintendent and his wife thought of us when we finally appeared. Mimi with her bare neck and bare arms, her wisp of train, the glittering comb in her russet hair. I, miserable in my dinner jacket, drew out a chair for her. "We are sorry to be late," I said, "but we had to freshen up a bit."

Mimi, too, apologized. "It is too bad you had to cook our dinner, Mrs. Hayes. We would have brought someone with us if we had known."

"You might bring 'em, but they won't stay," said Mrs. Hayes, pessimistically. "The Indian women weren't so bad. But you can't get 'em any more for housework. The old ones are too old; and the young ones don't like it."

She had kept the food hot in the kitchen, and again brought in the big platters. I was hungry and the fried beefsteak and hot biscuits, the stewed cherries and excellent coffee had the effect of a feast to me.

But Mimi ate little. She simply sat there, an incongruous, exotic figure. "Your coffee is delicious," she told Mrs. Hayes, "but I really don't want anything else."

Mrs. Hayes, who had promised to be garrulous on first acquaintance, seemed tongue-tied. She and her husband stole glances at Mimi, as they came back and forth on various errands, he to put wood in the stove—to build up the fires in the bedrooms; she, with relays of hot biscuits. When supper was over I found that Mr. and Mrs. Hayes expected to be sociable, so we all sat around the high-shouldered stove, and Hayes and I smoked and talked of the ranch matters, while Mimi and Mrs. Hayes discussed, as I learned afterwards, domestic affairs.

At last our guests rose. "I told Mrs. Chandler to leave the dishes, and my daughter, Dora, will come over in the morning. I'd come, but it is baking day and I bake all my own bread. I'm going to send a few loaves to you. Dora ain't much of a cook—but she can help with the hard work. And Mrs. Chandler don't look strong."

"I am strong enough," Mimi said, "but I am not very experienced." She was smiling, and a faint hope warmed my heart.

At last we were alone. I came back from seeing the friendly couple to the door and found Mimi standing in front of the high-shouldered stove. I put my arms around her. She shivered, but did not draw away. "My dearest," I said, "I am sorry... But we've got to make the best of it..."

She gave me a little push and stood back. "If you hadn't said that, Jerry, I—I might have forgiven you. But there isn't any best to make of it. If you had said, 'Mimi, it is horrible. Tomorrow we'll run away. ...' But tomorrow you expect me to ...to talk to that awful Mrs. Hayes. ...and her daughter...I've never seen such people—Jerry. And there they sat and sat and sat — until I though I should go mad. One can't be ungracious in one's own house. But ...but you might have gotten rid of them. You might have told them I was tired. And—I don't want to make the best of it, Jerry. There isn't any best——"

"My dear," I said, "it is our home. And we are married."

She flung out her hands. "Oh, wouldn't Mother crow over me—and Olga—and Andy——"

I dropped my hands heavily on her shoulders. "Do you think," I asked sternly, "that I care what your mother thinks, or Olga, or Andy, or anybody else in the whole wide world but yourself? I would rather have died than have had this happen. But it has happened. Mimi, this is our first night in our new home... are you going to shut your heart against me...?"

For a moment she wavered, then she said: "I can't talk about it. I only know that if we go on arguing I shall say things that hurt you... and I am...tired. Perhaps, in the morning, Jerry...I can think better ..."

And so she left me, without a tender word, without a kiss. And I sat by the high-shouldered black stove and thought of the wide hearth of my dreams. I thought of Mimi, as my fancy had painted her, the mistress of my castle; I thought of the simple grace which my father had always said and with which I had hoped to bless the food served at our own table.

And now my dreams were shattered; my hopes were dead. If Mimi's love had not survived this shock, it was not love as I knew it. In this lay the heartbreak. What cared I if the furniture was frightful, the pictures a blot on walls, the high-shouldered stove a travesty on the leaping flames of my imagining. If Mimi had loved me, we could have laughed at it all, have surmounted all obstacles, have found bliss even against such a background.

ACID SPOILS PLUMBING

SASKATOON, Jan. 14 (C.P.). — Chemical warfare, although its horrors are greatly exaggerated by the uninformed civilian, offers one of the most efficient and effective arms available to modern military powers Dr. Stewart Basterfield, Professor of Chemistry at Saskatchewan University, told the Chemical Society last night.

Chemicals were of little use if the main aim of an army was to wreak death and destruction, but for crippling the enemy and winning victories they were invaluable.

Poor Table Manners Are a Give-Away

Gretchen thinks she's passing herself off as a person of culture. But her table manners are a dead give-away.

She whacks and stabs at roast potatoes and vegetables—reducing all to mince-meat before she eats. She brandishes elbows in mid-air, holds her fork awkwardly, and spreads her napkin like a blanket on her lap.

Well-bred diners cut off only one piece at a time and keep elbows lowered inconspicuously while cutting. They hold the fork easily with forefinger extended along the handle. And they lay the napkin across the lap in a double or triple fold—unless it's a tea napkin.

Learn little points of etiquette that make you welcome at smart places. Our 32-page booklet teaches manners at restaurants and clubs as well as at home dinners, formal and informal.

Looking Back
On This Date

JANUARY 14.
(By Fred Williams)

The immediate past and present Prime Ministers of the Dominion have, because they are bachelors, relief from one feature of a gossip-loving capital in that they have no wives concerning whom evil gossip can be circulated. An illustration of the sort of thing to which I allude can be found in the records of Ottawa society in 1883. Some woman with a poison tongue had in 1879 started the story that the Princess Louise had snubbed Lady Macdonald because of the obloquy which had attached to Sir John arising out of the Pacific scandal in 1873; stupid on its face since th triumphant endorsement of Macdonald in September, 1878, had indicated that the people had forgiven him, even if the Grit leaders had not. This gossip was ignored when it first circulated in 1879, but in the winter of 1882-83 it was resumed in more venomous form, and was even published in some of the more bitter Liberal newspapers (yes, politics were very bitter in hose days and even women were not exempt).

This gossip came to the ears of the Princess Louise, who had gone to Bermuda on a health seeking trip and on January 14, 1883, Her Royal Highness wrote to Sir John:

"I have been wanting to write to you ever since I saw those ill-natured articles in the papers against Lady Macdonald and myself, but His Excellency thought that as they were such preposterous inventions that I should leave it alone. Now that you have written (on official business) I cannot help sending you a few lines, having received so much kindness from you and Lady Macdonald ever since I first came to Canada and I have learned to look upon you both as friends. It is, therefore, most annoying to me that such stories should have been circulated. To invent that I have had a misunderstanding with your wife vexes me beyond measure. You must know in how many ways I admire Lady Macdonald and think her a worthy example to every wife."

Sir John replied acknowledging the "kind condescension" of the Princess, and added:

"Your high position, while it does not altogether shield you from the base attacks of a degraded press renders them powerless for harm and Your Royal Highness can afford to treat them with the contempt they deserve. It is otherwise with Lady Macdonald who has already proofs that these calumnies have been widely disseminated and that some people have been willing to believe them simply because she happens to be my wife. Lady Macdonald feels especially aggrieved at the imputation cast upon her of having failed in respect and duty towards Your Royal Highness. Both she and I are now compensated for the annoyance by your gracious letter."

Care was taken, in a diplomatic way, that this correspondence was made public. That was the end of that little bit of "Ottawa scandal."

Wife Preservers

DOROTHY DIX

Men Always Remain Like Little Boys and Want a Certain Amount of Mothering, but They Prefer to Have It Done by a Wife Near Their Own Age.

A FAMOUS psychologist advises men to marry women a few years older than themselves, on the grounds that all men like to be mothered, and because an older woman would look at her husband's faults with a lenient mother eye rather than with the hard-boiled gaze of a young wife.

This is an interesting theory, and the only objection to it as a matrimonial tip is that things don't work out that way in real marriage. After having severed mother's apronstring, few men want to tie themselves to it again. The wife who is older than her husband can't keep from bossing him to save her life. She is always sure that "mother knows best," and looks upon him as a moronic infant who has to be told where to get on and where to get off, what to eat, and not to get his feet wet or cross the street in front of an automobile.

The trouble is that women are so much older than men, even at the same age. Men never quite grow up. There is always something of the little boy left in them. But when a woman grows up she is mature. There is nothing of the little girl about her. She has put away childish things for good and all at an age when a boy is still playing with his toys.

That is the law of nature, and it is why, if a husband and wife are to be congenial, it is best for the husband to be from five to 10 years older than she is. It is also why the marriage of a young girl to an old man often turns out happily, while the marriage of a young man to an older woman never does.

Of course, chronological age and spiritual age do not always coincide. There are both men and women who are octogenarians in their cradles and others who are still merry lads and lassies in their eighties. But most of us are our age and we have the best chance of happiness in marriage when we marry in our age class.

This is what makes it so dangerous for a man to marry a woman older than himself, because between them is that river of time that not even love and mutual respect can bridge: They look at life from different standpoints. They have different tastes and desires. The woman's looks are fading. She is getting the middle-age spread, or the elderly scrawiness. She wants to stay put and read a good novel of an evening instead of stepping out, while he is still a boy and wants to play around with youngsters of his own age and not to be always explaining to strangers that his wife is not his mother.

If the man who marries a woman older than himself takes a long shot at happiness, the elderly wife of a young husband virtually commits hara-kiri for she lets herself in for the most wearing and hopeless job that any woman ever undertakes. Not for her are the blessed privileges of letting out her corset strings and slumping by her own fireside and growing old in peace and comfort.

She dare not add another pound to her weight, or another wrinkle to her face, or another streak of gray in her hair. She must endure the pangs of starvation and the martyrdom of being pounded and parboiled, dyed and frizzled and calcimined in a futile endeavor not to present too invidious a comparison with her youthful spouse. And, worst of all, she has assumed the task of keeping a boy amused and entertained, so she has to drag around with him to places of diversion, while her old bones are crying for rest. She has to do the things he wants to do instead of the things she wants to do herself, and vainly attempt to fit herself into his group of young friends with whom she hasn't a thing on earth in common.

Try as she will, no woman who is married to a man younger than she is can keep from being jealous and looking askance at every pretty girl to whom he is even civil. Deep in her heart she knows that youth calls to youth and she is always afraid that he will recover from the mother complex that made him marry her and want a wife of his own age.

To every rule about marriage there are a thousand exceptions. There have been many happy marriages between young men and women older than themselves, but nine times out of 10 it is a mistake that both regret. . . . . DOROTHY DIX.

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY DIGS IN.

"It's a very big bank, isn't it, Tootsie?" said Wootsie.

"Yes, it is a big bank," agreed Tootsie. "But I guess we can put our pennies in it to save them as daddy told us."

"Maybe we should ask him to come out and show us how to save our pennies in a bank instead of spending them for candy," said Wootsie. "How about it, Tootsie?"

"Oh, I don't guess so," answered Tootsie. "We can just drop our pennies in this big, white bank, like Baby Bunty drops her pennies in a little black iron bank she got for Christmas. Come."

So Tootsie and Wootsie, the newest little rabbits in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, hopped toward the big bank of snow their father had piled up when he shoveled the paths.

Learning to Save.

A little while before this Tootsie and Wootsie had each begged a penny from their father. They said they wanted to spend the pennies for candy, but Uncle Wiggily said it would be better if they learned to save their money in a bank.

"We'll spend the next pennies for candy," said Wootsie as they hopped nearer the snow bank. Being very little, they thought it was a savings bank.

"Yes, that's what we'll do," said Tootsie. "I like candy."

"So do I," said Wootsie.

1-14

"Oh, my goodness!"

"Maybe daddy will give us more pennies," said Tootsie.

"Maybe," agreed her twin brother. "If he does I'll buy gum drops."

"I'll buy jelly beans with my next penny," said Tootsie. "You get more jelly beans for a penny than you do gum drops."

"Do you?" asked Wootsie. "Then I'll buy jelly beans. I'm glad you told me."

"But now," said Tootsie, and she was very firm like and decided about it, "now we are going to put our pennies in the bank like daddy told us to do."

So the two little rabbits hopped closer to the snow bank.

Meanwhile out of the bungalow popped Buster and Custer to play in the snow bank. The older rabbit boys saw the new little twins and Buster asked:

"What are you two going to do?"

"We're going to put our pennies in a bank," said Tootsie.

"Like daddy told us to," said Wootsie.

In Go Pennies.

"That's good," said Custer. "I used to save my pennies when I was little like you. Come on, Buster!" he cried. "I'll wash your face for you!"

"No you won't! I'll wash yours!" yelled Buster. The two older rabbit boys ran around the other side of the snow pile.

Tootsie and Wootsie dropped their pennies in the snow bank, not knowing any better and feeling very happy. Then there was a plop of snow which slid down where Buster and Custer were playing.

Pretty soon Uncle Wiggily was looking for the twins.

"They were here a little while ago," said Buster.

"Looking for a bank to put their pennies in," said Custer.

"Oh, my goodness! I know what has happened!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "My little twins are covered up in this pile of snow where you and Buster made it slide. Get me a shovel! I must dig in and save them."

So Uncle Wiggily began digging in. And if the crab apple dsesn't turn into a lobster orange, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily digging out.

FORGET EXTRA TRICKS

IT PAYS TO forego a finesse which may produce an extra trick if it entails the risk of beating your contract. If the loss of that finesse would mean that the opponents then have an opportunity to make a lead which will knock out a crucial entry from the dummy before its suit is set up, that may kill the entire remainders of the suit.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

After a pass by West, North started the bidding with 1-Diamond, South called 1-Spade, North 2-Diamonds, South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps.

West started the defense with the club K and continued with the Q. Declarer won the second round and tried the diamond finesse, which lost to West's K. After cashing his two remaining clubs, West switched to a heart. As the diamond suit was now blocked, declarer's contract was hopeless.

A very different situation would have existed had the declarer won the second club and refused the chance for a diamond finesse. The danger of the heart A being knocked out was of paramount importance to the success of the declarer's contract, so he should have cashed the diamond A and then led the Q, with the hope that the K would be forced to win. It would not have mattered then if the switch was made to hearts, as the diamonds were then cleared and nine tricks could have been cashed before the opponents again gained control.

"Among my exhibits will also be some stuffed and excellently preserved mummies of extinct types of natives. At this very moment I am dickering with a taxidermist for an excellent specimen of that vanished drug store cowboy.

✧ ✧ ✧

"Have you noticed? There does not seem to be any more of them. And just a decade ago these original two-cone (both vanilla) men were riding herd at the soda fountains of every whistle stop.

✧ ✧ ✧

"Where have they gone—these gay gauchos of the cigar counter, these bold rangers of the pharmaceutical wilds? Have they gotten jobs? Ha—impossible. I know those fearless fellows, afraid of nothing—save work.

✧ ✧ ✧

"But I must leave the answer to the puzzle to other and abler archeologists, most skilled in thorough research. My duty is to preserve for posterity a true example of the type.

✧ ✧ ✧

"The specimen I hope to obtain is a beauty. The true drug store cowboy, complete in every detail even to the rakish, slightly soiled hat, specked tie, ill-fitting suit, cigarette butt drooping from lower lip, unwashed neck — complete, I tell you—down to the shoes, absolutely innocent of shine! Wait'll you see him!"

✧ ✧ ✧

"The fourth man operates what is laughingly called the brakes. When clipping along at top speed the brakes, clamped on tight, might cut your speed down from 100 miles an hour to 98 and a half—but that's also problematical.

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood—Very few stand-ins climb beyond their jobs, but the case of Adalyn Doyle reminds Hollywood that it can be done. Miss Doyle is enjoying a laugh at the movie capitals expense this week. She used to face the lights for Katharine Hepburn. Suddenly, she pulled out of Hollywood and went to New York. She took a new name, Eve Marsch, went to work at the radio and on the stage. Last year, she played the ingenue lead in "Home, Sweet Home."

Adalyn is now in Hollywood on a visit. She has received a movie offer for many times her salary as a stand-in. She has turned it down, preferring to get more experience on Broadway.

It was all over town that Lana Turner and Donald Barry had eloped. What happened, they say, was this. She went into the Trocadero wearing a sapphire ring with a plain gold band for a guard. The crowd insisted the pair were married and someone told the orchestra to play the wedding march. Since then, Lana has taken off the rings and both she and Barry have been busy denying they are bride and groom.

In a comedy routine with Stu Erwin on the air the other night, Jack Oakie flippantly gave instructions to get Charlie McCarthy on the phone, "Numbers Hollywood 3101, he said.

Gag was greeted by a murmur in the audience and the program went on.

But at Columbia broadcasting where the number is Hollywood 31-01, all was bedlam. For 15 minutes, every trunk-line on the switchboard was jammed with calls—mostly from women—wanting to talk to Charlie McCarthy.

Shirley Temple almost got a trained penquin for a present. Gordon and Revel were going to give it to her until Mrs. Temple found out it would have to be kept in the family swimming pool and fed on a diet of herring. She firmly declined the penquin.

The Paramount publicity department is afraid to tell Bing Crosby they have lost his doctor of philosophy degree, recently awarded the crooner by Gonzaga university. The degree was borrowed so that pictures of it might be taken. Now it has disappeared.

Osa Massen, new Danish importation, has the strangest background of any Hollywood actress. She used to be a feminine photographer for a Danish newspaper. Later, she became a film cutter and finally an actress. In this dual capacity, she realized the dream of every star. Cutting her own pictures.

At 23, she is starting her Hollywood movie career. Her next step, she says, will be to become an American citizen.

Postal authorities were asked to investigate a man said to be annoying Claire Trevor. He managed to slip into the studio and to conceal himself in the star's dressing room for a day and a night. He has written the actress, claiming to have lost a wallet, containing $30 in her room and asking her to return the money.

Bill Powell is nursing a limp. He tried to show his 12-year-old son how to play football. . . . Flying the Panay bombing pictures from San Francisco, Paul Mantz, who hadn't stopped to refuel, gave out of gas just as he got to the Union air terminal. He made a perfect landing. . . . Meredith Howard, recently divorced from automobile millions, has been twoing it at the House of Murphy with George Sidney, young director. . . . Peggy Hopkins Joyce and Bill Davies at the Tropic again. Marjorie Weaver footed the bills for her stand-in's recent trip to Portland, Ind. The girls were sorority sisters at college.

"ROB ROY" FOR GAUMONT

Gainsborough studios will begin work shortly on the production of "Rob Roy," a screen version of Sir Walter Scott's famous romance. This will be the first of a number of films to be made for Gaumont during the coming season. Leslie Arliss and Kurt Siodmak are preparing the script, which will be based partly on Sir Walter Scott's fictionalized history of the famous Scottish bandit, who was Scotland's Robin Hood, and partly on historical records. Robert McLellan, famous playwright, will write the dialogue.

Norway has restricted the exportation of live silver foxes.

Anatole Litvak And Tovarich Cocktail

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—On a flying visit from the West Coast, director Anatole Litvak paused long enough to greet the press, and to launch the 'Tovarich Cocktail' at Radio City Music Hall's Studio. Mr. Litvak's latest directorial effort is 'Tovarich' which may have had something to do with the creation of the new cocktail.

Mr. Litvak is an intense, blue-eyed gentleman of medium height—and the cocktail is said to contain brandy, honey, lemon, lime and a 'pinch of Tovarich.' Most of those who gathered to greet the director were perfectly willing to take creator Oscar of the Waldorf's word for the drink's ingredients without investigating further.

An admitted fugitive from Hollywood, Mr. Litvak said he planned to remain in New York for the opening of 'Wine of Choice' starring his wife, Miriam Hopkins—then back to the land of 'unusual weather.' Meantime, he's commuting to Philadelphia to see how Miss Hopkins' bad cold and new play are making out. Both are undergoing extensive treatment.

LUPE SPLIT AGAIN

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Lupe Velez made one of her frequent announcements today. It was not a new one for Lupe....she and her husband, Johnny Weissmuller, have split up again.

"There will be no divorce," she said. "Johnny and I are fine friends. We may be happy as friends."

EXPATRIATE RETURNS

Lesser Samuels, expatriate scenarist, is in this country in search of material for a forthcoming Jessie Matthews musical. Mr. Samuels has completed a script for the next Gaumont picture, starring Miss Matthews, and titled "Asking for Trouble." He also authored the script of "Sailing Along," which will be released here shortly with Miss Matthews starred, and a supporting cast that includes Jack Whiting, Barry Mackay, Roland Young and Alastair Sim.

Mexico has removed its tariff ban on the export of mules.

Max Baer Junior Poses For His First Picture

Max Baer, Mamma Mary Sullivan Baer and Baby Max Adelbert, Jr., appear like the Stroude twins "happy about the whole thing." The occasion was the first public appearance of baby Max for this is the first time a picture of the six-weeks-old son and heir of the former heavyweight champion has been taken. But if he develops his dad's pugilistic ability it won't be the last.

'Amateur Night' Is Racket Compared With First Shows

Many Of Present Broadway Stars Received Early Training Before Critical Audiences

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Two old-timers paused for a moment beside the door through which was streaming the audience at one of Major Bowes' amateur broadcasts. Apparently each read the other's mind for both shook doleful heads.

'Dan,' demanded one, 'how many persons in this mob ever saw a real amateur show, do you suppose?' Dan cast an eye over the rather youthful crowd. 'Mebbe two or three,' he offered. 'Mebbe four or five. Not more.'

'That's where you're wrong, Grandpop,' interjected a bustling youth. 'I'm only 36 and I've been goin to amateur shows since I was a kid. Mebbe 25 years.'

But Dan was right. No one whose theatre-going began only 25 years ago can recall real amateur nights, which gave name to what has come to be a racket.

Few of those who can go back forty years really saw the shows, for only at a few spots, notably the Harry Miner houses, could the amateur show be seen in all its raw appeal to the inherent brutality of the mass mind which some centuries ago found outlet in the popular sport of tossing the Christians to the lions in the Colliseum.

Amateur night was without the blood-shedding of those earlier days, but the basic idea was about the same. The type of performance has disappeared, changed into the more polite and far less interesting formula of today. It may be that there are still some small theatres, unable to afford professionals, where the show is put on entirely by novices, but even here the second factor of Amateur Night—the audience—is lacking. The audience was as important a factor as the acts, and nowhere today can the same type of audience be found. Without the commentators the shows have lost almost entirely their chief fun, for it was the audience comment that made the show.

Not that audiences do not still talk to their supposed victims. They do. But the barb of satire and the spearhead of wit are lacking. Today the chant runs too much toward 'Get the hook,' which in the old days was a sentence of judgment and not merely a phrase.

A Hard But Good School

It was this feature which made Amateur Night of 50 years ago the kindergarten in the actor's training school; a hard, heart-breaking experience but one which, once surmounted, gave the actor a confidence and selfreliance that stood him in good stead in later years. More than one once-famous Broadway comedian owed his success to this early training and most of them realized it. Any man or woman who could eventually face down the jeering horde on the audience side of the footlights had nothing to fear from later and perhaps more critical, if less vocal, auditors. It was the finest training in the world for those who had the persistence to survive the ordeal. There is no such opportunity offered these days. Perhaps there never will be again.

If the act could eventually pass into the favor of those Friday night tests, the next step was the smaller beer spots and lesser concert halls, and so to burlesque or the cheap time (this was before the phrase 'Family Time' had been invented), eventually to the Keith time and perhaps to the Broadway stage. It was a slow, hard progress, but the course turned out finished actors as perhaps no other system could afford.

Miner's Bowery was regarded as the central spot in the old time amateur nights though the London, just up the street, also offered similar shows and Dave Posner's Gaiety Museum, just across the street from Miner's, was well patronized. It was strictly a house event, each staging its own, and the only restriction was as to the length of the bill. If too many showed up, some of them had to wait over a week. There were no auditions to determine fitness; the worse the act was the better it pleased the mob. Most of the turns were singles, mostly singing and talking acts, the latter generally a hodge-podge of standard monologs Berled from the leading comedians of the day. No effect was made to give variety to the bill, but now and then a crude acrobatic act would turn up, with an occasional female impersonator, though the latter were not highly approved. Imps were further down the social and theatrical scale in those days. They had their own resorts, generally on or just off the Bowery, and people who were interested sought them there.

There was always a master of ceremonies, generally the house stage manager, who merely announced, 'Myrtle Jones, a sing-ah!,' with now and then, for a variant, 'She says she sings. We shall see.' Which was a tipoff to the crowd that Myrtle was not so hot.

None of the acts carried orchestrations and the shows were played by a pianist. Costumes, when worn, were crudely contrived, but mostly street clothes were favored. It was an unwritten rule that every act would be given a fair start, unless some untoward factor provoked comment. As, on one occasion, when a man appeared in the uniform of a street car conductor he was not able to take his stance before the audience started to urge him to 'Ring up that nickel, you robber,' or 'Give the company a chance.' He never did get to the end of his first verse, though his voice was not bad and he came back some weeks later in ordinary street clothes and got away with it.

Talking Back at 'Em

It was this conversational trend that tested the acts and which also supplied a major part of the fun. The streets off the Bowery in those days were tenanted by quick-witted Irish, with a smattering of Germans, and an Italian colony forming off to the west. The boys were quick of thought and acid of tongue.

One man who essayed to sing from a printed copy of his song was vociferously urged to 'Take down that fence' and 'Quit hiding.' He had to lower his music, though this caused him to fluff on the words.

Perhaps one of the neatest squelchers was administered at Posner's one night. A young girl a pretty little thing, made so good an impression that the crowd held its hands and permitted her to sing both verses of her song in a childish tremolo. Some of the more kind-hearted even gave her a mild hand at her exit, which encouraged her to come back. She just reached the center of the stage when a huge man down front looked up. 'You here again?' he bellowed incredulously, and the scared child fairly ran for the wings.

Not all of the comment was by any means as mild. It was for the most part sharp and biting and sometimes pretty hard to take, but it was, in spite of all, splendid, for it was mostly based on a magnification of the singer's faults.

The prizes were small. Miner's handed out one $5 bill, which the winner was permitted to keep, and Posner gave 'gold' watches. He would buy them back for two bucks which gave him a two-bit profit, for they cost him $2.25 in dozen lots. A dozen usually lasted him all season.

Acts were razzed, but calls for 'the hook' were not merely conversational. They were heard only when the act was impossible and the audience demanded its removal. The hook, by the way, was not a hook, but a stout eight-foot pole, terminating in a heavy wire loop, padded with cloth, large enough to be slipped over the victim's head and down to his waist. The idea was that the actor was not supposed to know it was coming, but most acts worked with one eye on the audience and the other on the hook, when both eyes were not devoted to watching for the eradicator.

Amateur nights were surprisingly popular and it was fashionable for a time to form parties, buy an entire box and go slumming in style. Some really big people were more or less regular in their visits and plenty of well known actors caught the shows when they were not working. There was something genuine about the entire event that possessed appeal.

Brunettes Register In The Color Films

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—(AP).—Alexander Korda, British film producer, had some heart-thumping news for the brunettes Thursday. Color films are changing that oft-heard statement that "Gentlemen prefer blondes."

"Color pictures certainly were made for brunettes," he said. "Blondes just don't photograph as well. I don't know why. The color process just seems to bring out all the beauty. Blondes don't register quite as well — perhaps they have too much color to begin with, and it doesn't look right in the process.'

Latest Ski Outfit

Frank Capra Working On New Comedy Story

With Frank Capra and Robert Riskin working on the story at a desert hide-away near Palm Springs, casting is expected to start very shortly for Capra's new Columbia production "You Can't Take It With You," adapted from George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart's current Broadway success. The play, which won the Pulitzer prize award for 1937, was purchased last spring by Columbia for the then record price of $200,000. After the sensational success of his latest production, "Lost Horizon," which dealt with a serious theme, Capra desired to do a picture more in the comedy vein of his recent productions, "It Happened One Night" and "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town." Riskin, who is writing the screen adaptation of "You Can't Take It With You," was also the adaptor of these two successes.

Assemble Big Cast For 'Penitentiary'

The large cast which Columbia is assembling for "Penitentiary" with Walter Connolly, Jean Parker, John Howard and Robert Barrat in the leads, was further augumented this week by the addition of James Flavin, George Magrille and Lee Prather. John Brahm is directing his drama which was written by Martin Flavin and prepared for the screen by Fred Niblo, Jr. and Seton I. Miller. The supporting cast includes Marc Lawrence, Marjorie Main, Dick Elliott, Eric Wilton, Edward Van Sloan, Stanley Andrews, Ward Bond, William Arnold, Lee Shumway, Frank Meredith, Arthur Hohl, Dick Curtis, Perry Ivins, Robert Allen, Paul Fix, Thurston Hall, Bruce Mitchell and Charles Halton.

"BANK HOLIDAY" CAST COMPLETED

The cast has been completed for the new Gaumont film, tentatively titled "Bank Holiday," and now in production at the Islington studios, it was announced this week. John Lodge and Margaret Lockwood have the leading roles, and other prominent members of the cast include Hugh Williams, Rene Ray, Wally Patch, Felix Aylmer, Kathleen Harrison and others. Carol Reed is directing from the original story by Rodney Ackland and Hans Wilhelm.

Air condition is rapidly increasing in Netherland India.

SCOTTISH FOOTBALL STAR PLANS ENTERING MINISTRY

Tommy Walker Studies Between Matches for Matriculation Examinations

IS IDOL OF CROWDS

Edinburgh. — Tommy Walker, £10,000 ($50,000) Scottish footballer and star of the Heart of Midlothian, the Scottish First Division league leaders, may soon be known as "the Rev. Thomas Walker."

From the playing-field Tommy is planning to graduate to the pulpit. Between matches he is devoting all the spare time he can to intensive study, and hopes soon to sit for his matriculation examination so that he can enter Edinburgh university.

He has been deeply interested in church work most of his life, and since his brilliance on the playing-field made him the idol of Scottish football crowds he has made frequent appearances as a speaker at meetings in connection with the church.

Walker has been greatly influenced in his decision to study by the Rev. Dr. James Black, minister of St. George's West church here, and moderator-elect of the general assembly of the Church of Scotland. It was in Dr. Black's church that he was married a few months ago.

Walker, one of the most popular footballers Scotland has produced, remains a shy and retiring man.

"I have two cousins in the ministry—one at Leith and the other at Patna in Ayrshire," he stated.

When Walker leapt into prominence the Arsenal tried to secure him, and were willing, it is believed, to pay £10,000 ($50,000) for the transfer.

The directors of the Heart of Midlothian club say they will do all they can to encourage him in his proposed new career.

2 ALERT CHILDREN EFFECT 2 ARRESTS

Scenting Robbery, One Watches While Other Calls Police

DEED IS PRAISED

Southend.—Kathleen, aged 16, and Harold, aged 13, were standing at the corner of a Southend street.

A few yards away they saw two youths slip into the garden of an unoccupied house. They watched for half an hour and they saw the two enter other gardens.

Up came a police van and back to the station in it went John Edward Booth, aged 17, and Norman Strauss, aged 18, accused of loitering and stealing from a gas-meter.

"We should never have caught them if it had not been for these two," said Detective Inspector Harris at the police court.

Turning to the girl and boy, Kathleen West and Harold Samuels, the chairman told them: "You have the makings of good detectives."

After Strauss, already on probation, had been fined £6 ($30) and Booth placed on probation for two years, Kathleen said:

"It did not seem particularly wonderful at the time. It was only a natural thing to do."

Harold learned to be observant in the Scouts, he said. "I decided to keep watch on the men and not let them see me."

81-YEAR-OLD CANON SAVES BURNING GIRL

Smothers Flames With Rugs and Daughter's Fur Coat

Banbury.—Miss Connie Ward, 18, a maid, owes her life to 81-year-old Canon R. P. Willock, of The Close, Farnborough, Banbury, where she is employed by his daughter.

Canon Willock suffered severe burns and shock.

The girl's mother said: "When I saw Connie just before she went to hospital she was worrying more about the turkey she left cooking than the pain she was suffering. This is the first time she has cooked a turkey. As they took her away Connie cried out to her mistress, Mrs. L. I. St. John: 'Be sure and look after the turkey, won't you'?"

NICE LAWN STOLEN

Thieves Vanish With Landscape While Family Absent

London.—Some people would steal anything—even a lawn.

The "justice of the peace and local government Review" is the authority.

States the journal:

"We have heard of a family who took great care for two or three years in the cultivation of a lawn. When they returned from their summer vacation the lawn had disappeared."

BARON'S CORONET TAKEN BY THIEVES

London.—A baron's coronet and some valuable ivory figures were stolen by burglars from Lord Vestey's home, Kingswood, Dulwich, S.E.

In 1934 they gave £220,000 ($1,200,000) for the building of the 327-foot tower of the new Liverpool cathedral in memory of their father and mother.

TWINS, 12, LIKE LIONS SO BOYS SEPARATED

'Would Murder Each Other,' Mother Tells Court—Out of Control

Blackpool.—Twin boys, 12, who were said by their mother to be like a couple of lions who "would murder each other," appeared in the juvenile court here.

The boys were brought before the court at her request because she said they were out of control. Once, she said, they smashed the panels of a bedroom door and cut a large hole in the wall. One boy had a carving knife and threatened to kill the other.

The mother added: "They are as bad as each other when together, but when alone they are good boys."

One boy told the court he hated his brother like poison.

The clerk (to the other boy): "Do you dislike your brother?" "Yes, a bit," was the reply.

The bench decided to send one boy to a home, and the chairman, Councillor E. Holt, told the other: "If you don't behave yourself you will have to go away, too. We have never had such a case before. It is terrible."

WETTEST RAIN SPOT DRIEST IN ALCOHOL

Drys, However, Losing Favor in Capital of the Shetlands

London. — The wettest spot in Great Britain in terms of rain, Lerwick, has decided to remain the driest in terms of alcohol.

The drys, however, are losing supporters and the wets are growing in numbers. A poll among the inhabitants to decide whether the capital of the Shetlands should allow the sale of hooch reveals a drop in the majority in favor of prohibition.

Recently 758 voted in favor of a continuance of prohibition and 695 for repeal, giving a majority of 63. In 1926 there was a majority of 282 in favor of prohibition.

ALARM CLOCK ON PULPIT

Aylesbury, Bucks.—Parishioners of St. John's don't like long sermons on Sunday mornings. One of them hinted as much to the priest-in-charge, the Rev. F. J. E. Britnell.

Recently Mr. Britnell placed on the pulpit ledge a large alarm clock, which duly put a period to his discourse.

RENEW OLD PACT

London. — Eight Stepney men made a pact of friendship in 1905 and four survivors, the youngest 59, met recently on the steps of St. Paul's cathedral, clasped hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne."

SEAGULLS GREET VISITORS IN KENSINGTON GARDENS

No strangers to Londoners, seagulls are consistent arrivals in Kensington Gardens park in London, England, although there are few human visitors wandering through the parks of the metropolis at this season of the year. When they do come, however, scraps of food are usually tossed to the birds, especially by any children present, and the air around soon becomes filled with flapping wings as this photo shows. Those seen above came by the dozen when a party of strollers happened to wander along with extra tid-bits.

LORD, 83, WHO WED COUSIN, 81, PASSES

Son, 50, Succeeds to Title Lord Monteagle of Brandon

London. — Lord Monteagle of Brandon, who in 1935 married an 81-year-old cousin by marriage who was also his sister-in-law, died recently at his home at Foynes, County Limerick. He was 85.

Lord Monteagle succeeded as the fourth baron in 1934 on the death of his nephew. His first marriage, in 1882, was to Elizabeth Ann, daughter of the late Sir Peter FitzGerald, who died in 1922.

His second wife was Mrs. Stephen Spring Rice, another daughter of the late Sir Peter FitzGerald. She died in May last year.

Crowds blocked the pavement for hours to see them enter Kensington register office for their wedding. The bride had broken a thigh in an accident and was carried up the steps in an invalid chair.

SALESMAN GETS 3 YEARS

Johannesburg, S.A.—Fred Asner, 40, was sentenced to three years' hard labor here at the first share-pushing trial in South Africa. Asner is appealing. Bail was set at £7,957 ($39,785).

MODERN 'FAGIN' GETS TERM CRIES AS SENTENCE PASSED

Described as Arch-Receiver of Stolen Goods—Never Handled Articles

ESCAPED FOR YEARS

Winchester.—The "arch-receiver" of stolen property was revealed at the assizes to be Samuel ("Fagin") Cohen, 34-year-old London salesman, who had escaped the clutches of Scotland Yard for years.

Cohen, slim, sharp-featured, with sunken eyes and black hair, cried as he was sentenced to two years' hard labor for receiving 70,000 cigarettes stolen at Andover.

This modern Fagin, to use Detective-Inspector Greeno's description, was in the dock only a short time before at the Old Bailey.

There he was sentenced to two years' hard labor for receiving over £400 worth of stamps, said to be part of the proceeds of 27 post-office robberies in which stock worth £6,800 ($34,000) was lost.

Mr. Justice Tucker said his sentence would run concurrently with the Old Bailey sentence.

This broken figure in the dock was flurried almost to speechlessness under cross-examination by Anthony Hawke.

Cohen dabbled in stolen property of various descriptions, and had maintained his freedom through one simple rule—he never handled the property himself.

Cohen was married last February and had been living in a luxury flat at Maida Vale.

Det. - Inspector Greeno said: "Cohen's arrest is regarded by the authorities as of great importance. He has been aptly described as a modern Fagin. He is the arch-receiver of stolen property."

PLAN SCOTTISH AIRPORT

Wick, Scotland.—The air ministry has surveyed 400 acres of land adjoining this northeast highland town for construction of an airport. Thurso authorities are also planning an airport.

MAN KILLED ON EVE OF HIS WEDDING DAY

Had Just Taken Last Furniture Load to Home

Twickenham. — Miss Priscilla White attended at Hanwell parish church the funeral of her fiance, Arthur Edward Wyath, aged 49, of Teddington, who met death a day before the date set for their wedding.

Mr. Wyath had taken the last load of furniture to his new home at Hampton on a handbarrow when it came into collision with a trolley-bus and he received fatal injuries.

At the inquest at Twickenham the jury recorded a verdict of accidental death.

BRITISH CONSTABLE CONFESSES BREAK-IN

Maidstone Officer Caught by Sergeant With Stolen Goods

Maidstone.—Police Constable Ernest Alfred Sharpe of the Maidstone Borough police force was charged at Maidstone police court with warehouse breaking.

On a bench in court were boxes of balloons, garlands, clothing, gloves, and pillows, stolen from a warehouse.

The chief constable, H. J. Vann, said that at midnight Sergt. Jolliffe saw a man carrying a large parcel on his back and followed him into a cul-de-sac. He heard the sound of something being dropped.

He found Police Constable Sharpe, in civilian clothes, standing in the alleyway, while a parcel containing some of the things produced in court had been dropped into a garden. He became suspicious of Sharpe, and took him to the police station.

Inquiries revealed that Sharpe had entered the warehouse of Marchant and Tubb by going through a building in course of construction, climbing a ladder and walking across a plank on to a flat roof, and then through a window.

TREE TRANSFUSIONS

Bristol, Eng. — Experiments in transfusions for fruit trees to make them grow more rapidly are being conducted at the Long Ashton agricultural research station here.

COULDN'T BREAK LUCK, LOST $7,995 IN 2 YEARS' GAMBLING

Only Debts Accumulated From Woman's Frantic Effort to Win

OWED BOOKMAKERS

London — Frantic gambling against a streak of bad luck led Mrs. Madeleine M. Wyatt, handsome middle-aged Mayfair hostess, of Hyde Park Mansions, W., into debt. She tried to gamble her way out, with poker, bridge and horse racing. Her luck was out — debts accumulated.

Her creditors held a meeting at the London bankruptcy court and discussed her financial affairs. She estimated her total liabilities at £1,211 ($6,055.)

Bruce Park, official receiver, said debts had been sent in by bookmakers and some others were card debts.

In the last two years she estimated a loss of £1,599 ($7,995) through gambling. There was a receiving order against her as far back as 1910, but she obtained her discharge. She had no occupation and her explanation was that she lost heavily on horse racing and card playing.

"Gambling In My Blood"

The cards were against her. She gambled on her luck turning. Sometimes she lost £50 ($250), grew frantic trying to break her black, unlucky streak.

"I felt my luck had to turn," she said. "It did not. Now I just realize I have no 'gambler's luck.' I'm through with it."

She played bridge in exclusive Mayfair clubs. "I went on, day after day, when the cards were against me. Sometimes we played poker. It was just the same — if I had a good hand, the others had better, or their luck beat mine."

Rarely Went to Tracks

She rarely went to a race course —just sat in her flat, betting from the card by telephone.

She is handicapped by arthritis, could not attend the creditors' meeting.

Her lawyer telephoned the result of the meeting. Her affairs were left with the official receiver as trustee of the estate.

PENSIONS PROPOSED IN ELECTRICAL TRADE

370,000 British Workers May Benefit

London.—Proposals for a contributory pensions scheme for Great Britain's electric industry, to apply to all non-manual men workers, have been made.

The scheme would provide death benefits, and pensions at 65, and would require a contribution of about 75 cents a week for each person, of which the employee would pay half, for every pension unit.

In the general survey of the present working conditions it was found that the total number of workers in the industry is 370,000 (280,000 men and 90,000 women).

POSTMASTER DIES SUDDEN

Aldershot, Eng. — While walking with his wife in St. Michael's Rd., Daniel Ralph, 72, suddenly exclaimed "Hold me." He sank to the pavement and died almost immediately.

Mr. Ralph retired from the position of sub-postmaster at the St. Michael's Rd. post-office about a year ago and since then had been living at Cliftonville. He returned to Aldershot for a short holiday with friends.

DRIVER LOSES PERMIT REMAINDER OF LIFE

Had Two Crashes, One Fatal in Two Hours

Whitehill, Hants.—A 74-year-old motor-coach driver, George Guy, of Whitehill, involved in two crashes in two hours—one fatal—had his driving license suspended for life by Whitehill magistrates.

There were two charges, dangerous and careless driving, on which he was fined a total of £12 2s. ($60.50).

It was alleged that he backed his coach from a by-road into a main road and caused a motorcyclist, Private Sidney Hukins of the 2nd Battalion, the Buffs, to swerve and crash. Hukins died from his injuries.

Two hours later Guy collided head-on with a car.

RUINED POLICE HELMET BEAUTIFUL AND BRIGHT

Cut Tree on Village Green, Back to Nature Man Fined

Oundle, Northants.—"The constable's helmet was there, shining and beautiful, and I jumped on it," said a red-bearded, knee-booted "back-to-nature colonist" at Oundle police court.

He was John Hawkswell, who described himself as a small-holder, and he was giving his version of an affray between police and a group of colonists on the village green at Laxton, a Northamptonshire hamlet.

Hawkswell was charged with assaulting Superintendent Williams while in the execution of his duty, and with resisting Sergeant Knight.

He said that some of his colleagues were sitting on a tree that had been felled for firewood when Superintendent Williams went to put a chain over it. He was so indignant because his colleagues might have been in danger that he rushed at the superintendent and struck him twice.

"I felt sorry as a man that I had done it, as he was older than I, but in view of what had occurred I had the right to do it," he continued.

The Countess of Bandon was mentioned in the case as claiming ownership of the village green and and trees, and Hawkswell said: "I took the action I did for the principles that might is not right, that a title is not always in the right either, and that the villagers could be right and Lady Bandon wrong."

He was fined £5 ($25) in each case.

'BOSSY' GIVES BIRTH TO 'TEST-TUBE' CALF

Artificial Insemination Reported Success by Scottish Breeder

Edinburgh.—Experiments in the production of animal life by "test-tube" methods are to be carried out by Scottish scientists.

The birth, announced by the Animal Nutrition Research Institute, Cambridge, of a calf produced by the artificial insemination of a British Friesian cow on the Essex farm of Lord Rayleigh, is a result of a series of experiments which research workers have been planning for some time.

Complete preparations have been made at the Shothead farm of the genetics department of Edinburgh University and the Hannah Dairy Research Institute, Ayr, for experiments on Ayrshire cattle.

At a meeting of the Ayrshire Herd Book society, which controls Scotland's famous dairy breed, unanimous approval was given to a new rule to allow pedigree animals secured by artificial insemination being entered in the Herd Book.

The sire of the calf born on Lord Rayleigh's farm was a Friesian bull in Holland.

NEWS AND VIEWS FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE WORLD

JELLYFISH SHOALS PREVENT SHIP FROM LEAVING PORT

Fish Three Feet in Diameter Washed to Britain From Mozambique

PILED ON BEACHES

They also invaded the power station and threatened the city with a black-out.

The ship, Robin Gray, was due to leave for Beira. The pilot was aboard, ropes were being cast off and farewells waved, when engineers reported "something wrong" below. The vessel's propellers would not start.

Inspection around the ship's waterline disclosed that jellyfish were choking the injection pipe.

Every tide brings masses of huge jellyfish into the harbor, thousands of them, thick as wasps around a jampot, and most of them measuring over three feet in diameter. They seem to be regarding the ships' injection pipes as friendly funkholes.

Mariners say jellyfish are being brought down from Mozambique by an abnormally strong current. All ships' crews agree they have never seen such enormous jellyfish nor so many.

RECLUSE LEFT $2,775,000

SPENDS 220 HOURS IN 10 DAYS' PRAYING

Moslem in Jugoslavia Reads Koran Three Times

Belgrade—A Moslem of Sanki Most, Jugoslavia, 80-year-old Mustufa Kurbegovitch, has spent 220 hours in 10 days praying "for the sins of the people."

During this period he has read the Koran three times and also attended services in the mosque.

He has slept for only two hours each night, eaten only an ounce of bread and drunk nothing but water.

Before the war Mustufa was one of the richest men in the district.

FRENCH FUGITIVES COSTLY TO TRINIDAD

This British colony has had to add supplementary estimates amounting to $2,300 to cover the cost of maintenance of the destitute convicts from French Guiana. Arriving in open boats after days at sea in tattered rags under the tropical sun, the fugitives have to be fed and clothed in most cases before they can be deported.

Then they usually have to be supplied with a new boat, food and equipment to continue their venture for freedom.

SWEDEN IS MAKING GASOLINE OF WOOD

Ten Years' Research Results in Economically Sound Process

Stockholm — Production of gasoline and lubricating oils from Swedish wood and charcoal is now being started on a commercial scale.

The first plant erected for this purpose is located at Perstorp, in the south of Sweden. By a method worked out by two Swedish engineers, Carl Cederqvist and Hilding Bergstrom, various by-products from wood are produced simultaneously with the manufacture of gas and oils.

The results, after ten years of research under the auspices of the Swedish Academy for Engineering research, have proved that lubricating oils can be extracted from waste wood of various kinds, as well as from waste lye from pulp mills, charcoal, and wood tar. The material is expected to yield some 35 per cent. of liquid fuel.

GAMBLED FOR FORTUNE ON HORSE THAT LOST

African Broker Stood to Win Half Million—Outsider Victor

Capetown, S.A.—A horse owned by Mr. A. E. Henkes, which he had backed to win £100,000 ($500,000), was beaten in the Durban Handicap by an outsider owned by Mrs. Henkes.

Mr. Henkes entered his English-bred horse Dennis Blink, and announced that he had backed it to win £70,000 ($350,060). At the last minute he increased his bets so that he would have won £100,000 if Dennis Blink had come in first.

His wife's 40 to 1 outsider Bally James Duff, romped home. Dennie Blink was third.

Mrs. Henkes said that she was backing her own horse despite the James Duff, romped home. Dennis Blink.

Three years ago Henkes was a traveller for a meat extract firm. He earned £20 a month.

He saved his money, speculated on the Rand stock exchange with his entire capital—£200 ($1,000)—was immediately successful, and is now a leading stockbroker worth it is said, a quarter of a million.

WOLVES ATTACK GUARDS

Warsaw.—Wolves are terrorizing the Suwalki and Augustow lake regions on the Polish-Lithuanian border, and are not only attacking cattle and lone travellers but penetrating into villages. In two instances patrols of Polish frontier guards were attacked.

40-HOUR WEEK TO STAY FRENCH STUDY REVEALS

Outmoded Equipment Blamed for Inefficiency, Low Output Charge

CAN'T BE CHANGED

Paris. — The 40-hour week has come to stay in France. Its repeal would be impossible and even a temporary modification of the law, on any general scale, is out of the question.

These are the conclusions of the government committee appointed to study means of increasing production, one of this nation's major problems.

The committee was appointed by the present French government last August when France's foreign trade was diminishing at an alarming rate.

Introduced by the Blum government, the controversial 40-hour week has been blamed by French employers for the low output of industry. Labor laid the responsibility to outmoded equipment, inefficiency of employers and the desire of employers to sabotage the 40-hour law.

Composed of representatives of both labor and industry, the committee has held endless hearings during the last three months. Despite its opinion the law cannot be broadly changed, the committee recommended modifications, at least temporary modifications, for certain industries.

Of the industries needing relief from the law provisions, armaments making industries were placed first.

Other suggestions were made for increasing production. They included loosening of credit facilities, improvement and modernization of plants, and lightening of the tax burden.

PREPARE TO UNIFY COLONIAL POLICE

Port of Spain, Trinidad—Trinidad will join in the plan for a unified colonial police force throughout the empire this year, it was announced by the chief of police here.

In order to give effect to the scheme, an ordinance will be passed in the legislature altering the title of the Trinidad constabulary to the Trinidad police force, it was said.

Several of the smaller islands have already consented to the new plan which came into effect elsewhere last year.

FIND ERROR ON STAMP

Officer Shown Wearing Epaulettes Nine Years Too Soon

Sydney, N.S.W.—An error in the new two-penny stamps issued to commemorate Sydney's 150th anniversary has been discovered by a stamp collector.

He points out that the stamps show Captain Phillip at Sydney Cove in 1786 wearing epaulettes, whereas these adornments were not worn as part of the naval uniform until 1795.

YOUNG BASQUES RIOT JUST FOR EXCITEMENT

Five Sent Back to Spain After Wrecking British Hostel

Hexham, Northumberland. — Young Basques from Spain have more than a word for it when they become annoyed. In fact a group of refugees at the Larches, children's hostel here, said it with a miniature riot in protest against hostel regulations.

Captain T. P. Wilson, a former warden, said he was glad to see the last of them. Here's his reason: "The boys simply thrived on excitement and wanton destruction. They chased an assistant warden with daggers and bottles, hacked the walls and electric light fixtures, attacked the matron, broke every pane of glass and every piece of crockery, smashed the gas stove, broke fences and slashed plants and shrubs."

Five of the ringleaders were sent back to war-torn Spain.

Sleigh Drive Party St. Peter's Sodality.

Ninety members of St. Peter's Sodality enjoyed a sleigh drive party on Thursday evening. Three sleighs loaded with happy girls left the Stone School at the corner of Hunter and Rubidge streets at seven-thirty, and drove out to the Kawartha Club.

A delightful time at the clubhouse included a musical program provided by several of the Sodality's gifted musicians. Miss Helen Ross was heard in a vocal solo, accompanied at the piano by Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M.; Miss Marion Best, A.T.C.M. gave a piano solo; Miss Phyllis Cowle gave a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Scollard; and the Misses Doris Strickland, Alma Duffy, A.T.C.M., and Helen Burke provided piano solos. Dancing and refreshments made the rest of the jolly party. The Rev. Father Welsh, Chaplain of the Sodality, addressed the girls, thanking all who had taken part in the evening's arrangements, and the steward of the culb for delightful refreshments served. The Sodality plan to hold a skating party on the evening of January 28 at the Sacred Heart rink.

At eleven o'clock the party broke up, the sleighs returning to the Stone Schoolhouse, from which the members disbursed to their homes.

Women's Club to Meet Every Wednesday,

The first meeting for the 1938 season of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held on Wednesday evening, with Miss Anne Jamieson in the chair. A short business meeting was held, and Miss Sarah Eastwood elected as treasurer for the coming year. It was decided to hold a meeting in the club rooms every Wednesday evening, and will commence next week with a supper meeting at 6.30 p.m.

A musical program, in charge of Miss Jessie Martin, then followed and included Hawaiian guitar selections by Miss Ludbrook and Miss McIlmoyle; piano selection by Miss Patricia Watson. Pretty little Jean Millard, a pupil of Miss Littlefield at the Y.W.C.A., dressed as a Scotch lassie, did the highland fling. Vocal solos by Mrs. Doig and Miss Greta Giles, piano selections by Mrs. Paris, were all very much enjoyed by the members of the club.

The main item on the program was the very interesting review of the book, "Madame Curie" by Mrs. Leeson. This book tells the story of the life of a famous scientist, Madame Curie, who with her husband were the founders of radium in 1898 in Paris. Madame Curie was born in Poland, and as a young girl was a very clever and brilliant student. At 17 she held a position as governess. She continued to study, and her ambition to study Physics finally took her to Paris. Here she later met M. Curie and was married. Working together under great hardships, with the poorest of laboratories, they finally were successful in producing radium from pitchblende. Throughout all her life, Madame Curie endeavored to do her utmost for the people of Poland. She died in 1934, surrounded to the last by her fellow scientists.

The meeting was closed with the service of refreshments.

Helen Roger Auxiliary Meets.

A particularly well-attended meeting of the Helen Roger Auxiliary of Knox United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Oesch, Stewart street, on Monday evening.

Mrs. H. Clegg presided during a brief worship period, which opened with the Lord's Prayer in unison. A poem entitled, "What is this coming year?" was read. This presented a challenge to the members to make this year one of which they could be justly proud. Prayer concluded this part of the program.

Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt was present and installed the new officers in a very impressive manner and spoke words of encouragement regarding the greatness of the work.

Reports were read giving a thorough review of the year's work. Mrs. R. Williamson, secretary of Christian Stewardship and Finance, commented on the success of the system of meeting the financial objective, and announced the allotment for the coming year.

Following the benediction, a social half hour was enjoyed.

The following is a list of 1938 officers: Honorary Presidents, Mrs. A. McKenzie, Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt; President, Mrs. H. Clegg; 1st Vice-president, Mrs. E. We Noticed ....someone in a smart ski outfit, with green slacks, white jacket, and white and green cap and scarf.

✧ ✧ ✧

....a charming evening frock was of taffeta in multi-colored stripes, with shoulder straps and wide sash of velvet.

✧ ✧ ✧

....an evening coat of velvet had a little embroidered collar and embroidery from the shoulders to the cuffs on the sleeves.

Warm, Woolly Clothes Are Also Smart, Pretty

Comfortable Garments for Sports Wear

Ribbed sweater, top left; wool jersey shirt, next below; bottle and jar bag, top right; next below, wool scarf, brown pigskin belt; below, knitted wool gloves, one with flowers, one with lover's knot; angora anklets.

By Central Press

It's warm and woolly clothes we all need just now. And, thank goodness, warm and woolly clothes that keep out winter winds are so pretty that it is no hardship at all to wear them. And it is such fun to search the shops for them, if we are going on vacation to the mountains or country, or if we simply have suitable garments for winter sports right near home.

Some of the articles that are "right in style" and as practical as they are handsome are shown here, carefully chosen. There is the ribbed sweater at the top left—warm and in your preferred and most becoming color. It comes in soft blue, rose or green. Next below the sweater is a jersey wool shirt, with colored studs, which is nice for wear even at school or the office on extra cold days, or if schoolroom or office are not very well heated. It is in beige, rust, royal or green.

There is a comfortable woolen scarf to keep the throat warm, squared in red, blue, yellow and black. The number and variety of these scarves is legion.

Gay Gloves.

A brown pigskin belt with a football on the buckle; and two knitted wool gloves, one with flowers, green or brown with rust; one with lovers' knot, black or brown with green or rust; and angora anklets, red, yellow or white.

And lastly, at top right, a bottle and jar bag in rayon moire with talon slide fastener, and coming in navy, wine or black with contrasting bindings.

Suede jackets with gay plaid linings and caps to match are very comfortable and useful for the girl who is an ardent outdoor fan. These jackets are shorter this season, coming only to the waist. Favorite colors are dark green, brown or rust, and they fasten with talon slide fasteners.

Shoes for wear with such garments as shown, are comfortable but very smart looking.

Embroidery Trim Used in Frock

By Central Press.

IF YOU can wear a striking dress, by all means get one. Some of us cannot, but it is always worth trying. Sometimes something different will bring out hidden possibilities for attractiveness in a woman. Sometimes a too unusual dress kills the personality.

Veree Teasdale, screen actress and wife of Adolphe Menjou, is noted as one of the best dressed women in Hollywood. She is the type to carry off a striking frock with distinction, as you can see by looking at this picture.

This gown was designed for her by Orry-Kelly, Hollywood designer. It is in brown wine crepe—a new shade, by the way—and has a panel of Grecian embroidery down the front in blue and silver. Very narrow shoulder straps keep the dress in place, and the flowing cape, fastened by a jeweled clasp at the throat, is lined with the same embroidery.

The most striking thing about evening dresses for the young set this mid-winter is their sheerness. Dainty pastels, pink, blue, orchid, in net, organza, lace and tulle, are the favorites. Wide girdles, little jackets, and other decorative details that glisten are used. A pink net dress posed over pale orchid, and with orchid shoulder straps, was one lovely model for the young miss.

✧ ✧ ✧

✧ ✧ ✧

Sequin birds, flowers or bow-knots are being used for hair ornaments.

✧ ✧ ✧

The full-length fitted black velvet wrap with small ermine collar is the popular selection of the younger set for evening wear during the holiday festivities.

✧ ✧ ✧

Flock Propose To Indian Girl

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 14.—(CP). — Waste Agidiwihn is sorry she ever mentioned she is the grand-daughter of Chief Sitting Bull, who led the Sioux Indian massacre of General George A. Custer and a party of United States cavalry in Montana in 1876.

A few days ago she confided in a fellow student at Willamette University, who immediately wrote the story for the university newspaper.

"I even have received proposals of marriage from people I never have seen," she said. "I never knew people could be so crazy. Lots of people think I lived in a tepee and learned to speak English at the college."

Waste, known to fellow students as Evelyn Walsh, is a senior studying social service work. Her home is on Fort Peck Reservation. She is the eldest daughter of the eldest son of Sitting Bull.

Sitting Bull was described by many historians as a renegade, but to his grand-daughter he "was the greatest general of the North American continent."

In a contest in Eastbourne, England, 200 anglers fished all day and caught a total of only five pounds of fish.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"To know that God does not depend upon our feelings, but our feelings upon God, to know we must claim a certain spiritual position as our right before we can realize it in our apprensions, to be assured that we have the spirit of God within us, and that He is distinct from all the emotions, energies, affections, sympathies, in our minds, the only Source and Inspirer of them all, this is most necessary for us, the peculiar necessity, if I am not mistaken, of this life."

—F. D. Maurice.

Dear Friends:

We were discussing God's will. Now I think a great deal of the confusion in our minds is because we so seldom know what His will really is, for the simple reason that we are too intent on our own will.

Try a child with a big nickle and a small one, or a big cent and a little one, and he will usually choose the larger one because he thinks he is getting more.

Same thing with us. We have the choice of the large will of God as it applies to us AND ALL OTHERS, and our own will as it applies only to ourselves, and invariably we choose what looms largest to us.

It never occurs to us that we are all dependant on one another, and that what affects us affects many. There are people who are longsighted enough to know this, but they are called visionaries.

Yet what would we do without them? We mostly go arund peering closely at OUR troubles, OUR Happinesses, OUR successes or failures. If we see someone else getting along better than we, our wonder is why don't we get the same rewards?.

What we cannot understand is, that God's will for us is so much bigger and better than our own. No, we cloud our vision by our emotions towards those we love, and think we know better than God what is good for them.

We let our energies, and affections, and sympathies occupy our minds, so that we have no time left to find out what His will may be. If only we could claim our birth-right as true children of God, claim Him as our real Father, we would get our desires granted, not in the puny way we get them now, but in the larger way we have never known.

Don't get the idea that I know all the answers. I get just as befogged and bewildered as you, and as I find out certain things I pass them on to you. We have muddled along so much, suffered so much that doesn't do us any good, hurt others and been hurt by them, that I truly think we are on the wrong track and it is high time we got back on the right one.

When we know "that God does not depend on our feelings, but our feelings upon God," then we have the answer to many of our problems, and to why things go wrong. How can we have any feelings about Him when we seldom think of Him, or listen to Him, or talk to Him?

I don't see how it can be done. If you never see your friend, write or speak to him, how can you keep in touch with his life or know his feelings about you? So let us get more in touch with Him, not just when things go wrong, not just when we are discouraged, but all the time.

Watch what happens. It cannot be any worse than it is now, there couldn't be any more heartache or trouble, and if we do not gain, be sure we will not lose by this experience. Let me know how you make out.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spring, Lakefield, wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Delphine May to Frank M. Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Harvey, 82 McDonnel street, Peterborough. Wedding to take place quietly February 12.

DIED

DEWART, Wallace James. — In Dummer Township, on Thursday, January 13, 1938, Wallace James Dewart, in his 50th year. Funeral service from the family residence, Lot 12, Concession 3, Dummer Township, on Saturday, January 15, at 2 p.m. Interment St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw.

IN MEMORIAM

HILLS.—In loving memory of J. C. Hills of Peterborough, who passed away January 14, a year ago today.

We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own;
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green, and never fade away.
—Ever remembered by Wife and Family.

CLIPPER'S SKIPPER EXPLOSION VICTIM, ONE OF BEST IN U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14 (AP)—Capt. Edwin C. Musick, commander of the Samoan clipper, which carried him and six other crew members to death near Pago Pago, probably made more aviation records with the use of fewer words than any other United States flier.

Musick never guessed at anything, and never said anything unless he was certain he knew what he was taking about.

He flew by the compass, the sextant, the slide rule, the radio and the barometer. He never hesitated to turn back, and never hesitated to postpone a flight when the instruments said "No."

Even in the final emergency, until the last three minutes of his life, he went by careful, dispassionate calculations. He was turning back to Pago Pago with a crippled motor in "normal" fashion and projecting the exact minute of his landing.

He took the long way back to Pago Pago instead of the direct line, so that his gasoline load, spurting out from the dump valves, would be exhausted just at the right time for a safe landing.

Tragedy Had No Warning.

The tragedy no doubt was due to an "imponderable" of ocean flying—something that couldn't be calculated or conquered with a formula. Possibly it was a condition of the atmosphere which converted flying gasoline into highly combustible vapor within the range of a motor's fiery exhaust.

On one occasion he got six minutes behind his calculations on a 2,400-mile flight between Alameda and Honolulu and apologized for being "sloppy."

Born in St. Louis in 1894, Musick had flown nearly every type of American aircraft.

On a single routine 1,250-mile test flight he once established 10 world records — exceeding all previous marks for speed and load for various distances up to 2,000 milometres.

Musick received the Harmon trophy, awarded annually for the most outstanding service in his field, for his 1935 pioneering of the Pacific.

NEW YEAR ORDERS BEGIN PILING UP

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP).—Business managers looked over a mounting pile of New Year orders for raw materials and goods to-day on the chance they may necessitate a step-up in mill and mine operations and the recall of many workers laid off in the final months of 1937.

Suppressed for months while inventories were being reduced, the urge to buy again has been felt the last days in copper, lead, coarse cotton cloths, hides, rubber and other basic markets sensitive to changes in underlying business conditions and sentiment.

Buying orders in some lines since the turn of the year have been the heaviest in months and have been timely aids to producers who saw reserve orders depleted in the virtual cessation of forward buying in the last six months of 1937.

Attracting particular attention has been a burst of cotton cloth trading in Worth Street, the textile selling centre, traditionally as keen as Wall Street in sensing a shift in business trends.

In trade circles it was explained the type of business being done indicated improvement in lines supplying goods to the man on the street and the housewife, and also reflected depletion of inventories while consumption ran ahead of production during the autumn and holiday retail buying.

Speculative demand in anticipation of increased absorption of raw materials for armament building, including the United States' plans for increased naval and merchant shipbuilding, was held partly accountable for the New Year spurt in metals.

Some of the recent buying in raw materials was attributed to preparations for spring manufacturing in shoes and other industries.

Chief Of The A.P. F. B. Noyes Quits

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—(AP). — Frank B. Noyes of Washington, announced to-day his retirement from the presidency of the Associated Press at the expiration of his present term. He has held the position through 38 eventful years of newspaper history.

To the Board of Directors, in session here, Mr. Noyes disclosed his decision not to accept re-election, under any circumstances, at the expiration of his present annual term in April. After his long service, he said, he felt entitled to pass on to younger hands a task to which he has devoted himself since his 30's. On July 7 next he will be 75.

KEEP YOUR LIVER ACTIVE

And You'll Feel Wonderful—Never Headaches, Tired, Sick, Constipated

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and next to the heart the most important. It does four things. It supplies the body's natural laxative, gives proper nourishment to your blood, helps the kidneys and stomach, supplies the muscles, tissues and glands with energy. You can't feel well if your liver isn't well. System becomes poisoned and you feel "rotten". "Fruit-a-tives" quickly make your liver healthy. You soon feel like a new person. A celebrated doctor's formula—fruits and herbs—has given perfect health to thousands.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIVER TABLETS

Nominated

Vice-President Jacinto B. Peynado (ABOVE), brother of the late Francisco Peynado, former Dominican minister to the United States, has been nominated by President Rafael Trujillo, as his successor. Truyillo has announced his retirement from the office which he has held for eight years. Guaroa Velazquez, professor of international law at the University of Puerto Rico and head of President Trujillo's exiled opposition, said that the president's announced retirement was a subterfuge forced by the Haitian border trouble and that the attempt to name a successor was the act of a dictator.

FAIRVIEW CHURCH TO INSTALL HYDRO

(Examiner Correspondence.)

FAIRVIEW, Jan. 14.—The annual congregational meeting and supper of Fairview church was held Tuesday evening in the church and was well attended in spite of a lot of sickness in the community.

The various reports given by the treasurer were most encouraging, showing a considerable amount of money had been raised during the past year. The problem of installing the hydro was discussed and the vote taken was in favor of hydro and the Stewards were appointed to look into the matter.

The various officers appointed were, for the church:

Elders—Fred Bell, Wilbert Rosborough and Ross Harrison, who replaces the vacancy of Wilbert Bell, who has recently moved to Peterborough.

Stewards — Albert Armstrong, treasurer; Walter Heard, Cephas Heard, Austin Poast, and Wesley Bell, who was the new Steward elected.

Trustees — Everett Cockburn, Robert Fowler, Harold Lewis, Lorne McKee and Reg. Cockburn.

The Sunday School officers elected were: Superintendent, Harold Lewis; assistant superintendent, Wesley Bell; secretary, Keith Harrison; treasurer, Carmen Bell; temperance superintendent, Mrs. Austin Poast; missionary superintendent, Mrs. Wesley Bell; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. Fred Bell; pianist, Miss Olive Bell; assistant pianist, Miss Perne Armstrong.

Woman's Association: President, Mrs. W. Rosborough; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Fowler; secretary, Mrs. Cephas Heard; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Lewis.

Young People: President, Gerald Harrison; secretary, Greta Reynolds; treasurer, Eleanor Rosborough; convenors of groups—Christian culture, Burritt Harrison; Missionary, Ferne Armstrong; Christian fellowship, Keith Harrison; Christian citizenship, Olive Bell; publications, Anne Franks; recreation, Wilma Armstrong and Carmen Bell; pianist, Olive Bell.

Albert Armstrong was given a hearty vote of thanks for his faithful work as church treasurer which was moved by Harold Lewis and seconded by Everett Cockburn.

Mrs. Harold Lewis was tendered a vote of thanks as church pianist by Mrs. Wilbert Rosborough and seconded by Mrs. Cephas Heard.

Rev. C. C. Miller was tendered a vote of thanks, for the beautiful slides which he secured for the evening, by Wesley Bell. These colored slides, were given at the close of the business session and were very beautiful and instructive. They were entitled "The Man who Played God."

FAIRVIEW

The Sunshine class of Fairview Sunday School held a most enjoyable pot luck dinner last Wednesday at the home of Miss Olive Bell. This meeting was especially called in honor of Mrs. Carl Paeden of Halifax, Nova Scotia (nee Daisy Mullen) and also Miss Opal Rosborough of Macdonald Hall, Guelph, who were on Christmas vacation. After a sumptuous repast everyone enjoyed an afternoon of sewing and knitting.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Lorne McKee and family and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bulmer and family in the bereavement of their father, the late Mr. William Northey of Lakefield and also to Mrs. Wilbert Rosborough a sister of the late Mr. Northey.

Among the Fairview folk who have assisted the Selwyn Y.P. in giving topics recently were Messrs. Reg Coburn, Carmer Bell and Vernon Olver.

Those from Fairview who attended Coldsprings Y.P. Wednesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bell, Mr. Harold Lewis and Master John Lewis. Mr. Lewis gave the topic on temperance and Master John Lewis contributed a solo.

STOP Scratching

RELIEVE ITCHING In A Minute

Even the most stubborn itching of eczema, blotches, pimples, athlete's foot, rashes and other skin eruptions, quickly yields to Dr. Dennis' cooling, antiseptic, liquid D. D. D. PRESCRIPTION. Its gentle oils soothe the irritated skin. Clear, greaseless and stainless—dries fast. Stops the most intense itching instantly. A 35c trial bottle, at drug stores, proves it—or money back. JOLLY PROGRAM BENSFORT Y.P.S.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BENSFORT, Jan. 14.—On Saturday evening the regular fortnightly meeting of the Young People's Society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moncrief. The president, C. Barnard, presided for the meeting, the program of which had been prepared by Miss Marion Moncrief and Gomer Robinson. The meeting opened with a contest which was followed by the regular order of service. The guest speaker for the evening was Fred Barnard who gave a most interesting and inspiring address. Jack Staples favored the Young people with a violin solo. At the close of the meeting the hostess served candy and apples.

It was decided to hold the annual oyster supper on February 18.

Bensfort United S. S.

The Bensfort United Sunday School held an executive meeting on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Moncrief. The officers for 1938 are:

Dawson, Marion Moncrief; temperance superintendent, W. C. Dawson; missionary superintendent, Mrs. F. Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnard and family visited Mr. and Mrs. G. Nurse on Saturday.

Messrs. Merton Thompson, Fisher Buckham, Emma Edgerton, Eleanor Morrison, Florence Beebe, Elizabeth Westington and Helen Howson of Peterborough spent the week-end at Bensfort.

SUBWAY BLAST KILLS 500

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP). — An explosion in a Madrid subway was reported to-day to have killed between 500 and 600 persons.

Details of the disaster could not be obtained from Spain. One report, which came by way of Paris, said war materials stored in the subway exploded as a train jammed with passengers passed nearby.

FIREMEN SAVE WOMAN AND BABY

WESTBORO, Ont., Jan. 14 (CP)—Firemen yesterday rescued Mrs. E. Valis and her two-year-old daughter, Lois, after the woman, trapped by fire in her apartment in this suburban Ottawa town, dropped her five-year-old son, Maynard, from a window into the arms of neighbors.

The fire broke out underneath a stairway at the back of a building, leading to the apartments. The building included two stores with apartments above. Mrs. T. Gordon, occupant of the other apartment, escaped.

Firemen battled for three hours before they brought the blaze under control. Origin of the fire was undetermined. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

TATTOOS HIS DOGS

SASKATOON, Jan. 14 (CP).—Dr. J. T. Cooper is the first Saskatchewan dog fancier to adopt tattoo markings to identify his animals. Markings inside the lip show the year of birth and indicate the registration number.

24 Retired Generals And Hirohito Rule 'War Goes On'

Great British Singapore Naval Celebration And U.S. Participation Has Jap. Press Worried

TOKYO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Japanese cabinet and high navy and army officials decided today the conflict with China must continue to 'its ultimate objective."

A draft of the government's policy in China was prepared after lengthy conferences by the cabinet and the imperial headquarters of military leaders directing hostilities.

Twenty-four retired generals endorsed the decision, growing from an imperial conference with Emperor Hirohito. Among them was former Premier Senjuro Hayashi.

Meanwhile, discussing forthcoming manoeuvres at Great Britain's new far eastern naval base, Singapore, the newspaper Yomiuri said editorially:

"If the celebrations are not an end in themselves, but have an ulterior motive as a naval demonstration, what must be repercussion of the far east?

"Both the United States and Britain, we hope, consider this point carefully and see their way clear to adopting a policy of discretion."

Three United States cruisers will attend opening of the Singapore base on February 14, preceding the manoeuvres.

Yomiuri held that the base was not actually completed, and that the British were hastening celebration as a demonstration against Japan.

Other Papers Worried.

Other newspapers likewise expressed worry over the Singapore celebration, the combined manoeuvres of the British Navy, Army and Air Force, and United States participation in the naval base opening program.

Semi-official Japanese sources interpreted the Japanese view to be that the United States was "stiffening her attitude in the Far Eastern situation."

Typical of the newspaper comment was that by Hochi, which observed that "there is no doubt of 'the manoeuvres' being a sort of demonstration against Japan."

Hochi adds that participation by the three United States cruisers indicated United States gradually was coming to agree with British policy in the Far East.

The War Office and the Naval Ministry were working on a program by which Japan's potential army enlistment would be increased about 25 per cent.

Although heretofore no Korean has been permitted to serve in the Japanese army or navy, an army announcement to-day said Koreans now could volunteer for service.

KING A MILITARIST BEHIND DISGUISE IS HOUDE CHARGE

MONTREAL, Jan. 15 (C.P.). — Four candidates in St. Henry constituency make their final appeals to the electors to-day, for on Monday voters in the widespread factory district will choose a successor to Paul Mercier, Liberal member of Parliament elevated to the Circuit Court Bench.

Withdrawal of Victor Lacombe, Labor-Liberal, yesterday left the race open to J. A. Bonnier, official Liberal candidate, two Independent Liberals, and Camillien Houde, Independent. Lacombe's fellow-Independent Liberals, C. O. Bousquet and O. L. Gingras, have taken the background in a campaign Houde has made into a fiery indictment of the Liberal administration of Mackenzie King on the armaments issue.

"Mackenzie King is a militarist in disguise," he thundered last night. The Dominion Government pretends $35,000,000 voted for military expenditures last session were for national defence, but is really preparing to embroil Canada in foreign wars, the former Mayor of Montreal charged. The Prime Minister, he said, "has contaminated his French-Canadian Cabinet colleagues with the same spirit."

Houde, long a storm petrel in French-Canadian politics, stood firmly by his declaration a secret document existed wherein was a recommendation that Canada organize six divisions of artillery, two more than she did in the Great War. He claimed excerpts from Hansard proved existence of two such memoranda.

News to Rinfret.

Last night State Secretary Rinfret pledged his word he had never seen the document. "It is a strange thing," he said, "the Prime Minister never has seen this document or documents as the case may be; that the Minister of National Defence never has seen it, or them, and I give my word of honor that as Secretary of State, through which department documents pass, I never have seen such a document or documents."

Delving into a thick file of newspaper clippings, Hansard reports and memoranda, Houde read quotations from Mackenzie King, Mr. Rinfret, Justice Minister Lapointe and Works Minister Cardin in an effort to convince his audience these Liberal Ministers believed in Canada taking an active part in any war forced upon the British Empire.

Two Ships Founder As 80-Mile Gale Hits British Isles

Accompanying Rain Floods Roads, Halts Traffic; Fields Look Like Lakes—Planes to Paris Grounded

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP Cable)—One of the most violent gales in years hit the British Isles today, drove shipping to cover, and wrought havoc inland.

Heavy rain accompanied the gale, submerging roads and disrupting traffic. Fields for miles around Dolgelly, Wales, resembled huge lakes.

In the Thames two British vessels collided. One was beached while the other returned to dock. The 355-ton freighter Fermanagh grounded and sank off Pembrokeshire. Her crew of seven and one passenger were rescued in a lifeboat, but the captain was missing. The 320-ton Teasel was unreported off Lyme Regis after her crew of five had sent up a rocket flare.

The gales at times reached 80 miles an hour and many craft caught in coastal waters reached shelter only with the utmost difficulty. Warships fighting their way into Portland encountered waves so mountainous they were able to proceed at only three knots.

Wight Pounded Hard.

The Solent, between the Isle of Wight and the English mainland, was whipped by a 70-mile-an-hour wind and the coast of the island received a severe pounding.

The Exmouth lifeboat, which went out in response to distress rockets, returned to port without

POWER EXPORTING SCHEME OPPOSED BY HON. W. GORDON

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 15—(CP).—Hon. Wesley Gordon, former Dominion Minister of Immigration, was on record to-day with expressed opposition to any exportation of Canadian Hydro-Electric power.

"If we expand as we have in the past we will need all we can develop," the member of the former Bennett Government told the Canadian Club here last night. "And remember once power is exported out of a country it cannot be taken back no matter who may say it can. Too much depends upon it in the country to which it goes."

(In Toronto yesterday the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission announced application to the Dominion Government for license to export 120,000 horse-power of electrical energy to the United State.)

In a general review of Canadian problems, Mr. Gordon urged something be done about overlapping governments and proposed a policy of conserving natural resources.

To the Rowell Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations, he said, "We look for a report that will be helpful in clearing the air on many important matters as between the provinces and the dominion."

Condemning desecration of timber lands, he said, "To-day there is not a single acre of valuable spruce timber left in the name of the Crown." Permission had been given to export the raw product, he said adding he disagreed with such a policy.

VIOLENCE FLARES IN FISHERS' STRIKE

HALIFAX, Jan. 15 (CP)—Police reinforcements patrolled the narrow cobbled streets along the waterfront today, seeking to prevent a recurrence of violence which met a fleet of taxis carrying men into the plant of the strike-harassed Maritime National Fish Limited.

More than 150 men surrounding the plant let loose with a barrage of rocks and stones last night as the taxis approached the rambling big plant, claiming the cars were carrying those who refused to strike for recognition of the Union of Fish Handlers and Cutters. Plant windows were broken and taxis damaged, but no one was reported injured. Extra police platoons already were on duty and reserves were being held at police headquarters. Officers were advised not to

Trio On Sled Behind And Driver Escape Plunge

Machine Crashes Through Rotting Four-inch Ice In 60 Feet of Water and Sinks in Five Seconds

SUTTON, Ont., Jan. 15 (CP)—Bodies of three men and a woman, trapped in an automobile, were at the bottom of Lake Simcoe today as authorities of this little fishing village awaited the arrival of a diver from Toronto to resume recovery operations.

The four, Mrs. John Wilkinson, 43; Jack Bird; William Jones, 30, and Emmanuel Nelson, 32, were drowned late yesterday when the car in which they were returning over rotting ice from an unsuccessful fishing trip plunged through four inches of ice. Three men and a boy, other members of the party, escaped.

Jay Nelson, driver of the car and brother of Emmanuel, said "the first thing I knew of our smash through the ice was when I suddenly saw the water roll up over the engine hood of the car." Nelson managed to scramble through a partly opened door, hook his elbows to the ice and pull himself to safety.

John Wilkinson, husband of Mrs. Wilkinson, his 14-year-old son, Jack, and an Indian named Robert Charles were knocked to safety when the sleigh on which they were being pulled behind the car struck its rear end. The jar threw the trio sprawling on the ice as the machine plunged 60 feet to the lake bottom.

Fishing Mile Off Shore.

All were from nearby Belhaver, 50 miles north of Toronto. Jones, Bird and the Nelsons had been fishing more than a mile off shore and had turned about for home when they met the Wilkinsons and the Indian. The woman was given a seat in the rear of the machine and the other three crowded on to the sleigh.

3-ALARM BLAZE COSTS $150,000

MONTREAL, Jan. 15 (CP). — Machinery valued at more than $100,000 was damaged or destroyed today by a "three-alarm" fire which swept through the three-storey Bournival building on Notre Dame Street, in the centre of some of the city's oldest buildings. Damage done to the building and to equipment of a printing company on the second floor, combined with that to the machinery was estimated tentatively at $150,000.

Fire fighting reinforcements aided in preventing the blaze from spreading to neighboring buildings, within a short distance of such historic places as the old Chateau de Ramezay, built in the early 1700's as the residence of New Canada's Governor.

Within an hour, the numerous stream of water played on neighboring buildings, had covered the block with ice. The fire was confined to the one property.

THOMAS BROWN IS RE-ELECTED HEAD OF FAIR BOARD

Tom Brown was re-elected president of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Friday afternoon, the unanimous choice of the largely attended annual meeting indelibly marked in the records of the Exhibition as the day on which the directors received from Harold A. Morrow the gift of the grounds they have long occupied and developed as tenants. Mr. Brown was nominated by T. H. Graham and L. J. Clancy.

The other officers of last year were also re-elected, E. P. Mason as first vice-president; Gordon Hancock second vice-president; and Morris and Lawrie were again appointed auditors. A committee to propose new directors was composed of Messrs. Clancy, Fred Holmes, Hancock and D. B. Faulkner. On their recommendation the following were appointed to the Board: Alex L. Elliott, M.L.A., Rev. P. J. Kelly, Frank A. Paterson, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Reeve Martin Coughlin of Douro, Joseph Crowley and Merton Storey.

Everett Mark of Little Britain, a member of the widely known family of livestock breeders, G. H. Mark and Son, requested the Board to restore Dorset sheep to the prize list and promised that exhibits of this breed would be made by himself, and W. K. Kettle of Omemee and Wilbert Johnston of Seagrave. This proposal was left to the sheep committee.

Mr. Mark congratulated Peterborough on having such a man as Mr. Morrow. "Citizens of his kind are surely worth a great deal to a community."

Harold Hills of Dunsford, another visitor, suggested that the Board include in the prize list for horses a class for hunters, even it were substituted for saddle horses.

"Saddle horses are bred from Kentucky and Arabian stock" Mr. Hillis said. "You see a few of them shown at the Royal Winter Fair, but their is no attempt made to develop them generally in this country. You could, however, develop hunters. There is a market for them in Toronto, but quite a number are imported from England and Ireland. We have foundation stock for hunters, and I wanted to suggest this change to your Board."

Mr. Hillis said he was interested in a three point program, poultry,

TORONTO ASKS OLD VOUCHER SYSTEM BACK

Closed Relief Slip Idea May Be Made General

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—(CP). — The Ontario Government will investigate the possibility of a return to the "closed voucher system" for the administration of relief in Toronto. If found to be the best method of administering aid to the unemployed, the system may be applied to the entire province.

Premier Hepburn, during a conference yesterday with members of the Toronto Board of Control on relief matters, ordered the investigation after A. W. Laver, City Welfare Commissioner, said Toronto had lost about 14 per cent of the buying power of its relief monies by adopting the open voucher system. Under the closed-voucher system, relief recipients are given specified foods rather than allowing them to make their own selections.

The Premier said relief allowances could be increased without additional cost if a saving could be effected by putting the closed-voucher system into effect. He suggested that if such a system succeeded here, it might be applied throughout the province.

Mr. Hepburn approved a change in the city's rental system by which an extra minimum rental allowance will be granted in cases where houses will hold more than one family. The new system will provide up to $15 a month maximum for the first family in a house and an extra amount will be allowed for each additional family. A saving in shelter and fuel bills is expected.

PASTOR UNSHAKEN CONTINUES FAST

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 15 (AP)—Hope was abandoned today of persuading Rev. Israel Harding Noe to give up his quest to establish himself as living proof of immortality through fasting and prayer. His eldest brother failed to swerve him from his decision.

"I feel there is nothing I can do," said Rev. Thomas Noe, head of the diocesan church home of York, S.C., last night before boarding a train for home after a day's visit with the now emaciated dean. He has abstained from food and water for 14 days.

"I believe my brother is thoroughly sincere and honest in seeking to achieve a spiritual plane of life denuded of life's material benefits. If my brother considers his action right, both as a brother and a priest I must respect his opinion and his right to faith."

Friends said the wife of the dean of St. Mary's Cathedral, learned many days ago that she could not change his plans.

5 Planes Weekly England-India

NEW DELHI, Jan. 15 (C.P.-Reuters). — Five air services per week from England to India are part of plans for the development of the Empire air mail scheme during 1938.

Two of these will be land-plane services following the normal route and terminating at Calcutta. The other three will be operated by flying-boats which will follow the same route across Northern India and will continue the service to Singapore. Of these, two will continue to Australia.

The scheduled time from England to Karachi, India, will be reduced to 2½ days, with another day on to Calcutta.

Indian Trans-Continental Airways will cease to operate between Karachi and Singapore and their operations will be transferred to the England-Calcutta services. The service from Karachi to South India will operate five days a week and will be extended to Colombo, Ceylon.

RUSSIANS PAYING NO ITALIAN BILLS

MOSCOW, Jan. 15 (AP).—Russia today suspended commercial payments to Italy, holding that the Italian Navy had refused to pay for Soviet oil and that Soviet ships were detained in Italian ports.

The government announced payments to the Soviet Union by Italian firms also had been suspended.

The Soviet trade delegation to Italy as well as trading organizations in Russia were instructed to suspend payments to Italian firms, including bills held by third persons.

The money in dispute will be deposited in a special account of the State Bank of Russia.

Deceptive Arctic Moon Lights Wilkins' Plane Search

Cruises To Within 700 Miles Of Pole In 32 Below Without Sighting Russians

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 15 (AP)—Sir George Hubert Wilkins and a companion dared bitter Arctic cold and deceptive moonlight today in a renewed air search for Russia's Sigismund Levaneffsky and five companions, who vanished Aug. 13 on a trans-Arctic flight.

After cruising to within 700 miles of the North Pole, Sir Hubert headed back toward Aklavik, N.W.T., without reporting sighting the lost Russians.

Their hunt long delayed by fog and clouds, Sir Hubert and Air Commodore Herbert Hollick-Kenyon of Toronto, took off from Aklavik, N.W.T. at 9 p.m. EST yesterday.

Word of the flight was radioed here to M. B. Bellakov, representative of the Russian government, which is financing Wilkins' search.

"Flying is not especially difficult under Arctic moonlight," Wilkins said, "but it's hard to judge distances when landing."

Wilkins made five previous flights in a 17-ton flying boat shortly after the Soviet Airmen disappeared enroute to the United States from Moscow.

Quacks, Parents And Old Maids All Have Advice For Quints

Brother Of Famed "Country Doctor" Reveals Whiskey Is Favorite Remedy Urged

TORONTO, Jan. 15 (CP).—Quacks of all kinds, mothers and fathers and maiden ladies, all have ideas on the upbringing of Canada's famous Dionne quintuplets, according to Dr. W. A. Dafoe, brother of the "Country Doctor" in Callander, who discussed the "Quints" last night at the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council.

For instance: One "good-willed" person wrote to advise that pure rye whiskey could be utilized to good advantage should the children develop diarrhoea. "Place a pine sliver in rye whiskey and set it on fire. When the fire has gone out, give a drop of the liquid to the child every five hours," the interested party wrote. And, added the letter, "there ain't no poison in pure rye whiskey after it has been burned."

Whiskey, according to Dr. Dafoe, is a favorite remedy advanced. But there are some who write dissenting letters, advising that "the use of spirits by girls of such tender age will start them on the downward path."

Shortly after the babies were born, Dr. Dafoe said, a beauty specialist had advised a special cream to be used for removing the wrinkles of premature babies. Most of the remedies advanced in the thousands of letters that continue to come in were, however, concerning the physical welfare of the children, he added.

Fans Get A Laugh At Printer's Slip

Wingham, Jan. 15.

ED. Stacey, editor of The Teeswater News did not know what all the consternation was about at first when people began calling him up. All of them were laughing and playfully mumbling something about 'hockey."

Then he looked up his article on a former Kincardine hockey player going to England. To his consternation he found that the linotype operator had made a mistake. The article read: "Murray Munro is starting on the forward line in a black coat with Persian lamb trimmings and black hat with matching accessories."

Once Teeming Shanghai-Nanking Delta Now Only Region Of Desolation

Shanghai, Jan. 15 (AP)

THE great delta between Shanghai and Nanking, where teeming millions once lived humble lives, was today a region of desolation.

The flight of civilians from the delta may go down in history as one of the greatest of migrations. Where these people have gone, no one can say. They just disappeared.

A survey of the region revealed an endless panorama of stricken communities, with acres of houses laid waste and unharvested crops rotting in nearby fields.

The only signs of life in most places were ghoulish dogs slinking through the ruins and, along the highways, Japanese troops moving to and from the battle front.

'Secret Of The World' Locked In Mind Dr. W. S. Mansfield Passes

Slough, Eng., Jan. 15 (CP)

DR. William Stanley Mansfield, who in 1860 offered the then Archbishop of Canterbury "the secret of the world" at a price of £50,000, died here recently. He was 96 years old.

His offer was refused and the doctor declared that the secret would die with him. He never divulged it.

A doctor of literature, he was in his youth a Roman Catholic priest and used to say that the secret was revealed to him in a dream after he had given up priesthood. Dr. Mansfield served in the French army during the Franco-Russian war and was in the siege of Paris. He was also on a British man-o-war at the bombardment of Alexandria.

Until within a few days of his death he regularly took a cold bath at six o'clock every morning. He said this was the first principle of good health.

GOLDS END WEEK SLIGHTLY WEAKER ON TORONTO MART

TORONTO, Jan. 15 (CP)—Selective gains in the week now closing more than counter-balanced the losses on Canadian stock markets. The gains were concentrated largely in the industrials, base metals and the western oils, leaving the golds moving in reverse.

Volume figures, starting with the new year, indicated traders were prepared to take a hopeful view of the market's immediate outlook but, despite occasion rallies and substantial outside buying in the senior yellow metal stocks, the price average for the group is now slightly under the level as at the close of December.

Individual advances have invariably encountered offerings in volume and in the last week heavy selling of the medium-price dividend prayers at price concessions featured the trade. The gold share index of the Toronto market is down for the week by 2.61 from 122.32 to 119.71. The standing at the close of December was 120.40.

Sharp declines in O'Brien and Pickle Crow marked the trade towards the week-end. O'Brien's annual report showing a decline of reserves of high-grade ore evidently was unexpected and holders offered stock in quantity. The price broke from $5.36 to close yesterday at $3.80 for a loss of $1.55. It sold as high as $18.25 in 1937.

Insiders Sellings?

Pickle Crow's 70-cent decline on Friday was unexplained by anything of an official nature. The company reports satisfactory conditions at the mine. Street rumors had it that "insiders" were selling stock, but there was no authoritative information on that point.

As in the previous week, the base metal leaders registered substantial gains, but these were trimmed as the week advanced. Consolidated Mining and Smelting held a net advance of $3.50, Noranda $3.50, International Nickel $2.10, and Hudson Bay $1. Cheaper issues of the group were less buoyant and they dropped the bulk of their gains when the market turned heavy. The silvers were mildly reactionary.

The tone of the western oils improved on Friday on the announcement of an increase of the proration rate for the producers in the Turner Valley.

Dullness marked the industrial share market.

Walkers Common anticipated the report showing increased earnings by advancing $1 and other sizeable gains were posted by Canada Cement, Imperial Oil, Westons Common and National Steel Car. Paper issues were a bit heavy, utilities irregular and the bank and food stocks were firm.

Track Driver's Face Badly Frostbitten

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, Jan. 15.—A young man from Nassau had a painful experience on Tuesday morning, when on a trip to Apsley in a truck his face was badly frostbitten. Nurse Finnemore of the Red Cross Hospital was called and after a considerable time her ministrations were successful in restoring circulation. The official reading of the temperature in Apsley that morning was 22 degrees below zero, the lowest figure this winter.

ABERHART CALLS ALBERTA COHORTS TO ECONOMIC WAR

CALGARY, Jan. 15 (C.P.). — "I am calling you into economic war," Premier William Aberhart told 1,200 members of the Alberta Social Credit League as he made the final address at the organization's second annual convention here.

"This is not child's play and we shall need more and more of this thing called 'esprit de corps,'" Mr. Aberhart said last night. "The world is watching Alberta."

The Social Credit Government was here "for good if the spirit that enlivens us is maintained." He said the old line parties were ruled out because of their past record.

"Our past defeats have been caused by indecision," he said. "We must stand loyally and steadfastly behind the Social Credit movement. I want loyalty to the movement, not to the man."

Hon. Solon Low, Provincial Treasurer, told the League members there was no possibility in the world to-day of any decrease in taxation while "we labor under the present financial system." The people had reached the limit of their tax-paying ability.

"The Provincial Government took steps to curb this financial tyranny," he said. "Is that a sin?"

Premier Aberhart had to save the people from ruin, Mr. Low said, and that was why the interest rates on Government bonds were reduced.

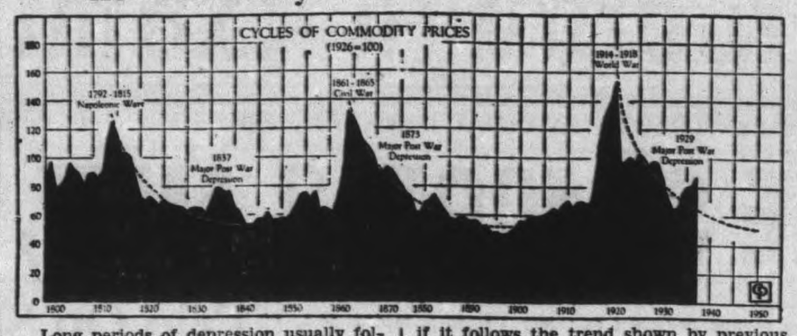
"Adjustments to the financial system must be made," he said. "The only solution of our problem is to issue our own purchasing power."

WITH ITALY, GERMANY

VIENNA, Jan. 15—(AP).—Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg in a newspaper article to-day made clear that Austria and Hungary have cast their lot with Italy and Germany.

Discussing the three-day conference in Budapest of the Foreign Ministers of Italy, Austria and Hungary, under provisions of the Rome protocols, Von Schuschnigg endorsed the German-Japanese-Italian accord to combat Communism, but indicated Austria's wish for reform of the League of Nations rather than to withdraw—as Italy, Germany, and Japan have done.

How Commodity Prices Re-acted After Wars



Long periods of depression usually follow devastating wars according to the graph shown (ABOVE). The figures, gathered by the Alexander Hamilton Institute, indicate the depression following the great war, will not reach its low until 1950, if it follows the trend shown by previous depressions. If history repeats itself as apparently depressions do, another war affecting the world at large should be expected by 1970. The war referred to from 1861-1865 is the American civil war.

SCOTTISH SOCIETY LOANS PAINTINGS

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 (CP). — The second exchange exhibit of paintings and water-colors from the Royal Scottish Society of Painters in water-colors containing 86 paintings by 50 artists was opened today for a two-weeks' show at the National Gallery.

Included in the personnel of the exhibition are such widely-known artists as A. E. Borthwick, Sir George Clausen, Keith Henderson, Martin Hardie, John Nicolson and H. Davis Richter.

Contrasting strongly with the sharply-defined ruggedness of landscape subject matter shown in the exchange exhibit from Canada which will be opened in Edinburgh in February by Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner to London, there is a mistiness in the Scottish portrayal of quiet scenes of country life.

Flower and still life studies are treated in old-world style. A smallness and daintiness is created in several of the etching-like scenes of fishing hamlets and market squares.

The environment, climate and ideals of the country have in turn influenced the artists' works and the characteristics of the Scottish people are noticeable in the paintings on display.

Coincidental with the opening of this exhibit is the arrival in Ottawa on Sunday of a team of Scottish curlers on a tour of Canada.

Following exhibition in Ottawa, the collection will be seen in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver, and will probably be shown in the Maritime Provinces before returning to Scotland.

George Thompson, 18, was given nine months definite and three months indefinite.

GOOD FOR ANOTHER 50

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 15—(CP).—After 50 years of wedding life, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Grubenville will again take wedding vows Sunday, in preparation, they say, for another 50 years together.

Mr. Grubenville is 74, his wife, 70, and they have seven children and nine grandchildren, all in the Windsor district. "I don't feel much older than the day I married," said Mr. Grubenville. "I expect to live longer than my father, who was 96 when he died."

THIEF STEALS MEDALS

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Jan. 15—(AP) — There were no medals to award winners in the annual pistol shoot of the Nebraska Sheriff's and Peace Officers' Association.

WALES BEATS ENGLAND 14-8.

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 15 (CP Cable)—playing in a gale before a crowd of 60,000, Wales today defeated England 14-8 in the initial international rugby match of the season. The victors scored one goal, two penalty goals and a try against the Englishmen's goal and try.

ELECTION NEAR?

SASKATOON, Jan. 15 (C.P.). — Large expenditures for highway development by the Saskatchewan Government indicate a provincial election before "seeding time" this spring, John G. Diefenbaker, Prince Albert, Provincial Conservative Leader, said last night in a press statement.

"Large expenditures for highway development have been promised in every constituency during recent weeks," he said.

The Liberal Government of Premier W. J. Patterson has not stated indication when it will call an election.

JUST A BUM

LONDON, Jan. 15 (CP Cable). — Stanislaw Zelichoski, 60, native of Poland, hastily denied in court today the accusation he might have been looking for work in London district.

"I'm not looking for work. I'm a bum," he said. He exhibited about $2 in five and 10-cent pieces, all rolled up tightly in a dirty cloth.

Provincial Constable L. L. Shipley brought him to court when he said the farmers of Caradoc Township complained about him sleeping in barns.

OBLIGING ROBBER

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 15—(AP)—Thanks to a "considerate" holdup man, gas station attendant Edward McDonald was able to continue business last night.

"I asked him to leave the coins in the register so I could make change for the customers," McDonald told police.

"He said okay,' took the bills only and ran out."

WHEAT HOLDS GAIN ON WINNIPEG PIT

WINNIPEG, Jan. 15 (CP)—Bears took over most of the authority in Winnipeg grain pit dealings this week but their efforts to cut 12-cent gains scored since the start of 1938 were blocked by various factors. Main obstacle to a price decline was light supply of Canadian wheat.

The small Canadian visible supply—less than 42,500,000 bushels of hard spring wheat at Jan. 7 compared to 109,000,000 a year ago—was ammunition for the steadying influence. As a result futures slumped only 3⅛-2⅛ cents compared with the previous six days.

May wound up this week Friday at $1.28¼, July $1.17½ and October $1.00½.

A dull side of the trade was export figures. Sales for the week were estimated at only 1,000,000 bushels, largely next October-November shipment.

Coarse grains eased in sympathy with wheat. Oats closed the week Friday 2-1⅝ cents lower, barley 1-1½; flax 2½ and rye ¼ cent below prices a week ago.

Half Paris Shown In 'Tovarich'

For a single brief film sequence, Warner Bros. studio constructed one of the largest and most complete sets ever built, a copy of the Belleville district in Paris. The set is for the opening sequence of "Tovarich," and appears on the screen for less than four minutes.

Designed by Art Director Anton Grot, it covers two acres and took four weeks to build. It shows a section of Paris heretofore ignored by the screen, the portion of the city in which the working class lives.

The setting is one of five pretentious ones constructed for the film. One set, showing the roof tops of Paris, covers an entire sound stage. Another, the market set, a copy of the French sidewalk markets, is two block long, and to "dress" it with produce, the studio had to purchase the entire stock of a wholesale vegetable concern for two days.

The fourth is a copy of the Famous Russian club in Paris and the fifth is a fine French home built on the largest sound stage at the studio.

"Tovarich" will be shown at the Capitol next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer are the stars.

CAR FROM ALASKA

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 15. — (CP).—Considerable comment was evoked here when a motor car bearing Alaska license plates appeared on the main street.

$4,000,000 RELIEF

TORONTO, Jan. 15 — Mayor Ralph Day announced today Toronto's 1938 relief bill would take $4,000,000 or between four and five mills of the 1938 tax rate.

Board of control members and government officials held a conference today as the city sought further provincial government assistance towards cost of direct relief.

GREAT FOR JEWELLERS

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Jan. 15. — (CP).—Jewellers here say they have been profiting by the sudden extremes of weather that have occurred this winter. Sharp changes of temperature cause sudden contraction or expansion of watch springs, often necessitating repairs.

Killed In Crash

When his flaming aeroplane plunged to the ground like a comet, near North Pinia, Ontario., Pilot J. H. McCoy, (ABOVE), was killed. McCoy, a pilot for General Airways, was flying from Hudson, Ont., to Sioux Lookout. North Pines is a deserted mining town 270 miles east of Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Jan. 15. — Winnipeg wheat traders virtually ignored continued unfavorable moisture reports in the United States south-west and watched futures dip more than 2c in listless dealings.

Disappointing export demand and absence of any general buying to offset scattered realizing sales following the large bulge in 1938 wheat futures left final quotations 2¾c-1⅞c off. Prices closed at the day's lowest levels.

Adverse spreading operations, involving sales of Winnipeg futures against purchases at Chicago provided bulk of the weight. Exporters, Continental interests and mills made only minor purchases. Sales of Canadian wheat for foreign account were placed at about 100,000 bushels.

No. 2 Northern cash wheat closed ½c lower. Demand was slow with spreads on other grades generally unchanged.

Routine coarse grain traded brought slight declines in all positions.

FAROUK IS HAILED LEADER OF ISLAM

CAIRO, Jan. 15 (CP-Havas). — Youthful King Farouk of Egypt was saluted today as "leader and head of Islam" and as "caliph" during a religious ceremony at the Mosque el Azphar.

Farouk attended the mosque after receiving the oath of allegiance from the army, represented by 2,500 picked officers and men.

During the religious ceremony the officiating Sheik Maraghi declared: "Moslems throughout the world regard one sovereign as their leader and the head of Islam." His words were greeted by shouts of "Long live the caliph!"

Because he wanted the army oath to be "King and constitution" the former premier, Mustafa Nahas Pasha, postponed the oath-taking. The premier later was dismissed because of this and other differences with the crown.

The oath taken today was to the king alone.

An amnesty was declared in connection with the forthcoming marriage of the king. All students imprisoned as a result of nationalist riots were affected.

The caliph formerly was the spiritual head of the Moslem world. From the 14th century down the Turkish sultans assumed the title. It was abolished by the new Turkey in 1922.

having seen a sign of the disabled ship. It was believed the signals were released by the crew of the yacht Liberty, owned by the estate of the late Lady Houston. The yacht is on its last voyage from Cowes to shipbreakers at Newport. Later it was learned it had put in at Brixham.

An empress nearing Crewe, Cheshire, struck signal posts topped by the gale. The locomotive was damaged.

Imperial Airways cancelled the Paris service. The liner Carinthia and the warships Glorious and Revenge postponed scheduled departures and remained at Liverpool.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James

THE BEAUTY OF THE LORD

Jesus said: "When He, the Spirit of Truth is come, He shall glorify Me."—St. John 16, 14.

What an astonishing statement from the lips of the lowly Christ. He is in the Upper Room in the presence of His own, a handful of men whose hearts are heavy as they sense the coming horror. His farewell though they know it not.

A few centuries earlier a similar group of men are listening with deep emotion to a great thinker before he drinks the cup of hemlock. But a greater than Socrates is speaking. He is to drink a more bitter cup, face a more cruel death. He is to undergo the agony of Gethsemane; the pain of betrayal of an Apostle; the fearful Roman scourging; to hear the multitudes howling for His blood: "Crucify Him, crucify Him". Later to go forth bearing his cross, wearing the crown of thorns and to die a shameful death on Calvary.

Where is glory in such a disaster? He, who is the truth, says calmly: "When He, the Spirit of Truth is come, He shall glorify Me; for He shall receive of Mine and shall shew it unto you."

We are face to face with the deep things of God; the revelation of God Himself to man. Our Lord came to reveal in His life of love, gentleness, goodness, tenderness, compassion the character of the Father. "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.." I am just like my Father. He came to answer the child's question: "What is God like?" The men of His generation were not able to bear it or to understand how God could be a God of gentleness, humility and self sacrifice. It was beyond their expectations and imaginations. It is so today with multitudes.

In due time, after His death, resurrection and ascension, the Holy Spirit was poured out upon a small band of men and women. His work is to enable the Apostles, who had been with Him for three years, to overcome their prejudices and false expectations of the Messiah and to see Him as "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sins of the world." Their inward eyes are to be opened by the Spirit to see the glory of Christ's self sacrifice and to learn the hardest truth that Jesus of Nazareth is the Messiah for all men, both Jew and Gentile. You have only to read the Acts of the Apostles to realize how bitter this thought was to the Jew, even to St. Peter when he came to baptize Cornelius, the Roman officer. It was a horror to the Jew to think that God had any other desire but to punish the Gentile, who was of inferior blood to him, as he thought. So it is today. It is unthinkable to the Jew that Jesus of Nazareth is the Messiah, the Christ of every man, the Catholic Christ, the universal Christ.

Have you seen anything of His glory? It is the work of the Holy Spirit to open your eyes to see the beauty, the loveliness of the character of Jesus Christ. The great dictators of today are admired and followed by multitudes. Their appeal is to force, and those who oppose face the firing squad, the blood purge, the secret police, the midnight arrest.

We believe the Bible as it now stands does not need any other interpretation than that which facts, history and experience accord. The Bible carries information not otherwise possessed by humanity, and which must have had a source higher than humanity because its scope is wider than the sum total of unaided human knowledge. For instance, the Bible contains knowledge of the past before human history began, and knowledge of the future to which humanity has not yet attained but is from day to day attaining. We accept it in its spiritual revelations; in its contacts with natural science and history; and in its prophetic dealing with the future. We take the Bible to be what the Prayer Book assures us it is, namely, "the Word of God Written."

The Bible deals with Israel as a continuous national entity, from Sinai to the end of the world.

The Bible deals with Judah as a separate national entity, from its organizaion as a kingdom under David to the coming again of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The Bible deals with the Continental Empires and nations, from the granting of the Imperial Charter to Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon and to his successors right down to that time indicated by Daniel, of which he said: "I beheld till the thrones were cast down . . ." (Dan vii, 9). Many Scriptures show this to have been the ending of the Babylon succession, which took place in A.D. 1918, 2520 years after the granting of the Great Babylon Charter.

We see that these three participants in world history have been the chief actors on the stage. They have so monopolized the activities of world history that what has taken place outside of their scope has scarcely been worth the telling.

Bible prophecy and secular history are now merged into one.

This is within the scope of our faith. What objection has any churchman of any denomination to make to the facts here given, and on what grounds can such objection be raised? Surely every Bible reader must know the truth of that which we have just stated. If not he can easily verify the truth.

Have you seen someone living the unselfish life, thinking only of others, then you have been privileged to see a partial fulfillment of this statement: "He shall glorify Me." You eyes have had a glimpse of "the King in His beauty." It is the most glorious sight in this world to see the beauty of the Lord in the face of some plain man or woman. Your eyes have beheld what many prophets and kings have desired to see and have not seen.

"LET THE BEAUTY OF THE LORD OUR GOD BE UPON US"

A National Message

We (British-Israel believers) accept the Bible as it stands We are quite aware of the various approaches to the Bible and of the various criticisms to which it has been subjected. We do not speak in ignorance of these things, but rather with the full knowledge of them as men who have been over the ground again and again for many years past. Our approach to the Bible is an intelligent one. Our acceptance of the Bible is confirmed by facts beyond counting. It is our considered opinion that with the facts in hand which we possess, it is impossible to do otherwise than accept the great, sequent, even consequent, development of facts and truth as it is presented in Holy Writ.

We believe the Bible as it now stands does not need any other interpretation than that which facts, history and experience accord. The Bible carries information not otherwise possessed by humanity, and which must have had a source higher than humanity because its scope is wider than the sum total of unaided human knowledge. For instance, the Bible contains knowledge of the past before human history began, and knowledge of the future to which humanity has not yet attained but is from day to day attaining. We accept it in its spiritual revelations; in its contacts with natural science and history; and in its prophetic dealing with the future. We take the Bible to be what the Prayer Book assures us it is, namely, "the Word of God Written."

The Bible deals with Israel as a continuous national entity, from Sinai to the end of the world.

The Bible deals with Judah as a separate national entity, from its organizaion as a kingdom under David to the coming again of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The Bible deals with the Continental Empires and nations, from the granting of the Imperial Charter to Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon and to his successors right down to that time indicated by Daniel, of which he said: "I beheld till the thrones were cast down . . ." (Dan vii, 9). Many Scriptures show this to have been the ending of the Babylon succession, which took place in A.D. 1918, 2520 years after the granting of the Great Babylon Charter.

We see that these three participants in world history have been the chief actors on the stage. They have so monopolized the activities of world history that what has taken place outside of their scope has scarcely been worth the telling.

This is within the scope of our faith. What objection has any churchman of any denomination to make to the facts here given, and on what grounds can such objection be raised? Surely every Bible reader must know the truth of that which we have just stated. If not he can easily verify the truth.

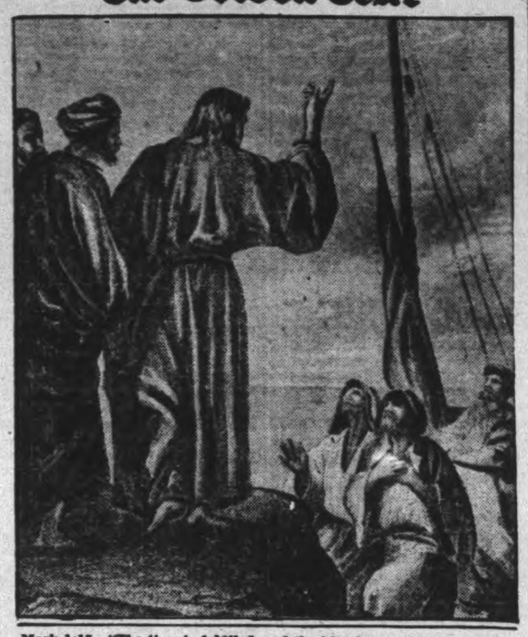
The Golden Text



Mark 1:15—"The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe in the gospel."

Beginning a Life of Service

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Jan. 16 is Mark 1:14-28, the Golden Text being Mark 1:15, "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe in the gospel.")

"God Buries the workmen, but he carries forward the work." "Now after John was delivered up, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of God." For a year Jesus had been busy at his ministry in Judaea. This has been called "the year of obscurity." Its record, found only in John 1:19-4:42, belongs between verses 13 and 14 of Mark's first chapter, where Mark begins his account of "the year of popularity," of Jesus' Galilean ministry. As John goes, Jesus comes. Both have their part in the plan of God. It is something for us to remember when death removes our loved ones. Let us then look for Jesus as he "comes preaching the gospel of God." It was a grief-burdened, sin-cursed world into which Jesus came, bringing as God's remedy for all humanity's needs nothing but "the gospel of God." What confidence he had in the power of that gospel, to remake a troubled world: "Jesus came preaching the gospel of God, and saying, The time is fulfilled and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe in the gospel."

Authority in Realm of Devotion

One word stands out in this lesson as expressing the impression Jesus made by his words and works; it is the word "authority." "He taught them as having authority" and "with authority he commandeth even the unclean spirits, and they obey him." He wielded this same authority in the realm of human devotion wherever men opened their hearts to his love. "Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men. And straightway they left the nets, and followed him." Thus Simon Peter and Andrew yielded to the winsome authority of his loving appeal. "And going on a little further, he saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother. . . . And straightway he called them: and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after him." How far? James to the scaffold in Jerusalem; Peter to the cross in Rome; John to exile in Patmos! And what colossal characters he made these plain fishermen to become. Never would they have boasted that they were "self-made men"! Their Master literally "made them to become" all they ever were.

Authority in Doctrine

"And they go into Capernaum; and straightway on the sabbath day he entered into the synagogue and taught. And they were astonished at his teaching: for he taught them as having authority, and not as the scribes." He was not mouthing over the teaching of other teachers of whom he learned. "Verily, verily, I say unto you," was the keynote of his authority as he taught the people about God and heaven. He spoke with the same authority as he addressed the realm of demons: "Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And the unclean spirit, tearing him and crying with a loud voice came out of him. And they were all amazed, .. saying, What is this? A new teaching! With authority he commandeth even the unclean spirits, and they obey him!" Are we yielding to his benificent authority as he says to us, "Repent ye, and believe!"

Britain has a shortage of good sea cooks.

Women Can Be Pastor's Chief Aid

The service in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday morning will have special reference to the work of the Women's Association. Mrs. E. W. Rowland, president of the Peterborough Presbytery convention for this organization, will assist the pastor in the service.

At the recent convention in this city, a Lindsay delegate said: "What the mother is in the home, the Women's Association is in the church." This is literally true. A well-organized association exercises every function in the church that the matter does in the home.

The Women's Association is the pastor's chief aid, it can assist him even to a greater degree than the session.

Students of the New Testament have noted the fact that not one woman mentioned in its pages lifted up her voice against Jesus Christ, they were unanimously on His side. Some women of today, whilst they may not openly oppose Him, may by frivolous, secular, living crucify the Son of God afresh, and put Him to an open shame.

Amazing reports of the sanctified industry of women in the churches have appeared in The Examiner's columns during recent months. Certainly 'the revolt of women' in this county has not extended into the Christian church.

Every office in the United Church of Canada is open to women on the same terms as they are open to men. A woman may be a member of any of the church courts: the session, committee of stewards, official board, presbytery, conference, the general council and even the office of the Christian ministry all welcome women as members.

The evening service in St. Andrew's Church will be cancelled next Sunday in order to enable the members to attend the anniversary service in Trinity Church, at which Rev. G. R. Cragg, M.A., editor of the New Outlook, will be the preacher.

The Human Side Of The News

BY EDWIN C. HILL

There is a forgotten country, nearly two-thirds the size of the United States, with a big, highly trained, well - disciplined army equipped to the limit with ultra-modern, motorized fighting machinery, poised and ready for a drive against Japan. This is the news brought to me by a friend back from Outer Mongolia, one of the few white men ever to penetrate this ancient tribal kingdom, encysted in the modern world and locked and barred against it since the days of Genghis Khan. Russia has kept it on ice and put it in fighting trim, and the big, tough, shaggy Mongols are spoiling for a fight—with machine guns, flame-throwers, aeroplanes and all other known fighting tools, clear down to brass knuckles.

For reasons which my friend explained, Soviet Russia can send this army against this objective or that, just like a pool player calling his shots. And just now the cue, or more literally the gun, is levelled at Japan. Our newspapers have printed only vague allusions and conjectures about it. It looks like news, as we view the world dogfight and nurse our chances, if we are sensible, of remaining just railbirds. Here's my friend's story:

"In all the centuries before the Chinese revolution in 1911, Mongolia had never been invaded or conquered, except by a religion, Lamaism, in the sixteenth century. The entire country, rulers and ruled, was one vast theocracy, with a mystic religious unity grafted on a primitive stem. That makes demonic fighting men.

"The new Chinese republic, feeling the pressure of over-population, moved on Mongolia and started letting hungry hordes into that country. The nomads swarmed to the border. There was a year of savage fighting, and Mongolia was swept clear of Chinese.

"In 1912, czarist Russia recognized it as an autonomous state, under the triparite rule of China, Russia and Outer Mongolia. The putative ruler was the Lama, in the ancient capital of Urga, now Ulan Bator Khoto, today the stronghold of Red power in Central Asia. They acknowledged only the Living Buddha as their emperor and prince.

"This lasted until 1919, when, with the Reds busy with their own troubles, China sent in an invading army under General Hsu. They repulsed the Chinese, but in 1921, armies of White Russian troops drove in under the German General von Ungern-Sternber. The mongols joined them, to repel a new wave of Chinese troops. Of an army of 200,000 invading Chinese only 200 returned.

"In 1923 the Soviet troops drove out the White Russians, and the Reds made a shrewd deal with the rising young Mongols and their Lamaist rulers. They agreed to keep their hands off their religion; they allowed a capitalistic economy; they financed agriculture and the general rebuilding of the country; they sent in experts and technicians to build an Outer Mongolian army.

"At this time the Reds were starting their organizing and propaganda drive in China, under Borodin. In furtherance of this, they allowed the treaty of 1912 to continue, by which Outer Mongolia was under Chinese suzerainty, but also under a Russian protectorate. That is an exceedingly important consideration at this moment. Under international law, the country is a part of China and can be mobilized against Japan.

"The question arises as to why a self-sustaining country with so formidable an army should be so ready to do the bidding of the Reds. The answer lies in the fact that the Soviets have swung away over to the right in Outer Mongolia, have imposed on the country none of their communistic ideas, and have supplied them with money, materials and technicians to use in their own way.

"The result has been that Outer Mongolia has been more than redressing its balance of trade with Russia. They ship vast quantities of camel and sheep wool, cattle, hides and agricultural commodities into Russia. It has more than paid for its army, its motorized equipment and the fleet of 300 aeroplanes. It is still a nomad country. Ninety-five per cent. of the people live in tents. A man with 5,000 to 8,000 camels, or from 10,000 to 15,000 horses, is not particularly rich.

A TYPICAL MONGOL

"The average Mongolian can ride five or six horses to death at one stretch, if he's out on a fight or a frolic. When a baby boy is two years old, they strap him on a horse and turn it loose on the Gobi desert. Many of these children die of exposure. They take that for granted. Those who survive are just about the hardiest citizens on the planet. A temperature of 45 degrees below zero is not unusual. They don't seem to mind it.

"The highly trained disciplined and thoroughly equipped main body of their army comrises about 250,000 men. Additional troops, trained and available but not completely equipped, bring the total up to around 500,000. You can put it down as a prophecy from me that this fighting force will be thrown into the north China fracas when and if it becomes clear that Japan is driving at Soviet Russia, possibly sooner.

"The shadow of this army falls across one of the most vulnerable points on the trans-Siberian railway. The country, in addition to its agricultural resources, is rich in deposits of tungsten, silver and iridium. It is one of the great producing areas of sable furs. This, I believe, is Japan's hardest nut to crack. Watch Outer Mongolia as a world power focus of the utmost importance."

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

In the cruel and superstitious period of the Dark and Middle Ages, the seekers and the custodians of truth had, by necessity, to disguise their real aims. Hence outwardly, they professed to be in search of the "Philosopher's Stone," and the secret of transmutation of base metals into gold. Protected to a certain extent by the avarice and cupidity of those in authority, they framed their teachings in the jargon of the alchemists. Not that transmutation is impossible or that in some instances it was not accomplished. Modern science has in recent years rediscovered the fact that chemical elements may be changed, one into another. But the real transmutation is, and always has been, the transmutation of the base metal of the earthly man into the royal gold of the celestial man. The real "Philosopher's Stone" is the spirit of the Christ whose healing touch accomplishes that miraculous change. Nonetheless all through this age of bigotry and intolerance in which even the mere suspicion of liberality of though was equivalent to a sentence to death, torture or imprisonment, these patient workers toiled in their sanctums and laboratories, delving into the "why" of things, and reaching new heights of inspiration based upon the ancient teachings. They kept in sacred trust the light handed down throughout the ages. The knowledge of the constitution of things; the knowledge that is, primarily, a spiritual being, the image and likeness of his Maker; that God is in reality nearer to us than our own hands and feet. That He is a God of Love, the very quint essence of Love, and that the finding of the Kingdom of Heaven in reality and truth is the supreme quest of man. In short, they kept alive, in allegory and symbol, the great truths handed down from the beginning. The truths that were taught in Egypt, in India, in Greece, in Persia, in the schools of the prophets in Palestine. The truths that were later enunciated by the Therapeuti of Greece; by the great brotherhood of the Essenes of Judea, whose habit the Master wore. The truths that He taught and demonstrated in His life and ministry. The truths that have been erroneously regarded as impractical and visionary by the worldly wise. The truth that is beyond creedal or doctrinal difference because it is founded upon the basic mutual relationship of God and man, of Father and child. It is well to meditate, slowly and carefully, upon the Lord's Prayer, weighing each word, each sentence and phrase so that the real meaning will sink into our hearts and consciousness. It will appear to us in a new light, no longer will it be a mere formula heedlessly repeated, but the clear and vital thing it really is. There is but One Life and the more we bring ourselves into harmony of purpose with that Life, the more we will approach the realization and knowledge of the Kingdom of Heaven.

SHAVES DEATH

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 15. —(CP).—A mystery motorist crashed through the guard gates of a level crossing here, missed the oncoming Canadian National Railways train by a matter of inches, switched off his lights so the watchman couldn't get his license number, and disappeared. The guard gates were smashed but apparently the car suffered only slight damage.

Beginning a Life of Service — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 1:14-28.

After John the Baptist had been beheaded Jesus left Judea and came into Galilee where he taught great crowds during the second year of his ministry.

At the Sea of Galilee he again met Peter, Andrew, James and John whom he first saw a year before at their work as fishermen. He called them to follow him and they became his apostles.

In the city of Capernaum he taught in the synagogue. The people were astonished at his teaching: "For he taught them as having authority, and not as the scribes."

Here also he found a man afflicted with an evil spirit, which Jesus cast out to the amazement of all the people. (GOLDEN TEXT—Mark 1:15.)

A Magnificent Gift

"Magnificent" seems to be the only adjective to describe properly the gift by Harold A. Morrow of the Exhibition grounds to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. The virtual handing over of this very fine piece of property to the Exhibition Board so long as an annual exhibition is carried on, to be turned over to the corporation of the city of Peterborough for park purposes should the Exhibition itself pass into history, is one of the most generous donations that has ever been made by a Peterborough citizen.

For many years the Exhibition has been indebted to Mr. Morrow and before him to his father, the late R. A. Morrow, for the very generous assistance that has been accorded the annual fair, assistance without which the event could never have been carried on. The Exhibition grounds could long since have been divided up into building lots and sold at profitable prices but through the years Mr. Morrow has kept the splendid property intact so that it would be available for use for Exhibition purposes and has rented it to the board at practically a nominal figure.

Now he has capped that generosity by this freewill offering that makes the splendid Exhibition grounds a community asset for all time, providing the Exhibition Board with a permanent site and adding a most admirable park to the city's system.

With characteristic modesty and reluctant to occupy even momentarily a position that might suggest the limelight, Mr. Morrow would have preferred to have made his most generous gift secretly, turning over the property without any publicity. However, such a public-spirited gesture could not be allowed to pass without public recognition of the magnitude of the offering that has been made, nor could the Examiner refrain from attempting to express, albeit in a lame and halting way, the sense of gratitude that exists throughout the community at the knowledge of the generous gift made by Mr. Morrow.

Its immediate effect should be, of course, to encourage the directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition to redouble their efforts to make this a greater and more worthwhile exhibition. With the grounds permanently available, it will be possible to plan additions to the Exhibition plant of a lasting nature and out of this splendid donation may come buildings that will be an asset to the community.

At the same time Mr. Morrow's gift has now left in public hands the third of Peterborough's trio of athletic grounds. At one time only Nicholls' Oval was publicly owned; later Riverside Park was purchased by the city and now Exhibition Park—henceforth to be fittingly known as R. A. Morrow Park—has been added to the list of publicly controlled recreation grounds.

Should Have 1,000 Members

One of the encouraging features in connection with the annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society is the fact that this organization which has contributed so much toward making Peterborough a more beautiful city, was able to announce an increase in membership during last year of 49 members.

The gain is not sensational, but at least it is encouraging.

The Examiner has always been of the opinion that in a community like this, a people of home-lovers, of beautiful gardens and lawns, and attractive surroundings everywhere, such an organization as the Horticultural Society should have a membership of at least one thousand people.

From a purely selfish viewpoint, the benefits it offers its members represent a monetary value far above the cost of the annual fee and in addition to this personal gain, membership provides an opportunity for community service, for participation in a movement that owes its existence to a common desire to make this a brighter and a more attractive place.

The Horticultural Society in planning its "horticultural drive" through the city, and in the support that it has given every effort to improve local conditions from an aesthetic viewpoint, has been a powerful force and its influence would be felt all the more if its membership could be stepped up to the level such a worthwhile organization merits. One of the objectives that re-elected President John A. Smith and his fellow officers will doubtless set before them as a goal to be obtained during 1938 will be the enlistment of a flock of new members.

A Record Year

Heartened by the splendid gift of the Exhibition grounds to them and by the knowledge that from a financial viewpoint last year's Exhibition was about the most successful in the history of the organization the directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition were naturally in an enthusiastic mood at their annual meeting.

A surplus of around $5,000 despite the fact that a series of thunderstorms was encountered during fair week was indeed a most gratifying showing, indicating that the Peterborough Industrial has sold itself to the people of the whole district to such an extent that this year new attendance records can be looked forward to with ordinary luck in the matter of weather.

The grounds were greatly improved last year and the directors can now take up the task of completing arrangements for the 1938 program confident in the knowledge that the plant is in good shape.

The re-election of President Tom Brown was a recognition of the enthusiasm and energy with which he has discharged the duties of his responsible position and a guarantee that there will be no slacking off in driving force or enthusiasm during the present year.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition has had its lean years; its discouraging periods but difficulties have always been faced bravely, even optimistically, and the courage that was displayed in those trying times is apparently having its reward now when the Exhibition seems to have struck cmooth sailing and is bowling along merrily with a favorable wind at its back.

No Occasion For Alarm

Rural electors of North Monaghan, aroused over the result of the recent municipal election which left the township council, 80 per cent suburban in its personnel, have been busily engaged in discussing the advisability of seceding from the township, by divorcing the rural end of North Monaghan from the area bordering on the city.

We have the impression, however, that this movement will die a natural death and that the farmer ratepayers will probably find that although four of the five members of council hang up their hats in hallways in the suburban district, there is no intention of driving the farmers off their property or taking any unfair advantage of the situation.

As a matter of fact the suburban districts had the balance of power in last year's council and nothing happened then to justify any great amount of apprehensions as to the devolpments likely to take place during 1938.

The same condition often arises within the city of Peterborough. Ashburnham has been without a representative on a number of occasions and as a matter of fact this year's council is made up for the most part of residents of the west ward.

The extreme south has no voice in council deliberations and the populous North ward hasn't a single alderman around the circle. And yet the south expects to get as much attention as any other part of the city and the folk in the north are not worrying over the likilihood that their interests will be neglected because most of the council live out west. There has not been the slightest sign of a move to have the north secede or the south slip across Lansdowne Street and hook up forces with North Monaghan.

Making The Safe Safer

The report of the robbing of a safe in an Ontario city contains this: "The safe was in the office at the rear of the store, where the robbers could work without fear of detection." There is nothing unusual about that as we can think of a number of places where the safe or vault is in a similar position. With the doors closed and blinds drawn such offices would make ideal spots for burglars to operate.

There are stores of newer construction where the safe is placed right up at the front of the premises in full view of the outside window and a light is burning near it. The street lights also aid in making the interior of the store visible by night, especially at the front. Policemen or pedestrians passing the place would be certain to notice if any person entered the premises for the purpose of attacking the safe. For that reason it can be seen that there is considerable to be said in favor of the new idea of having the safe or vault in full view of the street.

Would Have Changed Things

Twenty years ago A. A. McIntyre, then an alderman, introduced a notice of motion at the meeting of the Peterborough city council, which if it had been followed up and acted upon by the Legislature toward whom the matter was to be directed, would have revolutionized municipal elections in Peterborough—and generally throughout the provinces.

Mr. McIntyre would have had the Legislature petitioned for legislation that would have forbidden any candidate for municipal office soliciting votes.

Furthermore he wanted to prevent any candidate from transporting electors to the polls and finally he would have had a law passed that would make it compulsory for electors to use their franchise.

There was a lot in that election program of twenty years ago to commend it to the serious consideration of the government and of municipal authorities.

There has always been a school of political thought favoring compulsory voting, its advocates claiming that a law to that effect would produce a larger expression of public opinion and at the same time materially reduce the cost of elections so far as the candidates are concerned. Opposed to the scheme on the other hand, have been those who claimed with some truth that the votes of folk who only exercised their franchise when they were compelled to would be of little real value and moreover that although it might be possible to compel people to go to the polling booth there was nothing to prevent them turning in spoiled ballots when they got there.

Anyway the McIntyre motion of 1918 seems to have disappeared into the limbo of forgotten things, where so many municipal resolutions disappear. At least nothing more has been heard of it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Premier Duplessis is merely emphasizing the fact that Quebec wants what it wants when it has it.

Safety is the responsibility of all says a heading over an editorial. The trouble with most of us is that we seem to be willing to let George do it.

Niagara fruit-growers are protesting against the importation of canned Australian peaches. And thus the cause of Empire trade is stimulated.

The Governor of Barbadoes has been transferred to the governorship of Tanganyika. The officials in the British service certainly get around a lot.

Church organizations in Toronto have asked for the dismissal of Liquor Control Commissioner Odette but we have an idea Premier Hepburn will simply take the communication as read.

It is announced from New York that there are to be no cuts in the salaries of the Yankees this season and what we are trying to figure out is who thought that story was news.

A Scot has arrived at New York ready to hike 25,000 miles through the United States and Canada. He'll have to have a lot of luck to cover that distance on foot.

Provincial mining schools are becoming the vogue but what is really needed is a school where sales resistance against brokers of mining stock can be taught.

When even the Ontario Appeal Court cannot agree upon the pronunciation of the word "tomato" there is no use of the rest of us worrying about how to say it.

Oshawa's building permits last year were higher than any year since 1929. At that they only totalled $218,000, which would seem rather small compared to some figures of the pre-depression years.

The great war is still being fought. Colonel C. G. Porter of Montreal is dead and the news stories say his passing was due to injuries received in the world conflict.

Two of Stalin's lieutenants have been placed in charge of both Houses of the Soviet Parliament, and not a voice was raised in opposition. The members have a commendable desire to remain healthy, it would seem.

Two Western Mennonites refuse to accept farm bonuses because they are afraid it might involve them in war. And here we have young men who do not want to be put on the voters' list because that might result in bills for their poll tax.

Vice-chairman Houck of the Ontario Hydro Commission says that danger of power shortage has been eliminated by the new power contracts. It's all very bewildering when we remember that last fall we were being told from every platform that there was no danger of a shortage.

AND YET I WORK

(By A. R. K.)

¶ When I was old enough for school, I tried to learn each written rule, I studied and I read; I learned to do my sums and stuff, and later on found harder stuff, I parked it in my head.

¶ And all the teachers that I had, when I was but a little lad, they had one thing to say; there was one way I could succeed, and keep myself from being in need, I'd have to work each day.

¶ In later years I kept ten cows, and likewise owned six fatted sows, and I worked hard each day; I grew mixed grain and hoed the corn, I labored from the start of morn, and chopped down fields of hay.

¶ But all the other men I knew had crops the same as what I grew, and they had cows and swine; there was so much of pork and cream, that I could hardly earn a bean, I worried all the time.

¶ A hot dog stand might thrive and pay, for tourists passed my place each day, I built one in the lane; before I started making sales, my neighbors all got boards and nails, and they all did the same.

¶ There are too many fatted sows, there are too many brindle cows, they're thick as seashore sands; there are too many pounds of beef, there are too many on relief—too many hot dog stands.

You may find it HERE

IN SPITE of some fishermen's tales we are told by men who study fish that the speckled trout rarely weights more than eight pounds, even if it may live to the ripe old age of fifteen summers.

✧ ✧ ✧

If we make believe that all speckled trout weigh this much, then last year over 900,000 fish were caught—at least the Fisheries Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports that number was caught and landed for marketing. Of course there is no way of knowing about the ones that were caught and not landed nor how many went the way of all fish caught by big boys and little boys. The year before over 800,000 were caught and marketed.

✧ ✧ ✧

At this rate of depletion, the mother fish would be kept very busy raising a family to keep speckled trout from becoming extinct. However human beings are realizing the value of keeping the brooks and streams supplied with trout and piscatorial nurseries are established throughout the provinces by the provincial governments.

✧ ✧ ✧

In these nurseries the eggs are gathered about the fifteenth of October and remain during the winter in small black troughs where the spring water never freezes. Hatching takes place in March and in May the small fry are playing about in the cement tanks. During the first few months 650,000 little fish can eat every week 2,000 pounds of beef liver, served finely ground, three times a day. By September or October the fish are big enough to be transferred into public and private lakes and stream.

✧ ✧ ✧

One or two interesting events take place in the nurseries. First, the weekly tonic salt bath which keeps the fish's skin free from disease and second, marking of the trout by removing the right front fin. For this event, the fish are immersed, a few at a time, in an anaesthetic solution while the operation is being performed.

Canadian Tomatoes.

IN READING over a report supplied by the trade commissioners in England to the Department of Trade and Commerce regarding the market there for Canadian canned goods, it is interesting to note that "the flavor of Canadian tomatoes is well liked and the extra juice contained in the tin is very popular with a certain section of the public in the North of England, especially the miners." And again "tomatoe juice is very gradually increasing in demand but as yet it is only rarely seen on hotel or restaurant menus in the West of England. In some hotels it is more frequently found in the bar than in the dining-room."

✧ ✧ ✧

Tomatoes are having a time of their own in England. Spain at one time supplied England's market with considerable quantities and when this source was curtailed by the war, the Canadian tomato came to the fore. Now the Italian packers are making a determined effort to capture the English trade. Although the Italian tomato is considered by some superior to the Spanish variety, the Canadian pack has a fine flavor and brokers are of the opinion that the increased business that has been done in Canadian tomatoes is not solely dependent on the difficulties in Europe.

✧ ✧ ✧

As for tomato products, several of the internationally known packing firms which supply this market from domestic or United States plants have their tomato products put up in Canada. This includes, in addition to Canned tomatoes, tomato juice, catsup, chili sauce and soup.

✧ ✧ ✧

Imperial Russia used to claim that Saint Andrew preached the Gospel there and Peter the Great founded the Russian Order of St. Andrew, the highest in Russia of the Czars. However the U. S. S. R. pays no attention to St. Andrew today.

It is obviously true that most Canadians work to live. Almost thirty per cent. of what they earn is spent on food, fifteen per cent. more on the maintenance of the home and eight per cent. on clothing. Considerably more than half of what Canadian workers earn is expended on these three items alone.

About the Topaz.

THERE IS A legend about the topaz, told by Pliny that suggests that the name came from the word "topazein", meaning "to seek" because the first locality in which the jewel was found was an island, Topazas in the Red Sea which was often surrounded by fog and difficult for sailors to find.

✧ ✧ ✧

Contrary to the general idea, topaz is usually colorless or very pale in shade. Yellow hues of different degrees, from pale to a bright sherry tint, are common, as are pale blue and pale green stones. The brownish-yellow stones from Brazil are altered to a lovely rose-pink by heating. The red, green, rose, pink, and violet topaz are very rare when found in their natural color.

✧ ✧ ✧

The topaz has a rare velvety body appearance which fascinates its admirers and its wide range of pale colors offers a charming selection. When highly polished it has a slippery feeling and when rubbed has the ability—like amber—to pick up pieces of paper. These qualities assist in determining the genuineness of the gem.

✧ ✧ ✧

Brazil is the principal source of topaz while yellow and colorless stones are found in Ceylon. Fine blue stones come from Russia and California. Some of the less important sources are Scotland, Ireland Australia, Japan and Mexico.

✧ ✧ ✧

According to the Exterfial Trade Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Canadian imports of precious stones increased over $12,000 in 1936

SHALL CHRISTIANITY PERISH

Editor Examiner:

Sir: There can be no denying it that a large number of the Christian ministry followed by a very large number of the laity have abandoned Christianity as it has hitherto been believed and preached. The laity seem to be drifting to Rosicrucianism which is merely a form of mysticism or wonder affording those who disbelieve in a positive divine revelation, a way out and into a wilderness of guesswork and perfectly useless speculation. The idea of the future Christian life vanishes as does belief in the fatherhood of God and all that goes to make up that hope for the future without which life is a blank and cheerless desert. Just about 30 years ago to the day the methodist ministry in general conference at Sarnia declared it impossible for them longer to believe in the atonement. This revolutionary move would have then been adopted as the faith of the methodist body had it not been for the laity who declared strongly against it. It is therefore no new thing that an attack should be made upon the old faith. The substitution of Rosicrucianism and similiar cults to so great an extent as it already exists amongst former Christians and officers of churches is the main theme of the George St. Forum at whose meetings the Christian religion is now no longer I understand even mentioned. If these good people are allowed to seize the churches and turn them away from their original purpose it will be a final blow to that faith without which there can be no hope in the world. And what of the young people?

A PAT ON THE BACK

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Presuming an Editor as well as anyone else does not mind a word of encouragement or appreciation I am writing this, I do not think there is another woman who reads the Examiner more thoroughly than I, perhaps I have more time. I like the editorial page especially—I was much interested in the piece, in last night's paper on birth career, etc., of Sir Hon. J. A. McDonald—Called the "Father Of Confederation." I have an oil portrait of him, painted by my late husband, which still hangs in my home, though I am no politician, I may perhaps, be a little bit "Clannish" as I am of Scotch, Nova Scotian and English ancestry. I have a coin "Confederation" on it, very much thicker than our cents and has two profile faces on one side, I am wondering if it was coined at time of Confederation, medals were given schools at Coronation time, perhaps these the same way.

Then again the piece about Hong Kong, gave me a lot of information as to territory, history and description, etc., of which I was ignorant and that reminded me of two Hong Kong coins I have and on the subject of coins, I was much pleased to read the letter from Mr. B. I am no collector but have some coins older than some mentioned in other items by others as "Nova Scotia, Georgius," etc., also some of Prince Edward Island (where I was born).

Labor Patronage Appears in Oshawa

Unusual Shake-up in Various Civic Boards Following U.A.W.A. Victory in Recent Elections

(From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

ALLUSION WAS made in these columns some time ago to the extraordinary continuity of service which is characteristic of appointive civic boards. As their terms expire, the members are named once more by the elected bodies—councils and school boards—changes being quite unusual. Thus, except for the ex officio membership of the mayor in certain cases, the personnel of library board, parks board, board of health, housing commission and so on may continue unaltered for an amazing length of time. These bodies, not directly responsible to the electors, handle a great deal of the municipality's money. As the tendency is against substitutions,it is important that selection be made with care when the occasional new appointment does come up. The council or other appointing body is acting on behalf of the electors, who have no voice directly in the matter, and should endeavor to consult the public interest to the exclusion of personal considerations. No doubt this is done as a general rule, and one rarely hears criticism of the service rendered by citizens on these appointed and unpaid boards.

An unusual shake-up has taken place in Oshawa, where a majority of Labor men were elected to city council, and The Times is inclined to protest some of the changes made. Defeated Labor candidates have been named to the library board, board of health, welfare board and housing commission. At least seven citizens of long and distinguished service have been superseded by nominees of the Labor majority in council. In the case of an appointment to the housing commission, Mayor McLeese broke a tie and decided in favor of a new man.

The Times concedes that "dead wood" has a way of accumulating on civic bodies through repeated reappointments, but it feels that the men ousted at this time have given capable service. The fact that the paper protests against the appointment of so many "new and untried" men seems to indicate that it is not impressed by their qualifications. Indeed, the scope of the changes made would seem to confirm a suspicion that the appointments are made less through any dissatisfaction with personnel of these boards than a desire to do something for candidates who ran unsuccessfully on the same slate. That the electors rejected these candidates is scarcely, however, a weighty recommendation for their arbitrary appointment to positions in which they will administer certain phases of the city's affairs.

The situation directs attention to the wisdom of three-year appointments, which applies to a number of the Oshawa boards and to some in all municipalities. Only a minority of the members are appointed in any one year. The new members have time to get acquainted with the work, and as a majority of those with long service remain in any event, changes in policy are unlikely to be either sudden or drastic. If the new members, in a shake-up such as at Oshawa, find themselves unable to do things they believe should be done, they can always resort to publicity, and seek to enlist public opinion.

A Million To Improve Journalism

Widow of Founder of Milwaukee Journal Bequeaths Sum to Harvard For This Purpose

(From the New York Times.)

MRS. NIEMAN, widow of the founder of the Milwaukee Journal, bequeathed a million dollars to Harvard University "to promote and elevate the standards of journalism in the United States." How could that object best be realized? There are schools and departments of journalism aplenty, and instruction in it is given in more than 200 colleges and universities, not to speak of high schools. To add to that large supply would have been superfluous.

After long pondering and conference with newspaper editors and publishers, the Harvard authorities agreed to a plan.

From 12 to 15 paid fellowships will be established. The holders will be reporters, editorial and special writers, who have been in the business at least three years. Six of them will be drawn from the six geographical divisions of the country. With the permission of their employers they will give at least six and, what is better, eight months to the study of such subjects taught in any of the Harvard schools as they wish to have a particular knowledge of for use in their profession. The dons will lead them to any fountain they choose, and they can drink to the extent of their thirst. They will also be expected to do private reading under the direction of advisers.

This plan seems sensible. It seeks to give each fellow some special knowledge of the field he wishes to make his own. Does he want to increase his knowledge of music, art, science, economic, statistics, sociology or any part of them? Would he specialize in money and banking, municipal government, constitutional law, railroads, public utilities, the sociological theories of Pareto, Durkheim, Simmel, Tonnies and Max Weber? Is he going in for labor problems or international law or foreign relations? Is his hobby advertising or traffic control? Does he want to polish up his English or his history? All he has to do is find the right shop in the city of knowledge.

The plan is modestly announced as "frankly experimental." If the eating doesn't prove the pudding, something else will be tried. The project looks good, and may make some of us regret that we weren't "caught young."

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

I HAVE heard what the prophets said, that prophesy lies in my name, saying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed. How long shall this be in the heart of the prophets that prophesy lies? yea, they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart; which think to cause my people to forget my name by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their fathers have forgotten my name for Baal. The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully. What is the chaff to the wheat? saith the Lord.—Jer. xxiii, 25-28.

✧ ✧ ✧

Another parable put he forth unto them saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field: but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way. But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also. So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, Didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares? He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up? But he said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them. Let both grow together unto the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the, tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn.—Matt. xiii, 24-30.

HIGHWAY HORRORS.

(Baltimore Sun)

ROADSIDE conditions are like the weather. Everyone complains about them but nobody does anything by way of remedy. The most obvious case of intolerable conditions which are complaisantly tolerated is to be found along the Washington boulevard, which James P. Connolly described in an article in the magazine section of the Sunday Sun under the title of "Maryland's No. 1 Hot Dog Highway."

Mr. Connolly counted 72 eating places and 106 tourists camps and lodges along this brief stresch of road which links Maryland's chief city with the nation's capital. He estimated that a car travelling over this road at 45 miles an hour would, on the average, pass one billboard every two seconds throughout the entire route. Many of the roadside business and advertisements which he listed are very close to the right of way, so that the motorist using this route is often as close to filling stations and roadside diners on the one side as he is to the oncoming stream of traffic on the other. The conditions are unsightly in the daytime, but at night they are positively dangerous, what with all sorts of signboards flashing in the distance to confuse and vex the driver.

Everyone who uses this highway is familiar with its unsightliness and its dangers. Yet nothing is done to improve things. There could hardly be a more glaring example of the capacity and willingness of the human race for lazy procrastination.

WOULD BE YELLOW.

(Detroit Free Press)

THE JAPANESE Government has promised as a result of the Panay tragedy, to avoid future attacks on American citizens and interests in China.

The retention of our military and naval forces in China will be a constant reminder to Japan that it will be held to strict accountability for any further invasion of American rights.

Whereas the withdrawl of them, at this time, would be a yellow act, which would expose American lives to Chinese mobs and might encourage the Japanese Army to repeat its reckless attacks upon American citizens.

World's Longest 'Phone User Hugh Neilson 93, Dies

Managed Fruit Company — One Of First Four To Have Investments In Toronto Homes

TORONTO, Jan. 15—(CP).—Hugh Neilson, 93, whose life was intimately identified with the development of telephone communications in Canada, died here today.

He was the longest continuous telephone subscriber in the world, and served as manager of the first telephone company in Toronto.

Mr. Neilson entered hospital several weeks ago for an operation. Over the weekend his condition became critical, and death came Thursday.

Only three years after the telephone was invented in 1874 by Alexander Graham Bell, Mr. Neilson took a position as manager of the Toronto Telephone and Despatch Company. He was one of the four Toronto citizens who first had the instruments installed in their homes.

Mr. Neilson had lived in the same house since that time, and consequently was a continuous subscriber to telephone service longer than any other person.

Ocean Trip Took 53 Days.

He was born in Alloa, Scotland, near Edinburgh, and came to Canada with his parents in 1851. The crossing took 53 days. The family first settled at Chatham, Ont. At the age of 17, Mr. Neilson came to Toronto and worked as a telegraph operator.

"Mr. Neilson was an historical figure in the telephone world," said J. H. Brace, general manager of the western area of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada.

"A remarkable thing about Mr. Neilson was the way he retained his youth. Just four or five years ago he travelled to Africa, and has been all over the world, most of his travelling taking place in the late years of his life."

Mr. Neilson's chief hobby was photography, and he was a charter member of the Toronto Camera Club.

BOOK ON GIRL PAT COSTS PUBLISHERS $2,000 FOR LIBEL

LONDON, Jan. 15 (CP Cable). — An echo of the odyssey of the runaway Grimsby trawler Girl Pat was heard yesterday when the Marstrand Fishing Company, owners of the vessel, were awarded £400 ($2,000) in a libel suit.

In the case heard in the King's bench division, the fishing company sued Hutchinson and Company, publishers, and the Anchor Press, publishers and printers of a book called "The Voyage of the Girl Pat."

The defendants countered complaints against alleged libellous passages by declaring the book merely described the trawler's erratic voyage which took it on a long swing across the Atlantic when it was supposed to be at the fishing grounds. It was made clear, they said, that the voyage was not authorized by the owners.

The company was upheld in its complaint against an allegation in the book that the vessel left Grimsby entirely ill-found and with no food or proper equipment.

The Girl Pat, Captain George Osborne, master, sailed for the fishing banks in 1936 on what was apparently a routine trip. In subsequent weeks it turned up in odd ports on the Atlantic seaboard, finally being boarded and captured by force off Georgetown, British Guiana.

It would put into out-of-the-way ports, charge food and fuel to its owners and leave hurriedly, often without clearance papers and on one occasion leaving an unwanted member of its crew behind. The admiralty began a hunt and ordered port authorities to watch for it.

The crew's objective never was fully explained, but it was rumored they had run away with the trawler to search for treasure.

Osborne and his brother Jim, a former resident of Toronto, received prison sentences. The late Lady Houston, millionaire philanthropist, bought the Girl Pat for £3,500 and had her planned to give it to the five "pirates."

After Pneumonia Couldn't Get Strong

After many severe illnesses the patient is often left in an extremely weak and exhausted condition.

To all those convalescents needing a tonic to strengthen and build up their weakened system we would recommend Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills to assist them to recover the full enjoyment of robust health. They help to tone up the nervous system and bring back bodily strength and vigor.

Buy a box and be convinced.

Mrs. George Clark, Wallace, N.S., writes:—"Some time ago I had a severe attack of pneumonia. I never seemed to get my strength back, and was always in a weak, nervous condition until a friend advised me to take Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills.

After I had taken two boxes I felt as well as ever, so I will recommend them to any one who is suffering as I did, for I could not have taken any medicine that would have done me so much good."

LITERARY MEETING

Friday afternoon the student body adjourned to the auditorium to enjoy a varied program, staged by members of Special Commercial, II and III. Commercial and II.A Academic, the chairman being Don Corrin. The first number was a chorus entitled "Ebb Tide" by II.A Academic. Next was a reading, entitled "Wolverine" by Barbara Miller, II.A Commercial. This was followed by a vocal solo, "Whispers in the Dark," by Jim Hawthorne, II.A Academic.

Ruth McNeeley, also of II.A Academic, gave a very interesting reading which was followed by "Horse Sense," a one-act play composed by Catharine White, IIB Commercial. A musical selection by the school orchestra, then Elsie Chambers, II.A Academic, with a piano selection, Chopin's "Waltz in E Minor."

The students were greatly amused by an English comic song "Burlington Berdie from Bow," presented by Jean Metcalfe, Helen Liddel Inez Killoran and Freda McMahon of II.A and III.C Commercial.

The program came to a close with a snappy little one-act play entitled "The Fatal Quest," put on by Special Commercial.

OPERETTA

Once more the school is giving its attention to the production of the annual operetta which contributes importantly o he fnecasni importantly to the finances of the Students' Council. Again this year Martin B. Chenhall is conducting the presentation, "Princess Zora." The well known operetta is a much more difficult assignment than has ever been before attempted by the students. Almost daily, practices have been held in the library and much progress has been made, although the difficult task of choosing the most suited leading characters has not been completed. There is a dire need for more boys as the operetta requires a very large cast of dancers, singers and comedians, with many male roles.

CAMERA CLUB

Wednesday, after four o'clock, the first meeting of the school Camera Club was held in V. R. Henry's laboratory. President John Hooper of V.B Academic, presided at the meeting which saw much discussion on the club program.

To make best use of the recently-installed photographic show case near the entrance of the assembly hall, Jack Craig of V.A Academic was appointed to keep on display the best work of the Camera Club members.

A "Question and Suggestion Box" will be installed in the dark room. Through this medium the members of the club may write to the president concerning topics of interest in photography.

Several times during the last term supplies ran perilously low so, to start the new term properly, arrangements have been made to have always a full stock on hand.

A pleasant surprise came when Mr. Henry announced his plan to arrange a third dark room. This room will be equipped with copying apparatus and will be used solely for this purpose.

CADETS

Although wintry weather conditions do not permit mass drilling, different units of the Cadet Corps are holding regular instruction meetings. Wednesday after school the officers and N.C.O.'s held their first regular meeting of the new term. Rugby drill being over and fewer other distractions prevailing a fine attendance turned out. Friday evening the First Aid class held its regular meeting at the school.

SEASON OPENER

Monday evening, at the Brock St. rink, before a small but excited crowd, P.C.V.S. pucksters opened their schedule with a game against the "Monarchs." The P.C.V.S. boys were in fine form but were slightly outclassed in a close game. Al. King and Harold Morrow registered the school's two goals in a 3-2 defeat. At a practice at the Brock Thursday after school, several changes were made in the line-up to increase the strength of the team, both offensively and defensively. Arrangements have been made for an exhibition game with Grove School next Wednesday.

Last night, before a crowded gymnasium, the senior girls and boys basketball teams played their first home games against Lindsay C.I. teams. The boys went into their game determined to show that their victory over Cobourg last week was not merely beginner's luck.

SHORT ENDS

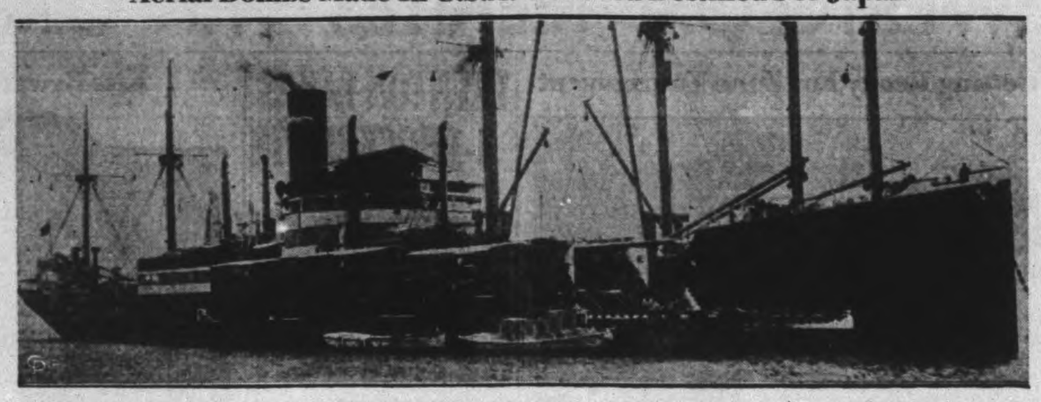
All this week a departmental inspector has been visiting the school. As the inspector was observing the abilities of a third form class in French, Jerry Juby was sent to the blockboard to write the French translation of "The water is hot." Jerry scratched his head in deep thought and then in a round, confident hand wrote "Le chaval est choud" . . . . Last night the senior boys wore their new basketball suits. . . . Next Friday afternoon II.B and II.C Household Arts and Industrial Arts will be responsible for the literary meeting.

CANDY FOR CHANGE

TIENTSIN, Jan. 15 (AP). — "No candy, thanks," means "keep the change" in Tientsin, where candy is being used for money because copper coins have been hoarded.

Street-car conductors meet the lack of small change by giving a piece of candy—supposedly worth two coppers—in change for each 10-copper note presented for the eight-copper fare.

Aerial Bombs Made In U.S.A. Believed Destined For Japan



Being loaded with aerial bombs for shipment to Germany, the German freighter S.S. Crefeld is shown (ABOVE) at anchor off Gibbstown, N.J. Although the munitions being delivered to the freighter by car barges are labeled for shipment to Nazi Germany ,it is believed they will later be re-shipped to Japan. The bombs, of which there are 20,000, each weigh 20 pounds and were manufactured in the United States by a large munition corporation.

URGE MORE, BETTER EARLY EDUCATION ON DAIRY INDUSTRY

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 15 (CP). — Reconsideration of elementary education in dairying was urged yesterday by Prof. W. H. Sproule of the Ontario Agricultural College in an address before the annual convention here fo the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario.

"Surely an industry of such importance is deserving of much consideration from the standpoint of educational services designed in its interest, in order that the quality of its products may be maintained and that the coming generation may be encouraged and properly equipped with the necessary attitude to carry on the dairy industry of the future," Prof. Sproule said.

He was not unmindful of the effective work done in schools since 1914 when courses in dairying were added to the curricula. But the marked development and expansion of the industry in recent years demanded further consideration of the subject, he contended.

Second Only to Field Crops

In point of comparative value, dairying occupies a place second only to that of field crops in Canada. It contributes close to 20 per cent of the total gross value of agricultural products.

"The design or content of courses in dairy industry as taught in our primary and secondary schools, while being satisfactory in a general way, have possibly not in the past been productive of maximum results," he said.

"I wish to point out, however, that any discrepancy in this regard must be directed to a possible lack or help or recognition on the part of the dairy educationists rather than to our teachers or to our school administration.

"It is, after all, those who are associated with methods, progress and trends in dairying who should be working in close co-operation with the teacher in helping to maintain a most effective plan of dairy curricula, such as will be up-to-date and in the best interests of the student from the standpoint of his future in the locality in which he lives.

Need Improved Milk, Cream

"Furthermore, the elementary dairy work should be that, for which there is a fundamental need from the point of view of co-operative effort in matters of improvement of the industry."

Prof. Sproule said he was convinced there was not a more important fundamental need in the industry than an improved quality standard of raw material—milk and cream for manufacturing purposes.

"The dairy farm is the starting point," he said. The national reputation for quality of dairy products is largely controlled there. So is the value of the dairy products.

Inclusion of the fundamentals for care and handling of milk and cream in practical elementary school courses should enlighten the coming generation in the main need of the industry.

"Children of elementary school age are at the most impressionable stage in life and foundations and habits which are established may be lastings," said Prof. Sproule.

"Therefore, it would not be unreasonable to anticipate a quality standard for butter in Ontario second to none in the world within a decade of time as a result of learning and correctly doing at the impressive age.

"The apparent flexibility in the curricula which is being provided will enable the teacher to adjust the nature or character of the work given so as to meet local needs. Hence, more time and emphasis may be placed upon dairy subjects in districts where dairying predominates than in beef cattle raising areas, or in uban industrial centres."

"12-OUNCER" THRIVING

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP).—Brown-eyed Jacqueline Jean Benson, "the world's smallest baby to live," celebrated her second birthday anniversary today.

The first child of a young couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Benson, "Jackie" weighed an estimated 12 ounces at birth, and doctors said medical history contained no record of a tinier baby to live. She now weighs 24 pounds, normal for her height.

LONDON GOBBLES DOMINION LOAN

OTTAWA, Jan. 15—(CP). — Finance Minister Dunning to-day announced a new £10,000,000 Dominion loan had been underwritten in London by a banking group headed by R. Mivison & Company.

Purpose of the loan, the Minister said, was to refund a £7,000,658 maturity of Dominion of Canada three-per-cent. stock and bonds due next July 1 and £3,000,000 in Dominion of Canada Canadian Pacific Railway land-grant 3½ per cent. stock also due on July 1.

The new loan will take the form of a 3¼ per cent. registered stock issue which will be offered to investors on next Wednesday at 98½ to yield approximately 3.34 per cent. The new issue will carry a sinking fund of one-half of one per cent. The new issue will mature on July 1, 1963, and will be callable at par on or after July 1, 1958, on three months' notice.

The new offering was essentially a conversion offering, the Minister said, cash subscriptions being received only to provide for any unconverted balance of the maturing issues. The books for cash subscriptions will open and close on January 19, and the books for conversion subscriptions will open on the same day and remain open until January 26.

U.S. Cruisers' Visit Tip To Japan?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP). —Diplomatic officials discussed the possibility to-day that the dispatch of three United States cruisers to Singapore next month is intended to give Japan a demonstration of the sea power Great Britain and United States could combine in the Far East.

Officially, the reason for the trip is to have the United States navy represented at the opening of new docks—marking the virtual completion of Great Britain's Singapore base.

Informed persons said, however, the cruisers' visit would provide a striking example of how the British and American fleets might co-operate should the protection of their interests in the Orient ever call for joint action.

WINDSOR HUGGER CHASES 4TH WOMAN

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 15—(CP). Following the fourth complaint received from ward one women, police redoubled efforts today in efforts to capture a man who, reeking of beer, demands money from strangers.

Edna Simpson told police she alighted from a street car on her way to visit friends when she observed a man cutting across a field toward her. The stranger asked for money and she said she had none, he threw his arms about her shoulder but she broke away. He caught up with her and repeated his request but she managed to free herself again.

Mrs. Amanda Pohlman told police Tuesday she yielded $2 to the stranger. Mrs. Margaret Irvine and her daughter were also victimized. The thief grabbed Miss Irvine's purse containing a small amount of change.

QUAKER MAIDS, WESTCLOX, TEENITES WIN GIRLS' CAGE GAMES

QUAKER VICTORY FEATURES FIRST OF CAGE BATTLES

Three games opened the Ladies' Basketball League schedule for the season last evening before a fair number of fans in the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium. One tilt was tight but the other pair were one-sided contests. Quaker Maids nosed out St. John's Stars by a 9-5 count, Westclox romped through 'Y' Elementary for an 18-2 decision, and St. John's Teenites took a 13-1 victory from Quaker Debs.

In the first fray, the winners came on strong in the second stanza to cop the duke. The score was 3-2 for the Stars in the initial inning but they failed to cope with the Quakers after the rest period. It was a tidy tussle with close checking and some good passing shown in spots. M. Sullivan got four points for the winners with R. Dalliday and E. Alexander having two each and E. O'Leary one. M. Clark got two for St. John's and J. Vartey and E. Craig one each. The teams:

Quaker Maids: M. Sullivan, M. Boyle, R. Dalliday, E. O'Leary, H. Fee, D. Frost, A. Frost, E. Alexander.

St. John's Stars: S. Ecobichon, E. Craig, E. Law, M. Clark, J. Vartey, L. Wesley, H. Hart-Maxwell, L. Ellis.

Referee, W. Thirnbeck.

Piling up a safe lead in the first period, the Westclox crew coasted to victory over the 'Y' girls in a fair fracas. The East City girls had too much scoring punch for their rivals and notched every point on field baskets, with the losers getting their only points on singles, A. Millard and H. Tighe tallying. A. Flynn led the way for Westclox with eight points while L. McNaughton got six and M. Hawthorne and J. Crowe two each. Some good cage play was shown at times but it was rather one-sided. The teams:

Westclox:: J. Crowe, L. McNaughton, C. Metcalfe, M. Allison, A. Flynn, M. Hawthorne, N. Pammett, D. Dawson, M. Goldie, P. Davis.

'Y' Elementary: D. Leeson, M. Mitchell, H. Tighe, S. Zacks, A. Millard. Referee, J. Cooper.

St. John's Teenites showed some neat combination and sniping to win handily from the Quaker Debs in the third tilt of the evening. H. White got the losers' lone point in the first half, which ended up in an 8-1 edge for the Teenites. A. Bowler, I. Gynane and J. Coleman shared scoring honors for the winners with four points each and M. Snowden tossed in a free shot. It was a fast affair most of the way. The teams:

Quaker Debs: H. White, M. Andrews, R. Farr, M. Duncan, E. Roberts, A. Frizelle.

St. John's Teenites: I. Gynane, J. Coleman, I. Young, A. Bowler, M. Snowden, E. Clark, D. Groombridge, T. Law, E. Hart-Maxwell.

Referee, W. Thirnbeck.

WARKWORTH TIES WARSAW TEAM 6-6

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 15.—Warkworth and Warsaw juniors battled to a 6-6 tie game that went into overtime last night at Warsaw rink in an O.H.A. junior "C" hockey fixture. Buchanan of Warkworth was the star of the game, scoring three goals goals from centre ice. Warkworth had the game 6-2 till the third period when Warsaw scored four goals.

The line-ups:—

Warkworth. — Fowler, goal; Beatty, Buchanan, defence; McKee, centre; Bowen, Edgar, wings; alternates, Elson, Wilfram, Edgar.

Warsaw—Digweed, goal; P. Cooper, Myles, defence; I. Watts; centre, J. Watts, A. Watts, wings; alternates, W. Cooper, Bowen, Bell, Dunford, Moore.

ENGINEERS STRIKE

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 15 (C.P.)—Engineers in charge of McMaster University heating plant went on strike to-day. Their places were reported to be filled with no inconvenience occasioned the university.

Authorized by the International Union of Operating Engineers, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, the strike is for increase from $22.08 to $33.00 for a 48-hour week. Four engineers are involved. Negotiations were made for two years.

Remember the fine days we have had at Omemee on the big hill they call Mt. Ebow? (And who can tell us where that name originated?) Well, there is another of those days booked for Sunday. The club meets at 11.15 at the Empress, a bus is chartered to take you out and back for 50c, and the hotel will provide a meal for 35c. The bus can carry 21 skiers and their skis. It would be helpfu if you could call Larry Parhelpful if you could call Larry Paryour intention of going on Sunday, so the hotel people can arrange meals. With the really good snow we've had lately, this day is one that definitely ought not be missed.

It seems that some of the boys intend to do a little broad-jumping on the Nassau springboard today (Saturday). If you happen to go out to watch, don't let the Hydro power cables across the bottom worry you. They almost always clear those wires, although some folks have doubted it.

If Nassau doesn't appeal the girls are providing a counter attraction at the Jackson Park shack. Tea, from 3 till 5 p.m., for skiers and any parents who would like to see what goes on. Hope you'll all accept the invitation for Saturday afternoon.

CURLING

Echoes From No. '8'
By HERB MARTIN

Thanks to the firm hand of the executive committee with regards to schedule games, we have completed the first two weeks with a 100 per cent. record. Never before can we remember such a record; not one game defaulted and not one game postponed; and that's the way it should be.

Next Wednesday night, when some of our curlers are up at Lindsay with the Scottish curlers, we will run a little bonspiel all our own. It will commence at 7.30 sharp and will be on the same basis as the Saturday afternoon 'spiels. We notice that Oscar McGill leads his group with three wins and one loss. We also noticed that the president scored his first schedule win last night. The skips are taking more interest in their rinks this season, and we see more new players down every night.

Friday Scores.

HAMILTON RINKS IN GUELPH FINAL

GUELPH, Jan. 15 —(CP)— Five days of competition in Guelph's Centennial Curling Bonspiel brought about an all-Hamilton final last night between the Campbell brothers and F. N. Allan. The two rinks from the Thistles Club met tonight for the Sleeman Trophy, premier prize of the "spiel."

In the Guelph Tankard consolation event, another Hamilton Thistle Club rink, skipped by H. Weller, was pitted against A. E. Dunker's Kitchener combination.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

FOUR CAGE contests on tonight at the Y.M.C.A. gymnastic hall. Two Church League affairs first and then the City League twin openers. St. John's Bantams meet George St. at 6.30, St. John's tangle with St. Andrew's at 7.15, C.G.E. clash with St. Paul's at 8.00, and Clothiers play Dominions at 9.00. Should be lots of keen competition and some cagey cage play dished up through these four tussles, and a goodly gathering of basketball followers is expected to whoop her up for the hoopsters.

• • • • • • •

KEN KINGSTON, who used to play a lot of nifty basketball himself not too many moons gone by, has organized a strong squad in this winter's City Cage League. They won last week rather handily in an exhibition fray and other clubs in the circuit had better keep their orbs on this crew, which is sponsored by Dominion Life. Pete McArthur is captain and these are the other players: Don Weese, Bob White, Lloyd Grose, Tom Smart, Gord Gunsolus, Len Thomas and Howie Hammell. However, we don't expect any soft touches in this setup of basketeers, and every game should be a hotcha number. Just a tip to the fans and fannettes.

• • • • • • •

THIS SKI zone championship meet which is being held here three weeks from now is a big event. It is open to Ontario competition and should bring in some 2,000—yeah, that's right—competitors and spectators from various points in Ontario. Last year, over 800 Toronto people alone had reserved train seats to come here for just an invitation meet. Which did not come off due to lack of snow. It was at that time that the Governor General just omitted saying in that memorable speech he might have made had he come to Peterborough for the event: "The paucity of snow in this section of the Province is most unfortunate at this time. Every effort has been made to alleviate the suffering of the distressed skiers in this area but I fear your proposed meet must be abandoned for the moment. Believe me, Lady Twedsmuir and I sympathize deeply with you in your trouble." It was a most stirring address—nearly.

THE SENIOR 'B' Petes are idle till next Wednesday when the Belleville Redmen come here, and that'll be another neat scrap since the Quinte crew have bolstered a bit. This is turning out to be a fine group with all teams pretty well matched. On Jan. 24th, Pick Hines' hopefuls hop to Kingston for a free-for-all with Queen's and that will be a tough four-point fixture with no holds barred. The senior schedule runs till the middle of next month, with playoffs following.

WHITBY RED Wings tangle with our intermediate Bees here on Monday in the first O.H.A. intermediate 'B' tilt of the season in Peter's borough. It's at 8.30 in the Brock and should draw well. Herb Payne's Bees hope to sting the Wings severely but they had better leave the drones in the dressing-room as working Bees will be needed very much for this task. Since the Wings are perennial intermediate champs of their grouping and are tougher to take than a cut in salary. They have several of the Viponds yet, along with Piper, Phillips, Brown, Oke, Heard and Hurst. The latter is the peppery goalie, the same Peg Hurst who broke our hearts here three years ago when he clouted a homer with the bases full and two out in the ninth to give Oshawa a win over the Petes by one run! We have never liked him since.

• • • • • • •

NEARLY 200 fans wended their way to the Brock St. rink last night to see an O.H.A. junior 'B' game, the last one of the scredule here. For which Allah be praised! It was as one-sided as a discussion with the wife over hat bills, the Colts taking Havelock for a 13-3 ride. Which was to be expected. The Havelock lads aren't in the locals' class and, in fact, will trek into the O.H.A. junior 'C' playdowns, whilst Belleville and the young Petes battle it out to see who goes into the 'B' playdowns. Our gang have one more game in Belleville and then the group playoffs. It was their third straight win and they didn't look bad. Though we really have only one good front line and one good defence pair and a nice goalie. The squad may come along with more competition but they'll need to if they hope to go far. They played pretty good hockey last night but hadn't too much opposition—even if the Railroaders did battle hard all the way.

• • • • • • •

A GLANCE over the summary will show Gee Clark, Tompkins and Jopling as starring offensively. With Al Clark and Brady going good on the defence and McNabb fair in goal. Peters, Haggerty, Moore and Kitchen were best for the losers. The Colts' dressing-room was as quiet as a funeral parlor after the first frame, that first marker by Havelock being a moral victory for the visitors and a black eye for the Colts. They are a quiet bunch of boys but are very serious and may go quite a piece yet. We certainly like the way that first line shapes up. The crew are husky and fast with plenty of moxie, and it'll take a pretty good outfit to knock 'em off, we think. They go to Belleville next Friday to wind it up and then the playoffs.

• • • • • • •

AFTER THE Queen's-Petes' game here Wednesday, we remarked that Referee Harry Lott of Oshawa let the game get out of hand at times. Oshawa scribe, who had a good 60-mile look at it, intimates we are again after Motor City referees, but adds that the criticism isn't too heavy since the Petes won. Local fans who saw the fray and players who suffered the slashing will appreciate why we feel at times called upon to shake our noggin sadly over some of the comments coming from that town. Referee Lott wasn't unfair at all but he made a poor fist of handling the joust here. Quinte columnist speak of the outbreaks in this game here and "the ultimate results certain players received in grievous injuries." Says he: "It is reported that the incompetency of the night's official was duly responsible for the entire trouble." Oh, well, we'll always have wars, tribulations and referees!

TRENTON TAKES 4-1 HOCKEY WIN

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 15. — Playing too far away from their own goal mouth proved costly to Campbellford in a Trent Valley Hockey League fixture played at Trenton on Friday night. Johnson and Davis scored two goals for the homesters to cinch Trenton's 4-1 victory, while the visitors were pressing hard in the late stages of the third period.

Lenoir opened the scoring for the winners with the only goal in the first period. Couch got the tieing count for Campbellford in the second on an assist from Phillips. Anderson added up for Trenton on a lone rush with Johnson and Davis scored two more in the third.

Line-ups:

Trenton —Goal, Steenburg; defence, Lenoir and York; centre, Davis; wings, Moore and Johnson; alternates, Anderson, Hubbell, Kerr and MacKirbury.

Campbellford—Goal, Turner; defence, Odie and Lambert; centre, Phillips; wings, Reddick and C. Couch; alternates D. Couch, Wilks, Keating, Blake and Free.

GOODYEARS GAIN EIGHTH VICTORY IN SENIOR RACE

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—(CP).—It's still the same old story—Toronto Goodyears win again.

Undefeated in league or exhibition games this season, Goodyears ran up their eighth Senior 'A' Ontario Hockey Association victory in Toronto last night, walloping Oshawa GM-Men 9-2, while Port Colborne Sailors topped Kitchener Greenshirts, 5-2 in a game at Kitchener.

With the 16 points gleaned from those victories Goodyears put another single point for a tie—the only one they have been held to in league play—against Brantford Rangers. Those 17 points give them a five-poit margin on the second place Sailors, only team apparently with a chance of catching them.

Don Metz, the league's leading point scorer, personally accounted for enough goals to have beaten G-Men. The ace Toronto wingman tallied three, all in the first period, while his line mate, Red Herron, also whipped home that number. Eddie King talied twice and Russ Bowman once for the Toronto total.

Squeek Morrison scored the first Oshawa goal in the opening period and Lex Chisholm, who passed for that ally, scored one himself in the second session. Blondy Sutcliffe of Goodyears, however, was high point maker of the night with four assists.

It was the eighth defeat in nine starts for Greenshirts, who were outscored in every period. Port Colborne went into a two-goal lead in the first session on goals by Connell and Fitzgerald, with Greenshirts cutting this margin when Lorentz tallied in that frame.

Gooney McGowan scored twice for the Tars in the second period before Greenshirts replied with a score by Herchenratter, while Thompson scored the only goal in the last period for the Sailors.

British Army, Navy and Air Force men ate over 20 tons of plum pudding at Christmas.

DEMPSEY TO HEAD FIVE AND TEN CLUB OF REFORMED BOES

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—(CP).—Any man who can honestly say he has travelled at least 5,000 miles lying on the rods under passenger trains, or in the empty cars of freight trains, can join an exclusive club in New York—the Five and Ten Club. Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, will be president.

The "five" stands for the requisitive 5,000 miles of free travelling. The "ten" stands for $10—that's not the initation fee or the dues—it means that the applicant must be, in a way, reformed and engaged in a gainful occupation paying him at least that much weekly.

"There's going to be a serious crusade," said Jack, a "past-master of riding the rods," as he announced his plan today. "As soon as I have enough members behind me and can pull a little more weight in the proper spots, the five and ten club is going to demand a free caboose."

"Our caboose must be attached on a real freight train. The only condition we will insist on is that it can get to San Francisco in four months. Longer than that will be too long. Shorter than that will be too short."

Plan Girls' Hockey For Ice Carnival

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 15.—Two girls hockey teams, managed by Francis Hoard and Isobel Fowlds, have been in practicing practically every evening in preparation for Henry Scriver's ice carnival to be held Saturday evening, Jan. 20. Mr. Scriver, in conversation with The Examiner last night stated there was a possibility of forming a girls' team here for out of town games.

At the carnival there will be prizes presented for races, fancy skating, fancy costumes, etc.

16 COLLEGES STAY SHUT

Under the new Japanese-sponsored administration Chinese high school teachers are forbidden to mention the League of Nations and according to the new Japanese-edited textbooks, Manchuria never belonged to China.

CARE WITH IMMIGRANTS

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 15—(CP)—Canada should be most particular as to the type of immigrants allowed to enter for the purpose of establishing residence, said Dr. J. B. Dr. Dobie, Ontario deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, said such precaution would see Canada "make progress faster in the long run."

P.C.I. Girl Cagers Trim Lindsay 24-12

P.C.I. senior girls took a C.O.S.S.A. victory over the Lindsay lasses by a 24-12 score at the local Collegiate gym last evening before a fair crowd of basketball fans. The homesters had a 12-8 edge in the first frame and added to their margin through the second session. It was a lively contest with Mary McPherson's grand scoring efforts making the main difference between the teams.

The P.C.I. girls cashed in on four free throws for points with Lindsay failing to tally via this method. Mary McPherson accounted for 17 points with excellent sniping while W. Saunders came through for six points, J. Otterwell getting the other one. Jean Carley led the losers in a neat effort with eight points, while Helen Carley got the other four. Aside from the scorers, there were no outstanding stars, all the winners going well and the losers making it a nice contest most of the route. The teams:

Lindsay: B. Tillcock, L. Green, H. Carley, E. Betts, J. Carley, G. Massale, M. Mackey, M. Harrison, G. Milburn.

P.C.I.: W. Saunders, E. Craigh, J. Otterwell, R. Dalliday, M. McPherson, L. Reid, E. Saunders, D. Glover, H. Beatty, I. Wray, B. Middleton.

NORWOOD BEATS CAMPBELLFORD IN SCHOOL LOOP

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 15. — Campbellford lost their first game in the Inter-School schedule when they were defeated by Norwood 7 to 6 after ten minutes of overtime.

In the opening period Norwood was handicapped by the loss of their goal tender, who started the game, doing a nice job in the net until he tried to stop a hot one with his face and was out for the rest of the game. Joe Kelly, right winger for the Campbellford team, received a slight cut on the head during the period but stayed on the ice.

Buskin opened the scoring for the visitors and Kelly countered for the local squad while Gill's score on a pass from Thompson gave Norwood a lead of 2 to 1 at the end of the first. In the second stanza the Kelly-Farrel combination gave the locals three goals, with Farrell getting the assist in each case, while Coughlin scored the final of the period on a solo effort. Puffer and Godin each scored one for Norwood and the period ended 4 to 5 with Campbellford leading. The third period was scoreless until Lumsden and Baskin broke through the defence to tie up the score with 10 seconds to play.

Puffer opened the scoring in the overtime period and Farrell tied it up again on a pass from Jarvis. However it was Gill who broke the tie when he picked up the puck from behind the Campbellford net and scored to end the game 7 to 6.

Goal — A. Lobb and Baskin; defense, B. Puffer, F. Gill; centre, H. Lumsden; wings, J. Baskin, B. Godin. Subs, E. Morris, K. Thompson, L. Sargent, K. Baskin, C. Lobb.

Campbellford—Goal, J. M. Kelly; defence, Rowe, J. O'Sullivan; centre, J. Farrell; wings, J. Kelly, J. Jarvis; subs, Poulton, Fox, Blake, J. Robertson, J. Beaver, P. Coughlin, A. Dutton.

Referee—J. Heptonstall.

DON LASH SEEKS NURMI'S RECORD

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—(AP)—Don Lash, sandy-haired Indiana ironman, will make his first official record attempt of the indoor track season tonight at the 69th Regiment Athletic Association meet in the regimental armory.

The Hoosier is one of the five entries in the Joyce Kilmer two-mile special. But it's the 3,000-metre mark of 8:26.4 credited to Paavo Nurmi rather than the two-mile standard which he himself set last winter at which Lash will be aiming.

Ranged against Lash, who also will seek to lower the citizens' 3,000-metre record of 8:27.4 set by Archie San Romani a week ago, will be veteran Joe McCluskey, national 5,000-metre champion, who ran one of the best races of his career last week: Eino Pentti, Millrose A. A. distance star; J. Errol Vaughn, metropolitan six-mile champion, and Paul Kanaly of Belmont, Mass.

San Romani and Glenn Cunningham, crack mile rivals, are entered in separate events.

P.C.I. Seniors Get Lopsided Victory

P. C. I. Senior boy cagers took a lopsided win from Lindsay here last night at the Collegiate gym, copping the C.O.S.S.A. basketball decision by a 51-9 score. It was 23-3 at the halfway mark, with the locals far too good for their rivals in all departments. Williams got the lone field goal for Lindsay, the visitors being baffled on the big floor. Deyell tried hard for the losers with Reeds and Kennedy going fair, too.

Cutting was brilliant for P.C.I. with 18 points and Foster was again deadly on long tries, looping in 14 points. Johnston was bangup on guard and scored 10. Turner got nine to round out the scoring. It was a somewhat better game than the one-sided score would indicate. P.C.I. looked brilliant at times but at others showed room for improvement. The teams:

Lindsay: Reeds, Nugent, Deyell, Kendry, Kennedy, Joyce, McQuarrie, Williams, Smith.

P.C.I.: Cutting, Davern, Dougherty, Foster, Turner, Johnston, Kelly, Smith.

Referee, Gord McIntyre; umpire, Gord Loucks.

COLTS SHOW SUPERIORITY IN DEFEATING HAVELOCK JUNIORS 13-3

Colts Beat Havelock In Junior "B" Game Before Slim Crowd

Locals Wind Up Home Schedule With Soft 13-3 Win For Third Straight Nod

The Colts stampeded through Havelock here last night to take a 13-3 victory in an O.H.A. junior "B" fixture before 200 fans at the Brock St. rink. It was the third straight nod for the locals and the third loss in a row for the Railroaders, this game winding up the home schedule for the young Petes. The game was as one-sided as the score indicates, the count being 5-1 in the first frame and 9-2 going into the third.

Play was fairly fast and clean throughout but little good hockey was seen most of the way. The local first line and main defence showed up to advantage and the losers kept plugging away till the end. Tompkins, Gee Clark, Jopling, Brady and Al Clark all looked good for the winners, with the rest showing up well in spots. McNabb made several nice saves in the net. Kitchen, Moore, Haggerty and Peters went best for the losers, with the others gamely staying in there till the finish against big odds. The Colts had too much speed, combination and all-around experience for their 'C' rivals.

Start Off Fast

Early in the first Jopling scored on G. Clark's assist. Tompkins tallied right afterward. Havelock tried hard for a time and held the Colts at bay, with Kitchen almost scoring one. White's hot angle drive beat Peters for the next one. The Colts muffed a number of good chances and showed poor covering up when Hoffman notched a neat one on Kitchen's passout from the corner. The locals tore back to tally two quick ones, G. Clark getting the first on Tompkin's pass, and the latter then scoring on Jopling's assist.

Moore went off for tripping to start the second and the Colts failed to do anything as they ganged up. Haggerty later scored a nice one alone and then Creighton went off for chopping. Havelock pressed but the Colts countered with Tompkins going around the net to score on G. Clark's rebound. Tompkin's long shot fooled Peters for another marker. Whitney drew a major for kicking at a fallen rival and G. Clark scored on Tompkins' pass. Tompkins got another fast, aided by G. Clark. Hoffman was chased for tripping but no damage was done the rest of the stanza.

Add to Count

Pollock threatened in the third but Tompkins scored on Brady's pass. McMullen made the home defence look bad as he tallied for Havelock. Berwick went away for tripping and Havelock pressed but G. Clark scored on assists from Tompkins and Jopling. G. Clark got another on Jopling's pass. Moore and Creighton were waved off for roughing it and Tompkins followed for boarding. Just before the finish, Brady pulled a fine solo rush to notch the last goal of the game.

The teams:

Havelock: Goal, Peters; defence, Aboud and Whitney; centre, Moore; wings, Kitchen and McMullen; alternates, Pollock, McCutcheon, Hoffman, Haggerty and Jamieson.

Colts: Goal, McNabb; defence, Brady and A. Clark; centre, G. Clark; wings, Tompkins and Jopling; alternates, White, Evers, Creighton, Berwick and Craig.

Referee—B. Hagerman, of Havelock.

Inside Sportin' Dope

BY A. WISE CRACKER

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well Mac, the big event of the week locally was the fracass here Wed. nite when the exponents of the higher education from Queen's University down No. 2 Highway grappled with Mister Pick Hines' hopefuls at the Brock St. ice palace. There, neighbors, was a battle and I mean nothing else but. I don't know where Mister Ted Reeves has anything to do with coaching the Queen's puck-chasing squad but anyway the stoodents played hockey just the way a Reeves' team plays rugby. Mister Reeves' theory is they can't pull no razzle dazzle stuff when they're being laid like a rug and that is the same idea them Queen's hockey players had.

On the Battle Front

Every Peterborough man what crossed the enemy blue line thought they had wandered on to the Spanish front by mistake. If they didn't get bodied or heaved over a knee they got lassoed with a hickory loop and the result was a hockey argument that was more like a N.H.L. fixture than anything that has been staged at Brock St. in many a moon. The doings was helped out by the fact that Referee Mister Lott of Oshawa just seemed to have a hazy idea of what he was out there for and the lads was able to take each other apart without no official intereference to bother them.

The score? Oh yes, the boys did let up long enough to pop in the old boot-heel a few times and when it was all over the Petes had 3 goals and the Queen's gang 2. It looked like a tight fit and it was in a way although the home talent tossed away a lot more inside home chances than the college entry.

What's 1 Game

Monday nite our intermediates absorbed a trimming at Oshawa but they come home figuring they even things up with the Motor town lads in the return fixture and anyway they is a three-team playoff in this loop so 1 loss aint neither here or there—at least not at this stage of the doings.

Meanwhile the same nite the juniors was declaring themselves in on the group playoffs by bumping off the Havelock Wreckers, 8 to 0. It was a fairly easy task for the Hayden outfit and the win means that eventually Belleville and the Petes will have to meet for the group title.

The pro doins this week was featured by that 11 to 7 trimming the Maroons give their fellow townsmen, the Canadiens. They aint no way of explaining how the Gormanites could go scoreless Sun. nite again the Blackhawks and then, 2 nites later run in almost a dozen goals against a stronger outfit. Incidentally a bouquet for Mister Wilf Cude, the Canadiens' goalie, who had his nose and cheekbone broken in the first period but who finished the game. If you don't think it takes intestinal equipment of the highest order to stand up there for 2 periods with your face caved in, while pro hockey players rain rubber at you, then something is screwy somewheres.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

Toronto Gets Tiger Players

JOE SULLIVAN HERMAN CLIFTON

Toronto Maple Leafs, the baseball Leafs not the hockey Leafs, secured this pair of diamond performers from Detroit Tigers for use in next year's International League campaign and both should aid the Toronto squad plenty. Sullivan, a southpaw pitcher, will bolster the hurling staff, while "Flea" Clifton is a topnotch third-base artist. Both were members of the Tiger championship teams of a couple of years back.

Gene Hinrichs Said To Be Another Bob Feller On Hill

Detroit Club Believes It Has New Southpaw For 1938 Season

DETROIT, Jan. 14.—They say that the Detroit Tigers have a left-handed Bob Feller in Gene Hinrichs of Rockwell City, Ia., which is not far to the north of the famhouse of Feller and Nile Kinnich, the University of Iowa's fine all-round athlete. After slamming the door in the faces of Hawkeye opponents last Sprin, Hinrichs went on to pitch brilliantly for the Farmers' Union of Des Moines, with which team Feller made his start.

Hinrichs yielded a total of 14 hits in bagging seven straight games for the Farmers' Union. He had one no-hitter, two one-hitters, one two-hitters, two three-hitters, and let Fort Crook, Nebraska state amateur champions, down with four hits. He has turned in three no-hit games, one in semi-professional ranks at Lytton, Ia., one at Iowa, and the one in Des Moines. Those who have seen Hinrichs assert that had he an opportunity to show his wares in the American League, Mickey Cochrane wouldn't have had to bring all that criticism down on his head by including Gerald Walker in the deal with the White Sox for Vernon Kennedy.

Ray Fisher, the former major league slinger now coaching baseball at Michigan, claims Cochrane wasn't nearly as badly skinned as Detroit bugs claim in the Gee Walker transaction, however. Fisher contends that Kennedy will give the Tigers badly needed pitching strength, and a pair of G. Walkers could not offset that deficiency.

DODGERS REJECT BID FOR MUNGO

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 15.—(AP).— The Chicago Cubs have made a new offer of $75,000 and four players to the Dodgers for Van Lingle Mungo, but the Brooklyn Club is not satisfied with the playing material it would receive in the transaction, it was learned from a reliable source Friday.

The Cubs offered, in addition to cash First Baseman Rip Collins, Infielder Lonnie Frey (an ex-Dodger), Outfielder Joe Marty and Pitcher Clyde Shoun.

The Dodger reply, in effect, was: "We want better players and less cash." It is known they want Outfielder Frank Demaree.

The Cub offer was made by a club official, who visited the Dodger office a few days ago. Vice-President Jim Mulvey of the Brooklyns turned down the bid, in the form it was made.

No Prevous Experience Allowed In Competition For Calder Cup

MONTREAL, Jan. 15 (C.P.). — Though selection of the National Hockey League's prize rookie is bound to be a controversial subject, the job has been simplified this season. Some of the best men playing their first year as regulars can't be considered.

League President Frank Calder has ruled that players with previous N.H.L. experience—whether it be only a game or two—are not eligible for the Calder Trophy, awarded the winner of a Canadian Press poll of sports writers in N.H.L. cities.

This question hardly entered the poll last season, first year of the award, when Toronto's Syl Apps was making monkeys of big-time goalkeepers and defencemen in his first crack at the pros. With none so outstanding as Apps in the crop, gentle agitation has been heard around the circuit for consideration as rookies some players who had brief stays in the N.H.L. during 1936-37.

The prize rookie may yet be plucked from the minors into the N.H.L. fold as the weaker teams

Remember When—

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto's George Young won international fame 11 years ago tomorrow when he became the world's first swimmer to conquer the Catalina Island Channel and received $25,000 offered by Wm. Wrigley, Jr. Described as the "real reason" for inauguration in 1927 of the annual Canadian National Exhibition swim, Young—after four disappointments—won the 1931 15-mile marathon. The "Catalina Kid" now is a life-guard on Toronto beaches in the summer.

TWEED DEFEATS STIRLING 5-1 FOR FOURTH WIN

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 15. — The leadership of the Trent Valley League is in good care when being looked after by the snappy Tweed blue and whites, who, travelling at full speed, invaded the Stirling Arena on Thursday night and won their fourth straight game of the season, drawning the Stirling red and whites five to one, in a game that made the Stirlingites pretty weak in spots.

This is the third time this week that a Stirling team has met defeat at the hands of a Tweed team, as on Monday night the Seniors defeated their rivals of last night 3 to 2, and on Wednesday night the Stirling High School went down to defeat to the Tweed High School 7 to 5.

On Thursday night Stirling were without the services of a couple of their players and were unable to hold the Tweed players in check. For the last few minutes of the first period Stirling were completely bottled up, behind their own blue line, and Tweed forced the play continually throughout the game.

The game was played on fast ice before the largest crowd of the season. The Tweed boys played bang-up hockey and their performance overshadowed the Stirling boys in speed and combination which is their specialty.

Stirling's only tally was scored by Ackers, and the scoring for Tweed was accredited to Long, W. Leal, Woodcock, and Elsbury who tallied twice to make the final score 5-1 for Tweed.

Tweed — Goal, Thompson; defence, Leal and Woodcock; centre, Long; wings, Tumon and Courneyea; subs, Meraw, Elsbury, Leal.

Stirling — Goal, Fox; defence, Geraldi and Ackers; centre, Robinson; wings, Fraser and Reid; subs., Potter, Butler, Reid and Jones.

Referees—Wells, Stirling; Geraldi, Tweed.

Whitby Red Wings Here On Monday

Whitby Red Wings open the local O.H.A. intermediate "B" schedule here this Monday evening at 8.30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink with the Peterborough Bees. It will be the first home fixture this year for the Bees but their third tilt, the Payne crew having won in Port Hope already and lost in Oshawa. The Red Wings are former group champions and rated one of the three strongest teams in the circuit—Oshawa and Peterborough generally being considered among the other two. It should be a fine fight between two smart aggregations made up of experienced O.H.A. intermediates, and the tilt should draw a big crowd of fans to start off the week.

Herb Payne has lined up a neat crowd of puckists, several of them good enough for senior "B" competition. Fellows like Clarke, Ellis, Magee, Creighton, Burton, Coughlin, Heal, Hill, Gardner and others. They play a scrappy brand of hockey all the time and hope to cop the nod at home Monday. Whitby will probably line up like this: Goal, Hurst; defence, Brown and Oke; centre, Heard; wings, Piper and Phillips; alternates, W. Vipond, L. Vipond, Lou Vipond, Watson and Mayne. Peg Hurst is the playing coach of the crew and peps his charges up with a colorful line of chatter throughout.

Recruit From The Michigan-Ontario League Faces Tough Assignment

TORONTO, Jan. 15 (CP)—More than 120 of the best puckchasers in the world will do their stuff in the crowded arenas of half a dozen cities tonight and Sunday. The National League is staging a packed week-end and there won't be a player idle unless he limps.

Stars of today like Gordon Drillon and Lynn Patrick will flash through their hockey paces with the sure strides and confidence of men at their best in the fastest game in the world. Greats of another day will plod along, hopeful of goals and fearful of tickets to the minors.

But the player with the toughest job of them all is a youngster who has never played professional hockey. He is Pete Bessone, a 195-pound defenceman, who has been selected to step into the defence position of Ebbie Goodfellow, perhaps the greatest player in the game over the past three or four years.

It wouldn't be possible in any other major sport for an amateur like Bessone to move into the big time with one stride. It's like asking a city league baseball player in Regina to take over Lou Gehrig's job with New York Yankees on a day's notice.

Clash With Maroons

Nevertheless, Bessone, a 24-year-old American-born player with cosmopolitan experience, will play defence for the world champion Detroit Red Wings tonight when they clash with Maroons in Montreal.

Manager Jack Adams has lifted him from the Pontiac team of the Michigan-Ontario League and given him a two-year contract. He signed the amateur after he learned Goodfellow suffered a twisted ankle in Thursday's game with New York Rangers.

Although Bessone has no pro experience he has been campaigning for years as an amateur. He starred in France when players from this side of the ocean made the game popular there a few years ago and last season played for Pittsburgh Yellowjackets in the Eastern Amateur League.

Bessone is only point of interest in two nights of hockey that may do violent things to the present N.H.L. standing. Every team in the league will go into action with four of them playing two games.

Tonight Wings meet Maroons and Chicago Black Hawks play Maple Leafs in Toronto. Sunday the teams stay together but switch cities, Maroons playing in Detroit and Leafs at Chicago.

Montreal Canadiens get into the fray tomorrow night with a game with the high-stepping Bruins at Boston and Rangers and Americans stage an intra-city battle at New York.

QUEEN'S SCORE FIRST VICTORY

KINGSTON, Jan. 15.—(Staff).—Queen's University won their first home game in the International Intercollegiate Hockey League here last night by sending the University of Montreal sextet down to an 8 to 4 defeat. The Tricolor netted six in the initial period and two in the final stanza.

The University of Montreal, handicapped with four of thir regulars in the hospital, had a tough uphill fight after the disastrous initial period. The Frenchmen scored a double in the second period and two in the third. Gerard Leboeuf did some smart checking in the last couple of periods, and Gagne, Martin and Migneault turned in good games.

In the final period it looked as if the Frenchmen were going to tie the score, Martin and Gagne scoring two goals in a few seconds after the opening. But Queen's added two to their count when Neilson and Williamson scored, Cowley and Miller getting credit for the assists.

Queen's University— Goal, McEwen; defense, McGinnis and Miller; centre, Munro; wings, Poupore and Williamson. Subs, Kenty, Neilson, Hepburn, Cowley and Carver.

Universty of Montreal — Goal, Rochon; defense, Migneault and M. Genier; centre, Martin; wings, Gagne and P. Genier. Subs, Leboeuf, Leger, Decary and Boucher.

CLEVELAND HAS CHANCE TO GAIN

TORONTO, Jan. 15 (CP)—Don't be surprised if Cleveland Barons once during the week-end, playing the International-American Hockey League after play this week-end.

The Barons undoubtedly are in the choicest spot to gain ground over Pittsburgh Hornets and Syracuse Stars in their close fight in the western division. Right now Hornets lead with 27 points, while Barons are one point away and Stars two points off.

But Barons come up against Springfield Indians tonight and New Haven Eagles tomorrow night, and it's common knowledge around the circuit there are tougher teams to knock off than these two. Stars, meanwhile, have to play Philadelphia Ramblers tonight and Providence Reds the night after, and Ramblers and Reds are tied for the top spot in the eastern section.

Hornets only swing into action once durin gone week-end, playing Eagles in a home game tonight. And while Eagles are in a rut in the western group and Hornets are in the van, the teams have divided four games this season with two wins apiece.

After following for three days, a white owl recently caught up to a liner in the Atlantic and alighted.

Skiing Hints

By Fritz Loosli
INSTRUCTOR, TORONTO SKI CLUB

The pure Christiania, often called the parallel Christiania is mainly used in the modern techniques as a stop turn. It is very useful in practical skiing and requires little space if executed properly. Erroneously, many skiers think that the tempo turn is the same as the parallel Christiania. But the contrast in the execution of each is so great that there is a world of difference between the two.

It is necessary to travel fairly fast to execute a pure Christiania. You run straight down hill and before starting the turn, crouch a little lower, and then by rising rapidly you will unweight your skis for a fraction of a second. Taking advantage of the unweighted moment, edge both skis toward the slope and in the same manner as when you are on skates, by a twisting motion of the body, legs and feet, swing you skis across the slope. The more the skis are edged during the skidding, the quicker the stop. If you are interested in tempo running, use the pure Christiania as little as possible, because its movement is detrimental to the rhythm required in the tempo turn.

Is Ski Instruction Necessary?

Many people think that ski instruction is a waste of time and money. Some believe that anybody should be able to ski properly, with a little practice.

In major sports today it is an accepted fact that beginners must be started out by proper instruction. In skiing it is even more important in order to prevent early accidents which may be avoided if proper control is taught at the very first.

In Switzerland the ski school has been an institution for 15 years as a necessary measure of safety for skiers taking trips into the mountains. In Ontario and eastern Canada where 85 per cent. of the accidents are caused in the bush, and sitting down is not even a safe way of stopping, the need of knowing your turns is even more imperative because the most interesting part of skiing is done in running bush trails.

BONARLAW

POT-LUCK DINNER IS HELD BY W.A.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BONARLAW, Jan. 15—On Thursday of this week the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Church held a "pot-luck" dinner at the home of Mrs. J. F. Baker which proved to be a decided success. Twenty-three persons sat down to a sumptuous repast at noon. Each lady brought a few dishes of food as her fancy dictated and the variety of good things was simply wonderful.

In the afternoon the regular meeting of the Association was held and some special sewing was done.

This is the first of a number of dinners of this kind to be given this season and the members are looking forward with pleasant anticipation to the future meetings of this nature.

Around The District

THE WARDEN of the United Counties of Nothumberland and Durham will be selected this year from Northumberland and three are said to be in the running for the "premiership" of Ontario's "Little Parliament." Reeve J. A. Deviney of Haldimand, Reeve R. R. Mallory of Percy and Reeve J. F. George of Brighton township are the contenders who have already announced their candidature. Reeve George appears to be the favorite in this political battle.

George W. McLaughlin native of Enniskillen and prominent Oshawa citizen has made a gift to the school were e received his early education, the public school at Enniskillen. The gift of $5,000 which may be used by the trustees of the school for any educatonal purpose they desire. Enniskillen school is now one of the finest rural schools in Darlington. It is reported however that there is need for an addition and this is most likely how Mr. McLaughlin's money will be spent.

On Sunday morning St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Cobourg a memorial is to be dedicated to Rev. James Douglas at one time minister of the congregation and called from Cobourg to go as the first missionary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to Central India.

Cobourg town council at its inaugual meeting appointed Mrs. Clara Belany as member of the Board of Health. Also the town dump problem is causing much worry to the lakeshore town. Madam Councillor DeLany makes a strong plea in council for a small incinerator.

David Spence secetary of the Royal Humane Society is scheduled to be in Cobourg, Jan. 25, to present a bronze medal to Sergt.-Major Albert E. Hircock for outstanding bravery in saving the life of a little child in Ottawa while with the Coronation contingent.

County interest will be centered next week on the opening sessions of the county council Tuesday afternoon and continuing until Saturday. One of the first duties will be the election of a Warden and the appointment of committees in the organization of the council for this year's business.

At least three of the reeves are looking forward hopefully to the preference of the councillors in their selection of a presiding officer for 1938. Reeve E. N. McDonald of Dummer, Reeve James Milby of North Monaghan and Reeve Allan B. Mann are reported to be in the field for the wardenship, and as the members of the council have a way of keeping their opinions to themselves until they get together it is unsafe to make any prediction as to whom they will select for the honor.

Some further action in reforestation is expected to be taken during the first sessions of the year, and after the display of initiative in December it is probable that some other subjects will be introduced outside the ordinary routine of business.

Study Book Chapter Forms Play Theme

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 15.—Miss Carrie Doxsee opened her home on Tuesday evening to the members of Trinity United Mission Circle girls for their opening meeting for the new year. Nineteen members were present. The worship period included prayer by Miss Irene Oliver and scripture reading by Miss Helen Collins. The third chapter of the study book, under the direction of the leader of Group 3, Mrs. Violet Scriver, was given in the form of a play with the following characters: The Canadian girl by Miss Frances Hoard; Pioneer from the Far North by Miss Carrie Doxsee; the Prairie Maid by Miss Ruby Fleming; the Japanese Canadian by Mrs. Violet Scriver; and the European Peasant by Miss Margery Scriver. The following churches were represented: the Methodist, Miss Claudine Hoard; Presbyterian, Mrs. Grant Sine; Congregational, by Miss Jessie Lamb, and the Methodist by Mrs. F. W. Newell. Three hymns bearing on the subject of the play were sung, closing the worship period.

Business resulted as follows: Miss Margery Scriver was appointed as a delegate from the Mission Circle to attend the Presbyterial in Peterborough on January 25th. A sewing meeting will be held on January 29th at the home of Miss Jessie Lamb. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. Crate.

The Circle, with its members divided into three groups, each group responsible for every third meeting, have added to their membership and decided to endeavour to meet their allocation of $75 for the year. Lunch was served by Group 3 and a social time spent together.

GUILD MEETING IS HELD IN APSLEY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, Jan. 15.—The Guild meeting was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Everett. The Rev. F. McMullen, rector, opened the meeting with prayer. The supper and dance put on by the Guild was reported a great success, twenty-five dollars being made. The Guild is purchasing a piano, which will be placed in the parish hall. A card party was planned, to be held at the home of Mrs. Everett, also an afternoon tea to be held at the home of one of the members. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess and a social half-hour enjoyed.

Joint Meeting

The Junior W.A. and the Church Boys' League held a joint meeting in the parish hall on Saturday. The boys were guests of the Junior W.A. A delightful lunch was served, games were played and an enjoyable afternoon spent. An exchange of New Year gifts took place after the lunch. A presentation was then made by the League and the Junior W.A. to the Rev. F. McMullen in form of a beautiful prayer book. It was presented by Keith Brown. Rev. McMullen thanked the children and said it was the first time he had been presented with anything of the kind and hoped it would be his constant companion for a great many years. The meeting closed with singing "For he's a jolly good fellow."

Crowded Hall Enjoys Play At Haultain

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, Jan. 15.—The three-act play, "The Road Back," with the same cast that played it in Apsley two weeks ago, was given in Haultain United Church on Tuesday evening before an appreciative audience that completely filled the auditorium. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the players at the close of the performance. More than twenty dollars was taken at the door. Mrs. Charles Lauder very kindly entertained the whole cast at her house where a delightful supper was served them.

No Pay Cheques

PHILADELPHIA—The first pay-day of the year came for this city's 19,000 employees today, but there was no city budget for 1938—and no pay cheques, although a $1,600,000 payroll was due. A ruling by City Solicitor has brought council $4,-215,000 nearer to a balanced budget.

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE OF APPRECIATION EXPRESSED BY FAIR BOARD

Council Chambers Is Crowded As Gift Of Park Announced To The Exhibition Board

Prayer Of Thanksgiving And Blessing Is Offered By Rev. Dr. Barr

Peterborough's acceptance of Exhibition Park as a gift in trust from Harold A. Morrow was expressed in an eloquent tribute of appreciation at the annual meeting of the directors and other members of the Exhibition in the city council chamber Friday afternoon.

News of Mr. Morrow's public benefaction attracted to the meeting, at which the appointment of the R. A. Morrow Memorial Trust was formally announced, a notable assembly of prominent men of the city and county personifying the entire community to whom this splendid gift of the twenty-eight acres of Exhibition Park was made.

The council chamber was crowded to standing room with men who represented apparently all the interests of the urban and rural sections of Peterborough county. Mayor James Hamilton and Warden Roy Brown, and all the members of the city council were present on behalf of the municipalities that are divided on such occasions only by invisible boundary lines. Judge S. L. Smoke and members of the Bar, the general managers of nearly all the city's industries, Adjustant Warrander, president of the Ministerial Association, Rev. P. J. Kelly and Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr as representatives of the city's religious life, many of the business men and a large number of farmers, comprised the personal cross-section of the city and county that greeted Mr. Morrow's good deed with glowing words of gratefulness, and a common desire to infuse their appreciation with a fine responsive sentiment commensurate, if possible, with the deep sense of citizenship that inspired the gift.

From a Wide Area

The range of country from which these citizens came was indicated by the presence of Warden Brown from Apsley on the north, G. A. Brethen of Norwood and Lieut.-Colonel Everett Birdsall of Birdsall's on the east, George H. Hooton of Ida in Cavan township on the west, and a group of visitors from Victoria county.

Mr. Morrow, himself, was absent, and for all its evidence of honoring him, the splendid and memorable gathering of his fellow citizens was contrary to his wish and to his quiet and unassuming way of doing such things.

Tom Brown was chairman of the meeting as president of the Exhibition, and it devolved to Roland

Canadian Legion Notes

The single handed cribbage contest is well under way and to date Com, Fields, Mackness, Hawthorne, Dunslow, Miller, Bridger and Mitchell have won their respective heats.

The Legion carpet ball team paid a visit to the fire hall last Monday and lost two games to Chief Gimblett and his gang on a floor where the ball bumped its way along in a manner that reminded one of the days of th old Peterborough, street railway, when car 32 with its two flat wheels could be heard bumping its way along six blocks away. The Chief has a surprise coming to him when he visits the Legion floor and sees his ball doing the figure eight and other stunts, he will think there is something wrong with his eyesight.

The St. John carpet ball team (5) will pay a visit to the Legion hall on Wed. Jan. 19th to play two friendly games, one with a team chosen from the executive, Comrades Sloan, Clifton, Douglas and Huycke and a team from the members, Com. Files, Renouf, Thomas and Wilford. Members of St. John's Men's club are welcome that evening.

The monthly meeting of the branch takes place on Monday next Jan. 17th and a large turnout of the members is requested.

GORDON MATTHEWS HEADS UTILITIES

Commencing his 13th year of service on the Peterborough Utilities Commission, Gordon S. Matthews was yesterday re-appointed chairman as the Commission held its first meeting of the New Year. Mr. Matthews has served ten years as chairman of the body.

Principal business of the brief 15-minute meeting was a discussion of the Hydro failure which resulted in a 20-minute power interruption for all Peterborough early in the afternoon of December 20. The Commission was of the opinion it was entitled to know the cause of the shutdown, reported at the time to be somewhere in the Belleville region, and directed its secretary, S. R. Armstrong, to inquire.

RELIEF CUT OFF

TILBURY, Ont., Jan. 15—(CP).—In the last two weeks 28 families have been dropped from the relief lists of this town near Chatham. They were dropped, officials said, because the provincial government is refusing to pay two-thirds of the cost.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

By an Examiner Reporter.

TRIBUTE TO 1937 COUNCIL.

A citizen who has been close to the municipal scene for many years asserted Friday night that in his opinion the council of 1937 impressed him as the best that had served Peterborough in his memory.

TO ADDRESS LIONS' CLUB

Deputy District Lions' Governor J. J. Brown of Bowmanville is to address the Peterborough Lions' Club Monday evening at the Hotel Champlain. A good program has been arranged for the regular meeting.

FORUM SPEAKER.

Alderman G. N. Gordon, K.C., is scheduled to address the Men's Forum in George Street United Church Sunday afternoon. He will speak on the crisis in the Far East, and has taken for his subject, "The Next Great War." The ladies are invited to the Forum on Sunday.

REACTION FROM HOUSE SHORTAGE

LAKEFIELD FAIR MEETING

The annual meeting of the Lakefield Agricultural Society will be held on Wednesday, January 19 at 2 p.m. in the Lakefield town hall for the election of officers, receiving reports and other business for the new year.

TO ADDRESS ROTARY

The speaker at Monday's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club will be Carl A. Salmonsen, works manager of the Canadian General Electric Co., who will speak on the subject "The Electrical Industry in its Relation to Peterborough."

LIBERAL ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough federal Liberal Association is announced for Tuesday, January 18 at 8 p.m. in the Moose Hall, Hunter street, for the election of officers and other business. A. L. Elliott, K.C., M.L.A., president, will be in the chair and the guest speaker will be Bruce McNevin, M.P. Omemee.

HEARS FROM SOUTH AFRICA

Ex-Mayor George Macdonald this week received a Christmas card from Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sharman, Johannesburg, South Africa which recalled the occasion of the visit to this city last summer of the South African lawn bowlers. Mr. Sharman, who was a member of the S.A. team, sent a card with design on the front which included, clasped hands, the words "Canada-South Africa" and the sentiment "strengthening the bonds."

SPRING DUCKS.

Hard-pressed snow shovellers may take some hope in the fact a flock of eight ducks were seen winging their way north quite low over the village of Lakefield on Friday evening. Open water on the Otonabee River in the vicinity gives the birds some encouragement for their early visit.

RUSH FOR LICENSES.

A line which began to form as early as eight o'clock in the morning taxed to the limit the license issuing facilities of the Chamber of Commerce today. It was readily apparent that a large portion of motorists will not sport their new markers until well into next week by reason of the congestion. About 40 per cent. of the cars to be seen on the streets today still bore the old faded 1937 plates.

GUESTS AT GAME

The children of the Children's Aid Society shelter and of St. Vincent's Orphanage were guests of the Peterborough Hockey Club at the junior hockey game between Havelock and Peterborough at Brock Street Rink last night. Transportation was furnished by L. Mitchell and the Peterborough Bus Lines. The children were supplied with peanuts and chocolate and apparently had a royal time.

Story Of Britain's Greatest Victory Found Hidden On Inside Page Of Paper

A most interesting souvenir is possessed by Harvey Staunton of this city in the form of a copy of the London Times of Thursday, November 7, 1805 in which the official story is given of the battle of Trafalgar and the death of Lord Nelson.

The issue, comprising four pages, strangely enough when viewed from the modern idea of newspapers, devotes its front page entirely to advertisements and it is necessary to turn inside to find that the British fleet had won one of the greatest victories in its history. As a matter of fact the description of the battle only succeeded in making the third page where it appears as an extract from the London Gazette giving the despatch from Vice-Admiral Collingwood, "Commander in chief of his Majesty's ships and vessels off Cadiz" telling of the defeat of the French and Spanish fleet and the killing of Nelson.

On the second page there is an editorial in which the engagement is referred to as "the most decisive victory that has ever been achieved by British skill and gallantry".

MRS. A. DONOGHUE IS 90 YEARS OLD

One of the oldest surviving native residents of Peterborough County, Mrs. Ann Donoghue celebrated her 90th birthday at her home, 264 Reid street, Friday. She received the congratulations and best wishes from many friends.

Almost the entire history of Peterborough and its district is within Mrs. Donoghue's exerience for she has spent her entire 90 years in and within a few miles of the city. She was born in Ennismore, daughter of Michael Crough and Bridget Carew, pioneer settlers from Ireland. She spent the greater part of her life on the land, coming to live in Peterborough when her husband, the late Robert Donoghue, retired thirty years ago.

Mrs. Donoghue is the last surviving member of a family of four girls and six boys. She celebrated the significant day very quietly.

DEPUTATIONS COST CITIZENS $173.67 DURING PAST YEAR

Expense sheets of deputations from the city council last year amounted to $173.67, according to a statement shown The Examiner to-day. At Monday night's meeting of the council Alderman Gordon asked for a monthly statement of deputation expenses. If there was any implication of undue expenditure, one of the aldermen remarked to-day, "we want the ratepayers to know the facts, and they will have no doubt about the comparatively small sum spent last year on the city's business that required deputations to go to Ottawa, Toronto and other places."

There were only twelve vouchers relating to deputations in 1937. They were as follows: Feb. 6, railway tickets to Toronto, re game and fisheries, Alderman Cotton, Dutton and Glover and Assistant City Clerk Outram, $19; expenses of that deputation $7.65.

Railway tickets to Ottawa re public buildings and canal road, $54.80, and individual expenses were Ald. Hamilton $7.15, Ald. Sloan $7.15, Mayor Macdonald $7.75, and City Engineer Parsons $2.75.

May 9—Ald. Glover and E. A. Outram, Toronto, re Johns Manville Co., $12.

Nov. 30—Expenses of Ald: Wilson, Ald. Dutton and Mr. Outram to Toronto re garbage collection, $11.90. Ald. McIntyre, Dutton, Wilson and Mr. Outram to Toronto and Hamilton re garbage enquiry, $12.82.

Deputation re fire insurance rates, tickets $8.70; expenses of Alderman Wilson, Cotton, Glover, Chief Gimblett, Ross Robbin, R. H. Parsons and E. A. Outram $22.

"We probably didn't travel far enough last year," was the comment to the Examiner. "We are not going to get factories if we stay at home like 'stick-in-the-muds.' A glance over that statement shows there were very few deputations, and the public knew they had gone and returned, and the total expense of only $173.67 indicates there was no undue cost to the ratepayers. There are always other items which are incurred as personal expenses and are not charged to the city."

Kai-Shek Appeals For Anglo-U.S. Aid

LONDON, Jan. 15 (C.P.-Havas).—General Chiang Kai-Shek to-day appealed for Anglo-American aid to China in its war against Japan.

"All I ask is active co-operation in keeping China supplied with war materials," the General said in an interview with Reuter's correspondent. "We feel we have the right to expect this at least after the pledges of support and sympathy England has given us."

C.I.D. EXPERT RETIRING

TORONTO, Jan. 15.— (CP).—Chief Inspector John Miller of the Criminal Investigation Department of Ontario Provincial Police, one of Ontario's best known police officials, will retire automatically upon receiving the age limit of 65 in April, it was learned to-day.

The Chief Inspector has been a member of the C.I.D. for 31 years and his connection with police work extends back 45 years.

The United States and Canada are expected to be represented at the World Power Conference in Vienna, Austria, from August 25 to September 2.

Peterborough's Private Bill Relating To The City Trust Will Be Referred To Minister

Agreement Reached Between Special Committee And City Trust

Peterborough's private bill relating to the City Trust Commission, its funds and its authority, will be referred to the Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, for an opinion as to whether the special legislation permits any transfer of the Commission's monies to the city treasurer for the reduction of local taxes.

This was the agreement reached at a conference of the Commissioners and a special committee of the council, Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen Glover, Cotton and Gordon, Friday afternoon. At the suggestion of Vincent Eastwood, chairman of the Commission, The Examiner was not present at the meeting which lasted about an hour from five to six o'clock. It was reported this morning that most of the points that were brought out in the same kind of session a year ago were reviewed Friday, and that the difference between the two groups was mainly an interpretation of the statute defining the duties of the Commission as trustees of the funds collected and required to meet the payment of the debentures and their interest as they fell due.

OBITUARY

MRS. CECELIA HARVIE.

The death of Mrs. Cecelia Harvie occurred at her home in Haliburton Friday evening, following an illness of three weeks. She was in her 77th year.

She was born in Gore's Landing and spent her entire lifetime in this district. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Albert Fox of Haliburton, and Mrs. Fannie Blodgett of Roseneath; and six sons, Kenard of Roseneath, Fred, Clifford and Royal of Haliburton, and Hampton and Frank A. of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Sunday at 1.15 p.m. from the Baptist Church in Haliburton to the Haliburton Cemetery.

ROBERT LINDSAY.

An illness of three months followed in the death of Robert Lindsay at his home, 531½ Park Street North, Friday. He was in his 87th year.

He was born in Ballaymaney County, Ireland, son of the late John Lindsay and Sarah Reiley. A tailor by trade, he came to this city from Dunbarton, Scotland, 13 years ago. He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral, and prided himself in unfailing daily attendance at church as long as his health permitted.

Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. McErlaine of Scotland, Mrs. John Boyle of Peterborough, Mrs. Harry Brown of Omemee, and Mrs. Greening of Suffern, N.Y., and four sons: Edward of Scotland, John and Robert of Yonkers, N.Y., and George of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Monday morning at 8.45 a.m. from the home of Mrs. John Boyle, 531½ Park Street North, to St. Peter's Cathdral for Mass at 9 a.m., and to St. Peter's Cemetery.

Plentiful Supply Of Beef And Pork

The Farmers' Market was almost exclusively a meat and dairy products market this morning, with most of the trade being done in the upstairs section, where protection was afforded against the biting zero winds.

Eggs were sold at 25 cents a dozen almost throughout the market. Chickens brought 20 to 25 cents a pound, ducks 25 cents, and turkeys 25 cents. Butter brought 32 and 33 cents a pound.

The offering of beef and pork was the largest of the season on the outdoor market. Eight and 10 cents and 9 and 11 cents were prices quoted on beef quarters. Pork sold at 12 and 14 cents and as high as 13 and 15 cents a pound. Lamb was 15 and 17 cents.

YOUNG MAN HALTS RUNAWAY TEAM

Taking a chance on slipping under the pounding hoofs as he ran alongside them for over a city block, a young man on Friday afternoon succeeded in halting a runaway team owned by Gordon Hancock, Smith Township farmer.

Apparently startled while standing outside Denne's feed warehouse the horses who were hitched to a sleigh galloped west on Simcoe street. Although it was around five o'clock, when downtown traffic is fairly heavy, the runaway horses got across Water street and George street intersections in safety.

With keen presence of mind and an apparent disregard for his own safety, a young man, stated by police to be Buck Shevtin (though a check-up by The Examiner suggests possibility of a mistake in the name), darted from the sidewalk and started off in pursuit of the team. He caught up with them in the vicinity of Montgomery House and grabbing the lines brought them to a halt.

BETHANY GOSPEL TABERNACLE
REV. W. McARTHUR, Pastor
11.00 A.M. SERVICES 7.00 P.M.
"It is the lack of prayer that lies at the root of all our troubles, and there is no remedy but in prayer. The habits of worldliness will never be broken by strong and fiery words of censure. The powerlessness of the church cannot be cured by reproach. Spiritual destitution and moral laxity are not to be removed by clever analysis and urgent appeal. Things will never be better until prayer is restored to its true place in the organization of the Church and the habits of individual believers. There is no substitute for prayer, but to prayer "all things are possible." If only the people of God could be baptized into a passion for prayer, life would quicken, miracles would return, souls would be saved, and coffers would overflow."—Rev. Samuel Chadwick.
Rev. W. McArthur urges the Christians of Peterborough to take up the prayer challenge for a spiritual awakening in this district and country.

CHAPTER 40.

I told myself that I had seen people happy in surroundings as primitive as ours; there were compensations in austere living; that my father and mother had been content on their little farm. I forgot, you see, that I had not been content; that I had asked for something more than ideals and aspirations. I had wanted luxury, beauty, a life packed to the brim with vivid experience, and I had gone forth to find it.

It was late when at last I rose and went out doors. The moon was flooding the valley, turning the stream which writhed through it into a silver serpent. The beauty was so intense that I was hurt by it, as if it mocked the ugliness of the things which man had made.

I felt that if Mimi were by my side, lifting her eyes to the hills, there could be between us no barrier or rancor or bitterness. I wanted to call her, but I dared not.

As I stood there, something brushed against me-a cold nose touched my hand. A great dog had come out of the shadows which struck athwart the house. He had been, I learned afterwards, my uncle's pet. He was a collie, and his name was Jason. By some subtle instinct he seemed to know me at once as the new master. He stood panting beside me, his tail waving like a plume.

I was glad to have him there. I had thought before he came that my loneliness was insupportable. The heavens had seemed empty, and the earth—and I a desolate atom in a desert of despair.

Mimi and I ate breakfast the next morning under the amazed eyes of Dora Hayes. In a sort of daze of admiration she set on the table the hot rolls which her mother had sent over, the ham and fried eggs, a great bowl of fresh cherries. She had never, I am sure, seen anyone like Mimi, slim and white in short skirt and sweater, her hair an oriflamme in the morning sun.

Dora's youth was scrawny and freckled and towheaded and badly dressed. Yet, I am convinced she felt no jealousy of Mimi, she gloated over her rather, as a child bloats over some newly discovered treasure.

Mimi played her part, as mistress of the house, pleasantly. She asked if she might have an egg boiled instead of fried, and she ate cherries while she waited.

"The cherries are from our own orchard," I told her.

Her eyes met mine coldly, "Are they?"

"Yes. I picked them. I've been out looking over the place." I tried to speak easily. "It isn't so bad."

Hot color flamed up into her cheeks, but she said nothing. And presently Dora came back with the egg, and Mimi asked her a question or two—whether her mother had really risen so early to bake the bread, and the name of the collie, who stood waving his plumed tail outside of the screen door.

The collie, Dora said, had missed and mourned my uncle. "Mr. Chandler had been travelling before he died, you know, and he didn't live long after he came back here. Mother and I nursed him. And Jason never left him. He goes up the mountain every day and sits a long time by Mr. Chandler's grave, and then he seems to be satisfied. And he always stays in this house. We can't get him to come to us—we don't try any more. . . ."

"Let him in, Jerry," Mimi said, and I rose and unlatched the screen. The big dog, with a flash of his eye for me, went straight up to Mimi and stood by her side, his ears cocked. He seemed to be waiting for her to make the first move in the affair of their friendship.

"Jason?" said Mimi, "I wonder why?"

"Perhaps because of his golden fleece," I ventured.

The big dog still waited. "Jason?" Mimi said again, and this time it was an interrogation, "How much are you going to love me?"

He gave a quick bark as if he understood and answered. It was his pledge of loyalty. He dropped down on the floor by her chair, laid his head on his paws, his bright eyes seeming to weigh us as he watched.

Jason from that day was Mimi's dog in a way he was never mine; although he gave me an unwavering devotion. He became her guardian, the companion of her walks, her protector—there were times when I envied him the hours he spent with her, and from which I was shut out.

He followed us this morning when breakfast was finished, and we went out on the porch. I had said, "Come and look at our farm, Mimi," and she had hesitated. But Dora's eyes were upon us. She was clearing the table with much clattering of dishes.

"You'd better put on your hat, Mrs. Chandler," she volunteered, "you'll get all freckled."

Our house stood on the side of the mountain, with the ranch lands on the broad lower level which might, in prehistoric times, have formed the oed of some great river. The barns were red-painted like the house, the chickens and ducks gave a kaleidoscope effect of many colors at this distance, the pigeons snow-dotted the roofs. There were cows in the pasture, and men and horses in the wide meadows. Towards the west were the cherry orchards, their round-topped trees like great bouquets; beyond the orchards a neighboring mountain rose silver-crested against a sapphire sky.

I wanted to say, "God made it," as my father had so often said, when we worshipped beauty. But I lacked the courage to speak my thoughts to Mimi. I had my first sharp sense of a point of divergence in our ideals.

What I said was, "Mimi, doesn't all this make up a bit for the house?"

She did not look at me. "Jerry, nothing can make up. I'm not fitted for this life. I don't know where to begin. . . ."

Something seemed to die in me. Through the darkness which had fallen upon me I tried to grope my way back to the words of that radiant ceremony, "For better or for worse . . . for richer . . . for poorer. . . ."

Mimi had never meant them. She had said she could not be poor. And I, knowing how she felt, had urged her to perjure herself with a promise.

Well, I wouldn't hold her to it. I spoke with an effort—"I have no right to ask you to stay, Mimi."

She turned on me her startled glance, "What do you mean?"

"I thought it all over last night. The best thing we can do is to go back to St. Louis."

"But we can't go back!"

"Why not?"

"Do you think I could face them? No. We'll stick it out somehow. I couldn't bear to have my friends know how I had been—fooled."

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY DIGS OUT

"One! Two Three!" counted Uncle Wiggily.

No, he wasn't counting the Bad Chaps though there were three of them—the Fox, the Wolf, and the Bob Cat.

"Four! Five! Six!" counted the rabbit gentleman.

Uncle Wiggily was numbering shovels of snow that he was tossing as fast as he could from a big bank, or pile, of the white flakes in front of his bungalow.

"Wiggy, what in the world are you doing?" called his rabbit lady wife from the porch. She had been sitting near a window while she mended some of the holes in the stockings of the forty 'leven sixteen rabbit children when she saw her rabbit husband tossing snow from the pile.

"I'm shoveling snow, my dear," answered Mr. Longears. And he went on counting "Five hundred! Six hundred! Seven hundred!"

Asks Why.

"What's the use of shoveling snow from that pile?" asked Mrs. Longears. "You shoveled the snow off the path a little while ago, and made a big bank. Now you are shoveling it all on the paths again. Why are you digging into that snow bank?"

"Just because it is a bank, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily while Buster, Custer and others of the rabbit children stood watching their shovelling daddy. "I told Tootsie and Wootsie they shouldn't spend their pennies for candy, but ought to put them in a bank," went on the bunny gentleman.

"But being the newest of our little rabbits," said Mrs. Longears, "they have no banks."

"I was going to get them little savings banks, made like the Hollow Tree School with a hole in the chimney where they could drop down their pennies," said Uncle Wiggily. "Then I gave them each a penny. They ran out and they must have thought I meant this snow bank for they dropped their pennies in it."

"How do you know?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Buster and Custer told me," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Did you?" asked Mrs. Longears of the older rabbit boys.

"We saw Tootsie and Wootsie back of the snow pile," said Buster. "They said something about going to put their pennies in a bank. Then Custer and I flopped around in the snow ——"

"Yes, and you made the snow slide down and cover your little twin brothers!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "They aren't here. They must be inside the snow bank. I'll dig in and dig them out.

Falls In.

Uncle Wiggily dug faster and faster and faster. All of a sudden he dug far into the snow bank and then he fell in himself out of sight.

"Here we are!"

"Oh, my goodness!" cried Nurse Jane.

"Mercy me!" cried Mrs. Longears. "Quick! Get shovels! We must dig Daddy out!" cried Buster.

"I-I-pff-wuff-I can dig myself out!" said Uncle Wiggily. "I turned a flop doodle and fell on my head and couldn't get up right away," he said. So he dug himself out but when he had scattered all of the snow bank he didn't find Tootsie and Wootsie in it.

"Where are they?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Here we are!" laughed the two little twins suddenly appearing from where they had gone down to the corner to slide on the ice. "We weren't in that snow bank at all! But our pennies are!"

Mr. Longears twinkled his pink nose. And if the coal man will stop putting ice cream cones in the oven to boil for breakfast, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the pennies.

To Your Social Graces Add Fortune-Telling

Spring a knowledge of tea-leaf reading on your latest beau. You'll take on new glamor in his eyes.

See that there are plenty of leaves left in the teacup to reveal fully the secrets of his future.

Then have him turn the cup around three times, rim down, make a wish and hand the cup to you.

Will his wish come true? Yes, if you find three leaves in an absolutely straight line.

The cup's handle represents your fortune-seeking friend. The nearer the handle the tea leaves are, the sooner your predictions will be fulfilled.

Use lots of imagination to weave a story from the "pictures" you see. A pipe—no matter how sketchy—foretells adventure, while an aeroplane promises success. A wheel indicates a legacy; a swan, marriage.

Our 32-page booklet explains 75 tea-leaf symbols. Tells other fascinating fortune-telling ways: cards, dominoes, horoscopes, fortunes-in-the-fire.

Looking Back
On This Date

Sixty years ago today a political convention in Toronto took action which revolutionized Canadian politics and made the tariff the biggest issue between the two political parties. The Conservative party was then at about as low an ebb as it is today, in a great minority in the House of Commons, while the governments of the four original provinces were all under Liberal control. Yet the signs were not missing that the people felt that they had made a mistake in substituting Mackenzie for Macdonald. The great commercial depression, the exodus to the United States, and the refusal of Mackenzie to embark upon large public works all aided in changing public opinion. Sir John, who had never lost heart during the crisis which followed his ejection from office in 1873, had realized this and had twice in the House of Commons moved resolutions in favor of tariff reform, which had, of course, been voted down by the Liberal majority.

Sir John had done a lot of campaigning in the summer and fall of 1877 and was convinced that with a united party he could regain office. Accordingly he called a great convention to meet in Toronto on January 14, 1878. It was held in the Shaftesbury Hall, and was the most enthusiastic party rally in Canada until the equally great Liberal convention at Ottawa in 1893, two years after Sir John's death.

On January 15, Sir John placed before the convention his famous National Policy resolution, which stated:

"1. They (the delegates) are satisfied that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a national financial policy which, by a judicious readjustment of the tariff, will benefit and foster the agricultural, mining and manufacturing interests of the Dominion.

"2. That no such readjustment will be satisfactory to the interests affected, or to the country, if adopted as a provisional means only—to meet a temporary exigency—nor unless it is made and carried out as a national policy.

"3. That until a reciprocity of trade can be established with our neighbors, Canada should move in the direction of reciprocity of tariffs so far as her varied interests may demand.

"4. That it is the duty of the people of Canada to force upon the attention of the government and parliament of the Dominion the necessity of carrying out these views, and to withhold or withdraw their confidence from any government, which may fail, from want of will or want of ability, to enforce them by legislative enactment."

These resolutions written by Sir John himself (the original document is now the treasured possession of Acton Burrows, of Toronto, a secretary of the 1878 convention) was given enthusiastic endorsation by the convention. It was submitted to the House of Commons and voted down March 13, but on September 17 the Tories won victory in every province but New Brunswick and John A. went back to office, to remain until his death, June 6, 1891.

DOROTHY DIX

When Mother and Grown Daughter Get On Each Other's Nerves, It Is Time for the Latter to Break Away and Set Up a Home of Her Own.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have three impossible situations and see no way out of them. My home life has always been unpleasant, with nothing but bitterness and ill-feeling existing in it. My mother scarcely has a civil word for me. I have been there too long now, being in my early thirties, and I am just another woman in the house whose presence she resents. My work is slowly killing me. I make fairly good money, but the incessant hurry and noise is wrecking my nerves and I know I will not last long at it. The best man in the world loves me, but he is also mixed up in a situation which seems hopeless and we do not know when, or if, we can ever get married. Anyway, my life has been led in such a confused and frustrated manner that I doubt if I could make a good wife for any man. Is there anything I can do? HELPLESS.

Answer:

The only reason you are helpless and miserable is because you lack the courage to look your situation squarely in the face, and do the one thing that is so plainly indicated that it would seem that even a blind person could see it.

That is: To leave your mother. The friction between her and yourself, and the morbid state of mind that it has brought about, is at the bottom of all your troubles. Probably she is just as mentally sick as you are and just as anxious to be rid of you as you are of her, yet you go on living together, rubbing each other's nerves raw, making life intolerable for each other, and you haven't sense enough to part.

Many mothers and daughters who are good women and who are really fond of each other cannot live together in peace and harmony. They are antagonistic by nature and everything that one says and does is the fighting word to the other. They bring out everything that is worst in each other's nature.

They are literally poison to each other, yet they are so bound by the tradition that because of the relationship in which they stand to each other that they must not part that they go on quarreling and hating each other and spoiling each other's lives when they would be happy if they only went their own ways.

You are making a good salary, so are financially independent, and I urge you, for your mother's sake as well as your own, to grab your hat and leave immediately. Preferably, go to live in some nice boarding house, because what you need is cheerful companionship, strangers who will take your mind off your troubles and give you something new to think about. It will be far better for you to live in a crowd than by yourself until your mind gets back to normal.

After you get away from your mother you will find that the morbid state you have got into about your work will also pass. You will see it then as something interesting to do, something that is an untold blessing because it gives you the money to live a free life, and you will realize that it has no more objectionable features than every employment has by which we earn our daily bread. All of us have our times of getting bored with our jobs and thinking we can't go on any longer, but if we try we can overcome this mood and renew our interest and enthusiasm in them.

And urge your fiance to summon up his will power, too, and cut the Gordian knot that binds him. So many things we think we have to endure that we don't really have to stand at all. So many obstacles seem insurmountable because we never honestly try to overcome them. Where there is a will there is a way out of trouble.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Should grown children be allowed to choose their own friends, or should their parents choose them? I am 19 and have no girl or boy friends because I can't find any one of whom my mother and father, sister and brother approve. If a boy comes to see me the whole family laughs at him and makes so much fun of him that I am ashamed to invite him to our house any more. All the girl friends I have ever had were picked to pieces. My mother and father and my sister and brother have no friends. They say they don't like outsiders. But I like people. Am I right in this, or are they right in wanting us just to live to ourselves?

A LONELY AND FRIENDLESS GIRL.

Answer:

You are right and your family is wrong. No matter how devoted we are to the members of our household, we need outside contacts. We need to have our point of view broadened by association with others, and most of all we need to learn to sympathize with our fellow creatures and understand them.

The family circle is necessarily a small one and those who live entirely within it get narrow and opinionated and selfish and dull. Parents should encourage their children to make friends, not only because friendship brings us one of the finest joys of life, but because friends are a great asset in pushing our fortunes. It is our friends who give us a hand up when we are starting out on our careers, who patronize us, who sing our praises and bring us to the notice of others. The ability to make and keep friends is one of the greatest talents any one can have.

If your parents wish you to be an old maid, they could take no better method of inflicting that fate upon you than by letting every young man who comes to the house see that he is unwelcome. For how is a young man to find out he is in love with a girl and wants to marry her if he never gets a chance to get acquainted with her or see her against the background of her own home?

How is a girl to fall in love with a boy when her family always holds him up to ridicule and make fun of everything he does and says? Many a girl has been kept from getting a good husband by the illtimed jests of her family.

Perhaps if you can make your family realize how unkind they are to you and what harm they are doing you, they will let you have friends even if they do not desire any for themselves.

DEAR MISS DIX—Should a man go where his business opportunities call him, or stay in the place where he likes to live? We boys have been discussing this and we feel that we would rather have a moderate income than give up our homes, families and friends for the prospects of all the wealth in the world. For, after all, what good will money do you if you are unhappy in your surroundings? A. Z.

Answer:

It all depends upon how ambitious you are. Much is to be said on both sides of the subject, but if your heart is set on success you will be happy feeling that you are achieving your desire, no matter where you are. DOROTHY DIX.

THE EXAMINER FASHION SERVICE

A darling little crepe dress with young swathed girdle that makes the waistline look really diminutive. It's the sort of dress smart women find indispensable...for morning shopping and off to luncheons, bridge, teas, etc., in the afternoon ...for it's practical yet dressy. Unbelievably inexpensive...and the easiest dress ever to sew...a few seams to join...it's finished! A gay crepe print is another nice suggestion...and perhaps you'll like the open high at the throat neckline version...included in the pattern.

Style No. 2042 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material with ¾-yard of 39-inch contrasting and ½-yard of fringe.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, January 16

Sunday's horoscope is an excellent one for affairs of church and clergy, and for study, elders and old institutions. It is a fine time for seeking promotion or favors, honors or signs of preferment from superiors and those in authority. Refrain from strife and temperamental exhibitions.

Those whose birthday it is find themselves with splendid prospects for promotion, honors, preferment and substantial tokens of approval and favoritism from employers, superirs and those in influential positions. Seek these, but with restraints on tongue and temper.

A child born on this day may be impulsive and hasty, but should have sound judgment, common sense and solid ambitions which should secure it high position and the indorsement of its superiors and fellow workers.

For Monday, January 17

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather conflicting one. There is promise of fortunate transactions with rings, political, diplomatic or fraternal organizations, or by means of subtle alliances. But there are signs of sudden upsets and disturbances, probably brought about by vexatious, tricky or caustic speech or writings.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of complications or contradictions, with some gain possible through dealing secretly or with secret organizations, whereas open, vexatious and overclever speech and writings may prove detrimental.

A child born on this day may have a rather difficult nature to understand, being subtle, crafty and shrewd and, at the same time, open, quick and sharp of speech, critical and lacking in "policy."

HOUSING PLAN FOR NATIVES

Five thousand houses will be built in Korsten and New Brighton, South Africa, for the housing of natives moved from slum hovels, which will be razed.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

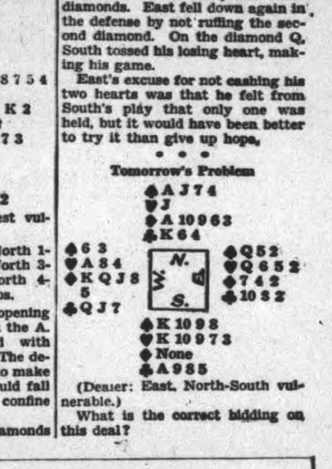
"The Authority on Authorities"

BE SURE TO SET IT

WHEN YOU HAVE an absolutely certain way to beat the declarer's contract, it is highly foolhardy to gallivant around with efforts to set him more than one trick, at the possible risk of enabling him to make it. Your all important job at such a juncture is to head off the danger of his making the game and then do your gambling for other tricks later.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

Here South bid 1-Club, North 1-Diamond, South 3-Clubs, North 3-Hearts, South 4-Clubs, North 4-Diamonds and South 5-Clubs.

The spade K was West's opening lead, which South won with the A. The spade 6 was ruffed with dummy's singleton trump. The declarer felt he had a chance to make the contract if the club would fall in two leads and he could confine his losses to two hearts.

With the fear that diamonds might be ruffed, the declarer led a heart from dummy, which East won with the K. Knowing that he was sure of a trump trick and having won one heart trick, East had nothing to lose by trying a second heart, but he switched to a spade, which South ruffed.

When two rounds of trumps disclosed a loser in that suit, declarer led a diamond with the hope that the holder of the trump held three diamonds. East fell down again in the defense by not ruffing the second diamond. On the diamond Q, South tossed his losing heart, making his game.

East's excuse for not cashing his two hearts was that he felt from South's play that only one was held, but it would have been better to try it than give up hope.

What is the correct bidding on this deal?

STAMP CORNER

BY JAMES MONTAGNES

Four values of India's new pictorial issue showing the development of India's postal services are shown ABOVE, featuring a Dak tonga, Dak runner, mail aeroplane and mail train. Other values show a bullock cart, camel post, mail automobile and fast mail steamer. In CENTRE is seen the new French "Winged Victory" stamp from the famous statue in the Paris Louvre.

—Stamps courtesy Stanley Gibbons, Ltd, London, England, and Marks Stamp Co. Ltd., Toronto.

The small Negro republic of Haiti, in the West Indies, which was recently in the news because of the massacre of thousands of its citizens on the Haitian-Dominican boundary, is well known among stamp collectors as a country which issues beautiful pictorial stamps. Canada not long ago made a trade treaty with the small republic which occupies half of the second largest island in the West Indies.

Haiti's stamps date back from 1881, when a simple stamp with a Liberty head, common to many American staps, was issued. In 1887 the first of its soldier's appeared on a stamp, and in 1891 the country's coat-of-arms (cannon, flags, a palm tree and Liberty cap) was featured, to remain on various issues for many years. The Negro patriot, Toussaint l'Ouverture, who led the uprising toward the end of the 18th century when the Negroes took the country from the French colonists, appeared on the centenary of independence issue in 1904. Various presidents and soldiers of the Negro country have been featured too as late as 1933. Pictorials of Haiti first appeared in 1906 for external use, and others have ben issued since 1920, including the famous Christophe's castle, palace of Sans Souci, and similar historic landmarks of the Negro kings of the early days of the country which are seen by all tourists of the West Indies.

In 1936 Haiti honored the famous novelist Dumas, his father and son, with a set of three stamps bearing the three portraits. Air-mail stamps appeared in 1929, and a second issue in 1936. Scarcest air-mail from Haiti is a regular postage with a map showing the route of a non-stop flight from Haiti to New York in 1933.

A large number of overprinted and surcharged issues make Haiti's stamps worth extra study by more advanced collectors.

Useful Hints: Keep clippings of new issues of countries in which you specialize. It makes it easier to keep track of the many new issues which appear nowadays.

A new air-mail route opens on Jan. 24 with a stop at Germansen landing on the Prince George-Takla landing air-mail route of the Canadian post-office. Special cachets will be issued, envelopes for the opening of the route to be in the hands of the postal superintendent at Edmonton.

The United States is understood to be putting the finishing touches on a new regular postage set, in addition to special commemoratives for the early part of the year . . . San Marino is issuing a special miniature sheet featuring Abraham Lincoln . . . Manchoukuo has issued a new six-value set showing new government buildings in the capital of the Japanese puppet state, Hsinking . . . Japan has issued two more values to its new pictorial regular issue . . . Costa Rica has issued a short postage and air-mail set for the National Exhibition in December, and a four-value set of triangular stamps for the National Philatelic Exhibition . . . The Canary Islands are understood to be issuing two sets of air-mail staps at an early date, one for interior and the other for exterior use. .Czechoslovakia will print in March a miniature sheet to the late President Masaryk . . . The Dominican and Ecuador republics are about to issue commemorative stamps to the 150th anniversary of the United States constitution . . . In connection with Austrlia's 150th anniversary of its first white settlement, the Philatelic Exhibition at Sydney, opening April 4, will issue special commemorative envelopes and stickers, which will be mailed at 9 cents per envelope, including postage and sticker, if money is forwarded in time to Hunter McRae, honorary secretary, 77 Elizabeth St., Sydney, Australia.

SAYS LOST HEART, LARCENY

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 16 (AP).—Joel Rhinefort, assistant prosecutor, had to advise the disconsolate young man that he couldn't be of much help "unless the D.Y.M. changed his mind about the charge to be filed."

The young lady, said the disconsolate young man, "stole my heart."

He wanted to prosecute her for larceny.

HOLLYWOOD

Rochelle Hudson

HOLLYWOOD—It was hushed up—an annoyer at the home of Rochelle Hudson. The trap was carefully laid, for some time the star had been receiving letters, with indications that the writer soon would present himself at her home. Patrol cars were kept in the vicinity and the actress was told to dial a certain number when the suspect showed up. No conversation was to be necessary. Dialing the number was to be the signal.

It worked so well that radio cars were at the star's door within one minute after her mother dialed the call. The annoyer was arrested and booked temporarily on a vagrancy charge.

Olivia de Havilland couldn't have been more surprised than she was by news from the east that James Blakeley would offer her an engagement ring. If he should, she says, it won't be accepted. . . Claudette Colbert's trip to France will be her 17th Atlantic.

Clark Gable

Don Terry has packed a tent in the back of his car and will rough it for a month in Arizona. . . . Geoffrey Homes, author of the mystery story, "The Man Who Murdered Goliath," is really Dan Mainwaring of the Warner press department. . . . Clark Gable's new plaything, a 50-calibre elephant gun, knocked him down the first time he fired it. He and Victor Fleming still stolk about going to Africa. . . . And Richard Dix, a Hollywood spender in his early days, now own two homes, a ranch, two apartment houses and a bungalow court.

According to information just received by Errol Flynn, the publication of his book, "Beam Ends," has been barred in Germany. For the reason, believe it or not, that the story is not serious enough.

The Dick Forans are unhappy over the rumors that they are tiffing. They expect the baby the last week in April, and, according to Dick, never were so in love as now.

Makeup job on Robert Morley, who plays Louis XVI in "Marie Antoinette," is said to be so nearly perfect that the studio will shoot a scene of the English actor standing alongside an eighteenth century: picture of the monarch, painted from life.

Usually, in scenes like this, the art department does a portrait of the actor in makeup.

Director Wesley Ruggles, vacationing in Europe, is cutting quite a figure over there. He was to lecture three days at the University of Zurich in Switzerland.

Have news of an interesting reunion staged in Alabama by Lois Wilson screen favorite of a few years back. Lois used to be a seventh grade school teacher in Birmingham. Appearing there in a road company of "The Women," she invited all 30 members of her old class to attend a performance of the show. Eleven were still living in Birmingham and accepted the invitation.

Up comes Director Richard Wallace with the idea for something new in the way of drive-in-service Dick owns a lot near the Gilmore stadium. He is going to improve it with a drive-in cigar store. Razor blades and other knick-knacks also will be on sale.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan 15—The most daring bit of casting in many a moon is the combination of Luise Rainer and Nelson Eddy in a story being whipped into shape right now for them on the M-G-M- lot. For some time studio officials have made no secret of their worries in obtaining the right story for Luise—and it is particularly important now since she has been off the screen so long.

While great secrecy surrounds the actual story it is rumored that La Rainer will be seen as a princess of India, with Nelson in uniform as an English officer who falls in love with her. But even more startling than anything else is the rumor that Eddy won't warble a note—marking his very first time on the screen without singing! Add to daring experiments M-G-M's brain wave in forgetting Eddy's voice and teaming him as an actor with last year's academy winner.

Fate in England

The fate of future Hollywood production in England hangs on two pictures and will be determined within the next few weeks when these films are previewed for the press. There is "A Yank at Oxford," the Robert Taylor opus which M-G-M- made abroad and which will be ready for its final preview in a few days, and "He Was Her Man," the Twentieth Century - Fox musical drama starring Gracie Fields and Victor McLaglen. The latter is in process of being cut and scored and should be ready soon. Technical difficulties abroad are such that unless the pictures are excellent, it is doubtful if American producers will continue to make pictures in England.

'Kidnaped' Reshots

The scenes already filmed for "Kidnaped" will be entirely reshot. Darryl Zanuck, who saw the rushes on his return from New York, ordered them all put in the ashcan and new ones made immediately with Al Werker directing. Otto Preminger, who started the picture with Warner Baxter and Freddie Bartholomew, will be given another story more suited to his talents. He is a famous Hungarian director and the Robert Louis Stevenson story was probably not the ideal choice for him.

Zanuck is determined to make this an outstanding picture and when he felt his company had gotten off to a bad start, he had the courage to destroy the scenes already shot.

Good Excitement

The excitement of the Perry-Vines tennis match surpassed anything in Hollywood—even horse racing. When a, photographer's flash bulb went off at the wrong time and Fred Perry missed a play, the spectators were in an uproar and yelled "Put him out." The newspaper photographers and magazine boys were all in a corner watching the game, but at the threatened riot they started investigating and found that the culprit was the tennis club's own publicity man. Margaret Sullavan was probably photographed more than any other actress at the matches. Supposedly because she makes so few public appearances and is always good copy.

Lupe Goes Out

Chatter in Hollywood: For the last three nights Lupe Velez has been stepping out with Jon Hall, and believe it or not, it doesn't mean trouble with Johnny Weissmuller. According to Lupe, she and Johnny have worked out a way to make their marriage enduring. She will go where she wants and he will go where he wants, without questions on either side. Just how long such an arrangement will continue, nobody can say, but so far Lupe says it is highly successful. Johnny occasionally dines with her, but when he has another date, she doesn't question him. But one thing, she said, there won't be a divorce—she's through with all that nonsense. As for Johnny, he doesn't say anything.

Cast Franchot Tone

Ursula Parrott, who writes so expertly on affairs of the heart in spite of having three divorces to her credit, among them her recent legal parting from John Wildberg, has sold M-G-M- her latest story, "Infidelity," soon to be published in Cosmopolitan. It tells of a married couple whose renewed acquaintances with schoolday sweethearts endangers their happiness. A little too early to cast, but it is understood Rosalind Russell and Franchot Tone will probably head the roster.

Changes Name

A line or two: Georgianna Belzer, Loretta Young's small sister, has changed her name to Ann Royal after a family conference attended by Loretta, Sally Blane and Polly Ann Young, her other sisters. All decided the real moniker was too long. Jack Oakie and his 200 and some odd pounds will add to the hilarity of "Carefree," Fred Astaire's next opery. Mark Sandrich, who has been successful with the Astaire-Rogers pictures in the past, will again direct. Eddie Goulding will emcee the Hollywood Hotel celebration next Monday. He used to live at the famous holstery and knows much of its history. Many of movieland's best known celebrities have entered Bing Crosby's open golf tournament at Del Mar January 16. Marjorie Weaver gets the femme lead in "Kentucky Moonshine" and it appears Ensign George Schacht is really the bridegroom in spite of Marjorie's denials.

Big Brother

As if Bonnie's wedding isn't trouble enough, Dad Jones (Jed Prouty, above) adopts the toughest kid in town in "Borrowing Trouble," the Jones Family's latest Twentieth Century-Fox hit.

JESSIE MATTHEWS BACK HOME

Jessie Matthews, Gaumont star, returned from the South of France early this week to begin work on her forthcoming production, "Asking for Trouble." Her current musical, "Sailing Along, has now left the cutting room and will be released here shortly.

"STRANGE BOARDERS" STARTS AT FINEWOOD

Production has started at Gaumont's Pinewood studio on the screen version of E. Phillips Oppenheim's novel, "The Strange Boarders of Palace Crescent." Renee Saint-Cyr, French film star, has been imported to play the leading feminine role.

PUNCHBOARD TEST

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 15 (CP). — As a test of Canada's gambling laws, a London Court will be asked to decide whether possessing a punchboard is "keeping a gaming house." A charge against William Murray of London will be used as the test.

"This will be a test case," Crown Attorney Norman Newton said in court to-day. "We intend to proceed by way of indictment."

Magistrate Menzies set the preliminary hearing for January 21.

The prosecution will ask to have the case tried by a higher court.

CITY COUNCIL CHAMBERS FILLED AS GIFT MADE

Denne to introduce the subject of the gift of the Park.

Shunned Publicity

"Our good friend Mr. Morrow is a modest and shy man and hasn't shown up, and I doubt if he will," Mr. Denne said. "When the matter was first mentioned to us he intimated that he did not want one word of publicity, but we couldn't let the opportunity pass without thanking him for his fine gift to the agricultural and industrial interest of the city and county."

Mr. Denne called on Rev. Dr. Barr who said Mr. Morrow's gift of the Exhibition Park was one of the finest things that had happened in Peterborough. "To show that it is worthy of us as citizens we should thank God for the genercsity that inspired this gift." Rev. Dr. Barr then led the large company of men in a prayer of thanksgiving and blessing for Mr. Morrow.

Rev. J. P. Kelly said that from his childhood he had known the late Bertie Morrow and his son Harold, "and I can understand very well the feeling of citizenship that urged Mr. Morrow to make this gift. No other person in Peterborough wishes more sincerely than he for the progress of the city and county, and in my conversations with him I could see that he had a paternal interest in our part of the citizens. I thank God for the excellent means he has taken of promoting recreation in the community, and for his gift that will have the effect of uniting the city and county more intimately. We all hope that it will bring further success to our agricultural society."

Adjutant C. Warrander, president of the Ministerial Society, said he associated himself with the previous speakers in their words of appreciation. "Whatever affects the material man also affects the spiritual man, and this park will have an effect on our material life for the good of the whole community. And we add our thanks to Mr. Morrow with the rest of the citizens."

Boon to Exhibition

Hon. G. N. Gordon spoke of the announcement of Mr. Morrow's gift as one of the most grateful surprises we have had in recent years. Mr. Morrow was a man of means who was able to share it with those who were living in his own day, and he had done so. "It will relieve the directors of the Exhibition who for years have been carrying on under a heavy responsibility, and in spite of the depression have built up a high class exhibition. Mr. Morrow's gift means that the directors will be placed in a better position to make improvements to the Exhibition that has been carried on so well during the years. I am glad to have this opportunity of expressing my appreciation to Mr. Morrow."

Confidence in Directors

"Mr. Morrow has shown his confidence in the directors by turning over the property of the Exhibition," Mayor Hamilton said, "and he has also shown his interest in the success of the Exhibition and his own appreciation of what has been accomplished in the past. I think that is particularly gratifying to the men who worked for the success of the Exhibition. I believe as Mr. Gordon has said that this will be a great thing to the Board, and that it will assist them to carry out some of the plans which they have not been able to go ahead with in the past. There is no reason why the Peterborough Exhibition should not be one of the best in Ontario and Canada, and I want to add my admiration of Mr. Morrow for his splendid gift to the community."

Warden Brown

Warden Roy Brown of Apsley said it was a pleasure for him to be present on such an important occasion, and to express on behalf of the citizens of the county their appreciation of Mr. Morrow's fine gift. "It has been a very timely gift in the progress of the Exhibition, not only because it will be an inspiration to the older directors, but also to the younger members who are beginning to take an active interest as new directors. I don't know of anything that could have been of more help to them because it will make things more attractive to them as they assume responsibility and they can look forward to long service because as directors they know there is no longer any question about the Exhibition Park. I am glad to express for the ratepayers of the county our appreciation of Mr. Morrow's gift to the Exhibition Board."

A. L. Elliott, M.L.A.

Alex L. Elliott, M.L.A., expressed the hope that Mr. Morrow's generous and very tangible gift and the fine sentiment of public interest that accompanied it would act as a stimulant to others. "The appreciation of the value of the Exhibition, which Mr. Morrow has manifested by his gift, will be a great encouragement to the directors, men like Mr. Brown and Mr. Denne who have been president of the Exhibition. I mention them as representatives of all those associated with them. One of Mr. Morrow's motives was no doubt his appreciation of those men and the work they have done in this community; and also of the value of the Exhibition to the county and district."

In concluding this phase of the meeting Mr. Denne said he wished to repeat Mr. Elliott's hope that other citizens would come forward "and help the city along."

Formal Vote of Thanks

E. F. Mason moved a formal vote of thanks to Mr. Morrow, which was seconded by Gordon Hancock.

"We have many things to be thankful for to Mr. Morrow and his father," Mr. Mason said. "If it had not been for their generosity, and for the splendid encouragement they gave the directors from time to time, I don't think the Exhibition Board would be in existence today."

The motion passed by a standing vote was as follows:

"The Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, in formally accepting the magnificent gift of the Exhibition Grounds from Mr. Harold A. Morrow, wish to place on record an expression of our most sincere gratitude to the donor.

"We regard this splendid offer as a climax to the assistance that has been given so freely and generously over a long period of years both by Mr. Morrow's well-beloved Father, the late R. A. Morrow and Mr. Morrow himself, without which assistance it would have been impossible for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition to have carried on.

"The debt of gratitude we owed Morrow, even before this overwhelmingly generous gift, was huge and today we feel that words, no matter how sincerely meant, fall short of expressing our feelings.

"The presentation of this splendid property will be an incentive to every member of the Exhibition Board to build the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition into a greater and more worthwhile Exhibition.

"We are sure that every citizen of Peterborough, grateful for the addition of this very fine grounds to the city's system of parks, will join us in this inadequate expression of thanks to Mr. Harold A. Morrow."

Lindsay Citizens Are Being Treated To Distinctive Flavoring Of Alum

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Jan. 15.—Local citizens are being served water with a distinctive flavor or taste these days, which has caused considerable comment. It is explained that an official from the Department of Health has been experimenting with activate carbon and alum in an effort to improve the water. On top of this situation comes a statement from a member of the local Board of Health, who states that he had been informed that while alterations and additions were being made at the pump house that traces of fusel oil had been found in the weeds. Members of the Board could not understand how the oil could be found in the river. If this was the case, it was pointed out, the oil would be in such small proportion as to be harmless.

In the police court on Friday a young man named W. Staulker, faced Magistrate Gee charged with the theft of metal from the Board of Water Commissioners. It is alleged the accused, for whom the police had been searching, entered the storehouse and removed the metal, which he sold to a junk dealer. He was remanded in custody until Friday.

J. McGinnis, of East Ops, who was charge with the theft of a tire from a Norland resident, was given two years' suspended sentence on payment of costs and making restitution.

OBITUARY

HENRY KELLY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 16.—Henry Kelly passed away very suddenly with pneumonia on Monday at the home of his brother, Joseph Kelly, Elzevir.

He was born in the township of Hungerford in September, 1906, the younger son of John Kelly and the late Mrs. Kelly. He was a staunch Catholic.

Surviving are his father, John Kelly, Elzevir; two sisters, Rev. Sister Mary of St. Aurelius, St. Raphael's West, and Mrs. Giles Shields, Ottawa, also one brother, Joseph at home.

The funeral which was largely attended was held on Wednesday, at 10 a.m. at St. Henry's Catholic Church, Queensboro. Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Hyland. Interment was in St. Henry's Cemetery, with Father Hyland officiating at the graveside.

The bearers were Paul Kelly, Leo Nolan, Joseph Laton, Jack Quinn, Franklin Carol, Michael Healey.

GEORGE EMERSON LOTT.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 15.—After a lengthy illness, George Emerson Lott, a lifelong resident of the County of Hastings, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday evening. He was born in the Township of Sidney 70 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lott, and as a young man he took up farming and was engaged in that profession all his life. He moved from Sidney Township to Thurslow many years ago, and was highly respected and well-known in his community. He was a faithful member of Zion United Church. His wife predeceased him eight years ago. Surviving are two sons, Grant and Ross, at home; three brothers: S. B. Lott of Frankford, Ernest Lott of Hamilton, Alva Lott of Vancouver, B.C.; two sisters: Mrs. Edith Cadman, Holloway, and Mrs. Wilmot Herrington of Stockdale, and three grandchildren: Allan, Joyce and Doreen Lott, at home.

MRS. ALICE MAUD GRILLS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Jan. 15. — Mrs. Francis Grills died at her residence, Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, early Wednesday afternoon, after a lengthy illness. She was an active worker in the various branches of Aiken's United Church. Mrs. Grills was born at Latta 64 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archie Latta, but has resided practically all her life in the Township of Sidney.

Surviving are three sons: Garnet Grills of Bermuda, Carmen Grills of Sidney, Lee Grills of Sidney; two daughters, Mrs. Fred Ash of Peterborough, Miss Irene Grills at home; two sisters, Mrs. J. S. Vallis of Bermuda, Mrs. A. Freemantle of England, and one brother, Allan Latta of Sidney Township.

MOUNT PLEASANT

A pleasant evening was spent at the crokinole party sponsored by the Women's Institute and held in the W.I. hall on Tuesday evening, when seven tables were played.

Mr. Thos. Graham called the games, while Mrs. Lawson and Mrs. V. Jones registered the score.

Ladies' prize was won by Mrs. Thos. Graham; gent's, Mr. Charles Spencer, and the consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. Davis and Alex Lawson.

More than $5,000,000 in six-cent pieces were collected for hospitals of England in the last year.

SCIENCE MARTYR 36 YEARS ON JOB ABOUT TO RETIRE

BELLERICAY, Essex, Jan. 15. — (CP).—A martyr to the cause of science, Harold Suggars, 60-year-old X-ray specialist, has retired to the scenes of his boyhood days for a "few years of rest," after 36 years of service to mankind.

When Suggars volunteered for the post as X-ray assistant in the London hospital at the beginning of the century he knew the duties imposed on him carried a warrant of blindness and disease.

He was aware that Ernest Harnack, pioneer of the department, developed a mysterious, incurable skin disease after 12 months' work, which resulted in the loss of his hands. Two others, Reginald Blackall and E. E. Wilson, paid with their lives.

"The same thing will happen to you," he was told. "There is nothing we can do to prevent it."

But Suggars turned a deaf ear to those who sought to discourage him. Within 12 months of entering the department, Suggars noticed the first signs of the disease on his own skin. With each new outbreak he was given radium treatment, but it afforded only temporary relief.

When he retired Suggars carried a scar seven inches long across his chest, caused by the strange action of the rays. He is blind in one eye, partially blind in the other, has a false eyelid and his face bears traces of the work of plastic surgery.

"I may look a bit of an old crock," he said, as he groped about his garden. "I am retiring now because I think a man should have a bit of rest at the end of his life, and I want to spend more time in my garden."

NOW PERMANENT

LONDON—(CP).—Dickens House, 48 Doughty Street, London, W.C., reopened by Lady Dickens, widow of Charles Dickens' son, Sir Henry, now is in the hands of permanent trustees through the Dickens Fellowship.

May Resign

Reports from Paris say that Finance Minister Georges Bonnet (ABOVE), will resign his cabinet post to bring a collapse of Premier Camille Chautemp's popular front government. THhe government is at present faced with a financial crisis and increasing industrial unrest, and the situation resembles that which brought the downfall of Premier Leon Blum, eight months ago.

Demand Liquor Head Be Fired

ARNOLD SMITH

E. G. ODETTE

A demand that Ontario Liquor Commissioner E. G. Odette and his assistant, Arnold Smith, resign because "they deliberately encouraged the sale, not only of beer and wine, but also spirits by keeping the liquor stores open in the evening at the Christmas and New Year season," has been sent Premier Mitchell Hepburn by the joint committee on Evangelism and Social Service of three Toronto Presbyteries of the United church. The committee also objected to the sale of beer allegedly in excess of public need or hotel accommodation.

RAIL BROTHERHOOD DEMANDS TRUCKER PAY HIGHER TAXES

OTTAWA, Jan. 15—(CP). — Desirability of more strict regulation of highway transport with a larger measure of taxation revenue from that traffic coupled with a recommendation for imposition of canal tolls, featured submissions to the Dominion government today by the railway transportation brotherhoods.

A large delegation of the Dominion joint legislative committee of the brotherhoods, with the secretary, W. L. Best, Ottawa, as spokesman, made their annual pre-sessional representations to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues.

The program submitted by the railway brotherhoods was placed before the government immediately after that of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and many of the recommendations were identical.

Hope was expressed that adequate constitutional reform would come as a result of deliberations of the royal commission on Dominion provincial relations and the brotherhoods recommended particularly transference to the Dominion of power to enact social legislation and regulate all transport agencies.

Huge Highway Debt

Capital expenditures and maintenance costs for highways in Canada had brought, at the end of 1935, a debt of $492,000,000, the brief stated. Total expenditures in new works, maintenance and interest charges in 1935 had amounted to $92,000,000 and revenues from car registrations and gasoline tax $54,000,000.

In urging the imposition of tolls on vessels using Canadian canals it was observed that from Confederation up to March 31, 1936 the canal system had cost more than $822,000,000 in capital expenditures and maintenance.

Revenue from canal property during the fiscal year 1935-36 amounted to little more than $1,000,000, the brief continued and the annual net cost of this system, coupled with the excess of highway expenditures, over revenues, amounted to $69,000,000 as "subsidies paid by Canada to only two transport agencies competing with steam railways."

Income War Tax Changes

Amendments to the income war tax act were urged to increase exemption for non-householders to $1,500 and to householders to $3,000; to make the $400 exemption for dependent children applicable to all dependent children regardless of age and to exempt that part of the income used in paying provincial and municipal taxes.

The recommendation regarding dependent children was to lighten the burden on parents caused by unemployment among members of their families forcing them to return home for maintenance.

Opposition voiced last year to the expenditure of public money on deepening the St. Lawrence waterways was repeated today.

The submission also recommended:

That the Dominion pay 90 per cent of old age pensions (now 75 per cent) and that the qualifying age be 65 instead of 70.

The government pursue vigorously its efforts to initiate a national unemployment insurance system and co-operate toward establishment of a national health policy.

Adoption of a contributory pension plan for employees of the national harbors board operative at the age of 65.

Want Living Costs

A modern and progressive method of compiling and maintaining reliable cost of living statistics.

Amendment to the Dominion elections act to enable absentee voters to exercise their franchise, particularly for the benefit of railway men.

Increase to $500,000 a year (now $200,000) the amount set aside from the consolidated revenue fund for elimination of level crossings.

Amendments to the railway act providing compensation for workers in the abandonment of facilities and setting up more effective safety regulations.

Omemee Ladies' Aid Meet In Belch Home

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, Jan. 15.—The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. D. Belch Thursday afternoon with a good attendance of members present. After several items of business were discussed dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

A portion of the service in Trinity United church Sunday evening will be dedicated to the memory of Miss Gertrude Pogue.

PURSE PRESENTED TO EDEN ORGANIST

MOUNT JULIAN, Jan. 16—At the close of the evening service of Eden United Church, the services of Miss Isabel Reid, organist of the church were recognized by the presentation to her of a purse, the presentation being made by Mrs. Otis Northey while the following address was read by Mr. Dunsford.

Dear Friend Isabel:

This is a time when we remember all the good things God has given us through the year. Today we are all remembering that He has given us "you" to be present as organist, not only during the Christmas season nor the past year but for many years and we want to acknowledge our appreciation to Him and to you for your untiring willingness and faithfulness by begging you to accept this little gift, as a token of our esteem and goodwill toward you. With it goes our heartiest good wishes to you and yours for Christmas and the New Year.

Signed on behalf of the congregation of Eden United Church, Rev. Mr. McMullen, Mrs. Harrison Bronson, Gilbert Northey.

75 On Monday

Prominent in British government circles for many years, David Lloyd George (BELOW) celebrates his 75th birthday on Monday. While still a member of parliament Lloyd George has no official post in the present government and seems content to sit back and watch the moves other statesmen make.

SAVED 61 LIVES RECEIVES AWARD

GROUARD, Alta., Jan. 15 (CP).—For helping save lives of 61 students in a fire at Grouard Indian Residential School, Rev. Sister Marie Auxiliatrice and Harry Fraser, 16-year-old Indian boy, have been presented with honorary testimonials from the Royal Canadian Humane Association.

Presentations were made at this town 190 miles northwest of Edmonton by Bishop J. Guy of Gravelbourg, Sask., formerly vicar apostolic of Grouard. The Federal Department of Indian Affairs recommended the award.

The youthful Indian from Fort St. John, B.C., after saving his baby brother, dashed upstairs in the burning building and rescued another little boy.

Sister Auxiliatrice, a native of Quebec, was lauded for coolness and heroism and it was stated the splendid discipline of Indian children in leaving the burning building averted a tragedy. The nun was credited with having drilled the children to perfect discipline.

WILL USE GRAVE HE DUG

SHAWNEE, Okla., Jan. 15 (AP).—August Zoeller will be buried in the grave he dug for himself 15 years ago. Zoeller lined the grave with concrete and marked it with a stone, then moved to California. He died at his citrus farm near Los Angeles, and his body will be sent here.

SMITH MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Established 1893, Dept. 37, Preston, Ont.

I am an advertising man

For over thirty years I have been writing advertisements for national advertisers—shoes, soap, cereals, automobiles, radios, tobacco, blankets, tooth-powder.

To me it is the most fascinating work in the world—learning about the merits of merchandise and then telling people about them—bringing greater comfort, and enjoyment, into people's lives — introducing people to new pleasures, helping them to get the most for their money.

Besides being fascinating, it is satisfying. My intimate experience with advertisers has shown me that, except for rare exceptions, the manufacturers and merchants of this nation lean over backwards to be sincere and honest.

The law of advertising is simple once one understands its working — the more people know about the merit of a product, the more people buy it. The greater the volume of sales, the less the cost of manufacture. Savings in making mean either lower prices to the consumer or greater value put back into the merchandise.

As an advertising man I can sincerely affirm that it pays to read the advertisements in the newspapers — for news of new things, for news of bargains and savings.

There are thousands of other men — and women — devoting their lives to advertising writing, who will tell you the same thing. They know!

Branch Notes

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH.

On Thursday evening St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. held their sixteenth birthday party with a large attendance of members and visitotrs. A delicious supper was served from six to eight o'clock in the lower Parish Hall, which was gayly decorated in blue and white streamers for the happy occasion. Arrangements for the supper were under the convenorship of Mrs. P. Forbes, assisted by a committee of girls of the A.Y.P.A.

After supper an interesting and varied program was presented to the appreciative audience. Community singing to the accompaniment of Miss M. Flowers and led by B. H. Pammett was much enjoyed. Emily Wilshaw did a clever tap dance and Douglas Butcher recited. The Top Hatters from the Y.W.C.A. did a tricky tap routine, which was encored. Iris Forbes recited "When Granny Was a Girl." The Misses Margaret Langley and Barbara Bothwell sang in costume, "The Plaguey Rheumatiz," which met the approval of the audience. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to the charming music of Max Fredenburg, aided at times by Mrs. Foster. V. Cedgewick called off for some square dances which provided a novelty touch. The contingent from St. George's showed exactly how the "Jeep" shculd be done. The party was voted a big success by all present.

ST. JOHN'S.

About seventy-five students of the Normal school were entertained in the Parish Hall of St. John's church on Wednesday evening, by the members of the A.Y.P.A..

Rev. Canon and Mrs. Robertson, Rev. R. T. F. and Mrs. Brain and Miss McVannel of the Normal school were in attendance. The evening's program was in charge of Doris Davis, with Jack Marshall looking after the entertainment. The students were welcomed by the president, G. Clegg.

Games, contests and dancing were enjoyed, also an impromptu minstrel show was put on by several A.Y. members under the direction of Beck Flumenfelt and Jack Marshall, the other members taking part including Walton Howell as interlocutor, Len Phillips and Beck Flumenfelt as end men, Rose Puddick and Alf Marshall, soloists, and Alice Pruner, Eileen Gynane, Jean McIlwain and Allan Marshall making up the chorus.

Different prizes were given for contests and dancing. Injelligence test won by Ruby Thorndyke, student, spot dance prizes were won by Mary Maloney and Dick Sheehan, Marie Vanallen and Jimmy La Jole, birthday dance, Marjorie Varty and Alf Pink.

Refreshments were served to the students by Doris Davis and her committee, after which Arnold Bates of the Normal school, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the A.Y. for a very splendid evening's entertainment, Mr. Gordon Clegg making a suitable reply for the branch, inviting the students back on any other evening that they could come.

Then came the home waltz, the National Anthem and everyone departed for home.

Next week is, "Do you want to be an actor" nite.

ST. MICHAEL'S, WESTWOOD

St. Michael's A.Y.P.A. held their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bray. The new officers for the New Year ars ae follows: President, Miss Mary Birdsall; vice president, Miss Edithe Bray; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Scott Elmhurst; program convenor, Mr. Alfred Reed; press secretary, Miss Marie Seaborn.

The only business was a suggestion given by Mary Birdsall that the A.Y.P.A. have a box-social and a skating party at their next meeting and invite the Havelock and Hastings A.Y.P.A. and also the Westwood United Church Young People to join them. This was moved by Miss Dorothy Mann and seconded by Alfy Reed. Alfy Reed was elected auctioneer for the boxes. It was decided that the A.Y.P.A. provide chairs for the church choir.

The program was then handed over to Alfy Reed which took the form of soap contest, song contest and a story about Maggie and Jiggs. Another contest was "What Grandma Didn't Have."

Supper was served and Joe Lancaster gave a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Bray for the use of their home.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

ST. GEORGE'S BRANCH.

A week ago Thursday, St. George's A.Y.P.A. held their regular monthly business meeting. The meeting was opened by a hymn and prayers. A sleigh ride was planned for to be held in a couple of weeks.

No meeting was held this week as, those members who could attended the birthday party at St. Luke's. Everyone enjoyed a pleasant evening.

PAYS ON THE GALLOWS

COLUMBUS, Mont., Jan. 15 (A.P.). — Frank Robideau, 47, who murdered his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kuntz, on November 26, and beat their six-year-old son, died on the gallows to-day.

Robideau stepped on the scaffold and said: "About all I wish to say is if you have any sympathy to show, don't show it to me, but show it to my wife and family, as they need it. I don't. That's all I have to say."

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Past hopes already lay behind,
What need to strive with a life awry?
Had I said that, had I done this,
So might I gain, so might I miss."...
"We pass! The path that each man trod
Is dim, or will be dim, with weeds:
What fame is left for human deeds
In endless age? It rests with God."
—Tennyson (In Memoriam).

Dear Friends:

Do you ever hold a post-mortem on your life, wondering if you should have done this would things have been any better; Thinking if you had done that, maybe you would have prevented from happening, the thing that DID happen.

You may as well stop right now. Even as a girl I was a deep thinker, and thought if I did the best I could, things were bound to go right. But did they? They did not.

With a machine, you can use precision and practically determine what the results will be. But with humans there is always the unknown quantity to be reckoned with—the other fellow's reaction to your actions.

Some will work with you, and some always work against you, despite all you can do. You can show by word and deed how well things will go if you get a little co-operation, and if you don't get it, what are you are going to do about it?

They say that the best way to get a pig to go in a certain direction is to pretend you want him to go the opposite way. Well, some human beings are like that. Let them know you want something, and they will do all in their power to prevent your getting it.

It might be that they would get most benefit from the thing you want. It makes no difference, for they make sure you won't get it. So, wondering if you said this or did that, maybe this would have come about is no good. No matter what tactics you had used, the outcome would have been the same.

And it is very hard if you are a straightforward person, to have to beat about the bush to get your desires, to pretend indifference when you are truly interested. It tends to make you really indifferent, and that is a bad way to get.

When you have had a taste of honest-to-God poverty, it should make one a little careful about money. But some never learn. When you have been without a real home, one should then prize a home when they get it, but so many never do.

When you have been truly lonely and no one seemed to care what became of you, then one should cherish love and care when it comes, but so many hold it lightly and maybe kill it altogether.

And so, to those who are really doing the best they can, and still things are far from right, I say, do not worry or fret thinking if you had done differently, things would have turned out better.

Instead of depending so much on some other to make life more pleasant for you, start in right now to mane them pleasant for yourself. You will find if you do right by yourself you will do right by everyone else. It's inevitable.

Just determine every day you will do your uttermost, and—let the other fellow alone to do his or hers. It's the surest way I know to get a little peace of mind.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Toured Continent Playing As Cook

MELBOURNE, Jan. 15 (CP) — Miss Gwen Hughes, holding a diploma in domestic economy, left her native Australia five years ago, taking along some "cookery plays" she had written to combine entertainment and instruction. She has just returned after varied and interesting experiences.

Under the auspices of one of the gas companies she toured the provinces in England producing her plays with a small troupe of players, with considerable success. For three months each year she went to Europe, visiting Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, where she studied cookery, folk songs and customs.

The results provided the subject of several lectures and the cookery served her as a guide in the writing of a play about Czechoslovakia.

Women's Auxiliary Will Hold Tea At Hastings

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 15.—The January devotional and business meeting of St. George's Woman's Auxiliary was held at the home of Miss D. Plant on Thursday afternoon. The devotions were in charge of the rector, Rev. Wm. Stocks.

A Valentine afternoon tea will be held at the home of Miss Plant on February 3. The new study book, "The Way of the Witness" was introduced and Rev. Wm. Stocks agreed to given an account of the book by explaining one chapter at each of the devotional meetings. The W.A. decided to give a donation to the church wardens for general purposes and to be placed on the offertory plate on Sunday.

Following the business, the annual reports by the various officers proved most encouraging and although the membership is small a great deal had been accomplished.

The W.A. has a membership of twelve with one life member. Twenty-seven meetings with nine devotional and business meetings were held during the year with an average attendance of seven. Christmas cards and calendars were sold. Seven subscribed to the Living Message. Two members attended the annual diocesan meetings, eight attended the annual deanery meeting in Campbellford and seven the World Day of Prayer. The study book, "Consider Africa," was completed. Contributions were given towards the E.C.D. fund, to the Little Helpers' fund, as a life member's offering, to the united thankoffering, to the Dr. Haslam fund and to the western relief. Pledges were met in full and an extra seven dollars forwarded and the full amount sent for fees and to the expense fund apportionment.

A full set of Communion linen was hand-embroidered by the treasurer and donated as her Lenten offering for the empty stall. A bale containing good warm clothing and quilts was sent to the Rev. Horace E. Ashmore for the white settlers at Paddockwood, Sask. Repairs were made to the rectory. Twelve quilts were quilted. A successful bazaar held at Christmas helped financially.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess and an enjoyable half-hour spent together.

A special business meeting of the Woman's Association of Trinity United church was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hess when a very large attendance of members were present. Plans regarding the arrangement of the interior of the basement of the church were unanimously decided upon.

It was also arranged to have the regular January meeting at the home of Mrs. A. M. Brooks on January 27th, to be in the form of a birthday party in honor of the hostess.

Spring Bonnets Tie Under Chin

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 (AP).—Grown-up ladies will dress a bit like babies this spring, with Fashion's approval, and tie their bonnets under the chin.

Also their skirts will be definitely shorter for daytime wear—14 inches off the floor is the general length.

This was noted today in fashion forecasts by the style creators of Chicago, an organization of wholesale manufacturers and designers.

Some of the new head-gear call to mind those big wide-brim hats that early grammar school girls wear, and manage to keep on the back of their heads only by means of a band under the chin.

The effect has been copied in coming Easter bonnets from chin-strap to streamers down the back.

Costume suits were seen as a strong spring fashion by their producers. The three-piece suit will be a headliner. The casual boxy silhouetee is first in favor, and coats vary in length from finger-tip to seven-eighths.

Canon W. P. Robertson Addresses Lyceum Club of Art Association

Lovers of the drama enjoyed a rare treat Friday afternoon when privileged to hear Canon Robertson's presentation of "Juno and the Paycock," typical of the irrepressible humour and the deep pathos of Irish drama.

As guest speaker for the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association, Canon Robertson of St. John's Anglican church met their every expectation with his fine mastery of histrionic art.

With the president, Mrs. Fred Hooper, presiding, a brief business session opened the meeting. Announcements were made of the various activities of the club for the near future, Miss Leone Walsh reporting the progress of plans for a Book Fair to be held February 24th and 25th. The president also read a letter of acknowledgment for the tribute of sympathy to their bereaved honorary president, Mrs. Blackwell.

Irish Drama is New.

Irish drama, said Canon Robertson, is comparatively new since it dates just from the beginning of the present century. It is an attempt to avoid the usual burlesque and in place, put Irish life on the stage, to have Irish men and women "living" on the boards.

Early Irish drams dealt almost entirely with rural life, but a new school marking the second period, opened after the Great War and this reached the highest point in the development in Irish drama.

Of this stage, Sean O'Casey is the outstanding dramatist. Born in the slums of Dublin he had little education and was just a barefoot newspaper boy. As a young man he carried a "hod," and later took part in the rebellion of 1916 in Ireland.

From this unpromising soil of heritage and environment, came the writer of "Juno and the Paycock," which was awarded the Hawthornden prize in 1926, as the best play in English by any writer under forty years of age. This tragedy in three acts, was first released by the Abbey players in Dublin in 1924. The story has its setting at the time of the civil war between the Free Staters and the Republicans, when De Valera and his minority refused to accept the conditions of the Irish Free State.

In a two-room Dublin tenement the theme was unfolded by four central characters, father, mother, son and daughter.

Because of his boasting way, the father was given the name of "Paycock" Boyle, and he, with his fawning satellite, Joxer Daly, provide most of the touches of comedy. Mrs. Boyle, a patient, hard-working woman, is characterized by great bluntness of speech and has no illusions about her easy going husband. She was called Juno "because she was born and christened in June. I met her in June, we were married in June, and Johnny was born in June"—so wan day I says to her "You should have been called Juno"—and the name stuck to her.

In their son Johnny the pathos of the drama finds its focus. He is a nervous rake, shattered physically and mentally by the civil war, while the sister, Mary, is a good-looking young girl whose love of books has given her a desire for better things.

With this interesting introduction and a brief explanation of the stage setting, Canon Robertson continued by reading excerpts from the play in a most realistic manner.

The curtain rises on a typical scene in the Boyle family with the father immediately developing pains in his legs when a job was offered. An unexpected legacy brought a welcome change and great rejoicing to the family.

The second act follows two days later in the same setting, but with somewhat shoddy decorations added. Mary has become enamoured with a young Englishman named Bentham and the act ends with the pathetic scene showing the mother whose boy was killed in civil war.

In the third and last act Juno's wondrous mother-love is further shown by her attitude toward Mary who brings shame and disgrace upon the home through her love for young Bentham. The fact that the legacy is all a mistage and its results are but another evidence that mother-love is the greatest of all love. The drma ends on a note of tragedy when Johnny is shot by the "Irregulars", and the home is broken up. When such a thrilling story is presented in Irish drama we get the real essence of tragedy and humour.

Mrs. Hooper voiced the appreciation of the Association to Canon Robertson for his own dramatic ability and his kindness in entertaining the club so graciously, adding an invitation for all to remain for a cup of tea and an informal chat.

HOSE SAVES LIFE

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif., Jan. 15 (A.P.). — A garden hose saved Ray Trautwein's life.

A 26-foot cesspool he was digging caved in, nearly burying Trautwein, 28.

His brother Paul held his hand over Ray's face two hours to keep him from breathing dust. Then neighbors brought the hose, and he breathed though that.

Firemen put a bucket over his head and forced oxygen through the hose. Tautwein was freed after seven hours.

STOVE MAKER DIES

PRESTON, Ont., Jan. 15 (CP). — One of the founders of Clare Brothers & Company, Limited, stove and furnace manufacturers here, Frederick Clare, 81, company president, died suddenly here to-day. He also was a founder of stamped enamelled ware, a subsidiary plant at nearby Hespeler.

Mr. Clare was Mayor of Preston from 1906 to 1908 inclusive, and served as Reeve and alderman for several years. He aided financing of the Grand River Railway through this area.

Sit down and figure just what you save!

Many women take laundry service for granted . . . like electricity, water service or the telephone; they don't stop to analyze the big savings in time and money these modern services make possible.

Compared with the low cost of laundry service, washing at home . . . either by hand or machine . . . is expensive. If a mechanical washer is used there's the big financial investment, the interest on the money involved and the rapid depreciation . . . then there's the cost of soap and soapflakes, the fuel used for water-heating, and the other necessary equipment and supplies required. On top of all this come the tedious operations of drying and ironing.

Even though you don't figure the cost of your own time—you pay more in actual money if you don't use laundry service.

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Remedy at Home

Quick Relief. Big Saving. So Easy. No Cooking.

This well known recipe is used by many thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them a much more dependable remedy for distressing winter coughs. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its effect on throat membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough remedy, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

Rev. Gerald Cragg To Conduct Trinity Anniversary Services

Product Of Generations Of Preachers Well-Known In Peterborough District

Rev. Gerald Cragg, M.A., of Toronto, the anniversary preacher at Trinity United church on Sunday, is the product of generations of preachers who served in the Peterborough district of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist Church in Canada.

His grandfather, the Rev. Edward Cragg, belonged to that noble and heroic band of "Saddle Bag Preachers" of the Methodist church. He was a circuit rider in the Bay of Quinte Conference and when he was sureannuated he settled in Peterborough. He was a close friend of Dr. W. R. Young who was then minister of George Street Methodist church and father of Dr. Harold Young who many years later also was minister of George Street.

Rev. William Cragg, father of Rev. Gerald Cragg, was also a minister in the Bay of Quinte Conference, his last charge before going to Japan, was Lakefield. In Japan Mr. Cragg served for some 25 years as professor in Kobe College.

Born in Lakefield

Rev. Gerald Cragg, born in Lakefield, received his early education in Japan and is an honor graduate and gold medalist in philosophy of Victoria University, Toronto. From Victoria he was granted a scholarship to carry on post graduate work at Cambridge University where he was an outstanding student and was offered a tutorship there. However, he chose to return to Canada and served the church with great effectiveness in New Liskeard, Northern Ontario. His gifts of scholarships and the mantle of editor of the "New Outlook" fell upon his youthful shoulders and he is now ministering to the whole wide field of the United Church of Canada. He has a keen and brilliant mind and is an outstanding preacher.

Another link with Peterborough is Dr. C. C. Cragg who is an uncle of Rev. Gerald Cragg. A brother, Rev. E. E. J. Cragg, M.A., D.D., is at present minister of Grace United Church, Brampton, and an uncle and cousin are also in the ministry of the United Church

On occasion of Rev. Mr. Cragg's appointment to the editorial chair of the "New Outlook," the following interview by another minister of the United Church, appeared in the church paper:

"Mr. Cragg, we are told you were born in Japan, is that correct?" we said to the pleasant-mannered young man who is to be the next editor of the 'New Outlook.' "There is some disagreement about the matter," was his reply. "Will you please decide it, as the Church is concerned to know just what bit of the world may properly be proud of you," we continued. With a laugh, and a blush (was it pride?) the witness answered, "I was born in Ontario, east of Toronto, and very early in my life was taken to Japan, where I went to school and prepared for the university."

As it is difficult now to know who was of what Church in the dark days before Union, we had it in mind to enquire about that, but he anticipated it with the remark, "I came to Canada just after Church Union, so I am no 'former' this or that, but I am a United Church man," and with that avowal his bright smile was brighter still.

"You were a Victoria College man we understand," we said. "Yes, I had the privilege of being a student at 'Vic'" and again the flag of delight was shown in his face. "What were your choices of subjects when you got through the compulsions?" we enquired. "Philosophy, English and History," was the reply, and we recalled how well he had done in these—prizeman and medalist with honours in the three, which won him a fellowship and allowed him to become a student at Trinity College, Cambridge.

At Westminster College, Cambridge, he read theology with the great scholars that are there. "As I thought I might teach if I did not preach," he said, "I kept up a line of study looking to that as a possible future profession."

At Cambridge, as we learned in our conversation, it was Mr. Cragg's happy fortime to have not only a superior scholastic course, but also to meet another student, Miss Evelyn A. Watson. Miss Watson was born in China of Scottish parents, and taken at eight years of age to Aberdeen. We are glad she went to Cambridge, for there, after a period of consultations with Mr. Cragg, a Japanese-Canadian and Chinese-Aberdonian alliance was planned; and "when school was over," a happy marriage was consummated in Cambridge, and the Craggs came to Canada. Ordained to the ministry, he was sent to Webbwood in the Presbytery of Sudbury. "Did you enjoy Northern Ontario?" we questioned, "Yes, indeed, we liked it so much that when we had the opportunity of remaining and going to New Liskeard, in Temiskaming Presbytery, we went, and we were very happy there also." We happened to know that for the past two years the Craggs and the folk of New Liskeard have been twining round their hearts "those ties which naught can sever."

JOHANNESBURG—(CP).— Next to the gold mines, the travel industry is South Africa's most productive concern, said Publicity Director H. J. Crocker, announcing that $100,000 a year had been subscribed to boost it.

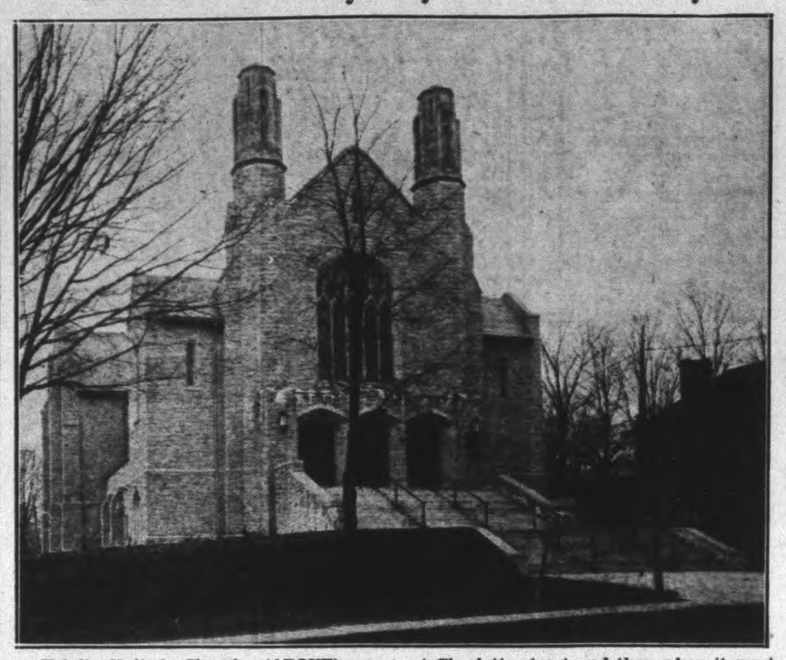
Chronic Fatigue
Tells of exhausted Nerves

In health, rest soon overcomes fatigue. When you become chronically tired there is an underlying cause.

Perhaps you cannot rest or sleep because of the irritability of the nerves. Memory and power of attention soon weaken when the nervous system is exhausted. It is difficult to concentrate the mind and the daily task becomes a worry and a burden. Indigestion and sleeplessness ruin your temper, and you become depressed and discouraged.

Whatever may have been the cause there is a way in which to regain health and that is by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. New Nerve Force is created to restore the functions to the bodily machinery and ensure the healthful working of the mental and physical organs.

Celebrates On Sunday Sixty-Fourth Anniversary



Trinity United Church (ABOVE) on Sunday celebrates its sixty-fourth anniversary. The congregation was first known at Charlotte street and then when it went into the new edifice early in January 1916 it became Trinity. —(Roy Studio Photo) horses and Aberdeen-Angus cattle.

A Women's Auxiliary

Mr. Mason proposed the organization of a Women's Auxiliary of associate members to assist the Board in the departments of the Exhibition that are of special interest to women. He believed that the girls who took the short courses in household science, sewing and other branches of domestic work, were well qualified to act in co-operation with the Board, and they might be willing to assist if they were given the opportunity.

C. E. Moore suggested that Misses Opal Rosborough, Greta Reynolds and Fern Armstrong of Smith be interviewed with others who might be available for the new branch outlined by Mr. Mason. As the proposer of the idea Mr. Mason was requested to go ahead with it and report the response at an early meeting.

Financial Statement

The financial statement presented by C. D. Cowling showed an operating profit last year of $2,776.74 after paying for the building and painting of a new fence, removal of the race horse barn and other improvements. The receipts were $28,889.90 and the expenses totalled $26,113.16. These facts and other details of the Board's finances were published a short time ago. The report was adopted with a complimentary reference to Mr. Cowling's complete and lucid statement.

Chairmen of committees were requested to begin at once reorganization for this year and to report at the next Tuesday, January 18 meeting.

G. A. Brethen of Norwood expressed the opinion that service clubs of the city might undertake to provide grandstand and midway attractions this year with remuneration on something of the same basis as the professional entertainers. He elaborated the idea as an economy, but R. M. Glover replied that Peterborough audiences had become so accustomed to vaudeville quality that such a departure as Mr. Brethen suggested "would not get anywhere."

travelling at about 20 miles an hour, slipped through the soft ice. It hesitated a moment before its plunge and in that pause, Nelson said, "I grabbed the door handle and forced it (the car door) far enough to squeeze out and I planted both of my elbows on the ice."

"Then the car seemed to slide away from me and I was left there hanging to the edge of the ice." Nelson said as he stood, wide-eyed and shaken, in the parlor of his father's home last night. "I saw the car up-end with the rear sticking in the air. Then it slipped below the surface and disappeared."

"The front wheels seemed to go down first," Wilkinson said as he told of the tragedy. "It seemed to be turning as it went under. The front of our sleigh smashed the back end of the car and threw us out on to the ice. It seemed so slow and yet so fast. It might have taken five seconds for the car to sink, but it seemed much more."

Wilkinson, in the brief pause before the car went to the bottom, "rushed to the door, but the handle seemed to be broken off." The windows were all frosted, he said. "No one seemed to make a sound in the car. As the car slipped down, the ice appeared to fit around it closely."

Young Jack Wilkinson told of Emmanuel Nelson "trying to get out right behind his brother." He grabbed his hand "and tried to pull him out," Jack said, "but he was too heavy."

The survivors were cared for in the homes of Sutton residents while police made efforts to recover the submerged car. The attempt was abandoned as night fell and a call was sent to Toronto for a diver and equipment.

election indicated their stand on military expenditures, said Houde. They were as militaristic as the Liberals. Canada had no need of defences. The United States was the only foe really to be feared, and Canada could not depend herself against the United States, Lord Fisher, former First Lord of the Admiralty, had said. United States would protect Canada if anybody else attacked her, Houde said. The Monroe doctrine still held good, as reiterated in Washington recently by Sumner Wells, under secretary of the state.

Mr. Rinfred told a Liberal rally the government has no warlike intentions; is interested only in defence. "We want to defend ourselves against those who attack us," he said. Citizens did not object to paying for upkeep of a police force, though they did not know precisely from whom the police were to defend them. National defence offered similar protection.

CHANDOS APPROVES $862.43 PAYMENT

GLENALDA, Jan. 15.—Routine business was transacted at the regular meeting of Chandos township council held here this week. The following motions were passed:

Miss J. Batten, Peterborough county clerk, be paid the amount of $862.43 to apply on county rates.

Wm. Ellerton's bill for $3, for snowplowing, be disallowed.

Rev. A. J. Golding's tax bill and cheque be returned.

Taxes of 1937 roll be taken off part 6, 8 concession, assessed to Dr. R. S. Wilcox, amount $6.37, and Wilcox name and assessment be taken off 1937 assessment as it is assesed to Central Trust Co.

Wm. Rodgers receive $4 for snowplowing in 1936.

Chas. Wease paid $10 for two sheep killed.

That Ray Harvey be appointed overseer on Beat No. 6 and Clarence Post be overseer on Beat No. 1.

H. Everett be authorized to seize logs cut on road allowance between lots 25 and 26, concesion 8, for balance of $10.

The following orders were drawn: Jas. Rosebush, $5 for stamps; Wm. Rodgers, $4, slowplowing, 1936; D. Wease, $10, 2 sheep killed; Neil Whitmore, $18; salary school attendance, 1937; D. Brown, $66.29, supplies re Glen Nichols.

Meanwhile, 60 miles down the "south shore" of Nova Scotia, members of the famous Lunenburg fleet and linked their vessels together to form a blockade and prevent any schooner leaving for the fishing banks until demands of the Halifax union are met.

Craft Block Harbor

The Lunenburg fishermen themselves went on "strike," tied up their craft and declared they were prepared to remain in port until granted increased prices for their catch. Tentative agreements were reached but Capt. Angus Walters, skipper of the fishing and racing schooner, Bluenose, declared in Halifax, the Lunenburg fleet would not hoist sail until some agreement was reached between the national company and their plant employees.

Members of the Halifax union supported the fishermen in their strike by refusing to handle fish brought in by boats not belonging to the "union." And the fishermen, in turn, declined to fish until the handlers' union was given recognition by the company.

TRINITY CHURCH WILL CELEBRATE 64TH ANNIVERSARY

During the year 1873 the capacity of George Street Methodist church to accommodate a congregation which had rapidly increased in numbers was taxed to the limit and a new circuit was formed to be known as the Charlotte Street circuit. The growth of the town towards the south and the west called for immediate provision to be made for a church building. A site was secured at the corner of Charlotte and Reid streets where now the Standard Medical Clinic stands.

On Wednesday, June 25, 1873, the corner stone was laid by Mrs. George Hilliard. Work was pushed with such rapidity that the building was ready to be opened on December 7, and the Rev. Dr. Nelles of Victoria College was the preacher.

Need for a Sunday School was soon recognized and on September 20, 1891 ,the present Reid Street Sunday School hall was opened. Under successive pastors the congregation prospered and grew in number and in 1914 it was decided to build a new church.

Senator George Cox was associated with the congregation from its inception, he was one of the first trustees, secretary-treasurer of the Sunday School and for years a teacher of the Men's Bible Class. He donated the Aaron Cox lot at the head of Simcoe street and gave $10,000 towards the erection of the new building which was to be known as Trinity Church. The corner stone was laid on September 22, 1914, and the building was opened and dedicated on January 3, 1916, by Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, then General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada.

Such is the early history of first the Charlotte Street Methodist church and later the Trinity church. The congregation has been fortunate in having strong men as pastors men who have later occupied some of the largest pulpits in the Church.

MARMORA

The second game of the euchre tournament being held by St. Paul's Men's Club was held in the White Hall on Tuesday evening, with thirteen tables again in play. The winners were T. E. Neal and Mrs. J. Gordenier. Group 2 of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild served refreshments.

A full house greeted Fred Roy of Peterborough on his return visit to Marmora on Wednesday when under auspices of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild, he showed films of the Coronation.

GANGS "GET" FARMERS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 15 (AP).—The current food shortage has brought a new type gangster—the extortionist who preys on farmers bringing vegetables and poultry to market.

The racketeers throng the waterfront demanding "protection" fees to allow the farmers to pass. If no money is forthcoming, the gangs take as much produce as they can carry. Police estimate fully one-third of such farm supplies falls into criminal hands.

WELLINGTON TO CELEBRATE

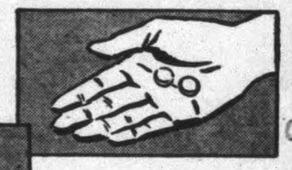
SORE THROAT WITH COLDS
GIVEN FAST RELIEF

Take 2 "Aspirin" Tablets with a full glass of water.



Crush 3 "Aspirin" Tablets in 1/3 glass of water—gargle twice every few hours.

The speed with which "Aspirin" tablets act in relieving the distressing symptoms of colds and accompanying sore throat is utterly amazing . . . and the treatment is simple and pleasant. This is all you do. Crush and dissolve three "Aspirin" tablets in one-third glass of water. Then gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back.

This medicinal gargle will act almost like a local anesthetic on the sore, irritated membrane of your throat. Pain eases promptly; rawness is relieved. You will say it is remarkable.

● "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Dominion Problems Laid Mainly To Overspending

10-20% Cut in Outlay Seen Cure by Manufacturers Urging Simpler Tax Plan for Efficiency, Economy

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—(CP)—Canada's present problems are not as much constitutional as they are financial, the result of overspending, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association asserted today in a brief presented before the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations.

If government expenditures were reduced 10 or 20 per cent, the association contended, many of today's pressing problems would disappear. On the other hand, an entirely new constitution would merely reproduce present conditions "if public expenditures, and consequently taxes, continued to increase."

"If there is the will on the part of the people to do it," the association submitted, however, "the Dominion and provinces can allocate their respective fields of responsibility and taxation in such a way that they can solve their financial difficulties, provided always that they make up their minds to live within the respective incomes agreed upon."

Simpler Tax Plan.

Aside from that general appraisal of the basic problem facing government in Canada, in which it suggested some control over borrowing, the association urged a simpler and more equitable tax system, for efficiency and economy. It felt the present tax system, with its multiplicity and complexity, fell "lamentably short" of the ideal that taxation should be marked by a "maximum of certainty, simplicity, uniformity, equality and finality."

"The ideal system of taxation from industry's point of view would be one providing for the raising

ACCIDENTS FATAL TO 5 ON WEEKEND

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP).—Five fatalities were recorded in Ontario during the weekend, three of them in Toronto. Two of the Toronto deaths resulted from traffic accidents.

Rev. Evelyn James, 60, died in a Toronto hospital after walking into the side of an automobile Saturday night. Andrew Elder, 69, was injured fatally Saturday night when he walked into the side of a street car in the Provincial capital.

Toronto's third death, Mrs. Agnes Ferguson, 58, occurred Saturday when the woman was drowned in a bath tub after apparently suffering a fainting spell.

At Smith's Falls, William A. McKay, 34, died, Saturday when a shotgun discharged as he was removing it from a shelf. Eight-year-old David Liddle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Liddle of Gananoque, died of burns in Kingston Hospital Saturday. He had fallen into a tub of boiling water Friday.

STRIKE SHUTS HOTELS

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 17 (A.P.). — All Swedish hotels were closed today by a strike of 20,000 employees for higher wages and shorter hours. The employees walked out after mediation efforts broke down. Tourists looked for accommodations in private houses.

Last Minute News Flashes

NORTH BAY, Ont.—Reports drifted through here today that pulp companies at Iroquois Falls and Kapuskasing either have dismissed hundreds of pulp cutters within the past few days or are contemplating doing so in the very near future. The reason is said to be the companies' concern over recent developments in the newsprint situation.

GRENOBLE, France.—French soldiers today escorted to the Italian frontier a detachment of Italian soldiers who "invaded" France by mistake during a snowstorm yesterday.

SHANGHAI.—H. J. Timperley, correspondent for the Manchester Guardian, today sought the intervention of British Consular authorities after Japanese censors in the international settlement held up one of his dispatches for 15 hours.

YOUTH CUT IN TWO AS SKIDDING AUTO PILES INTO TRAIN

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 17 (C.P.).—Herbert Cowlan, 21-year-old Raleigh Township youth, was killed to-day when his automobile, being driven by Clifford Seary, 19, of Windsor, skidded on the highway east of Windsor and crashed into the side of a train. Cowlan was thrown under the wheels.

The right door of the car swung open when the car, which skidded 175 feet on the icy pavement, struck the train. Cowlan was flung beneath the wheels of the train, which severed his body, and the car was carried along for 40 feet. Seary told police he applied brakes as soon as he saw the train, but the car failed to stop.

The youths, friends for several years, had spent the week-end in London and Cowlan was to have driven to Chatham where Seary was going to take a bus to Windsor. They missed the bus, however, and Cowlan volunteered to drive the remainder of the way.

Seary relieved Cowlan at the wheel two miles east of the crossing where the accident occurred, just outside the city limits.

2,000 GUESTS OF BISHOP

LONDON, Jan. 17—(CP-Havas)—Two thousand persons from all walks of life were the guests of Arthur Cardinal Hinsley, Archbishop of Westminster, Sunday night at a public reception for members of his diocese to mark his elevation to the Sacred College.

For nearly two hours the visitors passed through the throne room and knelt to kiss the ring of the new cardinal.

CBC ASKS ZEIDMAN BROADCASTS HAVE CHURCH SPONSOR

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—(CP).—Rev. Morris Zeidman of Toronto, must be sponsored by a recognized church organization before he will be allowed to resume broadcasting, he has been informed by letter from Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Company.

In addition, the Toronto clergyman must agree to confine his broadcasts to ecclesiastical subjects and to avoid politics, controversial economic theories and abusive comment.

Temporary suspension from the air of Mr. Zeidman who conducted the Protestant Radio League, and Father Charles Lanphier of the Radio League of St. Michael's, was announced Nov. 11.

Father Lanphier was restored to the air yesterday, Archbishop J. C. McGuigan of Toronto, agreeing to sponsor his broadcasts and the priest agreeing to the stipulations laid down by the CBC; the same outlined to Mr. Zeidman.

In his letter to Mr. Zeidman, the CBC general manager suggested some organization like the General Board of Missions of the Presbyterian church, sponsor the broadcasts.

The CBC, Mr. Murray said to-day, was enforcing uniform rules for religious broadcasts in Canada, as laid down by the Board of Governors. The chief point was they must be confined to religion and sponsored by a religious organization.

Reserve Decision In Alberta Case

OTTAWA, Jan. 17—(CP)—Hearing of the Alberta constitutional reference by the Supreme Court of Canada concluded today.

O. M. Biggar, Alberta counsel, concluded his argument in support of the validity of three Alberta statutes just before noon and brief statements by opposing counsel for the Dominion Government, the banks and the newspapers brought the hearing to a close. The court would reserve its decision, Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff announced.

Chinese Strike Out Push Japs Back

Kai-Shek Visits Fronts, Orders "No More Retreats," Finance Expert Says China Can Fight Years Yet

SHANGHAI, Jan. 17—(CP)—Chinese forces on the northern, central and Yangtse Valley fronts were reported today to have pushed back Japanese invaders in a series of counter attacks. Advices through Chinese channels said General Chiang Kai-Shek, on a second visit to front lines, had ordered his troops "not to retreat a single inch."

Chinese reported:

1. The Chinese eighth army organized from once-outlawed Communist units, inflicted heavy losses on Japanese in Central Shansi province;

2. A Chinese force along the Yangtse river above Nanking pushed back Japanese outposts, occupied two villages near Wuhu and prepared for an attempt to recapture Wuhu itself;

3. A Chinese guerilla unit captured Chwansha, on the Pootung peninsula opposite Shanghai, bringing a Japanese declaration of martial law in Pootung;

4. Outer Mongolia troops advanced against Paotow in the northern province of Suiyan.

Japanese army and navy spokesmen announced jointly that there were "no major developments" on any front.

(Dr. H. H. Kung, China's second most powerful leader, declared China "can continue the war for years," and said "all current talk of Chinese-Japanese peace, which apparently is inspired by Tokyo and Berlin, is utterly baseless).

MEDALS FOR HEN

SHANGHAI, Jan. 17 —(AP)— A Hungarian boy, Valentine Holdosi, received today from Clarence E. Gauss, United States consul general, an American Humane Society Medal for risking his life to save his dog.

When Chinese-Japanese fighting centred about Shanghai the boy went through the fighting zone to the Yangtsepoo area to bring out his pet. He will be awarded British medals tomorrow.

NEW AIR LINK

LIFE BEGINS AT 110

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17 (A.P.). —"Me dead? Life begins at 110," said John Harrison to an ambulance crew that rushed into his apartment.

Glancing through a window, a passerby had seen Harrison— who claims he was born in 1828—asleep on a couch, and concluded the aged man was dead.

EXHAUSTED HIKER FOUND UPON ROAD

AURORA, Ont., Jan. 17 (CP) — Rae Newton, 26, who told police he was trying to reach his sister in Pickerel, Northern Ontario, after a hike from Saskatchewan, was recovering today from exposure after a motorist found him unconscious in the snow by the side of No. 2 highway near this town 20 miles north of Toronto.

Newton said he left Brantford Friday and walked almost steadily yesterday afternoon when "my legs gave way." Newton brought to Aurora by a passing motorist would have died if he had been left in the snow and cold much longer, Dr. C. R. Boulding said after attending the transient.

PASTOR PREPARING 2 YEARS FOR FAST

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 17—(AP) —Dean Israel Harding Noe said with conviction to-day there would be no "turning back" in his search for spiritual perfection and immortality.

"Nobody who has seen me can say I am taking food on the sly," the 46-year-old fasting leader of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral declared. "I look ghostly, you can see it.

Dean Noe spoke on his 16th day without food or water. He gave up his last material food—except for the Communion wafer and a sip of wine three times weekly—on January 2.

The dean revealed for the first time that before last year when he lived on oranges alone, he lived throughout 1936 on oranges and raw cashew nuts.

The first three months of last year were difficult, he said, because his system had to become adjusted to the new "spiritual" sustenance. The three months which will end about Easter are necessary painful.

"The test is, will I be afraid," he said. "Will I be afraid and turn back? No. I know that I won't."

CALLING 30 WITNESSES

PORT STANLEY Ont., Jan. 17 (CP)—Thirty witnesses are expected to be heard at the inquest today into the deaths of eight men in the Cofferdam collapse at this village, Dec. 19 last. Port Stanley is eight miles south of St. Thomas.

Dr. G. H. Jackson Port Stanley, will preside at the hearing which gets under way at 2 p.m. Four of the five men who escaped death will be heard. The fifth, William Duffy, is still in hospital.

ST. HENRI VOTERS END FIERY ISSUE AT POLLS TODAY

MONTREAL, Jan. 17.—(CP). — Voters in the Dominion constituency of St. Henri, a vast district of factories and small shops, cast their ballots to-day to elect a House of Commons representative to succeed Paul Mercier, Liberal, who was recently elevated to the Circuit Court bench.

The 42,000 electors had the warning of Camillien Houde, fiery Independent "anti-armaments" candidate, their votes would constitute the verdict of popular opinion on the $35,000,000 military expenditures voted by the Liberal government last year and on the entire "militaristic program" of Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

In the week-long campaign, Works Minister Cardin and State Secretary Rinfret accepted armaments as an issue and championed the military appropriations as necessary for national defence. They campaigned

Fractures Ankle While Skating

Patrol-Leader Gordon White, 17, who was recently transferred from St. Andrew's to All Saints' Scout Troop, demonstrated the value of Scout training on Saturday night, when he rendered valuable assistance to a girl who broke her right ankle while skating.

The victim of the mishap was Eleanor Hobbins, 17, of 8 Brown Street, who is to-day in St. Joseph's Hospital recovering from a fractured ankle. She was skating at All Saints' rink on Saturday night, and was reportedly knocked down on the ice.

Skating to her assistance Scout White realized the girl had broken her ankle. With assistance he carried her to the caretaker's shack and after seeing she was made comfortable, instructed the rink caretaker to prepare hot water, bandages, and towels, while he went to telephone for medical assistance. Dr. C. D. Hewett responded.

More than 2,000 newspaper representatives from at least 100 countries will attend the Spring Trade Fair in Leipzig, Germany, in March.

Payroll Exceeded $40,000 Weekly Rotarians Are Told

Electrical Industry In Relation to Peterborough, Subject of An Address by C. A. Salmonsen

That the payroll of the Canadian General Electric Company in Peterborough had averaged more than $40,000 a week in 1937 and that the company ended the year with more than 2,100 employees as against 1,600 at the end of the previous 12 months were two of the many interesting things told by Carl A. Salmonsen, works manager of the company, in addressing the Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel today. Mr. Salmonsen, spoke on "The Electrical Industry in Relation to Peterborough" and he was heard by a representative audience that included practically all the members of the Rotary Club, His Honor Judge Smoke, Mayor Jas. Hamilton, Ald. E. R. Wilson, Ald. Walter Stocker, Ald. Herb Bradburn, City Clerk S. R. Armstrong, Assistant City Clerk E. A. Outram, L. D. W. Magle, W. C. English and Thos. Glover of the C.G.E. works council, Tom. Dutton of Toronto and T. L. Ashton, advertising manager of the Examiner.

Morley Shaver who has returned to membership in the Peterborough club and Frank C. Paterson, new agricultural representative who has transferred his membership here from the Weliand Club were welcomed to the club by President Dutton.

Mr. Salmonsen was introduced by Rotarian R. M. Glover who referred to the very splendid assistance the works manager of the C.G.E. had given the Relief committee and to the part played by the company in Peterborough. This city was fortunate, he said, in the diversified nature of its industries.

DE VALERA STARTS PEACE CONFERENCE WITH CHAMBERLAIN

By George Hambleton
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Jan. 17.—(CP Cable). —Under the chairmanship of Prime Minister Chamberlain the British delegates to the Anglo-Irish talks met at Downing street this morning for final review of the situation before formal conversations began. Similarly, in his hotel, Prime Minister Eamon De Valera conferred with his own colleagues.

The two delegations first met at lunch at 1.30 p.m. at No. 11 Downing street. The formal talks were to begin immediately after lunch, probably at 3 p.m.

A cheer went up from the crowd as Mr. De Valera's car turned swiftly from Whitehall into old Downing street. Downing street had all the air of a cabinet crisis. The pavement was packed by an eager crowd. Special police lined the sidewalks to prevent a rush. In a side street half a dozen mounted police waited for emergencies.

Just a Cheer.

But beyond a cheer there was no demonstration. Mr. De Valera, accompanied by his Irish colleagues, stepped out of the car and paused in the doorway to oblige the gathered photographers and moviemen. Then he disappeared into No. 11.

The delegates lunched at No. 11, which is the official residence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon. The talks themselves were to take place at the Prime Minister's residence, No. 10.

Success of the talks turns largely on the opening day. If the partition between Ulster, the six counties in the North, and the 26 Southern counties which make up Eire, or Ireland (formerly the Irish Free State), is thrown into the crucible the chances of effective success are slight. But if the delegates decide to tackle more pressing problems here is confident hope for an agreement.

These problems concern trade and defence.

NEW U.S. JUSTICE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP) — Members of the senate judiciary committee expressed certainty today that Stanley F. Reed would be confirmed as a United States Supreme Court Justice this week, enabling him to take his seat before any new cases are heard. He succeeds Justice George Sutherlands, 75, whose retirement becomes effective at midnight.

ABITIBI ASSETS SALE IS BLOCKED

TORONTO, January 17—(CP).— Mr. Justice Charles McTague today dismissed a motion made on behalf of the Montreal Trust Company asking approval of sale to a company to be formed of assets of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Limited. The proposed sale was to have been covered by a $50,000,000 bond mortgage.

Proposed by a committee headed by Joseph P. Ripley of New York and approved by a majority vote of shareholders, the plan for reorganization and sale of Abitibi was opposed in the court by several factions, including bondholders.

Mr. Justice McTague heard lengthy argument for and against the Ripley plan in early November. He announced at conclusion of the court hearing that if the various groups were unable to reach an agreement in the meantime, he would hand down written judgment.

SOCKED ON NEW EYE

HOT SPRINGS, N. M., Jan. 17—(AP)—An operation gave 11-year-old Julian Glaindo sight only a month ago and he is learning his way around his new world quickly. But next time he will know enough to duck when he sees a fist coming his way.

Today, though, he has a shiner, result of a scramble at a party at Carrie Tingley Hospital for children. Doctors said the "sock" did him no harm.

NO SLUMP FOR BRITAIN

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 17—(AP).— Viscount Horne, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, declared to-day he saw no sign of a slump ahead for Great Britain.

"Short of wars or great international troubles," he told an audience of business men, "I think our outlook at present is good."

Mother's 17-Year Hunt Ends Son And Daughter Found

Travels Thousands Of Miles Before Finding Clue To Family Her Husband Vanished With

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 17 (CP).—The story of how Mrs. Nora Jackson searched for 17 years to find a son and daughter taken by her husband at the time of their separation was unfolded here yesterday.

Mrs. John Kells of Niagara Falls, a sister of Mrs. Jackson, related how the children were found living in Lacentre, Wash., with their father. State automobile records gave the clue that led to the mother being re-united with her son, Jim, now 22, and the daughter, June, 20.

Mrs. Jackson last saw the children in Dowagiac, Mich., when she and her husband, Fred Jackson, were legally separated. Although the mother was given custody of the children, the father and the two children disappeared.

Mrs. Kells told of how she and her sister travelled thousands of miles in their search, visiting orphanages and contacting police in many cities. Finally last year, after State automobile records had been examined for years, a Fred Jackson was discovered living at Lacentre.

Checks At Post Office.

Mrs. Jackson went to Lacentre after finding out from the postmaster there that a June and Jim Jackson received mail.

The son, confronted by his mother after being called from work, would not believe at first that Mrs. Jackson was his mother.

"No," he said. "My mother died

Pair Accept Meal Then Steal $40

Vancouver, Jan. 17 (CP)

J. W. Morrison played the Good Samaritan to two hungry men —but it cost him $40.

Morrison told police Saturday night he took the two into a cafe and bought them a meal when they told him they were hungry. The men suggested he accompany them to their living quarters to "see conditions under which we live."

In the darkness of a lane, the pair attacked Morrison and stole his wallet.

FARMERS ON TOUR

School Gum-Drop Co-operative Works So Cookies, Pencils Are Included

Greenbelt, Md., Jan. 17 (AP)

THE Gum-drop Cooperative is doing well—a profit was in sight today.

Youngsters in the grade school of this government-built community heard their parents talking of cooperative stores.

They tried the idea. Ninety-two boys and girls bought shares of stock for 10 cents each, and voted that candy, gum, cookies, and pencils be handled by their co-op.

James L. Dameron, 14-year-old manager, said receipts during the first 10 days more than covered the first inventory and provided a start on a reserve, which must precede distribution of profits.

Strike Shuts All Three Papers And Gossip Rules Oregon

Housewives Wander Shopping 'Blind,' Rumors Spread, Town Criers Come To Life

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 17 (AP)— Mankind's age-old craving to know what the Jones' did last night sought satisfaction in back-fence gossip and broadcasts today as Portland settled down to its first day completely devoid of regularly printed news.

Three daily newspapers, closed Saturday when 245 members of the Multnomah Typographical Union walked out on strike, remained shut down although thin Sunday papers, set in advance, were sold. Publishers and union representatives, while still conducting meetings, seemed prepared to enter an endurance contest.

Rumors spread and grew.

With reporters off duty, no local news was available. Radio stations broadcast sketchy national events.

Housewives, without shopping advertisements, stayed at home or wandered through stores looking for bargains that might be there and might not.

Hundreds tramped streets looking at theatre facades to learn the names of current productions.

Volunteer town criers rushed to crowded restaurants and offices, there to display garnered bits of information.

Printers demanded a seven instead of a 7½ hour day and increases from $8.55 daily for day work to $9.00 and from $9.05 for night work to $9.50. Publishers agreed to wage demands but refused to reduce working hours. The strike threw 3,734 full and part-time employees out of work.

Picket Pickets Picket But Strategy Fails

St. Louis, Jan. 17 (AP)

MRS. Anthony Sarkis, owner of a linoleum firm, was irked when the union placed a picket on duty in front of her store. So she hired her own picket to picket the picket.

All day Saturday a buxom negro woman, wearing a bright flowered dress and red checked smock and carrying a large bouquet of flowers and a "just married" sign walked placidly beside the man, who carried an umbrella for the Linoleum Layers' Union. He did not appear at all perturbed.

Pickpockets Holiday For King's Wedding

Cairo, Jan. 17 (AP)

EGYPT'S pickpockets today declared a moratorium on "lifting" during celebrations of the wedding of King Farouk and Farida Zulficar January 20. One of Cairo's most notorius pickers made the pledge for himself and colleagues in a letter to a newspaper.

Drivers Suspect Ghosts, Ignore Cries Of Trio Locked In Cemetery

Chicago, Jan. 17 (AP)

MRS. Johannah Lauferski and her two daughters, Ruth and Dorlene, spent an hour and a half trying to convince someone they were locked in a graveyard.

The mother and daughters had gone to the cemetery to visit the grave of a relative and the gates were locked at dusk, unknown to them.

Motorists who heard their shouts for help or saw them only put on more speed. Eventually one stopped and called the cemetery keeper.

Socialist Deputies Block Both Blum And Bonnet

Objection of Key Party Members to Communists Proves Main Pitfall for Each Would-Be Premier

PARIS, Jan. 17—(CP-Havas)—Camille Chautemps, whose government resigned last Friday, today agreed "in principle" to attempt the formation of a new cabinet.

The Radical-Socialist ex-premier was called to the Elysee Palace by President Lebrun after Leon Blum, leader of the Socialists, largest party in the Chamber of Deputies, failed in an effort to form a cabinet which would have included the centre, as well as the three parties of the Leftist Popular Front—socialists, radical socialists, and communists.

Blum gave up the task when radical socialists, most moderate faction in the Popular Front and the second largest group in the Chamber, refused to participate in any cabinet that included communists.

The communists hold 82 seats in the chamber and hitherto have supported but not participated in Popular Front cabinets. Now they are prepared to take portfolios in any ministry formed.

Chautemps resigned Friday in the face of financial and labor troubles. Today he went to the Elysee Palace just half an hour after Blum had given up his attempt to form a ministry.

"The radical - socialists group manifested opposition to the entry of the communists into the government," Blum said.

"In these circumstances, I had to renounce the mission the president of the republic entrusted to me. I find it useless to persist."

Former Finance Minister Bonnet abandoned his cabinet-making attempt Sunday because, he explained, the socialists under Blum refused to promise their collaboration or even support to a government under his leadership.

BORDER STAR HEAD W. F. HERMAN DIES

The Windsor newspaper owner came to Southern California in the middle of December to spend the winter. He was taken ill shortly after reaching Los Angeles and entered a hospital New Year's Day and was operated on Jan. 3. After showing signs of recovering, he suffered a relapse which slowly ebbed away his strength.

Mr. Herman was engaged in the newspaper field in Canada for more than 30 years. He began his career as a publisher in Saskatchewan and his development of the Saskatoon Star was considered by himself as one of the most outstanding achievements on the prairies. In 1918, he purchased the ... Record, and made it the Border Cities Star, which has ... changed to the Windsor Star. Mr. Herman was proud of the way he built up the Windsor Star as he had been of his efforts in Saskatoon.

Mr. Herman was born in Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, his father was a sea captain and had command of a sailing vessel plying out of Lunenburg. His forefathers settled in Nova Scotia in 1749 and he was always intensely proud of his Canadian lineage.

With Herman at the time of his death were Mrs. Herman, and H. A. Graybell and W. L. Clark, of the Windsor Star. The funeral will be in Saskatoon on Friday with burial in the family plot. Miss Ruth Herman, who died in 1920, and was their only child, is buried there.

Mrs. Herman was Miss Adie Knoy, of Riverdale, now Pinehurst, Nova Scotia. They were married in Boston, where he had gone to seek employment. Their daughter was born there. Throughout his life, Mrs. Herman was constantly at his side, and he always consulted her and sought her advice on questions of importance.

SCOUTS PRAISED

CALGARY, Jan. 17 (C.P.)—Praise for Boy Scout movement in training Alberta youth in fundamentals of good citizenship was given by Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen, Chief Scout for the province, here on Saturday. The Lieutenant-Governor paid tribute to leaders who had "inspired the youth of the world particularly Canada, to higher ideals."

WAR HARD ON STEAMERS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 17 (AP). — The war has cost China at least 475 steamships with a gross tonnage of 570,000, either seized by the Japanese or used by Chinese military authorities in sinking booms along rivers in the war zones. They represent about 75 per cent. of all Chinese-owned steamers.

SLOT MACHINE FINES UP

MONTREAL, Jan. 17 (CP).—Slot machine ante has been quadrupled —for the owners. —Instead of the usual $25 fine imposed on those found possessing slot machines, a $100 levy, plus costs, with an alternative of one month in jail, was ordered to-day by Judge J. C. Langlois for Joseph Caporicco.

LEETOM, N.S.W.—(CP). — Many large cod came to the surface on the Murrimbidgee River to feed on a cloud of grasshoppers which swept over the water.

11 KNOWN DEAD AS STORMS RAKE BRITISH ISLES

Shipping Suffers Worst, Waves 70 to 80 Feet High

LONDON, Jan. 17—(CP).—The destroyer Wolverine, which went to the aid of the Admiralty oil tanker, War Bahadur, in the stormy Atlantic, reported to-day she was bringing the disabled ship into Plymouth.

No casualties were reported aboard the War Bahadur. The storm swept away her bridge and lifeboats.

The coastal steamship Glan Rhyd, with a crew of 22, was still unreported. It was feared she sank. Two of her lifeboats were washed ashore near Swansea, South Wales.

Known deaths totalled 11 as the British Isles recovered from their most stormy week-end in years. Shipping mishaps were numerous, incoming sailors describing waves 70 to 80 feet high. The 325-ton freighter Fermanagh sank Saturday off Pembrokeshire, the captain going down with his ship. The remainder of the ship's personnel were saved.

The captain and first mate of the coastal steamship Suffolk Coast, W. J. Roberts and M. J. Gallagher, respectively, were carried overboard and drowned off Southwestern Wales when a wave ripped away the ship's bridge.

LABOR HEADS STEP INTO FISH FIGHT

HALIFAX Jan. 17 (CP)—Executive members of the Halifax Trades and Labor Congress sought an interview with Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia today in an attempt to end the strike of employees of Maritime-National Fish, Limited, seeking union recognition.

Decision to approach the premier was one of three moves announced last night as the Halifax Fish Handlers and Cutters Union sought an end to the strike which began 10 days ago.

The Lunenburg Fishermen's Federation, which ordered the town's fleet tied up Dec. 30 afte disagreement with the buyers over prices, had refused to lift the order until the Fish Handlers Union is recognized here.

Meanwhile sporadic outbursts of stone-throwing continued at the Maritime-National plant, where pickets have patrolled unde the eyes of police almost since the strike began.

Writs sworn out against company officials, alleging violation of the Nova Scotia Trades Union Act, are scheduled to be heard tomorrow.

CAMPBELLFORD

Among the social events of the past week was the dance held on Wednesday evening in the parish hall under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. Although a fair sized crowd attended, the music by Jack Grant and His Aces was worthy of a much larger gathering and when the announcement was made that the same music would be had for another dance in the future a loud burst of applause was heard.

Lunch was served at twelve o'clock by the members of the Young People's Association.

On Thursday evening a bridge and euchre party was held in the league rooms by the ladies of the Catholic Women's League. A fair crowd attended and it is expected that a similar event will be held this week. Following lunch the prizes were awarded for bridge to George O'Sullivan and Mrs. Russell Long and for euchre to Mrs. W. Reid and Russell Long.

Nearly 1,000 miles of railway line in South Africa has been electrified.

Dismantled

Erected at an estimated cost of $375,000 and used only once — when the R-100 came to Canada—the Dominion's only dirigible mooring mast, the huge 200-foot mast at St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, was toppled by dynamite blasts. At the LEFT is shown a view of the huge black and yellow painted tower before it was toppled by dynamite. In the LOWER RIGHT the mooring mast is shown as it toppled to the ground following the blasts. The photograph at the UPPER RIGHT shows a close-up view of the mast after it had crashed into the snow.

JAPS INTEND NEW CENTRAL CHINESE ROLE AT SHANGHAI

TOKYO, Jan. 17 (AP).—Establishment of a new central Chinese government centering on Shanghai was proposed today as a sequel to Japanese withdrawal of recognition of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist regime.

A statement attributed to Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese Ambassador to China, suggested the setting up of such a government as Japan's next move toward "pacification" of East Asia.

"It is imperative that Japan and a new Chinese regime, able to work together, co-operate to tide over the difficult situation," Kawagoe was quoted in a Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatch.

"I believe the atmosphere is fast developing to favor establishment of a new regime in Central China, centering on Shanghai. In that event, it would not be so difficult to adjust relations between the North China and Central China regimes."

(A new Japanese-inspired government at Peiping, made up of Chinese, professes to be the provisional government of North China).

Peace Hopes Fade.

It was evident that all chance of negotiating peace with the Chiang Kai-Shek government on Japan's terms had vanished.

Kawagoe has not been ordered home, nor has the Chinese Ambassador to Japan been asked to leave because of the withdrawal of recognition, a Foreign Office spokesman explained. However, he expected the Chinese Ambassador voluntarily to leave Japan soon.

The spokesman pointed out that the severence of diplomatic relations between nations does not necessarily mean declaration of war follows; Tokyo financial circles were said to have pledged support to Japan's Chinese policy. The press unanimously endorsed the government's program.

The newspaper Hochi said editorially that Germany and Italy already have notified Japan informally of their readiness to recognize the provisional government at Peiping. It expects that when Japan extends formal recognition, they will follow suit.

Bush Work In 1937 Found Best In Past Eleven Years

Credit Increased Confidence Revealed In Industrial And Residential Construction

OTTAWA, Jan. 17 (CP)—Canada's lumber industry shared in the geneal improvement in internal and external trade during 1937, a report from the Dominion forest service, Department of Mines and Resources, said today.

Increased confidence and activity in other lines of business in Canada stimulated domestic, industrial and residential construction upon which the industry depends for disposal of about three-fifths of the lumber produced, the reporte stated. Higher average prices in foreign markets boosted export trade values.

Indices of total employment in the woods indicate that more men were employed during the past year than in any period since 1926.

$25,000 TRENTON FIRE

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Jan 17 (CP).—Loss estimated at $25,000, fully covered, was suffered by Empire Food Products Company, Limited, of Trenton, when the warehouse containing practically all of last year's pack, 125,000 cases, was destroyed by fire. Harold Dowden, warehouse foreman, discovered the fire, which it is believed was caused from an overheated stove Prompt action by the Trenton brigade saved the factory valued at $250,000. At the present time a guard has been placed around the building until adjustments and estimates can be made.

CANTON ATTACK STARTS

HANKOW, China, Jan. 17 (CP-Havas).—Japan's long awaited attack against Canton and other important South China strongholds was believed underway today as reports reaching here said 600 marines had been landed on the Kwangtung coast under the protection of Japanese warships and airplanes.

Chinese troops were sent to the scene of the landing and fighting was reported, the first in South China since the outbreak of hostilities.

Sixty-Ninth Annual Meeting Royal Bank of Canada

Expansion of Foreign Markets for Canadian Wheat Pressing National Problem, says Morris W. Wilson—Urges Reciprocal Trade Agreements to Secure Outlets for Staple Commodities.—Drought Problem Reviewed.

Bank's Balance Sheet Reflects Satisfactory Year for Business States Sydney G. Dobson.—Looks for Reasonably Good Conditions in 1938.—Answers Alberta Critics.

The expansion of foreign markets for Canadian wheat by reciprocal trade agreements and a truly national approach to the drought problem were urged by Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, at the Sixty-ninth Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada.

Canada was a fortunate country state Mr. Wilson. The high level of national well-being reached by the phenomenal recovery of 1936 was maintained in 1937 and the activity in most lines of business compared not unfavourably with the record year of 1929.

A tragic exception to the general improvement was experienced in the Prairie Provinces. Obviously the need which exists is acute, the situation could not be handled by the Province, and the Federal Government is to be commended for having shouldered the greater part of the burden.

The immediate problems created by the drought require emergency measures; but a situation has also been brought to a head which has been unsatisfactory for years and requires treatment on a national basis.

Large areas, ordinarily unsuitable for the purpose, have been planted to grain. Under favourable weather conditions the crop from an area equal to that planted in recent years would furnish serious marketing problems. The efforts towards self-sufficiency in food supplies on the part of many countries, and particularly Germany, France and Italy, have also narrowed the international market for wheat and flour to a point where total overseas sales of the four important non-European exporters have been reduced as follows:

*Broomhall's estimate of December 15, 1937.

It is a sad commentary that a large crop in Canada, unless accompanied by crop failures in other countries, would bring little more total remuneration to our farmers as a whole than they have secured in the years of drought.

There was no single remedy to bring about improvement, said Mr. Wilson. Diversified agriculture, withdrawal of sub-marginal land from wheat, and more scientific methods would help. But these should be combined with exceptional efforts on the part of the government to open the doors of foreign markets, so that when Canadian farmers again reap a good crop the wheat may be sold to advantage. It is clear that the Prairie Provinces cannot solve this problem alone. This is a task which calls for prolonged, consistent and wholehearted co-operation.

The best possible hope of securing outlets for our grain and other agricultural products is through negotiations with countries which are now growing food crops at an exorbitant cost.

I view with satisfaction the present tendency among democratic countries to break down barriers impeding the natural flow of business.

With the general statement that Canada should admit freely articles not produced within the country there can be little basis for disagreement. But I would go further and say that reduced tariffs should be applied to articles which are made in Canada only on a restricted and uneconomic scale.

The problem is not simple, but studies undertaken by the Tariff Board to determine what concessions should be made to foreign countries in exchange for an important market for our staple commodities, should receive the support and encouragement of experts from the industries directly affected.

MINING

The continued growth of mining had contributed materially to the general welfare of the country, said Mr. Wilson. During the past year, he said, production of gold, copper, nickel and zinc, has been between two and one-half times the high level of production attained in 1929. It is estimated that in 1937 the expenditures of the mining industry for wages and supplies have been beween $225 and $250 million. Of $300 million paid in dividends by Canadian companies in 1937, one-third was paid by the mines.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

The position abroad is complex and difficult but one gets few hints of the tremendous desire for peace which is latent in all parts of Europe. I know of no European country where the mass of the people are sympathetic with the aggressive expressions of some of their leaders. In many countries, desperate economic conditions have created mass fear. Ruthless, cynical and irresponsible leadership is gambling to keep itself in power. Just as there are constructive psychological factors beneath the surface, so there are favourable economic forces at work. Those of us who continue to feel hopeful base our optimism upon the belief that idealism is not dead and that it cannot be long before economic reconstruction gives even those who are most desperate a breathing spell.

UNITED STATES

One of the most important questions of the day is whether the United States is merely experiencing an interruption in the long term trend of recovery, or whether the wheel has turned full circle and the country is again facing a major depression. In my opinion, fundamental conditions now and in the period immediately preceding the last depression are not comparable. One would be tempted to say without hesitation that the present setback is merely a temporary recession, were it not for the unfortunate lack of co-operation that exists between Government and business.

It surely cannot be long before a plan for practical co-operation between government, industry and labour will be adopted.

CONCLUSION:

Where the recent prosperity in the United States has been dependent mainly upon large-scale government deficits, the Canadian recovery took its origin from foreign trade.

Without doubt, prosperity based upon world demand for Canadian products is more soundly established than that based upon deficit spending. Sixty per cent. of our exports go to countries other than the United States, and even with a substantial decline in exports to that country total Canadian prosperity should be only moderately affected.

On the whole, I look forward to 1938 as a year in which—barring some upset in international affairs not presently anticipated—I expect to see an improvement from present levels in the United States, and a further orderly economic reconstruction in many foreign countries. If this proves to be an accurate forecast, we can, I believe, look forward to further substantial progress towards full recovery in Canada.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

In reviewing the general Balance Sheet, Mr. S. G. Dobson, General Manager, referred with satisfaction to an increase of $14,000,000 in total assets, a renewal of the upward trend in commercial loans and a growth of 190 million dollars in Royal Bank deposits in less than five years.

Conditions in Canada definitely improved during the year, said Mr. Dobson, the one dark spot being the drought areas in Western Canada.

Referring to the unfair criticism in Alberta, Mr. Dobson said in this campaign of misrepresentation, efforts have been made to stir up resentment against the banks. And yet, during the last five years not in one single instance has any farmer or home owner in Alberta been deprived of his farm or home by this bank through foreclosure.

To demonstrate the wide diversity of services banks provide, Mr. Dobson took occasion to analyze certain of the bank's figures. At the end of the year, the bank had on its books loans to farmers totalling $16,000,000, to retail merchants $21,000,000, to professional men and other private individuals $51,000,000. As a further example of the extent to which we facilitate the affairs of what might be termed the "smaller client", I may say we had loans outstanding to 61,000 borrowers whose liability to the bank did not exceed $500 each.

In conclusion, Mr. Dobson said that a profitable year for business was clearly reflected in the Bank's own balance sheet for 1937.

MARMORA

Y.P.A. PROPOSES SKATING PARTY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Jan. 17.—St. Andrew's Young People's Union met in St. Andrew's Hall on Monday evening for their regular meeting. After Rev. C. W. Hollingworth had offered prayer a business discussion followed. Instead of holding a meeting on the next regular meeting night, it was decided to have a skating party on the rink and Hubert Hollingsworth was appointed to make arrangements. A lunch committee was also appointed. It was also decided to hold a social evening on January 31, with Herbert Bonter, Charles Hollingsworth and Jack Gray arranging the program for the evening.

The meeting was then handed over to the program committee, Ewart Haacke and James Loveless. The former acted as chairman.

A debate on "Communism" was taken with Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth and Dorothy Rogers on the affirmative side and Charles Hollingsworth and Winnifred Sabine on the negative side. The affirmative side won by one vote. Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth read a paper "Ten ways to kill an organization." Next on the program was a "What do you know" contest. Donald Prentice then played a couple of guitar selections, after which group games were played until the end of the meeting.

56 PEOPLE DROWN

Of 62 persons who have fallen from Sydney Harbor Bridge in Australia since it was opened in May, 1932, only six survived.

Blast In U.S. "Safest Mine" Brings Death To Ten

Holstein Breeders Are Given Travelogue Through Europe

George Clemons Of Brantford Is Guest Speaker At Annual Dinner

Yellow roses of the Riviera and the black and white cattle of Holland spread with striking and dominant color the canvas on which George Clemons of Brantford, secretary of the Dominion Holstein Breeders' Association, conducted the dinner party of the Peterborough County Holstein Breeders' Association on a delightful itinerary of western Europe in the basement of Mark Street United Church Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Clemons was the main speaker at the dinner which concluded the annual meeting of the local association in the morning. There is no intention of subordinating him by mentioning the fact that he is a son-in-law of the Hon. George S. Henry, owner of one of the finest herds of Holstein cattle in this country. He married a daughter of the former Premier of Ontario last Spring, and presumably their honeymoon was extended by a motor trip in Europe including a week or more at Nice where Mr. Clemons attended the Rotary International convention. They took along a motion picture camera which they used with expert effect and while Mrs. Clemons was at the controls of a projection machine Saturday afternoon her husband entertained the large audience of men and women from the neighboring townships with a travelogue that was worthy of a professional globe-trotter.

A series of still pictures were shown in black and white, supplemented by movies in color. It was all excellent photography, especially the filming of the Battle of the Flowers, one of the feature attractions the people of Nice staged for the six thousand Rotarians from all parts of the world. All kinds of flowers were used as the material in the delicate construction of nearly one hundred floats, but the most impressive of all of them was the wealth of yellow roses that seemed to pervade some of the scenes with fragrant gold. Red poppies blowing in the wind along the roadside south from Paris was another splash of beauty in their natural colors.

In Holstein Country

Finally, Mr. Clemons reached Holland, and as the representative of the third generation of a family to retain the secretaryship of the Dominion Holstein Breeders' Association, he was primarily interested in seeing the Holstein and Friesian cattle on their native heaths. All the Netherlands pictures afforded an object lesson for his audience in the dairy breed of their choice. One of his statements was that Friesland, not much larger than an average county in Ontario, provided pasturage for 200,000 Friesian cattle.

Hundreds of Holstein cattle, including various champions of bluest bovine blood, were shown grazing in fields that were marked off with narrow canals, making effective fences. And in the background were Flanders poplars and other trees suggesting in their form that they might have been painted by Rembrandt. Mr. Clemons described the points of similarity and also of difference in comparing the Holsteins of Holland with the typical cattle of that breed in this country. Other pictures were taken at cattle fairs in England showing the type of Holsteins favored by English breeders.

Obviously, Mr. and Mrs. Clemons had the privilege of entry into some of the finest dairy establishments in both countries, notably Lady MacRoberts vast estate in Scotland. The brightly painted houses and barns in Holland, the splendid floral gardens, and a general neatness along the way, indicated that these are universal qualities among the people of that flat country between the North Sea and the Zuyder Zee. The lanes and stone fences along English farms and their appearance of trimness was another impression conveyed on the screen.

Scenes of Le Havre, Amsterdam, the busy port of Rotterdam, Geneva and the Swiss Alps, Vimy Ridge and Canada's magnificent war memorial, glimpses of the lake country in England, Edinburgh and its castle and broad views of Scottish moorlands were other details of Mr. Clemons' travelogue, an educational chapter in geography and also in the dairy branch of agriculture.

Tribute To H. A. Morrow

Chas. E. Moore was chairman of the dinner. Mayor Hamilton extended a welcome to the members of the association, and congratulated them on their large attendance and on the work they were accomplishing in the country. His Worship referred to H. A. Morrow's gift of the Exhibition Park to the directors of the Exhibition. "I don't think they ever thought they would have the grounds given to them. Mr. Morrow's spendid gift shows that there are men of public spirit who appreciate the efforts associations like your own are putting forth to make conditions better for the agricultural industry. I can assure you that if there is anything the city council can ever do to help you we will be glad to do so."

"I think I am one of the oldest directors in point of service," Mr. Moore said. "We have come through years of struggle, and we could hardly express ourselves in accepting the Park from Mr. Morrow. It means a lot to us of the Board, and I hope it will be an example to other public spirited men to help deserving movements."

Compliment To Breeders

Robert M. Holtby eastern Ontario field man for the Holstein Association said there had been seventy-two sales of Holstein cattle every week day last year, indicating the extent of the commercial phase of the business. He congratulated Joseph and Fred Mann of Smith township on the recorded production of a mature cow in their Holstein herd that had given 24,000 pounds of milk and 905 pounds of butter fat milking twice a day last year. This cow won first prize in the dry mature class at the C.N.E. two years ago and was grand champion at Peterborough, and in its R.O.P. production stood third in Canada. Mr. Holtby also complimented Joseph Tully on his possession of Hays Supreme as his herd sire, saying "it is one of the best herd sires we have in Canada." He also expressed the hope that Peterborough breeders would develop their country herd to a higher rating in the C.N.E. competition.

F. A. Paterson was introduced by Mr. Moore as the successor to A. D. Runions as representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. William Batten contributed two songs to the program, accompanied by Mrs. Clayton Telford.

Officers Elected Warkworth Guild

WARKWORTH, Jan. 17.—The members of the Anglican Guild held their annual meeting Thursday afternoon, January 13, at the home of Mrs. J. W. Mowat. The Guild had a very successful year as shown by reports given by Miss Louise Brooks.

The officers are: Honorary president, Mrs. T. Floyd, Campbellford; president, Mrs. Harry Brooks; secretary, Louise Brooks; treasurer, Mrs. A. Maldens and reporter, Miss B. Baker.

Preparations for a tea to be held February 11th at the home of Mrs. Oliver completed the business. Rev. T. H. Floyd closed the meeting after which a dainty lunch was served.

BETHANY INSTITUTE PLANS TO PACK BOX

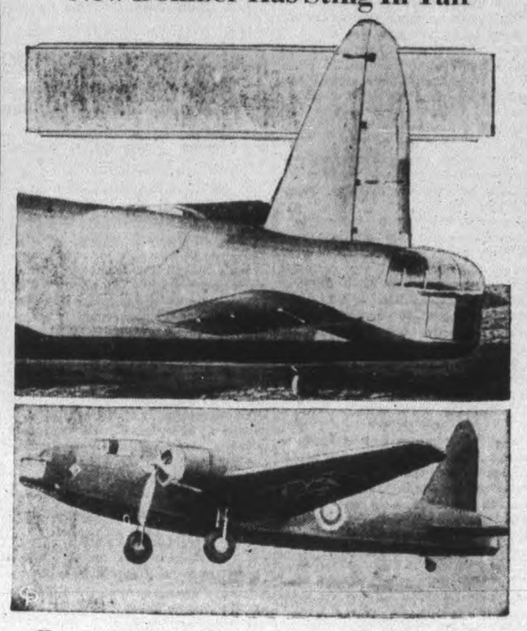
BETHANY, Jan. 17.—The regular monthly meeting of the Bethany Branch of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday evening with fourteen members present. The president presided.

The roll was answered by each member giving their individual New Year resolution. It was decided to prepare a box to be packed at the home of Mrs. Wm. McCarthy on Wednesday, and sent to Alameda, Sask., for distribution in that centre.

Mrs. McCarthy gave a very interesting history of the W. I. activities from their beginning in Bethany district until the present time.

After the regular business an exchange of gifts from a box placed on the central dining table took place. A vote of thanks was tendered the entertaining groups and the hostess at the closing of a happy and profitable evening.

New Bomber Has Sting In Tail



Here are two views of the Vickers "Wellington I", the twin-engined bombing aeroplane that is the latest to become part of the Royal Air force fighting equipment. The craft is distinguished by the fact that it has extra bombing cockpits in nose and tail. Top picture is a close-up of the tail; below, the bomber taking off on a test flight. Note bomb pit in nose.

A Body Builder

WHEN you feel out-of-sorts, when you've no appetite, or stomach gives trouble, with gas or acid indigestion, why not try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery? If you want to put on healthy flesh—this is the tonic for you. Read what Mrs. Frank Lamothe, 27 North St., St. Catharines, Ont., said: "I had no appetite, was underweight, didn't sleep well at night and after eating I suffered a good bit with acid indigestion and gas. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery soon had me feeling better again. My appetite improved, my digestion was better and I was much stronger." It's a great blood tonic. Sold by druggists.

They're Only "Pikers"

When it comes to joy-rides at the expense of the ratepayers, Peterborough's city council of last year showed themselves to be veritable novices. Imagine a municipal government in a city the size of this getting by with an expenditure of only $173.67 for deputations during an entire year! For that modest sum the city fathers were able to send representatives away on six or seven official missions in the twelve months including trips to Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa, and while no vital business outside the city was neglected, the smallness of the expense account for official deputations must have set a new low.

In the old days, when revenues were not nearly as large as they are now, there seemed to be many more out-of-town trips at the expense of the ratepayers than is the case today and it used to be considered necessary to send most of the boys of the council circle and usually a few officials along on many of these journeys.

A motion that the whole council should comprise a deputation was by no means a novelty and if there was nothing else in sight that justified a civic jaunt somebody usually organized an On-to-Ottawa demonstration in another effort to persuade the Federal government that the way to lasting prosperity for Canada was to be found in the early completion of the Trent Canal. The county councils of yesteryear also found occasion to visit the Legislative buildings at Toronto on several occasions a year and in order that there should be no homesickness among the delegates usually the entire council went along.

The expense sheets of some of those earlier deputations would show that when it is a question of spending the money of the taxpayers on civic jaunts Peterborough's council of 1937 were merely "pikers."

We All Pay Them

One of the statements Hon. G. Howard Ferguson used to be fond of making when he was delivering political addresses was that the taxes the Ontario government collected were in the main charges for services and that only those persons who used the services provided by the government had to pay. It was a plausible sort of argument and it has been used by others than Mr. Ferguson, the latest example being the Ontario School Trustees and Ratepayers' Association which has been bolstering up its claim for a greater contribution from provincial funds to the cost of education by employing exactly the same line of reasoning.

The Ferguson theory is interesting but there is every reason to doubt its correctness. We are inclined to believe that the Ottawa Journal is much closer to the mark when it argues that in the long run all taxes are a charge on business and the cost of living. That seems inevitable. At first glance it might appear that the revenue the Ontario government takes in the form of gasoline taxes and motor vehicle licenses only affects the people who drive cars and that the corporation tax and the income tax concern only the firms and citizens who have to pay them. The effect of all these and other levies, however, is much more widspread than that and touches the pocketbooks and the lives of everybody in one way or another. You cannot, for example, increase the income tax and take more money from that proportion of the population that is eligible to pay such a tax without curtailing the spending power of thousands of people. They do without certain things they would otherwise have bought and the result is the merchant who sells those things, the manufacturer in whose plant they are made and the men and women who work for the merchant and the manufacturer all are affected by the heavier levy. Every other tax works out in much the same way so when it is claimed that the only persons who have to pay taxes are those who benefit by the services for which the taxes are collected, the statement is wide open to attack.

Should Be Stopped

There was a statement made by the secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Motor League recently that seems to deserve official attention. It was to the effect that many drivers, whose permits have been cancelled are still handling motor cars on the highways and on city streets.

If that charge is true the authorities should lose no time in dealing with it. It has always seemed to us that the most effective punishment that could be handed out to reckless drivers was to take away from them their right to drive. That is the method in Great Britain and it is the opinion of safety experts that good results have been secured by cancelling the permits of flagrant offenders.

To much lesser degree the same plan has been followed in Ontario but more recently there has been a tendency on the part of the courts to include a cancellation of driving permits as part of the sentence. The policy has met with general approval from the press and from officials of safety organizations as likely to prove a helpful contribution to safer driving conditions.

It is disappointing, therefore, to hear it stated that many of the worst offenders have chosen to ignore the fact that they have lost for the time being the legal right to sit at the wheel of an automobile and that they have continued to drive despite the suspension of their driving permits. Traffic officers, and provincial and municipal police should join forces in watching for that kind of thing and the punishment that is meted out to motorists who are convicted of driving while their permits are cancelled should be heavy enough to convince other offenders the safest policy is to keep out of the driver's seat until their right to drive has been restored.

Banning Slot Machines

Manitoba has decided that it is time to tackle the slot machine problem on a provincial basis, the announcement having been made that a bill is to be introduced into the Legislature by the Attorney-General to amend present legislation in Manitoba so that "nickel-in-the-slot" and "pin games" will be banned.

The Manitoba government has come to the conclusion that it is a much more effective way of dealing with the situation created by the advent of these machines to have them declared illegal by provincial legislation than to leave the problem on the doorstep of the municipalities and glancing at the conditions in our own province it is difficult to quarrel with the decision reached by the western province.

The situation in Ontario in regard to slot machines is certainly far from satisfactory. There is no uniformity in the policy adopted by various municipalities. Some cities, such as Ottawa, refuse to allow the operation of any of the gadgets at all. Other centres try to achieve the same result by licensing the machines and making the license fee high enough to be prohibitory, although in a number of instances when that plan was tried, the council found they had not aimed high enough and licenses were taken out in spite of the expense involved. And there are still other places, including Peterborough, where the license fee is not high enough to drive out the machines, but sufficient to bring in a sizable bit of revenue into the city treasury, the plan incidentally make the city partners in the enterprise.

A provincial ban such as is planned in Manitoba would of course clear up the whole situation. It would make all types of these devices illegal and thus take the responsibility of dealing with them out of the hands of the municipalities altogether. Apparently there is no other way to reach that goal.

A Useful Publication

"Canada 1938" the official handbook of present conditions and recent progress in the Dominion issued under the authority of Hon. W. D. Euler, the Federal Minister of Trade and Commerce has made its appearance and will probably be regarded by those who come into possession of a copy of the publication, as the finest that has been issued since this very useful and informative handbook first was issued on an annual basis in 1930.

As Mr. Euler points out in a foreword the book is designed to serve two purposes. To those outside of Canada it will give a well-rounded picture of the Canadian situation from the Atlantic to Pacific, while in Canada itself it will help to provide a better basis of information for dealing with current problems.

"Canada, 1938" is not a mere mass of figures giving in detail statistics concerning populations, internal and external trade, transportation, education and all that sort of thing which are covered fully in the regular reports of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and summarized at considerable length in the Canada Year Book. On the contrary it represents a successful effort to survey existing conditions throughout the Dominion in a comprehensive and attractive form. The handbook is handsomely illustrated with many photographs, it covers a large number of different topics of interest to Canadians and the information which it succinctly presents is accurate and up-to-the minute.

Those responsible for the preparation of the material in this official government publication have made a very fine job of it and we have an idea that a great many Canadians will find "Canada, 1938" very helpful.

Might Start At Home

The question of more modern vehicles for the collection of garbage, including wagons or trucks that would be properly covered, has been engaging the attention of members of the local council for some time. If the desired kind of apparatus can be secured without adding too much to the cost of garbage collection, it would obviously be an improvement over the existing conditions to have refuse taken away in covered vehicles, in which the garbage would be unseen and from which there would be no chance of papers and other material blowing around the street, as sometimes occurs at present.

A citizen remarked to The Examiner the other day, and his statement seems decidedly pertinent, that before the city council goes too far in the direction of insisting upon properly covered garbage collection vehicles it might find it worthwhile to insist also that the existing regulations in regard to proper receptables for garbage should be observed.

Householders are supposed to place their waste material in properly covered cans before placing it outside to be picked up but as everybody knows that regulation is more honored in the breach than in the observance. Open boxes, uncovered tin dishes and various other kinds of unsightly receptacles are strewn along the street on the days scheduled for garbage collection, and as these open containers are fair prey both for wandering dogs and for the vagaries of the wind the result is far from attractive. Until something is done to improve those conditions our complainant remarks that the authorities might be well advised to postpone action in regard to covered collection equipment.

WHAT THEY WANT

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Jed Wilkus had a brindle cow, its ribs were of the wash board style, a look of dullness clogged its brow, of grief it nursed a goodly pile.

¶ Joe Wilkus sold the milk each day, to try and pay his board and feed, nor could he make the business pay, the milk was very poor indeed.

¶ And people started telling him, he need call on them now no more, the brindle cow gave milk so thin, they shooed him from the kitchen door.

¶ Jed Wilkus read when he had time, and he paid heed to things he'd see, he knew his trade had hit decline, it was as bad as it could be.

¶ Jed read of vitamins one day, of what a fad they'd come to be, what prices folk would gladly pay, they wanted them from A to D.

¶ Jed knew not where they got such stuff nor what a vitamin would do, but he saw in it sure enough, the way to put his business through.

¶ Jed Wilkus started telling round his brindle cow had changed her way, she'd found strange herbs within the ground and gave the vitamin A.

¶ Now folk they come unto the barn, and wait for Jed to milk his cow, they say there's health upon his farm, a strange look on the brindle's brow.

¶ Jed's business pays him well indeed, the vitamin has saved the day, and now he buys the brindle feed and lays odd ducats safe away

IT IS A COMMON thing to hear boys and girls who have just entered high school trying to invent excuses why they should not "take up" Latin and occasionally they object to French. A report just issued by the Education Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics gives some idea of the extent to which languages are being taught in our Canadian schools.

❖ ❖ ❖

The predominant second language in the high schools of every province other than Quebec is French and about three-quarters of the high schools students studying English are also learning French. The proportion is as high as two-thirds in every province.

❖ ❖ ❖

That this situation is essentially Canadian, influenced in large measure by the place of the French language in the life of the Dominion is suggested by the fact that in the United States less than one-eighth of high school students study French and that in only one-fifth of the individual states is French the second language.

❖ ❖ ❖

One half of the high school students study Latin which is much more than the number learning it in the United States. At one time United States students studied Latin in greater numbers but a steady reduction since 1910 has resulted in less than one-fifth learning the "dead language." It has been declining in Canada too during this time but not at so fast a rate.

❖ ❖ ❖

Less than four per cent. of Canadian high school students learn German. Spanish which is offered as a subject in Ontario, Nova Scotia and Quebec has attracted few students. Only about 500 students in the whole country study Greek, most of them in Ontario. Classical Greek is given in the Universities and affiliated theological colleges give modern Greek.

❖ ❖ ❖

A few students avail themselves of courses offered in Gaelic in Nova Scotia, Italian in Ontario and Icelandic and Swedish in Manitoba.

Strange Mishaps.

AMONG THE odd accidents of 1937 as reported by the National Safety council of the United States are listed the following:

❖ ❖ ❖

George Everett was dozing on a riverbank near St. Louis when a catfish rose to the surface and spat a fishhook into his nose.

❖ ❖ ❖

Emma Pinkerton of Salamanca N. Y. broke her right leg turning over in bed.

❖ ❖ ❖

J. Newton Jolliff of King City Mo. bumped against a steel clothesline and the fluid in his eye froze to the wire.

❖ ❖ ❖

Lily Holderness of Tucson Ariz. kissed a gila monster and it bit her cheek.

❖ ❖ ❖

❖ ❖ ❖

At Tokyo army officers placed gifts on a regular funeral shrine in memory of the dogs, pigeons and horses killed in the Chinese war. The "chief mourner" was an elephant.

❖ ❖ ❖

About one rabbit in a hundred has bacterium tularense in its blood. The germ occasionally adopts a new habitat in human blood. After three or four days the organism may cause tularemia—rabbit fever. The disease may attack hunters and housewives who handle the animals once too often.

❖ ❖ ❖

In the last seven years, gifts for various purposes in New York, Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston have exceeded a billion dollars. The largest single donation last year was the bequest of $50,000,000 in the will of Charles Hayden, New York financier, to be used for the education of boys and young men and their moral, mental and physical well-being."

Divorce in England

EIGHTY YEARS ago England had no divorce law. Would-be divorcees could get decrees only by special act of parliament and that body granted a mere 230 in 150 years. In 1857 the first divorce statute was passed. It permitted separation for insanity, desertion and cruelty and divorce for adultery.

❖ ❖ ❖

Now the law has been changed and divorce can be granted not only for adultery but also for insanity, desertion and cruelty.

❖ ❖ ❖

Under the old law divorces were most prevalent among army, navy and air force personnel, who obtained 22 per cent. of the 6,000 divorces granted in 1936. The artistic professions obtained 18 per cent. leisure classes 16 per cent., commercial travellers 14 per cent., business men 11 per cent., lawyers 4 per cent., doctors 2 per cent. and the clergy 1 per cent. "Poor" divorces accounted for the remaining 12 per cent.

Lake Placid in the United States is the longest—a mile and one half—and probably the fastest bobsled course in the world. But the Cresta Run in Switzerland is the oldest. Built in 1904 at Europe's classiest winter playground it is the mecca of all shoot-the-chute daredevils.

❖ ❖ ❖

The Lake Placid run which was built for the 1932 winter Olympic games is the only one in the United States whereas Europe has thirty or more.

Pink Shoes For Men Not Taken Seriously

Shoe Fair Tries to Put the Thing Over But Bright Footwear Has Little Chance

(From the Vancouver Province.)

AT THE National Shoe Fair in Chicago the other day they had shoes all colors of the rainbow and they had shoes with heels notably high. They had clogs with three-inch soles for the beaches and shoes with three-inch heels for evening affairs. They had shoes in blues, reddish coppers, blacks and wines, and the wines were "ranging from deep purple to a new shade called strawberry pink." Most of these shoes, of course, were for the ladies. But, said the chronicler:

"All the colors were duplicated in men's shoes."

Here, once more, is evidence of the persistence of a curious superstition in the purveyors of fashions for men. They are always doing this sort of thing. They are always telling us that men are going in for gay effects in their clothes. They are always exhibiting examples. They are always warning us or encouraging us in advance to expect something or other mighty snappy or splendid in men's raiment. And it never comes off.

It never comes off in the sense that it never goes on. You may see strawberry pink shoes for men at shoe fairs, but you will never see them coming down the street. This is the forlorn hope of the pure enthusiasts who try to persuade us periodically that men are going back to the days when men were gay dogs and dressed the parts.

But we all know that it is not so. Even on the golf course, where passionate hose and haberdashery had their brief moment, they have taken now to sober, shapeless and comfortable grey flannel slacks—slacks by name and slack by nature. Our bedizeners simply can not bring this miracle about.

We have no gay dogs among us any more. There is the state of Europe and there is the economic insecurity and there are taxes coming due. The trouble among us is, not that we do not, but that very certainly we do, dress the part.

Some Light On Origin Christian Names

Most of Them We Use Have Come Down From Small Number of Clearly Defined Sources

(By John Good in the Edinburgh Scotsman.)

MOST OF OUR Christian names have come down to us from a small number of well-defined sources —Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Teutonic, Anglo-Saxon and Celtic, and under review fall naturally into distinct aesthetic categories.

The Hebraic strain is characterized by strength and dignity—Amos, Abel, Joseph, Mary, Martha, Simon. To the Greeks we are beholden for imperishable legacies in statue and temple, ode and drama; but their nomenclature is of equal loveliness. Names like Agatha, Ambrose, Agnes, Barbara, Cyril, Daphine, Eunice, Iris, Myra, Penelope, Phoebe Phyllis and Rhoda will never die. Latin derivatives enjoy a much more limited vogue — Camilla, Diana, Clarence, Laura, Florence, Clarissa, Constance, and Priscilla. I myself have a strong predilection for the Teutonic and Anglo-Saxon coinage—Albert, Alfred, Aubrey, Arnold, Bernard, Gerald, Harold, Herbert, Leonard and Everard, no less than for the cavalierly and euphonic importations of the Norman Conquest, William, Henry, Robert, Walter, Hugh, Gilbert and Nigel. From the French we have one or two picturesque acquisitions like Algernon and Cecilia, and a strain of romance from the Celtic: Angus, Deirdre, Kenneth, Morag and Oscar.

The modern tendency is against the traditional tyranny of uncles and grandparents for nominal self-perpetuation, and in favor of decorative and trinket types. That a child should have a name to be proud of both at school and afterwards is surely part of its birthright. Indeed as every "mulling and puking" infant has the potentiality of ultimate fame, it seems a pity that one can not be present at one's own christening, and, with suddenly gifted maturity of judgment, repudiate an unsatisfactory or arbitrary parental choice.

Perversions of masculine egoism like Thomasina and Jamesina do still persist in northern latitudes, but combination such as Jessie Ann and Lizzie Jane are obsolete and one is glad to feel that Euphemia, Evangeline and Angelica are no longer in favor with the modern mother.

A headmistress tells me that Betty and Ann and Joan at present enjoy a considerable vogue. These used to introduce the kitchen-wench or lass-at-the-fair, but are now distinctive and aristocratic. Parents seem often to be prompted by ideal motives in making a selection; they hope that the name quality will materialize in character. But not all the Arthurs and Lilies become eagles and swans, and Irenes, I am told, often betray their trust by: displaying marked pugnacity. You occasionally stumble upon a really happy invention. A nurse once carried a newborn mite to her anxious father downstairs and observed, "Here's another blossom for you!" So Blossom was the choice for christening, and the mite flowered into a distinguished soprano.

There is an essential fitness in common names. George means husbandman, which is just what you'd expect of such an honest carle. It happened once that a man christened George Lord Sanger came to be manager of a great menagerie, so he improved his prospects as a rolling-stone by simply transposing his two first names. That was a stroke of genius. David is the Hebrew for beloved. All my acquaintances of that name have been excellent people. What finer name, indeed, could be devised for a pal than Davy?

John is at once one of the oldest and most popular of Christian names. It means "gracious gift of God." All the Johns of history, it is said, from the favorite disciple onwards, have been good except the ill-conditioned English sovereign. At a fishermen's supper in Southport in 1913 no fewer than 31 Wrights sat down at table, of whom 12 were John, so the difficulty was overcome by using their nicknames—Toffy, Clogger, Sweet, Pantry, Mike, Strodger, Daddy, Smiler, Nice, Jenny's, Music and Orchard. The familiar Bill, Bob, Dan, Don, Dick, Hal, Joe, Sam Ted and Tom as well as Cis Chris, Mol, Pall, Nan and Sal are a compliment both to our phonic versatility and our national bonhomie and sportiveness.

It is said that the length of Christian names varies in inverse ratio to the stage of civilization, but at least some of the Indian appellatives preserved by Longfellow are very beautiful—Minnehaha, laughing water, and Watapinat, the eagle's nest.

Contests in Spelling Become Popular

Revival of Interest Recently Following Complaints From Business Heads and Others

(From the Galt Reporter.)

CONTESTS in spelling are coming back into popularity.

There was a time when instruction in spelling was somewhat neglected in many schools. It was often claimed that spelling could be learned incidentally, in connection with other school work. But business people made many complaints about school graduates who couldn't write letters with proper spelling, and there has been a revival interest in this art.

Why is it necessary that words be spelled correctly? If a man spells the word "cough," C-o-f-f, he may say that you know perfectly well what he means, and that a word thus spelled in accordance with the sound is really better spelled than if letters are put into the word that do not express the sound.

It is true that the English language has many eccentric spellings. But to correct all those spelling habits of the people that have come down from ancient times, would be such a formidable task, that it is better to take the spelling book as it is, and make the best of it.

A poorly spelled letter is a good deal like torn and ragged clothes. The man with the frayed suit may be a very good man, but he does not look neat and methodical, and people are doubtful of his efficiency. Similarly a poorly spelled letter looks as if it came from an illiterate person, and people are afraid he does not know his business, whatever it is.

Children should be taught to spell well, as they are taught to keep their clothes neatly. A person who spells accurately seems methodical and accurate, and people have more confidence in his ability to do things in a correct way.

SUCCESS STORY

(Detroit Free Press)

A HIGH school girl in Fort Huron was looking around for a way to make her own living instead of leaning on others.

She noticed that many young people in her set were "fed up" on the after-theatre eating places available to them.

And so she borrowed the necessary capital from her father and opened a chicken sandwich shop.

After a year's success, she had repaid the loan and now owns the business herself.

Just a repetition of the old, old story.

While others are sitting around and twiddling their thumbs and lamenting that there are no longer opportunities in this country, a girl with an idea steps out and proves that the grousers and defeatists are all wrong.

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

NO MAN can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment? Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither to they reap, nor gather into barns, yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they? Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature? And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is, and to-morrow is cast into the oven, shall be not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithall shall we be clothed? . . . But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. —Matt. vi, 24-81, 33.

CANADIAN ALEWIVES

(Manchester Guardian Commercial)

DO YOU know what alewives are? When I came across this word in a recent document I thought it referred to ladies frequenting public houses, and more particularly the "ladies' bars," which are a feature of so many London "pubs," but I was somewhat puzzled when the document mentioned "pickled alewives" and referred to their export in tonnage.

It appears that "pickled alewives" are a type of herring and that they are exported in big quantities from Canada. They have, so my document tells me, a high protein percentage, and their export contributes to the economic well being of the Dominion. I am glad to hear it, but still more pleased to add "alewife" to my stock of unusual words.

TO A HAND

(TO W. H.)

(As the soldier left the trench, he shook hands with a severed arm sticking in the mud.)

A hand that might have moulded immortality.
A hand that might have shaped a refuge safe.
A hand not meant for blind brutality;
A hand that might have dried a sad childs face.

A hand that might have etched upon a picture.
The truths that it had slaughtered here in vain.
Reaching to the mocking skies—a fixture,
Symbolic there of profits of each Cain.

It might have saved a thousand lives by surgery.
This proof of mens fool imbecility.
And you who told us of this hand so casually,
You missed the hint of Fates perversity.

C.G.E. PAYROLL HAS AVERAGED OVER $40,000

"There is a definite association, when we think of our city and the electrical industry," said Mr. Salmonsen. "Peterborough, through the C.G.E., contributes many highly-trained men and many scientific and skillfully built electrical machines and devices to the industry. The industry contributes much in return to the city. From a study of available business charts, curves, graphs and statistics, it must be gratifying to the citizens of this community to note the continual advance throughout the Dominion in the electrical industry. It is only natural we should have more than a casual interest and be gratified, because our C.G.E. plant is the largest single employer of local labor. From information along statistical lines recently presented by eminent Canadian authorities though the press and compiled by the company's statisticians, we find encouragement and confidence for the future.

"The production of electricity by central stations during the past year created a new high peak and was 8% above 1936, 55% higher than the previous peak in 1930, 70% higher than in the depression year of 1932, and 130% above the normal year of 1926."

Large Consumers

"Most of Canada's major industries are large consumers of electrical power. As they advance and expand, their power load increases, reflecting favorably on the electrical industry. For instance, in the mining industry, we find a major consumer of electrical power. Mineral production in 1937 was 14% greater in volume than in 1936, 50% above that of 1929 and 85% above the output of 1926. The construction of gold mills undertaken or planned during 1937 was greater than in any previous year. In this branch of the mining industry alone there are now 140 mills with an average daily milling capacity of over 47,000 tons.

"The pulp and paper industry consumes 40% of all the energy produced by central stations, in addition to that generated by its own power plants. The production of Canadian newsprint last year was 15% greater than in the year previous, one-third above 1929 and approximately double that of 1926. Capacity of this industry was further increased in 1937, and two new mills are at present under construction.

"Many other industries utilizing heavy electrical loads have made notable gains. The volume of manufacturing output in 1937 was 10% above the output of 1936, slightly better than the pre-depression peak and about 23% above 1926.

"With only approximately 12% of Canada's water power resources developed, the country has now a generating capacity of almost 8,000,000 h.p. This situation readily permits a condition for industrial expansion and gives a clear picture of the stability of the electrical industry.

"The steady increase in the domestic use of electrical devices is most significant. It was reported that 1,400,000 or 63% of all Canadian homes are wired for electricity. This means more than three out of every five homes are potential customers of electrical goods and devices, including Peterborough made refrigerators.

"The physical volume of Canadian business at the beginning of the year was about 8 per cent. above a year ago, and conditions appear to be reasonably sound. There has been some recession of late, but with a full realization of the importance of the problems confronting us, we hope to achieve the continued success which brings happiness to the homes of this community.

City Has Benefited.

"We ask ourselves, to what extent has Peterborough benefited in this march of progress? Wherever electrical equipment, devices and goods are used in the Dominion, so also are found some products of the Peterborough plant. The city of Peterborough and the name of the C.G.E. are synonymous to all users of electrical equipment. A large number of highly trained Peterborough men are found in the industry from coast to coast. Peterborough has at one time been a home to them or at least to one member of their family. The splendid type of citizen found here constitutes an efficient and loyal organization that instills a pride in their work which is recognized both far and near. Our manufacturing facilities are the best in the industry. Because of these conditions we expect to maintain our position and progress with the industry.

"On January 1, 1937, we had 1,600 employees on the payroll and on December 31 the number had increased to slightly more than 2,100. We were able to maintain fairly well our 44 hour per week working schedule throughout the year.

"In the year 1933, the number on the payroll dropped as low as 868, in spite of our endeavors to distribute work to provide employment for the largest possible number. The working schedule was at that time reduced to a little better than 30 hours per week. If we had worked 44 hours per week in 1933, as we did last year, it is evident we could have carried on with a staff of 600 instead of the number quoted. The company and the organization made sacrifices in reducing the hour schedule, but we believe it was in the best interests of all concerned. We continue this practice of making as wide as possible a distribution of available work by our present schedule. In our plant we have a dozen departments, which are to a great extent independent of one another and can be classed as separate industries co-ordinated under one roof. Seldom, if ever, is a recession in business common to all of them. A set up of this kind makes possible internal departmental transfers which lead to stability of employment. Diversification of labor is also afforded. We are the largest local employer of female workers. Our training facilities are another asset to the city. We now have 118 indentured apprentices and special or technical students on the payroll. Many other young men of the community are finding in our plant a starting place in preparation for their futures.

Payroll Is Heavy

"The Peterborough plant payroll in 1937 was over $2,105,000, as compared with that of $1,405,000 in 1936. In other words, during last year the average weekly payroll at our plant was well over $40,000. That payroll, combined with the company's heavy local expenditures, conveys benefits directly or indirectly to practically every phase of Peterborough life.

"Our minimum rate for men in 1937 was 40 cents per hour, which can be compared with a minimum rate of 30 cents per hour in 1929 or a 33 1-3 per cent. increase. The range of rates for men last year was from 40 cents to 86 cents per hour. The range of hourly rates for female employees last year was from 22½ to 46 cents per hour. A large majority of our employees work piecework and thus earn far in excess of the lower rates.

"Hourly rates and weekly payrolls do not present a complete picture when one takes into consideration some of the employee benefits sponsored by the company. These benefits contribute much toward a happier organization and happier community.

"In referring to the various plans for our employees and what they individually cost the company in dollars last year, I am including the entire company unless otherwise so specified.

"The C.G.E. Savings & Investment Plan provides a means for our employees to conveniently invest their savings in the company for which they work. Special preferred stock, which has senior or priority claims on the company assets may be purchased by employees. This stock pays a regular 5% dividend and when conditions permit, the company pays additional dividends. Last year the company paid a total of 7% and will do likewise this year. A 7% return on a secure investment to-day is, to say the least, unusual. The employees have invested more than $1,500,000 in this plan. The out-of-pocket cost to the company last year was approximately $37,000."

The Pension Plan.

"The C.G.E. Pension Plan is totally financed by the company. We have 57 pensioners on the plan, of which 29 are citizens of Peterborough. These loyal men can enjoy the remaining years of their life with comfort and security of independence. The total cost of the plan to the company last year was over $55,000 and, of this, more than $23,000 was received by Peterborough pensioners. The plan, which is relatively new in years, has cost to date approximately $383,000.

"The company plan providing vacations for hourly paid employees with at least two years' continued service was an added innovation last year and will also be in practice this year. Living in a locality where many come from great distances to enjoy the bountiful natural facilities and beauty may now be a source of greater pleasure and happiness to our employees and their families. The added cost of this benefit is over $36,000 annually.

"The C.G.E. Free and Group Insurance plan was also new and had its origin in 1937. Over 90% of the eligible employees subscribed to this plan. Employees now carry additional protection at a minimum cost through monthly deductions from the payrool, while the company contributes as its part between $16,000 and $20,000 per year to make the plan possible.

These plans do, as you have no doubt noted, give the utmost of consideration to the members of families of our employees and contribute in many ways to the general welfare and happiness of the community.

"If time would permit, we could mention something about the C.G.E. Mutual Benefit Society, the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club, the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, and other employee benefits in which the company takes such an active part. Our interest in health, sports and out-door recreations for employees is known to all."

Endeavor to Co-operate

"All in all, we endeavor to do our part in everything that is contributory to the best interests of the community. To those who had an opportunity to see the C.G.E. parade on Armistice Day last, it was self-evident we have not overlooked the returned men of the city. Never was I more proud than to see that parade of over 200 ex-service men march in representation of our company.

"Our participation in assisting to solve the city's unemployment problem and the relief problem extends far beyond the expectations of the average citizen. Our direct contribution to relief, while not generally referred to, is not a small item.

"It is not necessary to stretch our imaginations to find the intimate association of our city to the electrical industry and the country's business.

"The industry's contribution to Peterborough is, perhaps, best known by the opportunity it provides for employment. Opportunities of this kind are in great demand by all cities, and let us hope to have in this New Year the cooperation and happy relations of all so we can continue to maintain the most and best of the opportunities presented.

In moving a voteof thanks to the speaker, Rotarian T. J. Carley said that he was sure the co-operation asked for by Mr. Salmonsen would be forthcoming from the citizens generally.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

JUNIOR INSTITUTE STARTS ON COURSE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 17.—The Junior Institute commenced their "Milky Way" project Wednesday evening, at a special meeting held in the council chambers, when Mrs. John Armstrong, local leader, gave her first demonstration, in the special eight weeks' course. The course is especially intended to promote the use of milk in the everyday diet, and to demonstrate the various ways in which it can be used. The first lesson included talk on the value of milk and instruction on its pasteurization.

The meeting opened in the usual manner, with the Institute Ode, with the president, Miss Bessie Thompson, presiding. The special meetings will continue every Wednesday evening for the next seven weeks.

The Young Men's Bible Class of the United Church held their regular monthly meeting and supper on Thursday evening, when a splendid attendance was had.

Following the refreshments, Howard Harnden, president of the class, and chairman of the meeting, called upon R. W. Goheen, principal of the Havelock High School, as guest speaker. Mr. Goheen gave a very interesting address on the different "isms," giving comparisons of socialism, communism, etc.

Group games were afterwards played, to conclude a very entertaining evening.

$5,000 Grant Made At Campbellford

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 17.—A grant of $5,000 was given the Town Council by the Water and Light Commission when they convened for their first meeting of the New Year on Wednesday evening.

James O. Benor, who was again appointed chairman of the Board, expressed his thanks for the cooperation he had received during the past and hoped he would maintain their continued confidence in the future.

A letter from the Ontario Municipal Electric Association announcing their annual convention to be held in Toronto on February 8 and 9, was read by the clerk and after some discussion it was thought the advantages offered by the association would justify a renewal of membership for 1938.

This year being the fiftieth anniversary of the Campbellford Public Utilities the Board felt that some special recognition should be given the event and the clerk was instructed to forward an invitation to the Eastern Section of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association to hold its 1939 convention in Campbellford.

It was moved by Commissioner Charles Davidson and seconded by Chairman Benor, that the commission grant the sum of $5,000 from the light and power department's reserve to be paid over to the general fund of the town, after which the pay sheet was passed and the meeting adjourned.

EAST EMILY

The members of the W. A. of St. John's Anglican church held their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herb Parker.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta.

To. "I. R." and "A. R." Thank you both for your letirs. I have answered you privately, but cannot continue to do so as it takes too much of my time and I am a very busy woman. All others will have to be answered on the page. Thank you and do write again.

To. "Would-be Writer." Sorry I cannot give you constructive criticism of your stories. All you can do is find out who does this work and how much they charge, and even then you would have to take your chance of having them published. Thank you for all you said in your letter. It is very encouraging. Best of luck and do write again.

"Lilac" Your letter I took for the basis of an article especially for you and hope you like it. You have a humourous way of writing which amused me greatly. Thank you for your comments which are appreciated, and do write again. No one could possibly identify you.

"Quid Est." Your letters are an inspiration for me to do my best to deserve what you say. My health is still precarious yet I can stand it better than so much trouble and worry. Oh well, we all have our share. Thank you so much, and do write again.

"Young Deb." Why the gloom? Cannot you, with all your chances for a full happy life, make of it a grand and glorious thing? Personally I think what you need is some sort of work which will occupy your time more. Surely you could find a hobby which will not take a job from someone else who needs it. It is your long empty days which are making you feel like that. Take up some study work something which will take your whole mind to master. Hope I have been able to help you. Thanks and do write again soon.

To. Mrs. MG. I read you poem in our Examiner and thought it was great. Thank you for your mention of me in it. You have a real gift which must bring much pleasure to you and to many. It would be nice to have your poems published. Thank you so much.

"Eleanor" Why let yourself get such a low opinion of your own possibilities? If you cannot believe in yourself, how can you expect others to believe in you. It is not vanity to do the best with the talents God gave you. Don't look for "Pull" from some other person use your own "Pull." You have lots of it if you will only let yourself think so. One factor against you is that you are trying at a bad time of year. But keep pushing at that mountain, and one day you will see it move. Many's the one I have moved with my own frail hands, and the extra "Pull" which God gives us when we are trying our best. Thank you for all you say, and give my best wishes to your club.

And to all those who sent Christmas cards and New Year cards thank you so much. To those who sent letters but did not want a reply, accept my thanks and good wishes in return.

To "Peter," "Elsie", "Plain Jane" (I doubt it "Anne" and "A Mere Man." Thank you and look for an article for each of oyu on the subjects mentioned. "Grandma" Your letter was lovely. I think you have lots of couage and that is one thing I surely admire in any person. Best of luck in your venture. Make an adventure out of it, and you will get more fun. Do let me know how you make out as I am truly enterested.

And now I am at the end of one list, and until I hear from you all again I will leave this thought with you. So join with me in saying: "Whate'er there be of Sorrow I'll put off till Tomorrow, And when Tomorrow comes, why then, 'Twill be Today and Joy again." All good wishes from ROBERTA.

PETERBOROUGH "Y" PLACES SECOND IN ONTARIO VOLLEYBALL

TORONTO PLAYERS GET TOP HONORS IN ROBIN SERIES

Peterborough "Y" finished their first Ontario round-robin senior volleyball series in second place on Saturday in Toronto, the Central 'Y' winning out. Y.M.H.A. finished back of Peterborough. The second series will be played here on January 29, and the third one in Toronto next month. Ultimate winner will advance into Provincial playdowns.

Keen competition marked most of the games on Saturday with the Central 'Y' and Peterborough teams having some tight tussles and dishing up a lot of nice volleyball. Peterborough had 15-11 win over Central, but later dropped a 15-8 decision to the winners. The latter took two wins from the Y.M.H.A. by 15-13 and 15-6 scores. Peterborough split even with Y.M.H.A., winning a 15-4 game, but getting a bad game out of their systems by losing a 15-12 count. This loss probably cost them the first round series.

The Peterborough team was accompanied by the manager, Claude Elliott, the coach, Jim McClenaghan and George Nicholls, Ken Cadd, Bill Stanbury, and Alex. Fitzgerald. The games were refereed by A. Clark, physical director of the Broadview Y.M.C.A., and were played at the Central 'Y'. They were the opening games of the eastern section of the Ontario Senior Volleyball League.

The first round standing is:

	P.	W.	L.
Central Y	4	3	1
Peterborough	4	2	2
Y.M.H.A.	4	1	3

The team line-ups were:

Central 'Y' — Phil Fraser, Frank Roblin, Ed. Selyan, John Weber, Bill Bodrug, Ed. Wackett, Doug. Roddy, and Alexander Munro.

Peterborough — Russ Kitchen, Ab. Dryland, Stan. Payne, Don Crawford, Cliff Cadd, Nels Stanger, Art Rhodes, Pete King, and Eric Vincent.

Y.M.H.A. — T. Auerbeck, J. Collins, T. Muncovitch, H. Bocknek, A. Cowan, L. Hume, T. Banks, P. Abrams, and J. Crackover.

Referee—A. Clark of Toronto.

St. Paul's Cagers Defeat Electrics

In the first game of the City Basketball League schedule for 1938 at the "Y" on Saturday night, St. Paul's, last year's champions, won a 31-23 decision over C.G.E. The latter could collect but 11 points in each half while the church crew got 14 in the first and 17 in the second session. The forward passing of Gemmell and Thorburn proved St. Paul's chief scoring play. Gemmell got six points and gave Thornburn many passes for the latter's 17 count. Weir was strong on defence. Jakafby led C.G.E. with seven points and went well both ways. Crowe and Tranter went good in brief appearances. The teams:

St. Paul's: Thorburn, Sedgewick, Weir, Ascott, Broadley, Gemmell.

C.G.E.: Jakafby, A. Holmes, Crowe, G. Hunter, Galley, Tranter, Archibald, Cameron.

Referees—G. Gunsolus, J. Dougherty.

S.P.S. PRACTICE.

St. Peter's team of the Junior City Hockey League have a workout to-night at 10 at the Sacred Heart Rink. The following players are asked to attend: Curtin, Foster, Fleming, Primeau, Sullivan, Whaley, Cauley, Corkery, Rochetti, Connelly, Pammet, Rex, Prete, Nicholls and Hawkes.

Office Wins 5-3 In C.G.E. League

The Office won their C.G.E. Shop Hockey League fray at the Brock St. rink Saturday afternoon, taking a 5-3 win from Induction Motors. Getting a goal in each of the first two periods, while blanking their rivals, the collar-and-tie crew held their own in a wide-open third inning which saw both sides shoot in three goals. It was a fair fracas all the way with a few penalties earned as the opponents stuck to straight hockey.

Tranter got three of the winners' goals and assisted in another. Primeau got the other two, while Murphy was in on three assists. King notched two for the losers with Schultz getting the third. The latter with King, Young and Creighton went best for the Motormen; and Murphy, Tranter, Primeau, Allen and Tollington starred for the Office outfit. The teams:

Office: Goal, Prevey; defence, Murphy, Edson; centre, Primeau; wings, Tranter, Hough; alternates, Tollington, McCrae, Allen, McMullen.

Ind. Motors: Goal, Black; defence, Young, King; centre, Creighton; wings, Schultz, Johnson; alternates, Longeven, Sharpe, Crowe, Stabler.

Referee—Red Creighton.

Remember When—

(By The Canadian Press)

The Canadian Hockey Association and National Hockey Association "war" ended Jan. 7, 1910, when the two professional circuits merged under the latter title. Formed late in 1909, the two groups drafted clashing schedules and exit for one or both was forecast. The present National Hockey League, an outgrowth of the N.H.A., was founded in 1917.

RULING TO CURB TENNIS TRAMPS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 17, — (AP).—The United States Lawn Tennis Association moved Saturday to curb excessive payments to amateurs under the heading of travelling expenses, a practice Chairman Louis Carruthers of the Amateur Rule Committee said had led to numerous abuses.

The association at its one-day meeting re-elected President Halcombe Ward of New York and other officers. It approved a committee report awarding the 1938 Davis Cup challenge round to the Germantown Cricket Club of Philadelphia and appropriated $11,641 for Junior Davis Cup teams and other junior development.

The new rule of travelling expenses prohibit slump sum or round figure payments to amateurs and provides that "such payments shall cover only expenses actually incurred."

Clubs or sub-associations are required to submit detailed reports of payments for travelling and living expenses of players within ten days after tournaments or exhibitions.

Imposition of penalties on offenders was made mandatory instead of optional as at present.

Recommendations of the National Ranking Committee again giving J. Donald Budge of Oakland, Cal., No. 1 position was approved.

Bushwhackers Tie Beamers At 9-All

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 17.—The Bushwhackers and the Beamers, two newly formed Tannery teams, battled to a 9 all tie hockey game Saturday afternoon on the Hastings rink. It was a battle royal from start to finish as the husky leather heavers bumped one another around till it resembled a rugby match with no attacks or holds barred.

Thompson and Turner, husky defencemen for the Beamers and Bushwhackers respectively, seemed to take up body-checking as the main part of the game, with no regard for the puck at all.

The Beamers' goalie, Smullin, was quite weak and presented an open target each time a shot was fired at him, but was fairly well covered by his defence. The Bushwhackers put up a strong defence but were weak on the forwards. The casualty list was surprisingly low with the exception of bruises.

The line-ups:

Bushwhackers— Calberry, goal; Turner, Brinklow, defence; Cec. Scriver, centre; McKee, G. Scriver, wings; Brownell, Blackbourn, alternates.

Beamers — Smullin, goal; Cliff Scriver, Thompson, defence; Sargent, centre; Reg. Scriber, Puffer, wings.

CURLING

Echoes From No. 'B'
By HERB MARTIN

The Land of the Maple greets the Thistle and extends a most cordial handshake to her curlers. 'Brithers o' the besom are we a'. It's a glorious privilege. Joy be to ye and a thrice welcome for who wod 'na be a curler.'

With the coming of the visiting Scots curlers to Lindsay on Wednesday next it might not be amiss to give a little history of other visits of overseas members to this city. Away back in 1903, was the first visit here and they curled in the old rink. The skating ice, on that occasion was also used to curl on. As far back as we can find out there are only three members belonging to our club at the present time, that curled on that occasion, W. G. Morrow, H. F. Foote and A. W. Archibald.

In 1912 on January 23rd, they came again and the late James Connall was president of the club at that time. They were royally entertained by our curlers and we have before us now a copy of the menu so carefully prepared by Tommy Hooper. Looking over the old record books we find only eight members that belong now curled on that date, A. W. Archibald, Ray Best, H. F. Foote, Alex Kay, H. R. Martin, J. W. Mayneord, W. G. Morrow and Walter Oke.

And then on January 20th 1923, when Alex Kay was president, they came for the third time and once again were well looked after. The banquet on that occasion was held at the Empress Hotel. So now they are coming back to this district and while not playing in this city, still our club will be well represented at the curling match and banquet at Lindsay.

Below we produce the results of 1912 and '23.

CITY CAGE LOOP BEGINS SEASON

In their first City Basketball League game of the season at the Y.M.C.A. gym on Saturday evening, Dominions took a 30-16 victory over the Clothiers. The latter made it tight in the first half but lack of scoring forwards told in the second stanza. The winners had a lot of form with all their forwards dangerous on the attack, while Gunsolus and Grose, besides being strong defensively, got 12 points between them. Wolstenholme and V. Holmes played neat two-way games for the losers. The teams:

Dominions—McArthur, Hammell, White, Thomas, Weese, Grose, Gunsolus, Smart.

Clothiers — Wolstenholme, Dyer, M. Hunter, Downing, Laing, Hunt, Porter, V. Holmes, Rennie, Ferguson.

Referees—O. Weir, R. Johnston.

City Carpetball

Week's Schedule.

Monday, Jan. 17, 7.15—St. Georges No. 14 v. L.O.L. No. 7.

Friday, Jan. 21—St. John's No. 3 v. S.O.E. No. 6 at 8.30 p.m.; St. John's No. 4 v. L.O.L. No. 8 at 8.30 p.m.

Men attending games at St. John's are requested not to be there before 8.30 owing to Cub meeting.

A meeting of the executive called for Friday evening, January 21 at 7 p.m. sharp in the Fire Hall, to talk over President's Cup.

Rumary's meet up with the No Surrender squad in one of the tightest tables of the season. First battle a draw, second the Antiques won by the slim margin of one point, making seven out of eight points on the round.

Central School Play Boys met the Fighting Parsons in a local derby at the S.O.E. Hall, the results showed that the school boys had been playing truant and getting in some practice.

A herd of Moose stampeded down the Exhibition Grounds. All efforts of the Braidwood Rovers proved useless and the last seen of the herd were running up George street with two Rovers in their midst.

AFTER HOCKEY TITLE

OSLO—(CP).—Norway will compete in the world hockey championship at Praha, February 11 to 20. The country's representatives failed to survive the preliminary rounds in the last championship in London.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

TONIGHT THE Bees will be buzzing around the Brock St. Winter Gardens. And the Red Wings of Whitby will be flapping about that rubber orchard, too. At 8.30 o'clock as the O.H.A. intermediate 'B' season here commences. It is the first intermediate tilt in Peterborough, though the local Bees have played twice away from home already, splitting even in the pair. Whether the Wings will fly off with the win or the Bees will swarm over Whitby rests on the laps of the hockey gods. And said laps will be restless spots, we surmise, ere the last echo of the final gong sounds to conclude proceedings here this e'en. On account of we look for a slambang tussle, and, a biggish crowd on deck to curl the shingles with their yodelling.

• • • • • • •

IT SOUNDS like that sort of scrap, a lively wide-open joust between two good outfits. Second place is at stake in the five-team group standing and both teams have a bunch of experienced huskies aboard. Herb Payne's Peterborough crew have a couple or three lads good enough for the senior 'B' squad and the Wings have thrice copped Central Ontario intermediate 'B' group honors. Gord Clarke of the locals is a dandy goalie, Jim Ellis is tops as a defenceman and so is Mick Magee. And look at these forwards: Don Coughlin, Les Burton, Red Creighton, Smoke Gardner, Finnegan Hill, Art Heal, Vic Brown. And Cliff Cadd and maybe a few more. These guys are real puckists.

• • • • • • •

NOR ARE the Wings easy to wing. Unlike their namesakes of Detroit, the Whitby lads keep on winning. They are tougher to digest than a Jonah in a whale's interior. Peg Hurst in goal directs play in picturesque language that has more than a passing acquaintance with a lumber shanty! He would stop a preacher in his tracks, an Umpire Colling in a C.O.B.L. tilt, and also most any kind of rubber you shot his way! There are a couple or three of the Viponds on this team, too, and Piper, Phillips, Heard, Oke, Watson and so on. A good gang of puck-chasers and it'll hustle Herb's local Bees to put the sting on 'em tonight. The game will be worth seeing.

A CANADIAN Press dispatch says a pro puck contract has been left with young Walter Gerow of Napanee by Bill Tobin, scout for the Chicago Black Hawks. He and Dick Irvin of the Leafs were in Napanee the other night and saw the Gibbard juniors take an 11-3 win over Picton, Gerow scoring four goals and having four assists. The contract has been left with the 19-year-old youth, who weighs 165 pounds, and he will decide whether or not to sign it within a few days. Irvin compared Gerow with Hank Goldup and said the first line for Napanee looked right smart. He is the kid who broke in at first base for the Gibbards in the C.O.B.L. last summer and clicked in okay style. His dad is the well-known Walt Gerow of C.O.B.L. coaching fame.

TOOK A squint into ye olde crystal ball this a.m. to see just what Uncle Leopold—who is ailing lately—was doing about his will, but all we could see was a flock of hockey games to cover this week. Tonight, the intermediate fray is here. Tomorrow eve at the Brock, these Junior City Puck Loop tilts are on: Monarchs vs. St. Peter's at seven, Bombers vs. P.C.I. at eight, and Canadiens vs. All Saints at nine. Belleville Redmen are here for a senior 'B' contest on Wednesday night. Three Senior City League battles loom up for here Thursday. Oshawa intermediate play the Bees at the Brock St. rink on Friday, while our Colts have a junior game in Belleville that night. And the C.G.E. Shop Circuit has three or four games here Saturday afternoon. Oh, golly! So we'll attend about nine tilts this week. If this keeps up, we'll kick off before Uncle Leopold yet!

FOUR DOOZEY—which is a Burmese word meaning oompah—C.G.E. Shop Hockey League scraps Saturday aft at the Brock St. hall of grunts before a biggist bunch of fans. The Office outfit outscored Induction Motors 5-3, Toolroom took a 4-2 win from Machine Shop, Refrigerator Cabinets copped a 2-1 decision from Wire Dept., and Switchgears snuck home in front of Industrial Control with a 4-1 swish. Only one of the squabbles could be termed a trifle rough, and all were fast and interesting. Quite a bunch of O.H.A. stars perform in this shop circuit, and also a gang of ex-O.H.A.-ers.

LOCAL Y.M.C.A. volleyball team trekked to Toronto on Saturday for their first round-robin series in Provincial senior competition. Central 'Y' of Toronto won out, three games to one—losing one to Peterborough. The locals were second with two and two, whilst Y.M.H.A. had a win over our gang and three reverses. Almost every game was a real battle, and the next round-robin series (in Peterborough on Jan. 29th) should show the folks some high-class volleyball. Coach Jim McClenaghan was quite pleased with the way the Petes showed up and he rates them an excellent chance of coming through yet and advancing into Provincial playdowns. Dope on the games Saturday is in tonight.

ACCORDING TO an item from London, Oshawa GM-men are after two ball players for this summer. Johnny Mezza, classy shortstop, and Tony Bonk, nifty first-sacker, both of London's senior intercounty loop championship team. Bonk goes south next month with some Detroit Tigers' rookies for a tryout, but the Motor City GM-men want him if he doesn't catch on in pro company. Evidently, the C.O.B.L. champs—who lost out in the O.B.A.A. finals last autumn—aren't resting on their laurels but plan a bigger and better team than ever. We always thought Wallace was rated some shucks as a first-baseman in Oshawa, though. Plans are afoot here, too, to bolster the 1938 Petes plenty. Ditto in Napanee, while Kingston is almost sure to attract some U.S. students wishing to take a summer course—and maybe a bit of ball, too!

One Southend Loop fray in this eve; in another one the Dukes got eight goals but the score sheet fails to show how many King Edward got . . . . After a 5-3 licking last week in Toronto, Port Colborne senior O.H.A. pucksters have squawked plenty about the refereeing of "Army" Armstrong of Oshawa—Goodyears getting the victory . . . . Jack Sabatino of Lakefield is due to referee tonight's intermediate contest here . . . . Up ere breakfast today and thought we spotted a swelegant sunrise—but 'twas only red flannels flapping from a line introducing an early wash-day; and soda bed again!

SID BLACK HIGH AT SKEET SHOOT

Members of the Outboard Marine Skeet Club held a practice shoot at their North Monaghan grounds Saturday afternoon.

Sid Black with an aggregate score of 35 out of a possible 50 points was high man, giving the devotees of Peterborough's newest sport a new mark to aim at.

Scores in the various practices were:

B. Graham, 10; D. Clement, 17; Norman Wood, 10; C. Clarke, 5; Hy Wood, 12; George English, 8.

Chris Graham, 15; Sid Black 14; E. V. Eldridge, 16; B. Payne, 10.

D. Clement, 17; Hy Wood, 12; Chris Graham, 16; Sid Black, 21; E. V. Eldridge, 18; George English, 12; B. Graham, 15.

In the second practice where he scored 21 out of a possible 25 points, Sid Black showed splendid form. He scored direct hits with eight successive shots, before getting a miss.

It is interesting to note that E. V. Eldridge was former trap shooting champ of Minnesota. He says the trick of the game is to shoot quickly and accurately. He didn't do too badly himself, but a total of 34 points out of a possible 50 points, didn't satisfy him by any means.

Norm Wood, who was using his father's gun found the stock too short for him. Or maybe it was his nose was too long. At any rate he got some skin taken off the bridge of his proboscis.

Some of the members in the lower score brackets are proposing the club's new theme song be, "Oh how we miss you."

Rain Curtails Play Sheffield Cricket

BRISBANE, Australia, Jan. 17 (C. P. Cable).—Rain curtailed play today in the Sheffield Shield cricket match between Queensland and Victoria. Replying to Victoria's total of 396, the home team had made 171 runs for five wickets when play was halted.

New South Wales made 295 runs at Sydney against South Australia's first-innings total of 187. The latter had made 11 runs without loss in their second innings at the close of play.

GOES TO PRESTON

Preston, England—(CP)—A Welsh youngster, G. Lowrie, who attracted the attention of Arsenal and other big football clubs by his play at inside-right for Swansea Town, has been signed by Preston North End.

TO TOUR AUSTRALIA

WELLINGTON, N.Z.—(CP).—Reversing a previous decision the New Zealand Rugby Union has decided to send a team to Australia next year. The New Zealanders were beaten in a test series in South Africa last winter.

ELGIN SEXTETTE WINS ROUGH TILT BY 7-3 DECISION

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 17.— Elgin defeated South Dummer Saturday night 7 to 3 in a scheduled hockey game of the East Peterborough Rural League. The game was rough with both teams mixing it up. Elgin players were at a disadvantage in the first frame till they got used to the small ice area. The Richardson brothers, Roy, George and Jack, for Elgin, were stars of the game. They scored five of their seven goals.

Score Elgin's First

R. Richardson scored Elgin's first counter at 5 minutes and just one minute later Lagrande scored one for South Dummer to even it up. G. Richardson for Elgin tallied their second goal at 12 minutes and Bruce Scott added another at 16 minutes. G. Elliott sank South Dummer's second and final goal of the period to make it 3-2 for Elgin.

W. Lobb for South Dummer opened scoring in the second frame at 5 minutes and O'Grady for Elgin scored at ten minutes to wind up scoring for the period and make the score 4-3 for Elgin.

The three Richardson brothers for Elgin scored the only goals for their team in the third frame. Two minutes after the face-off, Roy scored. George sank another at ten minutes and Jack scored the final goal of the game, one minute before the gong sounded.

The line-ups:

South Dummer—Goal, Gallagher; defence, Patterson, C. Lobb; centre, Lagrande; wings, Elliott, Moore. Alternates, Kelly, J. Tedford, W. Lobb and R. Tedford.

Elgin—Goal, E. Preston; defence, V. Fleming, Thistlewaite; centre, R. Richardson; wings, G. Richardson, C. Metcalfe; alternates, O'Grady, Scott, J. Richardson, L. Fleming, Sheppard.

Referee, R. Innis, Norwood.

Jack Preston, valued player for Hastings juniors and Elgin hockey teams, received a painful kick from a horse Saturday and will be off the line-ups for a couple of games.

Toronto Confident Of Beating Sailors

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP).—All was quiet on the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior 'A' battlefront today with teams in the loop enjoying their usual weekend's rest from league play.

First action of the week is scheduled for Tuesday night, when the undefeated Toronto Goodyears journey to Port Colborne for what promises to be a rip-snorter of a game with the second-place Sailors.

Still riding on a wave of nine games without defeat, Goodyears were confident of defeating the Sailors for the third time this year. But the Sailors are out for revenge and determined to insert one loss in Goodyears' string of eight wins and one draw.

Last time any senior teams were in action was Friday night, when Goodyears walloped Oshawa G-men 9-2 and Port Colborne scored a 5-2 victory over Kitchener Greenshirts.

RUGBY MEETING IN Y.M.C.A.

A general meeting of the Orfuns' Rugby Club will be held at the Y.M.C.A. at eight o'clock to-morrow (Tuesday) night. All officers and players are invited. The financial statement will be read, and officers for next year may be elected at this time.

Skiing Hints

By Fritz Loosli

INSTRUCTOR, TORONTO SKI CLUB

TELEMARK

The telemark is the oldest known turn; it originated in the district of Telemarken, Norway. No doubt the peasants of this district were the first to introduce skiing as a sport, and most likely the first to try turning on skis while running downhill.

The main reason the telemark turn was the first introduced, is, that the bindings used at that time were very rudimentary and would never stand the strain of the christiania.

When the christiania turn came to life, the telemark was almost relegated as an antique in the Alps. However the difficulty in learning the christiania at comparatively low speed and in soft snow brought the telemark back from its temporary unpopularity. There is no doubt that the telemark cannot be used on hard or packed snow but in soft heavy snow and in bush running where there is little steering space the telemark certainly is the most helpful turn.

Start downhill and slide the right ski forward until the right foot (for a left turn) reaches the tip of the left ski; edge gradually your forward ski toward the slope by bending the right knee and twisting it unward, the weight shifted to the forward ski. You will have no difficulty in turning if your centre of gravity is kept right above the forward ski. The pressure on the right ski will guide the left foot into the turning track. Lateral stability may be increased by holding the arms and poles well up sideways. Lateral unstability is the hardest thing to overcome when learning the telemark turn.

Ski positions in telemark turn to the left

A telemark turn executed on hard packed snow, is like a gentleman walking down street in his pyjamas. While I have to admit that most of the well known skiers seldom use a telemark turn, it remains a most useful turn for the average skier, at least until he has raced the running standard of a "Kanone."

Many jumpers use a telemark turn to stop at the outrun; but I would rather see a jump ended with a christiania or tempo swing. If you have difficulty in gaining confidence when running in a telemark position, practice straight downhill running with shifting alternatively left and right ski into telemark position without trying to turn.

LEAFS BOOST LEAD IN GROUP RACE--TIE GAMES FEATURE WEEK-END

Smythemen Defeat Hawks 7-2 Following 4-4 Tie Saturday; Amerks Lose To Rangers 4-0

Boston Bruins Get 1-0 Decision From Canadiens Over The Weekend

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP).—Professional hockey has stuck out its vulnerable chin for a crack from those fans who believe there should be changes in the rules to eliminate ties. A swarm of suggestions may be expected now that five of the last nine games have ended in deadlocks.

Something that would open up play in overtime may be the solution In the five ties played since Thursday there was scoring during the overtime of only one. That was the Thursday battle between Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens when both teams got goals in the extra time.

Three of the deadlocked games came during the weekend as the N.H.L. staged contests in six cities before more than 71,500 spectators. Though all eight teams were in action not one changed its spot in the standings.

Toronto Maple Leafs made the greatest gain. They defeated Hawks 7-2 in Chicago last night after playing them a 4-4 in Toronto Saturday. That moved Conny Smythe's team up seven points on New York Americans and Montreal Canadiens, tied for second place in the Canadian division.

Americans Lose Out 4-0.

Americans were beaten 4-0 by Rangers in New York last night, while Boston Bruins were hammering out a 1-0 decision over the Habitants.

The other ties came in games between Montreal Maroons and Detroit Red Wings, the cellar teams. In Montreal Saturday night the score was 2-2 and last night in Detroit they played a 1-1 draw.

With 11 goals in two nights, the high-scoring Leafs had as many as all the other teams combined with the exception of their opponents, Hawks.

Jimmy Fowler, Syl Apps and Pep Kelly were their scorers in the Toronto game with Fowler getting a pair. Kelly broke out with a burst of three goals Sunday. Apps got two and Bill Thoms and Harvey Jackson the others.

Chicago had one goal leads in both games but soon lost them. Mush March, veteran right wing, got both their goals at Chicago and contributed one at Toronto, Cully Dahlstrom, Alex. Levinsky and Doc Romnes scoring the others.

Rangers seemed to have an easy time beating Americans and taking the MacBeth Trophy, emblematic of the New York professional hockey championship. The Rangers had previously beaten the Amerks twice and tied them twice and they have only one more game to play.

The shutout was Dave Kerr's seventh of the season. He stopped everything Americans had as they started the game with fast, bruising hockey but faded later. Art Coulter and Clint Smith scored in the second period and Alex. Shibicky and Neil Colville made it sure in the third.

Break Canadiens' Charm.

The Bruin win over Canadiens broke a hold the Montrealers have had over Art Ross' team all this season. The Habitants had beaten Bruins twice and tied them once in previous encounters.

Art Jackson thrilled 16,000 Boston fans with a tally that came with 13 minutes of the game remaining. Cooney Weiland passed through the Canadien defence and Jackson swooped in to pick up the puck and beat Wilf Cude with a beautiful goal.

The Maroons-Detroit game in Montreal was a speedy affair, but there were many dull spots in the clash at Detroit. Red Wings came from behind twice to get the tie in Montreal. Alex. Motter of the Wings wiped out Bob Gracie's counter in the first and Ron Hudson did the same with Paul Runge's score in the second.

Gets Two Penalties.

Pete Besson, the rookie defenceman from Pontiac Mich. played in both games. Replacing injured Ebbie Goodfellow, he showed an aggressive brand of hockey, drawing two of his team's three penalties at Montreal.

Most of the action and both goals came in the first period at Detroit. Herb Lewis scored for Detroit on a play with Doug. Young and Hec Kilrea, and a little more than three minutes later Dave Trottier got the tying goal.

CLEVELAND TOPS WESTERN SECTION OF MINOR HOCKEY

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17.—(CP). — Let the red-hot hockey fans take a few moments out to-day to applaud the efforts of Cleveland Barons and their coach, Bill Cook, the former National Hockey League great who jockeyed his team into first position in the International-American League's western section.

First it was Syracuse Stars who showed the way in that division, which boasts only three teams compared to four in the eastern section, then Pittsburg Hornets hit a "hot" streak to go to the top. Now Barons, twice winners during the week-end, are out in front.

Barons had to score in overtime to whi pSpringfield Indians 5-4 Saturday night. Then they came back the night after with a 4-3 victory over New Haven Eagles. Providence Reds went into undisputed possession of first place in the eastern group, over Philadelphia Ramblers, by stopping Stars 4-3 last night.

Stars Break Even.

Stars broke even on the week-end, however, for they walloped Ramblers, 4-2, Saturday. But Eagles, stars broke even on the week-end, however, for they walloped Ramblers 4-2 Saturday. But Eagles mired with Indians far to the rear in the eastern standing, dropped a 3-1 decision to Pittsburgs Hornets Saturday. Hornets now are only a point away from Barons.

Phil Hergesheimer gave Barons their victory over Indians, beating Goalie Benny Grant shortly after the start of overtime. Hergesheimer also scored a goal in regulation play, while other Baron marksmen were Earl Bartholome, Bud Cook and Les Cunningham. Alf Thurle scored two for Indians, while Tommy Filmore and Adelard Lefrance tallied one each.

Bartholome led his team to victory the night after, getting two goals in the last five minutes of the final period. Hergesheimer and Cook tallied singles, while Tony Hemmerling, Glenn Brydson and Paul Marcel Raymond were Eagles scorers.

George Parsons accounted for three goals of the four Stars scored to beat Ramblers, while Jack Markle got the other. Charlie Mason and Eddie Wares scored for Ramblers. Maxie Bennett and Norm Locking were Syracuse scorers in their Sunday game, while Mercer got two for Reds and Art Lesieur and Jack Keating the others.

Hornets used two third period goals, one by Pete Kelly and the other by Don Deacon, in their victory over Eagles. Kelly also tallied one in the opening period, while the single Eagle score came in the second session from Gus Mancuso.

SWITCHGEARS WIN OVER INDUSTRIALS

Switchgear took a 4-1 win over Industrial Control in their C.G.E. Shop Hockey League fixture Saturday afternoon at the Brock St. rink. A fair-sized crowd of fans saw a scrappy struggle between strong squads on a good sheet of ice. The score was 1-1 in the first frame, with neither side tallying in the second. A strong finish gave Switchgear the nod.

Pryde scored the lone marker for the losers. Tompkins scored two for the victors and aided in another. Leggitt got a goal and an assist, while Legon dented the twine for the other counter. Tompkins, Leggitt, Weir and Padgett were best for the winners; while Peacock, Townley, McDougall, Pryde and Archibald all stood out for the I.C. outfit. The teams:

Industrial Control: Goal, Peacock; defence, Townley, Bencze; centre, McDougall; wings, Kent, Archibald; alternates, Holmes, Pryde, Gordon.

Switchgear: Goal, McNabb; defence, Weir, Mowry; centre, Tompkins; wings, Legon, Padgett; alternates, Abraham, Heal, Maudsley, Leggitt.

N.Y. Honors Ching Johnson

Honoring Ivan "Ching" Johnson for his 12 years of service in the National Hockey League fans in New York presented the bald-headed defence man with a gold watch which is being handed to Johnson here by Ford Frick, president of the National baseball league. Frick himself is a great Johnson rooter. The presentation was made before Johnson and his New York American teammates played a draw against Chicago Black Hawks. This is the first year that New York fans have seen the great blue line bumper in anything but a Ranger uniform. He donned the Stars of the Amerks this year rather than retire to a coaching job.

WHITBY AND BEES TANGLE TONIGHT

O.H.A. intermediate "B" group standing:

Team	P.	W.	L.
Oshawa	3	3	0
Whitby	3	2	1
Bees	2	1	1
Cobourg	3	1	2
Port Hope	3	0	3

Whitby Red Wings open the local O.H.A. intermediate season here tonight (Monday) at 8.30 in the Brock St. rink against the local Bees. It is an O.H.A. intermediate "B" fixture and an important one for the Bees as the above standing shows. This contest between two smart squads should draw a big crowd of fans, as it promises to be packed with action and good hockey.

Herb Payne has a number of well-known and popular Peterborough players on his intermediate lineup. Such as Clarke, Ellis, Burton, Creighton, Coughlin, Gardner, Magee, Hill, Heal and others. All good players. And the Wings have a number of classy puckists, too, such as Hurst, the Viponds, Phillips, Oke, Heard, Brown, Piper, Watson and Mayne. When these teams clash it will be a tight tussle all the way through.

GEORGE ST. WINS OVER ST. JOHN'S

George St. Bantams of the Church Basketball League yanked out an 18-4 decision Saturday night at the "Y" over St. John's. They had too much experience for their young rivals and led 10-2 at the halfway mark. G. Richardson led the winners with Crowter starring for St. John's. The former and Burns each got eight points. The teams.

George St.—G. Richardson; M. Richardson, Burns, Saunders, Mason.

St. John's: Dutton, Hume, Crowter, L. Sage, S. Sage, Smith, S. Packer, W. Packer, Groombridge.

N.H.L. All-Stars

(By The Canadian Press)

Pep Kelly, Toronto, scored once as Leafs tied Chicago 4-4 Saturday, then bagged three goals in 7-2 victory at Chicago last night.

Gordon Drillon and Harvey Jackson, Toronto, picked up four scoring points each in engagements with Black Hawks.

Bill Beveridge, Maroons, and Normie Smith, Detroit, defended nets expertly through 140 minutes of hockey as Maroons and Detroit played 2-2 and 1-1 ties.

Art Jackson, Boston, notched winning goal in third period when Bruins turned Canadiens aside 1-0 last night.

Mac Colville, Rangers, started plays for two goals in 4-0 triumph over Americans.

Dave Kerr, Rangers, scored seventh shutout of season against Americans as Blueshirts won New York City title.

WINDSOR EXHIBITION

WNDSOR, Ont., Jan. 17 (C.P.).—Basketball champions of the United States Amateur Athletic Union, the Safeways of Denver, Colo., will meet the Dr. Davis team of Detroit in an exhibition game here on January 24. The Detroit team is in the Detroit Triple A Federation.

CLINCHES BILLIARD TITLE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (U.P.). — Challenger Jake Schaefer of Chicago virtually clinched the world's 18.2 balkline billiard championship on Saturday when he defeated the defending titleholder, Welker Cochran, San Francisco, 300 to 259 in the next to last block of their 4,200-point match.

WRITERS HONOR JOE DIMAGGIO

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (A.P.).— Joe DiMaggio probably doesn't need much argument to clinch his bid for the biggest salary increase this year of any player in the major baseball leagues.

It's the general belief, in fact, that the world champion New York Yankees already have paved the way for a settlement by offering DiMaggio a $22,500 contract, an increase of $7,500.

Whatever the moves thus far or to come, it's noteworthy news to-day that the San Francisco Italian has been voted the "player of the year" award, for his 1937 performances, by the Baseball Writers' Association of New York. Joe will be one of the chief guests of honor at the fifteenth annual dinner of the metropolitan baseball scribes on January 30.

DiMaggio is the youngest player and the first sophomore to be voted the "player of the year." He is the fourth member of the Yankees to gain this distinction since New York writers inaugurated the award in 1931 by naming William Harold Terry of the New York Giants. Lou Gehrig in 1932, Herb Pennock in 1933, and Tony Lazzeri in 1937 were other Yankee recipients.

TOOLMEN COP NOD OVER MACHINISTS

Toolroom took a 4-2 decision over Machine Shop in a C.G.E. Shop Hockey League squabble Saturday afternoon in the Brock St. arena before a bunch of noisy fans. It was a good game with few penalties drawn but both sides fighting hard all the way. Toolroom had a 1-0 lead in the first heat and both sides scored in the second. The winners had a slight edge in the third to ram home two markers to one for their opponents.

Barnes got three goals for the victors with McDougall getting through for the other one. Hatton and Jones scored for the losers, with Langton getting two assists. The latter along with Heath, Smith, Jones and Hatton played a fine game for the Machinists; while Barnes, McDougall, Williams and Shaughnessy stood out for the winners. The teams:

Machine Shop: Goal, Heath; defence, Pearson, Charlton; centre, Edwards; wings, Langton, Hatton; alternates, Jones, Murduff, Curtin, Smith.

Toolroom: Goal, Shaughnessy; defence, Barnes, Wellman; centre, Lipsett; wings, McDougall, Inkpen; alternates, Conroy, Wade, Wheeler, Giardino, Williams.

Juveniles In Tie Southend Contest

Canucks and St. Peter's Juveniles of the Southend Hockey League battled to a 2-2 draw at the Sacred Heart rink over the week-end in a tidy puck tussle. W. Jones and Post scored for the Canucks while Corkery and Connelly countered for the students. It was a fast fixture with both sides showing a lot of promise in this well-matched joust, and the rival goalies kicking aside a bunch of hot thrusts. The teams:

Canucks: Goal, Fleming; defence, Giardino, Campbell; centre, Wade; wings, W. Jones, Henwood; alternates, B. Jones, Post, Peters, McCormick.

St. Peter's: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Curtin, Corkery; centre, Connelly; wings, Rochetta, Foster; alternates, LaPlante, Hawkes, Cauley, Primeau.

Hockey's Big 7

(By The Canadian Press).

Assisting in four goals as Toronto tied and defeated Chicago, 4-4 and 7-2, Gordon Drillon of the Leafs stepped his point total up to 32 during the weekend and increased his lead over other scorers to seven points. Syl Apps of the Leafs scored three times to tie Cecil Dillon of Rangers for second place at 25. Harvey Jackson of Toronto jumped into the National Hockey League's big seven and right to fourth place with a goal and three assists. Marty Barry of Detroit got an assist in a 2-2 tie with Maroons, while Toe Blake, Rod Lorrain and Johnny Gagnon were held pointless with the rest of the Canadiens in a 1-0 loss at Boston, but retained their places. Lorrain and Gagnon are tied for seventh spot.

The leaders:

ST. JOHN'S LOSES TO ST. ANDREW'S

St. Andrew's Juniors took a 23-10 Church Basketball League win over St. John's in the "Y" Saturday night. Neat teamwork in a fast fixture gave the winners the edge, as they presented a varied offence for the losers to cope with. The St. John's lads lost many scoring chances by poor shooting. Brown and Johnston showed outstanding defence work, with all the winners in on the scoring. The teams:

St. John's: Craig, Jefferies, Pinn, Brown, Dyer, Marshall.

St. Andrew's: Johnston, McPherson, Turner, West, Young, Weir.

Referee—Don Charlton.

Wiremen Beaten In Shop Contest

Refrigerator Cabinets copped a 2-1 nod over Wire Dept. in a nifty C.G.E. Shop Hockey League contest Saturday afternoon at the Brock St. rink. It was a hot battle all the way through between well-matched teams with much close-checking and a number of penalties drawn. Each side scored in a lively first frame, but neither team could counter in the middle heat. The winners bulged the twine with the money marker in the last stanza. It was a good game from start to finish.

Heal talied for the Wiremen in the first and Spencely got it back for the other side, aided by Brady. Vitarelli got hte other goal. Heal, Harding, Pammett and Williams shone for the losers; and Vitarelli, Magee, Brady, Brown and Nichols were outstanding for the Cabinet crew. The teams:

Wire: Goal, Harding; defence, Williams, Beauclerc; centre, Pammett; wings, Heal, Hawks; alternates, Freeman, Mallard, Barry, Townsend, Spenceley.

Ref. Cabinets: Goal, Fleming def., Mages, Spencely; centre, Vitarelli; wings, Brady, Brown; alternates, Nichols, Scott, Tedford, Griffin, Earle.

Failure To Support Missions Partly To Blame For War In China Men's Forum Told

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., Addresses Men's Forum At George Street

Blame for the horrors of the Sino-Japanese war was laid to the failure of the people of America to heed Christian appeals for support of missions in the Far East by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., addressing the Men's Forum in George Street United Church Sunday afternoon.

"Because we did not heed when we should have heeded, China is in the position she is today," Mr. Gordon declared. "We ignored the appeals of our ministers to support the missionaries who could have taught the eastern peoples the meaning of justice and good government."

Mr. Gordon suggested that this failure to westernize thoroughly the East was responsible partly for the lawlessness of the Japanese in pursuing their ambitions toward expansion and in the weakness of the Chinese nation which is permitting the Japanese invasion. Conditions in China to-day are unparallelled in the history of the world, he said. Untaught in the ways of western government organization, China is completely disorganized and chaos exists over a greater portion of the vast country. The country has been so weak it has been a constant temptation to the Japanese legions which are now invading from the north with deadly progress, meeting little opposition, he stated.

Intended Insult

"There is no doubt that the Japanese intended a direct insult to the United States," Mr. Gordon said, referring to the Panay incident, the sinking of a United States gunboat. "The American flag was displayed so prominently it must have been easily visible to the attacking Japanese. It was apparently the intention of the Japanese to demonstrate to the Chinese that assistance to them from the United States or England would not be tolerated."

He suggested that President Roosevelt's appropriation of one billion dollars for national defence in 1938 last week has a particular significance, following so closely on the Panay incident. "An appreciation of one billion dollars for defence by the United States at a time when no difficulty with European nations is threatened means only one thing—it is directed against Japan and the Japanese war machine."

Important Date

The speaker said February 14 may turn out to be a significant date in world history by reason of the fact the British are on that day to open the new Singapore naval base—the greatest base in the Far East—with a great display of naval power for the benefit of Japanese observers. The most significant feature of the occasion will be the presence of four United States battle cruisers co-operating in the display, he said.

"What that will mean, we can hardly estimate at the present time," Mr. Gordon said. "I think it will mean a demonstration to the Japanese that Great Britain and the United States are joining hand in hand to prevent China being cut up by the Japanese." He suggested that the world may see China partitioned into zones "governed by people who know the meaning of good government and justice."

Canada is suffering serious trade dislocation as a result of the Sino-Japanese war, he continued. With the eastern peoples progressing from their exclusive rice diet and requiring grain foods, the East has been affording an increasingly profitable trading territory for Canada.

Yugoslavia will build more highways in the hope of attracting tourists.

NEW X-RAY TABLE PUT IN HOSPITAL

Described by local X-ray technicians as "the latest equipment of its kind," a new shock-proof motor-driven X-ray table has been recently installed at Nicholls Hospital.

It was purchased by the Board at a cost of around $3,000 to replace the former manually-operated table long considered obsolete. Work of installation was done by the Burke Electric Company, Toronto.

The new table, which operates mechanically from a vertical or horizontal position with the patient in place, embodies fluoroscopy and radiography.

For radiography there is a Buckey (named for the inventor) grid which can be easily adjusted to cover the full range of the table. The main advantage of the Buckey in its relation to the new X-ray table at Nicholls Hospital is its simplicity of operation, by comparison with the older type of Buckey.

Besides its flexibility and ease of control, the new equipment offers complete protection both to the operator and patient. The X-ray tube is wholly enclosed and is radiation proof, while the entire machine is shock-proof.

The power plant which was formerly installed, and which was a separate item of expenditure, is what is known as single valve half way rectification, it was stated. The primary control is in one-kilowatt steps also said to be a recent advancement.

Nicholls Hospital averages between 86 to 100 X-rays per month, according to the superintendent of the hospital.

NO MORE SHORT CUTS

BLENHEIM, Ont., Jan. 17 (CP).—Tommy Holman and Donald Hastings of this Kent County district won't go crossing ice in an automobile for some time. Attempting a return to Blenheim over Rondeau Bay to save time, they got three miles off Rondeau Park shore when the ice gave way, plunging their car into the water. The break was at a shallow point, and the youths escaped with an ice bath.

Survive These two, one the car driver, the other a 14-year-old boy, survived when an automobile towing a sled across frozen Lake Simcoe in Ontario crashed through the ice, carrying four to their deaths. Jack Nelson (LEFT), driver of the car was able to climb to safety as the car sank under him. Young Jack Wilkinson (RIGHT) whose mother was inside the automobile, jumped on the roof in a futile effort to break a hole through which Mrs. Wilkinson could escape.

BORN IN EMILY LAST SURVIVOR PIONEER FAMILY

Member of one of the district's earliest pioneer families, and the oldest resident of this city, Mrs. Agnes Best, widow of the late Samuel Henry Best, died at her home, 469 Stewart Street, on Saturday evening. She was in her 97th year.

Born in Emily Township on August 3, 1841, Mrs. Best lived through almost the entire history of the settlement and development of this region and the city of Peterborough. She was daughter of the late Henry Moore and the last survivor of a family whose members were Mrs. William Evans, Mrs. R. Weir, Miss S. J. Moore, Mrs. V. Best, and D. H. Moore.

She came to this city in 1883. For many years she was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, but transferred her membership to St. Andrew's United Church after union in 1925.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. J. R. Watt of Kingston and Miss E. S. Best of Toronto. Her husband and one daughter Louise predeceased her.

The funeral, conducted by Rev. E. W. Young, will take place from her late residence, 469 Stewart Street, on Tuesday at 2 p.m., to St. Paul's Cemetery, Emily.

RUMOR OF A RINK

One of the men of the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club broadcast a squib of information that is interesting if true. He told a group at the Brock street rink the other night that the club would have their own rink next winter built on the North Monaghan side of the company's property, opposite the Waddell estate; that the treasury is away up in the four figures, and the C.G.E. will tack on enough to make it a five-figure sum, and with their own ice they could go in for hockey on a bigger scale.

ANNUAL MEETING

Officers of the Y.M.C.A. are getting ready for the association's annual meeting Thursday evening at 6.30 o'clock this week. Annual reports will be heard and the six annual directorship vacancies will be filled. President Gordon S. Matthews will be in the chair. The meeting will be held in conjuction with the regular meeting of the Y's Men.

CONDITIONS BAD

One of the local radio amateurs who competed over the week-end in the nation-wide contest for the largest number of "contacts" made during a period from 4 p.m. Saturday to 4 p.m. Sunday reported conditions in this area were decidedly unfavorable to transmission and reception. During the greater part of the day, the band was dead, he said. The contest was sponsored by the American Radio Relay Incorporation.

2,300 LICENSES REMAIN

Of this district's allotment of 6,800 passenger car markers, 2,300 still remained in the pile at the Chamber of Commerce this morning, Issuer J. J. Dorris said today. It appeared during the morning, however, that the worst of the rush was over since the line of waiting customers had dwindled somewhat from Saturday. It is estimated about 1,000 car owners have their vehicles in winter storage and will not show up for their plates until the break-up.

"LIFE."

"Life" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday. The golden text was "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God...In Him was life; and the life was the light of men." (John 1, 1-4.) Selections from the Bible included the following from I. John 1, 5, "This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook included the following: "Eternity, not time, expresses thought of Life, and time is no part of eternity. One ceases in proportion as the other is recognized. Time is finite; eternity is forever infinite."

War Not For Aged

Hope For Future Is Keynote Of Trinity Anniversary Address

Rev. Gerald Cragg, M.A., Preaches At Sixty-Fourth Anniversary Services

Trinity United Church in celebrating its sixty-fourth anniversary on Sunday was happy in its choice of a preacher, the Rev. Gerald Cragg, M.A., of Toronto and editor of the Canadian United Church paper, "The New Outlook". Rev. Mr. Cragg is also a descendant of a family of many noted preachers of Methodist and the United Church origin, and as such, has had a close relationship with Peterborough congregations from the days of the saddle-bag preachers up to the present time.

It is interesting too, to note that an uncle of the speaker, Dr. C. C. Cragg is practicing today on the very site of the original Charlotte street Methodist Church which celebrated Sunday as Trinity United Church its inception in this city.

Welcomed by Pastor.

The Rev. George S. Easton, pastor of the anniversary church welcomed the friends and adherents who had gathered in large numbers on this auspicious occasion. After conducting the opening devotional service the pastor introduced the visiting minister whose challenging theme for the morning worship was 'Today and Tomorrow."

"Hope for the future" was the keynote of the inspiring message, based upon the text chosen from St. Luke's gospel 21:25-28. "And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your hands; for your redemption draweth nigh." This declared the speaker is the cry of a man who was confronting the same problems that we are in a world seemingly gone mad and where all sense of confidence has been shattered. Referring to the author of the text Rev. Mr. Cragg said that he obviously wrote with immense fervor, yet with a sense of reality, for even in the great Roman empire of his day the outlook was dark. In Palestine, a proud and haughty people were groaning beneath the yoke of an alien banner. Amid a ferment of unrest, the people were yearning for a Messiah and for the vindication of the Jewish people.

This formed the background of Jesus' life and Luke, who wrote these words of the text, was looking back upon the fall of Jerusalem, when events were drifting from chaos and confusion to utter disaster, yet amid all this he gives this cry of hope—this trumpet blast of triumph "look up and lift up your heads".

Outlook No Better Today

If the outlook was bad then, it is certainly no better in our day. We cry out passionately for peace, yet what do we see? In China and in the Spanish trenches men are locked in a life and death struggle. Nations are tottering along under the intolerable burden of armaments. Even closer the circumstances of our daily life are not such that we can sit back in complacency. Suffering and need are all about us and in the midst of nature's plenty, we find poverty. We believe ours is a land of opportunity, but even yet, there are scores of people without work. The realities are here, there is no need to garnish facts with words. Any hope we have must be in the faceof such facts as these.

There Is Still Hope.

And there is still hope. Otherwise the gospel would not be worth preaching. In a world like ours there are three reasons for hope. The first is rooted in the very character and nature of God, who is eternal and who is behind the visible universe, a personal power working for good. "The Lord is in His holy temple is a classic example from the old testament of the abiding character of God. The second reason for our hope is because God has worked out His plan of redemption in just such a world as ours. Human sin sets the stage and on that stage, God plays the drama of salvation." We have hope and confidence because a God of love has been shown to us through Jesus Christ. In the third place, we may face the future with hope, because by God's grace, we may be fellow-workers with Him and not impassive spectators.

In replying to the world's cry of need, God has given us a part. There is an estimated total of two hundred million Christians in the world today, but we sometimes wonder where they have hidden themselves. There is no such thing as an "honorary member" of the Christian religion. We can't be a Christian if we don't work at it.

The answer to the problems of today should lie in the activities of those in whose hearts is daily renewed the only power that will save the world.

We know the need—do we know the responsibility? It rests individually upon every one of us, for it may be our lack of enthusiasm which hinders the "coming of the Kingdom" in our own particular circle. We cannot escape this responsibility, especially when evil seems to march triumphantly through the world as it does today. "And when these things began to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads for your redemption draweth nigh."

Repeating this clear-cut note of promise the massed bank of spring flowers at the altar, gave this message of hope a most fitting setting, as did also the fine musical program arranged by Miss Mabel Clarry, the organist and choir leader, whose numbers included for the morning service, the anthem "My Faith Looks Up to Thee". Soloists, Mrs. R. Cowan, Miss M. Wolstenholme and Clifford Cruikshank; solo, "The Lord is My Light", Mr. M. Gordon.

In the evening: Anthem "Glory in Excelsis (from Mass in F by Concone); ladies, 3 part chorus, "Sleepers Awake, A Voice Is Sounding", (Bach).

For the evening service, St. Andrew's United congregation joined with Trinity in anniversary, with their pastor, Rev. E. W. Young assisting in the service of worship, when Rev. Mr. Cragg chose for his sermon the intriguing subject, 'He Got What He Asked For."

GOLD IS FOUND NEAR COE HILL ON MAN'S FARM

(Examiner Correspondence.)

COE HILL, Jan. 17.—Discovery of gold on the farm of Allan Sprague, ten miles north-west of here, toward Apsley, has been followed by recent reports that the property is to be developed as soon as Spring makes outdoor work possible. The find has been followed by preliminary examination of mineralized rock, the results being so promising that they were regarded as warranting further work.

Local interest in the reports reaching the village have stirred up hopes that the property will realize all the favorable news that has been heard since late last fall. It is understood that Mr. Sprague is himself proceeding with the next step of development, but no immediate work is contemplated until winter ends.

With The Boy Scouts

St. Paul's Troop once again got under way, their headquarters being closed for four or five weeks while a new floor was being laid. To boost up the interest of patrol competition a valuable prize will be given to the patrol holding most points at the end of a given time.

The whole troop took part in tying a new 200-foot rope into knots; the rope proved that lots of scouts were not up to their knots.

Scouter A. H. Stimmock of the St. Paul's (South-end No. 12 Troop), was a visitor to the troop. At the court of honor meeting, the annual scout banquet was discussed, and it was decided to make plans for February 22. Further details later. Scouts are requested to be on hand at to-night's meeting.

Stan. Northrop visited St. Andrew's Cub Pack on Thursday, and led the boys in a singsong; 17 boys were present. Instruction was given under various leaders, and several games were played. Alex Richardson and Alan Johnson passed their message carrying. Ted Cooney passed time-telling, whilst Jack Black completed somersault, leap-frog and knotting tests.

St. John's Troop held their meeting as usual, and after opening ceremonies enjoyed several good games. Rover Squire Ken Brown gave instruction on map reading and making, whilst Rover Squire Ed. Pinn took a class in signalling.

At Camp Fire, Sonny Roy gave an interesting talk on his travels to England, and his talk with the Chief Scout, after which every boy present, 24 in all, received a small portion of cake that Sonny brought from the table of Sir Robert Baden Powell's home. No doubt thinking of his chums at St. John's, Peterborough, Sonny put the cake in his pocket instead of his mouth. Saturday afternoon 10 boys with the Scouter in charge went on a hike out over Green Hill. Most of the boys went on skiis. Dinner was cooked over the open fire with a blanket of snow to rest on. A good game was enjoyed, after which some of the boys went over the skii jump, then trekked for home.

St. John's Rover Crew heard of every branch of insurance, life, fire, etc., from Gordon Clegg.

On Friday, District Commissioner and Mrs. Hornsby, Commissioner and Mrs. Grant, Dist. Cub Master G. Clegg and Rover Leader and Mrs. Groombridge attended the official opening of the new headquarters of the 2nd Port Hope Troop. D.C.M. Clegg invested the Cubmaster and his assistant into their office as leaders of the pack.

It is regretted that the Scouters' Club let their monthly meeting up last week.

The local association executive is scheduled to meet on Wednesday of this week, and any group having suggestions or complaints should get in touch with their representative.

The Sacred Heart Troop are practising for a minstrel show that they are putting on Thursday and Friday, January 27 and 28, in the club house at 8.15 p.m. Everyone is asked to reserve this date and support the troop in their enterprise. A pair of blankets and a lamp will be given as door prizes and two prizes for children.

St. James met again on Friday night, the Wolf patrol carried off points for all the games.

A court of honor meeting is being held every Sunday night at 7 p.m. in the Scouter's home. The troop has just passed the second milestone on its march along the scout trail.

All Saints held a court of honr meeting on Tuesday last, making arrangements for future programs.

On Saturday the troop went for a hike, getting the out in scouting. All Saints' reporter is confined to bed.

At the St. John's Pack meeting on Friday some 40 boys enjoyed an evening in the cub jungle.

The pack hockey teams were chosen, and a game schedule drawn up. This league will continue each Saturday for about eight weeks, when the winning team will be suitably entertained. The games are to be judged, not by the number of goals scored but on show of fair play and sportsmanship. The names of the teams are Maple Leafs, Maroons, Canadiens, and Black Hawks, with the captains as in following order: Bill Beamish, Alan Hooper, Reg. McEwen and Clayton Selkirk.

There are 5 second star, 20 first star, 15 tenderpads, and 2 new chums in the pack. A challenge to other city packs. The Mother's Auxiliary have postponed their meeting from next Friday until 3 p.m. Friday, January 28.

Good hunting.—The Skipper.

Spiritual Development Failed To Keep Pace With Material Progress Labor Forum Is Told

Result Is Always a Persistent Threat Of War In The World

Spiritual development has failed to keep pace with material and intellectual progress, and until that advance has been made in the hearts of mankind there will always be a persistent threat of war, Thomas Tooms stated in an address at the Labor forum on Hunter Etreet on Sunday afternoon.

"When the material side of our being dominates our acts in national life, trouble in the shape of wholesale slaughter of one's fellows, poverty and a near approach to famine seems to be inevitable. I do not believe war ever found favor in the sight of God. Not for one moment do I doubt that most of those who have participated in past wars were actuated by high motives. War is nothing else than the diabolical effect of hate and greed and tyranny in high places."

One Great Family.

Although they are divided on national lines, Mr. Tooms said men naturally felt a kinship for one another. The bulk of humanity belonged to one great family, and was bound together in spirit. "When men who are entirely lacking in spiritual development are allowed to rule the destinies of nations, disaster becomes inevitable, descending upon a people, and too often upon the whole world."

"Does it not seem strange that in a world where new and more humane ways of slaying animals are being steadily devised, and insisted upon by law, men should as constantly devise new and increasingly terrible and barbarous ways for slaying their fellow men in warfare."

Mr. Tooms declared that frightfulness of modern war was hell let loose, "exceeding any devilish conception the church ever imagines of the devil's hell. And its welcoming agents were all the age old evils, avarice, hate, lust, cruelty and an utter lack of charity.

Contributing Cause.

Capitalism's basic greed for the almighty dollar, said Mr. Tooms, was a contributing cause of war. Machines had become so productive that they easily supplied the home market, and then as a nation turned elsewhere for more business it conflicted with other nations, causing rivalries that broadened into war.

"Internal strife such as we see in Spain will be inevitable unless we do something to avoid it. Of course any self-respecting people will attempt to defend themselves against the tyranny of dictatorships, no matter what brand they bear. Personally, I believe that under a system of state ownership of natural resources, and nationally controlled industry, we could bring about equitable distribution of wealth. Under a mild form of Socialism people can live in peace and harmony and plenty, with a higher level of education, security for old age and an admiration for the glories of creation."

Mr. Tooms was the first of a series of Sunday afternoon speakers at the new forum at the Labor headquarters near Aylmer Street.

NEW MARKERS DUE.

Although Saturday was the final "deadline" for carrying white-onred "Coronation" markers, there were still a good number of them to be seen on Peterborough streets today. J. P. Bickell, Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Ontario, has said in Toronto that no extension of the period in which drivers must obtain licenses had been granted. He added those without the new blue and orange plate "must run the risk of prosecution by local police."

Reported Ill

Suffering from a throat infection, Eddie Cantor, ABOVE, poached-egg-eyed comedian of stage, screen and radio, is reported in a serious condition in hospital at Hollywood, Cal. Cantor went to the hospital on Sunday, but left the following Tuesday for a radio rehearsal. The next night a physician was in attendance at the regular Cantor broadcast, after which the comedian took a turn for the worse.

BARBERS' APPEAL TO BOARD FAILS

Peterborough's new schedule of barbering charges does not apply to North Monaghan, the Ontario Industrial Board has decided to reply to the appeal made by the local deputation last week who urged that the original price zone extend one mile beyond the city's boundaries.

The three barbers in the township can suit themselves about prices, apparently, even up to the ultimate limit of all the traffic will carry, if they like; or they may ease off in the other direction, but they have no one to tell them how much they shall charge. When city barbers appealed to the government for a new deal in prices they asked that the zone reach one mile into the country. That was to embrace Ernie Mitchell at Bill Grady's corner, Vic Cooper down at the Park and Braidwood corner and M. Curtin at Byersville; and from all accounts they didn't want any embracing. That is what Reeve Milby told the Industrial Board in protesting against their first decision, and on second thought the Board decided to make the boundaries of the prices territory the same as the city's municipal limits. The Examiner was informed that this reply was received at the week-end.

OBITUARY

MRS. CHARLES ELMHIRST.

KEENE, Jan. 17. — The death of Margaret Wallace, wife of Charles Elmhirst, occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, after a short illness. The deceased leaves to mourn the loss, besides her sorrowing husband, two daughters and one son, Ellen, Davida, and Percy, all at home, and one sister, Mrs. George Houle of Otonabee.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning from the late family resident, Lot 24, Concession 2, Otonabee, to St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, where Requiem Mass will be sung at 10 o'clock. Interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

MRS. DAVID CORNELL

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, Jan. 17.—A well known and respected citizen of Omemee in the person of Mrs. David Cornell passed away in Toronto recently. The deceased had lived with relatives for the past few years and had been in failing health for some time. She was 82 years of age. The funeral was held from Toronto to Emily cemetery.

Left to mourn her loss is one son, Cecil, of Oshawa, and one daughter, Mrs. Melville Cornell of Toronto. One son Roy predeceased her a few years ago.

Two Young Peterborough Entertainers Enter Finals In Amateur Contest

A free trip to Hollywood is now within the grasp of little Shirley Garner, 7 years of age, and Kennie Simmons, 9, as the result of their victory in the Good Humor radio amateur contest over CFRB and associated stations, it was announced yesterday. The two received expensive presentations during a repeat appearance before the microphone in Toronto Sunday.

Winners of the amateur contest conducted over a period of several weeks at the Capitol Theatre here, the talented youngsters had the good fortune to land in the semi-finals when they were sent to Toronto two weeks ago. They were voted the winners of the semi-finals by radio listeners and yesterday the sponsors presented both with diamond rings when they repeated their song and dance act.

On January 30 the young team will compete in the final contest against the best amateur talent of the province. If fortune smiles on them, all expenses will be paid for a trip to Hollywood and arrangements will be made for screen tests. Arrangements are now being made for a repeat appearance in Peterborough for the two before they go to Toronto for the finals.

PEACOCK FEATHERS

by—Temple Bailey

COPYRIGHT, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER 41.

MIMI'S pride spoke. We, she said, we could not go back to St. Louis because her friends would know she had been "fooled." Peacock Feathers! She wasn't thinking of my love of her. She was thinking of what other people would say—Andy and Olga and all the rest. Pride mattered more to her than love—more than anything in the whole wide world.

I tried again, "If we love each other enough——"

She broke in "Oh, what does either of us know of love? If you had loved me you wouldn't have made me risk a think like this. ..We've been just two children playing with our emotions..."

I caught her hands up in mine, crushing them until she winced. "Speak for yourself, Mimi. But you shall not say such things of me..."

"You are hurting my hand, Jerry."

"You are hurting my heart."

I did not let her go, and presently she ceased to struggle and I had her in my arms. "Oh, Jerry, Jerry," she whispered, after a long tense silence, "I've been such a little—beast to say such things—to you..."

I knew then that she was mine again, that my masterfulness had conquered. But the things she had said had left a scar. And the problems which were before us had found no real solution.

The question of a maid became a burning one. Dora Hayes was, it seemed, to go in a day or two to a summer hotel on the other side of the mountain. I offered her equal wages but she wanted the excitement of the change of scene and of the company she would meet. It was, in a sense, for Dora a social opportunity. There were young men employed about the hotel—other girls in other seasons had found their mates.

Mrs. Hayes was sorry that she could not cook for us, but Dora was the oldest of a family of six. Left thus, by her daughter's departure, to do the work for a family of seven, plus certain of the farm laborers, who were boarders, Mrs. Hayes' hands were more than full.

"It wouldn't be hard work for just the two of you, Mrs. Chandler," she told Mimi, "if you knew how to do it."

"But I don't know how, Mrs. Hayes. I've never made a biscuit, or baked a cake, or fried a chicken in my life."

"Well, I could learn you," said kind Mrs. Hayes, beaming.

It was I who protested. "We simply must have someone to help my wife." I could not see Mimi as a daily drudge—with her hands rough, her lovely face above a pan of steaming dishes. It made no difference to me that my mother had done these things, I wanted Mimi aways silken and shining.

On the day that Dora left us we annexed the half-breed wife of one of the farm laborers. Her name was Sally, and she came up twice a day and did the heavy work. She could cook nothing, however, except the coarse food which her husband demanded. So I supplemented her efforts, and became the family chef. It was easy enough in a way, and a relief from my writing. When Mimi protested, I laughed. "It will be a great game, just the two of us—and with Mrs. Hayes' bread, and plenty of fruit and vegetables. And I've written to Denver. They ought to get a maid to us in a week or 10 days, perhaps before that. It will be easy enough until she comes."

Mimi entered whole-heartedly into the spirit of it all. We lived picnic-fashion, and thought of the arrangement as temporary. Except when the weather was bad we ate our meals on the porch, which overlooked the valley. I boiled the eggs and made the toast and coffee, and Mimi set the table—giving it a festive look with fruit and flowers.

Those out-of-door feasts were a matter of great curiosity to the five small Hayes children. They ranged in ages from two to eleven, and they were all as tow-headed and as freckled as Dora. The Hayes' house was on the mountain above us, but faced, fortunately, the back of our domicile, otherwise I am sure we should have eaten always with an audience gazing down upon us, spoiling our solitude and the scene.

They often visited us, however; a trail of them in calico and blue denim—well-fed, rosy, and utterly bewitched by Mimi. Like Dora they moved in a daze of admiration. Mimi found in them a never-ending source of interest and amusement. "I didn't know there were such peope in the world, Jerry. And they haven't any manners. They just stare and laugh."

I had seen many such children. I had been brought up among them. I had known their intelligence, their quickness of thoughts, their sense of humor. But to Mimi they were funny little puppets, a part of the show, as the kittens were a part of it, or the bantam roosters, or the waddling line of little ducks. She laughed at them, but never with them, and the difference is great.

Their names were Jimmy Hayes and Johnnie Hayes and Mary and Susie Hayes, and the oldest one was Timothy. How 12-year-old Timothy had escaped from being called "Tim" nobody could tell. But the long name suited him; he was, in the last analysis, a dignified little chap—and he was more than that. He was a child of great imagination and sensibility.

He attached himself at once to Mimi, following her as faithfully as Jason, but leaving her without any signs of sensitiveness when she indicated that she wanted to be alone.

Her capture of him had come about one day when she told the five children the story of the "Wild Swans." I found them all one afternoon in a grove of pines not far from the house. The ground beneath the trees was bare of all undergrowth; there was a carpet of needles, with a few boulders shouldering through them. Mimi sat on one of the boulders. She was dressed in green and looked like a dryad. She was very dramitic in her rendering of the story, and I kept out of sight until she had finished it.

From where I stood I could see Timothy. He looked up, caught my eyes on him, and a wave of color almost obscured his freckles. But in another moment he had forgotten me, and was hanging on Mimi's words.

But that night when Mimi and I sat on the portch in the moonlight, a lanky youth rounded the corner of the house, and stood in front of us.

"Mrs. Chandler," he said, "I came down to ask you about that girl."

"What girl, Timothy?"

"The one in the story that made all the shirts for her brothers. She didn't have to make them shirts, did she?"

"No. She did it because she loved them, and she didn't want to see them suffer——"

"Well, I'll bet you Mary Hayes wouldn't sew on no shirts like that for me or Jimmie or Johnnie."

"She might, Timothy, if it would save you from some unhappiness."

He pondered that, sitting on the step, his face turned up to the sky; transfigured by the white light into a beauty not unlike that of a painting I had seen of the "Boy of Winander."

"Well, I guess we don't any of us know what we would do till the time comes, do we? But that was some girl to sew on them shirts."

He left us and we laughed a little. Yet, it was Mimi who said, "He's a darling, Jerry—and he doesn't know it."

Except for the Hayes family and the farm laborers, we saw practically no one from week-end to week-end. The nearest ranches were several miles away, and two of them were owned by upstanding Scandinavians, practical farmers with whom I found it easy to be neighborly, but whose wives had absolutely nothing in common with Mimi. They talked continually of their housekeeping, their health and of their children. Both of them were heavy, somewhat blowzy creatures, though rosy-cheeked and smiling, with families of tow-headed freckled children not unlike the Hayes tribe.

"I don't see what they get out of life," Mimi stated, as we rode home one day from brief calls at the two places.

"Perhaps," I said, "they love their husbands and their children enough to make up for all the rest."

Mimi tilted up her chin. "They are happy because they don't know any better," she said scornfully.

We rode one day in the little automobile which was used about the farm, to the summer hotel, 20 miles away, where Dora worked. It was high up on one of the highest mountains, and was a charming, rambling structure, built absolutely in accord with the landscape. Its timbers were rough-hewn, there were great stone fireplaces, and the simple furniture was beautiful and brightened by Indian rugs and pottery."

"If we had a house like this, Jerry," Mimi said, "it would be wonderful..."

"Perhaps we may...some day'..."

She stood looking into the roaring fire. "It was a hearth like this of which I dreamed..."

We stayed for dinner and danced afterwards. The hotel had a fashionable midwestern patronage, and I am sure that Mimi was recognized We were much observed. "When you get your affairs settled we can buy a good car and come often," Mimi said happily, as we rode home.

Trace Your "Nerves" to Their Hidden Roots

Actually, she's ill. Her "nerves" deserve as much sympathy as another person's toothache or bad cold.

Why do lots of people drag along for years—irritable and unhappy? They don't know how to cure their "nerves." And it's so easy—once you discover their cause

It may be an emotional one Perhaps you have a worried, jumpy disposition to-day because your family spoiled you as a child. Now grown-up responsibilities seem overwhelming. But if you understood why, you'd be able to laugh off worry and "nerves" alike.

On the other hand, "nerves" often indicate a run-down physical condition. When you feel jittery, ask yourself, "Am I getting enough rest? Fresh air and exercise? Balanced meals?"

In our 32-page booklet a well-known physician explains how to get at the root of nervous troubles, build a radiant personality through a sound health program.

Looking Back On This Date

JANUARY 17.
(By Fred Williams)

One hundred years ago to-day Sir George Arthur left England for Toronto, where he was to succeed Bond Head. The latter, outwardly at least, was chuckling over the flight of Mackenzie and his "army" from Navy Island, giving no indication to the public that he knew he had been practically recalled. Arthur, who had been Governor of Van Diemen's Land (Tasmania), found no bed of roses in Canada. First he had to "mop up" the rebellion, and to deal with a situation in which business was at a standstill, the banks refusing specie for their notes, emigration instead of immigration, and a general paralysis of commerce.

Because of his arbitrary refusal to commute the death sentences upon Lount and Matthews, Arthur has been regarded as an autocratic tyrant, a blood-eating musketeer who sought to rule Upper Canada like a penal colony. The facts are quite the reverse. He came out as a conciliator, with a sword in one hand and an olive branch in the other. His first act was to tell the executive council that while it might be necessary to "make an example" of one or two of the political leaders, his general instructions were to pacify. It was the bad luck of Lount and Matthews to be the first sentenced to death, and so they were "the example" to testify to the people that the Crown could be stern and unrelenting; but this done the sword of mercy came into sight when of the 785 poitical prisoners, the majority were pardoned and sent home with warnings to behave in future.

And at the end of May, Arthur reported to London that the province was tranquil. But he reckoned without W. L. Mackenzie, Bill Johnson, and the other refugee Canadians in New York and Michigan. These spoiled his policy and forced a return to sternness. After the raids into the border country, public opinion was so insistent for the deaths of the leaders that Arthur consented, but he saved many, to be later transported to his old jurisdiction in the South Seas. Sir George had won the confidence of the Upper Canadians; had he not had to resort to stern measures forced upon him by the incursions, he could at least have restored a semblance of progress. Then, later, he was placed in such unfair positions by Lord Durham, that one comes to have a sense of sympathy for the Governor whom one has been taught to regard as a bloody tyrant.

DOROTHY DIX

Young Couples May Make Promises About How They Will Live After Their Visit to the Altar but They Will Find That Marriage Is a Ball-and-Chain Affair.

TWO young people who are engaged have been telling me that they have solved the problem of how to make marriage a success. It is for the husband and wife to be as free after marriage as they were before, and so they have made a solemn agreement not to interfere in any way with each other's personal liberty.

Great idea, I replied, if it will work. Nobody will deny that one of the main drawbacks to matrimony is that it cramps one's style. No matter how much the fetters are gilded, they still hold one down; and so if you have found some way of eliminating the ball-and-chain motif in the wedding march you will certainly deserve well of your fellow creatures. But inasmuch as one cannot be both bond and free at the same time, it will take a bit of doing, as our English friends say, to be both married and single and make a go of it.

It sounds very broad-minded, modern and intriguing to talk about a husband and wife leaving each other free to do as they please after marriage, but the thing isn't possible. It can't be done. Marriage isn't freedom. It is slavery. A happy and voluntary bondage, generally, in which the slaves hug their chains, but all the same they are bound and tied, subject to each other's wills and whims, peculiarities and prejudices and they have no more individual liberty than a pet poodle on a leash.

No married man and woman can live the untrammeled life after marriage that they did before. There is no use in you befooling yourself into thinking that you can. Marriage interferes with your tastes and habits at every turn. You will find that you can't even eat what you like, or read in bed, or have your old friends around you if your husband or your wife likes a different style of cookery, or can't sleep with a light on, or can't see why you want to have that frowsy Smith man always hanging around and drinking up the expensive Scotch, or what you see in that silly, affected Jones woman, even if you did go to school with her.

This bondage of husband and wife to each other goes all through marriage. Before marriage, Son, you are free to spend your money on yourself, but after you are married you will find that every dollar of it belongs to your wife and children and the support of your home. Before marriage you were free to stay down town of a night, play poker, eat any old time and roll in with the milkman, but after marriage you will have to punch the home timeclock on the dot and be prompt for the dinner your wife has spent hours in cooking for you, or else—

And you will find out, Daughter, that the money you were free to spend on beauty treatments and fine clothes has to go for shoes for Little Mary and sweaters for Bobby; that you can't spend your afternoons at the movies or in bridge games; that you are tied down by babies and housework and about the only freedom you have is the freedom to work 14 hours a day.

As for husbands and wives giving each other freedom to play around with other men and women and have affairs with them, that freedom invariably ends in the divorce court. Human nature can't stand it. The man who loves his wife cannot endure seeing her philandering with another man. The thought that she is betraying him and tarnishing his honor burns him up. The woman who loves her husband and sees him making love to another woman eats her heart out in jealousy. If, Son, you think that you and Mary are going to be any exception to this rule, you are making the mistake of your life. We are all monopolists when it comes to our own husbands and wives and don't want to share them with any one.

Those who crave freedom should never marry, for the very essence of marriage is the sense we have of belonging to some one we love, and of the one we love belonging to us. A glorious slavery. The only free people are those who care for nobody but themselves, and for whom no other human being cares.

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PENNIES

"Boo hoo! Boo hoo! Boo hoo!" cried Tootsie.

"Hoo boo! Hoo boo! Hoo boo!" cried Wootsie.

One cried frontward and the other cried backward, you see, which shows they were little twin rabbits, a girl and a boy, though you also could have made sure they were twins just by looking at them.

"Boo hoo!" cried Tootsie, the girl rabbit, frontward again.

"Hoo boo!" cried Wootsie, the boy rabbit, backward again.

"Oh, my dear! Whatever is the matter?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy.

"We put our pennies that Daddy Uncle Wiggily gave us in a bank!" sobbed Tootsie.

"Why, that's all right!" squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper, in a kind voice. Squeaking was her manner of talking. "Banks are the right places in which to save your pennies, my dears!"

"Yes, but this was a snow bank!" said Wootsie.

"A snowy bank!" cried Nurse Jane.

"Yes," said Tootsie and Wootsie together just like twins which they really were.

"Whyever did you do that?" asked Nurse Jane.

Found a Bank.

"'Cause Daddy Uncle Wiggily said we ought to save the pennies he gave us in a bank," explained Tootsie.

"And instead of buying gum drops and jellie beans with our pennies," said Wootsie, "we went looking for a bank to put them in."

"Well, what happened after that?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Daddy Uncle Wiggily had been cleaning the walks," said Tootsie.

"And he piled the snow up in a big heap," said Wootsie.

"Well, go on," said Nurse Jane, for the twins were crying again.

1-17

Stop crying, my dears."

"After that," said Tootsie, "when we went out, we heard Buster saying what a fine snow bank there was in front of the bungalow. So we dropped our pennies in it."

"Boo hoo! Hoo boo!" cried Wootsie, both frontward and backward.

"Oh, please stop it" begged Nurse Jane. "You make me so nervous! Wait, I'll go ask Mr. Longears what's to be done."

Taking the little twin rabbits with her, Nurse Jane found Uncle Wiggily reading the morning paper in the paper room. It was called the paper room because there was paper on the walls.

"The twins' pennies are in a snow bank," said Nurse Jane.

"Yes, I know," said Uncle Wiggily. "I dug in to get them and then I had to dig out again."

What to Do?"

"Didn't you find the pennies?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"I didn't dig for them," answered the rabbit gentleman. "I dug in the snow bank because I thought Tootsie and Wootsie were there."

"But we were down the street sliding."

"And we looked in a candy store window," said wootsie, "but we couldn't buy any gum drops."

"Or jellie beans," added Tootsie. "Oh, dear! Boo hoo!"

"Oh, dear! Hoo boo" cried Wootsie.

"Stop crying, dears," said Uncle Wiggily. "I will give you each another penny to save or spend."

"Thank you, but we don't want other pennies," said Tootsie.

"We want the pennies from the snow bank!" cried the rabbit twins together like the chorus of a song.

"Oh, dear me!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose, "What am I to do?"

All of a sudden Nurse Jane whispered to Mr. Longears.

What she said and what he did I will tell you in the next story about Uncle Wiggily's camp fire. But please don't let the snow shovel hide in the coal bin when it should be taking the gas stove to the movies.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, January 18

A particularly active day is forecase from the ruling astral influences, with surprising and sudden situations. Discretion and diplomacy will be needed to meet treacheries, either in public or private affairs. There may be some menacing and sinster troubles dragged into the open. Beware of emotional disturbances and distresses.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a very lively year, with much stirring to excite and perhaps plunge them into unwise emotional disturbances. There are factors of deceit, treachery and sinister import to be manipulated with deliberation, composure and prudence. Duplicity may be dragged into the light.

A child born on this day may be extremely talented, versatile, adventurous and at times violent in its emotions and tempestuous outbreaks. It should have early discipline in such excitements. It may have hectic public contacts.

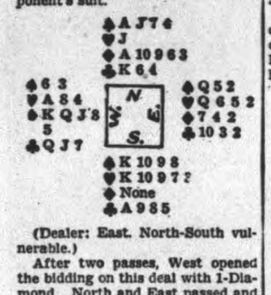
"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T ALWAYS DOUBLE

INFORMATIVE or takeout doubles are fine pieces of machinery to find out what your partner likes best, but there are times when some other course is far preferable. There is always the possibility with an informative double that your partner may like to make a business or penalty pass. If your hand is such that you do not want to play against the opponents' contract, no matter what your partner holds, it may be better to call a suit, in rare instances even the opponent's suit.



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

After two passes, West opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Diamond. North and East passed and South was undecided as to just what action to take. With a passing partner and he himself having previously passed, he feared a bid of a heart might be passed. He would normally have doubled with his type of distribution, but there was the possibility that North might have length in diamonds and decide to pass the double for a penalty. South was not anxious for this to happen, as his holdings did not by any means indicate that one diamond could be set.

After due consideration, he decided upon a bid of 2-Diamonds, figuring that it would not be possible for his partner to misinterpret this bid, in view of the original pass. North caught the inference and jumped to 3-Spades, which South took to four.

East led a diamond against this contract and declarer had no difficulty in making his game, with the loss of a trick each in spades, hearts and clubs.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

How should the bidding proceed on this deal after a pass by East?

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD.—Glenda Farrell's boy friend, Drew Eberson, is chucking his assistant director's duties to go to New York and rejoin the architectural firm headed by his father, John Eberson. The elder Eberson is prominent in the profession and designed many of the Warner theatres in the east.

Glenda Farrell

Though it means a 3,000-mile separation, Glenda is strong for the move.

"I don't want Drew in the movies," she told me. "I am fee lancing now, and will be able to go to New York whenever I want to."

Song writing royalties can't be as bad as they say. When Harry Owens sold "Sweet Leilani," he didn't look for much from the tune because he had been playing it for months in Hawaii. But, out of sentiment, he decided to put the royalties in a trust fund for his baby daughter, Leilani, who had inspired the number.

The public went crazy about the dreamy island melody. And the baby's trust fund, now contains more than $16,000.

Everybody at R-K-O- has smiles for Alice Brady. She made a hit with the studio by getting up from a sick bed to complete scenes in her latest picture. But the gang on the picture like her more for what she did for her hairdresser Marie Burg. The girl had to go to the hospital for a month. Alice not only paid all her expenses, but kept up the hairdresser's regular pay checks.

Twenty needy families in Los Angeles also can thank this star for their monthly supply of milk. That is they could, if they knew her name. She remains an anonymous donor.

Seem to be about as many people who consider 13 a lucky number, as the opposite. Sophie Tucker has a birthday on the thirteenth of this month. At her party, 150 guests will be seated at 13 tables and, among the decorations, will be 13 black cats in wicker cages.

At Twentieth Century-Fox, players prefer to get their pictures on the commissary wall than to win popularity polls. For Zanuck has made it an award of merit. He personally selects the people to be honored and, if your picture goes up, it means your option is safe.

Congratulations, then, to Marjorie Weaver, Caesar Romero, Joan Davis and Annabella. Their features are the latest to adorn the walls.

Rehearsals for the Sylvia Sidney-George Raft newest picture were postponed a day so Raft could go home and get some sleep. It's a funny story. Raft's sidekick, Mack Gray, didn't show up all night and the star spent the time calling the hospitals. At seven in the morning, in walked Gray, with the casual explanation that he had been playing bridge with Jackie Coogan and Betty Grable in their new home.

The Wallace Beerys, including Carol Ann, are off to Europe as soon as the star finishes his latest at M.G.M. They'll make the Atlantic crossing by boat, but will fly the rest of the journey, including a trip to northern Africa. Due to the difficulty of frontier clearance papers, Beery will not take his own aeroplane but will rent ships and travel by commercial airlines.

Ann Sothern definitely will adopt the 11-year-old boy, David Hobbs, whom she brought back from Texas. His parents have given their permission. Ranch Owner Bob Taylor has traded in his town car for a roadster. . . . . The picture "In Old Arizona," made in 1929, still plays in foreign countries and, last year, grossed $50,000. But, after all these years, "The Birth of a Nation," did about a $25,000 gross. . . . Francis Lederer's stand-in, Victor Sabuni, is a member of a prominent Mexican family and is working at his present job to learn how movies are made. Lois Collier, the extra girl who has been appearing in an air program, gets a role in a Republic picture. Robert Paige's mother has adopted an 11-year-old girl, the daughter of relatives. It makes the youngster Paige's sister as well as his first cousin and godchild.

Camera Award

You can almost hear the irate baseball fan yelling "Robber" in this picture which was awarded second prize in a press photographer's exhibition in New York. Sam Schulman took the shot at a baseball game and named his work "Raw Deal." The judges figured it had everything but an actual voice.

SPRING CLEANING

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.— Convinced that gold is where you find it, Universal has set an added force at work under Julian Blaustein, story editor, to dust off and catalog more than 6,500 yarns stowed away in story department files, hopeful of uncovering a score or more that will serve as vehicles for future product.

Blaustein is hopeful hunt will add at least $2,000,000 to Universal assets.

Ruuds Arrive To Compete In American Ski Meets

The ski-jumping Ruud family from Norway are shown here, as they arrived in New York on their way to compete in United States ski meets. At LEFT is Birger Ruud, world jumping champion and with him is his bride, a famous skier in her own right. At RIGHT of the picture is Birger's brother, Sigmund, who already holds a national junior title in jumping. Though Birger cannot compete as an amateur under American rules he qualifies under International Ski Federation which permit ski instructors to compete against amateur skiers in open events.

Film Magnates See Selznick Staying With United Artists

Collapse Of Metro Deal At Hollywood Starts Cycle Of Ifs And Buts

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.—Hollywood is in the midst of feverish speculation as to the next move by David O. Selznick. Three best guesses are:

(1) Continue with United Artists as the dominant figure;

(2) Affiliate with RKO as production head;

(3) Head Paramount production setup.

Only thing certain is Selznick won't ruch into any deals as John Hay Whitney has taken a home here for three months, and remaining here with him is L. F. Alstock, comptroller for Selznick International.

Insiders are stringing along with the hunch Selznick will stick with UA, backed by the strong possibility that Whitney and Selznick may buy out Samuel Goldwyn and Alexander Kordas' U.A. interests, running outfit themselves. New York money, outside of Whitney, understood to be available for such a deal.

David O. Selznick's releasing deal with Metro went officially cold due to failure of parties to agree on the method of distributing films to have been produced by Selznick. Following an all-day session, a statement signed by Selznick and John Hay Whitney was handed out.

Amusing Garbling Of Popular Tune

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Way some of the small retailers in the hinterland refer to 'Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen' in their orders has become a source of much amusement for the music jobbers. One dealer wrote in for 10 copies of 'that new French song,' another spelt it out as 'Buy a Beer, Mr. Shaine' and a third polished it off as 'My Mere Bits of Shame.' But the transcribed bit that topped them all was one that came from a Pennsylvania steel town. It gave the tune as 'Mr. Barney McShane.'

LONDON HEARS

LONDON, Jan. 17—Samuel Goldwyn here is reported contemplating possible action against the Chaplin-Pickford - Fairbanks interests in United Artists, charging that their inactivity makes them a liability to the company and consequently they should not be entitled to equal shares of the company's profits.

Goldwyn will seek to force them to produce on the same scale as himself and Alexander Korda, or sell out their holdings.

JONES HAILED AS REAL FOLKS

There's a homey, quiet street in Los Angeles where members of the screen's popular Jones Family are not looked upon as movie actors but as friends and neighbors.

Jed Prouty and Spring Byington, who portray Dad and Mother Jones, know most of the residents by name. George Ernest, June Carlson and Billy Mahan, the youngsters of the family, swap school stories with the neighborhood children. Shirley Deane, Herbert Thompson and Kenneth Howell are friendly with the younger set, and Florence Roberts, who appears as Granny Jones, joins the elderly ladies of the block in their sewing circle.

This particular street was chosen by Twentieth Century-Fox several years ago to represent a section of the mythical town of Maryville in which all of the pictures in the series have taken place. One of the homes represents the Jones Family residence, a house selected for the purpose because, in architecture and general appearance, it possesses no feature characterizing it as belonging to any particular section of the United States.

During each new picture the family spends several days at this residence. Recently they completed work on their latest film, "Borrowing Trouble," which opens Sunday midnight at the Regent Theatre midnite.

The entire neighborhood gathered to watch the proceedings and during a change in scenes some of the neighbors produced some homemade cookies and lemonade. Activities ceased while an impromptu lawn party took place.

Frank R. Strayer directed "Borrowing Trouble," for which Robert Chapin and Karen De Wolf wrote the original screen play.

James Cagney Will Make Big Feature

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.—Wave of optimism swept over skeleton staff still holding the fort at Grand National studio when the transcontinental grapevine brought a report that Edward Alperson, prexy, had emerged from Wall Street confabs with a $1,000,000 treasury replenishment. Belated Christmas gift is said to have been the result of exec's turn-about from former stand against sharing board chairs with financial crowd.

James and William Cagney now holding daily sessions on lot preliminary to start of 'Angels With Dirty Faces,' star's final production for GN, on which his brother has been set as producer. Cagney then returns to Warner Bros.

Garbo Returning Scripts Are Ready

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.—Discounting reports from Stockholm that Greta Garbo may not return to this country, Salka Viertal, who is familiar with the Swedish actress' affairs, said last week that the Metro star has two pictures to make and will return here as soon as the scripts are ready.

Miss Viertal figures that Garbo will start her first picture, a light comedy to be directed by George Cukor, by early summer. Garbo is said to spend from six to nine months on her trips to the homeland and her current absence from the studio will be of approximately that duration.

LeRoy On Metro Deal In March

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.—Mervyn LeRoy has set first week of March for checking in at Metro for start of his new producer-director deal.

With final scenes for "Food For Scandal,' his final pic under his producer-director pact at Warners, completed, LeRoy has signed Bill Holmes to assist him with the cutting chore, which he hopes to complete by Feb. 1.

He plans month's vacation in Arizona before moving to Culver City.

Tough Kid On Screen Gets A-1 References

Tousled-haired Marvin Stephens has won himself the reputation of "the toughest kid in town" in his role in "Borrowing Trouble," the Jones Family's latest Twentieth Century-Fox picture, today, at the Regent Theatre.

Because of this, Associate Producer Max Golden is quick to defend his "bad boy of the screen." He will tell you that he found the youngster selling papers on a Los Angeles street corner. Recognizing in young Stephens just the type he had in mind for the Jones Family role, Golden made inquiries and learned that the boy was the sole support of his mother, a widow.

A screen test proved Marvin a "natural" for the part of tough "Tommy McGuire," the subject of Dad Jones experiment as a "Big Brother." As if Bonnie's wedding isn't enough, Tommy makes "Borrowing Trouble" the fastest, funniest screenful of trouble America's favorite folks ever stepped into.

TELLS STAR HOW TO DO THE DISHES

Even one of the ablest directors in Hollywood can't tell a woman how to wash dishes.

Director Anatole Litvak found that out. He tried to change Claudette Colbert's dishwashing technique in a scene for Warner Bros. "Tovarich," coming to the Capitol today (Monday), but Miss Colbert, usually the most amenable person in the world, stood her ground and washed them her own way.

Miss Colbert washes the dishes and Charles Boyer dries them in "Tovarich." The dishes, it may be added, are dried according to Litvak specifications, for Boyer admits he knows little about the art.

Miss Colbert doesn't hold herself up as an expert dishwasher. She admits that in the past few years she had done very little of it, on screen or off. She says she never did think much of the job, anyway, and is glad to have someone else do it for her.

But, according to the star, a woman instinctively knows the proper dishwashing technique. It comes natural to her. Men, even the experts hired by restaurants, go through a lot of lost motion. Their stance is never correct. They forget to follow through. And they know nothing about the art of rinsing which is one of the most important elements.

The dish-washing scene in "Tovarich," oddly enough is agreed to be one of the most charming sequences in the picture. You wouldn't think that one could get charm into anything connected with sinks, soiled plates and silver and cakes of soap. And ordinarily one couldn't. But ordinarily one doesn't have Miss Colbert and Mr. Boyer around a kitchen.

Kitchens would be a good deal more interesting if they came equipped with Miss Colbert and Mr. Boyer, don't you think?

Trial Reveals "Wife-Swapping"

Details of a quadrangular double-cross, involving charges of "wife-swapping," were revealed in a Salem, Mass., court, when Mrs. Edith E. Lee (upper LEFT), 27-year-old mother of a three-year-old boy, filed suit for divorce from her husband, Raymond Lee, shown in the (lower LEFT). At the same time Calvin M. Watson, 32, (lower RIGHT), filed for divorce from his wife (upper RIGHT). Lee and Mrs. Watson hurled charges of "wife-swapping" at the trial and declared they had been double-crossed by their respective mates.

Higher Prices On Home Market Forecast For Canadian Farmer In 1938—Exports To Decrease

Slight Decrease In Price Of Hogs And Cattle Is Expected

By JAMES MONTAGNES
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 17.—That farmers can continue to benefit from the higher prices of their produce in the Canadian market in 1938; that farm exports for this year from Canada will be less; that many wheat growing farmers will turn to the new rust-resistant varieties this year; that there will be a slight reduction this year on the sale price of beef cattle and hogs; these and other pertinent factors in the farm income for 1938 are contained in a detailed 73-page pamphlet "Agricultural Situation and Outlook, 1938," just released for free distribution by the Departments of Agriculture and Trade and Commerce.

The pamphlet gives the farmer a quick insight into domestic and international economic conditions as they affect agriculture. Detailed forecasts on what may happen in each branch, what has happened in the past few years and especially during the past year, will give the farmer an idea of his income for 1938, and where he should strive to sell his produce. To-day's farmers have to look beyond the horizons of their immediate neighborhood to guage their work for the year.

For Higher Prices

Within Canada farmers can expect a slight decrease in hog and beef catle prices from sheep and wool, and dairymen may expect as good returns in 1938 as last year, states the forecast. The total value of the spring wheat crop is expected to be lower than for the crops of 1936 and 1937. The income from barley is looked to decrease, while fall and durum wheat farmers will receive more money. Poultry farmers can expect little change from their 1937 income, but apple producers, except in the Annapolis Valley of Nova Scotia, will make more money because of the heavy export demand. Potato and honey crops will bring lower incomes to farmers in 1938, but tobacco producers will benefit from higher prices.

Because so many nations are now striving to self-sufficiency, grain crop exports will continue to decline as they started to in 1937, and the export of livestock and animal products which increased last year will show a slight decline in 1938, largely due to below-average feed conditions in Canada and domestic requirements remaining constant leaving less animals available for export.

Wages of farm labor which have gone up in the past few years from their depression lows, the report states, can be expected to increase this year. There is little likilhood that fertilizer prices will increase though sales are expected to be bulkier. No forecast is made on increases or decreases in farm machinery and building material prices.

The bulletin was prepared after consultation with the various provincial agricultural departments and colleges. A meeting to compile all the information obtained was held in Ottawa at the end of November attended by provincial, federal agricultural and trade department officers as well as representatives from the agricultural departments of the United States. Following this meeting the information was summarized and appears in the forecast first in summarized condition and then in detail by each commodity, so that the farmers can obtain a quick oversight into the outlook for each particular commodity in which he is interested. The function of the forecast, now in its fifth year, is to bring together all the agricultural outlook information in one publication which farmers formerly had to compile themselves from many sources.

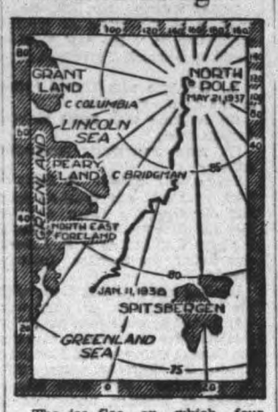
Men In Danger



The ice floe on which four Russians were left by Professor Otto Schmidt, distinguished Soviet explorer, last May 21, to make scientific observations, is slowly drifting closer to warmer waters. Originally near the North Pole, it has travelled 1,000 miles and is now in the Greenland Sea between Spitzbergen and Greenland. Although the floe is ten feet thick and about a mile and a quarter in diameter, if it should drift into a warm current such as the Gulf Stream, the four Russians would have to send an urgent SOS. The above map shows the course the floe has taken on its southern journey.

G. TULLY ELECTED CHURCH OFFICIAL

(Examiner Correspondence.)

FOWLER'S CORNERS, Jan. 17.—The annual meeting of Lakevale Presbyterian Church was held in the church on Thursday afternoon, when George Tully was elected treasurer, replacing Charles W. Rutherford, who resigned after filling this position for a number of years.

Kenneth Murray acted as chairman and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Bob McAdam. The treasurer's report by Mr. Rutherford, showed a substantial balance on hand for 1938. Various reports given and adopted included that of the auditors, by Sid Tully; Ladies' Aid Society, by the secretary, Mrs. Bob McAdam; and a resume of the year's work by the president, Mrs. George Tully. No report was received from the Mission Band.

The Board of Managers was re-elected and George Tully was also elected to the Board.

Mrs. Dave McAdam, Mrs. George Tully and Mrs. Sid Tully were appointed as a flower committee, while Bob McAdam and Melville Deyell will look after the wood supply.

It was again decided to try to build up a Sunday School and a meeting will be held in the near future to make further plans.

On motion, Ken Murray, George Tully, Bob McAdam and Melville Deyell were appointed a committee to ascertain the cost of converting the present open shed into an enclosed one, suitable for social activities.

The past year has been a successful one for the congregation and although the pulpit is now vacant because of the resignation of Rev. Robert Boyle, it is hoped a minister will be secured in the course of a month or two.

MOUNT PLEASANT

The Crokinole party sponsored by the Women's Institute on Tuesday evening, proved to be very successful, eight tables being played. Prizes were won by, Ladies first—Mrs. T. Graham, gents—Charles Spencer; consolation, ladies—Mrs. Davis, of Millbrook; gents—Alex. Lawson.

At the conclusion of the games, lunch was served by the ladies.

Argue Before Canada's Supreme Court

HON. J. L. RALSTON

W. N. TILLEY

Canada will be lining up with dictatorship countries of Europe in forsaking democracy, if the Alberta bill licensing newspapers is allowed to stand, Hon. J. L. Ralston, told the supreme court of Canada. Colonel Ralston is one of the counsel for the daily and weekly newspapers of Alberta and the chartered banks of Canada, who with W. N. Tilley, K.C., argued that the Alberta bills to impose taxes on the banks, to regulate credit institutions, and the press bill were all unconstitutional.

Three Phases Of Canadian Farming To Have Bigger Year

Three phases of Canadian farming dealt with in the crop and market forecast of the departments of agriculture and trade are illustrated here. The value of the spring wheat crop (TOP) will probably be less than last year, while a demand for good horses is expected to grow. The grower of the field of tobacco (lower LEFT), can look for better prices, while Canadian sheep flocks (RIGHT), will at least retain the volume of income from mutton and wool established in 1937.

Omemee Councillors Appoint Auditors At First Meeting

T. B. Chester And H. W. Hill Get Posts—Routine Business

(Examiner Correspondence.)

DANCE PLANNED BY MARMORA W.I.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Jan. 17. — The monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute took place on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. James Nobes. Mrs. W. C. Spry, president, was in the chair and the attendance numbered twenty-five.

Following the opening exercises the roll call was taken, members responding with "Something for which I am thankful." During general business, it was decided to put on a dance in the near future and a committee in that connection was appointed.

A splendid paper on "Home Economics" was given by Mrs. H. P. Nayler. Miss Miriam Nobes followed with a pleasing song, "That little boy of mine." Miss Dorothy Henry acting as accompanist. A reading on "Bookkeeping" was given by Mrs. Frank Grant.

After a recreational period the National Anthem was sung and a delicious lunch served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Neal and will be "Visitors' Night" with local school teachers supplying the program.

Marmora Minerals Limited Secure 13,400 Acres Along The Hastings Boundary

Veins Already Uncovered Are Continuation Of Cordova Series

Organization of Marmoral Minerals Limited, a new prospecting and mining enterprise with 13,400 acres along the Peterborough-Hastings boundary has been completed, and plans have been outlined for expanding the work which was begun last year in both the Cordova and Ackerman districts.

Among those connected with the company are Reginald Bloomfield, J. R. Rathbun, L. M. Rathbun and Reginald Pearce, members of families that have been interested for many years in various developments in southeastern Ontario.

The Rathbuns were extensively engaged in the lumber, cement, railway and allied industries with their head office and main works at Deseronto. The Bloomfield family was interested especially in mining, and one of their main holdings is the Gillen mine near Marmora which has been in the possession of the family since 1871. The Pearce family of Marmora has been prominent in lumbering and mining for years, particularly in the days of their peak activities.

During the year 1937 Marmora Minerals Limited carried on prospecting work resulting in several veins being uncovered. Among the most prominent, according to R. Bloomfield, director, are two lying southeast of the Cordova Mine. Surface work shows each to have a width of over 15 feet. One was trenched for over 400 feet, with average width of 18 feet. Encouraging values were obtained, but sufficient work has not yet been done to give definite results. Both veins are believed to be the continuation of the Cordova series. Northeast of Cordova another vein has been found, apparently a continuation of the north vein of the latter.

As is generally known, Consolidated Mining and Melting has been developing Cordova for over three years, carrying operations to a depth of over 1,000 feet. Addington Mine, also in the area, is another Smelters operation, where it was recently reported a 300-ton mill would be erected.

The Old Bloomfield property, held and operated by the Ackerman Gold Mines Ltd. is producing interesting results. A shaft has been sunk to a depth of 170 feet and a station cut at this level where drifting is proceeding to the north and south. Marmora Minerals holds 200 acres to the southeast and adjoining the Ackerman, and has obtained some good assays from showings on the south side of the lot, in a vein which appears to be a continuation of the Ackerman system.

Marmora Minerals also holds some good looking Fluorspar property, and expects to devote its first efforts in that direction owing to present important demands at good prices.

Educational films were featured at the Sample Fair in Padova, Italy.

To Retire?

Reports from Queen's Park indicate that John Miller, (ABOVE) chief inspector of the criminal investigation branch of the Ontario provincial police, will soon retire. Although officials declined to comment, it is understood that the order providing for the chief inspector's superannuation has been issued to commence in April. Inspector Miller has been engaged in police activities for about 45 years, and has spent 31 years with the provincial force.

COTTESLOE W.M.S. HAS FINE SESSION

(Examiner Correspondence.)

COTTESLOE, Jan. 17.—The W.M.S. met last week on January 12 at the home of Mrs. J. S. Kidd. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Harry Petterson took charge of the meeting, which opened with a hymn, followed by prayer.

Mrs. Kidd read the minutes followed by the roll call which was answered by fourteen ladies with a verse containing the word "service."

Mrs. Blakely then gave the Bible reading. Mrs. Freeburn gave a reading and questions from the Blue Book were answered by Mrs. B. Clysdale. Miss S. Clysdale and Mrs. Webster. Mrs. Kidd gave part of the third chapter of the Study Book. A discussion took place regarding ways of raising money for allocation. During this period Mrs. Harry Patterson was appointed delegate to the Presbyterial in Peterborough on January 25.

Arrangements were made for the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. A. Webster. Roll call is a verse with word "Cross." Miss Mae Webster to take charge of Study Book.

The meeting closed with all repeating the Mizpah Benediction and Mrs. Kidd served a very dainty lunch.

As the twig is bent

GOOD habits learned in youth are apt to stick throughout life—the daily newspaper habit for instance. Young Canada is interested in the daily newspaper almost from the time he can read, and he never outgrows the habit.

TRUE, his interests change. He graduates from the "funnies" to the features, to the sports page, the financial and world news, but the daily newspaper remains with him through life a reliable source of relaxation, information and news which influences his opinions and purchases.

AS population increases newspaper circulations grow. Today, 2,246,621 daily newspapers are read every day from coast to coast—an increase of more than 270,000 copies since 1929.

CONSEQUENTLY, the daily newspaper forms a link between the manufacturer or merchant and consumer which in its usefulness to the individual and industry alike is unparalleled by any other medium.

Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, the minister of the church, addressed the choir, stressing the importance of the choir in the service of worship, and outlining the important influence of the church in the development of music. Mr. Zufelt stated, in conclusion, his appreciation of the loyalty of the choir and expressed the hope that the standard of music in the church would remain as high in the future as in the past.

A band, composed of various members of the choir, presented two well-received selections under the baton of Mr. O. Benson. Miss G. Lancashire, a member of the band, also contributed a piano solo.

Miss Annabel Herd rendered a fine violin solo, accompanied by Mr. Potter.

Mr. Pitchford spoke briefly on methods of improving choir work. He emphasized regular attendance and careful study of the music by individual members.

J. F. Morrison, a guest of the choir, voiced the appreciation of the choir's work on behalf of the congregation.

Next, a quartet was sung, composed of Mrs. H. Wood, Miss Mary Morton, Mrs. N. Hughes and Miss Grace McCannan.

Mr. Potter, choirmaster, expressed his sincere appreciation of the loyalty of the choir and stated his gratefulness to the retiring executive for the continuous co-operation during the year.

The program was concluded with a vote of thanks to the Women's Association, moved by J. Donaldson, and a vote of thanks to the retiring executive by J. Gerrard.

Contour Coiffure Is Latest Style

Hair Fashions Are Very Individual, and Many Ornaments Are Worn, Such As Flowers, Combs, Jewels

Coiffure with curls in cluster and ornament on top of head, by Sydney

By LILIAN CAMPBELL.

WOMEN HAVE done all sorts of things with their hair. They have worn it long and flowing, or in long heavy plaits, as they did in Queen Guinevere's day; they have made it white with powder and worn it in ringlets; they have worn it in bunches of curls in their necks and twisted into chignons, as they did in Dickens' day, also tucked it into heavy nets.

And they have built it up into huge structures, powdered it, and decorated it with all manner of queer devices. They have also covered it with caps of lace and net, and otherwise played around with it.

And latterly they have cut it off, but have not been able to leave it alone even then, but have curled, waved, lacquered, and otherwise dressed it up in whatever way seemed to them most becoming.

Now, says Sydney, New York hair stylist, coiffures are extremely individual. Many ornaments, such as flowers, combs and real jewels, are worn in the hair. In fact tresses have gone pre-war, and oh, so feminine! This is the case with the coiffure at center. It is called "Turn of the Century, and is an example of the new brushed up coiffure sponsored by Sydney. On his return from Paris recently, he announced that all chic French women are brushing their hair up. The arrangement pictured brushes the hair sleekly up against the sides into a cluster of curls at the top. The curls are topped by a rather elaborate ornament.

French Twist Revived.

The "French twist" was a favorite of the nineties. It is revived today, but has a decidedly modern look. Left is an example. It also follows the new brushed up effect or "contour coiffure." Here the hair is done in a French twist in back, and is caught with a comb. On the sides and front it is brushed up smoothly, with the curls turned under in smooth rolls.

"Contour is the thing," says Sydney. The shape of the head must show. Hair must be brushed close and curls must be sculptured.

The third of these coiffures is called "Roller Coaster." It is another example of this same design for hair styling. Here the hair is brushed into a sleek roll, high on one side and graduated down behind the ear on the other side, to give the effect of an extreme swirl. A rhinestone bird set in the hair adds a chic touch.

Surgeon Guards Patients' Weal

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 10.—(CP).—A surgeon, entrusted with the responsibility of performing an operation, becomes the legal representative of the patient during the period of unconsciousness and his judgment as such must be respected, the New Jersey Supreme Court rules.

The decision was given in a suit for $50,000 instituted by Louis Hanig, of Maplewood, against Dr. Henry B. Orten for failure to continue a throat operation on his daughter, Jeanette, 18 months old.

Dr. Orten maintained in his defence that during the operation he discovered a condition of pneumonia and abandoned surgery to prevent the development of complications.

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, who wrote the court opinion, said:

"The law by implication constitutes the surgeon the representative of his patient and will cast upon him the responsibility of so acting in her interests that she shall receive the full benefit of his professional judgment and skill to which she is entitled; and this implication, which protects the surgeon while acting within its scope, places no duty upon him to perform an operation that involves risks or results of a kind not contemplated."

W.M.S. Reports Increased Givings

The semi-annual executive meeting of the Belleville Presbyterial Woman's Missionary Society met at Bridge Street Church on Thursday with an attendance of sixteen.

The president, Mrs. Haggerty, presided at the morning and afternoon sessions.

Each secretary gave reports of the year's work accomplished in her department. Optimism and an increase in givings was noted, but the question was as read: "Out of our abundance, have we denied ourselves?"

Mrs. Herrington, the treasurer, reported $5,833.36 to date, an increase over last year.

Vacancies to be filled are: President, third vice-president, temperance, finance, C.G.I.T. and Baby Band secretaries.

Plans were made for the presbyterial to be held in Grace church, Napanee Feb. 9-10.

Dr. W. R. Fletcher, president of the Presbytery, gave an inspirational address at the afternoon session, and brought greetings from the Presbytery.

Words of appreciation of the life of the late Mrs. Frank Grills of Aikens, were expressed, and it was asked that the sympathy of members of the executive be extended to the family.

needs of the world and its constantly changing condition; how to better the world should be our problem. Continuing Mrs. Carley stressed the endeavour to fit our work into present problems. The practice of a kindliness in all contacts and intercourses was pointed out as a most helpful quality for all to cultivate. As is also a willingness to forget small differences.

An interesting letter from Miss Margaret Ramsay, one of the missionaries at work in Formosa, was read by Miss Elizabeth Walker.

The program took the form of a beautiful service of prayer, praise and worship, as outlined in "The Glad Tidings" for the opening meeting of the year, and was conducted by Mrs. Barr. It was entitled "The Way of Prayer" and was so arranged that all present took part. The service was made up of a series of prayers. These were taken by Mrs. Barr, Mrs. Dutton and Miss Simpson; responses, some in unison, others by the leader only, followed by Bible readings by members, interspersed by the singing of devotional hymns.

Mrs. Johns gave an inspiring reading on "The Gift of Prayer."

In closing two verses of the hymn "Be Still My Soul, the Lord is On Thy Side" were sung and the Mizpah Benediction was pronounced in unison.

◇ ◇ ◇

W.M.S. Group Meeting.

Mrs. W. R. Parnell of Rubidge street was the hostess on Friday night to Group F. of the W.M.S. of George Street United Church. Mrs. W. Lane the leader presided while the scripture reading was taken by Mrs. A. Buck and Mrs. E. Brown led in prayer. Mrs. Lane gave a short address on "The New Year" and a violin solo "Adoration" by George Gatfield and reading "Acceptin' Me" by Gwen Parnell were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. C. Elliott gave an address on "Preparation for The Master's Work" and Mrs. W. H. Morton read a letter from Dr. Frank Murray a missionary. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Lane.

Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Parnell and her helpers while a vote of thanks to the hostess was moved by Mrs. J. Spencer and Mrs. Morton.

Women's Bible Class Elects Officers.

The annual banquet and election of officers of All Saints' Women's Bible Class was held on Friday in the ladies' parlors when about 35 members and friends enjoyed a delicious supper prepared by the convenors. The tables were very attractive with red streamers and red candles in silver holders. Reports were read showing a very successful year.

Canon Paterson took the chair for the election of officers, as follows: Hon. President, Mrs. Stevenson; President, Mrs. Spargo; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. White; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Dibbon; Secretary, Mrs. Ellis; Treas., Mrs. Webb; Flower Convenor, Miss Elliotson; Dorcas convenor, Mrs. Barrie; Social Convenors, Mrs. Blaby and Mrs. McDougall; Visiting Committee, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Justin.

Officers elected for 1938 were:—Hon. president, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt; president, Mr. William Herd; past president, Mrs. A. Huffman; vice president Mrs. A. Williams; secretary, Miss Grace McCannan; treasurer, Miss Mary Morton; librarian, Mr. A. Armstrong; social convenor, Mrs. Weldon with Mrs. Mongraw and Miss Irma Darling as assistants; gown supervisor, Mrs. H. Lewis.

St. Paul's W.M.S. Meets In Church.

The first regular meeting for 1938 of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian church was held at the church on Friday afternoon with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. T. J. Carley, occupied the chair.

Mrs. Carley spoke briefly on the work to which the society should look forward as it stands upon the threshold of another year. Referring to Mrs. Dutton, past president, Mrs. Carley said that it would be impossible to fill Mrs. Dutton's place. She knew that would not be expected of her, but it would be her desire and aim to carry forward to the best aof her ability the work begun by Mrs. Dutton. There is no standing still in the life of either an individual or an organization. In view of the great missionary

ANNOUNCEMENT
Mr. T. L. Edwards wishes to announce to the people of Peterborough and district that he has sold the meat business, located at 421 George St. to Mr. R. Naylor and Mr. Percy Webster. The new firm will operate as the Edwards Meat Market and all accounts owing Mr. Edwards may be paid here.
Mr. Edwards wishes to thank his many customers for their friendship and patronage during his many years of business in Peterborough.

COULDN'T SLEEP COULDN'T WORK
What a relief to settle down to a real night's rest, and awake fully refreshed, ready for the day's duties. I was tortured by fretful nights—tossing, turning—never comfortable. Half awake days—over-tired, driving body and mind to work when they needed rest. "Try Dodd's Kidney Pills," said a friend—"it may be your kidneys". I'm glad I followed his advice as now I'm sleeping like a top—thanks to

British Remedy for SCIATIC PAINS
There is little doubt nowadays that the best way to tackle Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatic Pains, etc., is from within. You can't rub out Uric Acid, you must rinse it out.
Fynnon Salt is an ideal internal rinse. A half teaspoonful in water makes a pleasant, non-fizzy saline, laden with Sodium, Potassium, Lithium and other remedial elements that gently rinse the system of the clogging deposits formed by Uric Acid. It is these deposits that set up those agonizing twinges of penetrating pain that rack the body and sear the soul. They'll soon go when you have cleaned the system with Fynnon Salt for a few successive mornings. There's nothing drastic about Fynnon Salt, nothing harsh or harmful. Its effect is similar to Mineral Spa water with this important advantage, that a half teaspoonful of Fynnon Salt in a glass of water is equal in medicinal value to three glasses of Spa Water. Try Fynnon Salt, the famous British remedy, for your Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatic Pains. At all drug stores, 75c a large package. If you have any difficulty getting supplies, write Laurentian Agencies, St. Gabriel Street, Montreal. 5

PROBLEMS LAID TO OVERSPENDING

the necessary revenue by means of a minimum number of taxes collected by a minimum number of agencies, preferable one," it stated.

A number of specific recommendations in that direction, including one income tax and one sales tax were advanced.

The association especially considered old age pensions and unemployment insurance among social services. It vigorously advocated reorganization of pensions on a contributory "all in" basis, following the example of the United Kingdom and Belgium where it was found the non-contributory, deserving-poor system lead to thriftlessness and fraud. A contributory system or an insurance basis would also reduce expense and stimulate self-reliance and encourage employers to institute their own pension schemes, it was suggested.

Against Jobless Insurance

The association declined to endorse unemployment insurance since it took the position that the great majority of those maintained by the state in recent years would not be eligible for benefit under such a scheme as that proposed ing qoetm.

"No insurance scheme based on actuarial lines would do more than take care for a strictly limited period of a strictly limited number of employees and these, persons normally in fairly steady work," it was argued.

Stressing the substantial part of industry played in the Canadian economy, the association submitted:

"If the earning capacity of industry is impaired by excessive taxation or insufficient tariff protection, it is difficult to see how the national income and national taxes can be maintained."

At the same time the association stated it did "not wish to exaggerate the importance of the position of manufacturing in the national economy of Canada." Its members realized it represented one group only, even though its activities did affect many others.

In its analysis of current taxation, the C.M.A. said its prime concern was that the system imposed an unnecessary burden on manufacturers in proportion to the revenue derived.

Strongest evidence of the inefficiency of the present tax system would be a list of the 193 federal and provincial statutes which provided for the taxing or licensing of Canadian industry as a whole, it was held. In addition there were 52 other statutes affecting particular industries, and 943 amendments.

Eight Income Taxes.

A company doing business across the Dominion paid eight Dominion and Provincial incomes taxes (none in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick) but each jurisdiction proceeded generally without reference to requirements in the others, it was stated. For instance, the Dominion or Provinces (except Manitoba) made no allowance as an expense of doing business for income tax paid in other jurisdictions.

"It is obvious there is less reciprocity between the Dominion and the provinces in this regard than between Canada and, for example, the United States," the C.M.A. contended.

The inconvenience and expense of "tax compliance" under such a complex system was suggested in the fact a company operating in all provinces was required to file 40 annual returns on various phases of its business and five monthly returns, or about 100 returns a year. Differences in fiscal periods, filing dates, definitions of terms and determination of taxable income aggravated the situation.

Result was that the work of preparing returns and settling tax liabilities with the various authorities required the equivalent of the full time of 12 employees, as well as part time of executives, of a nationally-operating company.

Much Could Be Cut Out

Much of that labor and expense would be eliminated, the C.M.A. suggested, if an arrangement were adopted similar to that made between the Dominion and Ontario last year, in which a single return for personal income taxes served for both jurisdictions.

Complaint was levelled at the variance of determining taxable capital in Ontario and Quebec, result being that some companies were taxed on 150 to 180 per cent of their capital in the two provinces. In Quebec, too, no allowance was made for capital invested by a company in other companies doing business in that provinces, so that that portion of capital was taxed twice.

Complaint was levelled, too, at that taxation which the association contended created discrimination between groups of manufacturers. The association cited New Brunswick's Corporation Tax Act which imposes a tax on gross sales of companies with head offices outside that province or companies importing goods from outside the province.

Violation Of The Act.

"This," the association submitted, "is tantamount to the creation of a provincial tariff and is a violation of the spirit and, indeed, the letter, of Section 121 of the British North America Act which provides that articles of the growth, produce or manufacture of any one of the provinces shall be admitted free into each of the other provinces."

British Columbia's fuel oil tax was similarly cited, since it left coal, a competitive product, untaxed Ontario's tax on capital and income of corporations was held to give corporations from outside the province an advantage, since they were taxed only on the proportion of Ontario sales to total sales, while Ontario companies paid on total income and capital, with "very limited" deductions.

The association strongly protested the growing tendency to delegate legislative power over fees and regulations to Department officials. "The custom of delegation of such powers can be abused and in fact has been, and is increasingly being, abused in Canada," it asserted.

"However far a Legislature may desire to go in delegating to executive or departmental authority the power to say how a tax is to be collected, it is unsound and improper to delegate the power to say how much is to be collected," the association submitted.

"It is not too much to say that when this latter power is delegated to executive or departmental authority, the result is a manifest violation of the principle of no taxation without representation."

Alberta's licensing of trade and Businesses Act of 1937 specified neither the rate, basis of fees, nor businesses to be licensed and gave the power to refuse a license if the Minister of Trade and Industry thought it in the public interest. The association doubted if another act of any British Legislature went so far in delegating to an official "the right to deprive the citizen of his liberties."

Fees Become Real Taxes.

In their quest for new revenues, a tendency was noted on the part of the provinces to increase license fees to such proportions that they became substantial taxes, while the association contended a licensing statute should be merely regulatory and not revenue-producing.

"The provinces have used the licensing power granted them by Section 92 of the British North America Act as a taxing power and under the guise of licenses have in fact imposed taxation which leading constitutional authorities agree in regarding as indirect and unconstitutional," it was argued.

Taking the matter to the courts was held ineffective because as soon as one tax was disposed of there, a similar one was imposed in slightly different form, so that litigation was apt to be continuous.

Alberta's fuel oil tax, New Brunswick's gasoline sales act, Nova Scotia's gasoline licensing tax and Alberta's licensing of flour mills and packing plants were listed as examples.

Lack of finality in settlement of tax liability was another source of protest. The association felt that in the absence of fraud in tax returns, finality as to the taxpayer's liability should be ecognized in two years, whereas now a government audit two or three years later might reveal an error and the taxpayer be forced to pay a penalty and interest covering that period.

Apart from the question of finality, taxing authorities ban on parallel lines which never met, as far as auditing and inspection were concerned, the association continued.

Seven Auditors At One Time

"One company recently had seven auditors in its offices at the same time—one Dominion and six provincial," it said. "It is submitted that from the point of view both of efficiency and economy this amounts almost to a reductio ad absurdum."

The association was equally opposed to a tendency to amend taxation statutes with retroactive effect, since it resulted "almost invariably" in uncertainty and injustice.

In summary, it urged one income tax on all business concerns imposed by the Dominion, with the provinces sharing according to proportion of total sales. In the alternative, the association urged standardization and co-ordination of Dominion and provincial income taxes so only one annual return, one collection agency and one audit was required, each provinces retaining the right to fix its own rate of taxation. It urged similar co-ordination regarding taxes on capital, if such were to be imposed.

Because the sales tax had provided the government with $112,000,000 last year, the association warned against assuming this was accomplished without causing hardship to consumers and business, although it realized successive governments had reduced the rate whenever they could.

An Added Overhead.

The tax increased administrative overhead by making the manufacturer a tax collector, it was claimed. The Canadian manufacturer had to bear this cost of collection, where foreign manufacturers had the tax collected by the Government, causing discrimination.

The association advocated that the sales tax be imposed only by the Dominion, not by provinces or municipalities. It advocated exemption of articles or material used in the manufacture of taxable goods to avoid pyramiding taxes.

"As the financial situation improves, the rate of sales tax should be reduced gradually," the C.M.A. said, "and when the revenue requirements of the Dominion will permit, this type of taxation should be discontinued."

If the customs tariff were abolished, the Government would first have to look elsewhere for the $83,000,000 collected there last year. The ultimate effect on Canadian industry and the quarter of the population directly dependent on it would be grave, it was submitted.

The association said it was "encouraging" to note that the Manitoba and Saskatchewan Governments in their presentations before the Commission did not suggest "to any extent that the system of national protection should be abolished or changed in any important degree." The Association concurred in their view that parts of the country did not benefit as much as others from industrial systems and some compensation should be provided.

In view of the promise of unemployment insurance and the prospect of health insurance, the association wondered "where the money was coming from" to pay the Government's share. It pointed out that taxes came out of surpluses or capital. If too large a proportion of surpluses were taken in taxation, the result was serious. If capital had to be tapped, "the ultimate effect will be disastrous."

National Basis Essential.

If there was to be unemployment insurance and health insurance, the association held they should be on a national basis. Unemployment insurance would cost between $100,000,000 and $165,000,000 annually, it was estimated.

The association contended an actuarial scheme would not benefit most of those requiring aid now, so some scheme for dealing with them should be devised before an insurance scheme was worked out, otherwise there would be danger of political pressure forcing extension of the insurance scheme to cover classes it was never intended, and would be quite unable to provide for," it added.

"The fact of the matter is that an unemployment insurance scheme along the lines of the 1935 legislation so far from solving the unemployment and relief problem, is in substance nothing more or less than a thrift or savings scheme for the benefit of a limited class of workers who normally enjoy steady employment but from time to time find themselves unemployed," the association submitted.

It urged most careful consideration before the Dominion assumed "so substantial an additional burden."

Fear For His Life

In an effort "to prove that the soul is above the needs of material life," the Rev. Israel Harding Noe, (ABOVE) 46-year-old dean of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral at St. Memphis, Tenn., has been fasting for 13 months. Now friends fear for his life.

ST. HENRI VOTERS AT POLLS TODAY

on behalf of J. A. Bonnier, official Liberal candidate.

Voters found two "dead" names on the ballot paper to-day. Five candidates were nomiated a week ago and their names were printed on the ballots. Victor Lacombe, Labor Liberal, withdrew Friday, and last night C. O. Bousquet, Independent Liberal, stepped down and asked support of the Government nominee. O. L. Gingras, Independent Liberal, remains in the fight with Houde and Bonnier.

Houde's Charges.

Houde challenged Premier King to name the country he found it necessary to arm against. The premier, he said, was a "militarist in disguise," and planned to drag Canada into another war, perhaps within two years.

The former mayor of Montreal and onetime provincial Conservative leader charged the government was in possession of secret documents embodying recommendations for organization of six artillery divisions, two more than Canada organized in the last war. The government was committed to join with the empire in any war the commonwealth of British nations took part in, he said.

The two cabinet ministers declared the appropriations for national defence necessary to modernize the militia, to buy modern airplanes, to mechanize the army and to improve defences and harbors in British Columbia and Nova Scotia. The government planned no foreign wars for Canada, they said. National defences were as essential to a nation as a police force is necessary for a community.

The 249 polls opened for voting at 8 a.m. E.S.T. and will close at 6 p.m.

Had Indigestion Gas and Pains In Stomach and Bowels

The process of digestion depends largely on the condition of the stomach, and when it is unable to do its work properly there will be a rising and souring of food, a gnawing and burning sensation in the stomach, belching and pressure of gas, flatulency, etc.

Burdock Blood Bitters starts an increased flow of gastric juice so essential for the proper digestion of food.

Miss M. C. Weiss, Mapova, Alta., writes:—"For a long time I was troubled with indigestion. My stomach would not digest my food, and I would have gas pressure and sour stuff coming up in my mouth.

I used Burdock Blood Bitters, and after taking one bottle I felt a change for the better, so I decided to keep on, and after the third bottle I could eat anything and not be bothered with the rising and souring of my food."

Anglo-Irish Parley Ends Tomorrow With No Decision

Experts Will Review Case on Their Home Grounds, Report to Governments, Then Resume Conference

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(CP Cable)—The Anglo-Irish talks will end tomorrow without an agreement but also without a breakdown it was indicated today.

Prime Minister Eamon De Valera and his Irish colleagues, who opened conversations yesterday with Prime Minister Chamberlain and other British government officials, will return to Dublin either tomorrow night or Thursday morning.

British and Irish experts, on their home grounds, will immediately examine the possibility of reaching an agreement covering trade, defence, and the economic war which grew from the troublous question of land annuities.

Each set of experts then will report to its government. When this examination is completed, further talks between the London and Dublin governments will be resumed. A date for the resumption of the conversations has not been set.

LABOR FEDERATION UPHOLDS CANADA'S DEFENCE SCHEME

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—(CP).—Approval of the Government's defence plans came to-day from the Canadian Federation of Labor whose officers submitted their legislative recommendations to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues.

"Recognizing the utter inadequacy of Canada's present defences to protect the country against foreign military aggression and believing our democratic institutions are worth preserving," the submission declared, "the Federation urged upon the government the desirability of an extensive program of defence by air, land and water, on a voluntary basis of recruitment."

The Federation further recommended "an investiagtion of the possibility of an Anglo-American defensive alliance to consist of an extension to the other English-speaking nation the mutual-assistance understanding which exists under the British Commonwealth."

Numerous recommendations were made for legislation designed to advance the interests of the workers and in particular to restrict activities of foreign labor unions in the Dominion, coupled with greater encouragement to purely Canadian organizations.

Included in suggestions for control and regulation of transportations systems the Federation urged the government "substitute complete co-ordination of the railway systems under strict government regulations, for the piecemeal co-operation which has proved inadequate to solve the problem."

Co-operation the Key.

The Federation expressed belief entire banishment of unemployment and want would be effected and declared there was "abundant evidence the solution of Canada's two major problems, unemployment and under-population, is to be found in the co-operative organization of production and distribution."

Protests against the activities of foregn labor unions in Canada, made in previous submissions to the Government, were repeated today, especially with respect to insurance privileges enjoyed by foreign unions operating in the Dominion.

Large numbers of Canadian workers, it was stated, "are prevented by main force from banding together as they might choose and are dragooned into organizations whose activities they cannot hope to direct." Canadian unions had

REEVE McDONALD IS NEW WARDEN

Opposed only by Reeve John McColl of Asphodel, Reeve E. N. McDonald of Dummer Township was elected Warden of Peterborough County for 1938 when County Council opened their January sessions this afternoon. The vote for the Dummer candidate was 11 out of 14.

An anticipated battle for the honor of the chair failed to materialize when Reeve James Milby of North Monaghan declined nomination in favor of Mr. McDonald, who is a former member of the Ontario Legislature for Peterborough East.

Reeve William Griffith of Belmont and Russell Thompson of Norwood moved and seconded Mr. McDonald's nomination.

Mr. McDonald has served as Reeve of Dummer for the years 1932, 1935, 1936, and 1937. He was returned by election for 1938 and succeeded Reeve Roy Brown of Burleigh to the Wardenship.

The defeated candidate, Reeve McColl, was first to tender congratulations to Mr. McDonald as E. A. Peck K.C., county solicitor, administered the oath of office and clothed Mr. McDonald with the Warden's gown.

FIRE which destroyed the College of the Sacred Heart at St. Hyacinthe today with undetermined loss of life was added to a long list of disastrous blazes in Quebec.

Other fire disasters in the last 50 years include:

May 16, 1889—Quebec, many homes in St. Sauveur district destroyed with unrecorded death toll.

May 16, 1890—Montreal, Longue Point asylum, more than 100 killed.

Feb. 26, 1907—Montreal, Hochelaga school, 16 scholars and one teacher killed.

Feb. 14, 1918—Montreal, Gray Nuns' Orphanage, 64 children killed.

Feb. 21, 1919—St. Jovite, several homes destroyed, 11 killed.

Aug. 15, 1922—Shawbridge, Jewish Boys Orphanage, 10 killed.

Jan. 9, 1927—Montreal, Laurier Palace Theatre, 77 children killed.

Dec. 14, 1927 — Quebec, St. Charles Convent, 33 children killed.

June 17, 1932—Montreal, fire following explosion on oil tanker Cymbline killed 30.

Killed In Duel

Mrs. Edith M. Cummings, LEFT, Detroit real estate operator was slain in a snow-swept field near Detroit in a duel with Mrs. Julia Barker, her partner in many realty deals. Both were under indictment for a huge Kentucky land swindle. According to police, Mrs. Barker, RIGHT, has admitted the fatal shooting.

Police And Fugitives Frozen In Chase

Pair Lead Mounties, Provincials and Farmers 15-Mile Cross-Country Run After 70 m.p.h. Race

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 18—Culminating a 70-mile-an-hour chase over snowswept roads and six-foot snow-covered fields, two men, said to be Gerard Lemieux of Montreal and Jerome Mitchell of London, were arrested by a mixed posse of Provincial, city, Mounted Police and farmers near here yesterday afternoon.

Both men are alleged to have stolen a car from Kingston Monday morning and headed west. Lemieux, police hinted, is wanted elsewhere for other charges.

Mitchell, who lost a shoe when abandoning the car near the Canadian Pacific Railway crossing north of Shannonville, tramped 15 miles through snow-covered fields with one bare foot before giving up the chase. He was taken to the Belleville General Hospital, where amputation of his foot is thought likely. Lemieux suffered a pair of frozen ears and a deep gash on one leg when he fell on the railway right of way.

Police Nipped by Frost.

Police suffered minor frost bites, nipped ears and toes when chasing the pair for 15 miles through snow up to their waists. None, however, went to the hospital for treatment.

"We were within 50 feet of them, but could not reach the pair," Provincial Traffic Officer Ervine said. "The snow was so deep we were in it up to our waists."

Police threw off heavy leather coats to aid them in the chase. The pair were chased over fields, under fences, one policeman tearing his pants on the fence, over two railway crossings, and across two full country concessions.

Receiving a phone call from the Kingston police, Detective Fred Isard and Traffic Officer Sam Ervine lay in wait for the car at the entrance to the city. The car was chased to the main intersection, where the pair eluded the police, doubling back on their tracks.

Touch 70 Miles.

Police chased the car as far as the Canadian National crossing on the Roslyn Road, north of Shannonville, the speed often exceeding 70 miles per hour, both cars careening and skidding over the drift-covered highway. At the railway crossing, the thieves abandoned the car and struck along the railway on foot.

Commandeering a hand-car, Ervine and Isard took after the pair, stopping only long enough to phone for police. Leaving the railway right of way, the pair struck out through the fields. They were finally captured on the Second Concession of Thurlow Township, five miles northeast of Belleville.

119,431 FULLY ABLE TO WORK REPORTED UPON RELIEF LISTS

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 (CP). — The National Employment Commission reported today that 119,431 fully employable persons of both sexes received direct relief during October, 1937, to which the Dominion Government contributed.

This is exclusive of farm resident operators and their dependents who received agricultural aid and compared with 115,246 in September, 1937, and 214,271 in October, 1936.

Quebec had the most employables receiving direct relief in October last year, the survey shows, with 37,193 persons. Ontario was next with 36,612.

Numbers for other provinces were: Prince Edward Island, 107; Nova Scotia, 1,927; Manitoba, 12,104; Saskatchewan, 12,021; Alberta, 8,742; British Columbia, 10,729. There was no registration in New Brunswick.

Number of persons receiving agricultural aid or direct relief in October, 1937, totalled 803,888, compared with 752,714 in September, 1937, and 1,008,796 in October, 1936.

JAPAN'S ENVOY ORDERED HOME FROM SHANGHAI

Ignore Kai-Shek Regime; No Declaration of War

TOKYO, Jan. 18 (AP).—The Japanese Government today instructed its Ambassador to China to return home from Shanghai and reiterated its determination to have no further dealings with the Chinese government of Chiang Kai-Shek.

The repudiation, explained Akira Kazami, chief secretary to the Cabinet, was stronger than a declaration of war. Such a declaration would mean recognition of Chiang Kai-Shek's regime as the government of China, he said. But Japan today considers it only a local regime. Hence there will be no declaration of war.

Indications strengthened that Tokyo eventually will recognize the Peiping regime, created under protection of the Japanese army, as the government of China.

Shigeru Kawagoe, who has been the Japanese envoy since August, 1936, was instructed to return to Japan immediately.

At the same time it was learned that Hsu Shi-Ying, Chinese Ambassador to Japan, would leave Yokohama tomorrow aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia for China.

Severance of diplomatic relations between Tokyo and the Chinese National Government had been expected for several days, and was considered a foregone conclusion after Tokyo's announcement on Sunday that henceforth it would refuse to recognize the Chiang Kai-Shek regime in China.

JAPS ARE HALTED ON TWO FRONTS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Chinese counter-thrusts put Japanese forces on the defensive today in two important zones of their widespread warfare—along the Tientsin-Pukow railway north of Nanking and in the Hangchow area, 125 miles southwest of Shanghai. Japanese sources admitted they had been forced into defensive positions in those areas.

Strong Chinese units approximately 30 miles north of Nanking were attempting to cut the Tientsin-Pukow line behind a Japanese column which had advanced from the conquered Chinese capital as part of a two-way threat against Suchow, key junction on the Lunghai railway, China's east-west lifeline.

Previous Chinese counter-attacks had slowed Japanese advancing down the Tientsin-Pukow railway from Tsinan, Shantung province capital.

Chinese told of additional successes in South Shantung today. They asserted that Tsining, 120 miles south of Tsinan, was "entirely in our hands," and that "a decisive battle is imminent."

Committee Places $4,000 In Estimates

Prospect of an official visit by the Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, next summer accounts partly for an increase in the estimates of the Reception and Claims Committee of the Council recommended on Monday night at $4,000.

Claims cost the city $2,750 and reception accounts were $460, a total expenditure of $3,210. Alderman Huycke's committee decided to invite the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, Hon. A. E. Matthews, to Peterborough for the winter sports early in February; and the likelihood of the two events requiring official receptions prompted the committee to ask for an increase in its appropriation.

Leaping Flames Block Search Of Debris For 12 Hours After Fire Traps 111 Asleep

Friar among Dead, 5 Others, 16 Students in Hospital After 15 Lines of Hose Fail to Check Inferno

By D. E. Burritt (Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Jan. 18—(CP)—Eight persons were known dead and twenty-two were missing today after a sudden fire had levelled the four-storey Sacred Heart College in a swift outbreak that found more than 100 occupants in their sleep.

Hours after the start of the early morning conflagration, while estimates of the missing still ran between 15 and 25, four bodies lay in St. Hyacinthe's morgue and hospital, and the body of a fifth victim could be seen in the still-hot debris of the red brick building.

Held at bay by flames still leaping from the collapsed debris, firemen could not enter for the body they saw nor start the grim hunt for others of the 81 pupils and 30 teaching brothers who might have been trapped in the remnants of the 37-year-old school on St. Hyacinthe's outskirts.

How many more lay dead in the twisted timber and metal was still unknown definitely this afternoon, almost 12 hours after the fire raged through dormitories of sleeping youths and religious friars. Terror and confusion in the wake of the flames separated the school's occupants and made the checkup laborious.

Name Only 17 Missing

College authorities supplied the names of 17 missing, but it was not known whether these made up the full list of those not accounted for. Twenty-one others had been taken to hospital, with burns, or broken bones or other injuries suffered as they scrambled for fire-blocked exits or leaped three and four stories to frozen ground.

The condition of four of those taken to hospital was described by the doctors as serious.

Dead in the hospital lay 64-year-old Brother Jean Baptiste, a native of Sherbrooke, Que. The elderly friar, tranped on an upper floor with the roof's collapse imminent, had jumped. One leg crushed, he died as he reached the hospital.

In hospital were 16 students and five brothers. Four of the 21 were reported in serious condition, either from injuries suffered in jumping to safety or from exposure.

Origin Proves a Mystery

The fire's origin, then, was still unknown. It had struck without warning, and apparently had been raging a half hour or more when a man going home from work saw the glare of flame against the night sky at 1.50 a.m.

The top floor of the big, rambling building on the outskirts of this town 35 miles east of Montreal was ablaze. And most of the college's occupants were quartered on the top storey, in big dormitories.

Once the people of the college had been warned, alarm was spread into town, and soon scores of St. Hyacinthe's 14,000 people were centering on the conflagration. Fire trucks and ambulances roared up through the snow.

As the students and their teachers poured out of the blazing structure, the firemen and townsfolk lent them what aid they could. Many contributed overcoats and blankets to the half-naked fire victims.

The Roof Tumbles In

The flames ate swiftly through the wooden interior work of the institution. First to go was the roof. In an inferno of sparks and flung timber, it collapsed upon the weakening dormitory floor.

No one knew whether anyone still was trapped on the top floor at the time.

Successively, one floor after another, from the top down, followed the roof in collapse. A few hours after the fire's discovery, the roof and four floors lay crushed together upon the basement floor.

Only the walls of the building stood, their tortured brick gaping in spots where the heat had popped sizzling seg-

2 BABY BROTHERS PERISH IN FLAMES. PARENTS ABSENT

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 18—(CP)—Two children were burned to death today when fire destroyed the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Woodiwiss. The children were Martin, three, and his two-year-old brother James.

The children's mother was not in the house when the fire started, having gone to a neighbor's home to obtain aid in thawing out frozen water pipes. Origin of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Firemen found the charred bodies of the children lying side by side.

In side of the frame house was ablaze, when Mrs. Woodiwiss returned. Several times she and firemen attempted to enter the house to get to the trapped children but each time they were driven back.

Firemen concentrated on keeping the fire, of unknown origin, from spreading but the flames ate through the frame dwelling and razed a neighbor's home as well.

Told to Stay at Window.

Mrs. Woodiwiss, away from the house less than five minutes, left the children at the window. "I told them to stay there until I got back and that I would be away only a couple of minutes," she said. "The last I saw of them they were both at the window and I waved back at them. When I went to return the house was in flames."

Alberta Couvillon, whose home was destroyed by the fire, rushed from his house when he noticed the flames and saw one of the

9,000 Television Sets Already Working In England

Disrobes, Burns Suit Thought Insane

Innsbruck, Austria, Jan. 18.

A MIDDLE-AGED and well-dressed man strolled into the town square today, stood watching the crowds a moment, then tore off his clothes, poured gasoline on them and set fire to the bundle. He lit a cigaret and stood nonchalantly naked watching the blaze. A policeman ran up with a cloak, arrested him. He was "suspected" of being insane.

Broadcast Of Game "Shove Ha'penny" Shows Nation 2 Years Ahead of World

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(CP).—The British Broadcasting Corporation presented a game of "shove ha'penny" on its television program recently and received the best burst of publicity they've had in a long while.

Television is a flourishing business in England already. Despite the fact most references to it are still phrased in the future tense. Certainly it is the key to all entertainment of the future. And England is further ahead with the science than any other country, although the United States and Germany are taking an increasing interest, and Italy plans propaganda films over the air.

A game of "shove ha'penny," however, had the common touch that makes news. For it is one of the indoor sports of England's pubs even if it doesn't gain a "blue" at Oxford. It can be played on any flat surface and the object is to knuckle or otherwise propel a ha'penny with enough force and accuracy to bump an opponent's coin over a given line.

The reaction was spontaneous. "Shove ha'penny" over the television? Why that picture broadcasting must be getting somewhere!" Whereupon a good many newspapermen examined statistics and besieged B.B.C. to find out just how good television really was.

520 Women Of 521, Like Men Bosses; Expert Blames It All On Jealousy

Hamilton, N.Y., Jan. 18 (AP)

DR. DONALD A. LAIRD, Colgate University psychologist, asked 521 women whether they preferred men or women bosses, and he doesn't believe the answers of 520 of them made.

The 520, all but one of those asked, unanimously liked men bosses, and with this Dr. Laird agrees. But he says they gave the wrong reasons.

The reasons: It's easier to be dictated by a man—women let personal things creep into work—men don't get angry telling you about errors—women bosses are jealous—women bosses are efficiency slaves—men don't scream at you—women find fault more—women bosses do old-maid thinking, that is too much detail.

Proof that these are the wrong reasons, said Dr. Laird, is the one-sidedness of the 520-1 vote. That, he explains, means that feelings colored the replies.

Psychoanalysis furnishes the true answer, he holds. It goes back to the subconscious antagonism which psychoanalysis says girls have for their mothers. A girl secretly is jealous of her mother.

Women, Dr. Laird concludes, are capable bosses.

Lindsay Crown Attorney Warns Punch Boards Illegal

Double Infraction Of Law — Merchants Pay $2.30 For Them And Clear $12.70

LINDSAY, Jan. 18.—Condemning punch boards as contrary to two sections of the Criminal Code of Canada and issuing a warning to the people of Victoria County in this regard, Crown Attorney J. E. Anderson, K.C., asked the press yesterday to convey his warning to the people of the country.

"My information is," Crown Attorney Anderson said, "that punch boards are imported from the United States and are distributed here for 80 cents apiece to local dealers. By local I mean county storekeepers, etc. There are 300 punches on every board and they sell for five cents each. The prizes are three cheap pound boxes of candy at 25 cents and one three-pound box at 75 cents. The dealer's outlay is $2.30 and he gets $15. Therefore a profit of $12.70.

This is one side of the question. The store owner and small merchant who has these punch boards is the one who will get hurt if there is court action. The distributor won't be hurt, he gets his 80 cents and the storekeeper owns the boards. In this way the seizure of slot machines is different from punch boards because the seizure of machines hurts the distributor.

Double Infraction.

"The operation of punch boards is a double infraction of the Criminal Code. Under Section 236, the opera-

Hobo King Explains Jungle Talk

St. Louis, Jan. 18

TO the layman, such terms as jungle buzzards, ringtail monkeys and fuzzytails are vague. But to Jeff Davis, King of the Hoboes of America, Inc., those words have definite meanings.

"A jungle buzzard," King Jeff explained, "is a guy you meet on the road who eats up the food and won't try to get it. He won't help fix the fire, or get water, or anything.

"A ringtail monkey is just a plain smart alec, and a fuzzytail is a guy who always has his feathers ruffled. He wants to start arguments, and makes a nuisance of himself."

Fish Strike Ends In Halifax

HALIFAX, Jan. 18—(CP).—Members of the Halifax Fish Handlers' and Cutters' Union were to troop back to their jobs to-day at the plant of the Maritime-National Fish, Limited, after a 10-day strike settled by government intervention.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia announced the settlement last night after a conference with the Halifax Trades and Labor Council executive and union representatives, followed by agreement of company heads to proposals outlined at the meeting.

Increase In Rentals Leads Parade Of Slowly Rising Prices

Ottawa, Jan. 18.

THE Dominion Bureau of Statistic today reported its cost of living index for December was 84.3 against 84.2 in November and 81.8 for December 1936.

A retail prices index for foods rose from 78.8 to 79.1, gains for butter, eggs, onions and canned salmon being of more consequence than a lengthier list of declines which included lard, beans, canned vegetables, finnan haddie and most meats. Moderate increases for coal, coke and wood caused the fuel index to rise from 85.7 in November to 86.1 in December. The clothing index at 73.3 against 71.6 in December was slightly higher mainly owing to advances in woollenready-to-wear garments.

The rent index was 89.0 against 84.9 while the sundries index stood at 93.9 compared to 93.8.

SAW NO NEGLECT OF OSHAWA BABY DOCTOR TESTIFIES

OSHAWA, Jan. 18 (C.P.).—Magistrate Frank S. Ebbs reserved decision late yesterday following an all-day hearing in which Arthur and Irene Wood were charged with failing to provide the necessities of life for their six-months-old baby, Barbara Ann Wood.

"I did not see any neglect on the part of the parents,' Dr. J. Archer Brown, family physician, told the court. "The child was always clean, the clothing was clean, and the basket in which the baby slept was clean."

Dr. Brown added that it would be difficult to expect the Wood child to gain at the same rate as a normal child, since it was considerably under weight at birth.

Cross-examined by the Crown, Dr. Brown agreed care given the child in hospital should make a difference in the child's condition, as the mother, with six other children in the home, had her hands full. Dr. Brown attended the infant from the time it was born until October, and at times used his own money to buy special food for her.

Five Cents a Meal.

"A mother allowed 5 cents a meal while on relief would not be overnourished?" Frank Regan, defence counsel, asked.

"Hardly," Dr. Brown replied.

"Do you think 5 cents a meal is enough?" Mr. Regan asked J. C. McGill, relief administrator for Oshawa.

'I don't think I should have to answer that question. It is not up to me to question the Government relief standards," McGill said.

Miss Isobel Chapelle, public health nurse, stated she made four visits to the home and saw no neglect on the mother's part.

"The law says an employer must pay $12.50 a week to an employee, yet here we find nine people living on relief on $9.62 per week," Regan said. "Then we are told in this court to-day that the relief is adequate."

"A beneficent city and province provided twenty-six free visits for this child during the time the parents were on relief," Crown Attorney Annis claimed. "But as soon as the father gets a job earing good money the medical attention suddenly ceased.

"From November 1 to January 14 this father earned $383.71, but could not afford money for medical attention for this little child. He had money to buy a chesterfield suite, a dining-room suite, but still there was no money for the baby. On December 27 the child was found in pitiable condition. The child could have been taken to the hospital at any time, but the parents failed to take enough interest in it."

OFFICERS NAMED BY HAVELOCK W.A.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 18—The annual meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held in the church basement on Tuesday January 12. All convenors of standing committees gave splendid reports and the treasury showed a substantial balance to commence the new year.

Rev. S. A. Kemp presided at the election of officers for 1938, as follows: President, Mrs. Chs. Roberts; 1st vice-president, Mrs. R. Russell; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. A. Anderson; secretary, Mrs. Clare Price; corresponding secretary, Miss M. Seeney; treasurer, Mrs. Rae Williams; pianist, Mrs. Robert McCutcheon; floral and Xmas cheer convenor, Miss M. Williams; devotional convenor, Mrs. S. A. Kemp; auditors, Mrs. George Chiles and Miss M. Seeney.

FISHING BOOMS

BEAVERTON, Ont., Jan. 18. — (CP)—This village's main winter industry for the majority of its residents—fishing through the ice—is booming. In two days last week the fishermen took more than 400 pounds of white fish and lake trout from Lake Simcoe.

Upholds Evolution

After nearly 14 years of study, a commission under the chairmanship of Archbishop of York, above has issued a 242-page report upholding the right of modernists to believe the world and all its creatures are products of a process of evolution. The Biblical account of the creation of the world provides "no objection" to such theories, said the report. The report is described by church leaders as the most important Anglican document in nearly 400 years.

BONNIER DEFEATS HOUDE DECISIVELY IN ST. HENRI RIDING

MONTREAL, Jan. 18. — (C. P.)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King and the Liberal administration deduced public support of their national defence policies to-day from the ballots of the electorate of St. Henri division, Montreal factory and shop district which spreads along the Lachine canal.

Concluding a brief, lively Federal by-election campaign, fought mainly along lines drawn up by the government's stand on defences, J. A. Bonnier retained the House of Commons seat for the Liberals yesterday over fiery Camillien Houde, former Quebec Conservative leader who fought as an Independent on an anti-armaments platform.

Bonnier polled an unofficial total of 16,462 votes to 11,949 for Houde, and 325 for O. L. Gingras, Independent Liberal whose part in the battles were quiet.

Bonnier, an undertaker and city alderman, succeeds Paul Mercier, recently elevated to the judiciary, whose margin over the Conservative candidate in 1926 was 21,561 to 4,871.

The victory "affords renewed evidence of approval by the electorate of the policies of the present Liberal administration," Mr. Mackenzie King said in Ottawa last night. It revealed, he said, "a reassuring determination on the part of the people to pursue those courses which will strengthen the foundations of unity, provide adequate additional defence and, through enlarged opportunity of world trades ensure an increasing measure of national prosperity."

Regarded as a test of strength, government retention of the riding heightened rumors that two of three members of the House would be elevated to the Senate.

SOCIALISTS HEDGE ON CHAUTEMPS

PARIS, July 18 (AP).—A sharply divided French Socialist party refused today to grant Camille Chautemps a clear-cut pledge of support with which he could form speedily a new and modified popular front government.

The Socialists, in angry, night-long council instructed their members in parliament to "act in accord with other members of the popular front"—constituted in the past by Socialists, Communists and Chautemps' Radical Socialists with an elaborate program of social reform.

Leaders refused to predict whether this stand would permit Chautemps to establish a government, but there were some who felt he might endeavor to form a Cabinet composed entirely of Radical-Socialists.

The Socialists did not make provision for participation in a new Cabinet headed by Chautemps, who resigned last Friday when he lost the backing of Socialists and Communists on the issues of a Conservative financial policy and an end to labor unrest, marked by widespread strikes.

A Socialist party official said the council's vote to act with other members of the popular front "would permit eventual Socialist support of a Cabinet formed by Chautemps, but not participation in it."

Leaping Flames Block Search Of Debris For 12 Hours

ments out into the smoke-blackened snow. Flame was consuming everything else within the college's main building and the annex that was added on in 1916.

Firemen pouring water into the wreckage through 15 hose lines could not stem the fire's progress. At noon, the debris was still ablaze, and a torrent of thick, acrid smoke was gushing out of the destroyed school.

Up to then, the firemen had not been able to get into the building to begin the search for bodies. Members of the fire department said "it might be hours" before they would be able to start searching as the embers cooled.

In St. Hyacinthe's big, modern hospital, only a few steps away from the college, youngsters huddled three and four in a room as doctors were about bandaging them, setting broken bones and treating burns. Many had fractured legs and arms; some, faces burned, were bandaged so that only their eyes showed.

Moans of the injured echoed through the corridors. Some of the victims were crying.

Survivor Tells His Story

Eighteen-year-old Robert Dionne, with a fractured leg in splints, told how he had jumped from the fourth storey of the school. Between twinges of pain, he related he had been awakened by someone yelling "fire, fire!"

I jumped out of my bed and everybody was running around. Already the smoke had filled our dormitory, on the fourth floor of building. The building seemed to be shaking, but it may have been the fire reels. I could hear them outside.

I dashed to one door but the smoke was so thick I had to turn back. The other fellows were running around, too, shouting and yelling. We could hear them in the dormitory next to ours. We have two dormitories on each of the fourth and fifth floors, and there must have been at least 25 pupils in each of them.

The fire, I guessed, had been burning for some time because everywhere I ran the smoke was becoming thicker and thicker. The beds were all upset in the dormitory and no one seemed to be able to find his way round.

Finds Window.

"I groped in the dark, hoping to find a door. I touched something and thought I had reached the door, but it was a window. I grabbed it and pulled myself up and tried to get some air. I looked out the window, then jumped to the ground.

I rolled through the snow for about 20 feet. I didn't feel any pain. I was shocked and began dragging myself along the street in front of the college, trying to get as far away from it as I could.

I was dressed only in my underwear and the cold began to pain me. Not far from the college, two men stopped me and brought me home. Later they brought me to hospital with the others.

I know my shoulder is broken (he pulled back his pyjama sleeve and pointed to a bruise the size of a saucer on a swollen shoulder), and I think my leg is broken. I don't feel anything there. (He rubbed his hand over the thigh of his right leg).

I can't tell you how many were left inside, but I saw only four or five outside when I jumped. I don't remember seeing any more than that, though there may have been others.

O, but I don't know. I am more than glad I was able to save myself. I hope there weren't many killed.

Find 3 More Bodies.

Later this afternoon in the town's little morgue three more bodies were added, two still unidentified 12 hours after the cry of fire had shattered the quiet of the sleeping school. Rubber-coated firemen, their caps coated with frozen spray, had carried them into the morgue, one by one, as they were extricated with difficulty from the charred ruins.

One of the bodies in the morgue was identified as that of Joseph Vincent, 15-year-old St. Hyacinthe student.

As the dreary hunt for more bodies went on, it appeared it might be many hours before the embers would have cooled enough to permit a thorough search. Streams of water from the fire hoses were still producing geysers of steam as they hit the smoking wood.

Meanwhile, the estimates of the probable dead varied. Harry Bernard, editor of the weekly Le Courrier, said he believed about 20 in all had perished. Provincial Police estimated about 20 still missing.

SEES SOME GOOD IN OTHER 'ISMS'

POTCHEFSTROOM, South Africa, Jan. 18—(CP).—It was the duty of South African youth not to overlook either fascism or communism but to study the two systems to see what good in them could be made to harmonize with democracy, advised Sir Oswald Pirow, minister of defence of the Union of South Africa, speaking at the National Union of Afrikaans' students' congress.

"Democracy aims at the greatest good for the greatest number. We have freedom of the press and of speech but we also have freedom to exploit people," said Mr. Pirow.

"Beside this form of government we have fascism and communism," he added, "which stand for idealism, unselfishness, honor and duty, for the well-being of the community as a whole and for the minority. They do not countenance the exploitation of the minority by a majority."

ENGLAND EXPECTS HER EMPIRE TEAM WILL DO NICELY

LONDON, Jan. 18 (CP).—England is sending a strong team to the third British Empire Games in Sydney, Australia, in February, but the "big three" of British track are staying home. They declined invitations to make the three-months journey involved in competing "away down."

Stanley Wooderson, world recordholder for the mile; Don Finlay, fleetest hurdler ever developed in Britain and Godfrey Brown, Cambridge's great quarter and half-miler, are unable to stay away that long. But there is confidence the English team will do well.

Wooderson would be virtually certain to win his specialty, and in his absence the mile may be won by B. E. Eeles of Southgate or Peter Ward of the Achilles Club, London. Both get under 4.15 consistently though Ward prefers a longer distance and should win the three miles at Sydney.

Brown's inability to make the trip may cost England one event—the half-mile. The Cambridge flier probably would take that event and also the 440 yards. However, Bill Roberts may be good enough to win the quarter from Canada's ace pair, Johnny Loaring and Bill Fritz.

This has been Roberts' year. After placing fourth in the Olympic 400-metre final at Berlin—incidentally just ahead of Fritz and Loaring—he reached his best form this season. His 440-yard victory at the British championships in 48.2 was adjudged the best performance of the meet and Roberts was awarded the Harvey and Jackson Memorial cups.

But England has no hurdler to take the place of Finlay. He is the best in Europe and perhaps the second best in the world. Only Forrest Towns of the United States defeated him at the 1936 Olympiad. Finlay was expected to face terrific competition from Canada's Larry O'Connor, but with the Briton absent O'Connor should win.

The sprinters are C. B. Holmes, K. J. Richardson and K. S. Duncan. Holmes, current British champion, is the consistently fastest and Richardson holds the Midland championships. Duncan will also compete in the running broad jump.

Half-milers are F. R. Handley of Salford and B. F. McCabe of London, both steady 1.55 performers. Neither has been able to challenge Brown over the distance. Ward will likely run the mile and three miles while L. H. Weatherhill of London enters both the three and six-mile events.

A. J. Norris will carry England's colors in the marathon. This year he won the marathon from Windsor Castle to White City Stadium for the third successive time.

COLD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (A.P.). — The temperature took a nosedive in New York City to-day, dropping to five above zero, the lowest here for almost two years.

The defence minister added that communism of itself was a cancer in the body politic and must be eradicated ruthlessly. In South Africa at the moment it was no more than a sore.

Tom Miller Hoped To Renew This Week Acquaintance With Earl Of Stair

By a margin of two days Tom Miller is going to miss meeting the Earl of Stair and renewing this week an acquaintance that was begun about thirty-six or seven years ago in the South African War.

The Earl is the only titled member of the party of Scottish curlers now touring Canada. They will be in Peterborough late Wednesday afternoon, arriving from Kingston on the C.P.R. train, and going on to Lindsay where they play representative rinks of the district curling clubs. They return here the same night, leaving in the morning for Toronto. But, the Earl of Stair does not join them until they reach Toronto.

Mr. Miller confirmed a report that he had served with the Earl in the Boer War.

"He was then the Hon. Dalrymple Hamilton, and as I knew him he was a young lieutenant in the first battalion of the Scots Guards, and a fine gentlemanly chap he was. He joined the battalion, I think, in the early part of 1900 and the last I saw of him was in 1902."

Human X-Ray

The strange eyes above belong to Kuda Bux, of India, who is said to possess the power of seeing through blindfolds in the manner of an X-ray. He is shown after his arrival in New York. Recently, Bux amazed London by riding through heavy traffic, blindfolded on a bicycle.

children at a window. But he couldn't get near the house.

William Geml, living across the street, called the fire department, then tried to enter the house by the back door.

"The flames shot out in my face," he said. "I couldn't get in."

The Couvillons, assisted by neighbors, removed all their furniture before the flames destroyed their house.

The fire gave the suburban Riverside brigade a stiff battle and reels from the Windosr department were called before the fire was brought under control.

HELPS JEWS MOVE TO SOUTH AFRICA

JOHANNESBURG, Jan. 18 (CP)—Reuters)—Trading facilities with Germany, additional to those under the recently-renewed official "barter" agreement, have just been provided by a far-reaching agreement between local and overseas bankers.

By means of a triangular arrangement, involving South Africa, Germany and Palestine, large sums have become available for the purpose of stimulating the exodus of Jews from the Reich.

"Haavarah Marks" are now on sale in Jchannesburg and in other cities and constitute a new form of currency with which the Union hitherto has been unfamiliar. Derived from a Hebrew word signifying "transfer,' the Haavarah agreement between the German government and the Zionist organization has existed for some years, but it is only during the next weeks that it will become applicable to South Africa.

Owing to the lack of foreign currency in Germany, arrangements were made by which the proceeds of exports from Palestine to the Reich were placed in a special fund, which is used to allow limited removals of Jewish capital from Germany.

Now it is announced that remittances from South Africa can be paid into the same fund, and the proceeds are credited to would-be emigrants wishing to proceed from Germany to Palestine.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Revived export buying of Canadian wheat failed to produce material rallies on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Futures declined in sympathy with weakness at Chicago and favorable weather conditions in the United States winter wheat belt, closing ¾ cent lower to unchanged, May $1.24⅝, July $1.17⅜ and October $1.00⅝.

Sales of Canadian wheat increased in the final hour to an estimated 200,000 bushel, including fair quantities of No. 3 Northern for shipment from both seaboards.

Regardless of the export business, buyers were turned away from the pit on reports which brightened outlook of the United States Winter wheat crop. These indicated snow and sleet were falling in Kansas and Nebraska.

Girl Denies Snake Neck-Pieces At "Garden Of Eden" Wedding

Groom's Story Differs — Says Stunt Used To Bolster Courage For Marriage

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP).—Mrs. Jos. S. Brantley said today "there were no snakes" connected with her wedding in Tampa Sunday night.

Mrs. Brantley, the former Mrs. Hazel R. Carpenter of West Palm Beach, denied reports that she and Mr. Brantley, an Arcadia, Fla., business man, had snakes entwined about their necks at the time of the ceremony.

A Different Story.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 17 (AP).—With snakes entwined about their necks, Hazel E. Carpenter, West Palm Beach, and Joseph S. Brantley, Arcadia, Fla., were married last night in what they called a "modern Garden of Eden ceremony."

The scene was a snake farm on the outskirts of Tampa. Rev. John R. Branscomb, pastor of the First Methodist Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore street clothes, and for a neckpiece a six-foot indigo snake. The groom used a de-fanged rattlesnake about his collar.

"We'd been planning to get married for several months," Brantley said, "but we never could get up courage to the point of going through with it. But Hazel—that's my wife now—said she'd read somewhere that the surest way to get over being scared of something was to do something more dangerous.

"So we picked out this way."

HASTINGS

Messrs Roy and William Taylor spent the week end with their sister Mrs. Andrew McGee of Detroit.

Messrs Willis Preston and Clifford Bell of Peterborough were recent guests of the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Bert Preston.

Miss Luella Brown of Roseneath spent several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brown.

Friends of Mrs. Herman Johnston will regret to hear of her serious illness. Mrs. Johnston had her teeth extracted over a week ago and has been suffering from hemorrhages of the gums. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

The Friendship Circle of the Fleming's neighborhood held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Gordon Johnston on Thursday afternoon.

SPRINGVILLE.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SCHOLARS ARE GIVEN AWARDS

Twenty-seven members of the Sunday School of Springville United Church were presented with prizes Sunday for their perfect record of attendance last year. Their number was an increase of thirteen over the fourteen who did not miss one Sunday in 1936.

The total membership enrolled in 1937 was eighty-five with an average attendance of seventy and of them twenty-seven were present every Sunday last year. This is regarded as a notably high level of sustained interest in the work of the Sunday School, and a fine achievement manifesting its flourishing condition as one of the major departments of the church. Each of the faithful twenty-seven received the gift of a book from Rev. Archer Wallace of the United Church Book Room, Toronto. Ten of them were members of two families in the Springville neighborhood, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McIntosh and their three children and five children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cathcart.

Four girls and three boys of the Sunday School received last Sunday prizes presented by the W. C. T. U. in connection with a special course in temperance. Sixteen of the younger members of the school wrote the examinations of the course which has been conducted by Mrs. Gordon McIntosh. The girls who won prizes were, Dorothy Cathcart and Mina Dunford of the senior class and Edna Dunford and Mamye Cathcart of the intermediate class, and the three boys were Russell Davis and Bruce Davis and Howard Shaw the youngest boy in this department of the Sunday School. Temperance classes are held once a month, and the church members have been deeply gratified by the success of Mrs. McIntosh in imparting her enthusiasm to the young people.

Vice Investigator Injured By Under-World Bomb

Harry Raymond, Los Angeles vice investigator and political figure who had reportedly collected vast quantities of evidence involving Los Angeles vice organizations, was seriously injured by a bomb placed under the hood of his new automobile, which exploded when he stepped on the starter. The wrecked machine is shown above. The explosion occurred several days after it had been rumored in the underworld that Raymond was to be "rubbed out." A former police chief, he had been working as an investigator on behalf of Clifford Clinton, former grand jury member, and police, seeking to discover the origin of the bomb, say Raymond had many enemies. Youth Given Suspended Sentence Goes Out And Repeats Offence

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Jan. 18.—Jack Windover a native of this district, but who gives his address as Trenton, faced Magistrate Gee in police court Monday, charged with passing worthless cheques. He was arrested just four days after he had received suspended sentence on a similar charge. The youth was given six months definite and six months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory at Burwash. When he was given suspended sentence he obtained money from his counsel to pay his way to Trenton, but spent the money around Lindsay. He picked a car valued at $635 at a local garage and tendered a cheque for initial payment amounting to $253.30. The cheque was found to be worthless. County Crown Attorney Anderson expressed the opinion that a mental institution was the proper play for Windover.

County Crown Attorney Anderson announced that the twenty-five slot machines, pin games, punch boards, etc., gathered in by the police at different points in the county, would be wrecked if convictions were registered against the fifteen persons who are charged with keeping common gaming houses. The trial of the accused is scheduled for January 28. The County Crown Attorney further pointed out that the distributor who sells punchboards in this territory at eighty cents escapes conviction, but the merchant who purchases and operates them runs foul of the law. The operation of the punch board is a double infraction of the Criminal Code, conviction bringing a sentence of two years imprisonment and a fine not exceeding $2,000. The party operating same brings himself within the category of running a common gaming house.

Death claimed a number of old residents of this district during the week-end. William Richardson, a well known local teamster, passed away in his seventy-sixth year; Joseph Morton, a well known farmer of Fenelon Township, died on Sunday, aged seventy-three years, and Mrs. John Hodgson, a pioneer resident of the county, died this morning at her son's home in Lindsay, after reaching her eighty-fourth year

Ice cutting commenced Monday on Sturgeon Lake as well as on the lower Scugog. Notwithstanding the severe cold snap of the past several weeks, the ice is reported to be only fifteen inches thick on Sturgeon Lake and thirteen inches on Cameron Lake. The heavy snowfalls, it is pointed out has prevented frost penetration to any great depth on the lakes.

Play Is Presented At Mount Julian

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MOUNT JULIAN, Jan. 18.—The play entitled "The Road Back," was given in this community by the Apsley people last week. The rapt attention of the audience bore evidence of the pleasure with which it was received. At the conclusion the cast, and other Apsley friends who accompanied them, were invited to the home of Mrs. Charles Lauder and Mr. and Mrs. William Church for refreshments.

Rev. S. Brenton of Toronto, spent a few days here recently renewing acquaintances.

Miss Florence Tedford at Lakefield spent the week end visiting friends in this district.

Miss June Thompson who visited at her home here through the holiday season has returned to her studies in Cleveland.

ABANDONED PLANE PROVES MYSTERY

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Jan. 18.—(UP)—Dewey Toms, Customs patrol inspector in charge of the Corpus Christi office, left last night to inspect a mysterious plane abandoned by two men last Wednesday on Matagorda Island, in the Gulf of Mexico off the Texas coast.

United States Customs officers had learned that the men left carrying a brief case after the plane arrived from the south, over the Gulf. It was believed the plane had ben forced down by an oil-line leak.

A. P. Cummings, Chief of the San Antonio Customs Division, communicated with Corpus Christi officials concerning the circumstances surrounding the abandonment of the plane.

"We want to find out who landed there and why they left it," Cummings said.

The oil-splattered ship sat among sand dunes near a remote stretch of island beach, on property of the San Jose Ranch. It was described as a three-place cabin plane with a radio motor, produced several years ago by the Fairchild Aircraft Corporation.

Cowboys at the San Jose Ranch watched the plane fly shoreward from the Gulf and land, they reported to Government officials. The two men, they said, alighted from the ship as soon as it came to a halt, took a brief case from the cabin and started walking hurriedly in the direction of Port Aransas.

The ranch employees picked up the men and took them to Port Aransas, where, without explaining who they were or leaving instructions regarding the disposition of the plane, they boarded a ferryboat to Aransas Pass, on the mainland. They have not been seen since.

The ranch employees, believing that the men would return to repair the plane, ignored the incident until to-day. Then, becoming curious, they reported it to a weather observer on the island, who, in turn, reported it to Customs officers.

ROOSEVELT LINES REPORTED TAPPED IN ESPIONAGE TALE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—New tales of espionage, fraud and intrigue in the Department of Interior, with inferences that White House telephone wires may have been tapped, were unfolded yesterday at the Senate Public Lands Committee's hearing on the qualifications of Ebert K. Burlew to be first assistant to Secretary Harold L. Ickes.

The day's chief witness was Louis R. Glavis, former head of the department's espionage corps, who denied his investigators eavesdropped on telephone conversations of President Roosevelt but admitted that incoming department calls probably were taken down in shorthand.

Stole $87,000

Glavis testified after the committee heard further revelations in connection with the conviction of Reno Stitley, former chief voucher clerk for the Civilian Conservation Corps, who mulcted the government of $87,000.

Testimony yesterday brought out that Stitley was so audacious that he boldly set up a dummy CCC camp with a non-existent supervisor, eight mythical foremen, and no enrollees; that he signed cheques for these "employees" and pocketed the proceeds; that he raised the Civil Service classification of two of them and increased their pay; that some of the foremen took sick leave, and that he operated for three and one-half years before he was arrested.

A. E. Demaray, Associate Director of the National Park Service, which, like the CCC, comes under Interior Department jurisdiction, was questioned sharply by Senator Key Pittman (D., Nev.) on why it took the Park Service more than three years to discover Sitley's frauds.

War Department Blamed

He blamed the War Department, which is supposed to double-check CCC vouchers, but Pittman disputed this and hinted that new and more startling revelations concerning the dummy camp were yet to come.

Glavis, who quit the department eighteen months ago during a personal feud with Burlew, replied with an emphatic "No" when asked by Senator Frederick Steiwer (R., Ore.) whether there had been any tapping of White House wires.

"Well," said Steiwer, "I had heard that the president demanded that tapping of his lines be halted."

"I never heard anything of that," Glavis replied.

LILY LAKE SHOWS LIVELY INTEREST IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LILY LAKE, Jan. 18.—Lily Lake Sunday School is again to be congratulated for its showing during the past year. Because there is no church right in the district, a Union Sunday School is held each Sunday afternoon, when, during the summer months especially, the attendance mark seldom goes below fifty, and the service fills a great need in a community where there are a large number of young people.

Harold Thompson, the energetic superintendent, presided for the annual meeting when reports were given by the following; secretary, Helen Rowland; treasurer, George Middleton; Missionary, Jack Ferguson; Cradle Roll, given by Harold Thompson in the absence of Mrs. E. Hughey; flower committee, Mrs. C. J. Hancock; temperance, Arthur Hancock; social, Mrs. O. Young.

The Sunday School contributed produce to be sent to the drought area in the Western provinces and each year contributes fifteen dollars in support of the Grenfell Mission.

Election of Officers

Arthur Hancock presided for the election of officers, the majority being returned. The officers are: Superintendent, Harold Thompson; secretary, Helen Rowland; treasurer, Everett Tully; assistant superintendent, Arthur Hancock; organist, Dorothy Rowland; assistant, Mrs. Ernie Hughey; Cradle Roll superintendent, Mrs. E. Hughey; flower committee, Mrs. C. J. Hancock; temperance, Arthur Hancock; social, Mrs. Orville Young; home department, Mrs. Dave Wilson; missionary, Roy Hancock.

Class teachers—Dorothy Rowland, Alta Wilson, Harold Thompson, Mrs. E. Hughey, Mrs. Will Steinkrauss, Arthur Hancock.

Supply teachers — Mrs. Stan Blewett, Mrs. J. A. Middleton, Everett Tully, Mrs. George Middleton, Ferd Rowland, George Middleton.

It was decided that the classes would be taught every fourth Sunday by the supply teachers.

Harold Thompson attended fifty-one Sunday and is to be congratulated on this excellent showing.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by the social committee.

C. E. Meeting

Miss Alta Wilson conducted the devotional period at the last regular meeting of the Christian Endeavour Society. Everett Tully read the Scripture reading for the topic, "A Christian Plans for Daily Living."

The president, Helen Rowland, took charge of the business period, when it was decided to hold an attendance drive with Jack Ferguson and Ev. Tully leaders. The C.E. will purchase a Coleman lamp and the Sunday School another to light the school.

A Great Industry

In a notable address before the Peterborough Rotary Club Carl A. Salmonsen, works manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, has outlined the contribution that company has made and is making toward the prosperity of this city. It is well that facts such as Mr. Salmonsen dealt with should be presented to the public from time to time for the Canadian General Electric Company has been part of Peterborough's industrial setup over so long a period that many of us have difficulty, so far as it is concerned, in seeing the woods for the trees.

When the figures given by Mr. Salmonsen are studied for a moment, it is possible to appreciate just how much the business life of this community owes to an industry of the magnitude of the Canadian General, providing employment for 2,100 of our citizens and circulating in this community a sum in advance of $40,000 every week. What that amount of money turned loose every Friday—the vast proportion of it spent locally—means to business growth and expansion here the merchants of the city can estimate for themselves. A payroll of over two million dollars a year is sufficient, it can be imagined, to support a good-sized town in itself.

Mr. Salmonsen stressed the fact that the greatest contribution his company makes to Peterborough's welfare is the opportunity it provides for employment but that is not the only contribution. Necessarily it is a heavy tax-payer and in addition to taxes it pays large sums out here for services and other things so that the pay-roll itself huge as it is, does not tell the whole story of the financial outlay of the C.G.E. here every year.

The importance of that payroll, however, keeps coming back as its effect upon local business is considered. The fact that the company pays out in wages and salaries here every year well over twice as much money as the city collects in taxes for all purposes helps in the task of appreciating just how much the prosperity of Peterborough from a business viewpoint is bound up with the welfare of the C.G.E.

Incidentally one of the important features of Mr. Salmonsen's address was the optimism with which the future development of the electrical industry was viewed. With that development this city is closely linked because of the presence here of the C. G. E. and the prospects justify the closest co-operation between the industry and the community. We cannot afford to have any other condition prevail unless we want to commit industrial suicide.

Impound The Markers

In connection with the complaint that motorists whose permits have been cancelled, because of dangerous practices, are continuing to drive in spite of the loss of their driving license the suggestion is worth considering that the surest way of preventing that kind of thing to a great extent is to impound the license markers of the offender's car.

That is a punishment that may penalize other members of the family but after all their discomfort does not loom up very large against the suffering that might be caused by allowing reckless drivers to go on handling automobiles.

Without license plates of course it is impossible to drive without being detected at once so that if this course should be adopted it will eliminate a considerable amount of the flouting of the law that is now complained of. It will not of course be effective in the case of offenders who do not own cars but they constitute a minority of the motorists who get into trouble.

Impounding license markers may be regarded as a drastic method of dealing with the problem but the casualty list for last year is heavy enough to indicate that the time has come for drastic methods. Appeals to courtesy and common sense have, in the main, failed, and leniency on the art of police and courts has been taken advantage of. It seems necessary now to lay down the principle that a man who persists in driving so negligently that he is endangering the lives of others can expect no more considerate treatment than he gives the public: in other words if he insists on driving recklessly the public will insist that he shall not be allowed to drive at all.

Hard To Understand

The story from Ottawa that an increase of 25 to 50 per cent in radio license fees is to be proposed does not link up very well with the recent announcement that many hours of broadcasting over the Canadian hookup of stations have been hired to American commercial broadcasters.

If the principal object for which Canada launched into nationalized radio—the elimination of a large amount of American advertising—is to be scrapped in favor of the revenue that can be obtained by leasing Canadian facilities to United States commercial interests, the Canadian set-owner is quite likely to ask why he should be called upon to pay a larger license fee. If the argument were used that more revenue is needed to carry on the work of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and because that corporation does not propose to accept American advertising and secure money it needs in that way, the Canadian set-owner is being called upon to pay a higher fee, folk in this country might grumble, as taxpayers everywhere grumble about such matters, but at least they would have to admit the action of the Corporation was logical. But when the hint of a substantial increase in the license fee Canadians are called upon to pay for the privilege of operating a radio set follows close upon the heels of the announcement that American programs have been given a big share of the time on the Canadian hookup the public is at a loss to understand the whole situation.

Certainly the contracts that have been made with United States broadcasters have a strange appearance when they are contrasted with what was said when nationalized radio was adopted in Canada. Apparently instead of radio as they have it in Britain, we are to have broadcasting as they have it in the United States with this difference that American listeners do not have to pay a license to hear the same programs.

Counties Should Lead

One of the less spectacular but just the same, one of the important resolutions that are to come before the House of Commons at the coming session is a motion that will urge co-operation between Dominion and provincial governments in preserving the forest wealth of Canada.

We say that is important because we have been, in the main, neglectful in this regard, satisfied to reap the timber harvest of the country as if the supply were inexhaustible and at the same time refusing to take any steps to replenish the reserves. That was a policy that was all right when there were rich stands of timber all over the Dominion but a change has come over the picture in recent years.

The move to get Dominion and provincial action in dealing with this problem comes not a day too soon and will be welcomed by all those who are acquainted with the situation and realize the need for a forward policy of forest conservation and reforestation.

At the same time, however, it is not necessary to wait for this bigger movement to do something to help create a forest reserve. There is a chance to accomplish worthwhile results in the smaller arena and in that connection we are in thorough accord with the Farmer's Advocate in its opinion that there is a splendid opportunity for county councils throughout Ontario to include a refotestation program in their activities for the year. The Advocate is right when it says that in the crusade against further timber destruction and in the interests of a restored countryside county councils can furnish the most effective leadership. No other force or combination of forces can exert as much influence or secure as good results in the desired direction.

A number of county councils in the province have already taken the lead in fathering and carrying out a reforestation policy that promises to be decidedly successful and there is no reason why other councils in Ontario should not fall in line. Much can be accomplished in this field at a comparatively low cost.

Too Ready To Sign

There has been many a quiet chuckle over the story that was sent out from the University of Syracuse the other day telling of the gullibility of the senior students of that institution. It seems that a petition was circulated recently that purported to be aimed at doing away with final examinations for seniors but that really pledged the signers to serve five years in a chain gang and no difficulty was experienced in getting 115 students to put the names on the document.

The incident may show up the student body at Syracuse but at the same time it throws sharp light on this whole business of petitions for the simple reason that in many cases folk put their signatures on such papers without taking the trouble to read them carefully. The late F. H. Dobbin used to illustrate that point in his characteristically whimsical way by saying that he could go up and down George Street and in a short time get 500 names on a petition urging the hanging of a well-known business man and then he could go back in the afternoon to the same bunch of citizens and get just as many signatures to another paper praying that the aforesaid business man should not be hanged.

There is, as a rule, nothing easier than persuading people to affix their signatures to petitions and because of that fact the importance of such documents as a barometer of public opinion is considerably lowered. In fact the value of petitions, in view of those who appreciate how little consideration is given their contents by many of those who sign, is not great enough to cause them to be seriously considered.

Accidents Increase

There has been a tendency in some quarters recently to blame the carelessness of pedestrians for a very large proportion of traffic accidents but official figures recently issued by the chief statistician of the motor vehicles branch of the Ontario Department of Highways do not bear out that condition.

It is true that the report shows that improper actions on the part of pedestrians, such as jay-walking, darting out into the street from behind parked vehicles, carelessly playing on the roadway and similar dangerous practices, were responsible for 17 per cent of the accidents in Ontario for the first nine months of last year. At the same time, however, the analysis made by the department indicates that improper actions on the art of automobile drivers caused no less than 67 per cent of the accidents during the same period. Significantly enough, in view of the fact that speed limits were raised during the past year, the officials find that speeding motorists were responsible for the bigger percentage of mishaps which resulted in injury or death.

Whatever the cause, however, it must be admitted that this latest official release makes sorry reading for it reveals the disturbing fact that there were more traffic deaths in Ontario during the first nine months of last year than there were in 1936, the figures being 554 as against 546. Similarly there were more people hurt in the first three-quarters of 1937 than in the whole of the previous year, the total being 8,752 for the period from January to September, 1937, while in the twelve months of 1936 the total was 7,196. When the final figures for 1937 are released officially the total seems likely to be heavy enough to impress all but the most reckless drivers of the need of improved conditions from a safety viewpoint.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Cornwall has not had a motor fatality in two years. Pedestrians there must be more alert or luckier than the average.

The Alberta farmer who was given a half hour in jail on a charge of assault is not likely to appeal that his sentence was too heavy.

That Toronto firm that addressed a letter to Charlottetown, New Brunswick, might as well give up all idea of doing business in Prince Edward Island.

The Montreal thief who carried off 2,000 coppers from a window showed a willingness to work that might have been demonstrated in a better cause.

It is hoped no one was seriously wounded in the last minute rush throughout Ontario to buy 1938 motor license markers.

A report from Ottawa hints that there may be a Federal election this year. If it comes we are safe in saying it will not be by popular demand.

Congratulations are in order to Thomas Allen, B.A., M.A., of Peterborough, in having won the Daughters of the Empire Post-graduate Overseas Scholarship for Ontario.

Windsor is planning another survey of unemployed youth in the area and the only flaw in that kind of thing is that they rarely get much further than listing the folk who are out of work.

From Spain comes a story of a hospital train being bombed by rebel planes. Sherman had never seen anything like that when he coined his famous description of war.

Mrs. M. L. Black, Independent Conservative member for the Yukon does not think women have made much of a contribution to politics. It would take a very courageous man to make such a statement.

HE FOUND OUT

(By A. R. K.)

¶ John Thomas firm of chin and jaw, determined he would study law, he'd know it through and through; he would be versed in heavy things to which a nation's fabric clings, the constitution too.

¶ In course of time he finished school, and he looked dignified and cool, his work was straight ahead; he put his shingle up in town but on his brow there grew a frown, he could not earn his bread.

¶ John Thomas was too deep for them, for they were simple minded men, they squabbled on small stuff; when one got smacked upon the jaw, and then was pulled before the law, his lawyer must be rough.

¶ They wanted some one in the place to save the yokels from disgrace, when they raised cain at night; when eyes were blackened in a row, when some one stole a brindle cow, the lawyer had to fight.

¶ They found John Thomas too profound, his long words made a barren sound, they turned away from him; John Thomas saw no future there, his table and his purse grew bare, his ribs poked out real thin.

¶ John Thomas pleads the case today, when fattened sows get hooked away, when eyes get black and blue; he pleads for one who's in a jam, for stealing slabs of cheese and ham—and makes a living too.

THE NATIONAL War memorial will soon be erected in Ottawa. This structure, occupying 35 large crates, was shipped from England in parts last year. The memorial which was fashioned by the seven March brothers and their sister in studios at Parnborough, Kent is the result of ten years work.

✧ ✧ ✧

When it was decided that Canada should have a war memorial of her own in her capital city architects and sculptors were invited to submit designs. Over one hundred entries were received, among them that of an English sculptor Vernon March. Later he heard over his radio that a Kent sculptor, namely himself, had won an international competition for the Canadian war memorial. He and his six brothers and their sister at once set to work on the full-scale design. That was in 1926 but in 1930 tragedy overtook the family for Vernon March died. The work, however went continuously forward, the brothers and sisters basing their labors on the small soft-clay model made by their brother. It is now kept under a glass case in their home in Kent.

✧ ✧ ✧

When completed the memorial was erected temporarily in Hyde Park where it made a deep and lasting impression on all who saw it, a silent reminder of the sacrifice made by 60,000 Canadians.

✧ ✧ ✧

Consisting of a tall granite arch, surmounted by huge bronze figures of Liberty and Victory, the memorial symbolizes the triumph of peace over war. At the base of the arch are 22 figures representing every branch of the war service hurrying toward the new dawn and leaving behind them an unlimbered gun. The only inscription on it is simply "1914-1918." All told the memorial reaches a height of 70 feet.

✧ ✧ ✧

Sculptures by the March family are already well-known in Canada. In Hamilton for example there is the famous memorial to the United Empire loyalists, executed by Sidney March, in front of the Parliament buildings in Victoria B. C. stands the Provincial War Memorial, also a product of the March workshops while in Orillia, Ontario, stands Vernon March's fine statue of Champlain.

New Fur Coats .

OUT OF THE laboratories of the National Research Council at Ottawa comes an interesting bit of information. The staff working on chemical research has touched on many things from the saving of clothes in laundries to the preparation of wool. Now it indicates a possible future for buffalo hides in making ladies' fur coats.

✧ ✧ ✧

Experimental work on the present methods of treating the skins has been undertaken in the tanning and dyeing processes. The dyed and plucked skins produced have a most pleasing lustre and appearance. Anyone who in the future possesses a coat from this animal will be surrounded more or less with an atmosphere of romance, for the buffalo has been the object of interest ever since the day when white men discovered this continent.

✧ ✧ ✧

In the early history of the Dominion are accounts of the large herds of bisons, popularly called buffalo, charging across the Western plains and pursued by Indian hunters. At times these animals travelled in solid columns of thousands and tens of thousands. The Indians depended upon them for food, the fat provided tallow, the skins, clothing or tent or canoe covers and the hair, cloth. The slight hump was highly prized to be used in the making of pemmican.

✧ ✧ ✧

Continued hunting resulted in almost extinction of the species until both the United States and Canadian governments sought to protect them. As a result the herds have so increased that in Canada there are about 1,500 buffalo hides available annually.

✧ ✧ ✧

Should the buffalo enter the commercial market for fur-bearing animals it would bring the total of animals for this purpose up to 22. Already the list contains such species as the badger, bear, beaver, coyote, weasel, fisher, fitch, fox, lynx, marten, mink, muskrat, otter, rabbit raccoon, skunk, squirrel, wildcat, wolf, wolverine and the domestic cat.

The Atlantic Graveyard.

SABLE ISLAND a low-lying piece of ground, lies 118 miles southeast of Halifax, and is familiarly known as the "Graveyard of the Atlantic." It consists of two parallel sand ridges with a lagoon between them, the sand bars extending several miles from each end of the island.

✧ ✧ ✧

Since 1873 the Canadian government has built three light houses on Sable Island, two of which have been swept away and the third undermined as the island is gradually sinking.

✧ ✧ ✧

Less than a century ago its length was 40 miles but at the present time it is 18 miles long with sand hills reaching a height of 100 feet. In 1901 over 80,000 trees were planted to check the shifting of the sand.

✧ ✧ ✧

In addition to two first-class lighthouses, watch-towers and lifesaving stations are maintained along this dangerous section of the Atlantic. In clear weather the entire coastline is under observation from the lighthouses and watch-towers and in fog or thick weather mounted men patrol every mile of the island.

Marking Ontario's 1st Cheese Factories

Plant at Farmersville, Now Athens, Started Industry So Far as Eastern Ontario is Concerned

(From the Brockville Recorder and Times.)

NOTWITHSTANDING signs to the contrary, the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada is not wholly interested in marking spots at which battles were fought or on which fortifications stood. It is just as interested in commemorating pioneer economic developments throughout the Dominion and the cairn at Lyndhurst to the first iron furnace which was worked in Ontario is proof of this. If it can be established that the elusive glass works which functioned near Mallorytown in the early days of settlement were the first in the country, perhaps this site will also be considered worthy of marking.

For a long time controversy raged over the site of the first cheese factory to be operated in Ontario under what is known as the factory system. Both eastern and western Ontario had its claimants and now the Historic Sites and Monuments Board has agreed, principally as a result of research carried out by Dr. J. A. Ruddick, that this establishment stood on what was the farm of G. V. DeLong in the township of Norwich, County of Oxford, where it was started by one Harvey Farrington in the spring of 1864. Accordingly, its existence is to be commemorated through the erection at Ingersoll of a tablet which will record its history and the important place which it occupied in laying the foundations of a great and valuable branch of the Canadian dairy industry.

The system of making cheese in factories, as opposed to the rather primitive establishments previously operated on individual farms, had its origin in Herkimer county, New York, about 1851 and for some years that district set the standards for cheese making. Harvey Farrington was one of those engaged in the industry in Herkimer county and, perceiving the benefits of the factory system and how easily it might be applied to cheese-making in Canada, he crossed the border in 1863 to visit friends in Oxford county and, after canvassing the possibilities of tht section, reached a decision to move his family there and engage in the business. His pioneer factory was operating in the spring of 1864, and the following year saw four additional factories erected in Oxford with Ingersoll becoming the centre of the industry.

Eastern Ontario was not long behind Farrington. Indeed, it was also in 1865 that Pitt W. Strong, another American, entered Leeds county and began the manufacture of cheese at Farmersville, as Athens was then known, and in 1866 M. K. Everttts, in company with a Mr. Coolidge, started operations at Easton's Corners. George Morton had previously run a cheese-making plant at the village in South Crosby, originally Whitefish Falls ,which now bears his name, but it was not conducted under the factory system.

It is well that the origin of the cheese factory system in Canada should be commenmorated as it is proposed to commemorate it, because its extension lay at the basis of the remarkable development which attended the industry and caused it to assume world leadership. There have been other methods of manufacturing cheese proposed from time to time, but nothing to equal the factory system has yet been devised, and it may be presumed that it will remain in existence perhaps with some modifications or consolidations, as long as cheese is produced in this country.

Winter Transport of Cattle a Problem

No Satisfactory Method For Cold Weather Has Been Evolved So Far in Canada

(From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

FIFTEEN HEAD of cattle being shipped from Fort William to Toronto recently were found dead in the railway cars when they reached their destination at the end of the thousand-mile haul. They had been frozen to death as the temperature was 40 or 45 degrees below zero during part of the journey. A charge has been laid against the owner of the cattle, but the outcome is not likely to solve the problem of livestock transport in Canada in the winter months unless more interest is taken in it than has been shown in the past.

This is not an isolated case. There have been many such on Canadian railways, yet no entirely satisfactory method of shipping live animals in winter has been evolved. The type of freight car in use, that with openings between the slats, is best for summer use or even when the temperature is fairly moderate but it is a precarious vehicle in winter. Everyone who has seen livestock being shipped in winter must have been disturbed by the possibilities of hardship for the animals in such cars, yet no one has come along with a suggestion for a substitute. There must be adequate ventilation in any car to be satisfactory for the shipment of livestock but theslatted carriages seem to be entirely inadequate when shipment is made in low temperatures. The slatted cars are necessary in summer, otherwise the cargo would be injured or destroyed by too much heat. It would be difficult for the railways to provide two distinct type of cars for winter and summer.

It is said that the slatted cars can be made comfortable for winter use by lining them with tar paper but it is evident that many shippers fail to make that contribution to the comfort of the animals and it is unfortunate.

The average person not experienced in the details of livestock transport fails to realize that much heat is generated by the bodies of the animals. Those in the centre of the slatted car probably would be comfortable or possibly too warm if the card were filled to capacity but those located on the edges are exposed to the wind and frost accentuated by the speed of the train.

It would seem that more care is necessary in the details of livestock shipment. It is shocking to contemplate the cruelty that could be inflicted on animals exposed to 40 to 45 degrees below zero during a thousand-mile journey.

1918 IN THE NORTH.

(Timmins Advance)

TWENTY YEARS ago there wasn't a telephone north of Cochrane. All travel farther than a few short miles north of Cochrane had to be done by dog team, canoe, or by the use of the old reliable shank's mare. The railway ran east and west and south of Cochrane, but never north. Timmins was smaller than South Porcupine is today and South Porcupine itself has made notable progress in the past few years.

There was only one producing mine at Kirkland Lake—then a little hamlet seven miles from the railway. Production at the Lake Shore Mine was around $25,000 a month from high grade ore, as against $1,200,000 a month these later days. There was no Ferguson highway 20 years ago—not even any kind of a highway—just a few short strips here and there of apologies for roadways—and not very handsome apologies at that.

There wasn't a radio in the North 20 years ago, nor an airplane. The people had a lot to be thankful for. They are not so thankful today, but they have more than they did 20 years ago.

THE SPIRIT OF CANADA.

(Hamilton Spectator)

PATRIOTISM is a hard word to define, but it is no abstraction. In genuine form it remains one of the finest of ideals; a deep-rooted love of the nation's land, its people and its history. No amount of talk can add lustre to it; only in a crisis can it be adequately proven.

It has been our fortune in Canada to face few crises. Not within living memory have we suffered as have nations across the seas. But it is still a fact that when the Dominion has faced a crisis, its people, in spite of economic and political divisions, have demonstrated a remarkable unity—a far cry from Canadianism as a term of convenience.

"SURPLUS LABOR."

(Niagara Falls Review)

READING Italian newspapers, one would get the impression there is no unemployment in Mussolinliland. That is true. They call it "surplus labor," so 30,000 Italians will be shipped to Germany this spring to work on German farms, signing up for eight months to help increase the harvest. They will receive the equivalent of forty cents a day which is not what one would call big wages. Must be nice to be a dictator and be able to arrange with a fellow dictator, for such large scale movement of labor, just is if they were chickens.

THE CONTROVERSY now under way in Michigan regarding whether railroads are required by law to furnish uniforms for their employees, should serve to remind lawmakers how important it is to phrase statutes in words that cannot be misconstrued.

An old Michigan law, passed in 1879, says railroads must provide workmen with "a uniform, hat or cap and distinguishing badge. . . ." Now, do those first five words mean that railroads must provide a uniform, plus either a hat or cap? Or do they mean: either a uniform or a hat or a cap—one of the three?

The courts will decide, but those 1879 solons could have saved a lot of trouble by saying what they meant.

EMPIRE PEANUTS.

GROUND nuts, the fruit of a tropical or sub-tropical annual plant are so called because the nuts mature in the ground; they are also known as earth nuts, peanuts—because the kernels grow inside pods like peas—and monkey nuts. Australia is increasing her production of ground nuts and in 1931 a trade agreement was made with Canada which will give the Australian market the preference when the Commonwealth is able to supply all Canada's requirements. At present there is a duty of one to two cents per pound on ground nuts imported from other than British Empire countries but this preference has not yet resulted in any appreciable import from Empire sources.

Garbage Collection System Is Debated By Committee

Motorization Of Entire Collection System Is Not For This Year

Retreating from the expenditure involved in the proposed motorization of garbage collection coupled with termination of the contract system, the property committee of the council last night decided to recommend complete overhauling of the motor truck bought by the city a year ago, and to advertise for tenders for this year's collection when Herb Withers' present contract expires at the end of March.

Alderman Herb McCannan presided for the first time over his committee, and his two one-year associates Alderman Huycke and Bradburn were also present, although Alderman Huycke was waiting to make his own subsequent debut as chairman of the legal and reception committee. The three new members of the council assumed their new municipal duties in the spade work of the committee room with every evidence of efficiency that would have reassured and pleased the ratepayers who voted for them on New Year's Day. They found themselves in congenial company with Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen Stocker, Cotton, Wilson and Dutton, who showed a desire to give them every encouragement and helpful information.

A Perennial Proposal

Last year's council had authorized the property committee of which Malcolm McIntyre was chairman to investigate garbage collection systems in some other cities, especially Toronto and Hamilton. Both Aldermen Wilson and Dutton were chosen for those enquiries, and the subcommittee's report was a thorough and informative review of the facts and impressions they had brought home. For five or six years at least, the council has been annually pondering the motorization idea, and it may be of interest to recall that both Fred Tuggey and Mr. McIntyre as successive chairmen of this committee devoted a great deal of time to the problem.

The council has been dissatisfied with the lack of modern receptacle trucks that would prevent ashes and loose paper from blowing off them into the streets. They recognized that they could not ask Mr. Withers to buy expensive equipment for contracts of only one year at a time and no guarantee that he would be retained in succeeding years. That flaw in the system has been directing recent councils to a change by which the city would have done the work itself with motor trucks.

Strengthen Old Truck

Meanwhile, Mr. Withers agreed with the council of last year to carry on until April 1 to enable the present council to consider all the information that had been collated and decide their course for this year. Their action was embodied in a resolution by Alderman Dutton proposing the purchase of a 2½ ton chassis to which the "Collecto" equipment of the one truck the city owns would be transferred and its chassis turned in on the deal. The new chassis will be purchased by tender, and will be of sufficient strength to carry the heavy loads of ashes which Alderman Dutton declared had greatly strained the chassis of the truck that was used all last year.

Comparison Of Costs

Alderman McCannan read a statement of costs showing that garbage collection in 1937 incurred an expenditure of $9,538.37 of which $5,442.86 was paid to the contractor and $4,095.51 for the operation of the city's motor truck. The 1936 contract was for $7,400. Hence the cost last year was $2,138.37 more than in 1936.

Estimates for motorization this year were $1950 for a 2½ ton truck comprising a new chassis and the old "Collecto" equipment, and two new trucks $3626, a total of $5,576. Allowing $750 for the present chassis, the cost of the three trucks would be $4,826. Operating expense of the one truck last year was $4,095.51, and on that basis the operation of three this year was figured at $12,286.53 but on the entire twelve month basis. Subtracting the $7,400 paid the contractor in 1936 left $4,886.53 as an extra cost for that item, and the total for machines and operation was estimated at close to $10,000.

Alderman Bradburn computed that the change would raise the garbage colection tax rate to 1.11 mills as compared with 8-10 of a mill last year, and he said he was inclined to hesitate about undertaking an increased expenditure that would be reflected to that extent in raising the tax rate. Alderman McCannan said that if Peterborough were growing by leaps and bounds the expenditure might be justified. He suggested that wagons could be retained, using higher sides to prevent any dust or paper nuisance in driving to the incinerator.

M. E. Shaver city treasurer, pointed out that expenditure in excess of $5,000 could not be incurred without assent of the electors. The result of the discussion was the committee's decision not to proceed with motorization of the department this year.

RECRUIT NATIVES TO HALT EROSION

JOHANNESBURG, Jan. 18 (CP)—Progressive chiefs and other native leaders have agreed to help the South African department of native affairs to prevent the backward native from nullifying the huge program of soil reclamation which has been started with the aid of treasury funds.

Drastic punishments are being introduced for all who hamper or damage the works of which the ultimate cost will run into some millions.

P. G. Grobler, minister of native affairs, has authorized the preparation of a special "draft proclamation" which is being circulated in the Transkei and the other reserves.

Native headmen are to be made responsible for the safe custody of anti-soil erosion works in their neighborhood, and the old African rule of collective responsibility for misdeeds will be enforced against all the inhabitants of the nearest village.

Not only weirs, dams, furrows, mudtraps, embankments, but bridges bridle-paths, trees, shrubs and every kind of improvement that has the effect of binding the soil together is placed under the law's protection.

Since the excessive eating of young grass shoots by cattle is considered to be the main cause of soil erosion in South Africa, offending livestock in specified areas can be impounded all fines, over and above the cost of restoring the damage, go to the native development account.

LIFE INSURANCE CONTROL DIVISION IS ASKED DEFINED

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 (C.P.).—Division of control over life insurance between Dominion and Provincial Governments should be defined in an amendment to the British North America Act along the lines of the present actual division of taxation agreement, the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association urged in a brief prepared for presentation to-day to the Rowell Commission.

The life insurance business in Canada is now subject to supervision and regulation by both Dominion and Provincial Governments. The division of jurisdictions has not been defined by statute, but a line of demarcation is said to have developed by custom.

To avoid future controversy, the association proposed that the provinces by statute should continue to have control over life insurance contracts and licensing of agents, while the Dominion should control all other matters concerning the supervision of life insurance companies. This includes licensing, solvency, investments, inspections and reports.

R. Leighton Foster, for the association, said there was much to be said for the proposal as recognizing the national character of the business and the desirability of eliminating any duplication of Government services.

However, the provinces for many years had legislated over life insurance contracts and licensed agents "in a manner quite acceptable to all." Uniformity of legislation had been attained in eight provinces.

The insurance association proposed a curb on public borrowing, reallocation of taxing powers, constitutional amendment to give the Dominion control over both principal and interest of debts and constitutional protection for creditors.

Dealing with public borrowings, the brief stated: "Public opinion is so insistent upon certain forms of expenditures being made that some governments will always have difficulty in refraining from borrowing the funds with which to meet such demands so long as there is no system created to constitute an effective check upon public borrowings.

One of the Causes.

"The expansion of the services and functions of government is, of course, one of the underlying causes of the condition which led to the appointment of the commission. It is submitted that one of the most important tasks facing the commission is the development and recommendation of some system which will restrict in some effective way undue borrowing by the Canadian public bodies.

"It would seem that something along the lines of the council set up under the Australian constitution which would be empowered to pass judgment upon all public borrowings and be free of local and partisan influences, must be established if the credit of all public bodies throughout Canada is to be placed in a sound position.

"At the present time our governments are giving consideration to unemployment insurance, health insurance and other social insurance legislation and this association urges that, before any plan is decided upon, care be taken to ensure that it can and will be carried out economically and efficiently.

"Any plan of social insurance must be of actuarial soundness. Duplication of services must be avoided. Costs must be controllable and expensive administration machinery must be shunned. The scheme must be fair to the community as a whole. Life insurance companies in Canada have gone on record on several occasions as placing their organization, resources and experience of their officers at the disposal of our governments."

If the Dominion assumed further responsibility for social services such as unemployment insurance, there should be reallocation of taxing powers.

"In that event," the brief continued, "it is suggested that succession duties and premium taxes and income taxes are the kind of taxes which, in the interest of uniformity and equality, might well be transferred to the Dominion.

Duplication and multiplicity of taxes has developed rapidly in recent years, the brief continued. There was an apparent tendency to treat residents of one part of the country as foreigners for the purpose of taxation in another section, promoting sectionalism and impairing national unity.

R. J. Kidd Is Re-elected Head Little Lake Cemetery Company

Eighty-Seventh Annual Meeting Of The Lot Owners Is Held

The eighty-seventh annual meeting of the lot owners of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held on Monday in the board room of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, when reports were presented from the president, secretary-treasurer and superintendent. The financial report was considered quite satisfactory when attention was drawn to the different works carried out which were of a permanent nature and which have been paid for out of current revenue. The operating account showed receipts of $5,476.02 from interest on investments and $6,945.13 paid by the lot owners for work done on their lots including flowers. The amount paid out in connection with the upkeep of the cemetery was $12,666.62 showing a deficit on the years operation of $245.47.

The retiring directors were all re-elected. They are: W. G. Morrow, A. Stevenson, E. A. Peck, K.C., Roland Denne, R. J. Kidd, H. A. Morrow, W. J. Thompson, Dr. J. E. Middleton and Mayor Hamilton.

The officers of the company are: President, R. J. Kidd; secretary-treasurer, Felix Brownscombe; assistant secretary, Miss E. J. Saunders; superintendent, C. Frank Kitney.

Directors' Report

R. J. Kidd, president, submitted the following report for Board of Directors:

"You will notice by the financial statement that the cost of maintaining the cemetery exceeded our income by the amount of $245.47 which is considered satisfactory keeping in mind the large amount of special work carried out during the year

"Several of these improvements were of a permanent nature and have greatly added to the appearance of your property. The superintendent will refer more fully to these in his report.

"The house in the cemetery grounds which formerly was used as a dwelling by the superintendent and which had become quite dilapidated was torn down, and the material salvaged therefrom along with some new material was used to build a new brick storehouse which was needed to store the vehicles urns and other supplies used in the company's work.

"The house on Ware street which the company bought in 1928, and which was mentioned in last year's report as in need of considerable repairs, was also torn down and a new brick residence built at a cost of $2,470.94.

"For several years the company has kept a horse, wagons, sleighs etc., which were used in and around the cemetery, but with changing conditions it was felt that better work could be done with a motor truck, and this change has proved quite satisfactory.

"A further plot of ground at the extreme south of the cemetery was laid out for burial purposes and will shortly be ready for sale.

"Each summer we have spent a considerable sum for top dressing and sod in order to keep the grass as nice as possible, and it was decided to purchase a lot of approximately eleven acres which will furnish a constant supply of good earth as needed.

"A request was received from the Individual Mausoleum Company for the use of their make of casket for burial purposes in the cemetery but after looking very carefully into the matter and gathering what information we could, it was decided that this form of burial did not comply with the requirements of the Cemetery Act, and for that reason the directors were unable to grant their request.

"In view of the changes which I have mentioned as being made in the company's buildings I would recommend that a new valuation be made of each building, and that a proper depreciation be written off each year.

"In closing I would like to refer to the work done by the Dominion government in facing up the shore line of the lake all along Crescent street with stone rip rap. This will prevent any further washing away of the bank each spring and when the work is completed will add greatly to the appearance of that section of the city."

Superintendent's Report

Frank Kitney, the superintendent, submitted the following report:

In the spring the company purchased a new truck to take the place of the horse and waggon. It is proving very satisfactory, getting around much quicker, the men are able to get material when they need it and we are able to do a lot of our our hauling from a distance. So far this winter we have snow-ploughed all our roads with the truck, and experienced very little trouble. In addition to the convenience, it will save us considerable time.

We have graded and seeded ready for burial purposes about half of the new section in the south end of the cemetery.

To be in keeping with the grading and wall built by the Dominion Government around the lake along Crescent street to the cemetery entrance, we have continued the same type of wall for 106 feet using the same kind of material, 350 yards of gravel were used in filling, the total cost of work and material was $403.04, approximately $3.80 per lineal foot.

The river shore has been completed to the southern boundary at the C.N.R. bridge. A lot of rubbage and large stones had to be moved as this was used for dumping ground for many years. 36 cords of stone cost $117.92, 12 cords from foundation of old residence, 225 yards of filling $78.40; total cost $338.40, approximately 75c per lineal foot.

The old frame house on Ware street has been pulled down and replaced with a cottage roof two-storey solid brick house at a cost of $2,470.-94.

The old residence in the cemetery has been torn down and all the good material saved. The greater part of which has been used again. The old drive shed at the stable was removed and a new storehouse put on the same site, 40 x 30, built of solid brick. This has improved the Ware street property, and will store all our equipment, the stable yard has been enlarged and 220 feet of new fence built. The stable has been altered and made into a double garage and workroom. Taking down old residence, making change to stable, removing old drive shed, new fence and storehouse cost approximately $1,160.00.

Some work has been done on the lake and river drive. The trees have been removed, a large part of the road graded to the width of 18 feet.

During the year there have been: 265 interments; 18 plots put under perpetual care; 30 foundations for monuments; 19 lots sold.

Letter Which Came Through Wreck Is Delivered In Peterborough

A deeply scorched letter from the wreck of an airmail plane near Bozeman, Montana, on January 10 was delivered to Mrs. Joseph Henderson, 260 King street, on Monday. It was from her sister, Mrs. Fred Pugh, of Vancouver, and was included in the air mail service from Seattle to Chicago. Part of it was completely burned and the rest scorched to a dark brown color, one of the mute scraps of burned debris of another tragedy of the transcontinental airlines.

DEPUTY GOVERNOR ADDRESSES LIONS

The recipe for organizing and operating a successful Lions' Club was given local Lions by their deputy district governor, J. J. Brown of Bowmanville, in an address to their regular meeting Monday evening.

"Let us continue our activities and expand them," Mr. Brown urged. "There is still so much we can do for those who sit in darkness and for many others who need us so badly. I believe there is a destiny for Lions surpassing the glories of the past and the present, a destiny that not only accepts the responsibilities of to-day, but is big enough to measure up to the possibilities of tomorrow.

"I love Lionism not alone for its past, but for its future; for the things we are going to do. Our opportunity is the job yet to be done and I believe it is better to try to do something and to fail than to attempt nothing."

President Fred Cripps presided and introduced Mr. Brown. An important part of the program was presentation of five reels of Canadian National Railways motion pictures depicting various aspects of game fishing in Canadian waters.

Buying Wood Lot Under Discussion

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 18—The purchase of a wood lot for Hastings unemployed men to work in for the next month, is under consideration by the relief board. Reeve L. E. Kelly, stated there are five families on relief in Hastings at the present time and that the purchase of a wood lot would occupy most of the men until the middle of February when ice cutting begins on the river.

Relief inspector F. McNielly of Peterborough was present at the meeting and instructed the board, including the two new members regarding the administration of relief. He found everything in apparent good order but stated last month's relief seemed a bit high. Ex-Reeve, Howard Fairman, although not present and now not a member of the board received high commendation by the inspector in his method of financing relief for this village for the past two years.

A Cough Won't Go Away Of Itself

Many people get a nasty cough and do not pay any attention to it, saying, "Oh, it will wear away in a short time," but even should it, serious injury may have been done to the bronchial tubes by the prolonged, harsh, racking coughing.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that on the first sign of a cold or cough it should be gotten rid of immediately, as failure to do so may prove a serious matter to the general health.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has been on the market for the past forty-eight years, and we can recommend it as being one of the best remedies for colds and coughs you can possibly procure.

MISS AGNES S. FRASER, R.R. 4, New Glasgow, N.S., writes:—"I had a terrible cough. I used to cough a lot at night. I could not get rid of it. A friend told me about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It relieved my cough right away."

HAVELOCK WRECKERS BLANK HASTINGS 2-0 IN ROUGH BATTLE

Railroaders Retain Two-Goal Lead Gained In First Period

Phillips-Aboud Receive Majors, Haggerty Gets Match Penalty In Rough Game

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 18.— Havelock Wreckers defeated Hastings Juniors 2 to 0 in the Norwood arena in a Junior East Peterborough League hockey game last night (Monday).

Play was very rough at times with Phillips and Aboud receiving majors and Haggerty a match penalty. In all ten penalties were handed out, Hastings getting six to Havelock's four.

After the opening face-off Edwards for Hastings got right in, but Peters fell on the puck. McMullen and Kitchen broke away for Havelock and Montgomery in the Hastings goal was called to make a sensational stop on McMullen's shot. After three minutes of play Havelock opened the scoring when McMullen slapped in a loose puck. Havelock continued to turn the pressure on and from a scramble behind the net the puck deflected off Turner's skate into the goal. McMullen was credited with the goal, which came after five minutes of play. Havelock kept every man inside the Hastings blue line as they peppered Montgomery from all angles. Radford broke away but his dead-on shot was blocked by Peters. Boyle gave Radford a nice pass but again Peters turned his shot aside. Haggerty passed to Pollock who went right in, but it was called back when Pollock crossed the line ahead of the puck. Haggerty was given a match penalty when he argued too strenuously with Referee Innis over a minor penalty he had received. Hastings then turned on the pressure as Edwards and Scriver went right in, but Scriver's shot was blocked by Peters. McCutcheon was then given a penalty for tripping and Hastings ganged in. McMullen and Kitchen broke away but they were stopped at the defence. Jamieson got a nice shot away but Montgomery pulled off a nice stop. Turner received a penalty for tripping.

Havelock were swarming around the Hastings net and Montgomery came away out to clear Kitchen's shot just as the period ended.

No Score in Second.

Havelock opened the second period with every man on the attack. Moore, McMullen and Kitchen got a nice rush into the Hastings zone but Montgomery took Moore's shot on the pads. Boyle and Edwards broke fast for Hastings, but Edwards was offside. Scriver and Edwards got through but Edwards' shot was blocked. Puffer got right in but shot wide as Hastings began turning it on. Radford got through but he lost the puck. Puffer, Radford and Phillips worked right in but Peters turned Puffer's shot into the corner. Moore and McMullen combined on a return rush, but Montgomery pulled off a nice stop on Moore's shot. McCarthy, Edwards and Scriver kept the puck in Havelock's territory as they blazed shots at Peters. Puffer got right through but shot wide. Phillips and Radford got right in and Peters had to make a smart save on Phillips' deadly shot. Hagerty got a nice shot away, but Montgomery blocked it as the period ended with Havelock in the lead 2 to 0.

Count Remains Same.

Kitchen opened the third period by testing Montgomery with a hard ankle-high shot, which he steered to the corner. Boyle, on a return rush, got a backhand shot away, but it missed the corner. Scriver of Hastings was given a penalty for tripping and Havelock moved every man up. Aboud was right in twice but Montgomery outguessed him McCarthy got a beautiful shot away for Hastings, but Peters pulled off a phenomenal stop. Boyle and Radford combined but Radford missed the pass. Moore gave Kitchen a forward pass to put him right in, but Montgomery pulled of a sensational stop. As play roughened a bit, Aboud and Phillips were given major penalties for fighting. Just after the next face-off Moore and Radford were given minors for high sticking. As both teams were playing three men to a side play slackened. Just after Moore and Radford returned, Radford was again given the gate for tripping. As Havelock turned it on, Turner took Haggerty out of the play. Haggerty and McCarthy got the gate for roughing it as the rough play continued. Turner received a bad cut on his lip when he was struck by a flying puck. Boyle and McCarthy got right in, but Peters pulled off a nice stop on McCarthy's shot. Radford gave Puffer a nice pass but he hit Peters' pads. Boyle, Radford and Puffer got right in but Radford missed the corner. Radford got his thi rd penalty of the period for tripping. McCutcheon and Pollock combined for a nice rush but Pollock's shot missed the corner. Hastings turned it on and were pressing hard when the final bell rang. Aboud, Kitchen, McMullen and Moore were Havelock's best. For Hastings, Montgomery, Edwards and McCarthy were stars.

The teams:

Hastings—Goal, Montgomery; defence, Turner and Boyle; centre, Edwards; wings, McCarthy and Scriver. Subs, Puffer, Radford, Phillips and Stickles.

Havelock—Goal, Peters; defence, Aboud and Voyer; centre, Moore; wings, Kitchen and McMullen. Subs, Pollock, McCutcheon, Jamieson and Haggerty.

Referee—R. Ennis, Norwood.

The summary:

First Period.

1 Havelock, McMullen 3.00
2 Havelock, McMullen 5.00
Penalties — Haggerty (match), Turner.

Second Period.

No score—No penalties.

Third Period.

No score.

Penalties—Scriver, About (major), Phillips (major), Moore, Radford 3, Haggerty, McCarthy and Pollock.

CURLING

Echoes From No. 8
By HERB MARTIN

We are indebted to our good friend, Archie Gates, for the following contribution on curling. Although Archie is not able to be with us this season we are glad to report that he is progressing back to health and may be able to look in on No. 8 before the season is over.

"A rink is made up of four members, a lead, a second, a third and a skip. Take the lead for instance. At the skipper's command he tosses up his pair of rocks and then sweeps all other rocks diligently until it is his turn to throw a rock again. He has no say in the evening's proceedings; he cannot come over the line known as the hog line, and he is not allowed to enter into any discussion or argument which generally arises after each rock is thrown. In fact, as far as recognition is concerned, he may as well be in a land of strangers.

Our Tankard boys over at Lindsay yesterday did not do so well—they made the final game close, but that was all. M. Cruthers was down two to W. Langdon, and R. Best was down four to W. The idea of being on time is gradually sinking in....Our bonspiel to-morrow night commences sharp at 7.30.

TICKETS SELLING FOR AUTO CLASSIC 5 MONTHS AWAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The big guns of Indianapolis spoke out with an international roar today for renewal of daredevil warefare in the twenty-sixth annual 500 mile race next May 30.

First T. E. (Pop) Myers, veteran general manager of the biggest speed show on earth, announced that the ticket sale had opened, and that the advance demand already was greater than ever before.

Then Ted Allen, Secretary of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, which sponsors the speed classic declared that under new international rules in force at Indianapolis this year, a faster and more spectacular race than ever before will be witnessed.

The speed bugs of Indianapolis already have started their visitations to the huge amphitheatre, on whose two-and-a-half-mile circular course the dare-devils have roared to fame for the past quarter century. They saw again Wilbur Shaw, the doughty little speed king who captured the 1937 classic and established a new all-time speed record of 113.580 miles per hour, and Ralph Hepburn, battle-scarred ace, fighting it out mile after mile, with Shaw finally emerging the victor by a scant two seconds.

1937 Race An Epic

On the records and in the minds of the spectators, the 1937 race went down as the closest and most exciting in all the history of the grim red bricks, where fame and fate ride hand in hand. Hepburn's average was 133.565 miles an hour, and furiously behind him came Ted Horn, blond bombshell of California, followed by the great money driver, Louis Meyer.

International rules adopted this year by Indianapolis mark a radical change in design, experts concede. Instead of the huge 366-cubic-inch engines permitted last year, a maximum of 274 cubic inches displacement, without superchargers, and 183 inches with superchargers will be allowed. Thus smaller motors with increased power will propel the sleek-nosed racing creations in the 1938 race.

Although two-man cars will be permitted, it seems almost certain this will be one-man car racing, with every driving star in his own. Riding mechanics, courageous little comrades of racing aces, must sit on the sidelines or take their places in the pits. This is the first return to one-man cars under Indianapolis rules since 1929, the year that Ray Keech roared to victory, with Louis Meyer a close second.

Pop Meyers held a brief ceremony as the ticket sale opened in the historic Speedway offices. He was on hand with his capable aid, Miss Elsie (Dolly) Dallenbach, to officially open the Speedway season. From the walls smiled down the winners of the past their portraits seeming to say, "We'll be back, Pop, to try again."

And out at the big Hoosier racing oval, three miles from the general office Lawrence Welch, Speedway superintendent, was happy — the race is only five months away.

TWEED DEFEATS CAMPBELLFORD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan 18 — A bruising battle that netted Campbellford nine penalties proved costly for the Maroon-clad gang and they lost to Tweed by 6-1 count. The game, a Trent Valley league fixture, was played in the latter village Monday night and was featured by the rough play in the second stanza, Lambert, Campbellford defenceman, having five of the nine total chalked against him.

Both teams scored one goal each in the first frame, Reddick getting the visitors' marker on a combination pass from Phillips and Couch. In the second frame, the homsters counted four up, when Campbellford were two men short, adding one more in the third for the grand total of six. Line-ups:

Campbellford.—Goal, Ken Kingston; defence, Lambert, Wilks and D. Couch; centre, C. Couch; wings, Reddick and Phillips; alternates, Keating, Blake and Free.

Tweed.—Goal, Thompson; defence, Tummon, Woodcock; centre, Lang; wings, Courneya and J. Tummon; alternates, Marsh, Leal, F. Leal, Ellsbury, and Meraw.

Anglican Juveniles Defeat All Saints'

St. John's Juveniles got a 3-2 Church Hockey League win over All Saints' last night at All Saints' Rink, and the losers must win their game on Thursday to stay in the second-half running. Clark scored for St. John's in each period. Carpenter got one in the first and Robinson one in the second for All Saints. Mortimer sank a goal at the finish which the referee disallowed and a dispute followed. Clark shone all through, while Mortimer, Lewis, and Thompson were also good. The teams:

St. John's — Goal, Howell; defence, Hogg and Forsythe; centre, Cark; wings, Lewis and Thompson; alternates, Castle, Cranford.

All Saints' — Goal, Spooner; defence, Carpenter, Abraham; centre, Mortimer; wings, Robinson, Reed; alternates, Mills, Morley.

Referee—Don. Charlton.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THREE JUNIOR City Hockey League games are slated for tonight at the Brock St. rink. Monarchs and St. Peter's start proceedings at seven bells, followed at eight by Bombers and P.C.I., with the Canadiens and All Saints finishing it up at nine o'clock. Lots of action is promised in this junior triple-header and a number of future O.H.A. junior stars may be seen in each tussle. The loop is sponsored by the Peterborough Hockey Club and is first-rate training for the young puck-chasers. This is the second night of play in the City Loop, which ends its schedule on Feb. 7th, with playoffs following.

NELSON OSBORNE of Bowmanville writes us trying to line up home and home exhibition games between Bowmanville and a local boys' intermediate basketball team. The Rubbertown crew had hoped to enter the O.A.B.A. intermediate 'B' series, but decided to let it go for another year. They want each club to pay its own expenses and take its own gate, and state they can play at home on Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays. Anyone here interested is asked to write Nelson E. Osborne, Bowmanville, right away.

ORFUNS' RUGBY Club will hold a general meeting tonight (Tuesday at eight o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. All officers and players are urged to be on hand for important business. The 1937 financial statement will be presented at this time, along with other matters. It is uncertain whether or not the '38 slate of officers will be elected, depending on the attendance and the feeling of the meeting. At anyrate, Prexy Lou Brooks urges a big turnout at this gabfest. We wouldn't be too surprised to hear that the Orfuns were already making ambitious plans for next autumn.

BELLEVILLE REDMEN play the Petes here tomorrow night at 8.30 in the Brock. The first appearance here of Skipper Thomas' team this winter. In their last meeting, some three weeks ago in Belleville, Pick Hines' guys had to go overtime to squeeze out a slim verdict over the Thomasites. And since then the Redmen have added three players and are reported stronger. They must be going okay to trim Queen's and make the Fliers hustle to cop a game from them by one measly marker. It should be a dandy O.H.A. senior "B" joust between these oldtime sports rivals, and no doubt the fans will flock to see this contest. After lamping two nifty senior "B" scraps here so far this season.

* * * * * * *

RED WINGS flapped around the cool amphitheatre on the Rue Brock last night and flew off with a 3-1 victory over the local Bees. To start the O.H.A. intermediate "B" season here. Nearly 400 fans saw the proceedings and enjoyed the game okay, except that the homesters got a loss. The Bees buzzed around a lot but had the sting put on 'em instead of doing a vice versa. It was their second loss in three starts, and they'll have to hustle heaps to knock over Oshawa here on Friday in the gloaming. They had half a dozen or so good puckists out there on the frozen water last night but the team didn't turn in good organized hockey. Our second line looked rather disorganized and our defence just so-so. First line did a fair job and the goalie was all right. The team has possibilities but needs lots of practise yet to get clicking as a unit.

* * * * * * *

FANS HAD plenty to yell about as it was a wide-open scrap with plenty of speed, some good hockey shown and a few rousing bumping feuds that rattled the molars of folks living a lock away. But just a few penalties drawn. The Wings had a bit too much polish for the Bees—though the latter outplayed 'em in spots—and checked cautiously till they got breaks, and they were off then in a cloud of dust. Ice dust. Not too hot on combination but fast tricky skaters who could check. And a strong defence and first-rate goalie. No individual stars, and we'd say Ellis and Gardner went about as well as any of the Payne entry. Not a single—nor a married—fan was observed leaving the 'ockey igloo ere the end.

* * * * * * *

COACH PICK Hines was saying last night he might bring up a junior for the game here Wednesday. He said Bill Calladine's busted beak was coming along okay but he didn't expect to play him this tilt against Belleville. Instead he hoped to work Shrimp McDougall in at centre on the first line betwixt Ned Vitarelli and Eddie Starr. And on the second set of shock troops, put Kingdon in between Gratton and possibly young Jack Jopling of the Colts. The club is having quite a time of it this winter juggling players up and down on the junior, intermediate and senior squads. Players may come up for a game and go back but if they play more than one game in higher company must remain up. So Pick picks 'em accordingly and will do all right if he doesn't run out of players while some of our teams are still in the running!

WORD FROM Napanee that young Walter Gerow of the Gibbards had been offered a pro puck contract by Chicago Hawks comes on the heels of hints from the N.H.L. that scouts are on the prowl in all the little towns around Ontario now. Hunting for future pro prospects who have possibilities. The Hawks, for instance, are finding it tough to develop U.S. hockeyists, and the Red Wings are slowly going nuts looking for good youths to build up in a hurry. Around Central Ontario the past week, several scouts have appeared at minor games. Dick Irvin of the Leafs, Bill Tobin of Chicago, Billie Coutu of Boston, Joe Primeau of Toronto—up at Omemee—and others. Yep, there's gold in them thar spills.

UP AND down Sports' Rialto: Some Church Hockey League dope in tonight . . . . The juvenile Dukes are trying to line up an exhibition fray in Campbellford this week . . . . Gardens . . . . Jacques Tache, ace skier of Trenton Airport—and ski champ at the recent Midland carnival—will attend the ski meet here Feb. 5th and 6th . . . . Pearcy Allen, Toronto puckist—who refereed some good games here last winter (but was always late arriving)—. . . . Cobourg intermediate hockeyists play in Port Hope on Thursis going good on that European puck tour now with Sudbury Wolves day . . . . And the R.C.A.F.-ers meet Queen's in Kingston tomorrow twilight . . . . Our junior Colts journey to Belleville this Friday to end their schedule . . . . Quite a few fans are making plans to go from here to the Limestone City next Monday to see the Petes and Queen's resume their feud . . . . Grass can start sprouting any day at all now, and it won't bruise our feelings the slightest!

SMELTERS DEFEAT STIRLING 3 TO 2 IN T.V.L. FIXTURE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, Jan. 18. — Madoc evened their score in the Trent Valley League hockey race at 2-all when they emerged victorious over Stirling on Monday night by a 3-2 count. Alexander scored the winning counter for the homesters late in the third frame on Hailstone's rebound.

The first period opened fast with Madoc carrying the play for the first ten minutes, when Robinson scored for Stirling with Fraser getting the assist. Madoc came back to even the score when Kellar scored on a pass from Alexander. The period ended with no penalties.

Play in the second period was even till Robinson broke away and scored unassisted. Stirling held their lead for the balance of the period. Penalties: Embury 2, Geraldi 2.

Teams were evenly matched in the third period until with five minutes to go Smith evened the score on a pass from Alexander. Two minutes later Alexander came back to score again for Madoc on Hailstone's rebound, putting Madoc in the lead for the first time with only two minutes to go. Play was fast and furious, with Fraser and Embury each obtaining a penalty, but Madoc held their lead and the game ended — Madoc 3, Stirling 2.

Referee—V. Jack of Madoc.

The line-ups:

Madoc — Goal, Hulin; defence, Hailstone, Smith; centre, Heyworth; Wings, Kellar, Alexander; alternates Munro, Embury, Hill, Hawthorne.

Stirling — Goal, Fox; defence, Ackers, Geraldi; centre, Robinson, wings, Fraser, Leonard; alternates, Reid, Butler, Morton, Jones.

Tonypandy Tommy Has Youth And Weight In Friday Match

Either Braddock Or Farr To Start On Down Path Following Friday Fight

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (CP)—Deep in the Jersey hills, Tommy Farr and Jersey Jim Braddock looked to the finer edges of their ring equipment today, about ready for Friday night's scuffling in Madison Square Garden.

Both men are in tip-top trim. And beyond that they share considerable common ground, these heavyweight gladiators who have tasted success and want more.

Both are ring scarred, Braddock at 32 at least, Farr at the comparatively tender age of 23; both are pretty fair Marquess of Queensbury workmen and eager for Friday's ring call.

Tonypandy Tommy and Braddock the "Cinderella Man" of New Jersey, came up the hard way. They were "hungry" fighting men. And from sentiments expressed in their training camps one or the other is going to start down the trail Friday night, not only the hard way, but the fast way—eased along by a flurry of fists.

Farr, now managing himself, has been positively cruel to his hired hands in the gym. Because of his heavy workouts, plus consideration for his youth and a weight advantage of some 11 pounds, he'll enter the ring a favorite at about 206 pounds.

But while Braddock gives away some nine years to the Welshman, the wise ones compare their respective fights against Louis and point to Braddock's first round knockdown before he took a Louis' "sleeper" in the eighth. Farr stayed 15 rounds with Joe, whom he calls "Looie," but he didn't wade into the negro as did Jersey Jim.

All Saints' Seniors Score Fourth Win

All Saints' Seniors took their fourth straight Church Hockey League win last night at All Saints' rink with a 3-2 nod over George St. It was a fine fixture, with but one penalty drawn, play being clean, close and fast throughout. Mortimer scored for All Saints in the first frame and B. Parnall tied it up in the middle heat. In the third, B. Parnall notched another for George St., but Platt and Mortimer scored goals for All Saints'. L. Parnall, B. Parnall, Rennie, Hough and Townsend all went good for the losers. For All Saints', Rusaw, King, Mortimer, Platt and Fisher stood out. The teams:

George St.—Goal, Townsend; defence, L. Parnall, Rennie; centre, Hough; wings, Akers, B. Parnall; alternates, Kingdon, R. Parnall, Wildman, Burnham.

All Saints'—Goal, King; defence, Rusaw, Livingstone; centre, Mortimer; wings, McDougall, Fisher; alterinates, Platt, H. Charlton, Smith, Seabrooke, Frost.

Referees—Don Charlton and Ken Johnston.

Random Pick Ups!

It didn't last. Horner was chased by McTier when Gagnon took one of those well-known dives and phanny falls over Red's large leg and fooled the big Calgarian.

But the Leafs were aflame by now, and Chamberlain, Davidson and Thoms started a concerted raid. Bill fired for goal and followed through. The puck came to him off the back boards, and Willie tucked it gently into the net, like the Buzzer putting junior to bed.

Hot dawg! The Leafs were in front. It looked like they're in! Alas, Lorrain sagged one behind Broda, aided by Mantha and the omniscient Blakeroo had a piece of that baby, also, dod rot him.

In the overtime, Canadiens sparred for a draw. They illegally stood five square on defence and checked every Leaf. It was effective. Two very tired teams trooped out.

Canadiens and Leafs have now gone 140 minutes of swift hockey play, have scored eighteen goals on a fifty-fifty basis, and the only decision Leafs lost is a wholesale one to Ion in which they served 25 minutes in prison in 20 minutes elapsed playing time.

☆ ☆ ☆

The first period was lightning fast, but the Broda behavior had done its fell work. In the second, Bruins slowed the pace and checked Leafs to a fond farewell. In the third, when penalties gave us our big chance, Irvin thoughtlessly fixed one, too.

It was a game that never lacked excitement. The hackles of the crowd were always ruffled and each time that Horner made a movement there were loud and continuous cries all over the place for his life or at least an arm or a limb from the raucous roosters that perch all over the place down here.

Syl Apps was given a penalty by Smith near the end for something I didn't see. I asked "Superb Sylvanus" afterwards if it wasn't his first penalty.

"Yes," he said disgustedly, "and such a ridiculous one, too."

Smythe sat in the pressbox throughout the game. He wanted, he said, to see how the game looked from away up where, like that, I suspect he got an eyeful. I heard he lost a buck to Arthur Seigal on the first goal, and as the press hawks were all gunning for him, maybe they took him for more. It was that kind of a night.

WHITBY WINGS GETS 3-1 VICTORY OVER BEES IN LIVELY TUSSLE

400 Fans Brave Cold To See Wingmen Cop Intermediate Win

Bees Swarm In Hard All Through But Visitors Yank Out Win In Intermediate Joust

Whitby Red Wings flew away with a 3-1 victory over the local Bees last night at the Brock St. rink in an O.H.A. intermediate "B" fixture. Barely 400 fans braved the cold to see the first intermediate game of the year here, but they saw a scrappy struggle all the way through.

The score was 1-0 for the visitors in the first frame and 2-0 for them going into the third. It was a tight tussle with some fair hockey shown, and considerable bumping in the first half of the fracas. The Wings, thrice group champions of the "B" class in Central Ontario, didn't show much combination but they played smart hockey otherwise, and the Payne crew were inclined to mix it up in a disorganized brand of play.

Fast and Clean

The game was fast and clean. It had the fans yelling a good part of the route at the hot action dished up. The Bees had an edge on play for part of every period, and ganged up dangerously in the third. Only four penalties were handed out by Referee J. Sabatino, the visitors getting three of them.

There were no outstanding stars for the Bees, all of the players working hard from beginning to end. Some of the players were brilliant in spots but none starred over the entire distance. Clarke had a good night in goal, though he pulled in one of the markers trying to toss it aside. The defence used their bodies effectively and the forwards battled hard going both ways. Hurst was almost impossible to beat in the winners' net and he had good checking in front of him. Heard, and the Vipond twins stood out with all the Wings playing nice hockey. It was Whitby's third win in four starts and the Bees' second loss in three games.

A Burton-Gardner rush came close early in the first frame and play was fast and even. Ellis got through but Hurst outguessed him and the Petes had an edge for a time with dangerous rushes as the fans yelled at the fast action, and hard bumping. W. Vipond went off for slashing and the Bees swarmed in dangerously. Later, at full strength Whitby fought back and finally scored near the finish of the frame when Mayne took a corner passout from Phillips and flipped it into the cage. It was hot and even at the end.

Bees Buzz In

The second started off hotly with play rough and about even, with the Bees later pressing hard. A Coughlin-Burton rush came close as the Wings played cautiously. Burton hurt his leg and went off, with Ellis pulling a neat rush and then a Heal-Gardner drive making the goalie jump. Ellis and Heard were chased for roughing it and Brown's shot from outside defence glanced in off Clarke's glove to make it 2-0. Coughlin and Gardner tried hard but couldn't fool Hurst and Heal's effort at the bell was wasted.

Early in the third the Bees swarmed up four and five men but they were checked hard and closely. The local second line muffed several good chances on neat tries. Finally Brown scored for Whitby on Brown's rebound after the pair pulled a breakaway on the ganging Bees. Whitby shot down the ice to relieve the pressure as the locals tore in dangerously. Creighton finally scored the first local tally with nice stickwork in close after a face-off in enemy territory. The Bees kept pressing but Whitby checked closely and occasionally shot the disc down the rink to ease things up. Lewis Vipond went off for tripping and Ellis had a penalty shot but it was blocked. The Petes kept battling hard till the final bell but they failed to whittle down the Whitby margin. Heard went off hurt just before the last gong.

The teams:

Whitby: Goal, Hurst; defence, Luther Vipond and Sleightholme; centre, Heard; wings, Lewis Vipond and W. Vipond;; alternates, Phillips, Watson, Oke, Brown and Mayne.

Bees: Goal, Clarke; defence, Ellis and Magee; centre, Coughlin; wings, Burton and Gardner; alternates, Creighton, Heal, Archibald, Cadd and Brown.

Summary:

First Period

Whitby—Mayne (Phillips) ... 17.00
Penalty—W. Vipond.

Second Period

Whitby—Brown 15.00
Penalties—Ellis and Heard.

Third Period

Whitby—Oke (Brown) 6.00
Bees—Creighton 9.00
Penalty—Luther Vipond.

Belleville Here To Play Petes

O.H.A. senior "B" standing to date:

Team	P	W	L
Petes	5	4	1
Fliers	3	2	1
Belleville	4	2	2
Queen's	4	0	4

Belleville Redmen play the Petes here tomorrow (Wednesday) night at 8.30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink in an O.H.A. senior "B" game. It will be the first appearance of the Redmen here this season and an oldtime Belleville-Petes' puck battle is assured. It should draw a big crowd of fans.

In their only previous meeting this season, the Petes nosed out the nod in overtime against the Quinte crew on Belleville ice. It was a hard tussle and, since then, the Redmen have bolstered considerably, defeating Queen's and losing by one goal to the Fliers. These teams here tomorrow are well matched and the result is just a tossup. With R.C.A.F. playing the same night in Kingston, the standing may be changed considerably after Wednesday evening.

DETROIT GETS WINGMAN WARES FROM RAMBLERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (C.P.). — Sale of wingman Eddie Wares to Detroit's faltering Red Wings was announced here on Monday by Ross Lester Patrick of New York Rangers.

The lanky, young Calgary speedster, high scorer of Philadelphia Ramblers, Rangers' farm team in the International-American Hockey League, went to the Detroit National League Club for an unannounced amount of cash on an option basis. Rangers reserved the right to recall him next November 1 for the same terms.

In addition to the cash, the Detroit Club gave Rangers the pick of their International-American farm team at Pittsburg, and the "Broadway Blues" promptly chose Johnny Sherf. The 23-year-old American—he is from Calumet, Mich.—will go to Philadelphia to take over the wing post left by Wares.

Wares is the fourth man Manager Jack Adams has acquired in recent weeks in an effort to strike a combination that will lift his two-time champions out of the N.H.L.'s United States section cellar. The others are Alex Motter and Red Beattie, centres, who came from Boston, and Pete Bessone, amateur defenceman from Pontiac, Mich.

EBBIE'S ANKLE NOT BROKEN.

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (C.P.).—Ebbie Goodfellow, ace rearguard with Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, will be forced from the lineup for three weeks, and possibly a month, Manager Jack Adams announced on Monday after an X-ray examination.

Goodfellow injured his ankle in a game on Thursday at New York. X-rays showed no broken ankle bones, but the ligaments are badly torn. Pete Bessone, amateur defenceman with Pontiac of the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Hockey League, was signed Friday to help fill the gap left by Goodfellow's enforced absence.

CYCLING BOARD ASSAILS A.A.U.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—(AP). — The United States Amateur Athletic Union was accused Monday of "stealing amateur cycling away from the National Cycling Association" and promptly retorted it had assumed jurisdiction over the sport at the specific request of the Amateur Bicycle League.

"The National Cycling Association," said a statement issued over the signature of Patrick A. Mulvey, chairman of the Board of Control of the N.C.A., "contends that the movement of the Amateur Athletic Union to take over control of amateur cycling in the United States is an "outlaw movement" and that any bicycle rider competing under their jurisdiction will be suspended from cycling all over the world.

"The National Cycling Association, which has controlled amateur and professional cycling for 37 years, has no idea of relinquishing the control of the A.A.U. and accuses the A.A.U. of trying to steal amateur cycling away from the N.C.A."

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 18.—The hockey boys have worked enthusiastically flooding the rink, upwards of 1,000 barrels were used last week. A contract for Hydro has been made out and it is expected the rink will be opened for skating and hockey practice at the end of the week.

Trent River played Indian River at Norwood Rink, Saturday, coming out victorious, 4-3.

Winnipegger Replaces Cude

PAUL GAUTHIER

WILF. CUDE

A puck fired by "Baldy" Northcott in a game against Montreal Maroons struck Wilfie Cude, Canadien's goalkeeper in the face and the dynamic little Welshman went to hospital with a broken nose and cheekbone. Canadiens have brought up young Paul Gauthier from New Haven Eagles to handle the goal job, while Cude is on the sidelines. Gauthier went to New Haven from Winnipeg where he starred as an amateur with the powerful Monarchs of three years back.

Magnificent Pageantry Will Herald Opening B.E. Games

'Empiad' First Envisaged By Sydney Editor Many Years Ago

SYDNEY, Jan. 18 (CP).—Impressive pageantry will herald the opening of the third British Empire Games here February 5 and, incidentally, serve as a tribute to the man who envisioned these gatherings of the Empire's athletes. The choice of Sydney for the 1938 games was a fitting one, for it was here that Richard Coombes first published the idea of an "Empiad."

It is doubtful, however, whether Coombes, a Sydney newspaper editor, foresaw the magnitude on which his idea would be carried out more than a quarter-century after he broached the idea in his newspaper. All the conveniences and splendor money can provide are available for the Games, being held in conjunction with Australia's 150th anniversary celebrations.

Similar To Olympic Games.

A crowd of 75,000 is expected to be crammed into the Sydney Cricket Club bowl when a fanfare of trumpets, followed by a three-gun salute and the release of 200 white pigeons signals the opening of the games. The ceremonies have a marked similarity to those opening Olympic Games.

Outside the bowl nearly 400 of the Empire's finest athletes will draw up behind their standard-bearers. Headed by bands and hailed by trumpets, the teams will march into the bowl after massed bands and a 2,000-voice choir signify the arrival of Governor-General Lord Gowrie by the playing and singing of the National Anthem.

The athletes will circle the track, doff hats and face left in salute to the Governor-General, who will welcome the competitors and read a message from King George VI. As the National Anthem is played the Union Jack will be raised, and when it reaches the top of a tall flagstaff, the flags of the Empire countries will be broken out from shorter staffs.

First Event 100-Yard Dash.

The roar of guns and release of the pigeons will precede the taking of the oath of amateurism by a member of the Australian team. Then the choir will sing "Rule Britannia" and the athletes will parade from the field in preparation for the first heat of the 100-yard dash. The games will be on.

Nearby the vast bowl is the Empire Village, constructed from the $50,000 grant of the Australian Government. In the bowl are the running track, the jumping pits, a lawn bowling green, bicycle track and boxing and wrestling arena. A little distance away is the $200,000 North Sydney Olympic swimming pool, where the diving and swimming events will be decided.

Only for the rowing races will the scene shift from the opening spotlight. The Napean River rowing course, where Ned Hanlan won the world's sculling title in 1884, is 34 miles away. It is a three-mile straightaway which can accommodate eight shells for one event.

REVIVE TRACK MEET

LONDON—(CP).—A revival of the international track and field meet between England, Scotland and Ireland has been agreed to by the Amateur Athletic Association provided suitable financial plans can be made.

TATE UNDER KNIFE

Medwick Joins Holdout Ranks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 18.—(AP).—Outfielder Joe Medwick of St. Louis Cardinals said Monday he had joined the early season crop of baseball holdouts despite his club's voluntary offer to a raise in pay.

Medwick was voted the "most valuable player" award for the National League last season, but he said he based his claim for more money on his record as the league's champion batter.

Joe said his contract from the Cardinals carried a boost in salary, but Joe thought the raise was not enough. He declined to say how much he received last year and how much increase had been offered for 1938.

DRILLON BOOSTS SCORING MARGIN TO SIX POINTS

MONTREAL, Jan. 18 (C.P.). — Gordon Drillon, Toronto Maple Leafs' driving front line sniper, widened his lead during the last week at the head of the National Hockey League's marksmen. With 32 points he was six up on his team-mate, Syl Apps and Cecil Dillon of New York Rangers.

Official N.H.L. statistics released last night gave Drillon 14 goals and 18 assists. The young Leaf shared goal-getting leadership with Dillon, whose 12 assists left him far behind the Toronto star. Apps stayed on a point level with the Ranger, with 11 goals and 15 assists.

Drillon is the league leader in assists, the official tabulation shows. His 18 put him three up on Apps.

(The league's statistics to-night corrected their figures of last week, which had given Drillon one assist too many and taken one goal off his total. At league headquarters, it was explained the scorer's report for a Boston-at-Toronto game on January 4 had not been received when last week's statistics were compiled.

Penalty leader in this week's standings is Allan Shields of Montreal Maroons with 53 minutes spent with the timers. Babe Siebert of Montreal Canadiens is next in line for "bad man" honors with 46 minutes.

Dimaggio To Confer With Yankees' Boss

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (UP).—Joe DiMaggio, sensational young outfielder of the New York Yankees, arrived here Monday and said he expected to confer with Owner Jacob Ruppert before he returns to his San Francisco home February 1.

"I am going to wait until the Yankees offer me a contract before I have anything to say about salary," DiMaggio, who was named the "Player of the Year" by the New York baseball writers Saturday, said:

Joe denied reports that he already had signed a contract and that the subject was being used for publicity purposes. "That is positively not true," he said, "but I want to settle it as soon as possible."

Hockey Hits High N.Y. Attendance

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—(CP).—Interest in Canada's National winter sport reached a new high for the season here Sunday when 30,264 persons paid to witness amateur hockeymen perform at Madison Square Garden in the afternoon and New York Rangers and the Americans wage ice warfare at night.

Rovers, a farm club of the Rangers in the Eastern Amateur League, defeated Atlantic City, 5-2, as 14,247 persons looked on. At night Rangers shellacked Amerks 4 to 0 as 16,017 paid customers shouted feverish encouragement to the warriors.

GELANDESPRUNG

The Gelandesprung, like the jump turn, is very useful, when used in its proper place. While the jump turn is used when travelling slowly, the Gelandesprung can be used at much greater speed; it is also used to clear obstacles which cannot be avoided, logs, stones, low fences, bumps, hollows, snow-drifts and cornices.

Practise first on a smooth slope with only imaginary obstacles. Take a straight run, grip your poles firmly with thumbs on top of the poles, swinging poles slowly forward, and drop them near the tips of the skis, crouch low and using the support of the poles and the momentum of speed, spring up and draw knees almost to your chest. Keep the ski tips up by bending the feet upward, and remain in that position as long as possible before dropping the feet to the ground.

Stretch your legs just before landing so you will be able to make a flexion of the knees when contacting the snow to absorb the shock. To steady your run right after landing, bring one ski swiftly forward in a half telemark position. A palm hold on the poles may be used to get greater rise off the snow, but the thumb hold is quicker, particularly in emergencies.

When you have mastered the Gelandesprung on a smooth slope, try it over a jump. If you wish to make is spectacular use the bump for springing up; if you are racing and want speed and smoothness in your running, spring a few feet before the bump and you will merely skim over the top. Emile Allais, of France, winner of the F. I. S. races at Chamonix last year has mastered the later method of taking the bump almost with perfection. Birger Ruud the Olympic jumping champion gets a thrill in downhill running by leaping at the bump as far as possible.

In very great speed the poles are not used in the Gelandesprung merely spring up as when jumping, with the legs remaining crouched in the air. Some skiers use a Gelandesprung rise off the snow, and swing into a jump turn when landing. This is quite spectacular, but not as practical as the proper jump turn.

TOURING CURLERS LOSE AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 (C.P.). — The touring Scottish curlers were guests of Lord Tweedsmuir at Rideau Hall following a series of five matches with local curling clubs yesterday.

In the five games Ottawa clubs scored four victories and the visitors one. The entire program called for granite pay.

J. M. Hoey skipped his Glebe curling team to a 9 to 6 victory over the Waverley four skipped by J. M. Dykes.

At the Ottawa Curling Club the Scots divided honors when W. C. S. McGlashen skipped the Strathclyde four to an 11 to 4 victory over Bruce Stuart's Ottawans, while in the other game George A. White led his team to a 9 to 6 win over Hector McKay.

At the Rideau Rink, where two games were played, E. L. Brittain skipped his Rideau four to a notable victory over Archie Howie's Fife four 9 to 8, while another Rideau team skipped by Colonel A. McMillan defeated the Galloway rink of R. Grierson 15 to 5.

MARMORA PUPILS REVIEW STUDIES AT PARENTS' NIGHT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Jan. 18.—"Parents Night" was observed by Marmora High School on Saturday, with a three hour program commencing at 7.30 p.m.

Four rooms of the Public School were utilized for the occasion. Under direction of W. W. Fraser, B.A., 2nd Form teacher, a display of science experiments took place in Room 1, simultaneously with the rendition of French songs in Room 2, under Miss G. Quigley, B.A., and a performance of "Twelfth Night" in Room 4. The cast of "Twelfth Night" comprised the following Middle School pupils, Maurice Maloney, Frances Hollingsworth, Richard Gale, Murray McInroy, and Eugene Reynolds. Miss Winnifred Schofield announced the characters, while Miss P. Wilson, B.A., directed its production.

All Get Chance to Attend

Repeat performances enabled the large gathering to attend the programs of the various rooms.

Room 3 was devoted to experiments by the department of mathematics, in which E. J. Gale, M.A., Ewart Haacke, Arnold Caldwell and William Hart took part at the same time. A one-act play "The Old Bull" was presented in Room 4, by the following pupils of Second Form, Joseph Bertrand, Mary Elliott, Tom Byrnes, William Prentice and William Reynolds. Sound effects were carried out by Essen Gale and David Rhind, with W. W. Fraser directing.

The final series were a demonstration session in Canadian History in Room 1, by Middle School pupils, and an excerpt from the French play "Le Voyage de Monsieur Perrichon," in Room 2, with characters taken by Ross Rogers, Anne Paquet, Joan O'Connor, Jack Gray, Donald Prentice and Murray McInroy. Other pupils were in charge of a teleautograph system and also of a candy stall.

After the serving of refreshments, crests were presented to the members of the 1937 rugby team, with speeches being given by E. J. Gale, M.A., and Leo O'Connor.

HALL'S BRIDGE

ALTAR LANTERN IS DEDICATED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HALL'S BRIDGE, Jan. 18.—A beautiful service was held at St. Matthew's Anglican Church during morning prayer on Sunday, when the Rev. E. C. Moore, Rural Dean, dedicated a magnificent Altar Lectern "To the glory of God and in memory of Maye McCaffrey." It will be remembered that Miss McCaffrey departed from amongst us on Saturday, December 11th, 1937. Although the deceased lady had only been a member of St. Matthew's during the past few years, she was from the beginning a very zealous and hard worker for anything she considered was for the good of the church or the organizations connected with it.

And it was due to her endeavors that the funds were collected for the furnishing of the newly erected Parish Hall. The dedication consisted of that beautiful service used by the Anglican church on such occasions and was most feelingly conducted by Mr. Moore, who followed it by a short address and then a most eloquent sermon which will be long remembered by many. The usual congregation was largely augmented by relatives and friends of the late Miss McCaffrey.

Sections of the new swinging bridge for Buckhorn lock arrived during the week and are now being assembled by a party of skilled workers. It is expected that the bridge will be in position and ready for use in the early spring.

A very successful dance was held at St. Matthew's Parish Hall on Friday evening, the proceeds will be devoted to the club funds. In spite of bad roads and inclement weather, the attendance was very satisfactory and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

On Monday, January 10, a very memorable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wood, when about forty members of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at Buckhorn, assembled for a surprise party. The party started off with community singing led by Mrs. R. Armstrong, with Marjorie Windsover at the organ. Contests and a most exciting game of pick up sticks, at which Mrs. Finnie was the winner. An address to Mrs. Wood was then read by Mrs. Harry Shearer and the Misses Norma Graham, Thelma Fulton and Marjorie Windover then presented her with a beautiful occasional table in walnut and table lamp, in appreciation of her services as organist at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at Buckhorn for the past seven years. Mrs. Wood thanked her friends for their beautiful gifts in a very happy response. The gathering then joined in singing "For she is a jolly good fellow." Further contests took place whilst supper was being prepared. After a dainty meal had been enjoyed some stunts took place. The company dispersed to their homes after spending a very jolly evening.

MILLBROOK

Hot Supper Held By S.S. Teachers

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Jan. 18. — The Waverly Club Rooms were the scene of a pleasant event on Saturday evening, when the teachers and officers of St. Thomas, Anglican Sunday School held their annual hot supper.

Three long tables were laid for the meal, red candles burning in brass holders containers of flowers and matching fluted runners on the white cloths, making them most attractive for the occasion.

A. A. Needler and G. F. Burton as cashiers, and among those assisting with the service of the abundant meal were: Mrs. L. J. Morton, who was the convenor for the supper and a number of the girls of her class including; Laureen and Mary Handley; Mary and Maud Raper; Wanda Bristow; Mary and Betty Smith; Meegan Abbott; others who also helped were Miss B. Northern Ireland To Vote On Independence

Spurred by the announcement of forthcoming conferences between Eamonn De Valera and the British government which are expected to raise the question of partition, Lord Craigavon (RIGHT), prime minister of northern Ireland, has advanced the election planned for May to February 9, and will seek endorsation for a continuance of his policy of independence from the Irish Free State. Mr. De Valera is expected to seek from Britain solution of the contentious division issue which has rankled in the breast of Irish Nationalists since 1920, when northern Ireland was separated from the south. The map shows boundaries of the two states. At LEFT Ulster troops and Belfast police are shown patrolling the streets of Belfast, the northern capital to quell rioting which has occurred spasmodically between Protestants and Roman Catholics for years.

tor is liable to a sentence of two years' imprisonment and a fine not exceeding $2,000. In addition the fellows who operate these boards bring themselves within the category of running a common gambling house, and the penalty for this is one year in prison or a heavy fine. There are a few exceptions in the case of fall fairs with regard to games of chance. But the exemptions do not include punch boards.

"I understand there has been a large consignment of these punch boards come through on their way to a county distributor, and it is only fair, I think, that the press should let the public and dealers know where these things stand. We have made some seizures, and we aren't going to allow these things to drift right back where they were before If so, a harder crack will have to be administered."

The fate of the twenty slot machines, pin games, punch boards, etc., that sit in the Provincial Police office here under seizure will not be decided until after January 28, when the fifteen charges of keeping common gaming houses, laid against Victoria County men, will be heard. The Crown Attorney was asked what action he was going to take with regard to the machines. Mr. Anderson stated that, if convictions were registered, he would ask the court to direct that the machines be wrecked.

"small chance of being born and great difficulty in surviving."

Other recommendations similar to those submitted by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Railway Brotherhoods last week, were made.

The Brief Recommended

That the employment commission should be maintained as a permanent advisory body "for the purpose of studying methods of liquidating rather than alleviating unemployment."

A further program of public works and enlargement of the housing act with "granting of countervailing subsidies, particularly in the case of low price dwellings."

That the proposed unemployment insurance measure be extended to include insurance against sickness and invalidity.

That the federal parliament obtain such constitutional amendments necessary to empower it to regulate hour of labor and number of working days in a week assuring a weekly 40-hour rest period.

That the criminal code be amended to provide protection for those engaged in peaceful picketing as recognized in provincial statutes.

Tolls on canal traffic with preferred rates for Canadian shipping.

Concurrent legislation with the provinces for control of highways, taxation of commercial transport on highways and regulations to protect those employed in highway transport.

Compensation for workers who may be temporarily unemployed as a result of co-ordination of railway transport services.

THE FAVOURITE BEAUTY SOAP OF LOVELY "MISS TORONTO"

"THOUSANDS OF CANADIAN GIRLS FEEL THE SAME WAY I DO ABOUT THE New Improved Palmolive"

SAYS BEAUTIFUL Nellie Hallam

"It's really lovely for my skin," adds this charming young lady. "The new Palmolive lather seems much gentler, yet keeps my skin much softer, clearer than any other soap I've used. And there's not the slightest irritation.

"The new perfume is delightful too. It makes Palmolive so much nicer to use. And now that Palmolive is harder, it seems to go much farther."

The new, delicate blending of Palmolive's soothing Olive and Palm Oils makes its gentle lather more effective than ever before. Use Palmolive, from now on. See how quickly your skin becomes softer, fresher . . . lovelier all over.

FIRST ONLY OLIVE OIL . . . NOW, ONLY PALMOLIVE KEEPS THE QUINS' SKINS LOVELY

Palmolive is so good, so safe, so mild, it was selected exclusively by Dr. Dafoe, for the famous Dionne Quins. Surely if Palmolive keeps the Quins' skins in smooth and perfectly healthy condition, it can keep all your skin lovely too. Get some today.

As the twig is bent

GOOD habits learned in youth are apt to stick throughout life—the daily newspaper habit for instance. Young Canada is interested in the daily newspaper almost from the time he can read, and he never outgrows the habit.

TRUE, his interests change. He graduates from the "funnies" to the features, to the sports page, the financial and world news, but the daily newspaper remains with him through life a reliable source of relaxation, information and news which influences his opinions and purchases.

AS population increases newspaper circulations grow. Today, 2,246,621 daily newspapers are read every day from coast to coast—an increase of more than 270,000 copies since 1929.

CONSEQUENTLY, the daily newspaper forms a link between the manufacturer or merchant and consumer which in its usefulness to the individual and industry alike is unparalleled by any other medium.

Property Where Now Stands Parliament Buildings Sold For $100, In The Early Days

Two Brothers, Aged 90 And 92 Reside In Town Of Gananoque

GANANOQUE, Jan. 18.—Two old men, who have lived nearly 200 years of full and active life between them, are the brothers Severe and Francis Dorey, veteran residents of this town. Severe is 90 and his brother is 92. The stories they tell of bygone days comprise a vivid picture of pioneering.

The ground on which the Parliament Buildings stand at Ottawa was once owned by the father of the brothers. In those days Ottawa was known as Bytown, and Francis Dorey, Sr., owned a shack on a piece of property in the district.

"Father had moved to Findlay Station, near Gananoque, as he had the contract to cut a right-of-way through what was then woods, for the Grand Trunk Railway," said the older brother. "One day a man came to our house and said he was interested in buying the property at Bytown. He bartered with dad and eventually a deal was made and he gave my father $100 in bills. My, it was a lot of money. It later turned out that this man was buying the property which was later sold as the site for the Parliament Buildings of Canada. Queen Victoria was asked to make the selection for the Parliament Buildings and she picked the spot that father owned."

Both men were experienced dynamite workers in their prime and for forty-five years they never had an accident. The holes were drilled by hand in those das. They told of the early days in Gananoque and of the building of the Thousand Island Railroad. The first engine, purchased in England, was erected, and the day came to put the monster in motion. The fires were lighted and when the engineer had sufficient steam he pulled the throttle but the engine refused to move.

"They worked on that engine for hours, but it was of no use," said Francis Dorey. "A letter was dispatched to England, explaining what had happened, and back came the reply: 'Loosen the bearings and give her oil.' These instructions were carried out and the engine started and did service for many years."

The Rambling REPORTERS

LOST HIS PUP.

A story that needs but a few words to tell was revealed to The Examiner in a missive that came into the office this morning.

"Would you be so kind as to put a lost ad in the paper for us as we are up against it and the little boy lost his pup. It was given him for a present. It is a black one with white feet and a white strip down his breast. Its name is Jigs. I have not the money to pay for an ad as we have all been sick."

The Examiner will be glad to put in touch with this family anyone finding the little lad's pup.—C.

VESTRY MEETING OF ALL SAINTS'

With an increase of over $300 in envelope subscriptions, the missionary allotments more than paid in full, a nice sum paid off the parish debt and considerable credit balances in all the societies of the church, the annual vestry meeting of All Saints' Church showed a very healthy state of affairs in the parish.

The two retiring wardens showed a wonderful sidelight on their activities, whereby in a two-year period special and expensive repairs had been made on the roof of the building and the whole interior was painted and renovated by special efforts of their own.

Alex. Webber has held the office of rector's warden for the past five years, and James Price that of people's warden for a two-year period. In giving up these offices a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered to them. The rector has appointed as his warden John Edgar, and the unanimous choice of the congregation was Ken. Jarvis.

The lay delegates to Synod are Messrs. Boddy, Buller, Cutmore, Edgar and Richardson. The representatives on the various boards remain unchanged and S. T. Harris was re-elected vestry clerk. R. J. Bolton and J. C. Adams were appointed auditors.

EASIEST WAY OUT

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 18.—(CP).—The frankest man in Windsor has been found, police say. When they raided an alleged gambling house recently, one of the 17 Windsor men nabbed was Joseph Bacham, 20. When asked his occupation, Bacham said "gambler." And the word went on police records.

ALDERMAN DUTTON GUEST SPEAKER ST. ANDREW'S MEN

Alderman James Dutton was the guest speaker at the inaugural meeting of St. Andrew's Men's Association on Monday night. He spoke on the subject, "The Relation of Men to the Church."

There was a large attendance, with the vice-president, Ken Kingston, in the chair. Supper was served by St. Andrew's C.G.I.T. group with Eleanor Stacey, Miss Ruth Barns and Isabella Waddell in charge. A sing-song was led by the chairman, with R. B. Harle at the piano. Adam Hawley was soloist.

A. F. Reid introduced a scheme, whereby the young men shall act as collectors at Sunday services.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, who referred to Alderman Dutton's outstanding services to the city.

The church was described by Alderman Dutton as a living organism rather than an institution. It existed to do a work that no human organization could do, he said.

He contended that if the church in any town or city was destroyed, social life would become corrupt, and that if it was to perish there was nobody or no institution that could take its place.

Offered Site Free

He told the story of a minister in a Western Canadian town who found it difficult to get a site on which to build a church. The price asked was beyond the means of the congregation. The minister spoke to a real estate agent, declaring he would send out a message that there would be no church in that community. The next day the minister was offered, free of charge, two of the choicest sites in the town on which to erect his church.

The point of the story was that the real estate agents were made to realize that a town without a church would not attract people to it.

Alderman Dutton claimed that too often men who were enthusiastic in business enterprises and in service club work, were indifferent to the church. A group of men in a service club, he said, could usually attain the objective they set themselves. "Why cannot we do the same in the church?" he asked.

He urged the church needed financial support and contended it should not be left to just a few members of the congregation to carry the burden.

George A. Gillespie thanked Alderman Dutton for his address and gave an account of last Sunday's effort to balance the budget at St. Andrew's.

Singing of the National Anthem and the pronouncement of the benediction by the pastor, the Rev. E. W. Young, brought the meeting to a close.

JEWISH YOUTH IS CONFIRMED

Confirmation ceremonies for Sam Fine, 13-year-old son of Rabbi and Mrs. A. Fine, 200 Stewart street, were carried out in traditional Hebrew fashion at the Hebrew Synagogue, with every Jewish family of the city and many relatives and friends, such as Solomon Fine from New York; Sol. Fine from Montreal; Mrs. Nasimok from Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Holland from Lakefield present.

A dinner was held in the Synagogue Hall, where Jacob Low was toastmaster.

Sam Fine, in his address, thanked and blessed all those who had helped him in Jewish education and in his upbringing in Hebrew faith. He declared he would abide by the laws of the Holy Bible, which he had taken upon himself as a new member of the community, and also promised to try to be worthy of his parents and loyal to his country.

Addresses were also given by his father, Rabbi A Fine and his mother, and many others.

The dinner ended by the singing of the Hebrew national anthem and "God Save the King."

OBITUARY

WILLIAM CHAMBERLAIN.

The death of William Chamberlain occurred at his home, 238 Wolsley Street, on Monday, following an illness of three weeks. He was in his 88th year.

The greater part of his life was spent in farming in this district. He was born in Otonabee, son of the late William Chamberlain and Eleanor Ingram. About 17 years ago, he came to Peterborough from Douro Township. He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and a member of the Duke of Wellington L.O.L. 457 of Nassau.

Surviving are three sons and one daughter, Raymond of Bryant, Saskatchewan, Ernest of Yorkton, Saskatchewan, and Reginald of Douro, and Mrs. R. Bradfield of Douro. Remaining also are one brother Thomas D. Chamberlain of Otonabee, and one sister, Mrs. M. Reynolds of Otonabee, and twelve grandchildren.

The funeral will be held on Thursday at 1.30 p.m. from the residence of his daughter, Lot 3, Concession 8, Douro, to Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr officiating

A Fine Record

Harry Illingworth known wherever the Salvation Army appears is 71 years old and claims he fell in love with the Army when only a boy. In 1907 he won the first prize in England for self-denial. Coming to Canada in 1920 he has kept up the good work. His 1937 record is, collected $600 for financial efforts, sold 500 Easter War Crys and 1,026 Christmas War Crys. (Parks Studio Photo.)

Oldest Woman Pioneer of Percy Passes 82nd Birthday

Mrs. Margaret Johnston Treasures Memories Of Log Cabin Days, Children Around Her Knees

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 18.—Believed to be Hastings oldest woman and one of Percy township's oldest pioneer women, Mrs. James Johnston, formerly Margaret Orr, celebrated on Saturday, January 15th her 82nd birthday.

She was born on the farm now owned by her only son, Gordon Johnston, and was one of a family of nine. Over sixty years ago she was married to James Johnston, now deceased.

Mrs. Johnston who lives alone on Clyde Street ever since her husband's death, does her own work, looks after the fires and is burning coal for the first time this winter. When the Examiner correspondent called on her on the afternoon of her birthday she greeted her in her friendly way, as she was seated in her favorite chair near the window containing potted plants which she so enjoys caring for. Beside her on a stand lay her Bible which she reads daily, and a beautiful cyclamen, given to her at Christmas by the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, made the room most cheerful.

She looked most quaint in her white cap, little white apron, black frock and wore a knitted shawl which she so much admired and proudly remarked she had knitted it during the past summer.

Born in One-Room Log Shack

Her cheery talk inevitably reverted to the days of long ago. With all the brightness of a woman half her age, and with memory alert, she described the one-roomed log shanty where she was born and in which her parents and their family of nine lived. In speaking of the old fashioned bunks, their sleeping abodes, she said, "They were as good in those days as the chesterfields are of today and we were just as happy." She is able to look back with pleasing memory to her school days. The little schooling she received was imparted to her in Fleming's School . One teacher in the next school stands out prominently in her recollections, Miss Jane Armour who taught at the age of 14 years and went to and from her school on horseback. Mr. Fred Brown of Seymour and Mr. Charles Huycke of Percy are the only ones now living who attended school with her.

Although unable to do very much reading owing to a cataract on one eye which also affects the other one, she delights in reading the newspapers and loves to hear of happenings in her own district. She retains a keen memory of the events of her younger days and can recount many an interesting story of the pioneer settlers of Percy township.

She can remember when Hastings had no stores and Warkworth was the nearest trading place. "We had plenty to eat too and although we hadn't the choice of today we were just as healthy," said Mrs. Johnston. "There were no doctors available in those days and the Lord must have been with us, or we wouldn't have come through what we did." "Old Mrs. Johnston, not related to me, who lived on the farm now owned by Fred McGee, served as a doctor to everyone in time of sickness."

Always Home at Midnight

"These were the good old days. We had parties, but different from today. I've danced eight reels and not fox-trots. We could not play cards and were always home at twelve o'clock."

"In those days they wore more clothes and acted differently than the girls and boys of today." She thinks people should enjoy themselves without too much laxity in conduct.

He Happiest Days

"My happiest days were when I was on the farm with my children about my knees."

This grand old lady then produly remarked, "I was married sixty years ago and still have in my home two knitted bed quilts I made 60 years ago."

Although as a child she attended the Hastings' Anglican church she later attended St. Andrew's Presbyterian church and has since been a member.

Many called at her home on the day of her birthday, to extend their best wishes. He daughter, Minnie (Mrs. William Hedger) arrived in the morning with a birthday cake and other dainties to spend a few days with her mother. Her only son, Gordon, and his wife had planned a birthday dinner with her but on account of illness were unable to be present. Her daughter Mabel (Mrs. H. Alley) of Gilbert Plains, Manitoba, visited her mother during the past summer.

Mrs. Johnston is the proud grandmother of seven grandchildren. She has three brothers and one sister living, Harry Orr of Percy, John of Peterborough and Joseph of Winnipeg and Sarah, Mrs. Thomas Stevenson of British Columbia.

"CROOK" TAKES HOUSE

WINNIPEG—(CP) — Crooks took Winnipeg's model house, but the city aldermen are happy. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Crook gave the city $400 as down payment on the $3,820 house, promising to make monthly payments of $32.70 for 20 years. City councillors accepted the offer.

Police Are Looking For Modern Fagin Who Entered Green's Clothing Store

Is there a modern Fagin at work in the city? If so police have so far failed to find him.

Green's men's clothing store was recently burglarised and clothing to a total estimated value of $150 was stolen. Entry to the premises was gained through a small hole broken in one of the rear windows.

So small was the aperature in the broken window, that Mrs. Green expressed the firm conviction, it could not have admitted an adult. She believes a child must have been employed to enter the premises and shoot the bolt on the rear door to admit the burglars.

Her uninvited guests made away with two suits of clothes; two pairs of pants; a quantity of sweaters and windbreakers and some shirts and socks.

City police are investigating.

LACK OF INTEREST MAY FORCE ORDER TO CLOSE DOORS

Two of Peterborough's venerable social organizations are in evil times and in serious danger of collapse unless the community provides a larger and more enthusiastic membership in each case, reports today indicated. The local Order of the Woodmen of the World have given notice to their landlord that they intend to abandon the hall they have occupied for more than 20 years on the top floor over the Nugent Drug Company on George Street. Members of the Peterborough Caledonian Club, which has been using the Woodmen Hall for many years, are debating whether or not to continue operations now that new quarters must be found.

One of only four or five active members of the Woodmen said today the abandonment of the hall does not necessarily mean that the Order is being disbanded here, but hinted that it may be the end if supporters of old do not rally to the aid of the organization. The Order has found it impractical to continue rental of the hall, even though the rental has been shared by the Caledonian Club, it was stated.

Regular Woodmen meetings have been held right up to the present, but only the same four or five have attended. Mrs. E. Millard is the Commander this year and Mrs. Reg. Tate the clerk. In better days, the Order had on its rolls as many as 300 active members here.

The fact that an important portion of the local Scot population, estimated as high as one third, has been lost to Peterborough in the past five years, mostly through a return migration to Scotland, is partly responsible for the situation in which the Caledonian Club exists. A few years ago, the active membership of the club was over 200, but now club meetings rarely bring out more than fifty members, mostly women. The finances of the club are in excellent shape, however.

No definite decision has been reached by the Caledonians on the future of their club, but they are certain that, unless a revived interest is taken immediately, a decision to fold up will be necessary.

FIRST VIOLINIST AT AGE OF NINE

One of the most famous names in the musical world to-day is that of Efrem Zimbalist, who will appear here in recital next Monday night in the Collegiate Auditorium, under Peterborough Branch of Canadian Concert Association.

Russian by birth Zimbalist makes his winter home in New York City and his summer home in Connecticut and has two children born in the United States.

Zimbalist was born in Rostov-on-the-Don, on April 9, 1889. His first teacher was his father, who was an orchestra leader. The boy showed such extraordinary gifts that when has was only nine years old he became first violinist in a grand opera orchestra. And it was not because his father happened to be the distinguished director of the opera house, for the elder Zimbalist was the most exacting master Efrem ever had. It was only at the insistence of the older musicians that the father finally consented to entrust his young son with so important a post.

In 1903 he entered the Imperial Conservatory in Petrograd, studying under Professor Leopold Auer. Graduating he was awarded the coveted Gold Medal and the Rubenstein Scholarship of 12,000 rubles. He made his Berlin debut at the age of eighteen, appearing later in London and on the Continent with great success.

His American debut was made on October 27, 1911, with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. On this occasion Zimbalist played the Glazounow Concerto in A minor for the first time in America. He was immediately hailed as an artist of great merit.

In the twenty-six years that have passed since then the name of Zimbalist has become synonymous with great violin music. He stands at the pinnacle of the musical ladder in popularity and prestige. His art has been acclaimed on every continent. He has played in almost every large city in the world. Yet he remains the same unassuming, extremely modest artist that he was when he made his debut.

A few season tickets are still available from Jacob Low, the secretary of the branch.

Civic Luncheon Will Be Given Lieutenant-Governor On Occasion Of His First Visit

Hills And Slides Are In Splendid Condition For The Championship Meet

The Honorable Albert E. Matthews Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, will be invited by the city to give his patronage to the Eastern and Central Ontario zone ski meet and championships here on Saturday, February 5. In this decision Monday night the Reception Committee of the Council deputed to the chairman, Alderman Huycke, the detail of arranging for a civic luncheon for the Lieutenant-Governor on his first visit to the home town of his youth.

Ald. Huycke informed the committee that the boundaries of the ski zone are from Ottawa to Buffalo, and one of the features of the day's program will be the ski jumps to determine the zone titles. A week ago a similar sports day attracted nearly 1,500 enthusiasts from Toronto alone, and Peterborough is looking forward to a highly successful event since recent snow has left the hills and slide well cushioned.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

By an Examiner Reporter.

CANVASSING CITY.

The Canadian Federation of the Blind with branches in Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, St. John, Hamilton, Saskatoon, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver have workers now canvassing Peterborough.

TWO FOR WARDEN.

The two leading candidates for Warden of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham are Reeve J. Frank George of Brighton township and Reeve James A. Devinney of Haldimand township. The January sessions open to-night at Cobourg.

LEAVES $27,952.

An estate of $27,952 was left by Mrs. Hanna Jane Gilchrist of Ottawa, according to her will filed for probate Monday. A son, Thomas E. Gilchrist of Peterborough, was bequeathed a house in Ottawa valued at $6,935, and one-third of the residue.

THREE NOMINATED.

E. W. Bailey, F. L. Erskine and J. R. Hull were nominated Monday for a vacancy on the Lakefield School Board. The time for accepting nomination does not expire until 9 p.m. to-night, and it will not be known until then whether an election will be necessary.

A MEAN THIEF.

Little Bobby Pratt of 627 Water Street went into Brooks' Grill on Monday afternoon with his mother. His sleigh was stood up beside the building as they were only in the restaurant a few minutes, but when they came out the sleigh had disappeared.

SHORTHORN BREEDERS' MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Shorthorn Breeders' Association of the county will be held next Saturday morning in the office of F. A. Paterson, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, followed by dinner in the basement of Mark Street United Church.

TO PRESENT CONCERT.

The Lakefield Preparatory School is presenting a public musical entertainment in aid of St. John's Church, Lakefield, at the Grove Friday evening. Numbers from Gilbert and Sullivan and Edward German are to be presented by the pupils and staff under the direction of Hubert Eisdell, assisted by Agnes Logan Green, pianist; Adam Hawley, bass; and Donald Kennedy, tenor.

WAS LOCAL CRICKETER.

His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, Albert E. Matthews, used to be a member of the old Peterborough Cricket Club, Alderman Stocker told the reception committee of the council Monday night. Ald. Stocker used to play on the team himself, and is still hardly less interested in the game than is the Lieutenant-Governor, probably Canada's most prominent supporter of the great English game.

GARAGES ARE BUSY.

"We've had three trucks going steadily since seven o'clock," the driver of one garage tow truck reported this morning. Other garage workers had similar reports for few motorists found their cars in a mood to start after the sharp overnight dip of the thermometer. To get business shoving recalcitrant vehicles, the emergency workers found it was only necessary to cruise about the streets.

DISCUSS CHIMNEY VENTS.

The practice of making air vents from bathrooms into chimneys will be discussed again by the Property committee of the council in the near future when City Engineer Parsons, Fire Chief Gimblett and Plumbing Inspector Metheral will be present. It is frowned on by the fire authorities, who consider it an easily avoidable hazard. Reports on this same subject have been turned up by Ald. McCannan on his file, one dated November 2, 1929, and the more recent one, February 5, 1936.

CHIMNEY FIRES.

Zero weather is not the most comfortable weather in which to fight fires but the firemen have had the good fortune in that regard so far this year. A call which took them to the home of T. McClellan, 220½ Edinburgh street, Monday night and another this morning to the home of L. Morrow, 533 Aylmer street, both produced only chimney fires. Figuring city fire losses on a per diem bases, a low record even surpassing that of 1937 is in the making for 1938. Total fire loss up to January 18 has been $25.

SIDE ROADS BLOCKED.

Many of the rural side roads were blocked by the week-end blown snow. Rural mail carriers were late in completing the Monday deliveries, but apparently they all made their rounds. None of the mail was returned to the post office this morning. Frank Savigny of Otonabee did not get into the city until about 1.30 p.m. with his daughter, who is attending school here. Other reports indicated that the side line residents were snow bound except for the old reliable sleighs.

MONAGHAN'S WOOD CAMP.

Five men were transfered from relief to North Monaghan's wood camp at Birdsall's in Asphodel on Monday, and have nearly two month's work ahead of them. The township bought the standing wood two years ago for a relief project assisted by the Ontario government. This year the government has withdrawn its aid, but the council decided to proceed with their own experiment in carrying on the camp out of their own resources. The men board themselves and are paid $1.50 a cord.

WINS SPECIAL AWARD.

F. J. Condon, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Condon of Douro Township, has been awarded an I.O.D.E. scholarship. Mr. Condon is a teacher in Quarrel school district south of Edmonton, and the Edmonton Bulletin carried the following report: "Francis J. Condon of Quarrel School district, Daysland is announced as the winner of the special prize of $100 which is awarded each year as a mark of appreciation for services which teachers in foreign-born districts are doing along Canadianization lines. Mr. Condon, who is an Irish Canadian, has taught in this class of schools for eleven years, and his many contributions towards the community life of his district, in addition to his school work has done much to advance assimilation of these new citizens."

SOLICITS MONEY HASTINGS HOMES

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 18. — A young lady with a distinct French accent was said to have been calling on homes in this village requesting alms for the past two days. Her stories seem to vary a little but the main story is that she and her husband were on their way to Sarnia when their car broke down here and they need $3 for repairs and gasoline.

The story to this point might seem to be alright but a few residents recall that about six months ago a young lady answering the same description called on homes requesting money to aid she and her husband who were stranded in Norwood and her husband had taken sick. They were supposed to have been on their way to Sarnia at that time, according to the young lady.

A few citizens are of the opinion that it is just another racket. One resident said she made out very well yesterday as she hiked out the Cobourg road with her arms full, supposedly of groceries.

CHAPTER 42

OUR HONEYMOON progressed in a sort of maze of haphazard housekeeping. Sally's ministrations kept us from actual chaos, and when the ugliness of golden oak and maroon brocade got too much on Mimi's nerves she found refuge in our own rooms, which shone with the crystal and silver which she had brought, and from which she had banished everything but the walnut furniture and our own belongings.

I had a desk by my window and Mimi always kept flowers on it. I had believed that the view of the mountains and Mimi's presence would inspire me to write masterpieces—but I was doomed to disappointment. I found it, indeed, difficult to write anything at all. For some reason my pen lacked fire. It was as if in living so avidly I had robbed myself of the power to express that vividness on paper.

Moreover, I yearned to be out of doors with Mimi, riding over our domain, and beyond it — up the trails to little lakes cupped in the top of the lower peaks, with yellow lilies reflected in their depths and the slim trunks of the pale aspens. It was wonderful to be alone in all that vast loneliness — going up and up through spruce and pine—to see a coyote like a gray shadow crossing our path, or a deer with startled eyes and the lovely wild leap which took it out of our sight.

It was as if our lives had two sides — the side of the ugly house with the hateful shadows of drudgery which hung over it; the side which had to do with ugly memories of the things Mimi had said to me on the night of our arrival and the morning after; the ugly side of my financial uncertainties. And that other side, of Mimi in the orchard, with cherries looped over her ears, Mimi in the sweet hay of one of the barns, with a puff-ball of a kitten in her lap, Mimi brushing her bright hair with a silver brush, Mimi whipping the streams with her trout line, and beating me at it with a skill she had learned in the Maine woods.

I cooked the trout for our dinner—and we had vegetables from our own garden—and perhaps a sweet loaf of Mrs. Hayes' baking or a dish of cream cheese which she had made for us.

Idyllic? Yes. And it couldn't last. There was always that haunting thought of the other side of things, and the crash came in a letter from my lawyer. There were, he said, practically no funds at my disposal. If I could make the farm pay I might tide over the present crisis. Otherwise, he would advise me to sell.

There was a letter, too, from the employment agency at Denver. They gave me little hopes—they might be able to send a cook if I was willing to give very high wages. There was much objection on account of the remoteness of the ranch. The sum they named as wages took my breath away. I had never dreamed of such rewards for domestic service.

I had made up my mind when we were first married I would have no secrets from Mimi. In an ideal singleness of soul, a man and his wife should bear their burdens together. But it seemed to me now that I would better let well enough alone. Why worry Mimi with things which might straighten themselves? I would give more time to the management of the ranch and less to writing. I might even get along without Hayes. He had, himself, suggested it. He wanted to accept an offer to take charge, for the summer, of the livery stable at the hotel where Dora worked. He knew all about the mountain ponies, and could teach the guests to ride. He could make more money in three months than I could give him in a year.

When I told Mimi that Hayes was going, she asked, "But who will manage the farm?"

"I shall do it myself."

"But when do you expect to write, Jerry? You can't be cook and manager, and an author."

"Why not?"

"Well, it isn't fair," there was a flush on her cheeks.

"I am strong. I can stand it."

"I am strong, too, Jerry. You must let me help."

But I felt it would be an entering wedge to destroy her exquisiteness. I had a desperate feeling that something must turn up. I wrote again to my lawyer and told him to sell an acre or two of land. I wrote, too, to the employment agency in Denver, urging them to send a cook, and stating I would pay the price.

It was when I began to do Hayes' work, however, that I found what I had undertaken. The laborers on the farm lacked any sort of initiative. They were accustomed to constant supervision, and could not work without it. They must follow a leader or remain inactive. This made it necessary for me to be with them almost constantly; it made necessary, indeed, actual physical effort on my part. I helped them with the hay, I helped them with the cows, I stood over them while they whitewashed chicken houses, and put up wire fences, and while they taught the young calves to drink.

And after such efforts I would come into the house dead tired and dirty to find Mimi immaculate, with flowers on the table, with a great can of hot water ready for my bath, with my clothes laid out on the bed.

One night when I had had an exceptionally hard day, the thought of such formality irritated me. I had had to stop in the kitchen to supervise Sally—to see that the lettuce was cold, and that the little roasted ducklings were done to a turn. I had asked her questions about the sweet potatoes, and the coffee. I had seen myself, suddenly, as a farcical figure—a plain farmer, trying to measure up to a fairy princess of a wife.

So I said to Mimi, who stood cool and crisp by the screen door looking out on the mountains, "I think I shall stop dressing for dinner—. It is rather out of keeping isn't it with the tout ensemble?"

"People who don't dress for dinner are —barbarians."

"My own people didn't do it."

"Do you mean that they looked—like you?"

There was scorn in that, and I winced. I told her the truth, "No, they didn't. My father always wore his black coat. My mother insisted on it. She was proud of him."

"It is a woman's pride in her man which keeps the world civilized," my wife told me. "I—I think I should—hate you, Jerry, if you—degenerated into the kind of man like those on the other ranches."

"Do you think I could?" I demanded. "Do you think that clothes count as much as that?"

"They count a great deal," cooly. "You'd hate me if I wore my hair in a tight knot and had a shiny nose like Sally."

I fled then and dressed. We had been very near a quarrel. But I was aware when dinner was over, and Mimi and I sat on the porch, that my self-respect was much increased by the perfection of my attire. Yet I was aware, too, that there must be something the matter with both of us if externals counted so much.

So I continued to labor through the day like any farm hand. At night I played the gentleman. The thing couldn't, of course, continue. And I couldn't see where it would end. I felt that I ought not let things slide, but they were sliding. I wondered how I should meet the avalanche of disaster when it came.

Looking Back
On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS.

A hundred years ago to-day, a storm on Lake Erie was the cause of one of the greatest "judicial errors" in Canadian history, the execution of Samuel Lount, who, with Peter Matthews, was hanged at Toronto the following April 12 and who thus became politicall martyrs.

Lount, who had been M.L.A. for York, and Mackenzie's chief lieutenant, had managed to make his way west to the shores of the Grand river, where he found shelter for some weeks. A day came when it was decided to risk a journey across the lake. A boat was secured, manned by three friends, and the adventure begun. But a storm blew up, the ice crowded in and after hours of struggle the party had to land. They knocked at the door of a small tavern, the landlord of which took them in, thawed them out, gave them food and bed, as well as breakfast in the morning.

It was a calm morning Jan. 18, 1838; it was decided to resume the journey, and so the boat was launched again. For awhile all went well, then, with the usual fickleness of Erie weather, the wind changed and the boat was again driven north. For some hours she struggled in the ice; her peril was realized by some Port Maitland folk, who rescued the crew and brought them ashore, where they were tended to. Nobody knew that one of the four was Samuel Lount, for whose head a substantial reward had been offered by Bond Head, and had it not been for a false step by Lount he might have yet escaped. But as soon as he landed Lount placed some papers under the ice, weighted with an oar. Suspicion was at once aroused; it was decided to take the stranger to the nearest magistrate, who recognized his description, placed him under arrest and sent a special rider to London to tell of his capture. Within a few days Lount, heavily chained was taken back to Toronto, where he lay until his execution on April 12.

The execution is another of the incidents which would never have taken place had there been an Atlantic cable, because Lord Glenelg wrote to Governor Arthur weeks before the hanging, ordering clemency; but Chief Justice Robinson and Attorney General Hagerman insisted upon the executions.

It was on this date in 1849 that Lord Elgin signed the amnesty which enabled William Lyon Mackenzie to return to Canada after his remarkable recitation in which he regretted his incitement to rebellion, both here and across the border.

BEDTIME STORY
By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CAMP FIRE.

"Wait until I whistle three times—then come out to the snow bank," said Uncle Wiggily to his little twin rabbits, Tootsie and Wootsie, one day.

"Are you going to put your pennies in the snow bank?" asked Tootsie, the girl twin.

"If you are—please don't," said Wootsie, the boy twin.

"You had much better buy gum drops than put pennies in a snow bank," said Tootsie.

"Or jelly beans," said her brother, Wootsie. "And we ought to know," he went on as he watched his father twinkle his pink nose—I mean Uncle Wiggily twinkled his own pink nose, not Wootsie's. That little twin rabbit boy could twinkle his own pink nose, and he often did.

"Hurray! I see my penny!"

"We put our pennies in a snow bank and they went away down to the bottom and we'll never see them again," sobbed Tootsie. "Oh, dear."

His Plan.

"Please do as I tell you," said Uncle Wiggily, to whom Nurse Jane has mysteriously whispered something. "Come out when I whistle three times."

"Out where?" asked Tootsie.

"Out where I am going to build a camp fire," said Uncle Wiggily.

"And where will that be?" asked Wootsie, who was very particular.

"Out close to the snow bank where you lost your pennies," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'm going down cellar and get some wood with which to build the camp fire. When it is burning high I'll whistle for you."

"Wiggy. Wiggy Longears," called Uncle Wiggily's wife as he clattered down the cellar stairs. "What are you going to do?"

"Get some wood with which to make a camp fire, my dear."

"Wiggy, you are never going to build a camp fire out in the snow, are you?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"That's just what I am going to do, if you please," said Uncle Wiggily.

"But it will melt the snow bank," said Mrs. Longears.

"That's just what I want to do," spoke her husband. "That's what Nurse Jane whispered to me — to build a fire to melt the snow bank, and when it is all gone I can find the pennies of Tootsie and Wootsie on the ground beneath the snow."

"Oh, what a rabbit you are," sighed Mrs. Longears. "Just like a child. Why don't you wait until spring? By that time the sun will have melted the snow and you can find the pennies just the same."

Found Again.

"It is too long to wait," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Then give the twins other pennies," said his wife.

"They won't take them — they want the ones from the snow bank," said Nurse Jane as she ran after the twins to make sure they had put on their warm fur coats before going out to Uncle Wiggily's snow camp fire.

Soon the rabbit gentleman had a hot blaze of wood burning close to the snow bank where, by mistake, the twins had dropped their pennies. Soon the snow began to hiss and melt, running away in little brooks.

"Hurray. I see my penny," cried Tootsie, when the ground was bare.

"And I see mine," shouted Wootsie.

The rabbit twins picked up their money.

"I'm going to spend my penny for jelly eans now, before I lose it again," said Tootsie.

"I'll buy gum drops," said Wootsie.

"Buy marshmallow candies instead," laughed Uncle Wiggily, "and I'll help you toast them at our camp fire." This the twins did, and they had lots of fun.

And if the salt doesn't hide in the sugar bowl when the dill pickle chases it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's warning.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—Can you tell me what's the matter with me? Or what's the matter with marriage? I married a man with whom I was desperately in love and who was and is deeply in love with me. He is everything in the world that a woman could ask for in a husband—affectionate, understanding, generous, kind and intelligent. We have the same tastes, habits and background. We are well-to-do. Have a beautiful home. Yet I am miserable. For no reason at all I have ceased to love my husband, and the thought of being tied to him or any other man for a lifetime is driving me wild. I feel that I have to leave him. Do many women feel that way? Is marriage always that disillusioning? I thought that marriage meant that I would always spend my life in a world of beauty and love, and I find it only a bore. Can you explain me to myself?

DISAPPOINTED.

Answer:

Easily. You are a trouble-borrower. You are one of the millions of women who can't be happy unless they are miserable; who spend their lives analyzing their emotions and taking the temperature of their affections and vivisecting themselves and every one about them until they find something over which they can grow morbid.

They are the women with imaginary diseases who haunt doctors' offices and fill sanatoriums. They are the melancholy wives who sob out that their husbands neglect them and have ceased to love them just because the prosaic men to whom they are married art not Clark Gables. They are the great army of women who have health and wealth, comfort and a whole world to play around in, but who get no happiness out of any of their blessings because they have built up for themselves figures of poor forlorn women whose hearts are breaking because they are misunderstood, or lonely, or old maids, or married, or have children over whom they can worry, or worry about being childless.

After having spent 40 years having women weep on my shoulder I have come to the conclusion that it is just as well for a woman to have a genuine, bona-fide trouble as not, because she has to have something to worry about anyway, and if she hasn't a real grievance she will make one over which she can shed just as many tears and be just as wretched.

That is what is the matter with you, dear lady. You have manufactured your little synthetic sorrow and you are hugging it to your breast, and you are having just as much fun out of it as if it were the real thing.

Life has been too soft for you. You have had every good thing handed to you on a silver salver and it has made you selfish and self-entered and turned you into an introvert, interested in only your own thoughts and feelings.

If your husband should die you wouldn't wonder whether you loved him or not. You would know that the light of your life had gone out with him. If you were left alone in the world you would not chafe at the bondage of marriage. If you should lose your money and had to live in a hovel and eat coarse food or even go hungry, you would not despise, as you do now, the luxury that is yours.

The cure for what ails you is to quit thinking of your own happiness and try to think of your husband's. Go to work and make your marriage a success. Have a baby. That will keep your mind off of your imaginary troubles. No selfish and self-centered person is ever happy. It is only when we are trying to make others happy that we find contentment for ourselves.

* * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—I left my husband six months ago because I felt I couldn't stand him any longer. He never took me anywhere and stayed out to all hours of the night. I am almost sure he had an affair with a girl, though he denies it. I went back to my mother with my child, but even though I have a part-time job I am unable to make ends meet. My mother complains that my 5-year-old son is getting on her nerves. Do you think that I should forget how my husband mistreated me and give the boy a home of his own? The boy loves his father very much, as I once did, but something died in my heart that I feel can never come to life again. What shall I do?

PUZZLED WIFE.

Answer:

There are many times in life when it is wisdom to choose the lesser of two evils. It seems to me that you will be far better off with a husband, even if he did not come up to your ideals, than you are as an unwelcome guest in your mother's house and forced to depend on her for part of your support.

When a woman has a child, she gives a hostage to fortune. She is obligated to put the child's welfare above her own and to consider its happiness before her own. Just because you are peeved with your husband because he wouldn't take you out at nights, or even because he flirted around with some girl, doesn't justify you in depriving your boy of a home and the guidance of a father whom he loves. Nor does your marriage not being all you dreamed it would be give you a right to go back and inflict yourself and your child on your mother, and force her to divide her small income with you and have the peace and quiet of her home disturbed by a child.

So it seems to me that the best thing you can do is to go back to your husband and make another effort to make your marriage a success. Perhaps your husband has had his lesson and will be kinder and more considerate of you. And perhaps you will realize that you failed him in many ways as a wife and will try harder to please him, and you will make a success of your marriage after all.

* * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—I am in love with a girl whose mother and sister are of bad reputation. My friend dresses herself in a way that this type of person would, but I believe her to be a clean, moral girl. She insists on using my car to see other boys and says she is looking for six other boys who could give her as much as I do, and then she will have one for every day in the week. This is more than I could stand, so I parted from her, but I am going back to her because I can't give her up. What shall I do? UNIVERSAL CHUMP.

Answer:

You certainly said it when you called yourself a chump, and if you marry the girl you will certainly deserve all you will get.

Dorothea Hejntz says that if you are making a cake in which the egg whites are folded in last, it is a good idea to whip the egg whites first thing. Take from the amount of sugar scheduled for the cake one tablespoon for each egg white, and whip with whites, making a meringue of these ingredients first. Then mix the rest of the cake and fold this meringue in the mixture at the last.

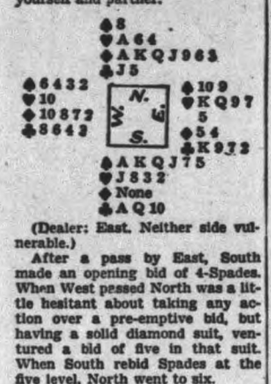
CROWDING YOUR SIDE

HIGH ORIGINAL bids are for just one purpose—to keep strong opponents from getting together in their best contract. They seldom pay except on hands that are extremely weak in defensive strength but possess such great suit length that the sacrifice of points is less than the opponents probably could make in their own best declaration. A pre-emptive bid with a strong hand seldom pays. Its principal effect is to prevent the exchange of information between yourself and partner.



(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

After a pass by East, South made an opening bid of 4-Spades. When West passed North was a little hesitant about taking any action over a pre-emptive bid, but having a solid diamond suit, ventured a bid of five in that suit. When South rebid Spades at the five level, North went to six.

The heart 10 was West's opening lead, which was won in the dummy with the A. Having no entry to dummy, declarer decided to try to get rid of his losing hearts on the diamonds, but East ruffed the third round, so that South was left with one loser in that suit and later lost a club.

If the bidding had proceeded differently North and South could have reached a far better contract. It so happens that North can make 7-Diamonds or 7-No Trumps, but the opening bid of 4-Spades by South so crowded the bidding that it was impossible for North to read anything about his partner's hand except the fact that he held a number of spades.

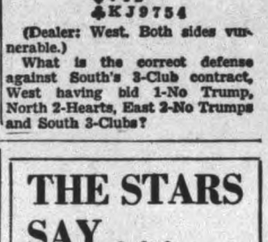
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is the correct defense against South's 3-Club contract, West having bid 1-No Trump, North 2-Hearts, East 2-No Trumps and South 3-Clubs?

THE STARS SAY . . .

For Wednesday, January 19

WHILE THE day may be an adventurous and exciting one with many surprises and new opportunities, according to the predominant aspects, yet there are signs of rather conflicting situations.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of surprises, adventure, romance and quite unexpected change, affecting both business and private lives profoundly. While there may be benefits and much satisfaction from such a sudden turn of events, there are also omens of danger, probably because of rash, foolish or indiscreet personal behavior. Be particularly circumspect in affectional relations.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Lights! Camera! Action! One of these days, Hollywood expects Priscilla Lane and Wayne Morris to get married. In the meanwhile, they are playing a young married couple on the screen.

Priscilla Lane

Director Berkeley, who used to be married but isn't now, is telling them how to act. We watch a scene between Priscilla and Penny Singleton, who used to be Dorothy McNulty.

Priscilla plays a girl who left a successful business career to get married. In the scene, she gets a telephone call from her former boss urging her to come back to work. She turns him down firmly. Then she and Penny have a confidential talk about matrimony. Priscilla explains that the offer of a job doesn't lure her— that she is perfectly happy to give up a career to be a wife.

We question the pair of them after the shot is over.

"When are you two really going to get married?" we ask.

"Oh, we can't yet," they say, "we have our careers to think of."

Paramount is launching Olympe Bradna toward stardom in a new picture.

One of Hollywood's genuinely naive ingenues, Olympe plays a crook in this film. Her fellow crook is Gene Raymond. Studio casting directors are full of surprises like these.

e came on to the set just as th plotters are in a tight spot. Newspaper reporters are outside the room asking embarrassing questions. Director Andrew Stone calls Olympe for a closeup of her reactions.

Like everybody else on the set, he mispronounces her name. He calls her "O-limp-y." The correct rendering of the name is "O-lamp." At least, that is about as close as you can get to it in print.

After many weeks, "Robin Hood" is nearing completion. We drop on to the set to watch Director Michael Curtiz shoot a scene of the royal box at an archery tournament.

Olivia de Havilland, Claude Rains, Basil Rathbone and others are applauding the marksmanship of a mystery archer who is, of course Robin Hood in disguise.

Errol Flynn isn't working in the scene. The actual tournament already has been photographed in the Busch Gardens in Pasadena.

Michael Curtiz

To cue the audience, a prop man makes a noise like an arrow whacking a target.

Then the players murmur with admiration and comment on what a good shot the absent Errol Flynn has made.

Director Curtiz has them registering amazement for about 30 minutes.

When the scene is over, some of us register genuine amazement.

For Curtiz the champion English twister in Hollywood has not murdered a single phrase. On the "Robin Hood" set, this is news.

Grace Moore has settled a suit for $50,000 brought in Oklahoma City by Mrs. Frances Potter Hauser, charging Miss Moore failed to keep an engagement at the Shrine auditorium there. Amount involved in the settlement was rumored to be $5,000, but Mrs. Hauser refused to confirm. Miss Moore has agreed to go there for a concert March 7.

JOAN MARSH'S FATHER JAILED

HOLLYWOOD Jan. 18—Although Joan Marsh pretty blond screen actress makes as high as $10,000 a year her father Charles G. Rosher, film studio cameraman, must spend a day in county jail for failure to pay for her support.

Rosher lost an 18-month battle, which went to the State Supreme Court, and has surrendered to Superior Judge Thurmond Clarke to receive the unusual sentence.

The sentence was imposed on Rosher in July 1936, on a contempt charge brought by his former wife, Mrs. Lolita Barr, who was divorced from Rosher in 1923. At that time, Joan was a little girl, playing with dolls and entertaining no ideas of becoming a movie star.

Terms of the divorce provided Rosher pay $150 a month for Joan's support until she was 21, and Rosher complied.

The Salzburg Festival cleared a profit of $200,000 last season. Figures were revealed by committee headed by President Baron Puthon at the annual general meeting. Plans for the new season call for opening July 23 and closing Aug. 30.

Hollywood is giggling over the Earl of Warwick's lawsuit against the studio that paid him $750 a week for doing nothing at all except have a good time. Another studio paid his $300 a week. Warwick now returns to his native England, a sadder and wiser young man.

Cary Grant says that Katharine Hepburn is a swell person to work with—if you treat her right. "What do you mean by right?" he was asked. "Don't take too much notice of her," replied Cary.

Photography And Characters Becoming Vogue In Pictures

Hollywood Turning Point Noticed Since Production Of 'Ah Wilderness'

Photography and characters are rapidly becoming two of the most important factors in Hollywood production activities, as the screen's drama is taking a sharp turn towards stories in which character unfoldment occupy the centre of the stage. Ever since "Ah, Wilderness" was produced, producers, directors and players have turned their attention to character play. Several moves were made that were considered daring, such as Robert Montgomery's "Night Must Fall", which was solely the story of a character. The latest play of this type was purchased nearly 20 years ago by a director who foresaw the day when it would be valuable. This is "Benefits Forgot", Honore Morrow's dramatic story of Lincoln's day. Clarence Brown, then a new director, bought it, but no producer would accept it because of lack of plot formula. Brown always insisted that the characterizations made the story valuable. Now he is directing the screen version for early release, with Walter Huston in his first cinema since "Dodsworth."

Character Roles Predominate

Practically every role in "Benefits Forgot" is a character role, every part, no matter how short, of importance to the story. Aside from the romantic leads and some child players, the entire cast is composed of veteran character players. The production also brings to the screen for the first time one of the last of America's dramatic Titans of the school of Mansfield, Mantell and the Drews, in the person of Charles D. Coburn, half a century on the New York stag.

Calls for New Technique

"A fine character players in an interesting character portrayal," says Mr. Brown, "is becoming more acceptable to the public today than a plot formula. Audiences are apt to guess ahead of us on plots nowadays, but an individual character is always intriguing, and whenever two or three really interesting characters are brought together it automatically creates a situation." The handling of such characters incidentally calls for a new directorial technique, Brown points out. "The director has to keep up with the new trend, and, in fact be ahead of it," he explains. "And with new ideas coming from Europe, and a new interest on the part of producers in new types of screen literature and screen delineation, I look for revolutionary changes in picture entertainment within the next year."

Few Film Stars Now On Weekly Salary

HOLLYWOOD Calif.—With the suspension of Barbara Stanwyck for refusing to appear in S K. Lauren's "Distant Fields" evidence was adduced indicating that under its production re-organization R.K.O. will employ stars on the basis of a specified number of films a year rather than keep on weekly salary. Miss Stanwyck's revolt was attributed to the purported weakness of the scenario. Since Leo Spitz assumed charge of production the contracts of fourteen players many of them minor performers have been abrogated.

At present with the exception of a few newcomers the only ranking stars on weekly salary are Fred Astairs Ginger Rogers and Katharine Hepburn. Recently commitments were signed for a specified number of films at a lump sum for each picture with Irene Dunne Gary Grant, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Richard Dix and Chester Morris, Ann Sothern, who rebelled a few days ago, was dropped by the studio and is now negotiating with Twentieth Century-Fox.

Sonja Henie is learning to roller skate.

Lewis Stone will have a featured role in Paramount's "Stolen Heaven."

Expect Big Things For This New Play

NEW YORK.. — Joyce Carey's "Sweet Aloes" did not set New York in flames two seasons ago, but it was a London hit, and so they are getting pretty excited over there about her next one. Only recently finished and still untitled, this is the work said to be based on the career of Anthony Eden. Actually, the leading character represents no particular country though he holds a high diplomatic post and the locale is London.

It will be offered there by the management which originally staged "Sweet Aloes" and "George and Margaret" and it will employ two of the actors seen here in the latter: Alan Webb and Arthur Macrae. And while Leslie Banks is under contract to the Theatre Guild for this season he is also the leading candidate for the principal role in Miss Carey's play. He hasn't read the part yet but he has been holding trans-atlantic phone talks about it.

Tovarich Delights Capitol Audience

After several years of great success on European stages and a long Broadway run, the continental comedy, "Tovarich," finall arrives in film form and proves to be well worth the viewing.

The picture, which opened Monday at the Capitol, stars Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer in the roles of the impoverished Russian aristocrats, who, though in possession of forty billion francs, are living in dire poverty in a Parisian garret. The reason being that the late Czar having intrusted this huge fortune to their care, they feel honor bound not to touch it. "Not a billion, not a million, not a thousand, not a sou" will they give to conniving French bankers, to Russian counter-revolutionists, or to the grocery man, for the artichokes and caviar they steal.

This idiotic plight provides one of the funniest situations any comedy could have, and both Claudette and Boyer play it right up to the hilt.

They finally decide to take menial positions in the home of a wealthy banker, Melville Cooper, whose wife, Isabel Jeans, and children, Anita Louise and Maurice Murphy, become delighted with these mad foreigners, little suspecting their real identity until the evening of an important dinner, when the secret leaks out.

Arriving with the disclosure is the dread Soviet Commissar, Basil Rathbone, whose suavely villainous appearance provides the climax for the comedy and incidentally settles the future fate of these lovable exiles and their huge fortune which doesn't belong to them.

The delightful charm and quaint irony of the Jacques Deval play, which Robert Sherwood translated and adapted to the American stage, has all been preserved, although much of the dialogue had to be omitted to prevent this from being more of a "talkie" than a "movie."

Claudette is provocative and flexible. She adapts herself beautifully to the role of the grand duchess-waitress, although she's about as Russian as Nancy Ross. Boyer is superb. His accent and his manner make him a very convincing aristocrat of any nationality and in that one instance he succeeds where Rathbone, though suave and sinister, is obviously more Pall Mall than Red Square.

The satire and carefree spirit make this splendid entertainment, although you may be very conscious at times that you are watching a "filmed" play.

BRITISH AIR PILOT OVERCOMES DEATH HAZARD IN LANDING

Mishap Turns Undercarriage, But Radio Instructions Aleviate Danger

CROWDS SEE DRAMA

Chichester, Eng. — People living near Tangmere aerodrome, three miles from here, heard by wireless a drama of the air, and saw a wonderful exhibition of skill and nerve by a young Royal Air Force pilot.

Those who possessed wireless sets might in imagination sit in the cockpit of an R.A.F. fighter, while the pilot, flying round and round, and facing the possibility of a death crash, obeyed radio orders from below.

While piloting a Hawker-Fury single-seater fighter Pilot-Sergeant Cuthbert Tucker, aged 19, of No. 1 Squadron, had a mishap in which his undercarriage was damaged.

The undercarriage hung sideways and to attempt an ordinary landing would have meant a crash—and possibly death.

The accident was seen from the ground, and from that time for three hours, until two p.m., the pilot sat obeying orders by radio telephony and replying to them.

Many listening at home to the wireless heard the aerodrome call sign "Woodpecker," and then urgent orders transmitted to the pilot.

These orders were given by the officer commanding the flight to which Tucker belonged.

"Woodpecker calling. Your under-carriage is damaged. Do not attempt to land until your petrol is exhausted."

The voice cut across the ordinary wireless program. People hurried to their doors to watch the drama, leaving their sets on.

"Over to you," said the voice, at the end of each order.

When the pilot replied, his steady voice was occasionally audible.

Keeping an average height of 1,500 feet, he circled round and round the landing field.

Crowds gathered in the lane bordering the aerodrome. Two hundred R.A.F. men stood near the hangars watching their comrade fighting for his life.

Then, when they knew the petrol was nearly gone, "Woodpecker said:

"We are waiting for you; everything is ready. Come in."

Spectators in the lane ducked as the aeroplane swept over their heads.

As it touched, ambulances and motor-fire appliances dashed across the landing ground. Before they reached him Tucker had climbed from his machine.

The 200 men who had been watching cheered and waved their caps. The officers joined in.

BRITAIN TO TEACH TRADES TO SOLDIERS

Vocational Training Now Made Available to Pep Up Recruiting

London.—The British army is going back to school. It's part of a scheme to attract recruits by offering them something more than the rudiments of gun-laying.

Vocational training will be made available for every man in the army for six months. If at the end of this experimental period the scheme proves successful it will be continued. The training will be given before the soldiers leave the colors and not, as at present, after they have returned to civil life.

Until April 1 the vocational training of soldiers was limited to the training of some 3,000 men annually at the various army training centres. The newly-introduced scheme provides for the training of 5,500 men every six months through the use of ministry of labor training centres, as well as army centres already established. Under the new scheme a soldier will draw full military pay and appropriate allowances. He will not be expected to pay fees.

"The vocational training at both types of centres will be given to the men as soldiers," said Leslie Hore-Belisha, war secretary, in the House of Commons. "Soldiers returning from overseas will, if necessary, be permitted to extend their color service to take advantage of these courses."

PURCHASED CAMERAS WITH BAD CHEQUES

Middlesex.—An ex-convict who was said to have dressed as a clergyman to carry out a swindle was sentenced at Middlesex sessions to five years' penal servitude.

Charles Waters, 65, pleaded guilty to three charges of obtaining cameras by worthless cheques and other frauds and asked for five other cases to be takeh into consideration.

In one case, it was stated, he called on an advertiser and said that he was the vicar of a local church and that his young people wanted a camera for social purposes. He took the camera on approval, and that was the last seen of him.

MAYOR WINS DONKEY RACE

Dogs, Ponies, Donkeys Took Part—to Aid Hospital

Chichester.—Donkeys, ponies and dogs took part in a new kind of race meeting at Chichester, organized by a sporting humorist in aid of the Royal West Sussex hospital. Mayor W. H. G. Napper won the donkey St. Leger with his entry Flickers. He and town officials also rode in a donkey race won by Frank Napper.

BIG ELEPHANT HOME WILL COST $50,000

London. — The Maharajah of Bhavnagar is contributing £10,000 ($50,000) to ensure that the elephants — emblems of India—have a palatial home.

He fixed a conditio that it should be called "The King George VI Coronation Elephant House."

The zoo authorities jumped at the offer. Six elephants and four rhinoceroses will live in this brightly illuminated palace, each with a bed-sitting room of comfortable dimensions.

RIGHT HAND CRUSHED GIRL GIVEN DAMAGES

Expects To Be Good Housewife Though, She Says

Liverpool. — "Swimming, tennis, hockey and motor-cycling are barred to me forever, but I hope to make good as a housewife despite my disability."

A slim, attractive young woman with dark, wavy hair and deep-set blue eyes said this as she left the assize court here with her hands buried in the pockets of a sports coat.

Described in court as "a left-handed woman for the rest of her life," Ivy Smith, 22, of Harlow St., Dingle, was awarded £1,162 ($5,810) damages against her former employers. Her right hand was trapped and crushed by cog wheels at the factory where she worked.

"It is a big blow to give up swimming and tennis, but I shall find some consolation in dancing with a glove hiding my hand injury," she said.

"I was fond of playing dance music. I did a lot of needlework and knitting, and I was hoping to ride a motorcycle."

PAINTING WORTH $7,500 IS STOLEN

London.—A copy of Romney's "Mother and Child," valued at £2,500 ($7,500), was stolen from an unattended car in the West End.

The painting, which was not framed, was in a large suitcase. It is owned by Henry Holgate Yolland, of Cheltenham.

Mr. Yolland was formerly a well-known West Country amateur lawn tennis player. He became a professional some years ago and now has a coaching business.

HAS THIRD SET OF TWINS

English Mother's Husband Earns About $14 a Week

London, Eng.—Three sets of twins within four years is the record of cheery, 28-year-old Mrs. Ivy Gonning of Finsbury, E.C., who gave birth to her third pair — both girls — in maternity hospital recently.

Her husband was at work when he received the news, but rushed round to the hospital, where he was informed that his daughters weighed four pounds 10 ounces and five pounds 14 ounces.

Mother and twins were stated "very comfortable."

BEACHING OF THE RUDMORE

Apparently earth's highways are not the only avenues of traffic that have their share of collisions, for here is the steamer Rudmore, high and dry on the beach at North Woolwich, London, England, following an accident in which that ship and the Norwegian motorship Betancuria collided. Although the latter vehicle of transportation was able to proceed under its own power, the Rudmore, with a large hole stove in its side, had to run for shore.

OLD DORSET CHURCH HAS NO WALLS, PEWS

Lady Milne-Watson Has Congregation of Eight at Services

London.—A church which has no walls, organ, pews, choir or collection has been discovered in Dorset county.

Attended by only eight worshippers, the church stands on a slope near a stream at Ashley Chase, Dorset.

Spiritual leader is Lady Milne-Watson, wife of Sir David Milne-Watson, chairman of a gas utility corporation.

The church is dedicated to St. Luke and dates back to the 12th century.

Its altar consists of a wooden cross and built-up stones resembling an early altar of the Church of England.

Although seats are provided for the eight worshippers, no one sits down when attending a service, which is conducted by Lady Milne-Watson, no priest being available to take charge.

Lady Milne-Watson leads the singing.

The reason for holding services there is because Abbotsbury church, the only other in the district, is five miles away.

FISHERMAN SEES SEA SERPENT FACE TO FACE OFF DEVON

Eyes as Big as Golf Balls, Two-Foot Face Like Camel

WHITE ALL OVER

It has the face of a camel, three humps on its back, and bold, unblinking eyes the size of golf balls.

All this is vouched for by Harold Groves, gardener to Cyril Maude, the actor, who described an encounter with the creature while he was fishing in Redlap cove.

"I first saw it 50 yards away," he said. "At least 12 feet of its body showed above the surface.

"I hauled up my fishing gear intending to climb to the cliff top for a better view, but when I raised my head again I was startled to see right in front of me the head of the monster.

"It was less than five yards away and it stared at me for about 10 seconds before it submerged. The head was about two feet long, and apart from a tuft of hair on the top, was hairless. The skin was almost white."

"I have never credited stories of sea monsters." Mr. Groves added. "But there was no mistake about this one."

Cyril Maude, whose home is at Redlap, Dartmouth, added this comment: "My gardener is a very steady fellow who has had much experience of the sea. I am certain he saw the thing he has described to you."

MAY HENDERSON DIES IN HER 53RD YEAR

Dulwich.—One by one the stars of the old-time music-hall pass from life's stage . . . and audiences who cheered them pause for a moment in this busy world to remember.

The curtain fell for May Henderson, 52-year-old music-hall star, in Dulwich hospital recently after a brief illness.

May Henderson was the "Dusky Queen" of the old-time "Halls." Her studies of Negro characters, her quaint songs and patter made her a star. About 10 years ago she made her last bow.

PREPARE FOR AIR RAIDS

London.—Britain is to be divided into 13 air-raid precautions areas to facilitate operation of local schemes. In each case there will be a regional inspector, appointed by the air raids precaution department.

INTENDS TO PREACH 'A SOCIAL GOSPEL'

Because of "Schism, Disunion and Revolt" in Church

Warrington, Eng.—Because there is "schism, disunion and revolt" in his church, the Rev. S. Skelhorn, the vicar, plans to make Holy Trinity church, Warrington, "a people's church."

He says there will be great changes and declares he will preach "a social gospel."

Mr. Skelhorn said that services would continue as at present up to the end of the third collect. After that would begin the people's service—"creative and vital, everything dynamic—an exploration, an adventure, a quest for God, truth, justice, freedom."

According to Mr. Skelhorn not 15 per cent. of Warrington people attend any place of worship.

Mr. Skelhorn admitted that some people did not like his teaching, and said he had laid himself out to conciliate them.

"But no one would meet me and talk things over in a friendly way," he added. "There was talk behind my back—back-bitting, gossip, and all that petty chatter so common among such people.

"This has reduced my church to a parlous state. Congregations have declined. Collections have fallen off. Finances are seriously threatened."

'IRON RATIONS' IN HOME NEW BRITISH SCHEME

Emergency Precaution Involves Food Caches of $25 to $500

London.—"Iron rations" in every home in case of emergency in the event of another war is the objective of the "empire movement," most powerful patriotic body in the British Empire.

Imperishable parcels of foodstuffs at prices ranging from $25 to $500, giving a six months supply of foods, are envisaged by the movement.

Those who are unable to afford to pay cash, will be allowed hire purchase terms.

The scheme is at present in its early stages and industrialists and manufacturers are being approached for their co-operation.

Committees are being formed to experiment to find the ideal constituents for the parcel. Scientists are also being asked to co-operate, as well as the canning industry.

Approximately five million families will spend an average of $150 each on parcels, thus giving a tremendous stimulus for industries which will supply the food.

In addition, the movement is giving out propaganda slogans such as "Store Against Starvation," which will be used in their campaign in the towns and villages.

DRUNKENNESS INCREASES

2,366 More Convictions, Statistics Reveal In England and Wales

London.—The number of convictions for drunkenness in England and Wales in 1936 was 44,525, an increase of 2,366 on 1935, according to last year's licensing statistics.

Last year's total consisted of 38,017 males, an increase of 2,614, and 6,508 females, a decrease of 248.

The most marked increases were in the industrial counties of the Midlands, and in the Home counties and the counties adjacent.

SOCIETY GIRL GOES TO JAIL IS GUILTY OF DRUNK DRIVING

Acquitted of Double Manslaughter Charge—Mother, Son Killed in Collision

EXPRESSES REMORSE

Gloucester.—Acquitted of a double manslaughter charge but found guilty of driving under the influence of drink, a Gloucestershire society girl was sentenced to eight months in prison.

She was Betty Hermione Durance Cartwright, 25, of Greystone, Rodborough Common, Stroud. Her driving license was suspended for five years.

For bree days she had been on trial at Gloucester assizes with her leg, broken while playing golf, resting on a chair in the dock.

Mr. Justice Finlay, passing sentence, told her:

"This is a most grave thing for a young girl brought up in your conditions, with your education and with your background, so to drive a car, after the drink which you had had, as to endanger the safety of the public."

Her counsel, R. C. Hutton, in a plea for leniency, had said that during the past five years Miss Cartwright had got into the company of older people and had found it difficult to withstand offers of hospitality. He said she felt great remorse over the death of two innocent people, James Leslie Perry, 25, motorcyclist, and his mother, Mrs. Lilian Rachel Perry, passenger in his side-car, both of Brockhampton, near Cheltenham.

He explained that since her leg was fractured some months ago it had been twice re-set, and as it was not even now progressing satisfactorily it would have to be re-broken and re-set.

He suggested that Miss Cartwright could be bound over, pending such operation, to come up for judgment when the operation had been successfully performed.

After consulting with the governor of Gloucester prison, the judge said he could not accept Mr. Hutton's suggestion.

The girl was taken to the women's section of Birmingham jail after a night in a hospital ward of Gloucester jail. Hhe Birmingham prison medical officer and a famous surgeon, acting on behalf of Miss Cartwright's family, discussed a new operation on Miss Cartwright's leg.

DROVE THIRTY YEARS HAS FIRST ACCIDENT

First Licensed Woman-Motorist in Surrey, Is Claim

Winchester.—Mrs. Julie Dixon Hine of Dorking, who claims to be the first woman licensed to drive in Surrey, was fined here £1 ($5) for her first motoring offence in 30 years.

She was summoned for driving without due care and attention on the main road from Winchester to Southampton. In view of her excellent record, the magistrates agreed not to endorse her license.

Mrs. Hine allegedly tried to pass between a car travelling towards Winchester and on-coming traffic. She collided with the off-side front of the vehicle she was overtaking.

LAUDS MADRAS GOVERNOR

Madras, India.—Dr. T. S. S. Rajan, Congress health minister, told a medical gathering that during the short time the Congress government had been in office in Madras presidency the governor, Lord Erskine, had proved to be a guide, philosopher and friend.

MATERNITY BUILDING ADDED TO HOSPITAL

$50,000 Wing Part of Large Extension Scheme

Dartford.—A large crowd at Dartford saw the ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the maternity wing of the Livingstone hospital. This is part of a large extension scheme to be carried out in the next few years.

E. W. Meyerstein, high sheriff of Kent, performed the ceremony.

The extension has cost about £10,000 ($50,000). The hospital was opened in 1894, and the foundation stone laid in memory of Livingstone, the explorer, by his colleague, Stanley.

MARRIAGES BANNED OF PARTIES DIVORCED

Worcester Bishop Thinks Register Office Proper Place

Worcester.—The Bishop of Worcester, Dr. C. F. Garbett, has banned the marriage of persons whose marriages have been dissolved—whether they are the guilty party or not—in his diocese.

"I wish it to be the rule," he told the Worcester diocesan conference, "that when someone whose marriage has been dissolved desires to be married again the ceremony should take place in a register office."

Dr. Garbett follows the lead of several other prominent churchmen. In the Chester diocese, where the ban is already in existence, the bishop, Dr. G. F. Fisher, recently told his diocesan conference that the chancellor had ruled that while an incumbent could not refuse to publish banns he could describe the person as divorced, and that might act as a deterrent.

PHYSICIAN CLEARED OF WOMAN'S CHARGE

No Evidence of "Terrible Charges," Says Judge

Lincoln. — Dr. John Desmond O'Neill of Skegness left the assize court here cleared of allegations of what counsel called "the most infamous conduct of which a medical man could be found guilty."

A few minutes earlier Muriel Tonge Wilkin, 26-year-old brunette ex-patient of Dr. O'Neill, had been sentenced by Mr. Justice Macnaghten to nine months' imprisonment for publishing a libel on the doctor, assaulting him, and damaging his car.

She admitted the assault and damage, and on the libel charge pleaded justification, alleging that Dr. O'Neill had promised to marry her. This he denied.

After hearing from Dr. Murdoch, medical officer of Lincoln prison, that the girl suffered from hysteria which often gave rise to accusations of this nature, Mr. Justice Macnaghten said that in her own interests she must go to prison. There was no evidence for her "terrible charges."

'MURDERED BY SPY'S PHOTOS SATURATED WITH MICROBES'

French Major Brought About Arrest of Famed Mata Hari

WOMAN'S PICTURE

Cannes.—Mme. Ladoux, widow of Major Ladoux, head of the French counter-espionage service during the war, alleged in Cannes that her husband was mysteriously murdered "by photographs of a German woman agent, which were impregnated with microbes."

Major Ladoux was responsible for the arrest of the famous Mata Hari. He sent the French agent, Marthe Richard, to Madrid, where she revealed and defeated the German espionage centre there. He died at his villa here on April 20, 1933.

Mme. Ladoux said her husband received a letter from a well-known German woman spy suggesting a meeting for the purpose of writing a book.

"Major Ladoux was greatly intrigued by this proposal," she explained. "He asked the advice of one of our leading military chiefs, who formally advised him against making an appointment.

"My husband had forgotten about the affair when, several months later, he received two large photographs of the spy. They were mounted on porous, spongy cardboard, and he examined them very closely.

"I sent the photographs to a very well-known police official, an old friend of my husband's, but he has never returned them, and has never said whether microbes were found in the cardboard."

WOULD ARM NATIVES TO PREVENT CRIME

Suggests Licenses for Shotguns for All Adult Villagers

Bannu, India.—Dr. Khan Sahib, premier of the northwest frontier province, has suggested licenses for shotguns or rifles be granted all adult villagers without discrimination. He believes fully-armed natives would prevent robberies and kidnapping.

On his return from Kheru Khel, Pahar Khel and Tajauri where he discussed the question with authorities, the premier said it was impossible to post a police party or a guard in each village. Villagers too poor to buy guns would be supplied them on personal security.

PROSPECTING FOR OIL IN EGYPTIAN DESERT

Cairo.—Hitherto useless stretches of wasteland, known as Egypt's "Western Desert," shortly may be sprinkled with rich oil fields.

According to an official government announcement, the much-coveted rights to dig for oil in the desert that starts at Cairo and reaches into the heart of Central Africa have been granted to a British company and an American company. The firms were not named in the announcement.

Experts are so confident that they are reported to have offered huge sums for the privilege of prospecting.

MISFORTUNE PURSUES FAMED HOPE DIAMOND

Girl Refuses Gift — Roumanian Merchant Drowns Near Hamlet's Castle

Copenhagen.—The drowning of a Roumanian diamond merchant has forged another link in the story of misfortune attached to the ill-omened Hope diamond.

The merchant, Stefan Baloght, owned a stone which he claimed was once made up as a pendant to the Hope diamond. He fell overboard from the Polish liner Batory (14,000 tons), as the ship was passing by Kronborg castle, near Elsinore, the setting for Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

Mr. Baloght was returning from America, where he had gone to give the diamond as a present to a girl. She had refused to accept the diamond, and he was returning home.

It is possible he had the diamond in his pocket at the time of the accident.

The Hope diamond is generally accepted as the most perfect blue diamond in the world. It was originally stolen from the eye of a Burmese idol, since when it has brought ill-luck to most of its owners.

SWEDEN TO EXPORT WHEAT

Restrictions Removed in View of Excess Crop Over Home Needs

Stockholm. — The Swedish 1937 wheat crop will exceed the home consumption of this grain with about 125,000 tons, according to a report from the Swedish department of agriculture. For this reason the government of Sweden has abolished the export ban for wheat and rye, and also granted a small subsidy to exporters.

ROSE FROM THE DEAD HOAX IS SUSPECTED

Villagers Wondering Where Gifts of Money Vanished

Bucharest. — Police are inquiring into how Vasile Dinka, of the Rumanian village of Gambocel, "rose from the dead."

Other villagers saw Dinka in his coffin, saw the lid nailed on, and saw it lowered into the grave.

When Dinka turned up eight days later and announced that he had come back from the dead after being in Paradise the villagers were puzzled, but when he started to preach they believed in him and showered money on him.

Soon his fame spread and people came from other villages, also with gifts of money.

Then the local doctor said that u Dinka was not dead when he was buried he was in cataleptic trance. What he cannot explain is how Dinka got through six feet of earth back to life again.

And what the village cannot explain is where Dinka's friends have gone with the money contributed for him.

The villagers are beginning to suspect that they have been hoaxed.

ASPHYXIATES SELF

University Lecturer Takes His Life When Love Not Reciprocated

Hull.—Plunged into despair because his love of a 20-year-old girl was not reciprocated, a brilliant lecturer at University college here, 30-year-old Ronald Curry, drove in his saloon car to a country lane, led a tube from the exhaust pipe inside, and lay down to a sleep of death.

RE-ENACT TRAIN DISASTER WHICH KILLED 100 IN INDIA

Seek to Set Responsibility and Avoid Recurrence of Wreck

CRASHES IN BUFFER

Jamalpur, India.—The authorities provided a spectacle of a 600-ton train hurtling at 50 miles an hour to destruction during investigation of the derailment at Bihta, Bihar, of the Punjab Express, when 100 people were killed. The purpose was to set responsibility and avoid recurrence of the mishap.

The engine plunged on after passing over a deflected rail. It leaped at a buffer of 500 tons of earth. The noise of a heavy explosion and a momentary "black out" of flying earth, stones and timber followed. The first four coaches were telescoped and smashed to splinters. It is believed this is the first time such an experiment has been carried out in India. Crowds, gathered to see it, were kept well out of the danger area.

Earlier experiments were confined to slow derailments under a variety of circumstances. Examination carried out at Bihta by experts immediately after the disaster and the collation of data thus obtained led to certain lines of thought as to the cause of the accident.

FLIER KEPT COOL HEAD

Chichester, Eng.—Warned the undercarriage of his aeroplane was adrift, Pilot Sergeant Tucker, Royal Air Force, circled an airport for 90 minutes until his gasoline gave out—lessening the danger of an explosion. He landed, escaping injury.

COLORED SPEAKERS BARRED BY WOMEN

Pretoria, S.A.—Deeming it essential "in order to keep politics out of our work," the National Council of Women here by a vote of 37 to 24 approved of a resolution that no speakers of colored or native races be invited to address members of the organization from the platform.

At the same time the council resolved to "meet native women's associations when necessary".

HINDOO VOW BRINGS DEATH TO TWO SONS

Delhi. — Crawling on his hands and knees 300 miles in two months, a zealous Hindoo father reached the sacred city of Hardwar in fulfilment of a vow of thanksgiving for the recovery of his two sons from typhoid fever.

The two sons had started from their home village in Sirmur state with him One died seven days after the start and the second a few days before the parent reached the goal. The fever had left the boys weak. The father said it was the will of God his sons should die. He attended their funerals and went alone.

PLUCKY SAILOR LAD

Cromer, Eng.—Harry Couchman, 15, worked the pumps for five hours while his father struggled with the helm of a sinking coal barge. The barge's decks were awash when the pair jumped on a Cromer lifeboat.

ADVISE FLOODLIGHTS FOR TRAFFIC POLICE

Steps to Make Night Driving Less Hazardous Proposed in Britain

London. — Flood-lit policemen at hard-to-see points are among the recommendations of nine experts, headed by Major F. C. Cook, transport ministry's chief engineer, who issued their final report on street lighting after deliberating for three years as an inter-departmental committee.

If the report is adopted officially night driving will become a less hazardous business. They urge:

Street lamps should cause a minimum of obstruction on the footway without endangering passing vehicles.

Street lighting should be continued from dusk to dawn. (Please note, certain lighting authorities who choose to switch off all street lamps after 1 or 2 a.m.)

End of lighting systems where motorists drive from bright lamps immediately into dim ones.

Names of streets should be placed where they can be seen easily at night.

Large administrative units should be responsible for street lighting—a hint that the 8,000 higgledy-piggledy authorities who now control lighting should be unified.

Cost of street lighting should be aided by grants from national funds.

MOVE TO CHECK DISEASE

London.—Describing the present outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease as "possibly one of the most dangerous experienced in recent years," the ministry of agriculture took drastic action.

An order was issued prohibiting all movements of cattle, sheep, pigs, goats and deer in 15 counties.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Fenton-Hurley.

A pretty wedding took place at ten o'clock on Saturday morning at the rectory of the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, when Mary Ursula, daughter of Mrs. Hurley and the late Thomas J. Hurley, became the bride of James Withrow Fenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Fenton of Kitchener. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. C. Baker.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Gerald F. Hurley, wore a lovely gown of cocktail blue crepe, with bodice of net, appliqued with crepe. She wore a black corded silk turban with nose veil, and a corsage of Butterfly roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Betty Corrigan, Peterborough, was bridesmaid and wore a smart frock of black crepe trimmed with white soutache braid in bolero effect, black straw off-the-face hat with shoulder veil and corsage of Supreme roses.

George O'Brien was groomsman.

Following the ceremony a buffet breakfast was served at the bride's home, 50 Queen Street. The rooms were prettily decorated with daffodils, iris and tulips. The bride's table was centered with a wedding cake, and ivory tapers in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Hurley, mother of the bride, wearing a black velvet gown, black hat with glycerin feather and a corsage of violets and roses, and Mrs. Fenton, mother of the groom, gowned in midnight blue cheer with matching hat and corsage of Talisman roses, received with the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenton left on a wedding trip to Montreal, the bride travelling in a black sheer frock with touches of green and gold, black broadtail coat, with silver fox collar and black hat. Upon their return they will reside in Belleville.

HOW THE NEW FABRIC DESIGNS ARE SELECTED

Stylist and Pattern Consultant Confer

Robert Schey and Mrs. Katherine MacGregor.

(By Lilian Campbell.)

Fashions in fabric design change as much as fashions in dress, and the task of selecting new patterns for millions of customers is a tremendous one. Leading trends must be interpreted to the taste of American women, both as to color and as to pattern. The stylist must see that the choicest new patterns are so styled that there is an adequate balance of small, medium, and large patterns. Actual purchases, based on the stylist's recommendations, total more than 20,000,000 yards each year.

The term "stylist" is a familiar one, but few people know what a stylist's duties include. It is her job to know what's new in Paris, new at internationally known resorts, new in metropolitan centres, so she can re-interpret it to the taste of her customers which she must also know intimately. The fabric stylist keeps in touch with every large fabric house in the country. This brings her into frequent association with Robert Schey, who is outstanding in the field as the most important design consultant in the industry. Mrs. Katherine MacGregor, fabric stylist for a large firm, is shown in consultation with Mr. Schey.

Mr. Schey maintains offices in Europe and the United States solely to keep last-minute authentic style-in-fabrics information available to textile converters in important manufacturing centres in Europe and America.

In conjunction with his important services to the industry, Mr. Schey's famous library is invaluable. For 42 years he has been assembling, until to-day he has 1,400 books on the subject of textile art alone. There are more than 600 documentary swatch books which contain the originals of the designs influencing 20th century fabrics. It would be difficult to state the exact worth of the entire library, but Mr. Schey has refused $100,000 for it. All this valuable data is at the beck and call of the stylists and manufacturers who work with Mr. Schey.

Tropical Designs Important.

Let the word flash, as it has this year, that tropical design will be important in spring fabrics, and the stylist immediately avails herself, as is shown in the picture, or absolutely authentic replicas of tropical design.

Working from this information that backs up her own extensive knowledge and experience of designs customers like, the stylist reviews similar designs at the fabric houses. Hundreds of designs are submitted, but few are chosen. Those that make the grade are included, after many checks and rechecks, in the line.

From this it is evident it is no accident that American women are able to shop in their own towns, and to buy fabrics truly representative of newest style trends. Months of work have preceded the actual shipping of the fabrics that will clothe women from coast to coast.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"'Tis pleasing to be school'd in a strange tongue
By female lips and eyes—that is, I mean,
When both the teacher and the taught are young,
As was the case, at least, where I have been;
They smile so when one's right; and when one's wrong
They smile still more."

—Lord Byron.

Dear Friends,—I have had such a nice letter from "Lilac." In it she tells me how much pleasure she gets from my column when I lapse occasionally into slang. She says in part: "Roberta, I get utterly tired when I read too many big words that some writers use.

I know they must be used sometimes, but a steady dose of them gets on my nerves. And so, when I see a slang word now and then from you, I think you are more like ourselves, and not apart and aloof as some writers are. That is why also, I like the short rhyming poems on the Editorial page. He seems so human to me."

Thank you "Lilac," but why not drop a note personally to the Editor and tell him these things? But, let me whisper it, I never miss that page either, and many a chuckle I get from it, and much food for thought.

And now back to our topic, slang. I think I told you once before what a hard job I had learning a few words of slang, and how I generally used them after they had been dropped or out of date. I spoke such perfect English when I was younger that many times I was laughed at and mocked.

Apparently no one likes too much perfection even in speech. One woman said years ago, "for pity's sake relax. You are not in a schoolroom, nor entertaining visiting royalty." I asked what she meant, and she told me, "climb down to our level, don't be so prim and lady-like, use a word of slang once in a while."

Another said at a later date, "Roberta why in the world do you use slang? I'll grant you don't use it often, but it doesn't suit you somehow. You are not the type." Now, isn't that a nice quandry to be in, I ask you? All I can do is try and please both side, so if you see a word you don't like once in a while, just realize it isn't your turn, it's the other fellows'.

But slang can be very expressive at times. "The Greeks had a name for it," "You and who else?" It's Lousy,, "Nice work if you can get it" and a host of others convey the meaning without saying too much. My friends know one angle of me and that is, when I am very polite to a person I do not like them, and my very politeness keeps them at arm's length.

Even to-day, when one wants to describe a person they don't case very much for, they say she is the "Pollyanna" kind, meaning that she is too buttery, too sweet to be wholesome, too utterly utt, so steer clear of her.

Life is not all beautiful. There is clean oil and there is the black oil from machinery. And there are times when we sit around talking polite nothings to one another, but we can't say we are enjoying ourselves. There are other times when we feel congenial with friends, and we relax and talk naturally.

Emerson tells us: "Language is a city, to the building of which every human being brought a stone." So, slang must have also brought a few stones, and what is considered slang in one generation, becomes our language in the next. What is extremely funny to me is to hear someone condemn slang, and yet they use it all the time. Thank you, "Lilac" for the nice things you say and do write again. I shall try and answer my other letters this week.

ROBERTA.

Mary Moore Inquiry Column

Attention Mrs. B. F. M., who wanted recipe for Butterscotch Suckers

Two cups sugar, 2 teaspoons vinegar, ¾ cup water, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons corn starch, 1-3 cup butter. Stir all ingredients together, then bring to 234 deg. Fahr. Have ready sucker sticks lying on buttered pans about 4 inches part —pour one large drop—about 1 tablespoon of the finished syrup over the top of each stick to make suckers. Let stand to harden. Or the candy may be allowed to stand for about 5 minutes when done without stirring or moving—when pieces of it may be moulded into shapes and wrapped around sucker sticks.

Note — Three teaspoons good cocoa may be added to this mixture when it is first put on to cook to make Chocolate Butterscotch Suckers.

Question— Before being married last summer I was a school teacher, with very little time or opportunity to cook. Consequently this business of having to prepare "three-a-day" for a poor but hungry husband is a new problem to me. Whil I really need to take a course in cooking, would you be kind enough to suggest inexpensive luncheon and supper dishes—six or seven would help me for now—then I will write again and promise in the meantime to file every issue of the cookery page. Thanking you.—Ex-School Teacher, North Monaghan.

Answer.—I think I recognize the handwriting—did you not write one year at Valentine time asking for some sandwich suggestions to make for a party for your little brood at school?

There are such things as Scotch Woodcock, Welsh and other Rarebits, and creamed meat, egg and vegetable mixtures—all to be served on toast or patties (patties could be home-made to save expense—since you did not mention that you are pressed for time).

Then some casserole dishes— the varieties of which are endless.

Scotch Woodcock (economical version) (for 2 people). Two hard cooked eggs, 1½ tablespoons butter, 1½-¾ tablespoons flour, ½ cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, 2 teaspoons mashed sardine (actually this should be Anchovy Sauce, but of course it is too expensive). Melt the butter, stir in the flour, then the milk seasonings and mashed sardines. Slice the had cooked eggs on two slices of toast and pour sauce over. Instead of sardines, ¼ teaspoon fresh curry powder, or 2 tablespoons cut asparagus tips or canned peas may be used for color and flavor.

Welsh Rarebit (for two). — Half teaspoon each butter and corn starch, ¼ cup thin cream, ¼ lb. soft mild cheese cut in small pieces, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon mustard, shake of cayenne, toast or crackers. Melt butter, add corn starch, stir well and then stir in cream until thick, remove from heat and add cheese, stirring until it melts—you may have to stand it over hot water. Add seasoning and serve on toast or buttered toasted wafer crackers.

CREAMED MUSHROOMS ON TOAST (For Two)

(At first thought you might think this would be expensive but in almost any community you can buy mushrooms at self-serve stores for 30 cents per lb. or less — ½ lb. is enough for two).

One-half lb. mushrooms, 4 tablespoons butter, 1½ tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, 1 cup top milk or mixed milk and cream. Saute the mushrooms, stirring constantly until they wilt and become a little browned in the butter—do not saute them so long that much of them evaporates. Then add the flour and seasonings and when the flour is mixed into the butter add the cream or milk and stir until it thickens. Serve on toast garnished with paprika or parsley.

FISH CHOWDERS.

Us either haddock, shrimp, clams or cod for this. If you like other fish of course you may use them too—but those four are the most popular for chowder.

One lb. fish meat if cod or haddock are used—½ lb. or 1 can if shrimps or clams are used, 1½ cups potatoes, cut in ¼-inch cubes, ½ finely sliced onion, 2 tablespoons fat salt pork cut finely (or bacon will do), 1 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup hot milk, 2 common crackers. This requires some stock—if fresh fish are used cover the bones and head and tail with one cup water and cook 20 minutes slowly after boiling point is reached. If canned clams or shrimps are used the liquor from the can will do. If fresh clams and shrimps are used their flavor is intense enough to use water only. Cut salt pork fine, try out, add onion and fry 5 minutes. Strain the fat off into a large stewpan. Parboil the potatoes in boiling water to cover, then drain them and add to the fat. Add 2 cups boiling water and cook 5 minutes. Add the fish stock and fish—cover and simmer 10 minutes. Add milk, salt, pepper, butter and crackers rolled and sifted or broken coarsely.

SPANISH MEAT CASSEROLE.

Cook ½ cup rice 30 minutes; drain and add 2 tablespoons sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt. Brown ½ lb. chopped raw or cooked meat in 2 tablespoons fat. Put rice and meat in baking dish, cover with stewed tomatoes seasoned with salt and pepper and a little cayenne if you like it. Sliced onion could be added with the meat to the saute pan if you wish to intensify the flavor. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. (slow) for 2 hours.

Ground round steak put in layers in scalloped potatoes make a nice savory casserole—¼ to ½ lb. is enough for 2 people.

Please watch the cookery page for more of the suggestions that you like there is a great demand for them.

Name Film Star In Parliament

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 18.—(CP)—The matrimonial affairs of Jocelyn Howarth, Australian film actress who has achieved success in the United States, and George Brent, American actor, were mentioned in the House of Representatives here.

A Labor member asked the minister for customs whether he would be prepared to suggest to the censorship authorities that any film in which Brent appeared should be denied admittance to the Commonwealth. Brent, he said, had married this Australian girl in Mexico and had repudiated the marriage 10 days later.

The questioner was told the Censorship Board dealt with films that were blasphemous, indecent or obscene. "I am afraid that it would not go into questions of the character of people appearing in the films," said the government spokesman.

"If it did there would probably be no films admitted," said a Labor member from Tasmania.

MOST OF ONTARIO GETS MORE SNOW AS THAW CEASES

TORONTO, January 18—(CP).—The Weatherman's forecast came true to-day, and most parts of Ontario again were under a blanket of snow as several points reported the heaviest fall of the year.

It was cold throughout the province but Eastern Ontario appeared to have escaped the latest blasts of snow, which swept over the West and left traffic arteries there in dangerous conditions. Drifting before a brisk wind threatened traffic tieups, though government snow ploughs so far had kept main highways open.

The colder temperatures and the latest fall came after a mild thaw promised to melt away snows heaped high by the winter's three blizzards. But as the weather turned colder, fresh snow fell most of Sunday. It had stopped early to-day, though overcast skies hinted at further trouble for the highway clearers.

Early to-day the Meteorological Bureau at Toronto reported Cochrane the coldest spot in the province at 30 below, and Windsor the warmest with a temperature of 38 above.

Forecast for the Lower Lakes region was northeast to east winds, partly cloudy and cold to-day and Tuesday with light snow or flurries in the southern district

How It Looks.

Kitchener—Only main traffic arteries were open to traffic after a six-inch snowfall. Drifting during the night was accompanied by a fall in temperature from 29 to 12 degrees above.

Toronto—Heavy fall made street conditions dangerous for motor and pedestrian. It was 12 above at 8 a.m.

Owen Sound—Cooler weather was accompanied by light snowfall. Stiff wind drifted the snow but all highways were open.

Sault Ste. Marie—Clear and cold with temperature around zero.

Ottawa—Clear and cold.

Guelph—Heaviest snowfall of the winter left side roads impassable and highways heavy.

St. Catharines—A strong east wind drifted a 6-inch fall and left roads in such condition a tie-up of traffic was possible.

Chatham—City workmen sent out early to sand streets after light fall. Temperature dropped and more snow threatened to fall from cloudy skies.

Belleville—Fine snow driven by north-east wind made conditions uncomfortable in district, though roads all were clear.

Kingston—A strong north-east wind led to drifting on side roads though there was no fresh snow fell. Temperature dropped close to zero.

Hamilton — Heaviest fall of year tied up traffic on city streets. Ploughs kept entrances to city open but drifting was reported.

Indians Visit "White Father" In Trek For Rain

Drags Wolf, LEFT, and Foolish Bear, aged members of the ancient Water-Buster clan of North Dakota's Gros Ventre Indians, are shown being greeted by "The Great White Father," President Roosevelt, whom they visited at Washington, as they neared the end of their journey which they hope will bring a merciful rain to end the long drought in their parched country. Speaking only their tribal tongues, they were accompanied by Arthur Mandan, interpreter and chairman of the Indian Tribal council, who is shown introducing them to the president. The Indians are on their way to the Heye foundation of the museum of the American Indian where George G. Heye will return to them a sacred bundle, a medicine they believe will make their lands fertile again. Since the loss of the sacred bundle in 1907, their country is slowly turning into desert due to lack of rain.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, Jan. 18.—The Emily Council met in the Farmers' Club Rooms, Omemee. D. J. Guiry, Reeve, and F. Wilbert Fee, Paul J. McGuire, W. J. Patrick and D. Wesley Wilson made declarations of office and took their seats and proceeded to business.

Communications were read as follows:

From F. L. Weldon showing payments made to the treasurer of Emily in 1937.

From the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities soliciting membership fee.

From Department Minister of Public Welfare, re persons on relief.

From J. A. P. Marshall inviting council to the Good Roads Convention and also to the meeting of the Good Roads Association, in February.

From the Chief Officer of Health asking council to co-operate in every way with the local Board of Health to prevent the spread of diphtheria.

From the Mothers' Allowance Commission giving a report on the three cases investigated last summer.

From C. H. Green, Commissioner, outlining certain changes in the regulations in the matter of old age pensions.

From C. E. Sproule, Inspector of Municipal Affairs, re N. R. Hutchison.

From J. A. P. Marshall informing council that the Department of Highways had approved bylaw No. 675.

A representative of an insurance Company addressed the council on the subject of road insurance.

Accounts were received from S. J. Mackey, Grant and Toy, Toronto, C.N. Railway and F. L. Weldon.

A sheep valuers report was received from Leonard Atwell.

Relief accounts were received from Mrs. E. Eggleson, M. D. Earl, Frank Brown, Geo. O'Donnell, Purity Bread Co., and L. W. Clancy.

The road accounts as presented by Lloyd Boate, road superintendent, were approved and ordered paid by the treasurer:

Miscellaneous payments—T. A. McConnell, balance school levy for 1937, $2.00; Grant and Toy, Toronto, maps and postage, 63 cents; S. J. Mackey, supplies, 75 cents; C. N. Railway, express on financial statements, 60 cents; F. L. Weldon, account indigent patients, $68.25; the Bank of Toronto, telephone debentures, $407.60; G. G. Tripp, messenger and telephone service, $5.00.

Relief payments—Mrs. E. Eggleson, rent, $5.00; Mrs. E. Eggleson, fuel, $5.00; M. D. Earl, food and clothing $16.39; Purity Bread Co., bread, $2.88; L. W. Clancy, wood, $5.00; George O'Donnell, food, $6.51; Frank Brown, food, $11.01.

Sheep payments—D. W. Wilson, 1 lamb injured, $3.00; L. Atwell, valuing lamb of D. W. Wilson, $1.50.

Bylaw No. 677 appointing officers, bylaw 678 estimating expenditure on roads for 1938, and bylaw 679 authorizing the Reeve and treasurer to borrow money, were introduced and passed.

Council adjourned to meet on Monday, February 7th next, at one o'clock p.m., when an assessor will be appointed.

MILLBROOK

Mrs. C. Thorndyke Heads Society

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Jan. 18.—The annual meeting of the Millbrook Horticultural Society was held in the Town Hall on Friday evening, with the retiring president, H. A. Kerr, in the chair.

Reports showed many activities during the year 1937, the amount raised, through fees, being $71.00; with a balance at present in the bank of $57.00.

The officers elected for 1938 include: President, Mrs. Charles Thorndyke; vice-presidents, Miss Josephine Sutton and P. I. Bentley; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. F. Harrington.

Directors for two years: Mrs. Milton Fallis; Mrs. Percy Stinson; Mrs. T. A. Campbell; Messers. W. R. Reid and H. A. Kerr.

Auditors: D. R. Fowler and Percy Stinson.

The matter of premiums for the current year was given full discussion, final arrangements to be made at the next regular meeting of the society, which will be at the call of the president.

HAVELOCK LODGE INSTALS OFFICERS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 18.—The installation of officers of the Order of the Eastern Star was held on Thursday evening. The installation ceremonies were conducted by Sister Rose Sexsmith, P.D.D.G.M., of Peterborough, assisted by Sister D. Hutton, P.W.M. as chaplain; Sister F. Beggs, P.W.M., as Marshal, and Sister G. Paris, as pianist, all of Peterborough. Lovely gifts were presented to the installing staff, and Brother F. Breckenridge, Worthy Patron, and a jewel and gift to the retiring matron, Sister M. Sexsmith. Short speeches were made by the Past Matrons and Patrons of the local chapter and by Sister Susan Butters, P.W.M., Sister Annie Stapley, and Sister J. Watson, all of Toronto, each expressing good wishes to Sister Kathryn Price, newly installed Worthy Matron. Later a very sumptuous banquet was much enjoyed by all present.

CAMPBELLFORD

Mrs. A. E. Janeway of Peterborough was a weekend visitor of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Morrison, Rear Street.

Miss Mary Murphy, who recently underwent an operation in the Campbellford Hospital, is progressing favorably.

The engagement is announced of Alma Mae, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Sharpe, Hoards, to George Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Melvin of Toronto. The wedding will take place early in February.

Co-operative Medical Scheme Now Has 1,000 Subscribers

Organization With Branches In Toronto, Simcoe, Woodstock Said Spreading

TORONTO, Jan. 18—(CP). — The economic barriers between the physician and the public are the objects at which Dr. J. H. Hannah, one-time Ontario Government research worker, is tilting his lance to-day.

A fusion of idealist, business executive and man of science, Dr. Hannah is leading the development of the co-operative movement in medicine in this country.

Already the movement has gained a foothold. Organizations have been formed in Toronto, Simcoe and Woodstock, through which subscribers pay a regular monthly fee of $21 or less in exchange for complete medical services, which includes consultations, surgical operations and attendance at confinement.

In seven months of existence the Associated Medical Services, Inc., operating on a non-profit basis, has enrolled 1,000 subscribers and is expanding at the rate of 200 a month. Nearly 600 physicians also have joined.

Government heads and eminent figures in the medical profession are showing a keen interest in the movement. Dr. F. Strong, president of the British Medical Society, had said privately that he believes the activities of Dr. Hannah and his associates represent the most important work currently being done in medicine in Canada.

In an office at Queen's Park, provided without charge by the Ontario Government, Dr. Hannah, tall, broad-shouldered, with even features, daily works on the intricate problem of guiding his organization into maturity.

Encouraging Letters.

Already he has had letters of gratitude from subscribers who have profited from the system. These are things, he said, which make him happy, encourage him to press forward along the path which he believes strongly is a solution to a distressing modern problem.

"On the one hand," Dr. Hannah says, "we have a profession, well advanced in scientific knowledge, who are unable, mainly because of an economic barrier, to apply their knowledge and at the same time have a reasonable assurance of adequate financial return.

"On the other hand, we have a laity who need those services and because of the same economic barrier cannot be assured of the full application of medical knowledge."

Dr. Hannah believes that the medical profession must be placed on a modern merchandising basis. One serious illness may wipe out a family's entire life savings, and people often suffer irreparable harm because they fear to incur the expense of an operation. Dr. Hannah declares that it must be made as easy for the people generally to pay for medical services as it is t buy cigarettes and furniture.

"At the same time," he says, "the organization must remain democratic, with people free to choose their own doctors, with doctors free to join or refrain from joining, as they wish."

In its present stage, the subscribers to Associated Medical Services are almost entirely members of what is called broadly the middle-class. Ultimately, if the Government becomes convinced of the soundness of the movement and decided to take it over, the same services may be extended to indigents. That is what happened in Denmark, Dr. Hannah says.

New Year Program Of Centenary W.A.

ROSENEATH, Jan. 18.—New Year resolutions, New Year poems and readings, even a New Year recipe, featured on the program at the first meeting in the New Year of Centenary United Church Women's Association.

Miss Emma Sherwin was in charge of the program, and to vary it slightly, arranged a contest. Following are the names of those contributing to the program in addition to the convenor:

Mrs. Walter Lean, Mrs. Newman Lean, Miss Vera Sherwin, Mrs. D. Timlin, Mrs. Bruce Arthur, Mrs. Arnold Elder, Mrs. M. Brown, and Mrs. L. Harvey.

The new president, Miss Teressa Dowler, presided over the opening exercises and the business period. The new secretary, Mrs. Walton Lean, also took over her duties for the first time.

The meeting was held on Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Newman Lean.

During the opening exercises the Scripture lesson, Matt. 9:1-15, was read by Mrs. M. Brown.

Included in the business were four motions which carried:

1. That the treasurer, Miss Hilda Arthur purchase material for a quilt.

2. That the society purchase articles necessary for serving refreshments when meetings are held in the church.

3. That, as previously, groups will be responsible for refreshments when meetings are held in the church.

4. That the members in turn serve as program convenors.

The treasurer was instructed to purchase sympathy cards. The treasurer reported donations received: $1.75.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lewis Dowler, Mrs. Newman Lean is program convenor, and Mrs. Bruce Arthur will have charge of the "Surprise Box."

Refreshments were served by the hostess, following the closing exercises. The attendance numbered sixteen.

Officers Appointed For Bethel S.S.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHEL, Jan. 18.—The annual meeting of the officers and teachers of Bethel Sunday School was held in the Sunday School room on Tuesday evening. Rev. A. G. MacTavish was appointed chairman and Mr. Cecil Casey, secretary for the meeting.

The meeting was opened by reading Psalm 1st responsively, after which Rev. MacTavish led in prayer. The business of the evening was then proceeded with. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted, and the treasurer's report given showing a balance on hand of $40.53. It was moved and carried that the Sunday School contribute $10.00 to Missions. The officers were then elected for 1938 and are as follows:

Superintendent, Eugene Switzer; assistant superintendent, Herbert Jackson; secretary, Cecil Casey; treasurer, Miss Audrey Boate; pianist, Miss Dorothy Darling; assistant pianist, Mrs. O. Ruth; temperance superintendent, Harry Jackson; missionary superintendent, Miss Helen Andrew; cradle roll superintendent, Miss Jean Faulkner; Teachers—No. 1, Mrs. Wm. Howden, assistant, Mrs. Wm. Hanbidge; 2, Mrs. O. Ruth, assistant, Mrs. M. Ruth; 3, Ralph Hanbidge; 4, Mrs. S. Switzer, assistant, Mrs. E. Faulkner; 5, Harry Jackson; 6, Mrs. E. Storey, assistant, Miss Dorothy Dayman; 7, Herbert Jackson, assistant, Ira Switzer.

The meeting was closed with the benediction.

LICENSE JUMP UNDECIDED

OTTAWA, Jan. 18—(CP). — No decision has been reached, Transport Minister Howe said to-day, commenting on reports the $2 license fee on radio receiving sets would be increased.

It was understood Canadian Broadcasting activities were now under review and that consideration was being given the possibility of increasing fees to help meet new and heavier costs.

MASTER THIEVERY

RACINE, Wis., Jan. 18—(AP).—Sheriff's deputies are searching for the "master thief" who stole: two 40-foot windmill towers, 200 feet of pipe and 400 feet of pipe fittings. The property was reported as missing from the farm of Hans Jorgensen near Union Grove.

THOMAS CAVANAGH GETS COUNCIL POST

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ENNISMORE, Jan. 18.—The inaugural meeting of the municipal council of the township of Ennismore was held in the township hall on Monday. Owing to the retirement of Vincent Murphy, who has served the township as councillor very capably for a number of years, Thomas Cavanagh, a former reeve and councillor, was given the position by acclamation.

After the oath of declaration of office had been taken the members took their seats, as follows: Reeve, James A. Gifford; Councillors, Thomas Cavanagh, Maurice O'Connor, Edward O'Donoghue, Francis Young.

Dan K. Crough was re-appointed assessor for 1938 and John J. Kilien, weed inspector. On resolution the clerk was instructed to order nine copies of "The Municipal World," also one set of the 1937 Revised Status of Ontario.

Woman Saves Bank $30,000

Quickly running to the washroom and locking herself in when she saw three gunmen enter the bank, Miss Mary Probala, RIGHT, saved a Cleveland, Ohio, bank $30,000 in currency when she set off an alarm which locked the vault and safes. The gunmen scooped $4,000 from the teller's cage after the manager, Ralph Reitsman, LEFT, told them the vault was protected by a time lock. The alarm which Mrs. Probala set off was installed in the bank following a robbery there last summer.

Hepburn To Demand All Milk Sold Must Be Pasteurized

Proposes to Bring in Act at February Session; Predicts Budget Surplus—Favors More Defences

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 19.—(CP)—Premier Hepburn was lined up today in favor of stronger Canadian defences and of co-operating with the United States in strengthening North American protection so "other countries will consider it advisable to leave us alone."

"I find that international piracy has supplanted international diplomacy," he told the St. Thomas lodge of the International Association of Machinists here in his home city last night. "I am not a believer in unpreparedness and I feel that today we are forced into a position where we must consider our defence problems."

Later, switching to domestic issues, he disclosed his government would bring in legislation at the forthcoming session of the legislature, opening February 23, for compulsory pasteurization of milk. The premier also predicted he would report a surplus in his budget address as he did last spring.

Mr. Hepburn reiterated his opposition to development of the St. Lawrence waterway, warning it would be a "death blow" to railroads and railway men. He added the Dominion government had been pressing him in the hope his administration would weaken in its opposition to the proposal.

COUNTY COUNCIL HAVING TROUBLE GETTING POLICE

It appears that the County Council is having trouble obtaining the services of a County Constable all because of one little thing—no salary goes with the job.

The feelings of one gentleman in the matter—Jack Smith, Drawer 6, Bobcaygeon, who had been approached to serve over a certain northern area of the County—were stated unmistakeably in a letter read to the County at its session Tuesday. The letter read:

"Received your letter regarding particulars as to County Constable. I would like to say if the position is not worth a salary I don't consider it worth having. If I was going to take the position I would try and do what I thought right and don't feel I could be of any assistance if I had to be County Constable at no salary because I realize it isn't a nice job and if the County does not feel they can pay me a salary I cannot accept the position.

"I believe a County Constable is supposed to go where he is called, is he not?

"Let me say in all fairness why should I want to act as County Constable at no salary? I don't ask a man to work for me for nothing or pay him for just part of the time he is working. If you see fit to give me a salary I might say I think I should have a little training along that line as I believe every man should know his duties and understand his job. Kindly let me know full particulars."

County Clerk J. A. Batten informed the Council she had instructed Mr. Smith he was entitled to charge the fees allowed by the Act to the County for his constabulary activities. The Council received a communication from William D. Wilson also declining a County Constable appointment for service in Asphodel district.

MILDER WEATHER DUE FOR ONTARIO

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP)—Most of Ontario was due for milder weather today and tomorrow but the northern reaches of the province were due for continued cold following the winter's third severe blizzard.

Lower lake region, Georgian Bay, Northern Ontario and the Ottawa valley were due for warmer weather with snow forecast for most of the districts. Districts of Kenora, Rainy River and Lake Superior could expect no relief from the cold with lower temperatures forecast by the meteorological service at Toronto.

Slowly rising was the mercury in St. Catharines where it registered six below zero last night. Early this morning it was two below in the district. The weather there was clear and there was no snow.

Ottawa remained far below zero with the lowest temperature last night being 24 below and just two degrees warmer at eight o'clock this morning. Toronto was much warmer with 12 degrees above registered in the morning and the lowest last night a four above.

Mercury Jumps Around

The highest temperature registered at London last night was 12 above with the mercury at zero this morning. Kingston was eight below this morning while Sault Ste. Marie was eight above.

Highway conditions were improving rapidly the Ontario Motor League headquarters at Toronto reported. The lakeshore highway from Hamilton to Montreal was open to traffic.

College Death Pit Yields 2 Skulls To Make 19 Found

5 Dying in Hospital, 26 Missing May Bring List to 50; Hint Incendiarism After Tale of Mysterious Roar

(By Louis V. Hunter, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Jan. 19—(CP)—Embers of gutted Sacred Heart College today yielded up two blackened skulls. The grim discovery raised the toll of known dead from yesterday's fire to 19, with 26 more "unreported." Five of the injured, under shadow of death, had last rites of the church administered to them in St. Charles hospital today.

Of the original 24 taken to hospital after fire gutted the four-storey commercial college early yesterday, only 15 remained under treatment today. Hospital authorities released nine yesterday after treatment for burns and bruises.

Forced to leap from the fourth floor of the blazing school when flames shut off all exits, the two brothers and three students expected to die of their injuries may raise the total casualties to 50.

As dawn broke, and groups of black-robed townfolk trudged to church to say special prayers for souls of the victims, hopes that held high yesterday began faltering. School officials and relatives and friends of the boys had felt many might have escaped from the holocaust and found refuge with neighboring families. No one had time to make a house-to-house check in yesterday's turmoil and it was felt at least some of those reported missing would turn up later.

But when firemen began recovering bits of mutilated and charred bodies, hopes began to wane. Of the list of 17 known dead, compiled only from the bodies found, 14 were unidentified. The 28 "unreported", surviving school authorities said, had "failed to answer the roll."

Hint Of Incendiarism.

What caused the sudden break-out of great sheets of flame remained uncertain while police probed a possibility of incendiarism and reports of the survivors that they heard a mysterious roar as they fled to safety in the paralyzing night air. But officials of the town, 35 miles east of Montreal, did know while they prepared for today's inquest that disaster had struck suddenly.

Dr. Paul Morin, district coroner, refused to express an opinion on the disaster's possible cause, but his brother, Dr. Jean Morin, declared the furnaces were intact and the boilers undamaged except by flames when firemen reached them.

Bodies Unrecognizable.

Coalmen's Strike Partly Settled

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP)—Partial settlement of the coal handlers' strike was effected today a few hours after 120 members of the Coal Handlers and Truckers' Union Local 83, stopped work on the waterfront docks of two companies.

About 75 men went to work in standard Fuels Company yards when a "satisfactory" agreement was reached in regard to haulage rates. Only workers of the Milne Company remained idle.

WORLD AND EGYPT POUR GIFTS UPON FAROUK AND BRIDE

CAIRO, Jan. 19—(AP).—Ancient Egypt and her friends throughout the world poured gifts at the feet of King Farouk and pretty Farida Zulficar, who will become Egypt's queen to-day.

A camel caravan brought picturesque caskets filled with henna for Farida, who will not see the wedding ceremony herself, and may have to wear in public the traditional veil of Egyptian women.

Slender, dark-eyed, 16-year-old Farida decided not to use the henna, which was sent by a notable Egyptian family and which since the days of the Pharaohs has been used to stain the hands and feet of brides.

Egypt's young queen-to-be, Farida, has a trousseau of Oriental magnificence for her wedding tomorrow, most of it chosen by Bridegroom King Farouk.

The Paris-designed wardrobe for the 16-year-old girl cost $25,000.

It shimmers with jewelled embroideries and is decked with costly cobweb laces. Its luxury is reminiscent of the gorgeous costumes worn by the beauties of ancient harems.

A Two-Shotgun Gift.

Among the gifts at Koubbeg Palace—one of the seven palaces available to the 17-year-oldKing and his bride-to-be—were two shotguns presented by the British Ambassador, Sir Miles Lampson, on behalf of King George.

The Boy King was so delighted with the British Monarch's gift that he decided to take the shotguns with him on the honeymoon.

Farouk also received a glistening new automobile from Germany.

Cairo business was at a standstill for the ceremony which will make Farida the second Queen of Egypt since Cleopatra. Flags flew from every building. Troops of Bedouins from the desert performed feats of horsemanship on the streets.

Divorce Figure Is Set.

Sheik Mustapha El Maraghy, the spiritual leader of the Egyptian Moslems, completed drafting the wedding contract which three scribes copied on illuminated parchments. It was understood the contract did not mention the dowry Farouk was to pay, but stipulated what it would cost him if he should divorce Farida.

The Moslem wedding ceremony will be witnessed by no woman, not even the bride. She must wait in one part of the palace while the marriage contract is solemnized in another.

Farida yesterday packed her 45-gown trousseau and sent it to Koubbeth Palace, where she and Farouk will live.

Second King of Egypt since the Ptolemies, Farouk succeeded his father, King Fuad, who died on April 28, 1936. The Boy King was under age at the time and governed under a Regency until July 29, 1937.

Trapped Out In Erie Seven Men Abandon 2 Tugs

Third Craft Turns Back and Escapes Drifting Ice; Plane Searches Lake as Group Reports Safety

PORT STANLEY, Ont., Jan. 19—(CP)—Captain Edward Payne of the tug Stewart B., notified port authorities here this afternoon he had received word the seven men stranded in two tugs in Lake Erie ice had abandoned the Dover clipper and the Ferroclad and walked five miles to shore near Erieau, 40 miles west of this lake port.

Fears had been expressed the men, missing since they left Erieau early Tuesday morning to pick up fish nets, had been carried far out into the lake by an ice jam which was drifting before a strong wind yesterday at two miles an hour.

Capt. Payne accompanied the Dover Clipper and Ferroclad with the Stewart B. on the trip for the nets until heavy ice forced him to turn about a half-hour after leaving Erieau. All three tugs belong to the Kolbe fleet, whose owner Karl Kolbe, was aboard the Dover Clipper.

Plane Sent Out.

An airplane was sent out from London, 20 miles north of here, to search for the men an hour before Captain Payne received word of their safety. Previously the captain said he believed the two 35-ton steel tugs had been carried 20 miles off shore by the heavy ice pack.

About a half-hour out of Erieau, Captain Payne said, the going became tough so he ordered the Stewart B. back to port. He was to have heard from the other tugs early on Tuesday night and when no word was forthcoming, residents of the lake ports became anxious.

On the tugs besides Kolbe were Captains John Matthews and Artley Martin of Port Dover, and John Taylor, Irving Nichol, Charles Pillon, and Jack Faulis, all of Erieau.

Provisions for two days were aboard the tugs, Captain Payne said, but their fuel supply would have been low.

It was not the first experience for Captain Matthews of the Dover Clipper of being stuck in the ice. Several years ago he was marooned for two weeks when ice off Long Point, east of here, lifted his tug out of water.

FEAST FOR THE GULLS

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP) —The fishing was fine, according to William Trezibond but he had nothing to show for his efforts after a day on the Bay of Quinte. Screened from a cold north wind by a disused auto hood, Trezibond caught his fish and tossed them behind the screen. What William didn't notice until too late was that each time he tossed a fish over his shoulder, a gull would dive and make off with it.

STALIN HALTS PURGE OF RED RANK AND FILE

Results Satisfactory, Dictator Indicates

MOSCOW, Jan. 19 (AP)—Russia's Joseph Stalin today curbed purgers of the Communist rank and file.

The central committee which he heads as secretary-general, ordered an end to mass expulsion of party members, which usually was followed by loss of jobs, or worse.

The full effect remains to be seen, but some foreigners thought it might be the beginning of an end to wholesale denunciations and arrests, without, however, relaxing entirely the drive against those suspected of hostility to the Soviet regime.

Pravda, considered Stalin's mouthpiece, indicated satisfaction with results of the purge, except for overzealousness by informers and some officials.

Stalin's speech in March, 1937, which started the purge has "penetrated deeply into the consciousness of millions of people," Pravda said. (Stalin called for "merciless" extermination of all Bolshevist enemies.)

Some Communist leaders were accused of spreading "slander for their own personal glory," and the committee urged prosecution of those guilty of causing "illegal dismissals" to discourage further use of unsubstantiated testimony.

NEW LABOR BREAK FACES CHAUTEMPS

PARIS, Jan. 19.—(AP).— New labor disturbances arose to-day to harass the remodelled government of Camille Chautemps, and the Premier at once called a conference of his ministers to deal with them.

The labor issue and accompanying fall of the franc forced out Chautemps' previous Popular Front cabinet.

Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos and Defence Minister Edouard Daladier retain their posts, assuring continuation of France's vast defence program.

Chautemps formed the government yesterday, the fifth day of the longest French cabinet crisis since the Great War.

The recurring labor disturbances included a demand by Bordeaux municipal employees that the city council increase living allowances. The note set Jan. 27 as the deadline for completing negotiations before a general strike order.

Paris municipal employees gained increased living allowances by general strike last month, and the rising cost of living attributed to fall of the franc has been the basic cause of the strike wave.

STEELE CONVICTED IN LONDON COURT OF ABDUCTING GIRL

LONDON, Jan. 19 (CP).—Wilmer Steele, former patient of Ontario Hospital, was convicted in city court here today of abducting seven-year-old Barbara Hebblethwaite (53 Clarence Street), London. Magistrate Menzies remanded him to jail until Friday for sentence.

On Friday, January 7, Steele took the girl to his home (5 Jean Street) and kept her until the following night. She claimed he forced her to go, but he said she went of her own accord.

While the child was at Steele's home a city-wide search was being made by police, friends and relatives. All night streets were scoured by searching parties. After she returned home on Saturday, January 8, Steele was arrested.

Steele was charged with kidnapping. However, after the Crown evidence had been heard, a conference was held and the charge changed to abduction.

If Steele had been convicted of kidnapping he would have been liable to a maximum sentence of life imprisonment. Maximum penalty for abduction is seven years in the penitentiary.

TWO ELGIN MEN DIE UNDER TRAIN

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 19—(CP)—An inquest into the deaths of two prominent Elgin county officials, killed when an automobile in which they were riding was demolished by a fast freight train, will be opened here today.

W. A. Galbraith, aged about 70, county auditor for Elgin county, and 46-year-old Murray M. McNeill, treasurer of Dunwich township, were killed when the train crashed into their car late yesterday two miles north of here. The car was carried for nearl ya half mile before the train was stopped.

Sudbury Killer Hangs Saturday

SUDBURY, Ont., Jan. 19.—(CP). —Almost four months to the day following his conviction, Tom Pornomarenko will be hanged in Sudbury jail Saturday morning for his part in the murder last July of Sergeant Fred Davidson of the Sudbury police force.

The scaffold has been built. Pornomarenko, whose only visitors are Major C. T. Chapman of the Salvation Army and his counsel, A. J. Dediana, was reported to-day to be spending his time playing checkers and cards with the death-cell guards.

Petting Patrol Set On Town's Parks

Chester, Pa., Jan. 19. (AP)

A FULL-TIME "one man petting patrol" will supervise "spooning" in this town's three parks—at a salary of $1,200 a year.

City Council today appointed 35-year-old William Pollock to patrol the parks on a motorcycle and enforce a ban on "automobile spooning parties." Pollock, a married man, was authorized to be sole judge of what is "decent."

2,000,000 Casualties Already--Daily Existence Major Problem Across Nation

By Charles P. Nutter
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

MADRID, Jan. 19—(AP)—Spain's civil war, just turned 18 months old, is bleeding the country of resources in men and wealth at a rate which baffles prediction of what the situation will be when peace comes.

The government is spending more than 5,000,000 pesetas (about $300,000) a day in wages for its fighting forces and certainly the cost of each month of warfare on this side must run into 300,000,000 or 400,000,000 pesetas.

Insurgent expenses of a like nature may be somewhat lower because General Franco's soldiers draw but a fraction of the government's 10-pesetas-a-day wages for the soldier of the line.

About 1,000,000 men make up the rival armies.

Casualties are already figured at about 2,000,000 persons dead or injured at the front and at the rear for both sides.

No Sign of Peace

The prospect of an insurgent capitulation or on the other hand an overwhelming government defeat appear as remote as ever, leading observers to the belief that the conflict will continue through 1938 if not indeed considerably longer.

Ont. Approves Using Reliefers For Snow Cleaning Jobs

Cross Sanctions Toronto Plan To Avoid Paying Men 60 Cents An Hour

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP).—Employment of relief recipients on useful civic works such as snow-cleaning has the approval of the Ontario Department of Welfare and Municipal Affairs.

Hon. Eric Cross said today his department had always adhered to this policy so long as it did not mean the displacement of any permanent civic employee.

In a letter to Mayor Ralph Day of Toronto today, he said: "I desire to assure you that this department has no objection to the city using unemployed persons on the relief rolls for useful civic purposes such as snow-cleaning provided the wages paid are applied against the relief allowances of such persons and at the local rate of wages and also provided that no permanent member of the staff is displaced or his employment curtailed."

Controller Fred Hamilton proposed relief recipients in Toronto be employed cleaning snow from streets for their relief payments instead of paying men 60 cents an hour for the work. The proposal is being considered by council.

Mr. Cross said the policy outlined to Mayor Day applied throughout the province.

Girls Learn Mechanics In Sault Class

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Jan 19

A. H. Herridge, who teaches a course in auto mechanics here in a technical school, has 14 girls in his class and "they learn just as quickly as boys."

The girls, all from Sault Ste. Marie, don't intend to make the study a life work, but as one put it "we just want to know all about a car so we can drive one intelligently, and so we'll know what's wrong when anything happens."

It's the first time girls have taken such a course at the school. An inquisitive reporter, who wondered whether they would shudder at getting covered with grease, came upon them today. They had just come from a session at cooking class and were attired in white caps and uniforms.

3 Brothers With One Bank Book For All Break Up 32-Year Partnership

Sarnia, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP)

THREE brothers who owned only one bank book among them for 32 years announced today dissolution of partnership. They are the Moor brothers, William, Bert and Charles, farmers and horse breeders who have operated as many as 700 acres of land between them.

Among the outstanding racers they trained were Margaret Dillon, which holds the Canadian record for trotters and Gratton Axworthy, which holds the Dominion record for pacers.

William and Charles will continue to operate 580 acres of Sarnia township while Bert will reside here.

Curious As To What Creates A Genius Scientists Start Probing Brain

London, Jan. 19 (CP)

BRITISH scientists have launched intensive research into operations of the human brain in an effort to ascertain why some individuals develop the qualities of genius, while others fail to rise above the mediocre.

The investigation is being undertaken by the burden Mental Research Trust, with approval of the British Medical Association.

Through the generosity of Mrs. R. G. Burden, Bristol, a sum of £10,000 ($50,000) has been made available for the work.

Record of 1,000 defective patients admitted consecutively to Stoke Park Colony, Bristol, will be compiled and more than 3,000 school children will be examined.

It is proposed to start a collection of formal and defective brains, to determine the significance of physicial differences between individual specimens. Age, family history, mental and physical characteristics will be taken into account.

J. F. George Elected Counties Warden

Brighton Township Reeve Only 35 Years Old; Reeves Mallory and Deviney Defeated

(Special to The Examiner)

COBOURG, Jan. 19.—Reeve J. Frank George of Brighton township was elected Warden of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham on the first ballot at the opening of the statutory January sessions last night.

The poll of the council by E. N. MacNachtan, counties clerk and treasurer, gave Reeve George 21 votes, a minimum but sufficient plurality over Reeve Ray R. Mallory of Percy township who received 13 votes, and Reeve James A. Deviney of Haldimand township, 6 votes. One member of the council was absent.

Only thirty-five years old, Warden George is believed to be the youngest incumbent of the highest municipal office in the united counties in all their long history. He holds that distinction at least as far as present memories can recall his predecessors. He has been a member of the council six years, coming up from Brighton township for the first time as Deputy-reeve with the former Reeve W. A. Goodfellow, and in his township council he has seen nine years' service.

Retired veterans of the council who were present last night said that Warden George was the first candidate they could remember to have been elected on the first ballot in a three-cornered contest; and it is quite a number of years since any Warden was elected on the first division of the council.

Warden George is a keen young administrator well schooled in municipal experience and procedure, and broadly informed of the affairs of the united counties. He defeated two reeves considerably older than he is, and made a favorable impression in his inaugural address.

107 SCARLET FEVER CASES

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 19 (C.P.)—A mild form of scarlet fever prevalent just now in Windsor has sent the number of cases soaring up to 107 in December, according to a monthly report issued by Dr. Fred Adams, Medical Officer of Health.

In one housing project in England 520,298 houses have been built.

KING WILL STICK TO END OF TERM

OTTAWA Jan. 19 (CP)—Likelihood the present government would remain in office for its full five-year statutory term has been repeated by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

He declared last night he could foresee nothing that would create necessity for an appeal to the people "within a year or two at any rate" and observed that the normal term of the present parliament did not expire until Nov. 9, 1940.

It was announced that a letter would go forward today to premiers of the nine provinces containing a copy of the proposed constitutional amendment to clear the way for a national unemployment insurance measure. The amendment will be made public later but details of the measure itself will not be revealed until parliament meets.

New Brunswick, Quebec and Alberta have withheld approval pending further information but the other six provinces have given their unconditional support to the plan.

ICE BRIDGE DANGEROUS

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Jan. 19 (A.P.). — Police were stationed around a new international bridge below Niagara Falls to-day to keep people from walking across it.

The bridge was created by nature almost overnight at the foot of the Falls by ice forming from the spray. The bridge is slippery and extremely dangerous, but Police Chief Tracy Levee said people have tried to walk it.

Better Love And Lose Than No Love U. of T. Students Decide

Toronto, Jan. 18 (CP)

MORE than 50 per cent of the students at Victoria College University of Toronto, favored losing at love rather than being loveless in their vote last night after a debate on the subject:

"It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

The vote was 80 to 37 and here's some of the reasons:

G. J. Aldridge, fourth-year student: "Loving and losing fulfills the highest functions of the university."

W. H. Howard, third year: "I approach the subject with an open mind—and open arms. Necking is a petty aspect of love, but a gripping question."

Miss M. E. Beangell, second year: "Loving and losing give experience and with experience you can start again."

Farmer Ends Long Family Feud By 5 Murders And Suicide

Attacks Brother And His Wife But Fails To Kill Them

DURAND, Wis., Jan. 19 (U.P.). — A bitter feud beween two farm brothers with death as "the only way out," last night was believed responsible for the slaying of five persons and the suicide of another.

Sheriff Victor Seline said Lawrence LePlay, 37, and his wife, Agnes 36, wrote carefully prepared notes last night, in which they described the destruction they planned for themselves and their two children and for the family of Lawrence's brother Marvin.

Seline said the two families lived in separate houses on the same farm and had quarrelled for months.

The dead were: Lawrence LePlay, and his wife Agnes, 36; their daughters Virgie 8, Beulah 7; and Marvin LePlay's children, Phyllis 8, and Virgil 5.

A third child in Marvin's household, Roger 4, apparently was missed by Lawrence as he stalked into the home, and was unharmed.

Mrs. LePlay said Lawrence shot her husband under the heart when he left their house to do chores. She rushed to her husband's aid and was felled by a blow on the head from Lawrence's revolver.

She said Lawrence apparently believed them both dead, and went from there into the house. He found Phyllis and Virgil and took them to his own home, where one by one he shot them along with members of his own family. Then he committed suicide.

Canadian Caribou For U.S. Preserve

Montreal Lake, Sask, Jan. 19

INDIANS will stalk the Far North bush country of Saskatchewan late this winter seeking 10 yearling caribou for shipment to Northern Minnesota. The United States Department of Agriculture will establish a herd of woodland caribou in the game preserve between the Lake of the Woods and Red Lake, Minn.

POSTMASTER HELD FOR MAIL ROBBERY

COBOURG, Jan. 19.—Austin Retallick, postmaster at Garden Hill for three years, was arrested yesterday by police on four charges of theft from the mails. Brought here, he was remanded until January 24, when he will appear in Port Hope Police Court.

Retallick's arrest came after postal inspectors investigated the disappearance of two registered letters.

He is charged with the theft of two letters and theft of money from those letters.

CIVIL WAR SEEN RUINING SPAIN

Juan Negrin and others have warned republican Spain it must be prepared for several years of war. Privately, the most pessimistic view has been that it would last six years. Already it is evident from this front line observation post that the war has carried Spain well along the road to ruin.

Practically all wealth has vanished here. The problem of daily existence is uppermost in everyone's mind.

About 10 per cent of the public's estimated 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 population are engaged in military and therefore non-productive pursuits. Moreover, these have become enormous consumers of the dwindling resources.

Sales Tax Of 8 p.c. Likely To Stay

OTTAWA, Jan. 19—(C P)—There is little likelihood of Canada's eight per cent sales tax being eliminated, since it is now providing a substantial part of the national revenue, Chairman N. W. Rowell of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations contended to-day, when the Canadian Manufacturers' Association suggested its ultimate removal.

The Association advocated gradual decrease of sales tax as dominion financial conditions improved. In the prosperous years, 1925-30, the government had cut the sales tax as its revenues increased.

Mr. Rowell noted that since that time the government had been subjected to numerous new demands which were still increasing, so it seemed unlikely the policy of 1925-30 in this regard would be possible.

AIR ROUTES GROW IN COMMONWEALTH

MELBOURNE, Nov. 1.—(CP-Reuters)—The rapid strides made by aviation in Australia are shown by figures just issued by the Civil Aviation Department.

In 1927 there were 156 pilots flying over the air routes about 1,000,000 miles in the year. Now there are 1,035 pilots, covering more than 10,000,000 miles annually. By the end of the year the department expects that another 1,000,000 miles a year will be covered and that more than 100,000 passengers will have been carried by air in 1937.

$4,900 FOR COLLISION

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 19.—(CP).—William R. Luke, Glencoe druggist and W. E. Babe, Oshawa salesman, are awarded a total of $4,900 under the judgment of Justice Nicol Jeffrey of the Supreme Court, which has just been handed down.

Luke and Babe brought an action against Udie Harrington, of Port Huron, over a collision at the intersection of Pratt's side road and the Glencoe-Bewbury road.

Luke was riding as a passenger in Babe's car when it was in collision with Harrington's car.

FOREMAN NOTIFIED OF SPLIT TIMBERS IN DAM DISASTER

PORT STANLEY, Ont., Jan. 19 (C.P.). — A crack three or four feet long and a half-inch wide appeared in one heavy, bracing timber several hours before a coffer-dam collapsed here last December 19, according to evidence at an inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death of eight "muckers" in the 29-foot-deep dam.

The split in the 12-by-12-inch timber, Clarence Cromwell testified last night, came shortly after he heard sharp, cracking noises as he worked on the bed of Kettle Creek, excavating clay for the foundations of a new $250,000 highway bridge. Cromwell said he reported the condition of the timber to his foreman.

The inquest, technically held to inquire into the death of George Sealey, one of the eight workers drowned in the dam collapse, developed into an inquiry into the cause of the caisson's failure to resist the pressure of 29 feet of water. W. J. Munro, caisson inspector of the Ontario Department of Labor, and other technical witnesses will testify when the inquest resumes to-night.

Others drowned were Joseph Olsen and his father, James Olsen, Donald Beattie, James McFariand, Archibald Jones, A. Beesby and his son, E. E. Beesby. Alvin Thompson, Elmer Shearing, William Hume and James Sealey, brother of George, and Clarence Cromwell, five of the 13 muckers working in the coffer-dam, were rescued. Five other workmen atop the dam escaped.

Heard Cracking for Hours.

Shortly before adjournment, four day-shift workers testified that they had heard sharp, breaking noises in the dam from about 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. on the day of the accident. Wilber Hough, one of the four, said one such crack "sounded like the report of a gun." His testimony was supported by Cromwell, Roy Bolt, and William Hyatt.

Earlier, John Bermingham, junior partner in the construction firm of William Bermingham & Son, Kingston, testified there was no "logical reason" for the collapse. "Something failed," he said. "Put it that way. But what failed, or why it failed, I cannot say."

BOARDS TO CONFER ON APPOINTMENT OF SCHOOL NURSE

Recent appointment of Helen Gainey, Reg. N., as public health nurse and Separate school attendance officer was last night the subject of some discussion at the inaugural meeting of the Board of Health.

Miss Gainey was appointed by the Separate school authorities, but Dr. T. J. Phair, chief medical officer of health for Ontario, in a communication to the local Board of Health, declared Miss Gainey should be responsible to the local health authorities and should be paid by that authority. He did not approve of the joint appointment, it was indicated.

On motion of Alderman James Dutton, seconded by Mayor James Hamilton, it was resolved to call a conference between the Board of Health and the Separate School Board representatives regarding terms of Miss Gainey's appointment. Dr. Fraser was asked to interview Miss Gainey.

Relative to the appointee named by the Separate School Board and the disapproval of the Ontario Department of Health with reference to Miss Gainey serving under the joint authority of the two Boards, Mayor Hamilton expressed the opinion, "I do not think the Department has any right to dictate in many of the things they do."

Alderman Dutton said he was inclined to agree wit hthe Mayor as to what he had said about "dictation" from government departments. He felt however, that if Miss Gainey was to work under the local Board of Health the Board was justified in laying down the conditions and terms of her service.

Mayor Hamilton disagreed on the grounds that the Public school health nurses were not subject to authority of the local Board, but he was reminded by Alderman Dutton the public school nurses were appointed before the new requirements were laid down.

The desire to have the Separate school appointee under jurisdiction of the Board of Health is in line with efforts being made to centralize all the city's social services.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

A late flurry of export buying lifted Winnipeg wheat futures from one-cent low points to-day. After marking time with other world markets most of the session, prices recovered to close ¼ lower to ¾ cent higher, May $1.24½, July $1.17¼ and October $1.01¼.

Heavy snow in Nebraska and indications of rain or snow in the Kansas winter wheat belt encouraged minor selling in all North American exchanges to-day. Futures on the Winnipeg Exchange closely followed Chicago, and were almost a cent lower most of the day.

A scattering of outside purchases supported October future.

Export business was estimated at 300,000 bushels, earlier trading was virtually at a standstill.

Real Estate Burden Branded Too High

Less Interest, Low Taxes, Key to Housing Problem; Urge Government Take Relief, Education Load

By Carl Reinke (Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 —(CP)— Canada's housing problem would be solved without government stimulus if real estate had to bear only a reasonable share of the total tax burden, the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards submitted today before the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations.

Since real estate was more highly taxed than other forms of wealth, the association said home ownership was discouraged, construction retarded and real estate impaired as an investment.

"Government subsidies or government participation in house financing is not necessary or advisable," the association contended. "It is unwise to cure one evil with another. The major operation required for a cure of alleged housing shortage is to remove the canker of excessive taxation."

Private capital had built about 90 per cent. of the new houses in England where taxes were based on annual earning value of the property instead of the property being subject to a four per cent., or 40-mill, capital levy as in Canada, it was stated.

Cheaper Money, Less Taxes.

When the average tax rate was 15 mills instead of 40, there was no housing shortage in Canada, the association said. It urged four or five per cent. money and low taxes as the two necessities for housing development.

In a general co-ordination of the total tax burden with a view to its more equitable distribution the association advocated:

Responsibility for relief be lifted entirely from real estate.

The full real estate taxes paid be set off against income tax.

Entire support of secondary education by the central government, not by real estate or the municipalities.

More liberal support of hospitals by Provincial governments, since their services were not limited to a defined area.

Cities and towns to share in automobile revenues to meet expenses of servicing automobile traffic.

Municipal debenture issues to be limited by statute to permanent capital improvements and rigid limitations on municipal borrowing powers.

The Main Target.

The Association recognized that "the perfectly fair system of taxation" was yet to be discovered and that real estate by its tangible nature would always be the target for taxes since it could "not be hidden in the vault box or moved out of the jurisdiction."

Beyond a limit, however, taxation became confiscatory, it was held. Once that point was reached, the very value on which the tax was based "dissolves in exact ratio to the whole or partial confiscation," the Association argued.

"What other commodity pays to the municipality an average of four per cent tax yearly and then has its net revenue taxable as income by both the province and the Dominion?" it asked. Canada and the United States were said to be the only two countries with that annual capital levy, instead of taxing only earnings of real estate.

As illustration of the tax load real estate carries, the Association compared taxation of $100,000 invested in real estate and in four per cent. bonds.

The tax on the real estate, at 40 mills, would be $4,000. Income from the bonds would be $4,000, of which $2,000 would be minimum exemption. Dominion tax on remaining $2,000 income would be $70 and provincial tax $35, or a total of $105. The tax on real estate was thus nearly 40 times that on bonds.

Canadian Pays Twice as Much.

"We express admiration for the sporting blood of the Britisher who pays an income tax of 4s 6d on £1 or about 22 per cent income tax, but we are just beginning to appreciate that the owner of urban real estate in Canada is paying at least twice as much as the sporting Britisher," the Association continued.

The result of basing real estate assessment on assumed value instead of its earning power was that thousands of owners of small homes now found it impossible to obtain what they paid for their homes a few years ago when taxes were lighter, the Association said.

The trend was indicated in Toronto figures. In 1926, there were 64,964 owner-occupied homes and 36,269 tenant-occupied. In 1936, those figures were 59,093 and 48,972 respectively, largely due to loss of homes and inability of mortgagees to sell homes they were forced to take over, according to the association.

Deposits by the public, both interest-bearing and non-interest-bearing show increases. Interest-bearing deposits are up from $78,221,966 to $80,981,700 and non-interest-bearing from $30,281,566 to $31,109,555. Deposits by Government are up about $750,000. Notes in circulation show a drop from $4,237,915 to $3,935,290. Total liabilities stand at $140,572,874, compared with $135,907,304, and the assets, of course, show a corresponding increase.

If setting off real estate taxes against income taxes left the provinces and Dominion short of revenue, the association suggested the answer was an increase in rate of income tax and reduction in exemptions. "Certainly there is ample room for adjustment to arrive at a more equitable distribution," it said.

Long Term Relief Answer

On the question of relief the association said the more industrialized a city became the greater was its distress in lean years and pointed out that Hamilton spent per capita almost twice as much as Toronto on relief. It commended unemployment insurance as the "only long term answer" to the problem.

"Granted unemployment insurance provides for the employables out of work, what is the modern substitute for the workhouse? Surely not a levy on real estate," it asserted.

The association recommended that tax exemptions on government owned property and publicly owned commercial enterprises should be lifted, since such properties enjoyed municipal services at the expense of other property.

Murder Charge

Following a coroner's jury verdict implicating him with the death of pretty 28-year-old Helen Grier, Vernon Spencer ABOVE, well-to-do Michigan farmer and former baseball player with the Toronto Leafs, was arrested by police and charged with murder. Miss Grier's pyjama-clad body was found shot to death in a hunting cabin occupied by herself and Spencer north of Sault Ste. Marie.

JAPS SLOWED UP ORDER MORE MEN TO LUNGHAI AREA

SHANGHAI, Jan. 19.—(AP).— A reinforced Japanese offensive against the Lunghai railroad was forecast to-day in intensive preparations to use Tsingtao, conquered Shantung province seaport, as a base for a drive into the interior.

A force of 40,000 Chinese along the Lunghai, China's main east-west railway, blocked Japanese efforts to consolidate their North China and Shanghai area conquests. Japanese columns advancing from the north and south of Suchow, main Lunghai junction point, still were 200 miles apart.

Japanese landed some 10,000 troops, large stocks of munitions, and artillery, horses and tanks at Tsingtao, which is linked by the Shantung railway with the Tsinpu, route of the Japanese southward drive on Suchow.

The Japanese military spokesman said Chinese had their strongest defence works in the Lunghai vicinity, which separate the Japanese-conquered territory immediately north of Shanghai form the region dominated by Japanese North China armies.

The troops disembarking at Tsingtao were provided with winter equipment with which to face the severe cold in the Lunghai and Tsinpu areas.

Date for the departure from Shanghai of Shigeru Uawagoe, Japanese ambassador to China, who was recalled yesterday, was not announced. The Embasy spokesman said the staff would remain and that the Embassy would function as usual.

BANK OF TORONTO PROFITS HIGHER

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (C.P.).—Bank of Toronto reported a slightly larger profit in the year ended November 30, 1937, than in the previous year, but a write-off of $200,000 on bank premises compared with $100,000 left a smaller net in 1937 than in 1936.

The profit for the last year was $1,156,372 after providing for staff pension fund, taxes and all other expenses and appropriations for contingent accounts and doubtful debts compared with $1,141,811 in the previous year. The write-off on bank premises left $956,372 against $1,041,811 at the end of November, 1936. Dividends called for $900,000, as in the previous year, leaving a balance to be carried forward of $356,372, bringing the profit and loss credit balance up to $1,641,748.

NEED MORE REVENUE

GUELPH, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP) — City council has endorsed a brief for submission to the Ontario mayors' conference in Toronto next week emphasizing necessity of finding some source of increased revenues for municipalities and that cost of relief be removed from municipalities. Council will ask the brief be sent to the Rowell Commission on Dominion-provincial relations.

TROURIST TRADE INCREASES

In spite of the war in China Netherlands India entertained more tourists last year than in 1936.

Fire Destroys Barnum School

When fire swept a school at Bridgeport, Conn., which had been named after the late P. T. Barnum, world famous showman, between $125,000 and $150,000 damage was done to the building. Three hundred school children were temporarily without school following the fire. Three firemen were seriously injured while fighting the fire as shown above.

Bad Weather Halts Wilkins' Search Till Next Full Moon In February

Fairbanks, Alaska, Jan. 19 (AP) SIR Hubert Wilkins advised M. B. Beloaov, Soviet representative, by wireless last night he would attempt no more moonlight flights over the Arctic during the January full moon in search of the missing Soviet fliers.

Bad weather kept Wilkins aground at his Aklavik, N.W.T., base yesterday.

He messaged he would await a full moon Feb. 14 before attempting another flight.

Wilkins made a 9½-hour flight last Friday without sighting the six missing airmen, last heard from Aug. 13 on their projected Moscow-Fairbanks flight.

FREIGHTER WINS FIGHT WITH SEA

LONDON, Jan. 19. — (AP).— The British freighter Cragpool won a battle yesterday with a mid-Atlantic gale that had ripped a gash in her hull.

The 5,133-ton ship, with a crew of 35 aboard, had wirelessed for help, reporting water in her engine room Later, however, she reported the water had been cleared and she would proceed after temporary repairs to her pumps.

The Cragpool was bound from Galveston, Texas, to Rotterdam, The Netherlands, with a cargo of grain.

(The German liner Europa, which made a 270-mile dash to aid the Cragpool, reached her early to-day. Finding help was not needed, the Europa continuedl her voyage to Cherbourg, France, she reported to New York).

The master of the disabled Admiralty oil tanker, War Badamur, which reached Plymouth under escort of the destroyer Wolverine, told how a 100-mile-an-hour hurricane and an 80-foot wave swept away the tankers bridge, lifeboats, charts and instruments.

Four men were hurt when they were swept from the bridge and fell 15 feet to the deck.

Tons Crash Over Bridge.

"It looked like a huge black wall," Captain D. A. Rees said. "It brought hundreds of tons of water crashing over the bridge. I felt the ship sinking and wondered if she'd ever rise again. From then on we never knew time or direction. Water in the saloon was up to our necks. We shut ourselves in the engine room. It was just like being in a submarine. That was Friday and it was not until mid-day Saturday that the S.S. San Querino sighted us and sent the wireless that brought the Wolverine.

Altogether the storm so far has accounted for more than 30 dead. The freighter Glan Rhyd was lost off the Welsh coast with its crew of 17. Other casualties at sea and accidents ashore caused by the 80-mile-an-hour gales caused other deaths.

While the storm apparently continued in mid-Atlantic, it had moderated to-day in the vicinity of the British Isles.

WALNUTS FOR PRAIRIES

REGINA, Jan. 19—(CP).—An experiment with walnut trees by Regina Parks Department is announced by Parks Superintendent J. Craig. A shipment of 50 black walnut trees was sent recently to Mr. Craig by H. H. Blanchett, Ottawa. The type is foreign to the Prairies. If they grow successfully they reach a heigh of 75 to 100 feet, and have a life of 90 to 100 years.

MORE LIQUOR SALES

WINNIPEG, Jan. 19 (CP)—Manitoba Liquor Commission net profits for the fiscal year ended April 30, 1637, was $1,512,200, Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general, announced. Profits for the previous fiscal year were $1,293,287.

Gross sales were $5,191,392, an increase of $651,698 over the previous fiscal year.

REBELS ADVANCE NORTH OF TERUEL

WITH INSURGENTS BEFORE TERUEL, Spain, Jan. 19 (AP).—Insurgent forces followed up gains along the Celadas range of mountains to the north of Teruel in Eastern Spain with heavy artillery bombardment today of Spanish government positions.

A government counter-attack on the north of Teruel was repulsed.

With the occupation of strategic mountains, Altos de Celadas and El Muleton, the government position in Teruel was considered untenable.

Viewed from a slope overlooking the plateau to the west, Teruel loomed as a ghost city in bright sunshine today. There appeared to be no life in the Provincial capital.

Ruins of the Seminary and other buildings could be seen plainly. The city now is without adequate water supply.

THE FARMERS' HARVEST

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP)— This weather may be tough on the coal bin but it's all right with Hamilton district farmers who are "coining dough" in a small way by renting cutters and horses to sleighing parties and persons who have to get around even if their automobiles can't get through the snow drifts.

LETTER FROM BURNED PLANE

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 19—(CP). —The charred remains of a letter were delivered to Norman Gardner of Vancouver here yesterday. The letter had been air-mailed on the Northwest Airways plane that crashed near Bozeman, Mont., last week, carrying 10 people to death. The letter, with the address barely decipherable, was found in the ruins. Gardner is visiting here.

CATHARTICS A BAD HABIT

If you have common constipation, due to lack of bulk in the diet, the great objection to pills and purgatives is that they only perpetuate the trouble.

Why not encourage elimination with a natural laxative food—with Kellogg's All-Bran. It absorbs moisture and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. At the same time it improves intestinal tone because Kellogg's All-Bran contains the intestinal tonic vitamin B₁.

Eat All-Bran as a cereal or baked in muffins. And drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

You too will be satisfied with HAMCO, the Coke which delivers the maximum of clean steady heat at minimum cost. Easy to regulate—lighter to handle — longer-lasting. And leaves far less ash. The New Warden

Reeve Ernest N. McDonald of Dummer township has been accorded the honor of election to the wardenship of Peterborough county and the general opinion will be that a good selection has been made by the county legislators. The new warden has had a long experience in municipal politics and, beyond that, has had the broadening that comes with training in the larger field of provincial affairs for he has had the distinction of representing East Peterborough at Queen's Park. Warden McDonald has always had a flair for public service and he has looked after the interests of his own township well in the county council, in addition to taking a keen interest in the general business of that body.

Like every other municipal government the Peterborough council is facing a number of important problems this year and the experience possessed by the new warden should be helpful to a happy solution of these questions.

Incidentally we pass the tip on to Warden McDonald that if he wishes to make his term of office noteworthy he might see that 1938 is marked by the launching of Peterborough county into the field of reforestation—even if the start has necessarily to be made on a modest scale. His own experience with conditions in the township he represents and many sections of which could be reforested profitably, should make the warden a firm advocate of a systematic policy of restoring to some degree at least the forest reserves that have been wiped out. Offhand we can think of no better contribution he could make as presiding officer of the 1938 county council than to have such a policy started during the time he is at the helm.

An Old Institution

One of Peterborough's oldest public bodies is the Little Lake Cemetery Company which held its 87th annual meeting the other day. It is an organization of the lotowners, and the revenues received go back into the maintenance of the cemetery and into the constant improvements that are being carried out and it is a simple recognition of fact to say that because public-spirited citizens have throughout the long history of the company been willing to give the benefit of their business experience and training to the direction of the affairs of the organization there have been few better managed institutions.

From the beginning the Cemetery Board has been fortunate in that respect. It was a small coterie of leading citizens who, when the last century had little more than passed the half-way mark, looked at that point of land projecting into the waters of Little Lake and visualized there a lasting resting-place for themselves, their families and their neighbors, who were responsible for the establishment of the cemetery on one of the most beautiful sites in the whole province. And because the vision and foresight that dictated the original choice of that property have been duplicated throughout the years by the business and professional men who have been glad to associate themselves with the enterprise Peterborough now possesses a cemetery that in the beauty of its setting, the attractiveness of its green lawns and beautiful trees and the care and attention it receives at all times is unsurpassed anywhere.

The present directorate headed by R. J. Kidd as president and comprising W. G. Morrow, Col. Arthur Stevenson, E. A. Peck, K.C., Mayor James Hamilton, Roland Denne, Harold A. Morrow, W. J. Thompson and Dr. J. E. Middleton is successfully following the traditions of the pioneers in the enterprise, and it contributes a public service that is none the less valuable or important because for the most part it is taken for granted by the community.

The Scottish Curlers

Although it is not Peterborough's good fortune on this occasion to be able to play host to the Scottish curlers who are touring Canada, The Examiner in extending a welcome to the visitors from across the Atlantic as they visit this district knows that it is speaking not only for the curling fraternity but for citizens generally.

Previous visits of curlers from the land O' cakes are well remembered here. They were indeed happy occasions when sportsmanship reached its finest flower, when curling was seen at its best and when the brotherhood of citizenship in the British Empire was strengthened and stimulated. Great fellows were those knights of the stane and besom who were entertained here in those earlier days and the older curlers still remember the skill and enthusiasm with which they curled and the warm friendliness they displayed at the social functions that were intermingled with their curling itinerary.

This city would have liked to have had another opportunity of welcoming the Scots but that honor, so far as this district is concerned has gone to Lindsay and no one here will begrudge the Lindsay curlers the prestige that comes from acting as the host club. Lindsay has long been the nursery of good curlers and probably no community in Ontario has done more to develop a love for the ancient game. There will be rare curling in Lindsay tonight and Peterborough followers of the art will not be left out in the cold altogether as local curlers are among those who are to face the formidable opposition from overseas.

We Can Wait A While

We have an idea that the majority of the citizens will agree with the decision of the property committee that the motorization of the city's garbage collection system is a luxury that Peterborough can well afford to do without for the present.

It may be that the equipment used here in the past has not been perfect but after all the main thing about garbage collection is that it should be systematic from the viewpoint of regular collections and in that respect the work has been very well done here under the contract system. Complaints about garbage and ashes being missed have not been numerous and in the main there has been efficient collection, even if the appearance of the vehicles used has sometimes been far from picturesque. And a point that a great many citizens have failed to notice is that there have been regular collections here twice a week whereas in a number of other cities the public has had to be content with a weekly collection. Even Ottawa, Canada's capital, had to get along with that kind of a system until recently.

When the times comes for more modern equipment the city authorities will have to decide whether garbage collection should be taken over completely as a municipal enterprise or whether the contract system is to be maintained. If the latter policy is decided upon then it seems inevitable that contracts should be made over a term of years, three at least, for no contractor could be expected to make the outlay involved in the purchase of the required equipment unless he were assured of a contract long enough to justify the investment.

In the meanwhile, the present system will do nicely. There are other things that are needed more than motorized garbage collection and the property committee has sized up public opinion very neatly in arriving at that conclusion. The new chairman, Ald. Herb McCannan, has steered around that first problem very skillfully in the decision to mark time for the present.

Driving Them Off

A lot of attention is being directed by safety officials these days to the measures that are being taken by the authorities in New Jersey in a vigorous campaign to drive unsafe cars off the highway. The spirit of this effort should not be misunderstood; it is not aimed at machines simply because they are old and as a matter of fact any ancient motor car that is found to be sound mechanically will be allowed to operate. The campaign is, however, designed to chase off the road automobiles in which the headlights, the brakes, tires and other important features are considered to be in an unsafe condition.

And the New Jersey authorities are not contenting themselves with depending upon a pious hope that their regulations will be carried out. They are taking businesslike steps to see that the rules are obeyed. Inspection stations have been opened all over the state and a corps of specially trained officers have been given charge of the work. That may sound a trifle expensive until it is explained that the inspection is really self supporting for there are to be two tests every year and the car-owner has to pay 50 cents for each inspection so that the cost is borne by the driving public.

In addition to systematic inspection of motor vehicles, New Jersey is also contemplating a periodic checkup of drivers as an additional safety measure, proposing to do so every three or five years.

It must be admitted that in both these steps the state authorities are well in advance of the situation in Ontario. It is true that we occasionally have a more or less haphazard inspection of brakes and lights but we are not very careful as to the condition of motor vehicles for which licenses are granted; in fact it is not too much to say that so long as a man can dig up the necessary fee he is supplied with license markers regardless of what kind of a rattletrap machine he proposes to drive. And as for drivers, there is an initial test and after that there is no further examination, despite the fact that drivers may change physically and sometimes mentally to a degree that renders them unsafe for the responsibility of operating a motor car.

An Encouraging Outlook

It seems scarcely necessary to point out that Canadian prosperity hinges to a great extent upon the welfare of Canadian agriculture. Such a statement is almost bromidic for by this time the fact is generally admitted that when rural Canada is suffering hard times, the urban districts also feel the effects.

That being so there should be general satisfaction over the statement made in a publication entitled "The Agricultural Situation and Outlook" recently issued by the Federal Department of Agriculture which sets forth the official prediction that prices for farm products are expected to maintain a high level throughout the current year.

This appreciation of the outlook is regarded as authentic as forecasts of that kind can ever be for the information has been carefully collected from reliable sources and the purpose of the publication is to serve as a guide to those engaged in farming in Canada and to business organizations.

When such an authority declares that the results of this year's farming operations should be reasonably satisfactory the Examiner regards that as important news, important not only to the farmers themselves but to the business world which depends upon agricultural success for its own prosperity. The government booklet states that for several years the prices of farm products have been stiffening and that last year they had finally climbed to a level where they compared favorably with the values of other commodities. The ground lost since 1929, the summary states, has been virtually caught up and that favorable point having been reached and with reasonable hopes of the advance being continued through 1938 the present outlook gives good ground for optimism.

IT DOES HAPPEN

(By A. R. K.)

¶ When the neighbors come for supper, and they bring their wives along, we like to make it look as though life was a happy song, we always like to serve a meal that's fit for kings to eat, we pile on pickles and the cake, and carve for them great slabs of meat.

¶ We like to have them go away filled from the head right to the heel, so they will spread the word about we serve a good substantial meal.

¶ We put the Sunday dishes on and spread the things around with glee, we really like to make the place look cheerful as a place can be.

¶ The butter's not on saucers then nor is it gouged with hasty swish, we carve it in artistic shape and place it on the silver dish.

¶ And things go well indeed they do until it's time to pour the tea, and then there's something happens which always puzzles me.

¶ The cups without the handles on we thought were stowed away, they get lugged out and there they stand, to spoil and mar the whole array.

ONE OF THE strangest stories of the present day that of Ganga and Goura, the Indian Siamese twins who, although separate personalities in many ways, have the distinction of travelling round the world on a British passport made out to both but paying for their transportation wherever they go with one, instead of two tickets.

✧ ✧ ✧

Ganga and Goura are handsome Hindu girls, aged 26, with jet-black hair and perfectly formed features. They are joined together at the sacrum, that triangular bone situated at the lower part of the vertebrae column of which it is a natural continuation.

✧ ✧ ✧

They were born without any medical attention in a little village in Mysore, India. Their mother who was unconscious for three days had had six other natural children. When the Siamese twins were born they were lying back to back but in the course of the years they have twisted the bone which joins them so that now they can sit quite comfortably side by side and walk slowly, without fatigue, a distance of two or three miles.

✧ ✧ ✧

Some of the amazing features of these amazing twins. They have two stomachs but only one digestive tract. Ganga has her heart on the right side instead of the left. Most of their nerves are common to both so if you touch one, the other feels it. Their brains however work independently so that of you shake hands with one the other does not instinctively thrust out her hand. Both enjoy smoking cigarettes but whereas Ganga likes a cup of tea Goura prefers coffee. Both are vegetarians and they live on rice and wheat.

With the exception of British steel used for basic structural work the pavilion is built of Canadian materials throughout.

New British Rifles.

RIFLES are to be issued to the British Army this year which, it is claimed, will be capable of firing bullets through the armour-plate of tanks. These bullets will then explode inside and kill the crew.

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics.

STORM IN A TEA CUP

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Will you grant me the privilege of using some of your valuable space.

In last Wednesday issue of the Examiner, I read with some amusement, an account of a very hysterical meeting, the Farmers of North Monaghan had, at which, they made some remarks that were not complimentary to the residents of the suburban area. At this meeting I understand Mr. Bert Arnott was very prominent. Mr. Farmer do not be "mislead by an agitator." Mr. Arnott is trying to ride two horses, and he is riding to a fall. He is a member of the Suburban Area Association. The association does not countenance any duplicity and if Mr. Bert Arnott, feels that he has placed his money on the wrong horse and will, in person present his card at the next meeting of the association we will be pleased to refund to him his twenty-five cents. I do not know why all this hysteria on the part of the Farmers, nothing has been done that is an injustice to them, surely we have the right to select and elect candidates to the North Monaghan council. As to their claim, that they have been crowded out of council and are now only tolerated. Let us analyze the last nomination meeting and election. It is true, we had a committee at the meeting to see that James Milby, W. J. Grady and Alex Archibald were nominated, but no more. At a meeting subsequent to the nomination meeting, we, as we had three ballots to mark, decided to support John Barnes as our third candidate. The Farmers named Milby, Johnston, Barnes, Arnott, Dobbin as their Candidates, we the Suburban Area, named W. J. Grady and Alex Archibald. The results show that Milby, Johnston were elected by acclamation, Barnes, Grady and Archibald by ballot, giving the Farmer's three of their candidates elected to two of ours. How are they crowded out of council? But it appears they are peeved because the Surburban Area Association supported their candidates. The Farmers, just because they did not as usual get everything their own way, start to howl before they are hurt. But, I expect the real reason is that they know, that for the last 10 years, they have not played the game, as to the assessment. We know that during the last depression property values generally were greatly decreased, but is it reasonable to suppose, that all the depreciation was in the rural end and that during the same period the suburban area values were materially enhanced. Taking a few figures from the townships assessments by school sections we find that in 1927 the three rural sections were assessed $313,949 and in 1937 $255,363 an average decrease of 18.9% In 1927 No. 2 (suburban) was assessed $536,424 and in 1937 $633,970 an increase of 18.1%. As No. two section pays 90% of the separate school rate and during this same decade, through exemptions and other causes the seperate school assessment has decreased 14%, this 14% must then be added to the rural decrease of 18.9% making 32.9% decrease, take then the 18.1% increase in No. 2 and you have 51% against No. 2 school section. Mr. Editor if I am not trespassing too much on your valuable space, I would like to give the public an idea of the state of affairs in 1929 the last year of my time as Reeve. I served the township for 10 years 8 years in the chair and I challenge any Farmer to show where at any time, I did, or attempted to do anything that was in any way unfair to the interests of the Farmer's.

Let me compare the assessments of the Rural and Suburban, then and now. Rural 1929 $309,615 in 1937 $255,363 a decrease of $54,252, Suburban 1929 $572,285 in 1937 $633,970 an increase of $61,685, Seperate School in 1929 $116,325 in 1937 $95,625 a decrease of $20,700 and as I have previously said 90% of the separate school rate is paid by No. 2, then this decrease must be added to the rural decrease, making rural and separate school decrease $74,952, No. 2 section increase $61,685, making total of $136,637 against No. 2 section in 8 years. In 1928 the rural assessment was some $2,000 higher than in 1929 and the suburban was some $18,000 lower. Surely the Farmer's will not find any fault with the comparison I have made between 1929 and 1937 for in 1928 Ex-Reeve John McIntosh, for many years their standard bearer was assessor. These figures are taken from local assessment and during this period the county equalized has been raised $240,000, under the present ratio the suburban area would pay about 65% of the county rates.

In conclusion I would like to extend to Mr. Bernard Preston, the chairman of the Rural Ratepayers Association a most cordial invitation to attend our next meeting as an observer, that he may see for himself that there is no intention of doing an injustice to the Farmer's or any one else. I do not know Mr. Preston personally but if he will make himself known to me, at our next meeting, at May's School Feb. 7, I will be pleased to welcome him on behalf of the Association.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for the use of so much of your valuable space.

I am yours truly,
H. B. RYE.

CLEANING THE SIDEWALKS

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Allow me to congratulate the new council on its election.

Now I wish to say that our city has a private citizenship that is hard to beat, but I am sorry to say that our sidewalks year after year are a disgrace to our city, we have snow plows with handles on, but no hands on the handles going over our sidewalks some times they are on the lawns and some times out on the streets and they simply pack the snow and slush down and it freezes and then sand has to be used which is a nuisance to our tidy housekeepers.

Now what the council should do is to scrap the snowplow and pass a bylaw compelling property owners to clean the sidewalks respectably along their properties if not done by 8 o'clock a.m. the city send some of the unemployed to do it and charge the cost to the property. Then we would be keeping pace with other cities and some of less importance than our city. Thank you.

I remain,
W. H. MERRILL.

WHAT STARTED IT?

Editor Examiner:

Sir: What started the rebellion of men's reason against the supernatural? A misunderstanding. It may all be easily explained by a reference to a familiar fact—the law of gravitation. This law is violated by every act we perform. If we were to rely upon our reason we would say that there is no such thing as the law of gravitation. We know, however, that there is such a law and that it is universal. It is just so with all the Creator's works physical and moral. The law is there and yet because of our acts it appears as if there is no such law. Yet we know there are such laws and when we read the Bible and the lives of men in that light, we see that to deny them because of our acts or views is not according to fact and instead of letting our reason run riot we should keep it close to the fundamental fact as in gravitation and not let appearances deceive us. If a man deny the supernatural he must explain Creation otherwise, which he can not do and can never do since his powers are finite and Creation is infinite and can not even be conceived of as finite. Whatever the explanation is we can not give it, hence revelation or nothing.

Of all religions from the remotest times to the present but one religion the Christian religion is a message from God Himself to mankind, and it is of this the higher critics would deprive us.

Manifestly a man may deny the existence of God but it is surely plain he can not sit in judgment upon Him, and yet that is the whole point of the higher criticism of the ministry.

Letting the Bible speak for itself what does it say? It gives the life of man, his ideas, his mistakes, his strivings and his failures for our edification and a a means of showing us what we are. There it sets out what the Creator bids us do and describes what is required of us if we would inherit eternal life. Surely that is plain enough. Hence to declare that the Bible is the life history of God as the modernists now do is a blunder and a mockery of the first-class.

MR. MURRAY EXPLAINS

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The St. Thomas Journal, Saturday, Jan. 15th. contains a very interesting article concerning Edinburgh Scotlands Capital. In quoting the Journal in part it states whilst every one may not agree with the main purpose of the Scottish Nationalist Party few will be disposed to cavil at the protest that party has made through its secretary to the British Broadcasting Corporation, because of its inclusion of Edinburgh among "provincial towns," when announcing programs. The tendency of B. B. C. announcers to regard the Archbishop of Canterbury as the mouthpiece of the Christian Church in Great Britain reveals a lack of understanding of the position. The Scottish Church in Scotland corresponds to that of the Anglican Church in England and is not subsidiary to it, and religious messages to the Scottish people should come through the accredited head of the Scottish Church. The announcers cannot seriously be blamed for mispronouncing Scottish place names some of which present insuperable difficulties to a Southern tongue, and other than the B. B .C. need to be constantly reminded that it is a slight on the Scottish people to speak of "English" when "British" is meant.

WASTED TIME.

(Timmins Advance)

A GENTLEMAN entered a store in Timmins on Monday afternoon last.

"Will you do me a favor, friend?" he asked one of the clerks.

"Surely!" was the kind reply, with the cautious reservation added, "if I can."

"Well, please tell me the time?"

"It's just three o'clock."

"Then please tell me if it is morning or afternoon?"

"It is afternoon," said the clerk.

"Do me just one more favor," said the gentleman. "Please tell me what day it is."

"Monday," responded the clerk.

"Well," said the gentleman, "that is tough! I haven't known anything much since Friday."

The gentleman sighed as he left the store. "What I don't like about Christmas," he said, "is that there is so much lost time."

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

POST-CHRISTMAS turkey hash must by this time have disappeared from most households, therefore it should be safe to mention recent studies of the bird and its market.

Although the number of turkeys has decreased about 40 per cent. since 1890, there is a much steadier year-round demand than there used to be. There still are November and December peaks in that demand, but there volume is not what it was when the American family was larger than today and when it was not so much given to going to a restaurant for its holiday dinner. This means, also, a smaller volume of the aforementioned hash than in the good old days.

Increase in the year-round consumption is accounted for by the public eating places.

THEY DON'T TELL.

(Niagara Falls Review)

QUITE often newspapers are requested to give the source of certain information and such requests always are refused. All newspapers have certain sources of information which are kept confidential. Disclosure of sources would dry them up and might not be good for the persons giving such information. Some people have an idea all they have to do is to request the source of articles, but such persons are disappointed. Many times newspapermen have gone to jail rather than divulge sources and that tradition is carefully preserved.

A Bit of Nonsense

Smith Council Estimates 1938 Revenue At $49,377

By-law Is Passed Making Two Sections Out Of Milburn's Section

The Council for the township of Smith met on Saturday with all the members present, Reeve Allan B. Mann, presiding.

The clerk was given authority to remove the name of Nelson Stevens and tax arrears of $7.30 from the arrears for 1936 roll as this property is now owned by the municipality.

Bylaw No. 982, dividing S. S. No. 3, Smith, into two separate school sections received its several readings and was passed. The bylaw, showing the dividing line is on file in the clerk's office for any one to see.

Relief inspector, F. G. McNeely was present and discussed several matters in relation to relief, including the residence clause which has been somewhat ambiguous.

Relief officer, Gordon Fitzgerald, also discussed with council matters relating to January relief.

Mrs. Wm. McLean of Peterborough intimated she would like to purchase Lot 37, Plan 32, E.C.R., at present owned by Smith township, and asked for a price thereon. Later the price was set at $225 cash.

The matter of the liability of Smith township to pay the hospital bill of a patient at present in Picton hospital was left over for nevt meeting for more accurate information as to residence. Since council meeting this has been obtained and the reeve has directed the clerk to notify Picton hospital that according to residence, Smith township is not responsible in this case.

The assessor was requested to assess Lots 5, 6, and 7, Plan 42, E.C.R., as in 1935, providing there has been no subsequent change of ownership.

The clerk was asked to delete from the list of tax arrear for 1936 returned by the collector, the sum of $82.53 against N.W. quarter, Lot 23, Con. 8, as per ruling of the Board of Review.

Reeve Mann and Deputy reeve Fowler were appointed a committee to investigate the cutting of trees on the Fifth Concession line opposite S. half Lot 8, and to report at the next meeting.

The clerk was requested to write W. J. A. Fair, solicitor for John Millage, stating that Messrs. Ray Fowlds and Harry Wertz purchased Island No. 10, Lovesick Lake, from Miss Graham, which transfer is registered in the County Registry office, and which island is said to be shown on a map of the said lake, filed in the registry office.

The township of Smith is simply assessing Messrs. Ray Fowlds and Harry Wertz for said Island whereever it may be; but does not assume the responsibility of determining where Island No. 10, Lovesick Lake, is located.

Smith council feels that that responsibility is a matter between Mr. Millage and the owners of Island No. 10.

Moved by G. McIlmoyle and seconded by M. Clark, that councillor Tedford be appointed to look after and sell the relief wood belonging to Smith and piled near Clear Lake; the clerk to obtain a statement of sales and payments of such wood from G. E. Mullen and forward it to Mr. Tedford. Carried.

The estimated revenue for the township for 1938 was set at $49,377.82, and the estimated expenditures at $49,143.97.

Council adjourned to meet on Monday, February 7th, 1938, at the hour of 10 a.m.

Against Union

Seven locals of the Progressive Mine Workers of America and 66 members of the union must pay $117,000 for damages caused by a long strike at a coal mine near Freeburg, Ill., according to U.S. Federal Judge Fred L. Wham ABOVE. Judge Wham upheld the right of workers to strike but ruled that unions were responsible for losses due to unlawful acts committed during a strike. The union's counsel announced he would "exhaust every legal means" in an effort to upset the ruling.

RUMANIA NEARS ANOTHER ELECTION

BUCHAREST, Jan. 19.—(AP). — Rumania's 16 political parties started their campaigns to-day for new elections designed to give Rumania a chance to prove or disapprove of the anti-Jewish, semi-Fascist policies of Premier Octavian Goga.

King Carol last night dissolved Parliament and ordered new elections March 3. His decree was issued after a conference with Goga, who controls only nine per cent of the votes in Parliament.

If Goga's National Christian Party fails to make substantial gains it was expected he would have to resign. The last vote, Dec. 20, did not give any party a clear majority.

Since other parties also have anti-Semitic platforms, Goga's program to eliminate Jewish influence in business may not become the main election issue. He was opposed by some parties merely because he had insufficient parliamentary support.

By thy name they shall call thee, at the place where thou belongest they shall see thee, what is thine they shall give thee, no man touches that which is destined for his neighbor.—Rabbi Ben Azai.

Dear Friends:

Do you see the meaning of this quotation? In brief, you get what you truly seek in life. It is yours for the reaching out, but maybe, like me, you did not know that soon enough, so just waited for things to come to you, or depended on another too much.

Yet, looking back, I can truly say that everything I reached out for, (unless it had to come through another) I got it. But the desire had to be strong before I got what was mine.

Figure it out like this. If you desire to make a name for yourself, and your desire is strong enough so that you work towards it, and not against it, one day men will call you by that name.

And if you want to get to a certain place, and you keep striving, letting nothing distract you nor make you lose hope, one day you will have the pleasure of finding yourself there, and others shall see you in that place.

If all you claim from life is the rags and tags, you will get just those. But, if you want the best, if nothing less will satisfy you, then the best will come back to you. These things do not grow on trees for the plucking, but must be worked for by hand and brain.

If you think your neighbors are getting what you should be getting, it is because you have let them claim it ahead of you. You are like a man who has found a gold-mine but wouln't stake a claim, and allowed someone else to get the riches which he had found.

"What fools we mortals be." We have so little faith in our own possibilities that we go whining around about life and its shortcomings. If only we would take for our motto, "What men have done I can do," we would have a far better chance all along the way.

I have given you this saying of our Lord's before, but it will bear reptition: "All these things I do, ye also can do, if ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed." Not some of the things, mind you, but all of them.

Personally, I have seen many miracles happen in my life. Really miracles, not just coincidences. By all the laws of science I should have been a hunchback, but thanks to God I'm not. My spine isn't anything to write home about, yet I have been able to do more than those who never even knew they had a spine as far as pain was concerned.

And my daughter might have been a hopeless cripple due to infantile paralysis, but again with the help of God a miracle happened. And, due to a nervous disorder, my son might have had to go through life with an impediment in his speech, but again God showed me how to make a miracle come about.

But you cannot just sit with folded hands and wait for these things to happen, nor for some other to bring it about. You must be up and doing, you must use the brains that were given you, for many's the one who seems to have few brains are like that for want of using them.

If you don't use a thing you lose it. Many's the one whose life is empty and futile, are like that because they would not exert themselves to make them what they should be. So many times I have been told I had only a short time to live, yet here I am, not as strong as I would like to be, but doing many things the strong ones never seem able to do.

And it isn't that I am more clever, but simply that I have reached out for the things I thought were mine. I am still reaching for there is one desire still strong in me, more than one in fact. I should like to hear from you.

Your Friend.
ROBERTA.

Victim Of St. Hyacinthe Fire Removed

Firemen and rescue workers laboring in 25 below zero weather carry from the charred ruins of the Sacred Heart College at St. Hyacinthe the body of one of the 16 victims recovered from wreckage of the holocaust. Bodies in many cases were burned beyond recognition and were dug from the ice-encrusted ashes with pickaxes.

DR. C. HEWITT AMYS FORMER M.O.H. DIES

Peterborough lost one of its well-known doctors when Charles Hewitt Amys died at his home here on Tuesday, January 18. His many friends will miss a genial host, a helpful neighbour, and a man whose ingenuity and skill in solving practical problems seemed endless.

He was born in Lakefield on November 17, 1872. He was the youngest son of Philip Thomas Amys of Ricking Hall, Suffolk, England, who came to Canada in 1853, and of Matilda, eldest daughter of Thomas Steele, of Rathbride, County Kildare, Ireland. All who knew him recall his thoughtfulness, courtesy and fine carriage.

Doctor Amys received his preparatory education at the Grove school, Lakefield. He later graduated in succession from the Collegiate Institute, Peterborough, the Ontario College of Pharmacy, Toronto, and Queen's University, Kingston. He graduated from Queen's in Medicine and Surgery with honours and Scholarship in 1899. He spent the year 1900 doing post-graduate work at the Postgraduate College of Medicine and Surgery, West London Hospital, London, England. He then returned to Peterborough, where he commenced general practice. Probably because of his many interests he has never patented any of the ingenious practical devices he invented for relieving patients suffering from fractures, but he leaves a host of grateful patients as a testimonial to his skill.

Peterborough owes much to his sustained interest in the community over a period of almost forty years. He was Medical Officer of Health for the city during the Great War and the period of the influenza epidemic. He filled the same office for Ashburnham until it was incorporated within the city. For over fifteen years he attended all the inmates of the Children's Shelter without thought of fee. He was an interested member of the Horticultural Society and the Ontario Medical Association. He was a pioneer in the Good Roads movement to which he gave time and leadership. For many years he was associated with the militia and later was Lieutenat and Intelligence Officer for the 57th Regiment.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Trevor Creighton Thompson of Montreal and four sons, John Hewitt Amys of Toronto, Roger Hewitt, Philip Hewitt and Spencer Hewitt of Peterborough, also by two brothers, Arthur L. Amys of Gilmour street, Peterborough, and Frederick H. Amys of Lakefield. His family have lost a father who was devoted to his home.

The funeral will be held on Thursday, January 20, at 2.30 from his late residence, 377 Stewart street. Canon Robertson of St. John's church officiating.

OLD FOLK SUFFER IN DROUGHT AREA

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP)—In the drough-stricken areas of the Canadian prairies the old people particularly are suffering, said Miss May Glen, an Ontario nurse who has been stationed in Kincaid Hospital, Sask., for the past five years.

"They have seen plenty and had plenty and now in their declining years they are watching their funds they had tucked away for old age gradually dwindling," Miss Glen said.

"If they desert their homes, it will take years to start again on fresh land and during this time they are even deprived of relief.,,

Miss Glen spoke of areas where as far as the eye could see were waves on the waves of nife sand constantly shifting and drifting against the buildings and the bare trees silhouetted against the sky. "And still the people stay on. They haven't had a crop to sell since 1928 and still they stay with their land. At least they are getting provincial relief, but it's only enough to keep body and soul together."

RADIO PROGRAMS URGED IN SCHOOLS

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 —(CP)— A series of regular radio broadcasts by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation suitable for school purposes was recommended by the Canadian Teachers' Federation today before the Rowell Commission.

Canada was far behind the United Kingdom and the United States in this regard, the federation said, noting 200 radio receiving sets in Canadian schools, compared with 11,510 in city schools of the United States and 6,500 "listening schools" in the United Kingdom.

The federation proposed the C.B.C. and the provincial education departments should set up a central council for school broadcasting, similar to the English council.

Greater use of motion pictures also was urged.

SIX SAVED FROM FIRE

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Jan. 19. (CP).—Two aged convalescent men, boarders at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thompson, were carried by firemen from their rooms into almost zero weather to-day, when fire threatened to destroy the house. Occupants of the house, Mr. Lampman, 90 years old; Mr. Leighman, aged boarder; Miss M. Lindsay; Mrs. Thompson and two children, Marilyn and Darwyn Thompson, all in night attire, were carried by Mr. Thompson and firemen to neighbors' homes.

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE

By DALE CARNEGIE
Author of the famous book of this name

BEGIN IN A FRIENDLY WAY

① "Human nature being what it is, a man who goes around with a chip on his shoulder, looking for trouble, is likely to find what he is looking for.
"Belligerent tones and a hostile attitude provoke resentment no less certainly than an actual physical attack."

② "If you antagonize a man, he becomes your enemy and no amount of reason or logic will win him to your way of thinking.
"There is an old maxim which says you can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar. And that goes for human beings, too."

FOR INSTANCE..

③ "In the fine art of persuading other people to agree with you, the soft-spoken, friendly approach is the royal road to success.
"A few clever lawyers know this and make use of it with telling effect every time they are called upon to address a jury."

④ "You may never have to address a jury but the sympathetic, friendly approach works wonders in every walk of life, under any circumstance.
"It can make people change their minds and do what you want them to do; but fighting talk and a blustering manner only make enemies."

HAVE YOU SMOKED A TURRET LATELY?

BECAUSE of their unvarying high quality, Turrets have made many people change their minds about cigarettes—without any "high-pressure" methods. We say of them only this: here is a cigarette made from choice Virginia tobaccos, combined in an original and unique blend which makes Turrets just that much different, just that much better. And so we suggest, if you haven't smoked a Turret lately, try a package today. We believe you will like them.

2,000 SKIERS EXPECTED HERE FOR DISTRICT ZONE CHAMPIONSHIPS

Officers Make Plans For 3rd Biggest Ski Meet In Dominion

Special Trains To Transport Skiers Here For Big Days On Feb. 5th and 6th

With the awarding to Peterborough this year of the Ontario zone ski championship meet—which will be held here Feb. 5 and 6—officers of the Peterborough Ski Club are making ambitious plans for the big event. Over 2,000 ski enthusiasts from all parts of the Province are expected to flock into Peterborough that week-end, representing about 50 clubs. A thousand will come from Toronto.

This meet ranks third in importance among such events in Canada. The Dominion titular meet is first and the Ontario provincial championship meet ranks next. This latter is open to competitors from outside Ontario, whereas the zone event is confined to Ontario members. The Ontario zone covers all the province—aside from a couple of far northern towns, which go in with Manitoba—and two clubs in Buffalo, which are affiliated with the provincial branch of the C.S.A.

Special Trains

Special trains will bring in the horde of skiers and their followers to this city the day before the meet and the first day of the competition. The local Council may make official recognition of this big event, which will advertise the city extensively and bring in considerable business. If this competition meets with the success expected, local Ski Club officials—including President Art Rhodes and Secretary Lahring Parsons—state there is an excellent chance of obtaining the provincial championship meet here next year. And, in time, possibly the Dominion meet.

With the present foundation of snow, officers here feel confident that weather conditions will prove ideal. They point out that last year, 840 Toronto skiers alone had booked reservations on a train to attend an invitation meet in Peterborough, but had to cancel them when the lack of snow forced the meet to be abandoned. They predict at least 2,000 visitors to the city for this event.

Olympic Stars

A number of Olympic performers will attend with the galaxy of stars hailing from such points as Ottawa, Windsor, London, Toronto, Buffalo, and other centres. The president of the Canadian Ski Association will be here, as well as a number of other prominent officials. The eyes of Canadian skiers will be turned in this direction during the Feb. 5th and 6th week-end.

Karl Baadvik of the Peterborough Ski Club, formerly of Toronto, is expected to make a strong bid for honors at this meet. He represented Canada at the Olympic ski competitions in 1932 and in 1936. There are half a dozen other starry local performers who have a good chance of annexing honors for Peterborough at this championship affair. Ski-ing has made rapid strides here the past few years and this city is situated ideally amid snow-covered hills for such an ambitious program as the Ontario zone ski championships.

Beavers Defeated By King Edward

King Edward Midgets jerked out a 1-0 decision over Beavers in a fine Southend Hockey League contest last night at the Sacred Heart rink. Hodson scored the one marker of this close scrap which saw the well-matched teams turning in some nice hockey, with plenty of close checking on each side. This kept down the count, with both goalies also going good. The teams:

King Edward—Goal, Shea; defence, Gillespie, Patterson; centre, Hodson; wings Jamieson, Gladwin; alternate, Campbell.

Referee—Joe Collins.

CURLING

Echoes From No. '8'
By HERB MARTIN

Our club to-day will be pretty well split up, some will be over at Oshawa taking in the bonspiel; a goodly number will be up at Lindsay with the Scottish curlers and the rest of us will stay at home for our own bonspiel.

And, speaking of Lindsay, those curlers are really tough on our boys this year, not being satisfied with taking the Senior Tankard and Governor-General's Cup away from us, but their junior aggregation walked right into our backyard on Tuesday and took away our chance of winning the Junior Tankard.

Tuesday's Scores

G. Matthews 8, M. Cruthers 6.
R. Downey 11, E. Metcalfe 8.
H. Clegg 9, C. Giroux 8
R. Dobbin 12, O. McGill 6.
T. Donaldson 14, J. Lowes 4.
A. Gates 14, W. Pratten 8
W. E. Taylor 11, G. Hall 8.

Curlers' Duties.—The second player on a rink is really a glorified lead, and his duties are about the same. He cannot cross the hog line either, but remains ostracized with the lead. They both have a hangdog look, although some of them being worried, came by it legally and are accustomed to being in second place or lead position. He is supposed to supply matches and tobacco for the rink and has to purchase a goodly quantity of Glenlomond Dew, which the skip passes around freely. There is no armour against Fate.

Mark St. Winners Over St. Paul's

Mark St. Juveniles hung up their fifth Church Hockey League win of the season last night with a 5-4 nod over St. Paul's. It was a fine scrap with both scoring in the first frame and each tallying two in the second. Mason and Mackness notched the first counters. The latter got two in the second and D. Eason and Moore one. In the third, Easton scored for St. Paul's and Mason and Eason for Mark St. Mackness, D. Eason, Easton and Mason starred. The teams:

St. Paul's: Goal, McBride; defence, Watson, Moorhead; centre, McMillian; wings, Easton, Dundas; alternates, Mackness, Dunford, Ascott.

Mark St.: Goal, Robinson; defence, Scriver, Agnew; centre, Ralph; wings, D. Eason, Mason; alternates, C. Eason, Curtis, Gamble, Moore, Mackey.

Referee, Don Charlton.

Monarchs Win Out In Junior Contest

Monarchs marched off with a 4-2 victory over St. Peter's in a Junior City Hockey League tussle last evening at the Brock St. rink. It was a good game all the way with the winners getting the jump for three goals to one in the first stanza. Play was fast and clean, though Connelly got cut over the eye in the second heat and required stitches. Conroy scored two for the winners with Collins and Rochetti getting the others. Nicholls and Whaley counted for St. Peters. This latter pair, along with Sullivan and Shaugnessy looked good for the losers; while Conroy, Rochetti and Collins copped honors for the victors. The teams:

St. Peter's: Goal, Shaughnessy; defence, Whaley, Lynch; centre, Nicholls; wings, Sullivan, LaPlante; alternates, Prete, Corkery, Cauley, Rexe.

Monarchs: Goal, Lomax; defence, Willman, Haugh; centre, Rochetti; wings, Conroy, Dorris; alternates, Gaudette, Jordan, Clark, Connelly, Collins.

HASTINGS CLUB SUFFERS THIRD STRAIGHT LOSS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 19. — Hastings Juniors dropped their third game in a row last night (Tuesday) when Warsaw defeated them 2 to 1 on Hastings ice A large crowd braved the suz-zero weather to watch Hastings play their second game in two nights in the East Peterborough Junior Hockey League.

After the first face-off J. Watts got in close but Montgomery in the Hastings goal made a nice stop. After four minutes of play A. Watts scored for Warsaw from a scramble in front of the Hastings net. Turner of Hastings got the first penalty of the game when he was given the gate for tripping. Blake, Phillips and Puffer got right in for Hastings but Digweed turned Blake's shot to the corner. Blake got right in again but Digweed pulled off a sensational stop. J. Watts and I. Watts combined but Montgomery took I. Watts' shot on the pads. Blake, on a return rush just missed the corner of the Warsaw goal. Turner got a shot away but Digweed turned it aside. Myles came right back for Warsaw but he failed to get his shot away. After ten minutes of play Boyle tied it up for Hastings when he backhanded a pass from Blake past Digweed. Just two minutes later Warsaw went out in front. I. Watts scoring on a lone rush.

To open the second period Hastings kept the play in the Warsaw end. Scriver , McCarthy and Edwards were on the attack. McCarthy missed a nice chance when his shot failed to leave the ice. Blake's shot was dead-on but Digweed made a nice stop. W. Cooper and Bell went in close for Warsaw but Turner took Cooper out of the play.

A. Watts was right on with a hard shot a minute later but Montgomery saved I. Watts and A. Watts got in close but I. Watts shot high. Phillips, Blake and Puffer broke fast but Phillips' shot was wide. Puffer got a nice shot away just as the bell ended the second period.

J. Watts opened the third period by giving Montgomery a hard one to save Boyle, on a return rush went right through, centred it but no one was there to take his pass. J. Watts and A. Watts got in close for Warsaw but Montgomery was too good. As Warsaw continued to press there was a grand pile up in front of the Hastings net but they held it out. Puffer, Blake and Phillips each got nice shots away but Digweed was right on.

McCoy, playing his first game since he was injured two weeks ago got a nice shot away but Digweed turned it aside. A. Watts and I. Watts got in on Montgomery but he blocked their shots. Blake and McCarthy got in close for Hastings twice but they couldn't beat Digweed. Myles and Cooper broke away but Turner broke up the play. Hastings with four forwards on were pressing hard when the final gong sounded. Digweed, I. Watts, A. Watts and P. Cooper were Warsaw's best. For Hastings Blake, Montgomery, Boyle and McCarthy were the stars. The teams:

Warsaw—Goal, Digweed; defence, Myles and P. Cooper; centre, I. Watts; wings, J. Watts and A. Watts; subs, Moore, Bell, Dunford and W. Cooper.

Hastings — Goal, Montgomery; defence, Turner and Boyle; centre, Edwards; wings, Scriver and McCarthy; subs Blake, Radford, McCoy, Phillips and Puffer.

Referee—Pete Bowen, Warsaw.

Brintons Cop 6-4 Southend Victory

Brintons took a 6-4 win over Canucks in an intermediate Southend Hockey League game last night at the Sacred Heart rink. It was a fast, rugged fray with the issue in doubt till the very end. Lawson got two goals for the winners, with Seabrooke, Adams and Hobbins getting one apiece. Giardino and Collins counted twice each for the other side this pair with Young and Grady being outstanding for Canucks; Lawson, Seabrooke and McMasters shone for the winners. The teams:

Brintons—Goal McMaster; defence, Rusaw, Seabrooke; centre Adams; wings, Lawson, Hobbins; alternates, McBride, Lackey.

Canucks—Goal, Flint; defence, Grady, Giardino; centre, Collins; wings, Young, Jobe; no alternates.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

AND TONIGHT at the Brock St. arena, the Petes will be seeing red. On account of a horde of red-sweatered Redmen from the villa of Belle—isn't that it?—will cross sticks with 'em at 8.30 of the clock in an O.H.A. senior "B" struggle. Should be warmer than a bowl of chili con carne, faster than a Broadway burlesque and with more thrills than a haunted hovel! Yeah, it'll be quite a brush when these oldtime rivals start stepping into each other. The Petes hold one decision over the lads of Greater Belleville this season, but they had to go overtime for the narrow nod. And the Quinte crew have bolstered a lot since that lively evening. The search by lantern light by Diogenes was an aimless one compared with the prowling done in the district by Skipper Thomas for puck prospects.

* * * * * *

IT CAME to pass that last winter, the intermediate "B" bunch of Bellevillains went right through to cop the Ontario title. They lost some good players since, chaps like Whitton, now in Lakefield, Tompkins now here, and Barriage and St. Louis, now in Thoroid. But Mr. Thomas hied himself to the hinterlands and picked up a passable pack of puckists, who were drafted as an intermediate "A" outfit in the senior "B" group with us and Queen's and the Fliers. And doggone it if they haven't been more than holding their own. They are practically tied in second place now with the Fliers, their only losses being very tight ones to the Petes and Airmen. They stand a fair chance of knocking the locals for a loop here this eve.

* * * * * *

YOWZAH, IT'LL be a tidy tilt tonight and ought to pack in the fans who have already spotted two sweet senior scraps so far. When the Jackson brothers and Wilson get flying, the Petes—minus Calladine—will have to hustle to hold 'em. Jopling may play wing on the second line for Pick Hines' hopefuls tonight, but otherwise the team will be about as it was last game. If the oldtime rivalry between these hockey outfits pops up tonight—as it is very liable to do—some bruising bumping will be the order, as both squads are scrappy ones. The Fliers play tonight in Kingston against Queen's, while next Monday sees the Petes at Kingston, and Belleville and the R.C.A.F. bunch tangling.

* * * * * *

THREE BLOOD and Thunder Loop battles loom up at the Brock tomorrow (Thursday) twilight, starting at eight bells. All games must start on the dot, and will last an hour. This will be the best night yet this season for the smart Senior City Hockey League, with all six teams showing. Fine hockey will be the order with thumps, bumps and grunts as the boys ply the gad with abandon if not good will. Bewdley and Lakefield mix in the opening setto, followed by Millbrook and the Southenders, with Hiawatha and Westclox winding it up. We'll never forget the night we helped carry out a brawny lumberjack from up Apsley way who fell in a faint at the Brock St. ring—we mean rink—when he saw a husky City League defenceman carve his initials on a rival forward! He just couldn't take it. Since then, loop ossifers state they will not be responsible for heart attacks due to over-excitement among spectators. Ha, a praise agent, eh?

ALMOST UNDISTURBED by the vulgar stares of spectators, the Junior City Hockey Leaguers ran off three tussles last night in the emptiness of Brock St. rink. But Jawn Frost was very much on hand. Monarchs took their second straight win with a 4-2 verdict over St. Peters, P.C.I. pulled out a 3-1 victory over Bombers, and All Saints made it two in a row with a 1-4 win against Canadiens. Monarchs suffered a casualty when Connelly got a gash over one eye that took half a dozen stitches to sew up. Some keen competition in this young circuit which is sponsored by the Hockey Club. We don't mean the club buys sticks or sweaters for the teams, but it helps 'em have use of the Brock, supplies the referees and tacks the winners' name on the cup.

THOUGH THE Belleville columnist laughed at the idea of Kingston City Club having a team to go into the senior "B" group of the O.H.A. this season, the Kingstons seem to be doing all right in that VanHorne series. With Belleville long since rubbed out, Wally Elmer's gang are now in the cup finals. They've had two playoff tilts to date with the Fliers, beating the Airmen once and tying 'em in 30 minutes of overtime Monday. The teams are said to tangle again tonight, which would mean that the Fliers' O.H.A. fixture with Queen's this eve would have to be postponed. Several names of junior Limestone City stars sprinkle the Kingston lineup, names like Gowsell, Partis, Boyd and Hagen. Close to 3,000 fans packed the Harty arena to see the last setto, much better than O.H.A. jousts there draw.

THIS FROM Bun Morgansen's column in the Tely: "Modern volleyball is not a game for veterans. Those who saw the first round games of the Ontario senior championships at Central 'Y' were amazed with the general improvement of the players. Youth has taken to volleyball and added zip to the game. Peterborough 'Y' made a real impression with their three spikers and two pushers who performed miracles defensively. Central 'Y' with their new streamlined team won the first round, defeating Y.M.H.A. in two games and breaking even with Peterborough. Manager Jack Sneath nearly blew a fuse after Peterborough scored their win over the local crew. But for the first time in many, many years, the Central boys didn't beat themselves with that Ol' Demon Temperament. The next round takes place a week from next Saturday in Peterborough."

NOT MUCH happened last p.m. at the Orfuns' rugby meeting in the "Y", as cold weather kept down the attendance to a corporal's guard. So, outside of a general discussion, no business was done. An executive meeting will be held next Tuesday e'en at 7.30 in the "Y" when all officers are asked to be on hand. The annual meeting will be a few weeks later before the O.R.F.U. annual in February. Orfuns' players are urged to turn their equipment into the hands of Mr. Young at the Y.M.C.A. right away. It strikes us that the Orfuns had enough cold weather at the last game with Dundas to do 'em for a long time without ankling out to meetings in sub-zero weather, huh?

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press.)

E. (Red) Tellier ,was expelled for life by the Canadian Rugby Union six years ago to-day. Star snapback with Montreal's Dominion champions, Tellier attacked George Gilhooley of Regina Roughriders after the East-West final at Montreal, Dec. 5, 1931. He was reinstated a year ago.

PETE ALEXANDER ENTERS BASEBALL HALL OF 'HONOR'

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—To the list of baseball immortals in the Hall of Fame established at the game's birthplace in Coopertown, N.Y., the official jury today added the name of Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the great right-handed pitchers of all time.

"Old Pete," who ended a brilliantly colorful but somewhat checkered career in 1930 after nearly twenty years in the National League, was the only star to qualify for the all-time galaxy in the third annual vote by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

With a minimum required total of 197 votes, or 75 per cent of the total cast, Alexander alone qualified for election by being the choice of 212 experts among 282 participating in the National poll.

Finishing short of the total essential to gain Hall of Fame entry were George Sisler, famous first baseman of St. Louis Browns in the 1920's; Wee Willie Keeler, great outfielder, who spanned the century's turn in National League company; and Eddie Collins, long-time king of second basemen with the Athletics and White Sox. Their totals, respectively, were 179, 177 and 175.

Ninth "Super-Star"

Only others to receive more than 100 votes were in order, George (Rube) Waddell, southpaw, who gained fame first with the Athletics, 148; Frank Chance, one-time "peerless leader" of the Chicago Cubs, 133; Ed Delahanty, slugging king of his day, who ended up with Washington after a long National League career, 132; and big Ed. Walsh, iron man pitcher for Chicago White Sox, 110.

Alexander becomes the ninth of the so-called "modern" group of super-stars voted into the Hall of Fame. The baseball writers polls have been restricted to players active since 1900, but no longer in competition at the time of the vote. The first five choices were Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Christy Mathewson, Hans Wagner and Walter Johnson. Last year Nap Lajoie, Tris Speaker and Cy Young were added to the list.

Major league club owners, in joint session last December, voted to include the two most famous managerial figures of all time, Connie Mack and John McGraw, in addition to George Wright, pioneer player and manager; Morgan Bulkeley, first National League president; and Byron Bancroft Johnson, organizer and first president of the American League.

Alexander's right to join baseball's most celebrated company, for historical purposes, is backed up by a remarkable pitching record, spread over the period of 1911 to 1930 with the Phillies, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

Three Time 30-Game Winner.

"Alex. the Great" came up to the big show by way of Galesburg, Ill., and Syracuse, N.Y., at a time when Mathewson was the king pitcher of the National League. Their paths crossed for three seasons and developed many memorable duels before Alexander won the right to the hurling crown.

Alexander won 28 games in his first major league season, still a modern record for a freshman. He won 30 or more games in three consecutive years, 1915-17, a feat achieved only by the immortal Matty in this century. Although he never pitched a no-hitter, Alex. set an all-time record by hurling four one-hit victories in 1915.

Some of Alexander's other records included: Most National League games pitched (696), and won (373); a major league mark, shared with Walter Johnson, of leading his league in the number of complete games pitched for six years; a National League earned run mark of 1.22 for pitchers working in 250 innings or more; 90 shutouts, a lifetime league record, and 16 whitewashings in one season, 1916, for a major league mark.

Alexander pitched in three world series, but is best remembered for his heroic relief role in 1926, when he emerged from the bullpen in the rain at Yankee Stadium to save the seventh and final game for St. Louis Cardinals. Legend persists "Old Pete," who had pitched and won the sixth game to tie the count at 3-3, was dozing when summoned unexpectedly in the seventh inning to face Tony Lazzeri, with two out, the bases filled, and the Cardinals fighting to hold a 3-2 lead.

Alexander trudged to the box, calmly surveyed the situation, and struck out Lazzeri on three pitched balls. The balance of the game was an anti-climax as "Old Pete" finished his job in businesslike fashion. It is worthy of note the Yankees have not lost a world series since then.

Alexander was born at St. Paul, Neb., in 1887.

Lakefield High Beats Petes 9-7

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 19. — A last-frame offensive push failed to help a pickup Peterborough junior hockey squad in Lakefield last night, and they lost to the local High School boys by 9-7 count. The homesters led 3-1 at the end of the first and 6-3 going into the third period.

Line-ups:

Lakefield — Goal, Jack Morrison; defence, Stabler and S. Loist; centre, F. Loist; wings, Don Hurl and G. Tanner; alternates, K. Morrin, Hudson, Garbutt, Nichols, C. Johnson and J. Morrin.

Peerborough — Goal, Vitarelli; defence, Vitarelli and O'Donnell; centre, Garvey; wings, Heard and Horton; alternates, Gordon, Condon, Roach, and Boyle.

Bombers Lose 3-1 To P.C.I. Squad

P.C.I. copped a 3-1 decision over Bombers in a fast Junior City Hockey League tilt at the Brock St. rink last night before a slim crowd. Wildman tallied from Copperwaite for Bombers in the first period but the students shoved home three in the second while blanking their rivals the rest of the way. Morrow, King and Thornton did the scoring for P.C.I., with Mortimer having one assist. Harle, Wildman and Maher were outstanding for the Bombers; and Morrow, King and Thornton looked best for the winners. There were a dozen penalties handed out as play roughened up in spots, the winners drawing seven. The teams:

Bombers: Goal, Maher; defence, Harle, Charlton; centre, Lewis; wings, Copperwaite, Clark; alternates, Parnall, Wildman, Bennett, Andrews, Akers.

P. C. I.: Goal, Elliott; defence, Ward, Csumrick; centre, Parnall; wings, Morrow, A. King; alternates, Mortimer, B. King, Thornton, Peterson, Routley.

Referee, Ward Wright.

DILLON ADVANCES TO SECOND PLACE

Cecil Dillon broke his second place tie with Toronto's Syl Apps last night as two of the National Hockey League's Big Seven added to their scoring totals. The blackthatched Ranger, scoring a goal in his team's 3-1 victory against Canadiens, raised his point total to 27, five behind leading Gordon Drillon of the Leafs. Rod Lorrain gained an assist on the Canadien goal to move into a last place tie with his team-mate, Toe Blake, and Marty Barry of Detroit. Johnny Gagnon, with 20 points, dropped from the group.

The leaders:

ELGIN DEFEATS SOUTH DUMMER

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 19.—Elgin defeated South Dummer 4-2 last night in Norwood rink in a scheduled game of the East Peterborough rural loop. The hockey game was rough from start to finish as is usual in this league. Two free for alls broke out in the first period.

The Richardson brothers, Roy, George and John scored Elgin's four goals and Tedford brothers for South Dummer, Roy and Max scored their team's two goals. Minor penalties were given G. Richardson for Elgin and Moore for South Dummer. M. Tedford for South Dummer received a major penalty.

The line-ups:

South Dummer. — Goal, Woodbeck; defence, Patterson, C. Lobb; centre, Lagrande; wings, Elliot, Moore; alternates, R. Tedford, M. Tedford, D. Tedford, W. Lobb.

Omemee Hawks Beat Westclox

In an exhibition intermediate hockey game before a small crowd last night in the Omemee arena, the Black Hawks of Omemee took a 10-4 win over Westclox. It was a lively game with the winners having an edge to earn the nod. Fisher in the home net looked good in the last two frames as the Clockmen pressed. Tripp had four goals and three assists for the O's, with Weir having two and one assist, Jamieson a goal and an assist, and F. Parsons and Reeds a goal each. O'Leary notched three for Westclox and Blewett got a goal and two assists. Trip, Weir and Jamieson went best for the winners; and Blewett and O'Leary looked good for the visitors. Penalties were drawn by Deeth, F. Parsons, Weir, T. Parsons and A. Jamieson. The teams:

Westclox—Goal, Currie; defence, Loucks, Whatley; centre, Lennox; wings, Blewett, O'Leary; alternates, Field, Deeth, Gilbert, Coursey, Driscoll.

Omemee—Goal, Fisher; defence, T. Parsons, F. Parsons; centre, Tripp; wings, Weir, Jamieson; alternates, Stewart, Ellis, Brockley, Brooks, Reeds.

Referee—Harold White.

RANGERS AND BRUINS DESTINED FOR AMERICAN GROUP PLAYOFFS

Boston Maintains Mastery Over Hawks With 5-1 Win

Rangers Go Overtime To Defeat Montreal Canadiens 3-1 At New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(CP). — January is no time for a hockey race to reach the stage where half the teams seem to have a chance for top honors. But that is just what is happening in the National League's American division.

It is becomingly apparent that Boston Bruins and New York Rangers will fight it out for first position unless Bill Stewart or Jack Adams becomes a miracle man of sport.

Stewart's Chicago Black Hawks and Adams' Detroit Red Wings seem destined to battle for the third play-off spot without anncying Bruins or Rangers a great deal.

The power that will keep Bruins in a contending position was demonstrated last night as they flattened the Hawks 5-1 before a crowd of 10,000 in Boston. At the same time Rangers held Bruins' margin over them to four points by defeating Montreal Canadiens 3-1 at New York with two overtime goals.

Meanwhile Adams threw a hint that there may be a violent shake-up in the ranks of his world champion Wings. Desperate at winning only four games in 27, the pudgy Detroit pilot is casting about among the amateurs for reinforcements.

Eye On Four Amateurs

He said last night he may sign four of them before the season is over. He already has picked up Pete Bessone from the Michigan-Ontario Amateur League and may go to the same source for Kenny Killrea of Ottawa and Gus Geisbrecht of Pembroke, Ont Sid Abel of Flin Flon, Man., and Eddie Bruneteau, 18-year-old brother of Mud Bruneteau of the Wings, are others he may sign.

In addition Adams is considering bringing up Jack Stewart, youthful defenceman with Pittsburgh Hornets, Detroit farm team, and Don Deacon, Pittsburgh forward. Seemingly he has met with no succes in efforts to obtain players from other N.H.L. teams or has not tried.

The Hawks, Adams' chief opposition for the third play-off spot, looked none too good last night as Bruins hammered away at them, but they have had six games in 10 days and play two more before the week is out.

Bill Cowley scored the first and last Boston goals, Woody Dumart and Bobby Bauer got a couple of solo markers and Leroy Goldsworthy notched one in combination with Art Jackson and Dit Clapper. The lone Chicago goal was made by Mush March while Clapper was on the penalty bench.

Canadiens needed a win or a tie in New York to break their deadlock with New York Americans for second place in the Canadian division. And they probably thought they'd get at least a tie after Manager Lester Patrick of the Rangers lauded Cecil Hart of the Habitants before the game as one of the greatest managers who ever sat on a hockey bench.

That was what Patrick thought, but Rangers believed they could beat Canadiens and went out to prove it. Neil Colville scored early in the second period and the Flying Frenchmen knotted the count halfway through the third on Polly Drouin's goal.

A freak goal gave Rangers the advantage in overtime. Mac Colville slashed at a long forward pass from his brother Neil and Wild Cude seemed to have blocked the puck. But he moved while flat on the ice and the disc slid into the corner of the net. Cecil Dillon scored in the sixth minute to make victory sure for the New Yorkers.

TORONTO TIREMEN REMAIN UNBEATEN IN SENIOR O.H.A.

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (C.P.). — Toronto Goodyears came up for a breather to-day after another "close one" in their fight to stay undefeated in the Senior A Ontario Hockey Association race. The Tiremen now have an unbeaten record of 10 games in their regular schedule.

Only once before this season have Goodyears come as close to being beaten as they did last night in drawing 2-2 with Port Colborne Sailors. That was when they came from behind to tie 3-3 with Brantford Rangers earlier in the season.

Goodyears fell behind in their game against the Tars, too, but they had enough punch to score the tying goal and only goal of their third period. Red Hern provided the counter midway in the session on a play with Obs O'Brien and Bowman.

The other three goals came in the second period, when Port Colborne took a two-goal lead on tallies by Fitzgerald and Gooney McGowan, and Goodyears cut that down when Don Metz, the league's leading scorer, whipped in his 14th goal of the season.

Both clubs had numerous opportunities to win the game in the overtime period, but failed to capitalize. The Sailors had a chance when Jim Primeau was penalized, but immediately afterwards Upper was sent off when he tripped Metz, while the Goodyear man was in alone.

Oshawa G-Men said third place in the league standing, and Brantford, who are two points away from the G-Men, meet to-night in the only scheduled game.

N.H.L. All-Stars

Neil Colville, Rangers, scored first goal and made play for winning point in team's 3-1 overtime victory against Canadiens.

Dave Kerr, Rangers, stood off Canadien attacks with brilliant goaltending.

Bill Cowley, Boston, led in 5-1 rout of Chicago with two goals.

PIONEER DIES

WATERTON PARK, Alta.—(CP). —John McGlenning, early settler of southwest Alberta, died here recently. Born in Ontario in 1844, he brought his wife and family to Fort Macleod, 100 miles south of Calgary, in 1897, finishing his journey to Pincher Creek by buckboard over the prairies.

Jimmy Braddock On The Skids? No, Not Yet

Is Jimmy Braddock on the skids? The former heavyweight champion who lost his title to Joe Louis and hopes to start a comeback campaign with a win over Tommy Farr would seem to be that if the picture at right is any criterion. But James J. refutes this assertion in the other study which catches him in the gym readying for the Farr fight. His sparmate has landed a nice left but the Jersey Irishman is poised to retaliate and is very much alert. The sled picture was just a little fun on the side he explains.

ALL SAINTS' WIN OVER CANADIENS

All Saints took a 5-4 nod over Canadiens in a neat Junior City Hockey League game last night at the Brock St. rink. Foster scored from Curtin in the first frame for Canadiens and Johnson tallied from Connelly for them in the second, as Clark scored for All Saints. The latter team rallied to ram home four in the third, Mortimer getting two and an assist with Williams tallying two and having an assist, as Legon figured in on one, also. Langton and Johnson scored for the losers in this heat, and Curtin got an assist. Mortimer, Williams and Legon were best for the winners; and Johnson, Curtin and Langton stood out for Canadiens. The teams:

All Saints: Goal, Agnew; defence, Condon, Legon; centre, Mortimer; wings, Williams, McDonald; alternates, Wade, McGuiness, Clark, Deering.

Referee, Ward Wright.

Senior Puckists Are Here Tonight

An O.H.A. senior "B" struggle is slated for tonight (Wednesday) at 8.30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink between the Belleville Redmen and the Petes. With two strong squads, and oldtime rivals, tangling in this tilt a huge crowd of puck fans is expected to be on hand. Folks here have been treated to two fine senior scraps already and they can bank on another nifty one. Belleville lost an overtime game early this season at home to the Petes, but have strengthened up considerably since. And the Petes are likely to be without Bill Calladine, classy centre, who suffered a broken nose against the Queen's huskies here last week. With the group race getting hotter and hotter at the halfway mark, this game may prove the turning point in the final fight down the stretch.

Pick Hines is thinking of shifting Shrimp McDougall to centre of the first line between Starr and Vitarelli. With Kingdon at centre for the second line between Gratton and possibly Jopling of the junior team. Barnes, Williamson and Weir will be on defence, and Harding in goal. The Quinte entry has a few Belleville players and the rest from Napanee, Picton, Deseronto and district. They play a pushing, scrappy style of hockey and hold a decision over Queen's this season. Play should be fast and full of action and smart hockey before a bumper crowd tonight.

Patrick Says He Can Beat Dutton In Skating Race, If Price Is Right

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(CP).—Red Dutton, boss of New York Americans and once stalwart defenceman with the same outfit, boasted of his skating speed today, and before he was through there was a possibility of the bitter intra-city rivalry between the Amerks and Rangers spreading to the managers.

Dutton was giving a pep talk to his National League club which looked slow, losing 4-0 to Rangers here last Sunday. "There's hardly a guy on the club I can't beat in a race," said Dutton, and he agreed to prove it in a scratch sprint with Art Chapman and Tommy Anderson.

Red claims he was leading both of them when his five-year-old skates found rough spots on the Madison Square Garden ice surface and sent him sprawling at the cost of a pants press.

"There are a couple more gents on this team I could pass, even though I am 40," yelled Dutton. "And I'm liable to get 'em out here, too."

So much noise did Dutton provoke that Ranger Boss Lester Patrick came from his upstairs office to see what it was all about.

"Sure, Red's fast, and maybe he can beat Chapman and Anderson. I didnt see, but—well, I'm over 50 and I can beat him any time the price is right," said the Silver Fox.

Skiing Hints

By Fritz Loosli
INSTRUCTOR, TORONTO SKI CLUB

DOWNHILL RACING

Downhill racing is rapidly stealing the show from ski jumping. The Norwegians, who for years opposed downhill racing, have adopted the running technique of the Alps and accepted the event in their own ski tournaments. The first Anglo-Norwegian ski meet last winter did much to popularize downhill racing. Two hundred and fifty skiers entered one of the downhill races, which shows the marker interest of Norwegian skiers for this type of competition. The spectators were given a real treat of mass production skiing. Owing to the large entry, two parallel courses were used, and the competitors started simultaneously every 30 seconds on both courses. The exhibition was great, collisions frequent and occasionally a flag keeper or control man would be swept off his feet by some impetuous runner and carried halfway down the slope.

In Ontario, where long runs are not available, much care should be taken to improve downhill running technique. Sectional downhill courses may be arranged: a complete bumpy run, all the way from top to bottom, a schuss two thirds of the complete length of the hill with a tricky finish, and "S" course and a shelf drop.

Nervousness is the hardest thing to overcome for a skier entering his first downhill race. Walk up the course to see what it looks like and make a mental rehearsal of the turns you will use in the race. Most competitors will advise you to pole hard and frequently; this is well for an experienced racer, but not for your first trial.

Take it easy and smoothly, you are racing for experience, not to win, for one seldom wins on their first trial. In the straight run or schuss, quietly concentrate upon improving your running technique by leaning more forward and crouching a little, rather than waddle all over the run with poles and skis. Take all sharpness possible out of every turn. Most beginners will fall right after the start, or within reach of the finishing post; visualize the finishing line 50 feet past the actual end of the course. Do not try acrobatic stunts when finishing run straight out and finish slowly.

When downhill courses are laid out, always ask for expert advice, especially if it will have to be cut through woods; it will save you time and money.

Howard Quinn New President Of West Peterboro' Liberals

Bruce McNevin, M.P., Reviews Trade Expansion By The Mackenzie King Government

Howard A. Quinn of Douro township was elected president of the Liberal Association of the riding of Peterborough West at the largely attended annual meeting Tuesday night in the Moose Hall. Mr. Quinn succeeds Alex L. Elliott, M.L.A., who has graduated from the ranks to be leader of the party in the provincial riding comprising the entire county and city.

The other officers elected for the new year are: James Lundy, first vice-president; Earl Tully of Smith township, second vice-president; Dr. E. M. Crough, third vice-president; Thos. J. Doughty, fourth vice-president; Jacob Low, secretary; E. Bruce Fowler, treasurer.

A council composed of the township and ward chairmen and vice-chairmen is authorized to act in an advisory capacity to the executive.

Three neighboring members of Parliament were invited to the platform with the group of officers. They were Rork Ferguson of Hastings-Peterborough, Bruce McNevin of Victoria-Haliburton and J. J. Duffus of Peterborough West. Mr. Elliott, Peterborough's recently elected member of the provincial Legislature, acted as chairman until the incoming officers were recommissioned. As the guest speaker of the meeting Mr. McNevin was introduced by Everett L. Sackville, who also referred to the presence of the group of local Liberal members of the two houses, and congratulated Mr. Elliott on "the distinguished manner in which he carried our banner in the campaign last October."

Warden E. N. McDonald of Dummer was introduced to the audience by Mr. Elliott.

Mr. McNevin congratulated the Liberals of Peterborough West on the interest they manifested in their leaders and their party by the large attendance on a cold winter night. He also complimented the several ridings on the character and sound judgment of the men they had elected.

"I am also pleased to see the women of this riding taking an interest in politics. They are justified in taking a greater and wider interest in the political affairs of their country when they observe the setback to their freedom in countries where democracy has been replaced by dictatorships and other ideas of that kind."

National Defense

Mr. McNevin spoke briefly on world conditions that have been forcing peace loving people of Canada to give new thought to its own position. The program of increased expenditure by the Department of National Defence has been approved not only by the people of Ontario, but more recently by electors in Quebec. In the event of the Mother Country being attacked, Mr. McNevin said, the first hands to be raised against her would dive through the air. If British food depots and flour mills along the coast were crippled, how long could Canada expect to be left in peace as the next source of supply. In all probability our own ports and harbours and mills would be the next points of attack. The Hon. Ian Mackenzie as Minister of Defense was taking care of fortifications on both the east and west coasts, and was also making improvements in Canada's ability to take to the air.

"Much as we all love peace in this country, we have to take the world as we find it. We are like the safe driver who for all his observance of the law and his own precautions never knows what moment some reckless driver will crash into him."

Turning his attention to trade and industrial conditions in Canada, Mr. McNevin recalled Premier King's promise to the people in 1935 to "go into the highways and byways of the world to promote Canadian business with other nations." As evidence of how that promise was being fulfilled he said that Canada's foreign trade for the fiscal year ending October 31 last amounted to $1,996,000,000, and the balance of trade was in Canada's favor by the amount of $340,000,000.

"It has been recently stated in the Conservative press that there had been a decline in our exports for November as compared with the corresponding month in 1936. But, if you allow for the drop in our wheat exports and also take out shipments of gold bullion you will find that for November of last year we still show an increase of $12,000,000 over the exports for the corresponding month in 1936. The disaster to our great grain producing provinces reduced our exports of wheat by $18,000,000, and the Bank of Canada has been holding back exports of gold."

Increased revenue, increased income tax payments, and other financial barometers had all told a common story of improvement in Canada's position since the Liberal government had been placed in charge of the nation's affairs, Mr. McNevin said. He said he had an open mind on the question of exportation of power. If Canada refused to export power it was conceivable that the United States might greatly curtail or entirely withdraw its export of coal to Canada, with the result that hundreds of our industries would be put out of business.

Speaking of the burdensome taxation of real estate, Mr. McNevin said that a large part of the taxes was needed for education purposes. In some countries the state pays the entire cost of education, and many others pay as high as 50 per cent of the cost, but in Ontario the state contributes only 12 per cent in various grants to schools.

"If we all got together on this subject and worked with the objective of larger school grants from our government we would take a great deal of the present charge that is being levied on our land."

Small Loan Legislation

Mr. Duffus amplified Mr. McNevin's survey of the industrial improvement in Canada since the Liberal government was elected. The position of farmers had made a substantial change for the better, and in the city of Peterborough the most outstanding improvement was set forth in a recent survey of increased production, employment and payrolls by the Canadian General Electric Company. Mr. Duffus said that there were bright hopes that the domestic and foreign trade of Canada during the present fiscal year would reach the vast total of three billion dollars. He sketched the legislation against "loan sharks" as set out in a bill which he had the honor to introduce at the last session, and which he expected to become law through the co-operation of the federal and provincial governments possibly this year. The act was devised to regulate companies loaning small sums of money to people who needed financial assistance. It had been found that some unregulated companies had been charging borrowers all the way from 50 per cent to as high as 600 and 700 per cent, preying on people in their need.

Rork Fergusin also spoke briefly expressing his pleasure with the accomplishment of the government in its two sessions in the improved condition of farmers and the brighter outlook for the present year. The disturbed condition of the times was an adverse factor to the government, but Mr. Ferguson said "by carrying out our Liberal policies we have every reason to expect that agriculture in this country will be placed more soundly on its feet in future."

Community singing and songs by Ed Short provided musical features of the meeting.

DEBRIS CONTINUES YIELDING BODIES

bodies recovered before the searchers surrendered to darkness yesterday were beyond recognition. A wrist watch, some trinket or a bit of clothing might help, but on most of the victims there was nothing that could be recognized.

The only dead definitely identified were Brother Jean Baptiste, 64, of Sherbrooke, Que.; Joseph Vincent, 15, of St. Hyacinthe, and Guy Malpain, 16, also of St. Hyacinthe. Malpain's remains were recognized by a wrist watch last night. Today's inquest was to be held on Vincent's body, first of those identified at the morgue.

Brother Jean Baptiste, 64, a native of Sherbrooke, Que., died in hospital after breaking a leg in leaping from the fourth storey as the 37-year-old structure blazed.

Tales of heroism of the brothers were told by the young pupils as they lay on hospital beds, still too shocked to realize unnumbered friends were dead, the centre of their lives now only a twisted, ugly pyre.

Little Jean Marcel Phenix, 12, related that Brother Paul Armand, in charge of the dormitory where younger boys slept, plunged to his death because he insisted on ushering the youngsters to safety. Leading a group to a roof two storeys from the ground he bade them jump into the snow, and as they went, one by one, the roof collapsed to carry Paul Armand and half a dozen of the boys into the roaring ruins.

Brother Rosaire crawled along a flame-torn floor to the infirmary to carry a sick child down a fire escape. Through it all the brothers were unmindful of themselves — racing through the corridors in the few fleeting moments before the floors fell—to urge the lads to leap for their lives.

HASTINGS WOMAN IS 87 YEARS OLD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Jan. 19. — Mary Anne Greenbank of this village celebrated her 87th birthday on Sunday. The aged lady is confined to indoors for the winter. Two years ago she suffered a stroke, which left her deaf and speechless, but she is able to move about the house quite freely. She was born in Norwood.

Mrs. James Johnston, who celebrated her 82nd birthday on Saturday, lives just across the road from Miss Greenbank, who resides with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Peters.

BRIDGENORTH

The religious drama, "Whatsoever Ye Will," by the Young People of Selwyn Church will take the place of the regular church service, Bridgenorth Church, on Sunday evening, January 30, at 7 o'clock.

The first meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Udy last Thursday afternoon. Nine ladies were present. Mrs. Miller, treasurer, reported $75 being sent to Presbyterial treasurer, amount raised for 1937. It was decided to quilt two quilts for bale in June. Miss Wilma Telford gave a reading on 'Peace.' Mrs. Robison followed with a temperance reading. Two letters were read by Mrs. Miller from recipients of donations from this area to families in the West.

Bridgenorth Church will hold their church service next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be no evening service.

BETHANY

The Women's Guild of St. Mary's Church, Manvers, held their regular monthly meeting on Friday at the home of Mrs. George Page. There were nine members present. Letters of appreciation were read by secretary from shut-ins who had been remembered by the Guild with boxes of cheer at the Christmas season. Work occupied very busily during the remainder of the afternoon all the ladies present, which had been previously prepared by the president and assistant, and was distributed for completion to those present to be finished at their leisure hours at homes represented.

Mrs. (Rev.) Holden closed the meeting with benediction prayer by request of the president.

The hostess served a delicious supper to her many guests assisted by her daughter, Miss Marjory Page, cakes having been furnished by Mrs. A. B. Sisson and Mrs. Geo. Foster. Mrs. Holden invited the ladies to meet at her home for the February meeting, when the time will be occupied in sewing a quilt already prepared for quilting.

A very social hour was spent by all the guests present, over the luncheon hour. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Page and family for their kind hospitality voiced by Mrs. Holden. Ladies present were, Mrs. Holden, Mrs. W. Hannah, Miss Vance, Mrs. L. Staples, Mrs. Strachan, Mrs. Lowery, Mrs. Sisson, Mrs. Page and Mrs. Foster.

New Warden Promises To Give County His Best Services

New Members Are Welcomed To County Council By Warden McDonald

"It will always be my effort to do what is right with one and all of you and any time you think I am straying from the path laid down by former wardens, I want you to come and tell me," newly-elected Warden E. N. McDonald told the County Council as he assumed the chair at the inaugural meeting, Tuesday afternoon. First Dummer Reeve in the wardenship since James Hawthorne held the post in 1930, Warden McDonald declared Peterborough County has been one of the most ably administered counties in Ontario due to the calibre of reeves and wardens it has had.

The councillors made their initial sitting brief, dealing only with the matter of electing their warden and receipt of correspondence.

A communication from the Ontario chief engineer of municipal roads requested the County to continue its supervision and snow clearance on roads which have been designated for inclusion in the Ontario highway system until April this year.

Deputy Minister R. M. Smith of the Highways Department acknowledged the County request that the Department take over the road from Bridgenorth to Buckhorn reporting it is not the Department's intention to take over further mileage at the present time.

The report for the local Mothers' Allowance Board for Peterborough for 1937 indicated a total of 45 cases, 31 new and 14 old, were given attention during the year. In December, 74 families received a total monthly allowance of $2,205. Two widows were suspended during the year for breaches of terms of the Act.

The new warden welcomed to the council circle the three new faces—those of Reeve M. P. Coughlin of Douro, former warden; Reeve Allen B. Mann of Smith and Deputy Reeve Harry Fowler of Smith.

STOP that Cold now!

● Yesterday he was at the office with a "slight" cold. Today he's ill in bed. The "slight" cold took hold.

It's foolish to fool around with a cold. It's wise to go right after it and rid your system of this internal infection just as quickly as you can. For fast action take GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. They do the four things necessary to treat a cold the right way.

1. It opens the bowels gently but effectively.
2. It combats the cold germs and fever in the system.
3. It relieves the headache and "grippy" feeling.
4. It tones up the system and helps fortify against further attacks.

When you want to stop your cold, go right to your druggist and buy GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. Make sure you get Grove's. They're in a WHITE box and now come sugar coated or plain. When buying, remember you get 20% more for your money when you buy the large size.

Taken in time GROVE'S BROMO QUININE will usually stop a cold within 24 hours. This is the kind of action you need to prevent your cold from developing into something much more serious.

374

GROVE'S Laxative BROMO QUININE
RELIEVING COLDS FOR 40 YEARS

Why Use A "Sissy" Laxative?

Chronic constipation has to do with the colon or large intestine. Unless the large bowel is thoroughly emptied from time to time you become a victim of chronic constipation and poisoning of the system which results in colitis or other serious diseases.

Mild or "sissy" laxatives merely cause a movement of the bowels without effecting a thorough cleaning out of the colon or large bowel. For this reason you are misled into thinking that you are doing all you can to overcome a constipated and poisoned condition of the system.

Those who know Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills appreciate the value of a real medicine which not only effects a thorough cleansing of the colon or large bowel but also arouses the liver and kidneys to activity in filtering poisons from the blood.

Once you have proven the merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will never return to the use of "sissy" laxatives. Used regularly once a week this medicine ensures pure blood and freedom from constipation and the pains, aches and serious diseases which accompany it.

200 MORE PATIENTS OVERTAX FACILITIES AT NICHOLLS HOSPITAL

Admission Refused To 30 Patients In Overcrowding

More Than 2,000 Patients Treated Last Year; Lack of Accommodation Distressing

Urgent need of additional accommodation at Nicholls Hospital was again stressed in reports tendered at the annual meeting of the Board.

Constant overcrowding and the inability to handle all the patients applying for admission, also the problem of proper segregation of patients, were remarked upon.

Ernest F. Mason was elected as chairman of the Board, succeeding Dr. J. Malcolm McCulloch who has just completed two years of service in that capacity. A. J. Throop was named as honorary-secretary.

In her report to the Board Superintendent E. M. Leeson remarked there were over 2,000 patients admitted during the past year, which was an increase of around 200 over the previous year.

Commenting on the many improvements effected, Mrs. Leeson said that by utilizing every available space in the basement, "we now use the outer corridor rooms for patients, which means extra accommodation for four semi-private and two private medical patients".

Frequent Congestions.

While it was a year free of any severe epidemics or disasters locally, the report noted, the hospital was on many occasions crowded to more than proper capacity.

From September, 1937, to recent date, thirty patients were refused admission because of lack of accommodation. Most of them were public and semi-private patients. "Before a patient is refused admission every possible effort is made to adjust beds and crowd where crowding is safe. There is seldom any time when a semi-private patient is not in a public or private ward, or a public patient in a semi-private ward waiting for a proper vacancy. Anyone acquainted with sickness knows that a general hospital may have a number of empty beds and yet find it necessary to refuse patients. Men and women cannot occupy the same wards, while clean surgical cases should not be in a ward where there is infectious disease. Neither can medical cases such as influenza, pneumania, etc., be in a ward with surgical cases," Superintendent Leeson states.

Distressing Factors.

"It is most distressing for sick patients to know someone is ill or dying in the ward even if he or she is screened. Especially is this so where young boys and girls are in the ward, and yet frequently there is not a vacant spot to which we can move the very ill patient. Also a noisy delirious patient should not be allowed to annoy a whole ward of ill patients. It is harder on the nurses and a whole ward may be upset and kept from sleep."

Mrs. Leeson stated it was a great joy after so many years of trying to work in a very small overcrowded office shared with others, to have a quiet room where she could hold uninterrupted interviews with the many visitors to a hospital in the course of a day.

Commending other improvements which have been made during Dr. McCulloch's term as chairman, she remarked on the new arrangements which have been made in regard to keeping various items in stock, and on the new beds installed.

Acknowledge Support

Acknowledgment is made of the splendid support given by various organizations during the past year and chief among these are mentioned, Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E., who donated overbed tables and thermos sets; the library maintained by the Kingsway Workers; the Christmas Carol service presented by St. John's Church Choir under direction of Fred G. Mann, L.Mus., and aid given by other chapters of the I.O.D.E., the Ladies' Auxiliary, the Salvation Army and private friends.

"This year closes with a keener note of interest in the hospital by the people of Peterborough, than ever before. The ladies auxiliary has in the short time since its organization been of a wonderful help," the report concluded.

In retiring from the chair Dr. McCulloch made a verbal report bearing on outstanding activities during his two-year term of office, referring particularly to the various new equipment installed as well as the remodelling of the office and other rooms. He acknowledged the support he had received from each member of the Board and from the superintendent of the hospital and her staff.

Assures Privacy

Bedside curtains for public and semi-private maternity wards have been installed at Nicholls Hospital by the newly-organized Ladies' Auxiliary. The pictures give some idea of the completeness of the installation and reveal the manner in which the curtains can be slid on overhead runners to completely enclose any or all beds in the wards.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 19.—The Public School Trustees for Lakefield are E. W. Bailey, F. L. Erskine and Roy Bullock, who have been elected by acclamation as a result of the failure of a fourth nominee, J. R. Hull, to qualify. This was the second nomination. Those placed in the field at the regular nomination meeting in Monday of this week four candidates were named, and when Mr. Hull again declined to qualify the other three were automatically elected. December, B. Q. Dench, F. L. Erskine and J. R. Hull did not qualify. On

CATALPAS OF C. G. E. ARE TRANSPORTED ROOT AND BRANCH

The catalpa trees that have adorned and somewhat screened the main office of the Canadian General Electric Company will wake up in the spring in strange surroundings. All but one of them have already been moved from the office front to the sunny corner at Park and Wolfe Streets, and their removal has afforded an object lesson in horticulture for many persons who probably never imagined that winter could aid in this large-sized operation.

With the ground frozen to the roots, the tree transporters dig a circular trench several feet deep and with a radius of three or four feet from the trunk of the tree. Roots are severed, and finally the circular footing can be pried from the ground enclosing the roots. The tree with its attaching weight of frozen earth is easily moved then to whatever place has been dug to receive it, and although it may be set back at the beginning of the new season, it recovers and picks up life again in its new rooting.

The catalpas, with their big circular bases of frozen earth, flourished in front of the office, were kept well trimmed, and had become a striking note of beauty in that busy factory neighborhood along Park Street. Possibly they grew too lushly and umbrageously. At any rate, they are to be replaced with flower beds and shrubbery.

Avoid Cheapness Advice To Youth

The Young People's Union of George Street Church heard a very fine address last evening by the convenor of the Christian Citizenship Group, Jake Burnham.

Speaking on "The Purpose of the Christian Citizenship Group," he urged the group "not to become members of that huge throng who are satisfied to buy cheaply and to value lightly." Continuing, he pointed out "that what they do today will largely govern the type of citizen they will be tomorrow."

Miss Dorothy Smith was chairman for the evening, and Miss Helen Delahaye presided at the piano. The Scripture reading was given by Miss Marjory Tinker and Miss Doris Fife led in prayer. Arnold Bates was heard in a delightful piano solo during the evening. Following the address a short recreation period was enjoyed.

Next Tuesday evening the annual congregational skating party will be held at Brock Street Rink.

The Rambling REPORTERS

UNUSUAL RESULTS.

A story published yesterday about the loss of a little pup by a local youngster brought prompt results—in fact, triple results. Up to noon to-day, no fewer than three persons in widely separated parts of the city had reported to The Examiner the finding of a dog.

J. A. Hills, 111 Rubidge street, was the first to be heard from when he reported early last evening the finding of a friendly little pup closely resembling the description of the lost animal. Lloyd Sutton, 66 Auburn street, telephoned this morning to announce he had the pup in safe custody; then a call at noon revealed that Arthur Simonds, 91 Park Hill road, also had found the wandering pet.

At press time, it was not known definitely which one of the three pups, if any, was the missing one.—C. P. K.

Milby Pays Tribute To Harold Morrow

Initiator of the North Monaghan township protest last year against the fact that the revenue-producing Exhibition Grounds were unassessed by the township, Reeve James Milby was first to take the opportunity of voicing appreciation of Harold Morrow's gift of the grounds to the Exhibition Board at Tuesday's opening session of the County Council. "I think it is only right that this council should go on record and send a letter of appreciation to Mr. Morrow for his magnificent gift to agriculture of this county," Mr. Milby said. Other councillors joined in with similar expressions and the motion was readily adopted.

CHAIRMEN NAMED 1938 COMMITTEES OF COUNTY COUNCIL

Members of the County Council devoted themselves to the important task of choosing the chairmen of the standing committees for 1938 as they resumed their session this morning. In most cases, committees were named to consist of the Council as a whole, but in the cases of the lesser committees members were specifically named.

Alian B. Mann of Smith was named to serve for a three-year period on the County Roads Committee, and Wallace Shearer of Harvey was appointed to a one-year term.

Two were nominated for the chairmanship of the Property Committee, Russel Thompson of Norwood declining in favor of James Milby of North Monaghan.

Members questioned the need of an Education Committee this year, but were advised by Clerk J. A. Batten that there is "plenty of work" for the committee this year.

Mr. Anderson suggested that the committee should again go into the method of paying schools during the year. Mr. Anderson was named chairman.

The important post of the Finance Committee chairmanship went to Ernest Seeney of Havelock, and Deputy-Reeve Harry Fowler of Smith was appointed chairman of the Committee on Equalization of Assessment.

To supervise the House of Refuge, a committee composed of Harry Reid, Deputy-Reeve of Otonabee, Charles Tanner of Lakefield, and the Warden, Ernest McDonald, Mr. Reid in the chair.

Other committee appointments were: Martin Coughlin of Douro, chairman of the Petitions Committee; Russel Thompson, chairman of Printing; John Clark of Galway and Cavendish, chairman of Joint and Legislature; Roy Brown of Burleigh. Appointments; Reeves Fowler, Milby, Shearer, and Gifford, with Mr. Tanner in the chair, the Foley Estate Committee; Reeves Johnson, Clark and Coughlin, and Warden McDonald, with Mr. Gifford in the chair. Agricultural Advisory Board.

Through an error, the movers and seconders in the election of the Warden were confused in yesterday's report. Reeve McDonald, who was subsequently elected to the chair, was nominated on motion of Reeve Milby, seconded by Reeve Seeney. Reeve Griffith then moved the nomination of Reeve McColl, Reeve Thompson seconding. Deputy-Reeve Johnston then nominated Reeve Milby, seconded by Reeve Reid, and Mr. Milby declined the nomination in favor of Mr. McDonald.

Fiddle Only As Good As Its Bow Declares Famous Violinist

A fiddle is as good as its bow, according to Efrem Zimbalist, and who is a better authority than he? The famous violinist, who is playing here next Monday night in Collegiate Auditorium, says that bows are almost as rare and nearly as necessary to the virtuoso as are fine old violins. Though little is ever said of their value, these simple articles are worth as much as $1,000 and seldom can be bought—by such masters as Zimbalist at any rate—for less than $500.

"A great deal goes into the making of a good bow beside the wood and the hair," the artist explains. "And without a good bow a violinist is helpless in a tonal sense and greatly handicapped in a technical way. No matter how good his violin is, this is still true."

The program is one of three sponsored by the Peterborough Branch of Canadian Concert Association. A few tickets still remain and may be secured from Jacob Low, the secretary.

PROMISE MONEY FOR PETERBORO SOIL TESTING

Surplus calcium in Peterborough county soil is an opinion Frank Paterson, agricultural representative, has formed from reading and enquiry, and if experiment later verifies his estimate he will have to change a new soil testing machine he recently received from Purdue University, Indiana. Soil work is a special interest with Mr. Paterson, and although it is midwinter and no time for mentioning this branch of agricultural science, it seemed a promise of future activity in diagnosing the soils of Peterborough county. And with all the new emphasis that is being placed on soil depletion and the problem of restoring its mineral balance, men who are interested in agriculture regard Mr. Paterson's coming to Peterborough as having a special timeliness.

J. J. Duffus, M.P., announced at last night's meeting of the Federal Liberal Association that the Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion had promised him to make a sufficient grant of money for a county soil test in co-operation with the Ontario government. It is assumed that the province will contribute to the cost of this service, and thereby enable the project to be carried out during the summer.

HOSPITAL AIDED BY 1,200 WOMEN

Membership of the newly organized Ladies' Auxiliary of Nicholls Hospital has reached the 1,200 mark since September last. But not content to let it remain there, a house-to-house canvass is to be made of the city to bring the membership to at least the 3,000 level.

In their report tendered by Elsie Turner, recording secretary, at the annual meeting of Nicholls Hospital Board the work of the new organization and its plans for the future were outlined.

The report noted that six ladies attended the annual convention of the Women's Hospital Aids Provincial Association held in Toronto last October.

Mrs. John Comstock and her committee take care of the weekly visits to the hospital, with occasional gifts of fruit and flowers.

Mrs. Robert Ross has charge of the sewing given out each month, and the November work was done by the Lakefield members. To date 324 articles of sewing have been completed.

Mrs. Wharry has charge of the Samaritan Cupboard, which contains donations of clothing. Patients leaving hospital, who are in need of certain clothing are, if possible, supplied from this cupboard. The Thursday Club, the report stated, have consented to always have two layettes on hand in the cupboard, and a sum of money has been set aside to purchase such articles as might not be included in donations.

Car service is provided by the Auxiliary on application. Some such service was afforded at Christmastide. Other Christmas activity included the filling of Christmas stockings for the children, and baskets of fruit were placed in public wards.

Since formation of the Auxiliary the ladies have made a study of the hospital to obtain ideas of what work they might do. Their first undertaking was to supply bedside curtains for the public and semi-private maternity wards. The curtains were installed at a cost of $208, and the Auxiliary have received pleasing reports from the hospital authorities and patients.

Members are looking forward to doing something with the sun porches when they have the assurance from the Board the porches will be heated.

They would have liked to consider purchase of a mechanical dishwasher, but this was stated to be beyond their means. They feel, however, it is a very necessary piece of equipment.

Cotton Plans Earlier Budget With Help Of Council

Is Re-elected

ALD. WALTER STOCKER
who was last night re-elected as chairman at the inaugural meeting of the 1938 Board of Health.

Tax Rate May Be Determined In February, Month Sooner Than Last Year

An earlier completion of the city's budget is the aim of Alderman Cotton as the new chairman of the finance committee of the council. A series of meetings is being mentioned to begi nthis week for the purpose of enabling the committees to prepare their estimates promptly and perchance to trim the tax rate down to an approvable figure.

Several requisitions have already been reported, both of them comparatively small. One was the Public Library Board and the other from the Reception and Claims Committee. Clerical work at the City Hall is facilitated by an early determining of the garbage collection rate. This preliminary step is usually taken in December, enabling the staff to wind up early the computing of the acual amount of taxes each ratepayer will have to pay for this service.

When this part of the tax rate is disposed of, the City Hall faces another headache from overmuch arithmetic when the general rate is struck, and the figuring of the taxes on each individual property has to be all worked out and written into the assessment roll, which is then passed on to the tax collector.

Getting the tax rate set for the year is the primary stage in all this arrangement for the equitable taxation of the people. Councils have talked of speeding it up so that the rate could be struck earlier than the first week of March, but this year the signs indicate that the departmental estimates are going to be prepared weeks earlier than usual.

Ratepayers understand that all this detail is simple a repetitious problem in arithmetic, first the assessing of your property, then planing down the budget which determines the amount of money the city will have to expend during the year, next producing the tax rate from the known facts of the amount of the assessment and the sum of money needed to run the city, and then finally applying that tax rate separately to each ratepayer. The sooner the rate is struck, the sooner can all the details be worked out, and the bills delivered with ample time interval until they have to be returned to the city hall with the money they are sent out to get. That is what Alderman Cotton is going after, prompt action by all the spending bodies of the council as a means of assisting the city hall staff.

SCARLET FEVER GIVING CONCERN TO HEALTH BOARD

Faced with the worst epidemic of scarlet fever in several years—95 cases having been reported up to Jan. 15—the Board of Health last night discussed plans to combat spread of the disease. Officials of the three separate schools here recently sought to have their pupils inoculated and the board decided to proceed with this measure. So far there have been no deaths.

Dr. G. Murray Fraser, M.O.H., who said he was certain the disease had not started from impure milk, will submit each child to the Dick test to ascertain whether the pupil is susceptible to scarlet fever. Permission of the parents will be required before the die inoculations, spaced a week apart, can be given. In the opinion of Dr. Fraser the disease was being spread by contact.

Peterborough and Guelph are the two centres in Ontario most affected by scarlet fever. It was decided by the board to communicate with Guelph and learn what steps are being taken by that municipality.

Gives Immunity

The importance and value of inoculation was indicated in a report made by the M.O.H. relative to the complete freedom from diphtheria which the city has enjoyed for the past four year. It is worthy of note that all the children in the public schools are inoculated for diphtheria and a large percentage of children in the city's separate schools are also inoculated.

To Ensure Clean Milk

In another of its steps to prevent impure milk being sent into local pasteurization plants the Board empowered the newly appointed Sanitary Inspector to reject any milk which he considers is unfit for consumption as milk.

To prevent it being mixed with other milk and thus overcoming the prohibition the rejected supply will be dyed so that it may only be used in manufacture of butter or cheese.

Numerous complaints have been received in the past concerning the quality of milk sent to pasteurization plants. Appointment of Ronald McPherson as Sanitary Inspector was the initial move made by the Board of Health to tighten the regulations.

WATER IS TESTED IN CHEMONG LAKE

A meeting of the local Board of Health for Smith township was held on Saturday at Dr. J. A. Morgan's office, Peterborough. Present were: M.O.H., Dr. J. A. Morgan; Reeve, Allan B. Mann; Deputy-reeve, Harry Fowler; secretary, Percy T. Udy.

Moved by Dr. Morgan and seconded by H. Fowler that Reeve Mann be chairman of the board for 1938. Carried.

Dr. Morgan reported that two ice dealers taking ice from Chemong Lake had the lake water analized before taking out ice and had found the water sufficiently pure as per analysis.

The M.O.H. also reported two cases of scarlet fever at the north of the city, the home having been placarded.

A general discussion was held on some special matters and other including sanitary conditions of summer residences.

TO USE ORANGE HALL.

Mrs. R. Tate, secretary of the Woodmen of the World, said to-day the Order is giving up its long-tenanted George street headquarters but that arrangements have been made for use of the Orange Hall. The Woodmen of the World intend to carry on as usual, she said.

OBITUARY

MRS. CHARLES ELMHIRST.

The death occurred on Saturday, January 15, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, of Mrs. Charles Elmhirst of Otonabee, after a very sudden illness, at the age of 43.

Mrs. Elmhirst was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Wallace of Keene. Besides her husband, three children, Ellen, David and Percy, are left to mourn her loss. A sister, Mrs. George Houle, of Keene, also survives.

The funeral mass was celebrated on Tuesday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, by the Rev. Dr. Masterson. Interment was at St. Peter's Cemetery, where Father E. Grant said the prayers.

The bearers were Stephen Elmhirst, Albert Elmhirst, Gus Bolin, Fred Doris, Harry Garnet and Geo. Houle.

Buccaneers Blank Southend Leafmen

Pirates scuttled Maple Leafs, 7-0, in a Southend Intermediate Hockey League game last night at the Sacred Heart rink. With Padgett leading the way with a trio of markers and Bailey getting two—as Abraham and Whatman got one each—the winners had a decided edge in blanking the Leafs. For the latter, McClennan, Edwards and Hoy went best; while Padgett, Whatman, Black and Abraham stood out for the Pirates. The winners had more combination for close-in tries. The teams:

Leafs—Goal, Byers; defence, Riel, Edwards; centre, McClennan; wings, Hoy, Jobe; alternates, Gracie, McCormick.

Pirates—Goal, Black; defence, Hull, Menzies; centre, Whatman;

CHAPTER 43.

IT WAS IN August that we heard from Lionel—a jubilant letter. He had done a set of stories for one of the big-paying magazines, and he had been asked for as many more as he could write.

"Everybody has forgiven us, Jerry. They have killed the fatted calf, and Bernice is having the time of her young life saying 'I told you so' to her parents. Nothing succeeds like success. I wish we might come out to see you and Mimi, but Bernice and I are thinking of Paris—that is, if this unholy invasion of Belgium by Germans doesn't stir things up too much. However, why worry? With modern ammunition no war can possibly last six months.

"The whole town is talking of your romance. It has been featured in all the papers, and I am sending you the latest account. Nothing authentic, I am sure, but if your life is anything like this sounds it must be at top-notch. Mrs. Le Brun says that Mimi's letters are rapturous — that she adores the mountains, and that you and she spend hours in the saddle. It sounds good to me at this particular moment, when the thermometer here is in the nineties.

"All of our world is, of course, away but I have these stories to do—and, as I have said, Paris is in the offing. Olga is also staying on. There is talk that she may marry again—she is seen everywhere with a steel magnate who has just brought his plant to St. Louis. It would be the irony of fate, wouldn't it, if Olga should add multi-millions to grandfather's fortune? I wish highwaymen were in fashion, I'd tie my head up in a handkerchief, and strip her some night of her diamonds. Oh, well, old chap, here's to your health and happiness, but I know you have them without my wishing. What are you writing? Don't stop because you have married a wife. Stiles Sanderson groans every time your name is mentioned. He says you are a genius spoiled by luxury and loving. He quotes Aldrich—you remember, don't you, 'The Flight of the Duchess'?:

"The woman I loved was now my bride,
And the home I wanted was my own,
I turned to the Goddess satisfied,
But the Goddess had somehow flown . . .

"For a man must live in a garret aloof,
And have few friends and go poorly clad,
With an old hat stopping a chink in the roof,
To keep the Goddess constant and glad."

I read Lionel's letter to Mimi as we rode home from the little post-office at the crossroads. She made no comment when I finished, but there was a flush on her cheeks.

"It was good of you," I said, as I put the letter back in my pocket, "to write that way to your mother."

The flush deepened. "I knew people would be asking questions. And I didn't want them to know the truth."

I turned in my saddle. "Just what do you mean by that, Mimi? What is the truth?"

"Oh, well, things are different, aren't they, from what we expected?"

"Yes."

"I told Mother that I adore the mountains, and I do. And when we are on our horses, Jerry, I am happy—that's enough for Mother. If I had given all the facts—that you work like a slave, while I twiddle my thumbs, we should be the laughing stock of St. Louis."

"Do you think I care," I flung out furiously, "what St. Louis thinks?"

"I care," obstinately, "they are my people."

There seemed to be nothing to say in answer to that, so we rode on in silence. I had had another letter which I did not show Mimi. It was from the employment agency, and it gave me no encouragement. At this season of the year women preferred work in the hotels to that on ranches. They might be able to do better for me later.

The news seemed at the moment appalling. That very morning our half-breed, Sally, had left us. She and her husband had felt the call of the open road, and she was going back to visit her own people until cold weather came on.

I had cooked the breakfast, and had carried Mimi's chocolate in to her. She had been adorable in a frilly blue negligee and lace cap. The contrast between the luxury encompassed by the four walls of her room, and the state of the kitchen after Sally's hurried departure, had been startling. I had sat and talked with her, trying to make a joke of it all, while my heart was like lead.

I proposed, before I left her, that she should ride to the post office with me. I had found that out of doors she was more like herself. The untidiness of the house oppressed her, weighed on her spirits. While she dressed I had made things as straight as I could. I refused to face the fact that we should have stayed at home, to bring some kind of order out of the awful chaos of Sally's housekeeping.

Yet, should we have stayed? And why face facts? It was with a sort of eat-drink-and-be-merry attitude that I had closed the door behind us, and had left Jason on guard.

To push the joys of our adventure to its extreme limits, I suggested later that we ride back to the house—get the little car, and motor to the hotel for luncheon. When we returned that night we could have a picnic supper — there would be no dishes, no cares until the next day.

Mimi was at once lighted by anticipation. "You're a darling, Jerry." And so young was I, so ready to be happy, that I flung all forebodings away from me, and took my holiday with a will.

When we entered the hotel, we were much observed. We still wore our riding clothes, and we created, as always, a sensation. I was picturesque in corduroys and broad sombrero, while Mimi, in gray, with her peacock feather, was like a gallant boy.

I asked for a room, that we might make ourselves presentable, and when I had signed for it I cast my eyes idly over the names on the register.

Then, suddenly, the world turned black. There was a scrawled signature which seemed to have a sinister significance; a name I should never have looked for in that place.

I lost my nerve completely. I wanted to pick Mimi up and fly with her back to our ugly red-painted house and shut her in. I was overwhelmed by a sense of impending catastrophe.

I controlled myself, however, and followed the boy to our room. As the bright light from the window streamed upon me, I saw Mimi observing me with some curiosity. "How pale you are, Jerry? Aren't you well?"

I caught at that as giving me a possible excuse. "I have a beastly headache. Would you mind very much if we had lunch in our room?"

A shadow fell across her face, but she managed to say, cheerfully, "Of course we'll have it — if you'd rather."

My mood changed in a moment. I decided recklessly to take the chance. If the thing was to be, it would be. Why try to hide? "I'll rest a bit, and see what happens," I told her. "I don't want to spoil our day."

We went down, finally, to the dining room. We were late, and most of the guests had eaten and gone. I had little appetite, but Mimi was hungry, and enjoyed the really delicious food. She was as gay as you please and talked and sparkled. I responded as best I could. To people at the other tables we must have seemed at our ease and carefree. And how could they know that the sight of every tall man who entered the room drained the blood from my face and made my heart beat madly?

It was not until we were a mile or two away from the hotel that I drew a quiet breath. Mimi insisted on driving the car back, and I did not protest. My nerves were shaken, but that was not the reason I let her drive. I had a feeling that in keeping her eyes on the road she might miss seeing, clearly, anyone who passed.

Nothing happened on the way home, but I knew the blow would fall, and it did. Three days later we were riding up the trail towards the lake in the cup of the mountains. The ascent was steep, but our ponies knew every inch of it. They stepped carefully, and took what seemed almost insurmountable hazards with an air of lazy accustomedness. It is impossible to give in words the charm of that high country—the wine of the air, the perfume of sun-warmed evergreens, the color and contrast of golden aspen and gray rocks, the emerald shadows of the wooded spaces.

We came at last to a plateau, where our horses rested. From this height we could survey the trail below. We could see the faint line of it, lost here and there among the trees, but emerging always in a zig-zag descent towards the valley. Not a soul was in sight. I lifted Mimi from her horse, and held her in my arms.

"This is our world, my dearest. Say that you love me, Mimi."

She said it. She seemed all mine in that moment. My doubts fled. She was mine, no one could take her from me...

We had brought our lunch with us, and when I brought it from our bags, I saw that Mimi was again staring down the trail.

"There's someone coming up," she told me.

I crossed the intervening space and stood beside her. Far down a horseman was ascending. He wore a broad hat, which, at that distance, gave the effect of an animated mushroom as it bobbed up and down. As he came nearer we caught the "tic-tac" of his horse's hoofs on the loose rocks. Then we saw his lacquered boots glisten in the sun. He rode in the English style, and lacked the swinging grace which makes the cowboy the centaur of the plains.

Higher he came, and higher. I was aware of the horseman's height, of his length of limb. Then suddenly my breath seemed to leave me. I knew who it was. The thing had happened. Here was the man whose named had been scrawled on the register. Andy Fuller was riding up the trail.

Always Tired, Grouchy, Nervous!

Chronic Constipation Made Life Miserable—Is Happy Now

If severe constipation drags you down, try the fruit juice, herb, tonic remedy. Nothing like it. Mrs. L. L., Montreal, writes, "I felt nervous, irritable and tired all the time. Couldn't eat. Didn't sleep. Worked with difficulty due to chronic constipation. I got no relief until I tried Fruit-a-tives. Soon I became regular, headaches and irritation left me. I have lots of energy now." It's worth while to try this same simple way to regain health. You'll be glad you did. 25c. and 50c.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIVER TABLETS

To Relieve Bad Cough Quickly, Mix This at Home

Does the Work in a Hurry. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, and, for real results, it is still a very dependable thing for distressing coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really superior cough remedy—more than you could buy for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

This splendid home mixture has a three-fold action. You can feel it take hold at once. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. This explains why it gives such prompt, pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Looking Back
On This Date

Ninety years ago to-day, Jan. 19, 1848, Montreal mourned the death of Hon. James Reid, who had been chief justice, 1825-38. He is but little known to this generation, but in his lifetime played a great part in the administration of justice. He was one of the few judges of his time who declined to mix politics with justice, he refusing several candidatures for the Lower Canada Assembly as well as a seat in the legislative council when offered by Lord Dalhousie.

It fell to Judge Reid's lot to preside at several of the trials of those charged with treason after the risings of '37-38, a very difficult position for a British born at a time when racial passions were runing high. But after his death La Minerve, then the leading French-Canadian newspaper, paid him high tribute; while the Montreal Herald described his career as one wirthy of all lawyers to emulate, though they could never hope to equal it.

Judge Reid retired Oct. 15, 1838, and spent some time in England seeking restoration of his health. He was commanded to Windsor castle and personally by Queen Victoria offered a baronetcy, which he declined with dignity, but carried away from the castle a letter of appreciation of his services written by the Queen herself.

It was on this date in 1878 that Col. G. T. Denison received word that he had been awarded the prize offered by the then Czar of Russia for the best history of cavalry. The news was no surprise to the Toronto colonel and his family; but it caused a lot of cynical talk in army messes al lover the world that "a colonel in a colony" has gained what was then the highest recognition, for the book, like its successor, "Modern Cavalry," went through many additions.

Many happy returns to Sir William Mulock, born at Bond Head, Upper Canada, Jan. 10, 1843.

DOROTHY DIX

There Is No Job in Life More Important Than That of Being Efficient in the Kitchen—It Makes for Health, Happiness and Often Independence.

A YOUNG girl asks me to tell her why she should learn how to cook. There are about a million good reasons why every woman should acquire skill in juggling the pots and pans, one of which is, as Owen Meredith said long ago, because we can live without music, poetry and art, but civilized man can't live without cooks.

That makes a knowledge of how to prepare food the very foundation stone of a girl's education. Every woman finds that no matter what her position in life, no matter what business or profession she goes into, no matter how many other things she knows, the one thing that she always needs to know is how to cook.

A girl should learn how to cook because, if she does, she has a trade by which she can always support herself if need be. In times of depression the market may be glutted with actresses and writers and interior decorators and stenographers and office women, but there are never enough first-class cooks to go around. Moreover, even in its lower brackets the salary of the cook compares favorably with other female laborers, considering that she gets her lodging free and eats as well as her employer does, while the salary of a woman chef entitles her to groan over the income tax.

Furthermore, a good cook is the autocrat of whatever household she deigns to bless with her presence. A woman may not hesitate to tell her husband of his faults and where he gets off. A man may be grumpy and grouchy with the girls in his office and always threatening to fire them. But they walk humbly before the goddess of the kitchen who has but to wave her magic wand and the feasts of Luculls appear upon their table. She is the one woman in the world who is never afraid of losing her job.

In domestic life a knowledge of how to cook is the answer to the problem of how to retain a husband's affections. In time beauty fades, passion dulls of satiety, wise-cracking gets to be a bore, even love wears down into a habit, but a man's appetite never fails. It is the one thing to which a woman can always appeal and thus it is that you seldom hear of a man wandering away from his own fireside after having partaken of a dinner of the things he likes, prepared just the way he likes them.

Nor do you hear once in a blue moon of a husband getting tired and losing his taste for a wife who is a superlative cook. The way to domesticate men, as other wild animals, is by feeding them. Any husband will continue to eat out of his wife's hand as long as she keeps good food in it.

But the paramount reason why every girl should learn how to cook is because the health and efficiency and prosperity of her family is going to depend upon how she feeds it. How the children turn out and whether or not the husband is a success is just as much the result of Mother's cooking as any natural talents they may possess.

Many a child is rated stupid at school because he is filled up on soggy cereals. Many a boy takes to drink because he is undernourished from lack of good, wholesome, well-cooked food and feels the need of a stimulant. Many a man loses out in life because his wife's bad cooking has turned him into such a dyspeptic that he can't get along with anybody and made him so pessimistic that he is afraid to go into any new venture.

We are shocked when we read the papers about a woman poisoning her husband's children, but the one who feeds her family on watery soups, overdone meat, underdone vegetables and heavy bread poisons them just as surely as if she had flavored their food with Rough on Rats.

On the other hand, the woman who is a good cook builds for her children and husband strong healthy bodies with which to fight the world, and clear brains with which to think. She gives them the courage and optimism that only the well fed can have. She puts into them the pep that comes from overflowing vitality. You will seldom find an invalid or a neurotic in the family of a good cook, and her husband will still be going strong long after the husband of the woman who didn't know how to cook has had a breakdown.

These, my dear little girl, are some of the reasons why every girl should learn to cook. DOROTHY DIX.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, January 20.

JUDGING BY the lunar transits, this is to be a particularly lively and eventful day, although with many contradictory developments. There are signs of advancement, increase, signs of preferment and favors from employers and those in power, but there is also an admonition against reckless, impulsive and tempestuous conduct.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a particularly lively and memorable year, with promise of favors, increase of salary as well as many pleasant and prosperous conditions in the private life.

A child born on this day should be capable, ambitious and dependable in employment and business, despite a tempestuous, obstinate and reckless disposition. With this it may also have a gracious, kindly and attractive personality.

You're Telling Me!

By WILLIAM RITT

Joe's birthday happened again the other day and on the morning of that historical anniversary Joe pointed a piece of breakfast toast at Mrs. Joe and in very stern voice spoke what was on his mind.

✧ ✧ ✧

"This year," said Joe, "I don't want you to be pulling any surprise birthday parties on me. I think the whole thing is silly. Besides it embarrasses me. Unless you promise I won't come home from the office tonight, but eat dinner downtown."

✧ ✧ ✧

"Have it your way," said Mrs. Joe, reluctantly, for she would rather throw a party than attend one. "I promise."

✧ ✧ ✧

Joe kept thinking about it during the day, however. By late afternoon he was sure Mrs. Joe wouldn't keep her promise — so not to be caught unprepared—he decided he'd better slick up.

✧ ✧ ✧

He left the office early. Bought and put on a new shirt and then had his favorite barber set his ears out. After a shoe shine and a shave had been added he was still no Gable, but he smelled nice.

✧ ✧ ✧

When he came home there wasn't anybody there but Mrs. Joe. They had dinner alone. Joe was sure the gang would pop in some time during the evening. By 10 o'clock his worst fears were realized—Mrs. Joe had stuck to her promise, there was to be no party!

✧ ✧ ✧

He stormed upstairs and went straight to bed, sore as a boil. To this day Mrs. Joe doesn't know what ailed him

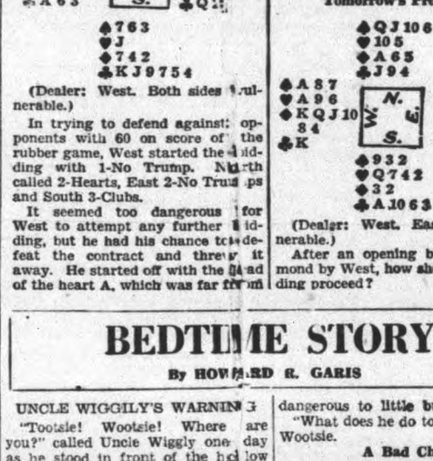
A DEFENSIVE CRIME

SOMETIMES a defender can figure out just what the declarer would be doing if it were his return to lead. Obviously, that should be the one thing that his enemy ought to avoid. On the face of it, anything else at all should be preferred. Yet that kind of defensive crime is perpetrated at hundreds of bridge tables every day by players who act first and think afterward.



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

In trying to defend against opponents with 60 on score of the rubber game, West started the bidding with 1-No Trump. North called 2-Hearts, East 2-No Trumps and South 3-Clubs.

It seemed too dangerous for West to attempt any further bidding, but he had his chance to defeat the contract and threw it away. He started off with the lead of the heart A, which was far from a good lead, and when he saw the J drop, switched to the spade J. He had nothing to gain by that switch. The heart Q was led and when East refused to cover, South tossed a losing diamond. The heart 10 was next led and another diamond discarded. The club J was now finessed and lost to the A and the diamond A cashed. The declarer lost one trick in each suit and made his contract.

Instead of switching to a spade, which South would have done if in the lead, West should have tried out the diamonds. His partner had raised the no trump bid. His strength obviously was not in clubs or spades, so he undoubtedly held something in diamonds.

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S WARNING

"Tootsie! Wootsie! Where are you?" called Uncle Wiggly one day as he stood in front of the hollow stump bungalow twinkling his pink nose.

"Here we are!" answered Tootsie and Wootsie together, just like twin rabbits which, indeed, they were.

"Do you want to come for a little adventure hop with me?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, daddy! How wonderful!" exclaimed Tootsie, being a girl bunny.

"That will be swell!" said Wootsie. He was a boy rabbit.

"Hop along, then!" invited Mr. Longears.

Over the fields and through the woods, hopping in the snow, up hill and down dale, went Tootsie, Wootsie and Uncle Wiggily.

All of a sudden, in a place where the woodland trees grew so closely together, with many nest (year's evergreen Christmas trees, that it was quite dark, a voice called:

"I have warned you about the Owl!"

"Whoo! Whoo! Whoo!"

Wrong Count

"Somebody is asking who we are, Daddy," said Tootsie.

"And they are saying there are two of us but there are three," said Wootsie. Though he had not yet learned any lessons from the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Tree School, Wootsie could count.

"Is that one of the Bad Chaps?" whispered Tootsie.

"A sort of Bad Chap," said Uncle Wiggily as, again, the voice seemed to ask: "Whoo? Whoo? Whoo?"

"Is it the Fox" asked Wootsie.

"No," answered Uncle Wiggily.

"Is it the Wolf?" asked Tootsie.

"No" replied Mr. Longears. "And it isn't the Bob Cat, either."

"Which Bad Chap is it?" Wootsie wanted to know for his father had told him, and also told his sister Tootsie, about the three Bad Chaps.

"This is the Owl bird," said Uncle Wiggily.

"What's an Owl bird?" asked Tootsie.

"The Owl is a large bird that lives in the woods," said Uncle Wiggily. "And I must warn you he is very dangerous to little bunnies."

"What does he do to them?" asked Wootsie.

A Bad Chap

"He swoops down on them, especially after it begins to get dark at night," warned Uncle Wiggily. "The Owl catches little rabbits in his sharp claws and he eats them with his sharp beak. So whenever you are in the woods, if I am not with you, listen and watch for the Owl. If he swoops down at you hide in a hollow log."

"Whoo? Whoo? Whoo? sounded the hooting voice of the Owl again.

"Yes, I am speaking of you and warning my little twin bunnies against you!.. said Uncle Wiggily. "You had better fly away now for I am with them and I'll pick up a club and beat you with it if you swoop down near us. Do you hear?"

"Whoo? Whoo? Whoo?" the Owl seemed to ask.

"You! You! You!" answered Uncle Wiggily

So the hooting Owl flew away. He very much wanted a tender little rabbit but he was afraid of Uncle Wiggily's club.

"Now don't forget—I have warned you about the Owl," said Mr. Longears to the twins as they hopped along. "Let this be an adventure for you—beware of the Owl."

Well, of course Tootsie and Wootsie promised to pay attention to Uncle Wiggily's warning but, I am sorry to say, they soon forgot; the very next afternoon, in fact. I shall tell you what happened in the story after this—Uncle Wiggily ears will be the name of it.

And please tell the apple dumpling not to eat so many strawberry ice cream cones that it gets to look like cranberry pie.

Health Run Down Housework A Burden

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and miserable, but is it any wonder that when they are run down in health they become nervous and irritable, weak and worn-out, and the lightest household duties seem a drag and a burden?

Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills are a remedy that all nervous, tired-out, weary women should take to help them back to the blessing of good health, and when this is done their household duties will be a pleasure instead of a burden.

Mrs. A. K. McLEAN, Pleasantfield, N.S., writes:—"A short time ago I was in a badly run down and nervous condition. I got so that my housework became a burden to me. I started taking Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills, and now I feel like a different person, and again am able to do all my own housework.

Hereafter I shall always recommend H. & N. Pills to my friends."

When a cold strikes . . . don't take needless risks

Treat Colds This PROVED Way

WHY experiment? Vicks VapoRub has been doubly proved for you . . . proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind; further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (See full details in each VapoRub package.)

Only Vicks give you such proof.

VapoRub is the direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no risk of stomach upsets. Simply massage it on the throat, chest, and back (as illustrated).

Relief starts almost at once. You begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub starts working direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time, its medicated vapors—released by the warmth of the body—are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

Repeat treatment at bedtime. After restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps right on working, hour after hour. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD.—Often a moody comic, Stan Laurel is boyishly happy in his new marriage. At the Cafe Lamaze the other night, they persuaded his bride, Illiana, to sing, and Stan's chest was out that far. He has made records of his wife's voice and plays them on the set between scenes . . . Flu has cost the studios thousands of dollars this past year. Simone Simon is just back from a two weeks' siege, and now Joan Davis is away from the same picture, "Josette." Steffi Duna is another on the flu casuality list. So is Lionel Stander, on the Harold Lloyd newest picture. And George Barbier, the portly character comedian, was in bed more than 12 weeks with a combination of flu and pneumonia.

Stan Laurel

Some visiting scool officials from New York just told Hollywood a thing it didn't know about Bette Davis. At the age of 13, the future Academy award winner copped first prize in a cooking contest staged by the public school system of New York.

Bette's prize-winning dish was cocoanut cookies, and she can still make them.

Mae Busch is back in town and will return to the screen for a role in "Marie Antoinette." Norma Shearer, one star who remembers old friends, personally suggested her for the part. On the day of Mae's test, Norma's car called for her. The Shearer dressing room also was put at her disposal.

Very different this from the way Hollywood usually does a favor.

See where the Chase National bank plans to put motion picture people on its board of directors. This is a nice tribute to Hollywood, but isn't exactly the first time it has been done. C. M. DeMille has been on a bank's board of directors for a long time. Donald Crisp is another. It was partly on Crisp's advice that Disney got the loan to complete "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Never have been partial to the screen's unnatural youngsters, but Jane Withers is a nice kid. Very unselfish and encouraged along these lines by her mother. For a New Year's present, Jane got a cottage on the north shore at Arrowhead. She hasn't seen it yet and will be too busy on "Gypsy" to enjoy it much for some time.

So the star is sending a batch of underprivileged children up each week-end for a romp in the snow. She furnishes transportation, chaperones and all expenses.

Gale Sondergaad slept through the Mexico City earthquake. . . . It is George Raft's idea for all Hollywood celebrities, who once were newsboys, to take over street corners for several hours and sell papers for charity. John Boles, Georgie Stoll, Tom Keene, Porter Hall, Director Sam Wood, James McGuinness and Jimmie Gleason would be among those eligible. . . . Marcel Lamaze and Lillian Baier, of the Sonja Henie picture are an item. . . . Driving to the county jail to get atmosphere for a film role, Sally Eilers was presented with a speed ticket. . . Twosomes around the late spots: Gertrude Niesen and Bob Riskin at the Victor Hugo; Pinkie Tomlin and Vyola Von at the Knickerbocker Lounge. . . Anita Louise gave a party the other day to celebrate her 21st birthday. . . Tom Mix spends hours at the It cafe, sipping soft drinks. . . . And we're not kidding, they are soft drinks. . . . Allan Mowbray goes to New York for the first visit in eight years. He has made 70 pictures in that time.

Anita Louise

After he had shot himself in the leg in "The Bad Man of Brimstone," Wallace Beery bought the six-shooter from the studio property department. He displayed it to friends with a sort of wry pride, and chose this gun to carry around in his car.

The gun is missing now, though. Some souvenir hunter or sneakthief lifted it from the machine.

Paramount continues to increase its radio roster until it now has more air favorites under contract than any other Hollywood studio.

In addition to Burns and Allen, Jack Benny, Bing Crosby, Bob Burns and Martha Raye, Fibber McGee and Molly now become permanent members of the Para family.

Their fame has heretofore been limited almost entirely to the air lanes, with the exception of one brief screen appearance in "This Way, Please." The new ticket calls for three pictures, first of which is "Summer Boarders," and from the description it sounds as if it might bear some resemblance to the Jones Family serial.

Fibber and Molly, whose real names are Jim and Marion Jordon, will be billed as a family team, and I have an idea "Summer Boarders" will head a series of similar comedy dramas. With them will be Mary Carlisle and Jack Dunn, Sonja Henie's erstwhile skating partner, who does his first acting role without skates.

Chatter in Hollywood: Ben Hecht has walked out on Goldwyn and left the new "Goldwyn Follies" without a plot to its name. The reason for Mister Hecht's displeasure is he and six guests were denied the privilege of seeing the recently completed "Follies."

When Sam Goldwyn left for Honolulu last week, he left specific orders that no one could see the picture. If it were necessary for Ben to see it for guidance in preparing the new script, it was all right, but no one else was to be allowed in the projection room. So my former newspaper pal has said adieu and signed himself a new contract with M-G-M where he and Charles MacArthur will furnish a scenario.

Sylvia Sidney has bought a 14,000-acre farm near Flemington, N. J. And will visit filmland as seldom as possible.

Skier's Misfortune Just Part Of Game

Upset? No, no, no, that's just part of the fun when you're skiing and this devotee of the popular winter pastime apparently is taking it in good vein. She is Miss Olive Millbrandt of Charlotte, N.C., and in spite of the fact that she is from the south the snow of the Adirondack's hasn't discouraged her. But she couldn't tell the photographer what the technical title for this position was.

Scott Colton Played The Music While Washington Danced 'Jazz'

He put the Black Bottom and the Charleston in good standing in Washington's political social circles. He showed them how to swing it in aristocratic European circles. Therein lies the success story of Scott Colton, Columbia film player, who is featured with Patricia Farr in "All American Sweetheart," Columbia picture, showing Wed., Thurs., Fri., at the Regent Theatre.

The player's schooling was acquired in public schools in Baltimore, where he was born, and Portland, and also at the Thornton and McDonough Military Academies.

When still a young lad Colton ran away from the farm on which he lived and became a member of a jazz band. This provided him with constant contact with show business and show people and started him on the route to screen stardom.

Colton soon branched out and formed his own orchestra. In 1928 he took his orchestral group to Europe. It was while playing in the Lido at Venice, Italy, that he staged a benefit performance for Princess Jani de San Faustino. Screen Star Marion Davies happened to be in Venice at the time and attended. She suggested that the orchestra leader have a screen test. The result was that Colton was handed a leading role in the actress' first talking picture, "Marianne."

Following "Marianne," the actor appeared in the leading roles of "Hold Your Man," "For the Defense," "My Sin," and "All Quiet on the Western Front," which brought stardom to almost every featured member of the cast.

Colton has also had considerable experience on the stage, having appeared for a solid year in "Take the Air," and also in "Brief Moment," with Francine Larrimore. He played the leading role in "Baby Pompadour" and was in "Personal Appearance" on Broadway. In his spare time Colton appeared in approximately 60 road and stock productions.

Recently he has been featured in "It's All Yours," "The Awful Truth," and "Life Begins With Love."

An interesting sidelight on the actor's career is his introduction of the Charleston and the Black Bottom dances to social circles in Washington, D.C., while aboard the presidential yacht, "Mayflower," during the Coolidge administration.

Off To Europe

Claudette Colbert, glamorous film star, is shown as she sailed with her husband, Dr. Joel Pressman, for a short vacation in Europe. Miss Colbert spent little time in New York, stopping only briefly on her way from Hollywood.

John Boles, who studied to be a physician, celebrated his tenth anniversary as a motion picture actor the other day in Hollywood. A decade ago Gloria Swanson selected him from a Broadway musical comedy cast for the masculine lead in her film "The Love of Sunya." Bole's newest picture "Romance in the Dark," co-stars him with Gladys Swarthout and John Barrymore. He is 37.

Bette Davis is one of the best gigglers in Hollywood. As a result, her giggle has been recorded on sound track at Warner Brothers studio and will be placed in the sound library for future use.

Gene Raymond is set for the male lead opposite Olympe Bradna in Paramount's "Stolen Heaven."

Comedian Suffers Sore Throat

Deep concern swept through Canada and the United States when it was learned that Eddie Cantor, pop-eyed radio and motion picture comedian, was suffering from a throat infection. The comedian, who usually laughs and jokes his way through life, didn't think it was so funny when he received medication from a nurse during an intermission in his radio program, as shown above. Stricken several days before with a streptococcus infection he was released from the hospital only long enough to appear before the microphone.

Wells Fargo Trail Theme Of New Film

The historic Wells Fargo Trail—the lane which connected St. Louis with San Francisco in early gold days—and the men who made and maintained it in the face of Indians, bandits and Nature, forms the dramatic background for "Wells Fargo," the motion picture which opens Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre.

Called by some "The Lifeline of Empire" because of the important part it played in welding together the sprawling nation as it existed in 1850-70, the story of the Wells Fargo Trail is one of the most dramatic and romantic in American history.

It came into being shortly after gold was discovered, when a swift and safe means had to be found to transport the gold from the mines and, equally important, to bring mail and news into the roaring mining camps. The firm of Wells, Fargo & Company, fore-runners of today's Railway Express Agency, was organized to fill this need.

Trails were cut, way stations for the changing and watering of horses, were established and a veritable army of heavily armed messengers were organized to protect the treasure. The roads had to be kept open in spite of the whims of weather.

The task of planning and opening the trails is handled in the picture by Joel McRae. A man of vision and courage, he is forced to leave his wife, played by Frances Dee, as the trail takes him farther and farther West. Unable to understand her husband, a rift occurs. There are patch-ups and reconciliation but as time goes on—the story traces the fortunes of the family for two generations—a break finally occurs.

The climax is reached after the War Betwen the States when McCrea and Miss Dee are brought together again by their children, now grown to young manhood and womanhood.

The brilliant supporting cast of "Wells Fargo" is headed by Bob Burns in his first "straight" role. Others in the cast of over one hundred are Lloyd Nolan, Henry O'Neill, Porter Hall, Robert Cummings, Ralph Morgan, Mary Nash, John Mack Brown, Barlowe Borland and many others.

STARTS FIFTH YEAR

NEW YORK—(CP)—With 1,748 performances the Jack Kirkland dramatization of the Erskine Caldwell novel "Tobacco Road" has ambled into its fifth year, establishing itself as a marathon classic of the theatre.

The Ronald Colman-Benita Hume wedding is reported as a fact in the London newspapers. But intimates in Hollywood are still skeptical. Ronald's idea of complete bliss is to remain a bachelor and at the same time enjoy the sole friendship of an intelligent attractive woman—which Benita is.

Olivia De Havilland makes no secret of her liking for George Brent.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C. ?

As a Retail Advertiser, You Should Know and Understand Exactly What A.B.C. Stands For!

A.B.C. Report

Your Copy of Our A.B.C. Report is Ready

As a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, this newspaper's circulation records have been audited according to A.B.C. regulations . . . let FACTS tell you the story of our coverage of this city and trading area . . . then you'll understand why national advertisers and leading local concerns consistently use this newspaper.

A.B.C. is the "nickname" of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS, an organization owned by its members, many of whom are ADVERTISERS and ADVERTISING AGENCIES keenly interested in FACTS about publications' circulations.

Publishers of good newspapers have joined voluntarily to cooperate with advertisers and agencies in making available ACCURATE, TIMELY FACTS ABOUT CIRCULATION! These facts have saved advertisers millions of dollars through the banishment of guesswork in the buying of advertising space!

Since 1914, Audit Bureau of Circulation Reports have been the SAFE guide to honest value in buying newspaper advertising . . . to-day, the A.B.C. serves as PROTECTION against extravagant claims in circulation statements and careless circulation accounting methods.

Obviously only circulation which is paid for can be audited. And audited circulation is the only circulation on which the advertising buyer can depend.

AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATION · ABC · INCORPORATED ·

The Symbol of Certainty in Newspaperdom

Frankly, not every advertising medium can become a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, for A.B.C. regulations are strictly enforced . . . . to know the TRUTH about any media's circulation demand an A.B.C. Report . . . . that is what advertisers and national advertising agencies do. . . . . It will help YOU get MORE for every advertising dollar.

Rev. G. S. Easton Addresses St. Andrew's Y.P.

The Rev. G. S. Easton of Trinity Church addressed the Young People of St. Andrew's last evening at their regular weekly meeting. Taking as his subject, "Life, A Game," Mr. Easton stressed the need of young people knowing themselves. "Know yourself, and play the game with others, with a noble goal in view," he said. The address was illustrated with interesting accounts of the speaker's war experiences, and with illustrations from his extensive reading of biography and history.

Miss Frances Clark presided at the meeting. The scripture reading was given by Miss Margaret Patoine, and Harry Vass read the minutes, and also the report to be given at the annual church meeting on Thursday. A period of games under the leadership of James Harvey, was enjoyed at the conclusion of the address. A brief meeting was held by the executive later.

Novel Shower For Bride-to-Be.

A number of delightful affairs have been given recently for a bride of this week, Miss Marion Armstrong, whose marriage to Grant Palmer is to take place to-morrow evening.

Mrs. W. W. Kennedy of Millbrook entertained at a bridge and shower for Miss Armstrong, and Mrs. Arnold Smedmore of King Street was hostess at a miscellaneous shower. Last evening Mrs. Arthur Rightmeyer of Hunter Street entertained at another miscellaneous shower for the bride-to-be, when a number of most attracive gifts were presented with an amusing and novel "hard-time" appearance. Re-wrapped in old newspapers and tied with cord, the parcels were presented in a very old basket with rope handles. Eleven guests were present, refreshments being served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Presbyterial Executive Meets At St. Paul's.

The Peterborough Presbyterial executive of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church met at St. Paul's Church on Tuesday.

Reports read of the past year's work were most encouraging, showing improvements gained in most departments, and a decided increase in finances over the past year. Arrangements were made for the annual meeting of the Presbyterial to be held in May in St. Andrew's Church, Cobourg. After a morning session, the ladies lunched at Hooper's Palm Room, and following the afternoon meeting were served tea by ladies of St. Paul's.

The meetings were presided over by the president, Mrs. A. Thompson of Campbellford, and present also were: Vice-presidents, Mrs. D. Ewart of Cobourg, Mrs. A. T. Barr, Peterborough, and Mrs. McLaughlin, of Bowmanville; Mrs. J. Storrie, Campbellford, recording secretary; Miss Galbraith, Bowmanville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. W. Annual Meeting W.M.S. St. Andrew's.

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church held the annual meeting and installation of officers for the year 1938 on Tuesday afternoon in the Church Parlors.

Fine reports of the past year's work were read by the various secretaries, and a pleasant and most encouraging report presented by the treasurer, showed that the 1937 allocation of the Society had been reached. Miss Bella King gave an interesting report for the Mission Band.

Miss F. Dixon, immediate past president, opened the meeting with the call to worship. Following the theme of "The Church in Action," the Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. A. E. Porteous, a season of prayer was led by Mrs. M. Kerr, Mrs. W. F. Nelson, Mrs. E. W. Young and Mrs. Porteous. During the meeting a letter of appreciation was read from Mrs. H. F. Dearborn, upon whom a Life Membership in the Society had recently been conferred.

The Rev. E. W. Young, who took the chair for the installation of officers, paid high tribute to the fine work during many years of the retiring president, Miss Dixon.

The officers for present year who were installed by the pastor in a fittingly impressive ceremony, are: Honorary president, Mrs. M. Kerr; Immediate past president, Miss F. Dixon; president, Mrs. Allan Pilling; 1st vice-president, Mrs. James Johnson; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. F. E. Johnston; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. C. M. Scott; recording secretary, Miss Elizabeth Ferguson; assistant, Mrs. W. Zeihr; treasurer, Mrs. Walter Henry; Christian Stewardship and Finance, Mrs. W. F. Nelson; Temperance and Christian Citizenship secretary, Miss M. Ferguson; Community Friendship secretary, Mrs. E. W. Young; assistant, Mrs. R. Hardy; Home Helpers' secretary, Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge; Supply secretary, Mrs. H. Tremain; Missionary Monthly secretary, Miss J. R. Ferguson; Literature secretary and librarian, Mrs. H. McClelland; Press secretary, Mrs. E. Humpage; Pianist, Mrs. James Johnston; assistant, Mrs. R. B. Harle.

Taylor-Brabazon.

Miss Mary Catherine Brabazon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin Brabazon of Blackwater, was married to Dr. William Ivison Taylor of Foleyet, son of Mrs. Taylor and the late Mr. Thomas Taylor of Lindsay, at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Woods, of Lindsay, Saturday afternoon. Rev. J. C. Grier officiated, and Miss Laura Johnson of Toronto played the wedding music. The house was decorated with daffodils, iris and snapdragon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore azure blue net over taffeta, a bolero of silver and blue lame and a shower bouquet of Token roses and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Helen Tocher of Toronto, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore pink marquisette, appliqued with taffeta, a sash of blue velvet and a bouquet of pink carnations and cornflowers. Mr. James Lewis of Peterborough, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was held after the ceremony. Mrs. John F. Brabazon wore pencil blue crepe, trimmed with a lighter tone, and a corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Thomas Taylor wore a dress of black sheer with a corsage of tea roses. Mrs. W. L. Woods, aunt of the bride, also received. She wore black velvet, with a corsage of gardenias and lily-of-the-valley. The couple left for a wedding trip to New York; the bride travelling in a wool dress of American Beauty shade, with a belt of metallic flowers, a seal coat and a black pillbox hat. They will reside in Foleyet, Ontario.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Weatherell of Penetanguishene, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Taylor of Bobcaygeon, Mr. and Mrs. David Tocher and Mr. Bruce Tocher of Sunderland, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Littlejohn of Uxbridge, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Payner of Toronto, Mrs. Minnie Marquis and Miss Margaret Marquis of Sunderland, Mr. D. E. G. Rodman of Toronto, Miss Nora Swaine of Blackwater, Miss Phyllis Thurston of Dunsford.

Stew Is Good In Any Language Should Be Properly Skimmed

Magic In The Announcement "Stew For Dinner" But Source Hard To Define

By MARY MOORE.

There is magic in the announcement "Stew for dinner," but to isolate the source of it would be as hard as defining the charm in a beautiful woman.

Is it the rich gravy that is the "come-on" in the stew? Is it the tender gobs of meat oozing juice and their close companionship with tender little onions impaled on a fork on their last short journey between your plate and your mouth?

I dunno either. I only know when I want to bring a twinkle of endearment into the eyes of a certain masculine member of our household I make a lamb stew—actually an Irish stew. This often happens of a Thursday when Audrey is out for it has to be skimmed you know. (So I have to be in the kitchen anyway so it might as well be something that needs the loving care I so enjoy giving). Did you note what I said—it has to be skimmed? Skimmed free of fat. That's one of the secrets of the "de Luxe" quality of EMEM'S IRISH STEW.

Order two lbs. of shoulder or breast of lamb and 1 lb. shin beef. Cut excess fat from the lamb. Add one pint of water to the beef which has been washed and cut in inch cubes and bring to boiling point, then simmer one hour. Then add 1½ quarts water to the lamb which has been cut in inch cubes and simmer it for half an hour, swimming off the fat constantly. (This separate stewing of the lamb is to make skimming easier). Combine beef and lamb and add 6 medium-sized carrots which have been scrubbed, scraped and quartered lengthwise, 1 cup outer celery stalks which have been scrubbed and cut in half-inch lengths, 12 small peeled white onions, or 8 medium-sized onions peeled and halved and ½ teaspoon made mustard mixed with 1 tablespoon each Worcestershire sauce and tomato soup. Let this simmer for 1 hour. Then add 1 cup thick canned tomato pulp, 4 medium-sized potatoes, scrubbed, pared, and quartered and 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon fresh black pepper. Let simmer ½ hour longer. This may stand off the heat for a while while you prepare the garnish of parsley or sliced fresh tomatoes, but must be kept hot—a little more cooking will not hurt it but it should not actively boil. If to be served on a platter for the table, herd the meat cubes into the centre and make a semblance of a border with the onions, carrots and potatoes quarters. "Come and get it."

EAST INDIAN CURRY.

Order 1½ lbs. veal from the shoulder or shin and cut in 1½-inch cubes and sear in one-half cup butter over medium heat, then add three coarsely sliced onions and saute all for 4 minutes, then add 1 tablespoon fresh curry powder, then cover well with boiling water, put on lid and simmer over very low heat until meat is tender (about 2 hours). Thicken with 4 tablespoons flour stirred into ½ cup cold water, then add 1 teaspoon salt. In the meantime cook ¾ cup rice with 6 cups boiling water in top of double boiler. Have the rice fluffy and hot and ready to serve in a border around the curry on a large platter.

Hungarian Goulash— One and one-half lbs. shin beef, 1 lb. fresh pork from shoulder or shin. Cut these into 1½ inch cubes, and put in stewing pot with 1 quart of water and 1 clove of garlic. Cover and let simmer until meat is tender.

Prepare 2 cups ½-inch cubed potatoes and 16 minutes before serving time add them to the simmering stew. Peel 24 1-inch onions and cook in separate pot in water to cover for 15 minutes then drain and add to stew when potatoes are added. Add 1½ teaspoons salt and 1 teaspoon fresh Hungarian paprika. Cream 3 tablespoons soft butter with 3 tablespoons flour and work together until smooth, then add ½ cup of the stew liquor to it, stir and immediately turn it into the pot and stir until all is thick. Turn out on to hot platter—stew must be carefully watched if it is left on heat after thickening—it should stand on asbestos mat—garnish with celery tips or parsley or quartered tomatoes or rings or green pepper or strips of pimento.

Savory Ragout—Three lbs. piece of beef from the shank (including bone), 4 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon fresh black pepper, 2 tablespoons bacon, 1 bay leaf, 2 tablespoons catsup, 2 cups quartered carrots, 2 onions quartered, 1 cup drained peas, dumpling batter. Wipe the meat with damp cloth and roll in mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Heat fat in heavy iron kettle or frying pan, brown meat on all sides and then cover with water, add bay leaf and catsup and simer gently until meat is tender. Cut meat from bone in medium sized pieces, add vegetables and simmer until vegetables are tender. Drop dumpling batter by the spoonful on top of stew. Cover tightly and steam 15 minutes.

Dumplings (for stew)—Three cups flour, 1 cup milk or water, 6 tablespoons shortening, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1½ teaspoons salt. Sift dry ingredients together and cut in shortening. Add liquid to make a soft dough or a stiff batter. Drop by spoonfuls into boiling stew. Cover closely and boil for 12 minutes without removing cover. Serve at once.

Rabbit or Chicken Stew, American Style.—One 3½ lb. rabbit or chicken, 6 small onions, 1 bay leaf, 1½ cups chopped celery, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 cups finely diced carrots, 4 small potatoes cubed, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, ½ lb. mushrooms, flour to thicken. Have the rabbit or chicken dressed, cleaned and disjointed for serving. Place in a kettle with the onions, bay leaf, celery, pepper and salt. Cover with cold water, measuring the water you add, and allow to cook slowly for 2 hours. Then add the carrots, potatoes, mushrooms (which have been scrubbed and cut in slices lengthwise), simmer again until vegetables and meat are tender—about 30 minutes. For each cup of water used add ½ tablespoon flour which has been rubbed to a smooth paste in an equal amount of water. Stir into the stew until it thickens, then add the parsley and serve. Hot biscuits with this are definitely indicated unless you prefer dumplings. Try to locate the bay leaf and remove it before serving the stew if possible.

Slinky, Glittering

DOROTHY LAMOUR

Sequins are particularly suitable for a slinky black evening frock, considering the season's rage for glitter. This slim black dress worn by Dorothy Lamour, screen and radio singer and actress is covered with paillettes with an arrow of rhinestones at the top of the bodice.

Tested Favorite Recipes

(By MARY MOORE.)

When we had to extend half of a chocolate pudding to make dessert for five people the other day by folding some whipped cream into it and topping it with a cherry—I decided it was better than the original—just as baked beans are better on the second day.

The following is the recipe for the second day's batch:

DAINTY CHOCOLATE PUDDING.

One and one-half cup hot milk, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-3 cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup cold milk, ¾ oz. chocolate, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Mix sugar, salt and cornstarch with cold milk, add to the hot milk and cook in top of double boiler stirring until thick. Add the chocolate which has been melted over hot water. Cook 30 minutes, remove from heat and add vanilla. Cool and when ready to serve whip ½ cup cream stiff and fold into chocolate mixture and pour into stemmed glasses — topping with cherry.

WHY DIDN'T I HAVE SENSE ENOUGH TO TRY LIFEBUOY BEFORE? I NEVER FELT SO MARVELLOUSLY CLEAN
AGAIN LIFEBUOY HELPS OUT
IT'S BEYOND ME, DARLING HOW YOU MANAGE TO KEEP SO FRESH AND SWEET—WITH ALL THE WORK YOU DO!
YOU KNOW HOW I DO IT—LIFEBUOY
More women, men, children, bathe with Lifebuoy than any other soap!
THAT'S A FACT!—brought to light when 11 leading magazines questioned 125,000 women... But it's really no wonder Canadian and American men, women and children prefer Lifebuoy. It contains a special purifying ingredient not in any other well-known toilet soap... Its rich penetrating lather gives extra protection, really stops "B.O."
Millions of clear-skinned women care for their complexions with Lifebuoy, too. Its refreshing lather gently searches every pore to remove all impurities—helps prevent "stretched" pores... Leaves the skin fine, clear, lovely with healthy beauty. Tests show Lifebuoy over 20% milder than many so-called "beauty" and "baby soaps."
stops 'B.O.'

BABY CONSTIPATED?
BABY'S daily movements are something of which absolutely accurate track must be kept. When he misses something must be done at once. Constipation is serious for baby.
Mrs. A. Reid of Hespeler, Ont., has this to say: "Having had seven children and having used Baby's Own Tablets for all seven, can say they are the best and gentlest regulator for children—safe and effective for the tiniest infant. I give them up to 10 years of age. During teething Baby's Own Tablets were a boon to me as they cleared up at once any digestive disturbance or fretfulness."
Equally effective for simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, colic, simple croup and other minor ailments of babyhood.
Quick and sure in their action. Easy to take. Harmless, and safe for the most delicate child. Do not contain opiates or stupefying drugs. Each package contains analyst's certificate. Get a box today. Sickness so often strikes in the night. Your money back if not satisfied. 25 cents.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER

WOMEN who suffer in silence often pay a double penalty for wearing this gag of unselfishness or silly pride. Painful periods are nature's warning that something is wrong and needs immediate attention. Growing girls as well as women often are sufferers from female irregularities. They find Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a dependable tonic. Read what Mrs. E. Etheridge, Gleichen, Alta., said: "In my opinion there is no better medicine for women and girls than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Before I finished taking one bottle of the 'Prescription' I noted its value for painful periods. I can always depend upon the 'Prescription' to give relief." Buy of your druggist now.

CAMPBELLFORD ROTARY HEARS SPLENDID TALK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 18. — Laughter, intrigue, love and murder combine together forming the back ground of that familiar nursery rhyme about the cat and the fiddle Rotarian Dr. Hugh R. McLaren revealed in an address before the club on Monday. Titling his talk "Research in Rhyme" or "Education in Five Easy Lessons" the speaker expressed the opinion it was entirely unlikely that the rhymsters of the Elizabethan period who penned so many vitriolic lines about the doings of the mighty, thought their verses would be perpetuated in childish lore.

"Hi diddle diddle," smybolized the gaiety of the court of Queen Elizabeth and the Queen herself was familiarly if not respectfully known as the "cat" and being inordinately fond of dancing to the tunes on the fiddle the "Cat and the Fiddle' had a real significance and probably accounted for many English Inns being given the name. Both in recognition of her awkward gait and her agricultural interest she was dubbed the "cow" and the "moon" she jumped over was the glamorous Mary Stuart, "whose charm so enraged the jealous Queen Bess that the Queen of the Scots went to the headmans block.

The arrogant Earl of Leicester earned for himself the title of "the little dog" because he was always at the beck and call of the Queen, and the "sport" referred to was the contemptuous manner in which the gueen flouted the dignataries of Parliament and the cabinet. The "dish and spoon" that the rhymsters so guardedly referred to was a slang expression prevalent during the century in indicate those who served the heavy plates of gold at the court dinners and who tasted the royal food. They were always of noble birth and in this case were none other than Lord Herford and Catherine, sister of Lady Jane Gray, who fell in love and were secretly married thus incurring the queen's displeasure and were subsequently beheaded.

"That the nursery rhymes of today once served as stinging satire is also demonstrated in the history of that famous jingle which begins "I had a little pony, whose name was Dapple Gray, and which is nothing more than a clever satire on the varied and spectacular actions of Mary Stuart who was a frequent target for the jingle writers of her time, "whose doggerel served as political lampoons and cartoons, by which the frailities of the mighty were kept constantly in view of the common people." No attempt was made to disguise the love which the Queen, wife of Lord Darnley, had for the handsome, debonair Earl of Bothwell, and Mary flaunted this infatuation before her outraged subjects. "'Scotland' was the 'Little pony' which Mary whipped and lashed until it was in a state of rebellion as she rode her wilfull way through the 'mire' of public scandal.

The ride 'a mile away' was the crowning insult to a sternly moral people for when she was presiding at the Justice of Aerie Court a rumour reached her that Bothwell had been wounded and without hesitation she mounted a horse to ride twenty miles through a storm and become once bogged in a treacherous swamp to reach Bothwell whose wound was only a scratch.

Following Dr. McLaren's address Rotarians discussed their annual skating Carnival which will be held on Jan. 27th in the Arena. The program will include figure skating members of the Belleville Club who it is expected will provide most of the program after which will be free skating.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

No Rocks, Please

The owner of the charming smile, who prefers to remain anonymous, is seated at the glass desk that is the piece de resistance of the glass suite of office furniture made by a London firm for an Indian maharajah. The cost of the suit f.o.b. is approximately $4,000. The dusky potentate ordered it because he thought it looked cool. If it comes up to his expectations he'll have a bedroom suite of the same. One drawback is that the drawer contents have as much privacy as a goldfish.

Wife Wants Aid, Uses Snow On Sleeper But He Still Sleeps – In 3rd Day

North Bay, Ont., Jan 19 (CP) GERARD Beaulieu, 23-year-old North Bay man asleep since shortly before midnight Saturday with but short lapses of consciousness, was reported unchanged today as physicians sought to cure him of sleeping sickness attributed to a brain infection.

Beaulieu, married and the father of one child, roused briefly yesterday and asked for soup. Before the food could be brought to him he again lapsed into deep sleep. He is being attended at hospital by Dr. J. E. I. Joyal.

His wife said Beaulieu retired Saturday night and about four o'clock Sunday morning she tried to awaken him to mind their baby while she warmed some milk. When he did not awake she believed he was fooling and to reverse the joke she threw some snow on him but it failed to arouse him.

She allowed him to continue sleeping until nine o'clock then became alarmed and called Dr. Joyal. Beaulieu was taken to hospital and closely watched because of restlessness.

Dr. Joyal said he succeeded in rousing Beaulieu several times. Beaulieu recognized the physician and each time asked for soup but dropped off to sleep before it could be brought to him.

Well Known District Woman Passes In Her 94th Year

Mrs. Elizabeth Paul, a Former Resident Of Janetville For Many Years

JANETVILLE, Jan. 19.—Janetville's oldest resident in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Paul passed peacefully away at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. R. Heaslip, Beresford Ave., Toronto, on Thursday night, January 13th. in her 94th year.

The late Mrs. Paul was the youngest daughter of the late Margaret and Thomas Lees of Ops Township and was born in 1844. After her marriage in 1861 to Thomas Paul they resided on their farm a mile east of Janetville. Her husband died in 1897.

This noble woman had the use of all her faculties to a remarkable degree until the last. In her late eighties she still took pride in doing fancy work, crocheted bed spreads being one of the many charming products of her skill.

Three or four years ago she left the home of her daughter Mrs. McDowell in Janetville to reside with her daughter Mrs. Margaret Arthurs in Toronto. A younger daughter Miss Helen Paul a graduate nurse of Chicago also came to Toronto to assist in giving her mother the best of professional care.

She was a christian woman of the Methodist faith. She possessed an interesting and delightful personality, was well read and gifted conversationalist and could tell many interesting experiences of her long and eventful career.

The deceased had lived her entire life in the Janetville vicinity with the exception of a few years spent with some of her children in the West and the past four years with daughters in Toronto.

In all there were eleven children nine of whom survive namely Mrs. J. H. Johnston (Emma) of Santa Ana, California, who visited her mother last Summer; Mrs. W. Arthurs (Margaret) of Toronto, Mrs. George Shea (Elizabeth) Netherhill Sask., Mrs. W. D. Stacey (Tory) of Edmonton, Alta., Mrs. J. McDowell (Annie) of Janetville, Miss Helen Paul, R. N. of Chicago, Thomas of Toronto, Joshua of Flat Bush, Alta. and John of Viking, Alta., two sons passed away some years ago.

There are also surviving twenty-seven granchildren, twenty-six great grandchildren and two great great grandchildren.

Mrs. Paul lived in the fifth generation through the line of her daughter Mrs. William Arthurs.

A private funeral was held at the home in Toronto on Saturday and on Sunday afternoon at 1.30 p.m. the funeral service was conducted in the United Church at Janetville by the Pastor Rev. M. A. Bury, who made fitting reference to the exemplary life of the deceased and her long years of love, sacrifice and service. The funeral was largely attended despite snow filled roads.

The pall bearers were all relatives. Messrs William Lees and George Lees of Lindsay, Rutherford Heaslip, Toronto, A. E. Tiers and W. S. Havery of Fenelon Falls and Horace McDowell, Janetville.

Interment was made in the Janetville United Church cemetery.

Relatives from a distance included Miss Helen Paul R. N., Mr. and Mrs. Rud Heaslip and Mr. Thomas Paul all of Toronto, Mrs. Richard Byrnell a niece of the deceased aged 84 of Fenelon Falls, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Tiers and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Havery all of Fenelon Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Marlow and Mrs. H. Vancramp, Blackstock, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Suggett of Nestleton, Messrs William Lees and George Lees and Mr. and Mrs. H. Puffer all of Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. C. Coulter and Mr. Archie Wilson of Lifford.

CAMPBELLFORD

Born at the Campbellford Hospital on Monday morning, to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Van Volkenburg, a daughter.

Mrs. Frank Garneau is spending a few days in town with her mother, Mrs. J. W. Cairns, Queen Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Menzies, who have been in Hamilton for the past two days, returned on Monday.

2ND CRUISER FIRE IS BEING PROBED

LONDON, Jan. 19 (A.P.). — The Admiralty disclosed to-day that a Court of Inquiry is investigating the second fire within a fortnight aboard the new 9,000-ton cruiser Birmingham, overdue on her departure for China.

The latest fire was small and quickly extinguished on January 15 while the vessel was docked at Portsmouth. The first was on January 2, in the starboard seaplane hangar.

The Admiralty made no comment on the possibility of sabotage, but the Daily Mail reported oil-soaked cotton waste was found in a wing of a seaplane in the hangar after the latest incident.

Since December 1 there also have been small fires in Portsmouth aboard the battleship Queen Elizabeth and the minesweeper Hebe.

MILLBROOK

Miss Mary Smith entertained eighteen of her school friends at an enjoyable party marking her fifteenth birthday anniversary, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Smith, Bank street, on Friday evening.

Games of various kinds were enjoyed, and during the evening the 'birthday hostess' was surprised with an informal presentation of a handsome case of creams, powder, etc. the recipient making suitable reply. At the lunch hour, Mrs. Smith and her daughter, were assisted by Mrs. J. McKnight in serving the guests, and the remainder of the evening passed happily with music, and other entertainment.

He'll Fight For His Sweetheart

King Carol, of Roumania, is pictured here in resplendent uniform as he left the cathedral at Bucharest with Crown Prince Michael. Latest reports indicate that Carol intends to fight for his redhaired sweetheart, Magda Lupescu, for whom he once gave up the throne. Mme. Lupescu fled the country following announcement of Premier Goga's anti-semitic policies. It is said Carold may join her in Paris.

R.A.F. Trio to Seek Non-Stop Honors

LONDON, Jan. 19 (CP-Havas)—Three Royal Air Force planes will leave London in the near future on an attempted 12,000-mile flight to Sydney, Australia, with a single stop at Singapore the air ministry announced today.

The planes will be Vickers-Wellesley single-motor craft with a flying range of approximately 12,000 kilometres (7,500 miles). They will attempt to better the world record for non-stop flights established by the Russian fliers last year in their flights from the Soviet Union to North America across the North Pole.

The three planes will be under Wing-Commander O R. Gayford.

CASH MUST BE READY

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 19 —(CP)—Crown Attorney Norman Newton told Magistrate Menzies today he would ask to have London's brokerage cases definitely proceed February 8 when six stock salesmen are listed to appear in court.

The cases have been adjourned from time to time because of the illness of Fred Armitage of Hamilton who underwent an appendix operation a few weeks ago.

More than 22,000 silver fox furs were sold at a sale in London.

PULP CREWS FIRED WHEN NEWSPRINT EXPORT EASES OFF

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (C.P.).—Export of Canadian newsprint to the United States has slowed down to such an extent that pulp-cutters in Northern Ontario camps are being dismissed, Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario Lands and Forests Minister, said to-day.

Mr. Heenan said he had no figures estimating number of men let out recently in the camps or what companies had taken action.

Large purchases of newsprint by United States publishers before a $7.50 a ton increase became effective on January 1 were responsible for the lay-offs, he contended.

"When some Canadian newsprint producers announced about 10 months ago there would be a $7.50 increase a ton for newsprint, United States publishers decided to stock up with cheap paper," the Minister explained. "They now have about a three-month supply of paper, purchased at the former price of $42.50 a ton. They will use this paper before paying $50.00 a ton.

"That would be the whole story of the Northern Ontario lay-off except that the recession started. The combined forces of the recession and curtailed orders from United States publishers caused the lay-off.

"The lay-off was not unexpected and the mill-workers did not suffer as much as might be expected. When the increase in tonnage price was annouced, wage schedules were revised and most workers received increases based on the new price."

Officials of Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company said pulp-cutters had been let out of company's Iroquois Falls camp, but added the lay-off was "purely seasonal," the season's cut having been finished. Number of men let out was not made known.

Brazil has reimposed its federal consumption tax on gasoline.
